Campfires banned as blazes spread in Idaho

By The Associated Press

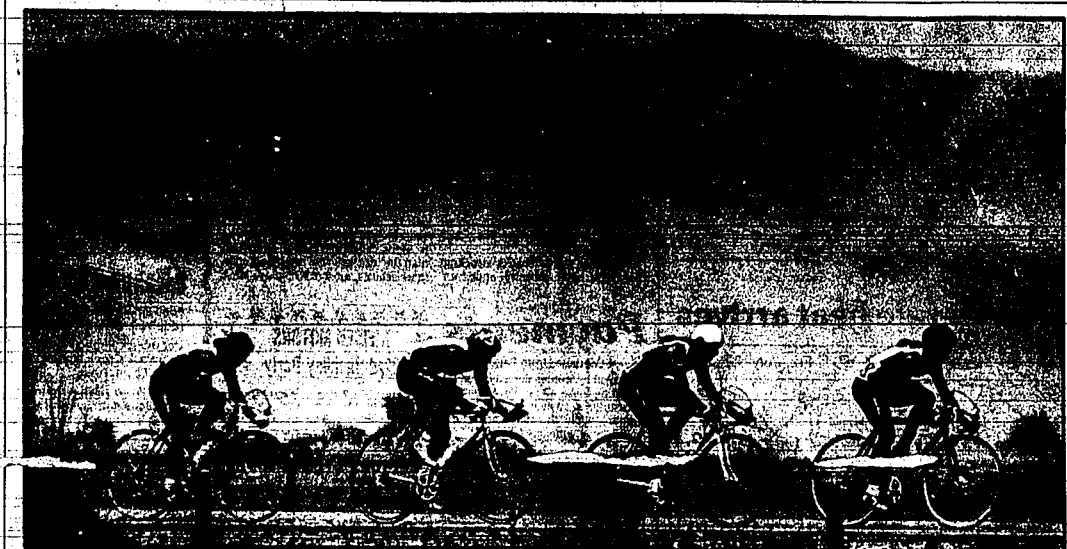

Over a thousand weary firefighters finally contained a major forest fire in central Idaho Thursday, 12 days after lightning set it off to roar over nearly 10 square miles of timber. The last of a score of range fires that charred more than 150,000 acres on the southwestern desert along the Nevada border was also contained. But hundreds of battle out-of-control fires burning on both the eastern and western ends of the Salmon River system as state and federal officials announced a ban on campfires and smoking in public lands outside recreation areas, and an investigator looked into reports that farmers have torched southern Idaho range to rid it of swarming grasshoppers. Crews were also fighting to rain in a blaze on the Nez Perce National Forest north of the Salmon River after whipping winds again propelled it over the firelines to spread to 400 acres in size. In addition, scores of isolated 20-man crews were handling dozens of much smaller fires, most ignited by persistent lightning and fueled by high winds, temperatures approaching 100 degrees and low humidity. John Robateck, Fires Staff Office for Sawtooth National Forest, announced that as of 1 a.m. today, all open fires or campfires are prohibited in all national forest lands, state lands, and public lands administered by the BLM — except in developed campgrounds. The restriction does not apply to fires built inside an enclosed stove or grill, portable braziers, pressurized liquid or gas stoves or space heaters.

Smoking, Robateck added, is also prohibited except in developed recreation sites, enclosed vehicles or buildings, or an area of at least three feet in diameter cleared of all flammable material. The regulations will remain in effect until lifted, Robateck said. "The wildfire situation is grim," said Bureau of Land Management spokeswoman Barbara Fordehase. "The weather forecast of continued dry lightning coupled with hot, dry weather makes the fire situation very dangerous."

Crews began winding down operations at Lake Mountain in the Salmon National Forest after finally containing that 2,300-acre fire early in the day. Another 3,500-acre fire to the west on the Yankee Fork of the Salmon River was controlled earlier in the week and only a handful of firefighters, who once numbered a thousand on that blaze, were left on standby alert. But spokesman Alan Wood said crews from the Lake Mountain fire were being diverted to two other blazes some 40 miles to the north. See FIRES on Page A2.

Aid due for tired fire force

Military reinforcements prepared Thursday to join the huge firefighting force battling blazes in 12 Western states as cool, moist air helped calm a major Northern California fire and some evacuees went home. But with flames already blackening 12 million acres in the West, authorities in British Columbia made emergency plans to evacuate more than 20,000 residents of a threatened valley, and two new fires erupted within minutes of each other in Los Angeles County, threatening expensive homes. The Army emergency action center at the San Francisco Presidio began planning deployment of 1,000 6th Army troops, said Army public affairs officer Connie Smith. "They're alert, as they'll be on hand," she said. "The troops may be needed soon, because weather around the West promised few breaks for 17,000 firefighters recruited from around the nation," including New Englanders, Tennesseans and Alaska Eskimos. "It's the largest force of firefighters ever assembled in the United States," said Scott Brayton, spokesman for the Boise Interagency Fire Center in Idaho. More than 1,500 fires were still burning Thursday in the United States and Canada, scorching land in Arizona, California, Idaho, Nevada, New Mexico, Montana, Oregon, Utah and Washington. Others were contained or controlled in South Dakota, Nebraska and Wyoming. In California alone, wildfires have charred 308,260 acres since June 27. One of the two new blazes in Southern California erupted near Malibu, Los Angeles County fire spokesman Jeff Myers said. It quickly charred 50 acres in an area of expensive homes. A second blaze minutes later jumped Interstate 5 in the Wildwood Canyon area northeast of Los Angeles near Newhall, Myers said. Residents of a trailer park in the area were evacuated. In British Columbia, the situation appeared to be growing worse. "We have a potentially very dangerous situation," Forests Minister Tom Waterland told reporters after a helicopter lost of the threatened valley in the towering Monashee Mountain range in the southeastern part of the province. Officials said as many as 20,000 people might have to be evacuated if firefighters are

Anti-NEA campaign hits Idaho

By DEANS MILLER
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — About 5,000 Idaho teachers have been sent a letter urging them to drop their membership in the Idaho affiliate of the National Education Association, says the president of Save Our Schools, a Washington, D.C.-based organization. "We all talk about the three Ps, the NEA talks about the three Ps," Save Our Schools President Dan Alexander said Thursday. In a telephone interview from his Mobile, Ala., office, he said the NEA's three Ps are Power, Pressure, and Pay. Alexander said the Idaho letters, which also ask for contributions, are part of a 500,000-person national direct mail campaign coordinated by his group, which holds the NEA responsible for perceived troubles with public education. "I believe that many teachers would quit if they knew more about the NEA... What most of them don't realize is that much of their dues money goes directly to support ultra-liberal policies and liberal or left-wing political candidates," the letter says.

Idaho Education Association communications director Gayle Moore said Thursday "NEA never endorses a candidate without consulting with the state in which that candidate is running." Moore said she doubts IEA members would be more likely to quit if they knew more about the organization. "The more they (members) know about the NEA, the more they are impressed with it," she said.

The letter, dated May 24, says the NEA is "first and foremost a political lobby," and is "the single most dominant force in state legislatures across this country... and over half of the members of the U.S. Congress were elected with NEA backing."

Moore said, "I don't know that there's anything so wrong with that; See LETTER on Page A2

More women receiving child support payments

By RANDOLPH E. SCHMID
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — More than three-quarters of the women who were supposed to receive child support payments got at least part of the amount due, a slight increase that was welcomed Thursday by federal officials who have been striving to get fathers to meet their obligations.

Of the women who were due child support, 78 percent received at least some amount scheduled in 1983, up from 71.8 percent in 1981, the Census Bureau reported.

And the share of women who received the full amount they had been awarded, either in a voluntary agreement or a court order, rose from 46.7 percent to 50.5 percent in the same period, Census officials said.

"We are moving in the right direction, but still there are too many American children who do not receive the support they need," said Health and Human Services Secretary Margaret Heckler, whose department has been leading an effort to get fathers to fulfill their financial obligations to offspring.

There were 8.7 million women in America living with children but no husband present in 1983, the Census Bureau reported, up from 8.4 million in 1981. Of the total, 5.9 million were scheduled to receive child support payments, down from 4.0 million in the earlier study.

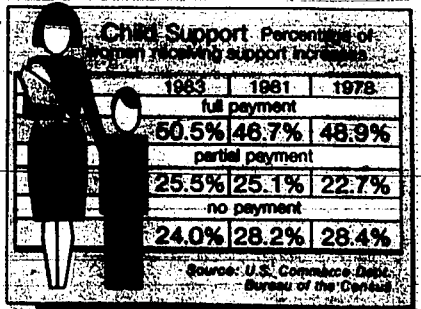

Gordon Green, the bureau's assistant director of the population division, said there are a variety of reasons why women with children may not be due any payment.

These range from delays in court proceedings to acceptance of property settlements instead of child support, inability to find the father or to establish paternity and situations where the mother and father have joint custody or in which the mother doesn't want assistance.

The increase in the number of women who received at least some payment was slight, but statistically significant, Green said, representing an increase from 2,902,000 to 3,057,000.

Average child support payments were $2,341 in 1983, up from $2,207 in 1981 but below the average of $2,748 reported in 1978, in dollars adjusted for inflation.

The child-support deficit in 1983 was $740 per woman, the report said. That means that the total of all payments thrust along the main Salmon River. Over 600 firefighters, awaiting reinforcements, manned the lines on these fires, burning within a few feet of each other after jumping firelines and escalating from 1,300 acres to more than 3,500 acres of timber and sage.

"They both just really took off," Wood said. "They had thousands over them with erratic winds and the temperatures never really dropped."

"They're pretty much uncontainable," he said. "In western Idaho's Payette National Forest, nearly 700 firefighters were strung out over rugged timberlands, battling an expanding three-day-old lightning-caused fire along the South Fork of the Salmon River some 30 miles northeast of McCall. The Savage Creek Fire jumped from 1,000 to 1,600 acres overnight as it continued to threaten private salmon habitat.

Briefly

'Super' teachers merit notice
WASHINGTON (AP) - The president of the American Federation of Teachers, bidding to overcome union resistance to merit pay, suggested Thursday that national boards be created to certify "super" teachers in math, science and other specialties.

The board, independent of both unions and local schools, would certify teachers who passed a rigorous set of criteria, including examinations, demonstrations of their teaching ability, and advanced courses, AFT President Albert Shanker said.

The board certification would be in addition to a teacher's basic certification.

Budget negotiations on hold
WASHINGTON (AP) - Despite President Reagan's efforts to prod a compromise, congressional budget negotiations remained stalled Thursday while Senate leaders worked to contain a GOP rebellion over the president's about-face on Social Security.

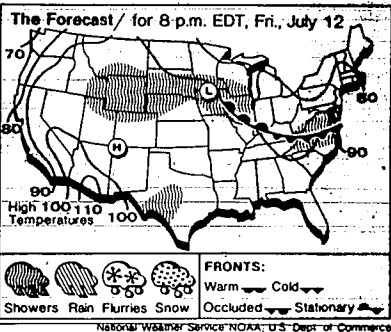

Republican leaders conceded they were having a hard time selling to funding GOP senators the budget "framework" embraced by Reagan the day before - a plan that would give the nation's $5 million Social Security recipients full cost-of-living increases next year.

The budget passed by the GOP-led Senate - and earlier endorsed by Reagan - had called for a one-year freeze in the benefit increases while the budget approved by the Democratic-controlled House projected the increases.

