Judges uphold Hansen's conviction

GEORGE V. HANSEN
Further appeals likely

By TOM SEPPY
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The conviction of former Rep. George V. Hansen, R-Idaho, on charges of falsifying federal financial disclosure statements was upheld Friday by a three-member panel of the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Judge Antonin Scalia, in the 20-page opinion endorsed by Judges Ruth Bader Ginsburg and Carl McGowan, said the forms Hansen signed "all contained a warning, immediately above or below the signature line," that anyone who "knowingly and willfully falsifies, or who knowingly and willfully fails to file this report may be subject to civil and criminal sanctions."

Hansen, the only sitting congressman to be convicted under the law, had contended Congress never meant