Today's weather

Pressure's off, moderate heat arrives

Twin Falls, Burley, Rupert, Jerome and Gooding: Today and Saturday, warm with a slight chance of afternoon and/or evening thunderstorms. Highs near 80. Lows 55 to 60.
Cannonsville, Halley, Lower Wood River Valley:
Monday and Saturday, slightly cooler with more afternoon and evening thunderstorms. Highs 80 to 85. Lows 45, 50 to 55.
Northern Utah and Nevada:
Utah: Variable clouds with scattered mainly afternoon and nighttime thunderstorms through Saturday. No sea hot. Highs 80s to 100s. Lows upper 60s to low 70s.
Nevada: Scattered mainly afternoon and evening showers and thunderstorms today. Chance of afternoon and evening thunderstorms and warmer Saturday. Highs in the 90s to around 100. Overnight lows from the mid-50s to mid-60s.
Synopsis:
The National Weather Service says the high-pressure center that has been dominating the intermountain region the past week or so is beginning to break down and move east.
At the same time, the low that has been off the Southern California coast is moving north, sending increasing amounts of moist, unstable air into Idaho.
This will help moderate temperatures bringing them into a more seasonal range. This new air mass will also cause the bases of the developing thunderclouds to form at a much lower level - increasing the chances of measurable rainfall, instead of the dust and lightning storms generated over the past week.
Most of the state was cloudy Thursday with some partial clearing along the southern border. The central mountains had another cloudy day with showers and thunderstorms. Lightning detection instruments indicated numerous strikes throughout the wilderness areas.
Thunderstorms were expected to increase overnight.
The cloud cover helped to keep the temperatures down with most stations reporting readings in the upper 80s.
The pollen count in Twin Falls Thursday was 5 particles per cubic meter of air.
The highest temperature in the state was 86 degrees in both Twin Falls and Hagerman, while the coolest temperature was 48 degrees, registered at Kellogg and Sandpoint.
The agricultural outlook in Southern Idaho, today through Monday, shows conditions for field work and hay cutting good through most of the period.
However, scattered thunderstorms today will produce local rain amounts up to near 1/8 inch. After today, thunder showers will become more isolated but may locally produce spotty amounts from 1/8 to 2/8 inch. Irrigation demands will continue high. Hot temperatures will continue stress on crops and livestock. Winds for spraying will be light during the late night and morning hours today and Saturday, but locally increasing to 10 to 15 mph from the south and west during the afternoon. Strong gusts near dry thunderstorms.
The extended forecast in Southern Idaho, Sunday through Tuesday, calls for partly cloudy at times with isolated afternoon and evening thunderstorms. Otherwise fair and warm. Highs upper 80s and 90s. Lows from the 50s to the mid-60s.

Don't want to hear that "What's happening is every day we're getting new fires. As soon as we get control of one, we demolish it and have another fire to move to."

The agency, a firefighting logistics support center, saw no sign of a respite for firefighters who have suffered hundreds of broken bones and other injuries. In California alone, at least 345 firefighters have been hurt in the past two weeks, state forester Tess Albin-Smith said.

In San Luis Obispo, Calif., where a 75,000-acre fire was contained Wednesday just outside the city limits, residents hoisted a banner Thursday that read: "We love firefighters. Thank you for saving our city."

Near Los Gatos, about 60 miles south of San Francisco, 175 firefighters were hurt battling the 13,500-acre Lexington Reservoir arson fire in the tinder-dry Santa Cruz Mountains.

Some of the 4,500 people evacuated Monday began returning home Thursday, said Dick Mauldin of the California Department of Forestry.

One, published in Boise by the Paradigm Press, is called "NEA: Trojan Horse in American Education" and is written by Samuel Blumenfeld. The second, "NEA: Propaganda Front of the Radical Left," was written by Sally Reed and illustrated by Dick Hafer, who introduced the comic book "What in the World is Going On in Your School?" which was circulated in Idaho last fall.

Alexander said his organization is funded by direct mail solicitations and that he buys his mailing lists of conservative teachers.

Enclosed with the letter is a four-page insert making a second request for funds, quoting various authors on the NEA, and listing statistics the group says show the NEA is responsible for declines in standardized test scores of American students.

A second enclosure is a similar letter to be sent to a friend by the teacher receiving the original letter.

Alexander said he was one of the original defendants in a Supreme Court case on silent prayer in Alabama schools and has served as president of the Mobile County (Alabama) School Board.

He says his goal is to establish a conservative group that will research and lobby on education issues, because the NEA is unchallenged in education lobbying. "Every group ought to have a counterforce to it," he said.

Moore said the NEA is challenged by other teacher unions and by various citizens' groups.

The letter is only one of the group's projects, Alexander said. He is in the final stages of preparation of a book entitled "Case History: The Case Against the NEA."

Two other similar books attacking the NEA have recently appeared.

Identification not certain

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - A forensic expert hired by the widow of an Air Force colonel has been unable to identify bones recovered from the site of a 1972 plane crash in Laos that the Air Force says are the officer's remains.

John Hickman, attorney for Anne Hart of Pensacola, Fla., said Thursday that Mrs. Hart has agreed "as a compromise and a humanitarian gesture" to let families of 12 other servicemen claim remains belonging to other victims of the crash.

She is not ready to concede that the Air Force has conclusively identified the remains of her husband, Lt. Col. Thomas Hart, however, he said.

Coca-Cola admits an error

ATLANTA (AP) — The top three officials of Coca-Cola Co. said Thursday they are bringing back the recipe that made Coke the world's most popular soft drink because they "clearly misread" the public's attachment to it.

They also denied that the return of the old formula was prompted by a failure of the 11-week-old new formula, or that the return of "Coca-Cola Classic" had been secretly planned all along.

"We're not that dumb and we're not that smart," Donald Keough, president of Coca-Cola Co., said at a news conference at the company headquarters along with Chairman Roberto C. Goizueta and Coca-Cola USA President Brian Dyson.

The officials said Coke made with the new formula will remain the company's flagship brand.

Watermelon purchasers wary

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Customers were wary but happy as watermelons certified safe returned to stores Thursday, while bulldozers buried pesticide-laced melons recalled in a 10-state alert after almost 300 people reported becoming ill.

By Thursday, 21 cases of poisoning by the pesticide aldicarb were confirmed among consumers of California-grown watermelons: 164 in California, 44 in Oregon, 40 in Alaska, 30 in Washington and three in Idaho, health officials said. The recall spread from those states to Colorado, Hawaii, Maryland, Michigan, Missouri and British Columbia.

But most markets in California had removed all bad melons by Thursday, and new melons with green California state-certified stickers were available in some markets in California and other channels they expected them soon.

Customers crowded around the watermelon bins at supermarkets Thursday, with as many as five people thumping melons at once. Many bought watermelons, but some were cautious.

Semiconductor probe starting

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Trade Representative Clayton Yeutter said Thursday he is opening an investigation on a plea from the American semiconductor industry, the first such probe under a new trade law, which could lead to trade action against Japan.

Members of Congress are pressing for moves to cut the deficit in U.S. sales to Japan, compared with Japanese sales in the United States. The deficit was $38.6 billion last year.

Sen. Max Baucus, D-Mont., said Wednesday that Congress is getting closer to passing retaliatory laws. The goal would be to cut down imports from Japan, retaining jobs and business for U.S. industry. Trade reprisals ordered by President Reagan would have a similar effect.

FAA proposes baggage limits

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration proposed regulations Thursday to limit the size and amount of carry-on baggage for airline travelers, saying passengers are hauling too many items aboard aircraft cabins.

"On both safety and security grounds... my instincts are to control excessive amounts of carry-on baggage," FAA Administrator Donald Engen told a group of airline representatives at a meeting to discuss the proposal.

The agency's plan would require all carry-on bags to fit into an area equal to the space beneath an average airliner seat with all baggage together measuring no more than 9 inches by 16 inches by 20 inches. That would normally mean one average carry-on bag, or several smaller briefcases or bags.

Lax security list kept quiet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration, while stepping up the security surveillance at major international airports, is campaigning against having to disclose the names of unsafe airports to the traveling public, it was disclosed Thursday.

Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole, in a letter to the chairman of the House aviation subcommittee, outlined the administration's strong opposition to legislation that would require that the names of airports with lax security be made available to travelers.

The subcommittee chairman, Rep. Norman Mineta, D-Calif., made the letter public during a hearing on airport security and questioned why the traveling public should not be made aware when an airport is found to not be taking adequate security measures.

Senators toughen 'sodbuster' penalty

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Agriculture Committee on Thursday put new teeth into the conservation section of its farm bill, broadening the coverage of provisions that would penalize farmers who plow up highly erodible land.

On a voice vote, the committee toughened the "sodbuster" penalties, which deny farm subsidies and other program benefits — to farmers who plow up land classified as highly subject to erosion.

As originally proposed, the bill would have barred payment of benefits to farmers who plow up delicate acreage after the legislation is passed. Land that already had been in cultivation, even if erodible, would have been exempted.

But on a motion by Sen. David Boren, D-Okla., the panel moved to close of the exemption clause in 1988, or later for land whose erosion potential has not been formally determined by the Soil Conservation Service by that date.

However, a farmer could avoid losing federal subsidies if he farmed the delicate acreage under an approved conservation plan designed to prevent erosion.

Peter C. Myers, assistant secretary of agriculture for natural resources and environment, called the panel's move "historic" and "a very big step." But he conceded the matter will be controversial.

"As a farmer, I don't like anybody to tell me how to manage my land," Myers said. "But as a soil conservationist, I don't think farmers should farm erodible land."

The House Agriculture Committee, which dealt with conservation issues in its version of the farm bill earlier this week, rejected a similar attempt to apply sodbuster sanctions to all land.

Sen. John Melcher, D-Mont., expressed some hesitation about the stronger language, saying that some farmers tilling rolling farmland that falls under the "erodible" definition might be taken by surprise.

"This thing has never been discussed with farmers. They are in the dark about what is highly erodible," Melcher said.

But Sen. Rudy Boschwitz, R-Minn., noted that much of the erodible land now being farmed was put into production because federal programs rewarded producers who expanded their acreage bases by giving them higher subsidies.

In other action, the Senate panel:

- Endorsed a provision, pushed by Sen. Thad Cochran, R-Miss., that would allow the Farmers Home Administration to forgive portions of loans made to farmers who drained wetlands to plant crops, but later found the effort unprofitable.

Limited sanctions pass

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, anxious to condemn the "evil of apartheid," voted 80-12 Thursday night to stop limited sanctions on racially segregated South Africa.

The lopsided roll call marked the first time the Republican-controlled

Senate has recommended such action against the government in Pretoria. It amounted to a clear statement, as well, that President Reagan's low-key policy of "constructive engagement" does not go far enough in expressing American rejection of South African racial policies.

Burley land bank approves merger

BURLEY — Members of the Federal Land Bank Association of Burley have voted to back the merger of the association with its sister institutions in five Northwest states.

But balloting by stockholders in the Eastern Idaho Production Credit Association — which harbors the main opposition to a similar merger of the Northwest's PCAs — is continuing at meetings in the Magic Valley.

At a contentious, three-hour session in Burley, EIPCA officials blasted plans by the Spokane Farm Credit Banks to combine the system's 23 PCAs into one district-wide institution and its 40 FLBAs into another.

The board of directors of the Pocatello-based PCA is loudly opposing the plan, saying it will deprive its stockholders of grass roots control and centralize authority in Spokane.

But the EIPCA's arguments Thursday failed to dissuade stockholders of the Burley-FLBA and Magic Valley members of the Idaho Livestock PCA, who cast their ballots at the same meeting.

The move for a merger passed the FLBA membership by a wide margin, 125-49. Although votes from other areas still must be counted, the 31 Magic Valley stockholders in the Idaho Livestock PCA unanimously supported the plan.

Top officials of their associations and the Spokane Farm Credit Banks presented the proposal as an assurance of survival for the district's farm credit system. They also appealed to borrowers' pocketbooks, saying that a rejection of the merger could saddle them with 1 to 1 1/2 percent higher interest rates on their loans, which already are above those of commercial competitors.

Hobbled by loan losses from illiquidated PCAs in the Northwest, the Spokane system has obtained $138 million worth of financing from other farm credit banks around the country.

But the financing depends on the proposed mergers, said Rod Olson, executive vice president for the Spokane banks. If even one FLBA or one PCA refuses to merge, the rescue

Simplot pledges to fix cause of odor problem

HEYBURN — J.R. Simplot, plant manager of J. Young promised citizens in Heyburn Thursday night that the odor problem at the company's waste treatment plant will be taken care of.

In a meeting at the Heyburn Elementary School, Young said that procedural error and a plant system overload had created the odor problems. For a short time in May and June, he said, there had not been a chemist in charge of the waste treatment plant since from himself.

"I am a layman," he said. But he added the plant had hired Mike Gann on June 24 to manage the waste treatment site.

"He identified some problems right away," Young said.

This was the second time citizens have met this summer to discuss odor problems they say have been a source of discomfort for years.

"I have lived here for seven to ten years," said resident Stan Patterson, "and there has always been a problem."

Mike McMasters, of the state Health and Welfare Department's Division of Environment, said the odors were first noticed when the weather warmed up this summer, but the group of more than 100 residents in attendance quickly disagreed, voicing loud opposition to the idea that the odor problem had only recently surfaced.

One resident complained that if anyone came to his home between 9 and 10 at night, he would need to wear a gas mask.

McMasters replied that if the Simplot plant were given a few more weeks to work on the problem, the air would be pleasant enough for that resident to have a cookout.

Young said a procedural error had allowed waste water to flow out of the treatment facility without being pro-

Teachers nearly ready to ring at Perrine

Teachers at the new Perrine Elementary School are nearly ready to ring at the start of the school year. The school is located on the second floor and will be completed by the end of the month.

Althea J. Brown, formerly principal at the old Perrine school, is now the principal of the new school. She said that the teachers are excited about the new building and the new curriculum that will be implemented.

The school will have 23 classrooms and a library. It will be a full-service school, offering a wide range of educational programs. The school is expected to open in September.

The new school is a result of a bond issue that was approved by voters in a recent election. The bond issue was used to fund the construction of the new school and other educational facilities in the district.

The school district is pleased with the progress of the new school and looks forward to a successful start to the school year.

Inspector: mail fraud currently robs millions

By DOUG WRIGHT
Times News writer

TWIN FALLS — Merchandise misrepresentation and retirement savings schemes are currently robbing American postal customers of millions of dollars, Postal Inspector Joseph Mangiameli told people at the Gem State Postmasters Convention on Thursday.

Merchandise misrepresentation, in which consumers pay C.O.D. for merchandise only to find that the product is of inferior quality or not even what they ordered, is currently the major mail fraud problem.

Although national figures are unavailable, one firm alone grossed more than $40 million before it was shut down by the Postal Service.

Examples of items which have been advertised in misrepresentation schemes include cameras, binoculars, home appliances, automobiles and houses.

In many cases, people have ended up receiving plywood, sheetrock, sheets of metal, or other items used only to weight the package after paying for what they thought was quality merchandise, Mangiameli said.

"Golden Plan" investment schemes, in which old people are solicited to make down payments on beautiful houses which don't really exist, steal another $20 million per year, mostly from retired people, he said.

Shutting down mail fraud operations is extremely difficult, Mangiameli said, because it is easy for the criminals to use untraceable addresses and move.

But the Postal Service, mostly in cooperation with various state agencies like the Attorney General's office, does catch and prosecute a fair number of mail fraud artists.

"We do monitor magazine ads very closely and make a number of test purchases to see if products are legal and properly advertised," he said.

However, the Postal Service's main thrust in preventing mail fraud is to educate the consumer, he added. "We have many regional specialists who meet with public groups and give presentations on mail fraud."

"We also run advertisements and put a lot of information in publications warning people to be careful in purchasing merchandise through the mail," he said.

But because mail fraud is so hard to prosecute and the Postal Service's budget is limited, postal officials must generally rely on individuals to use good common sense in buying products through the mail.

Ben Jones shows a fire ant hole from the inside out, by way of a lead casting process

Even bugs can become artists at Filer show

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times News writer

FILER — There's always a surprise or two in the Idaho Gem State Days show at Filer, but sculptures made inside of an ant hill sound a bit hard to believe.

Ben and Lois Jones, of Burnet, Texas, are among around 100 arts, crafts and gem enthusiasts who are displaying their work for show and sale at the Filer Fairgrounds this weekend.

The show opens at 9:30 a.m. today and runs through Saturday and Sunday. There is no admission charge.

Ben Jones' display of what he calls 'ant hole art' draws questions from show goers. Each is different. They range in size and shape according to the type of ant home he invades. He says a lot of ants lose their lives for the sake of his art, but most are undesirable ants, anyway.

One mean one, the Florida Red Ant, makes the best sculptures, Ben says.

To capture the unusual art form, Ben simply pours hot melted lead into the ant hole. It follows the tiny tunnels and chambers of the ant hill. When the lead is hardened, Ben digs it up, cleans it and paints it with a bright gold paint.

By pouring a small pool of the lead at the entrance of the hole, he gets a stand for the art piece that makes a nice desk or coffee table conversation piece.

If you use a Texas ant hole, says Texan Ben Jones, you naturally get a bigger art object. The sugar ant, often found in homes and kitchens, produces a tiny version of the same art, while the native ants of Oregon and Idaho build large fat chambers in their ant homes that produce a modernistic effect.

The Joneses spend about eight months per year collecting show material including the ant hole art and attending shows throughout the northwest.

Gene Anthis of Twin Falls, who stages the annual Gem State Days, said there is a lot of variety in this year's Filer event. There is everything from the antiques and doll collections of Keep Sake House of Ray and Gordon from Boise, to the uncut amethyst-crystal from Brazil and the professionally made gold and silver jewelry set with diamonds and gem stones that are made in the traveling workshop of Don and Meri Jo Derrickson of Quartzsite, Ariz.

"Most people in the show are retired and do this for a hobby. I make my living making jewelry," says Derrickson. "While I am here I will probably make some jewelry from someone's design or make a nice ring or a few stones and make some rings smaller or larger. Anything in the jewelry line is our business."

An educational display from Utah features giant-sized dinosaur bones and fossilized plants known as cycads, most weighing more than 100 pounds. These are displayed by Bryant Washburn of B and E Rocks in Richfield, Utah. Washburn says some of his dinosaur vertebrae sections are intact with the spinal column that measures about three inches in diameter and runs at the base of the spine rather than through it.

June and Hal Miller of Santa Barbara, Calif., are back this year, but with some new and unique items in their gun collection and antique jewelry cases. Their booth can be recognized by two giant dragon-like carvings. These "cocatrice" once graced the grand stairway entrance of the Von Krauey castle in Bavaria. They are more than 300 years old and intricately hand carved.

The show hours are 9:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m. today and Saturday and 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sunday.

Special entertainment includes a gold panning and gold recovery equipment demonstrations, as well as silversmithing demonstrations each day. The Sage Gymnastics will perform at 7 p.m. today and Sunday and Mexican folk dancing and break dancing are also planned.

Board appoints Kugler acting superintendent

The board of directors of the Idaho State University has appointed Jerome Kugler as acting superintendent of the university. Kugler has previously worked as an administrator at the University of Idaho and the University of Oregon.

Kugler's appointment is effective immediately. He will be responsible for the day-to-day operations of the university and will report to the board of directors.

The board of directors also announced that the position of superintendent will remain vacant for the next several months. During this time, Kugler will continue to act as superintendent.

Kugler has a long history of education and has held several administrative positions in higher education. He is a member of the American Association of University Administrators and the National Association of State University Administrators.

The board of directors expressed its confidence in Kugler's ability to lead the university through these challenging times. Kugler thanked the board for their support and expressed his commitment to the university and its students.

Carbide closes Bhopal plant

BHOPAL, India (AP) — Union Carbide on Thursday officially closed the pesticide plant that leaked toxic gas last December and killed more than 2,000 people. Workers vowed to continue demands for new jobs and higher compensation.

Hundreds of workers, who have been occupying the plant since June 14, marked the shutdown with a mock funeral of Union Carbide Chairman Warren Anderson, carrying his effigy beneath signs demanding "justice" from "killer Carbide."

The factory has been idle since deadly methyl isocyanate gas, used in the manufacture of pesticides, leaked from it on the night of Dec. 3, spreading a blanket of death through the crowded slum neighborhoods nearby.

Soviets say Star Wars threat

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — The Soviet Union said Thursday that U.S. research into a space-based missile defense continued to threaten the bilateral arms control talks.

Victor Issraelyan, chief Soviet delegate to the Geneva Conference on Disarmament, told the 40-nation group that President Reagan's Strategic Defense Initiative — popularly known as Star Wars, — "is going to turn outer space into a new arena of military confrontation."

He said the bilateral talks in Geneva "would be one of the first victims of the Star Wars program." Issraelyan did not specify any conditions under which the talks would be postponed. Research on space-based defensive missile system already is underway.

Beirut security plans ready

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The government announced plans Thursday to clear warring Moslem militias from west Beirut and secure the hijack-plagued airport, which has become a lifeline for this devastated nation.

Prime Minister Rashid Karami said the effort would be "advised and assisted" by Syria, which has become the real source of power in Lebanon during its decade of civil war.

He said in a statement broadcast by the state radio that a seven-man "coordination committee" had been formed to oversee the new security measures in west Beirut, the city's Moslem sector, and the airport on its seaside fringe.

Robot sub finds 2nd recorder

CORK, Ireland (AP) — A robot submarine on Thursday recovered the second flight recorder from the Air-India jumbo jet that plunged into the Atlantic Ocean under mysterious circumstances last month. All 329 people aboard were killed.

India's ambassador to Ireland, Kiran Doshi, told reporters at Cork airport that the recorders "will be flown to Bombay, where we have the facilities to examine them."

The two flight recorders were aboard the French cable-laying vessel Leon Thevenin after being recovered from 6,700 feet by a U.S.-made remote-control unmanned submarine called Scagab I.

Cosmos menagerie into orbit

MOSCOW (AP) — Two monkeys, white mice and salamanders have been safely lofted into orbit in Cosmos 1667 satellite to test the effects of weightlessness, Radio Moscow announced Thursday.

The English-language radio service said the animals, launched Wednesday, will orbit for one week.

Mexico cuts oil, peso prices

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexico slashed the price of its oil and lowered the value of its peso on the tourist market, and private analysts said Thursday that these measures would provide vitally needed medicine to the nation's still-shaky economy.

But the analysts said the government didn't go far enough and should devalue the rest of the peso market, which is used for 80 percent of commercial transactions.

The partial devaluation should be a windfall for American tourists, though, giving them more pesos for their dollars.

Kuwait cafe bombings kill 9, injure 56

KUWAIT (AP) — Bombs exploded in two popular cafes in Kuwait City on Thursday, killing nine people and injuring 56 others, police and witnesses said.

A security official said the explosions were caused by terrorists.

Local residents said the first blast jolted the al-Sharq seaside cafe as families gathered on the eve of the Moslem holy day on Friday, and the second explosion occurred in the densely populated Salmiyah district.

"The blasts were the result of time bombs placed by unknown terrorists," said a security official, who spoke on condition of anonymity. He said authorities had closed Kuwait International Airport to outgoing flights "as a precaution."

Kuwait's Cabinet — the Council of Ministers — met in emergency session under Foreign Minister Sheikh Sabah al-Ahmed, who is acting prime minister in the absence of the prime minister, Crown Prince Sheikh Saad Abdullah. Sheikh Saad is in London for medical treatment. The council issued a statement deploring the bombings.

Security forces sealed the areas around the two blasts and detained civilian traffic, witnesses said. Police cleared a public park near the cafe, apparently for fear of more explosions.

"The cafe was crowded at the time of the explosion," said one bystander near the al-Sharq cafe, speaking on condition he was not named. "Whoever planted the bomb in the cafe couldn't have picked a worse time. The blast sent chairs flying, and mutilated bodies and a big blood patch covered the place."

"Many children fell unconscious, horrified women screamed and men scrambled about looking for their children," said a local resident near the same cafe.

Police say bomb sank ship

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) — Police said Thursday a bomb caused the explosion that sank the Greenpeace flagship Rainbow Warrior and killed one of its crew of conservationists.

Prime Minister David Lange said the bombing Wednesday night was "a major criminal act with terrorist overtones."

The environmentalists said they were determined to go ahead with a four-month anti-nuclear campaign in the South Pacific and would welcome any offer of a substitute ship from New Zealand.

Lange said his government would consider suggestions from the public that the government send a military vessel to a French Polynesian nuclear test site in place of Rainbow Warrior. He did not elaborate.

Few alternatives to paying

BOISE (AP) — House Speaker Tom Silvers says he doesn't think the Idaho Legislature should pay more than $140,000 in legal fees to two Coeur d'Alene attorneys — but it appears the state has few alternatives.

But he would say little on the subject at a Thursday news conference here. He said he and others will negotiate next Monday morning in an effort to break an 18-month deadlock over the legal fees.

"I won't get into that," he said, but said he has "mixed emotions whether the bill should be paid."

Nampa boy, 5, hit by truck

NAMPA (AP) — A 5-year-old boy has died in a traffic accident here after he was struck by a truck, police said.

Dead is Renato Garcia, Jr., Nampa. Police said he was fatally injured Thursday morning by a truck operated by Ausencio Quezada, 36, also of Nampa.

Officers said Quezada dropped his child off at a school bus stop. The Garcia boy apparently ran under the truck's rear dual wheels.

No citations were issued, officers said investigation continues.

Oil exploration permits off

POCATELLO (AP) — Administrators of the Targhee and Caribou national forests in eastern Idaho have yet to issue even one seismic permit this year as oil and gas explorers retreat from their pace of several years ago.

But the Forest Service said the decline doesn't necessarily reflect a lack of interest. It may be an indication companies have enough seismic information to begin planning well construction, agency administrators said.

Judge approves prison plan

BOISE (AP) — A federal judge here has given his approval to most of the state's plan to improve conditions at the Idaho State Penitentiary.

Inmate, in a civil rights lawsuit, won a ruling from U.S. District Judge Harold Ryan last November that security, food, clothing and medical facilities must be improved. He gave the state six months to comply or show good progress.

In an order signed Thursday afternoon, Ryan approved most of the state's plans for the improvements.

Tax package unlikely to pass

BOISE (AP) — House Speaker Tom Silvers says he feels there is no chance the Legislature will approve a tax change package proposed by four state legislators this week.

The package is being new in it (that hasn't been hashed over for the last six weeks) is really a massive increase in taxes," he told a news conference here Thursday.

Silvers said similar proposals were rejected in the last legislative session. "The Legislature hasn't changed one iota, in fact it may have become more rigid against increasing taxes," he said.

Bomb threat probe ordered

POCATELLO (AP) — A full-scale investigation was ordered in the wake of a Thursday bomb threat and apparent sabotage that disrupted operations at Gould-AMI Inc., a Pocatello semiconductor plant, officials say.

Shortly before 8 a.m., someone phoned the plant to report that a bomb had been planted in one of its buildings. Pocatello police were called to the scene.

Police officers checked through the area, but didn't find anything, said Lt. Jim Camara.

Gould-AMI spokeswoman Nancy Harsoch estimated that between 800 and 700 plant employees were evacuated. They returned to work at about 11 a.m.

INEL test wins accolades

IDAHO FALLS (AP) — The recently conducted severe fuel damage test in the Loss of Fluid Test facility at the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory has won accolades from Idaho's congressional delegation.

The test demonstrated the possibility of stopping a meltdown from running out of control, said Republican Sen. Steven Symms.

"We can all take pride in the important breakthroughs in nuclear energy technology under way in Idaho Falls," he said.

Rep. Richard Stallings, D-Idaho, said the test was "one of the most significant achievements in INEL's nuclear safety mission."

Officials to expand 'hopper' war plan

By The Associated Press

A half dozen large spray planes rained pesticide on tens of thousands of acres in southern Idaho again Thursday as federal officials, bolstered by an infusion of new government funds, began reviewing plans to expand the state's war on marauding grasshoppers.

"We have here 810,000 acres that we're looking at," said Anita McGrady of the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, which is running the spraying program in the state. "Before this year, we may be hitting over 6 million acres."

At the same time, however, Bureau of Land Management investigators were expanding their investigation into reports that farmers, looking for swift relief from the crop-galling pests, have been torching rangelands to rid them of grasshoppers.

"The more we look, the more we find," said BLM criminal investigator Dan Hughes. Fires covering some 6,500 acres of range, are already the target of the probe into possible range arson, which carries penalties of fines and jail plus compensation for firefighting costs.

Two C-123 military planes flying out of Boise and three DC-4s along with a DC-7 operating from Twin Falls covered another 142,000 acres of land with the pesticide malathion Thursday, said Air Force Tech. Sgt. John Mocking called excellent flying conditions.

It was the second best day for the crop destroyers this week that had been marred by adverse weather and mechanical failure, and it brought the total acreage of land treated with malathion to more than 4.8 million acres since the program began June 5.

Although a shortage of malathion had all but halted spraying a week ago, Ms. McGrady said new shipments of the chemical have been arriving since then and there should be enough pesticide to meet any increased demand brought on by additional spraying requests.

Review of proposals to add another 600,000 acres of the less than 900,000 acres still targeted for treatment came after Agriculture Secretary John Block accepted demands from Gov. John Evans and other western officials to add to the $25 million previously earmarked for pest control throughout the West. Block agreed to make another $20 million available — and promised all the resources necessary to finish the spraying program.

Governor says session unlikely to be needed

MOSCOW (AP) — Believed that a fiscal 1986 shortfall will not materialize, Gov. John Evans says a special session of the Idaho Legislature probably will not be necessary to deal with an anticipated $8 million shortfall in fiscal 1986.

Evans said Wednesday he will know better by the end of this month how much the state will be short during the fiscal year that started July 1. Once he has that information, he said, he'll decide whether to implement a holdback or wait until state lawmakers return to Boise in January.

"It would be difficult to justify a special session with an $8 million shortfall," he said.

ly, Evans said it was going to be hard to justify a special session with an anticipated $17 million shortfall, considering the attitude of the legislative leadership," he said.

Evans said Wednesday that only $600,000 of an anticipated $8 million shortfall will be carried over from the 1985 fiscal year to 1986. That reduced the amount of the fiscal 1986 shortfall substantially.

Editor Joe Williams announced Tuesday that only $600,000 of an anticipated $8 million shortfall will be carried over from the 1985 fiscal year to 1986. That reduced the amount of the fiscal 1986 shortfall substantially.

No sale on cheese

BOISE (AP) — Idaho's top health officer on Thursday ordered stores in the state not to sell California-produced cheese suspected in the deaths of at least 60 persons.

Dr. Fritz Dixon ordered all Idaho stores not to sell any brand of Cascade brand cheese with an expiration date of Aug. 17 or earlier.

He said the cheese product, made by Cascade Fine Foods of California, is being embargoed in Idaho because of contamination by a bacterium suspected of causing the deaths.

Dixon notified the state's seven public health districts on Thursday that the cheese should not be sold or consumed by the public. According to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, Idaho was one of 13 states receiving shipments of the cheese, he said.

Cheese made later, with expiration dates after Aug. 17, was manufactured by another processor and should be safe, Dixon said.

Wall Street charges to new peak close

NEW YORK (AP)—A late round of buying carried the stock market to a new peak today as Wall Street responded to declines in the dollar and oil prices.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks gained 2.81 to 1,327.76, surpassing the peak of 1,327.14 reached on July 1.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange slipped up to 123,790,000 shares, the largest total in nearly two weeks, from 108.21 million on July 1.

The dollar dropped this week to its lowest level, 36¢ against the pound sterling. A high value of the dollar against leading foreign currencies has made it difficult for U.S. manufacturers to compete with imports in the American market, and to sell their goods at attractive prices overseas.

A plus for stocks was a cut in Mexico's oil prices, coming at a time when the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries are struggling to find ways to counter downward pressures on world oil prices.

Energy stocks were mostly lower, while airlines, which are big consumers of fuel, moved up.

Thursday's rally on the Big Board was about the same as the previous day's rally that followed the exchange's composite index, up .35 at 111.95, reaching a new high.

Nationwide turnover in NYSE-listed issues, including trades in those stocks on regional exchanges and in the over-the-counter market, totaled 146.83 million shares.

Standard & Poor's index of 409 industrial rose .33 to 213.31, and S&P's 500-stock composite index was up .37 at 123.46.

The NASDAQ composite index for the over-the-counter market jumped 2.01 to 300.53. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index closed at 233.31, up .32.

Among the oils, Exxon lost 1/2 to 38 1/2; Mobil 1/4 to 38 1/2; Chevron 1/4 to 37 1/2; Amoco 1/4 to 37 1/2; and Atlantic Richfield 1/4 to 37 1/2. In the airline group, UAL gained 1/4 to 55 1/2; Delta

Air Lines 3/4 to 51 1/2, and AMR 1/4 to 49 1/2.

Levi Strauss was the biggest percent gainer among NYSE issues, up 8 1/2 to 45 1/2. The company said it was looking into a possible leveraged buyout at $50 a share.

Coca-Cola climbed 2 1/2 to 74 1/2. The company announced Wednesday that it was bringing back the old formula for its flagship soft drink under the name of Coca-Cola Classic, while continuing to sell a new version of Coke introduced a few months ago.

CNA Financial led the active list of 14 to 84 1/2. A 4.6 million-share block of the stock traded at 5 1/2.

Home purchase rules relaxed

In the old days, loans turned over to their landlords 20 percent of a year's gross to pay their "rent" and the origin of the so-called "rent" rule that you pay about that amount of your gross income in housing costs. At that time, that's the story.

It's as good an explanation as any of the commonly used rule of thumb that has guided generations of home buyers.

But in recent years, the rules have been relaxed, being modified by the realities of soaring housing costs and interest rates, reports my research associate, Ellen Heranson.

The statistics underline the realities. In 1951, a full 40.4 percent of home buyers spent more than 20 percent of their incomes on housing. In the West, says the U.S. League of Savings Institutions, almost 30 percent of buyers were spending more than 30 percent of their incomes on housing.

While in the past, lenders adhered to that 20 percent formula when determining how much to lend to homeowners for mortgages, today the percentage stands at 28 percent of income for families with other debt and 30 percent of income, including outstanding loans.

That's why lenders look at a second level of guidelines, which includes longer-term debt, such as car loans, and revolving credit.

That layer of debt, coupled with your housing costs, should not exceed 36 percent of your gross income.

Consider a family with an $84,000 annual income, who takes $7,000 a month. This family can spend (theoretically) $3,600 on its combined housing costs and other cash needs. $1,120 in payments for car and student loans, plus revolving credit. This leaves $1,400 for housing.

If this family can find a house with annual tax payments of $3,720 a year, or $310 a month, its maximum mortgage payment will be $1,090 a month, says Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co. of New York.

But these are no more than guidelines. They represent the maximum.

But these are no more than guidelines. They represent the maximum.

But these are no more than guidelines. They represent the maximum.

You should pay no more than a maximum of 28 percent of your gross income on the principal of the mortgage and insurance on your home. Figure it out now.

The tax component refers to real estate taxes, the insurance component includes homeowners insurance only. If your lender requires private mortgage insurance as well, the formula assumes you are making a 20 percent down payment on your home.

But these are no more than guidelines. They represent the maximum.

Sun Valley galleries team for a hot opening

Shows follow Elkhorn festival

By TERRY RICH HARTLEY Times-News correspondent

SUN VALLEY — This weekend promises to be firecracker hot for visual arts in the Sun Valley/Ketchum area with the eight galleries composing the Sun Valley gallery association all featuring major shows during their annual group opening this evening from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Publicity chairman Gail Severn points out that by holding joint openings, the galleries hope to draw more viewers from the Twin Falls and Boise areas. An added bonus is that all this is taking place just hours after the Elkhorn Invitational Arts and Crafts Festival kicks off its annual show.

"The gallery association has been trying to coordinate gallery events for a year and a half now," she says, adding, "We're trying to make it so that Twin Falls people can tour the galleries and the Elkhorn Festival in one trip."

Severn notes that some restaurants will be offering gallery specials on their menus with a break in prices for the weekend. Another plus, she says, is that "most of the galleries are within a block or two of each other, which is very convenient for viewers."

Hissing Goose

The Hissing Goose Gallery in Ketchum will begin its opening reception celebrating a show entitled "Feathers," featuring the work of Diane Burchard and Hope and Phillip Holtzman accompanied by pieces of wearable art by K. Lee Manual and Tim Harding.

Halling from Dallas, Texas, Burchard brings a feeling of ceremony and an influence from the American Indian in her work. Using paper-fragment fragments that are hand dyed and arranged with modulating colors, Burchard incorporates feathers and beads with ancient soumak and twining techniques.

Her assemblages are either stretched on muslin or stand alone as sculptural pieces.

The Holtzmans combine their talents to create three-dimensional tapestry figures. Hope Holtzman, a tapestry weaver trained in traditional Aubusson tapestry weaving, creates the woven designs with wool and silk.

She says she concentrates on the human form and that these figures grow out of an interest in gesture and posture. Many of the figures are adorned with feathers, while some are accompanied by hand-carved wooden masks or antique silver pieces. The two artists' interest in gesture allows these figures with universal postures to speak through barriers of language and culture.

Manual's display will be painted-leather neckpieces, painted leather garments and elaborate painted feather stick pins, while Harding will feature wearable pieces made from dyed cotton that is layered, quilted, slashed and frayed. The pieces are constructed to drape and hang in such a way as to allow the piece to flow and move with the wearer.

As the structure of the piece is created, image and pattern are revealed through the mutilation of its surface," Harding says.

Included in The Hissing Goose Gallery's evening show will be wearable art artists Judith Bird, Elizabeth Garver, Diana Johns, Roberta Meiding, Mickey Ruschweg, Deborah Cross, Hillary Gifford and Gloria Walsh, along with jewelry artists Aleris Zettler, Gina Mowry and Lynne Hull.

Sun Valley

Opening at the Sun Valley Center Gallery will be "Past Models, Future Shapes," an exhibition of ceramic work by established and emerging artists. Artists were selected by critics and gallery dealers invited to participate in the Ceramic Criticism Conference hosted by the Sun Valley Center.

Artists included in the exhibition are Viola Frey, Ron Nagle, Ken Price, Betty Woodman, Christina Berton, Jim Romburg, John Mason, John Roloff and Adrian Saxe. The exhibition will run through September 7.

Also at the Sun Valley Center Gallery is the continuing exhibition of work by visiting artists Otto Piene and Laura Andrey. Piene is the sky artist who plans to create a 600-foot neon rainbow over Dollar Mountain.

Environmental artist Audrey's computer graphics and photographs will be exhibited at the gallery through August 1. Her sculpture project involves a peony growing in a section of road cut along the banks of Trail Creek Road.

Kneeland

The Kneeland Gallery in Ketchum is presenting its "Summer Showing Of Gallery Artists," which has a strong local representation with new works by area artists Abby Bernard, Will Caldwell, Tina Cole, Kim Howard, Lisa Holley, P. Lynn McGeever and Lynn Toneri.

Also included will be new work by former local Mary Rolland, who now lives and paints in New York City. Other hangings will be new watercolors by Theodore B. Villa, oil paintings by Tom DeBecker and hand-colored fishing sketches by angling artist Mike Sliatham. This show opens at 7 p.m. tonight and runs through July 24. Many of the artists will be present for the opening reception.

River Run

Ketchum's River Run Gallery will host a two-person show by California artists Sari Stagg and Michael Andrews entitled "Sea Marks." A well-known artist in the Sun Valley area, Stagg is most remembered for her original watercolor portrayals of the American Indian and for scenes of the Taos Pueblo. Yet, for this show, she is departing from her usual themes to explore the intricacies of sea shells.

Poet/photographer Andrews is leaving his camera aside for this exhibit to accompany Stagg's watercolors with a body of poetry pertaining to the sea. In Stagg's enthusiasm for the poetry, she has illustrated some of Andrew's verse.

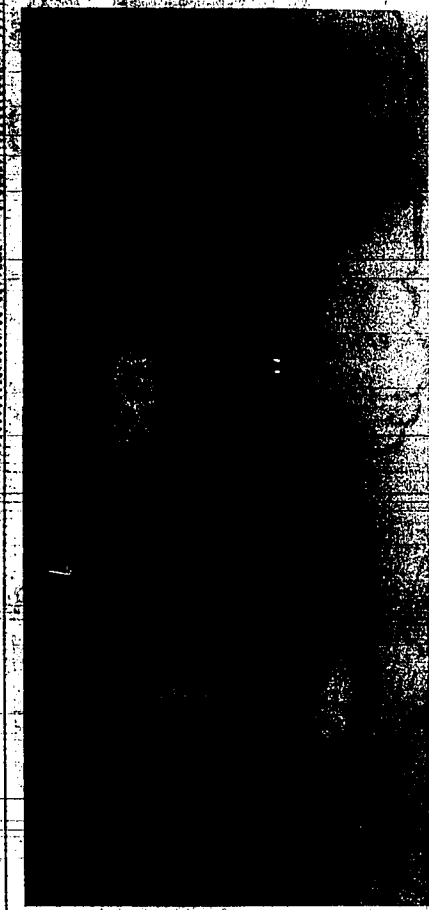

Both artists will be in attendance for the opening. The exhibit will run through July 28.

Hardy Gallery

The Hardy Gallery in Sun Valley will be showing its specialty, 18th and 19th century European works of art, including a signed oil painting of three hunting dogs by Edmund-H-Oshaus. With a price tag of $4,000, it hangs above a 17th century table with two flaps and eight turned legs.

Other exhibits include porcelain parrots, a Georgian walnut chest of drawers and a signed and dated oil painting of a horse and dog on a panel, valued at $22,000.

Rock's biggest stars prepare for history's biggest concert

By LEE LINDER The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA — "Live Aid," the biggest rock concert the world has ever known, will connect Britain and the United States in a Saturday jam session that may be heard by more than 1 billion people, all in an effort to aid hungry Africans.

Only 162,000 people will see the pop music extravaganza in person — 90,000 in Philadelphia's John F. Kennedy Stadium and 72,000 in London's Wembley Stadium. It begins in England at 7 a.m. and winds up here 17 hours later at midnight.

Conceived by Bob Geldof, the charismatic 32-year-old leader of the British rock group Boomtown Rats, the huge concert will feature the biggest stars in pop music performing free in hopes of raising up to $50 million — from ticket sales, souvenirs and appeals for donations from viewers — to help feed the starving in famine-ridden African nations.

"We have without a doubt the most important people over the past 25 years in pop music," Geldof said, tagging the project "a global jukebox."

It was Geldof who last year brought together 37 top English recording stars as a group dubbed "Band Aid" to make the hit record "Do They Know It's Christmas" for famine relief. It was the forerunner of "We Are the World," a song composed by Michael Jackson and Lionel Richie in a similar effort in this country.

The two records raised more than $30 million, and hundreds of tons of food, medicine and clothing have been shipped to Africa.

The live acts start in Philadelphia at 9 a.m. During lulls between the musical acts, the crowd will turn to mammoth television screens around the stadium to watch by satellite what's happening on the Wembley stage across the Atlantic.

Organizers say 85 countries are carrying parts of the concert live, while 40 to 50 other countries will take videotape. The all-music cable TV channel, MTV, in the United States is the only outlet planning to "carry" all the music from start to finish.

ABC-TV will carry three hours of the special, and a private home video will be available at 11 p.m. EDT, and will insert live feeds from around the world, including Holland, Japan,

Germany, and the Soviet Union.

A group of independent TV and radio stations across the nation will broadcast all or parts of the concert until 6 p.m. when network rights will prevail.

The live audience may not equal the 300,000 who showed up for the 1969 concert at Woodstock, N.Y., but that audience didn't have the TV-radio hookup that will beam signals into China, India, Australia, Africa, Europe, South and Central America, the Soviet Union and other parts of the world.

Among the 39 acts scheduled to take the stage in Philadelphia are Tina Turner, the Beach Boys, the O'Jays, Mick Jagger, Billy Joel, Kris Kristofferson, Cyndi Lauper, Teddy Pendergrass, Paul Simon, the Temptations, Duran Duran, Fall-LaBelle, Bob Dylan, Rick Springfield, Rod Stewart, Huey Lewis and the News, Boy George, the Cars, and Crosby, Stills & Nash.

In England, headliners include the Boomtown Rats, Bob McCartney, Sade, Sting, David Bowie, The Who, Adam Ant, Spandau Ballet, U2, Elton John, Phil Collins and Queen.

Collins will appear on both stages, performing first in London with Sting and Julian Lennon, then flying by Concorde superjet to New York where he'll switch to a limousine for the drive down the New Jersey Turnpike.

In Philadelphia, he'll bang his drums at JFK in an appearance uniting Led-Zepplin's Robert Plant and Jimmy Page and Duran Duran's bassist John Taylor.

Shakespearean festival kicks off

CEDAR CITY, Utah (AP) — With all the pomp and ceremony befitting an Elizabethan cultural event, the curtain raised late Thursday on the 1985 edition of the Utah Shakespearean Festival here. The opening night performance of "The Merry Wives of Windsor" was scheduled for 8:30 p.m. following the Bard Banquet, at which Gov. Norm Bangerter had a reservation as the honored guest, a festival spokesman said.

'Silverado' stays with basics, succeeds

By MICHAEL HEALY The Denver Post

As "Silverado" opens, the camera wanders over some familiar relics of the American West: a rugged old saddle, worn boots, a tarnished gun. A figure is asleep in a dark, weathered shack. Here is what life was like on the frontier in the dead, dead days beyond recall.

In one sense, this opening scene just gets the action rolling with a suitable bang and sets up a few questions for the plot to play with. For instance, just who were those guys, anyway? But the beginning of "Silverado" also announces, in a very direct, visual way, director Lawrence Kasdan's great big intentions. They concern the rebirth and revitalization of the Western movie genre, using all the stock, well-worn elements of innumerable Westerns past.

It was not the mythic and religious underpinnings of the hero stories that drew an audience. What was appealing about the Westerns were the good, original stories themselves, the individualistic characters in those stories, the exotic, breathtaking settings, the literal elements of the movies were their lure. Kasdan knows enough to get the surface details right and let the deep meanings, if any, take care of themselves. This is why "Silverado" succeeds in being such fun and such a good Western, while this summer's other attempt at revivifying the genre, Clint Eastwood's "Pale Rider," is such a miserable, sentimental failure. Eastwood looks for meaning in his Western and finds just another sappy religious allegory. He could have found the same thing in any story about a hero battling evil. Such an insight is the roughly banal, the stock pseudo-intellectual way of ruining popular art.

Kasdan would rather tell a story than preach a moral. "Silverado's" meaning is so deeply embedded in the concrete details of action and characterization,

TWIN FALLS - You may just bump into somebody you know Monday night at the "No Answers" magazine's dance/concert at the Moose Lodge.

Slam dancing - that group effort of literally throwing yourself into the music, and one another - will hold court in front of the stage in the slam-pit, says Brad Bowlin, co-editor of the punk magazine. Stepping on toes begin no apology here, but, as Bowlin points out, the local slam dancing etiquette makes for a relatively injury-free experience.

"There were no injuries at our last dance/concert in March," Bowlin says. "Forty percent of the people in the slam pit were girls, and there was one eleven-year-old boy. If someone slipped and fell down, everyone would stop dancing and help him up."

Four bands will deliver the tight staccato sounds to slam by: S.N.F.U., a Canadian group, in Twin Falls on its way to Los Angeles to begin a California tour promoting its first album, "No One Else Wanted to Play" on the BKO label; The Bad Yodlers of Salt Lake City; Boise's The Pugs and Shades of Grey, whose members are all class of '84 Twin Falls High School graduates.

Tickets are $4 and will be sold at the door. The dance begins at 8 p.m. and will wind up between midnight and 1 p.m. Proceeds will be donated to the Moose Lodge for a remodeling project, says Bowlin.

He and co-editor Kent McClard, seniors at TFHS, will also have issue #2 of "No Answers" magazine for sale at $1 per copy. Bowlin is senior body president and editor of The Bruin News. McClard is editor of The Bruin News. Persons wishing copies of the publication should call Bowlin at 734-0363.

Board seeks to fill slot - Keach to resume television career

BOISE - The Association for Humanities in Idaho is seeking nominations and applications to fill one public opening on its board from southwest Idaho. The new member will replace Jan Aiden of Boise. Successful candidates should have some interest in bringing perspectives of such humanities disciplines as history, literature, philosophy, archeology or jurisprudence to public audiences in Idaho. Candidates should also have some knowledge of public needs in Idaho and be active in their professions or communities. The new member will be elected in October and will begin serving a four-year term in February, 1986. Members are asked to attend meetings in Boise in February, June and October to oversee a budget of approximately $350,000 and attend and evaluate at least two public humanities projects each year. Members are not paid, but are reimbursed for travel and per diem expenses. Persons interested in applying or nominating a candidate should contact the association's staff for a questionnaire. Inquiries can be by telephone, 345-5346, or by letter to Room 300, Len B. Jordan Building, 650 W. State Street, Boise, ID 83720.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - "Mickey Spillane's Mike Hammer" had to cool his heels when star Stacy Keach was sent to an English prison for smuggling cocaine, but the private eye returns this fall in a two-hour movie, CBS and Columbia Pictures Television announced. The CBS contract also calls for an option for six episodes if the movie generates a large enough rating. Executive producer Jay Bernstein said he regarded the scheduling of the movie as a victory in his long campaign to have CBS put the show back on the air.

Board seeks to fill slot

BOISE — The Association for the Humanities in Idaho is seeking nominations and applications to fill one public opening on its board from southwest Idaho. The new member will replace Jan Alden of Boise. Successful candidates should have some interest in bringing perspectives of such humanities disciplines as history, literature, philosophy, archeology or jurisprudence to public audiences in Idaho. Candidates should also have some knowledge of public needs in Idaho and be active in their professions or communities. The new member will be elected in October and will begin serving a four-year term in February, 1996. Members are asked to attend meetings in Boise in February, June and October to oversee a budget of approximately $350,000 and attend and evaluate at least two public humanities projects each year. Members are not paid, but are reimbursed for travel and per diem expenses. Persons interested in applying or nominating a candidate should contact the association's staff for a questionnaire. Inquiries can be made by telephone, 345-5346, or by letter to Room 300, Len B. Jordan Building, 650 W. State Street, Boise, ID 83720.

Keach to resume television career

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Mickey Spillane's Mike Hammer" will cool his heels when star Stacy Keach was sent to an English prison for smuggling cocaine, but the private eye returns this fall in a two-hour movie, CBS and Columbia Pictures Television announced. The CBS contract also calls for an option for six episodes if the movie generates a large enough rating. Executive producer Jay Bernstein said he regarded the scheduling of the movie as a victory in his long campaign to have CBS put the show back on the air.

PARENTAL FILM GUIDE*

Motion Picture Association of America or Los Angeles Times ratings are in parentheses.

BACK TO THE FUTURE (PG) Steven Spielberg presents a comedy in which Michael J. Fox goes back to 1955 and meets his parents with the help of scientist Christopher Lloyd. Also starring Crispin Glover and Lea Thompson. Directed by Robert Zemeckis.

BREWSTER'S MILLIONS (PG) Not as bad as it is flat, Richard Pryor is a minor-league baseball player who must spend $30 million in order to inherit 10 times that amount. This money fantasy may have flourished better in a slightly less global-conscious era, or perhaps the specter of our national debt hangs a little too heavily today. You sense Pryor trying to build the dimensions of Brewster, yet his character becomes neither poignant nor comic. Walter Hill directs with constant motion. With John Candy.

COCOON (PG-13) In this sly and loving tale of magic, reality and wish fulfillment, director Ron Howard knows exactly how to have an audience rooting for his characters, played by some of the best and brightest, including Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tandy, Don Ameche and Gwen Verdon, Wilford Brimley and Maureen Stapleton, Jack Gilford and Herta Ware. It does no one a service to tip the plot here, but if a dip in the fountain of youth ever held the slightest appeal, this is your film. Or if Howard's "Splash" charmed you, this is yours too, one of the summer's nicest surprises.

CODE OF SILENCE (R) The opening leads you to believe you may be watching a classic modern cop thriller on the order of "The French Connection" or "Dirty Harry." You are not, but "Code of Silence" still has more compensations than you would expect. In the editing, the direction (Andrew Davis), the acting, the scummi-vibrant Chicago locations and, surprisingly, in the central performance of tumbler hero Chuck Norris, who radiates bristling macho as an integral cop in a world of amorality and sudden murder.

D.A.R.Y.L. (PG) Considering its themes — love conquers all, humanity will triumph over the computer — it seems ironic that this movie is so big, slick, mechanical, so crammed with car chases, high tech and explosions. "D.A.R.Y.L." has its heart in the right place — on its sleeve — and its head somewhere up in the high-concept stratosphere of '80s Hollywood, starring Marybeth Hurt, Barret Oliver and Michael Mckean. Directed by Simon Wincer.

DESPERATELY SEEKING SUSAN (PG-13) Endearing, imaginative comedy from "Smithereens" Susan Seidelman about a bored young New Jersey housewife (Rosanna Arquette) who takes on the identity of a nifty, lush-looking street girl (Madonna). With Aidan Quinn.

THE EMERALD FOREST (R) Based on a true story about the son of an American engineer who is lost in the Amazon jungle and is raised by Stone Age Indians. Starring Powers Boothe, Charley Boorman, Meg Foster and Dira Paes. Directed by John Boorman.

FLETCH (PG) Chevy Chase is an investigative newspaper reporter in this smart, dead-pan drab and funny work. "Fletch" is several degrees less than perfect, yet we are in such a season of drought that the temptation is to seize on anything not actually endangering public health. Also starring Joe Don Baker, Dana Wheeler-Nicholson and Tim Matheson. Directed by Michael Ritchie.

GIRLS JUST WANT TO HAVE FUN (PG) The title, borrowed from a Cyndi Lauper hit, is a story crammed with every teen movie cliché you have ever seen, but it is a delightfully exuberant romp that breathes new life into the vast wasteland that passes for Hollywood's youth films. Set in Chicago, home of the ultra-hip "DTV" dance show, the film revolves around a shy transfer student to a Catholic girl's school who's ultimate goal is to be a regular dancer on the program, a spoiled rich girl who is determined to ruin her budding romance and the class cut up who confuses "Hail Mary" with "Proud Mary." Call it an escapist fantasy, but "Girls" is the kind of movie that gives fantasy a heady fragrance all its own. Starring Sarah Jessica Parker and Helen Hunt.

THE GOONIES (PG) "Our Gang" cubed and carried off into grand opera excess. Seven kids embark on a reckless adventure with a family of deranged psychopaths in hot pursuit. The movie is pitched unabashedly toward children, gorgeously detailed and designed, unsuitable and full of comic violence, exactly what you might expect from a collaboration between producer-director Richard Donner ("Superman") and executive producer Steven Spielberg.

Fear of hurt feelings can undermine a marriage

DEAR ABBY: You were way off base in your advice to "Love in Queens" who "loved" the man, but hated the engagement ring her fiancé had surprised her with. You said, "Tell him you love him and you know he wants to please you, so it's possible to exchange the ring, you'd like to go-with-him" and "select one of his more in keeping with your taste."

Abigail VanBuren
Dear Abby

It's obviously my future husband's taste, and to exchange it would be wrong. Living with a ring that is not my taste would be small potatoes compared to hurting my fiancé's feelings.

Your answer had an ERA ring to it. DEAR ROMANTIC: ERA my eye! A woman who hasn't the courage (or good sense) to tell her fiancé how she feels about the engagement ring she surprised her with will surely withhold her feelings about the more important aspects of their relationship for fear of "hurting his feelings."

In the selection. No names, please. I don't want this to sound like a commercial. —RON IN OMAHA

DEAR ABBY: I am 54, divorced, and for the last three years I've been in love with a married man I'll call Roy. He and his wife are separated. She says she is satisfied with things the way they are, and she will fight any divorce action Roy initiates. She refuses to seek employment, saying Roy has to support her.

Fourth causes viewers to abandon their sets

NEW YORK (AP) — On July 4, America preferred fireworks and family outings to watching television, dropping ABC's "The Cosby Show" to its lowest rating of the season, figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co. revealed Tuesday.

tenths of a point to regular-season winner CBS' last November.

A rating measures the percentage of the nation's 94.9 million TV homes tuned, on average, to a given minute of prime time.

Read on for an opinion from a jeweler:

DEAR ABBY: Having been in the retail jewelry business for many years, I've wanted on hundreds of men who come in alone to buy engagement rings, and most of them haven't the faintest idea of what their intended would like.

I show them plain rings, fancy ones, all kinds of rings, and they all end up asking me, "What do you think she'd like?"

Of course I don't know the lady's taste, so I select a ring and tell him it can be exchanged. Then I suggest he bring the lady in and give her a voice

Despite the falloff in its normally strong Thursday lineup because of the holiday, NBC won its seventh consecutive week and 12th in the past 15, fueled by a repeat of the movie, "Policewoman Centerfold," which finished first with an 18.2 rating. The movie had a 23.6 rating when it first was broadcast in 1983.

NBC's "Miami Vice," continuing its summer surge, finished fourth, followed by CBS' "Second Sight: A Love Story," a movie about a blind woman and her seeing-eye dog; NBC's "Facts of Life" and CBS' "Kate & Allie," tied for sixth; CBS' "Cagney & Lacey," CBS' "Newhart" and NBC's "Remington Steele." "The Cosby Show" was 13th with a 13.3 rating, the first time it had fallen out of the Top Ten since November.

Many viewers apparently had returned from the four-day holiday weekend by Sunday night, enabling "Policewoman Centerfold" and CBS' "Murder, She Wrote" and "60 Minutes" to occupy the top three spots in the rankings for the week of July 7-7.

The bottom five shows, in descending order, were NBC's "Mike NeSmith in Television Parts," 69th; ABC's Thursday night movie, "Moment by Moment," NBC's "Spencer," CBS' "Magnum, P.I.," and ABC's "Bad News Bears Break Training."

The holiday week dropped viewing levels to their lowest of the season. NBC won with an 11.7 rating to CBS' 11.2 and ABC's 8.7, which ties ABC for its worst weekly performance since 1980.

In the first week following the end of the hostage crisis in Lebanon, the "CBS Evening News" won the dinner-time news competition with a 10.2 rating. The "NBC Nightly News" and ABC's "World News Tonight" tied with an 8.4 rating.

As evidence of how low the three networks' ratings had dropped last week, CBS' average for the season is 15.8 to NBC's 15.6 and ABC's 14.3. The last time NBC was as close as two-

CSI campus site for 8th annual dance workshop on July 21

By TERRY RICH HARTLEY
Twin Falls correspondent
TWIN FALLS — During a busy summer schedule, the College of Southern Idaho campus will be the site of a two-week dance workshop scheduled for July 21 through Aug. 3. The workshop is the eighth annual one sponsored by the Idaho Dance Arts Audience.

James-Nelson will teach pointe and variation. She has danced with the Cincinnati Ballet, New York City Ballet and Ballet West, where she was principal ballerina for eight years.

Vivace, from Las Vegas, Nev., is scheduled to teach jazz and musical theater. She has studied in the U.S., Canada and France. Vivace has performed in and choreographed numerous theater and television productions including "Nat Horne Musical Theatre, Dancing, Plus," "Dance in Las Vegas" and "Solaris: A Company of Dancers" in which she was principal and soloist.

Tango sizzling again

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK — In the Buenos Aires of the 1880s, good, little rich girls didn't sleep. In the slumbering dark, sisters would tip-toe downstairs and glide through the halls, teaching each other the latest steps of the tango.

Then the tango was a forbidden, tempting fruit, fragrant with raw seduction.

In basic, skin-tight black, Tango Argentino slithered into New York in June at the end of a tour which began in Italy in 1983; moved to Paris last year and on to Texas and Canada this year. An extravaganza of dance, song and theater, Tango Argentino melds the talents of more than 30 of Argentina's greatest dancers, singers and musicians.

It was created by Hector Orezzoli and Claudio Segovia, who teamed in 1980 to trace the tango's 100-year history and recreate the steps and the songs of the "porteno," the European immigrants who thronged the port city at the turn of the century.

"It was an illusion, I had," said Orezzoli, 52, who fell in love with the tango at age 15. After studying drama and scenic design at college, Orezzoli moved in 1975 to Paris, where he still lives.

The tango's most devoted followers in Argentina now are middle-aged. Some of the performers are in their 60s. Each teaching pair has a style and intricate steps of its own, from the sliding walk of Nelson Avila, 44, to the fiurious pace of Elsa Maria and Hector Mayoral, who have been married for 17 years.

Juan Carlos Copes, the choreographer who also plays a rufian in a show-stopping dramatic number, has been locking knees with partner Maria Nieves for 30 years.

"Since I was a child, I've been dancing the tango. I had it in me. I would dance alone, holding and spinning a broom," said Mrs. Nieves, who had danced with Copes on the Ed Sullivan Show 23 years ago.

According to coordinator Beverly Hackney, the event will provide students, ages 11 years old and up, concentrated work in ballet technique, modern technique, jazz, pointe, musical theater and tap. Multi-level classes will offer five-and-a-half to seven hours of dance each day and there will be special evening and weekend seminars conducted by the staff.

Five experienced instructors have been employed for the camp. They are John Nelson, Janice James-Nelson, Kay Frances Braden, Ellene Vivace and Kim Nielsen.

John Nielsen is currently co-director of the American Festival Ballet School and Junior Company, and teaches ballet at the University of Idaho.

Braden, who will teach modern and modern placement, holds a master's degree from the University of Utah and is a freelance teacher who has performed works throughout the U.S.

She teaches with the Repertory Dance Theatre of Utah, the Austin, Texas, Repertory Dance Company, and has performed independent concerts. Braden has designed and taught workshops in modern dance techniques, choreography and performance, improvisation, fundamentals of movement and others.

Nielsen, who will teach tap and tap technique, holds a master's degree in professional dance from Brigham Young University where he has been a graduate instructor. He has performed with the BYU Dancers Company as a dancer/technician while on tour in the U.S. and Puerto Rico. He appeared in the Paramount motion picture, "Footloose," and has instructed dance in Utah and Idaho.

Cost of a shorter, one-week camp

There will also be a mini-workshop on July 27 and 28 for which students must arrive the evening of the 26th if they're planning to stay in the dorms. Tuition is $25 with an additional $25 for board and room for those staying on campus.

Hackney says the mini-workshop should attract many of younger dancers, or those with less training. She points out that students in any of the classes should have at least two years of dance instruction. For registration information, call Beverly Hackney at 733-8311, or the Office of Continuing Education at CSI, 733-9554, ext. 363.

Images Gallery

Images in Ketchum will open with a reception to celebrate Jim Romberg's return to Idaho after a year in New York. The gallery features seven nationally recognized ceramic artists working in raku, or hand-modeled Japanese pottery. Besides Romberg, they are Paul Soldner, Harvey Sadow, Frank Boyden, Rick Dillingham, Paula Jean Rice and Lucia Jahsmann.

Romberg, who returned to the Wood River Valley to once again be director and artist-in-residence of the summer ceramic program, boasts a string of awards and major showings long enough to fill a novel. He is also a teaching force in ceramic arts.

Soldner is recognized internationally as a major force in the evolution of contemporary ceramic art and has had over 150 solo exhibitions.

Sadow is an innovator whose work in the late 1960s helped to change raku from its traditional form to a truly "painterly" medium. While Boyden's work is considered whimsical, inventive and resourceful.

Critics note that Dillingham's work in clay strengthens the view that ceramics is a genuine, not a decorative, artistic expression and that the traditional arguments segregating ceramics from the fine arts seems less valid after viewing his work.

Rice works with large wall pieces in partial relief. Her works are sculptural, drawing, painting combinations that contain incised line, strong color and a three-dimensional sculptural element. In contrast, Jahsmann's raku bowls and baskets are whimsical, functional views of more traditional forms. Yet, she uses color and line to keep them innovative.

Dan Jacob's

Dan Jacob's Gallery in Ketchum will feature Christopher Gerlach, a landscape artist from San Diego, Calif., and Joe Draegert of San Francisco, who specializes in still life pastels. The exhibit will run through August.

Gerlach has enjoyed positive reviews in major showings across the U.S. and has won the Egerton Coghill Landscape Award from Oxford University in 1979 and the Murray Landscape Scholar Prize from the Royal Academy. Draegert was awarded a full fellowship to Yale Summer School of Art and Music and has won the Rome Prize Fellowship in Painting.

Stonington

The Stonington Gallery, Ketchum branch, will hold its opening featuring watercolors and fiber mural art by Nancy Taylor Stonington. Stonington will be on hand during the opening to show her new 3'x6' fiber mural in a floral theme. Also included will be five new Stonington lithographs.

Other selected local artists included in the showing are photographer Carol Monteverde, batik and serigraph artist Jennifer Bellinger and metal sculptor Rod Kagan.

According to Severn, gallery guides with maps will be available at all the galleries involved in tonight's opening shows.

Darrington edges Undhjem for title

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

IDAHO FALLS — Karen Darrington has won four Idaho State Women's Amateur golf championships. None of them has come easily, but perhaps no other arrived after a roller-coaster finale round like the one Thursday.

She regained the title she last won two years ago after defeating champion Jean Smith, of Boise, carded a nine on the par-4 11th hole at Pinecrest Municipal Golf Course. A gallant, week-long charge by veteran Virginia Undhjem of Twin Falls ended with a putt on the final hole that was a tad weak.

Darrington, a long-time Twin Falls resident who moved to Boise a couple of months ago, had seen an early four-stroke lead on Smith melt to a three-shot deficit. And at the turn, it appeared that Undhjem had shot herself out of it — only to shoot herself squarely back into the picture.

After 17 holes of such carryings-on, Darrington apparently was the only one who knew her actual condition because "I asked someone on the 18th tee," she said with a smile. "They told me I was one up on Virginia and that Jean was three behind."

That helped Darrington as she left her second shot short on the green and then fell heir to a little fortune when co-player Lynne Tigert of Boise chipped from just off the fringe.

"I was lucky there because I saw Lynne's chip move to the right. I wouldn't have read my putt to go right," Darrington said. "She then curved the ball to finish in the top of the cup and give Undhjem's birdie try came up short and a little left, tapped in for the title.

For Darrington it marked a major plateau in a golfing career that has been setback somewhat by marriage and moving in the past year.

For Undhjem it was a week of glory that just missed the flashpoint.

"I had no idea I was within one of Karen going into the last hole," Undhjem admitted with a smile. "I thought I was three or four strokes off. Otherwise, I never would have been short with that putt," she promised.

But for No. 11, however, the final day appeared to be leaning in Smith's direction. She fell four strokes off the pace when Darrington birdied the first hole but started a comeback after making a miracle par 4 on the short sixth hole. She followed that up with a birdie as Darrington missed consecutive short putts — and when Darrington ran into tree trouble on the ninth hole, Smith moved ahead by a stroke at the turn.

She added another shot to that on the 10th, but then came the fatal 11th. She had a poor tee shot and rolled her second effort. A tree knocked her third shot straight down and her fourth strayed into those forbidding spruces that line Pinecrest fairways all the way to the ground. She had to chip out, then chipped on and complete her moment of misery with a three-putt. She bogied the next hole and by then had fallen too far back.

Brown opened the door for Undhjem's comeback when she bogied the par-5 18th while Undhjem posted a birdie.

The victory nudged Darrington past Undhjem 4-3 historically, but Undhjem — See STATE on Page C3

Seven-valley preps bow out tonight

By STEVE CRUMP
Times-News sports editor

BOISE — Seven recently graduated Magic Valley high school seniors will play the final games of their prep careers tonight at the state high school all-star basketball games here.

The eighth annual Idaho Coaches Association East-West All-Star Boys' Basketball Game will tip off at 8 p.m. tonight in Boise's Capital High School, with the first-ever state girls' all-star game to precede it at 6:30.

Oakley's Cory Woodhouse, Wood River's Dale Karst, Minico's Brad Croft, Bliss' Larry Wilkins and Shoshone's Doran Duffin are all represented on the East team, while Margaret Lowry of Minico and Cami Williams of Burley are on the East girls' squad.

The East boys have won just four of the previous nine games played (two games were played in 1980 and again in 1981), including last year when it prevailed 113-100 behind Twin Falls' Andy Toolson.

This year's Magic Valley representation on the East boys' team — five of the 11 players — is the greatest ever in the state all-star game.

The coaches of the four state girls' and four state boys' high school divisional champions last year are coaching the all-stars.

Other members of the East boys' team are Ed Gordon of Snake River, Kip Helgeson and Clint Younk of Pocatello; Brett Higgins of Highland; Mike Hoggan of Shelley and Ron Middleton of South Fremont. Other members of the East girls' squad are Laura Hamann, Terri Taylor and Tracy Taylor, all of Highland; Geni Laurence, Annette Smith and Selestie Summers, all of Madison; Stephanie Demott of Skyline and Cindy Mitchell of Blackfoot.

Valley puts 16 in state grid game

By The Times-News

POCATELLO — Sixteen recent Magic Valley high school graduates have been selected to play on the South team in the fifth annual North-South High School All-Star Football game here on Saturday, July 27.

The 40-man roster includes three players each from Jerome and Twin Falls high schools and two from Idaho Class A-3 champion Gooding High.

The selections were released here Thursday by Brent Koetler and Idaho State University sports information director Glenn Alford, who are coordinating the game.

The game will be played for the first time in the Idaho State University Mindome and kickoff is scheduled for 7 p.m. Advance tickets are available from the Pocatello Chamber of Commerce or the Mindome ticket office.

The game annually pits all-stars from Districts 1, 2 and 3 (northern Idaho and the Boise area) against all-stars from Districts 4, 5 and 6 (the Magic and Upper Snake River valleys). The North stars have won all four previous games, including twice (1982 and 1983) in Twin Falls. Last year's contest was played in Coeur d'Alene.

Boise-area golfers expected to dominate state men's am

By LARRY HOVEY

BOISE — For the first time in its history, the Idaho State Men's Amateur Golf Tournament will be contested on Boise's Warm Springs Golf Course — and the contenders anticipate the eventual champion probably will come from the local environs.

The major fly in that brew, however, could well be defending champion Dave Molitor of Pocatello, who can play with anyone in anywhere in Idaho.

Molitor will open defense of his crown this afternoon at Boise's only public golf course.

Molitor is a Boise product and learned his golf on several courses here. But he isn't as familiar with Warm Springs since that course has opened since he moved.

Warm Springs is a flat course which is fairly long, has more bunkers than usual on a public links and water that comes into play on five holes.

Being new, the course doesn't have the added hazard of big trees.

Subsequently, most are looking for fairly low scores in the three-day tournament.

Molitor's name always must be mentioned among contenders at the local favorites — at least the ones who seem to be playing well right now — are John Schoonover of Boise and the perennial contender Scott Mastngill of Payette. Boise also will be sending in young Aaron Bengochea, Rich Hutchins and a relative newcomer to Idaho's amateur scene, Caldwell attorney Bill Wellman. Wellman is a former professional who has regained his amateur status.

Two Boise-area big names who won't be there are Joe Malay of Welser and Ted Holloway, who will be representing the state in the U.S. Men's Public Links finals in Hawaii.

Magic Valley's usual contingent will be without Dr. Chick Cutler of Twin Falls. But the others will be there, including former champion Glenn Blakely of Burley. Also from Burley will be Terry Spackman. Twin Falls will send brothers Jason and Steve Meyerhoeffer, Perry Hanchey and Jim Purves, while Sun Valley will have Nils Badenwick and Doyle Corbett in the championship flight.

Two eastern Idahoans who could figure in the standings are young Clet Davidoff of Lava Hot Springs and Jerry Rose of Idaho Falls, a former Minnesota state amateur champion who has placed in the top four in this event the past two years.

"Wayne Berry, executive secretary for the sponsoring Idaho Golf Association, said the tournament will pay off totally in gross with the exception of the last flight. He said the championship flight would be restricted to players with established four-or-less handicaps.

One highlight of the meet will be the state putting contest Saturday night. In that event, contestants may enter through the first two days for a qualifying round. The best 32 then will advance to a match-play bracket that will be played in conjunction with the state barbecue, slated for Warm Springs Saturday evening.

Astros' Ryan becomes first hurler to fan 4,000

HOUSTON (AP) — Nolan Ryan, baseball's reigning strikeout king, became the first pitcher in major league history to reach the 4,000 mark when he fanned New York's Danny Heep in the sixth inning Thursday night.

Ryan, 38, went into Thursday night's game against the Mets needing seven strikeouts to become the first major league pitcher to reach the 4,000 mark.

The 19-year veteran got the milestone strikeout when Heep, the lead-off hitter in the sixth, swung at an 0-2 curve ball in the dirt.

The crowd at the Astrodome, which included Commissioner of Baseball Peter Ueberroth, gave Ryan a two-minute standing ovation as catcher Mark Bailey trotted to the mound to shake the pitcher's hand.

Ryan struck out 11 batters, his season high, before leaving after seven innings with the score tied 3-3. It was third time this season he has struck out 10 or more batters in a game.

NL: Tudor, Cards AL: Toronto stops blank San Diego West-best Angels

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Manager Dick Williams of the San Diego Padres says he knows why the St. Louis Cardinals are where they are and why they will win.

"Speed is a wonderful thing," Williams said Thursday night after watching St. Louis speed to a 6-0 triumph. "It helped us last year. More power to (Cards Manager) Herzig, and I hope he utilizes it."

Chief perpetrators of the Cards' speed in the victory over San Diego were rookie Vince Coleman and four-year outfielder Willie McGee.

Each player had two hits, stole three bases and scored two times. Their performances made it easy for John Tudor, who tossed a five-hitter.

"I can't remember when I was in this kind of groove, so I probably never have been," said Tudor.

Tudor, 30-7, who won for the ninth straight time, struck out five and walked one while retiring 18 of the last 20 San Diego batters. The St. Louis left-hander notched his fourth shutout after working out of a bases-loaded jam in the first inning.

Pittsburgh 6 San Francisco 4

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Tony Pena drove in the go-ahead run and then scored the way the Pirates broke a 4-4 tie in the fifth inning Thursday night en route to a 6-4 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Cincinnati 2 Montreal 0

CINCINNATI (AP) — Dan Bliardello and Gary Redus singled home seventh-inning runs Thursday night, and Ron Robinson and Ted Power combined on a seventh-inning homer to lead the Cincinnati Reds to a 2-0 victory over the Montreal Expos.

Robinson, 5-0, struck out six before leaving in the eighth inning in favor of Power, who got his 16th save and seventh in his last seven opportunities.

Los Angeles 3 Chicago 1

CHICAGO (AP) — Steve Yeager's bases-loaded single touched off a three-run burst in the seventh inning that powered the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 3-1 victory Thursday over the Chicago Cubs.

Winner Bob Welch, 3-1, took a three-hit shutout into the eighth inning before doubling by pinch-hitter Thad Bosley and Ryne Sandberg chased him. Ken Howell relieved Welch and earned his ninth save.

Atlanta 3 Philadelphia 2

ATLANTA (AP) — Rafael Ramirez drilled a bases-loaded single with one out in the bottom of the ninth inning Thursday night to snap a tie and power the Atlanta Braves to a 3-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Houston 4 New York 3

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's Nolan Ryan became the first major league pitcher to strike out 4,000 batters, and Bill Doran hit a 12th-inning single Thursday night to give the Astros a 4-3 victory over New York, ending the Mets' nine-game winning streak.

Ryan, who thrilled a crowd of 20,291 in the sixth inning by striking out Danny Heep to reach the milestone, did not figure in the decision. He finished with 11 strikeouts and now has a total of 4,004 whiffs over his 19-year career.

Baseball

ANAHAIM, Calif. (AP) — Willie Unshaw snapped a 3-2 tie in the fifth-inning game and (Cards) Ted Williams contributed a pair of RBI singles to lead the Toronto Blue Jays to a 6-3 victory over the California Angels Thursday night.

With the Blue Jays leading 3-1 in the fifth, Damaso Garcia led off the inning with a single off Angels starter Jim Stanton, 4-3. Lance Moseby walked and Lance Muntzkin straggled to score Garcia.

Moseby scored the tying run when California second baseman Rob Wilfong booted Al Oliver's grounder. Muntzkin took third on the play and came home when Unshaw greeted new pitcher Pat Clements with his single.

The Blue Jays added a run in the sixth when Garcia singled, took third on Moseby's left-out and scored on Bell's single.

Doyle Alexander, 4-4, survived 10 hits in 6-3-3 innings to snap a personal four-game losing streak as the Blue Jays posted their fifth straight victory in the battle between American League division leaders. Gary Lavette worked the final 2 1/2 innings for his fourth save.

California took a 1-0 lead in the second on Bobby Grich's RBI single off Blue Jays starter Steve Carlton. Grich's RBI scored in the third on Bell's run-scoring single.

The Angels took a 3-1 lead in the fourth on run-scoring singles by Bob Boone and Rod Carew, his 1,000th career RBI.

New York 11 Texas 7

NEW YORK (AP) — Don Mattingly, whose —19 score leading streak is the longest in the majors this season, hit a tie-breaking, three-run double and Don Baylor capped an eight-run fourth inning with a pinch-hit grand slam homer as the New York Yankees beat the Los Angeles Angels 11-7 Thursday night.

Mattingly, who has led the Yankees in batting average for the past three seasons, hit a three-run double in the sixth inning to tie the game at 3-3.

Baylor, who has hit 11 grand slams in his career, hit a grand slam in the eighth inning to give the Yankees an 8-3 lead.

Yankees manager Tom Renner said Mattingly's performance was "one of the best I've ever seen."

jen had a spot on her side as she was seeking her first title since 1967.

She started that bid with a solid finish in Monday's pro-am prelude and carded a 74 — second-best by a woman on this course ever — on Tuesday. She stayed in a tie with Darrington after two rounds but then wound a little on front side Thursday with a six-over 43.

"I had no physical problems," said Undheim who fights diabetes as well as par. "But my short game just wasn't sharp for some reason. My chipping and my putting. I just couldn't get them going."

"I didn't put badly, except for the three-putt on the 14th, but I didn't make any of any length that would have helped me," she said.

Darrington also felt her short game was shaky.

"Both my pitching and my putting. And I knew when I came back that on this course your short game has to be good," she said. "I made that 3-footer for a birdie on No. 1 and I thought 'oh, boy, this could be a putting day.' But I missed three short putts on the front after that and three more on the back."

After three days, Darrington had a 27 total — six over par — while Undheim was at 238, Solihji 240 and former champion Bev Mullins of Boise 247. Tigert won net at 217 with Ginny Rasmussen of Idaho Falls, second at 218; Lori Lyke of Boise 221 and Kris Fenwick of Boise at 224.

MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL

And-Lamar Hoyt of the San Diego Padres — and three relievers — Rich Gossage of the Padres, Jeff Reardon of Montreal, who leads the majors with 22 saves, and Scott Garrels of San Francisco.

The "start" will have starters Bert Blyleven of Cleveland, and Dave Stieb and Jimmy Key of Toronto, and relievers Donnie Moore of California, and Jay Howell of Oakland, in addition to the three Tiger pitchers.

There were noticeable omissions on both staffs.

Missing from the AL team was Ron Guidry of the New York Yankees, who leads the league with 11 victories and has won 10 straight decisions, and the NL team does not include San Diego's Andy Hawkins, who won his first 11 decisions this season.

Dr. Bobby Bruns, president of the American League, lauded Guttry for "unselfishly indicating his unwillingness to accept a roster spot, since he is scheduled to pitch on Sunday and would rather the appointment go to a pitcher who can help our league in Tuesday's game." He had been unanimously recommended by AL managers for the team, Bruns said.

Earlier, speedster Ricky Henderson of the New York Yankees and Baltimore slugger Eddie Murray earned starting spots in a final week flurry of votes ousted two peripherals from the American League's starting lineup.

Henderson, a versatile California's Reggie Jackson, who was seeking a 12th start in the AL outfield, and Murray, a former Angel, first baseman for the Angels, had been selected to start 15 straight games.

Three women top U.S. Open

By TOM CANAVAN

SPRINGFIELD, N.J. — Nancy Lopez had a good feeling approaching the 40th U.S. Women's Open and she's feeling even better after grabbing a share of the first-round lead in the major that has long eluded her grasp.

Lopez, seeking her fourth victory in seven outings, shot a 2-under-par 71 to share the first-round lead with 1982 Open champion Janet Anderson and 24-year-old Kathy Baker, who is seeking her first pro victory.

"I feel so good about how I am playing," said Lopez, who bogeyed the final hole to lose sole possession of the lead. "I think this is my chance to win the Open. I feel so good about it."

Lopez has twice finished second in the Open, as an amateur in 1975 and again in 1977 as a pro.

The 28-year-old Lopez saved a bogey on the 18th hole with a 25-foot putt.

"I'm playing very well, but I don't know if it's the best of my career, she added.

Anderson called her round consider. "I seemed to get more confident as I went along," she said. "I only missed one fair way and was in good position to hit the green."

The leader board could have included 1983 Open champion Jan Stephenson, but she finished a stroke behind the leaders because of a stroke penalty assessed after she accidentally moved her ball marker on the 11th hole.

Stephenson finished at 1-under with six other players, including Betsy King and Judy Clark. Also at 71 were amateurs Kathy McCoy and Dottie Pepper, non-winners Jackie Bertsch and Lori Garbec.

The 10 sub-par rounds recorded in the first round broke the previous Open record of nine, set in 1981 at the La Grange Country Club in La Grange, Ill.

Amy Alcott, Dawn Coe, Janet Coles, Ayako Okamoto, Barb

Thomas, Sherri Turner and Vicki Alvarez (tied the 6,274 upper course at the Baltusrol Golf Club on a warm and sunny day and were the only other players in the field of 129 pros and 24 amateurs to finish at par or better.

A logjam of players were at 73, including Patty Sheehan and Beth Daniel, both on the list of the top 10 money winners on the women's tour this year.

Lopez recorded four birdies and two bogeys as she began her quest for her first U.S. Open title and 3rd victory of her career.

A victory would be Lopez's second different major and would qualify her for the LPGA Hall of Fame once she completed her 10th year on the tour in 1987.

The field of 153 will be cut to the low 60 scores and ties following the second round, scheduled Friday at Baltusrol.

ABC-TV plans to televise the final two rounds on Saturday and Sunday.

Hinkle holds 2-shot edge

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Lon Hinkle, seeking his first win on the PGA Tour since 1979, shot a 7-under-par 64 to take a 2-stroke lead Thursday after the first round of the $500,000 Anheuser-Busch Classic.

"I've been through some highs and lows. I haven't been very high lately, but I'm holding my own," Hinkle said after posting 9-hole totals of 32 on both sides of the 6,746-yard, par-71 Kingsmill Golf Club course.

"Hinkle, who is 65th on this year's money list and has a seventh-place finish in the Tournament Players Championship as his best outing of 1985, was ahead of three golfers at 66 — veteran Jay Haas and two first-year players, Mike Hulberg and Steve Pate.

Oakland 9 Milwaukee 3

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Mickey Vernon homered, singled and scored three runs and Don Sutton won his sixth straight game Thursday as the Oakland A's defeated the Milwaukee Brewers 9-3.

The A's handed Sutton, 9-5, an early six-run lead, scoring three runs in the second inning against Pete Vuckovich, 37, and three more off reliever Jamie Coanover in the third. Sutton pitched seven innings, allowing seven hits and two earned runs.

Kansas City 1 Cleveland 0

CLEVELAND (AP) — Danny Jackson tossed a six-hitter and George Brett's first-inning home run provided the game's only run as the Kansas City Royals blanked the Cleveland Indians Thursday night.

Jackson, 74, struck out four and walked one while pitching his fourth complete game and third shutout, outdueling Cleveland's Vern Riffe, 2-4, who pitched a five-hitter for his first complete game.

Brett, who was named Thursday for the 10th consecutive season as the American League's starting All-Star third baseman, cracked his 12th home run with two outs in the first. Brett, who was 3-for-4 in the game and now is hitting .375 with 23 hits in 40 at-bats in July to improve his overall average to .358, lined the first pitch from Ruffe over the right-center field fence.

Cleveland threatened to score in both the fifth and sixth innings. Brock Jacoby and Pat Tabler singled to start the fifth and Jacoby went to third as Joe Carter grounded into a fielder's choice. But Jackson got Carmen Castillo to hit into a double play.

Brett Butler singled with one out in the Cleveland sixth and went to third on Jackson's wild pitch throw. Julio Franco and Tony Bernazard both grounded out to end the inning.
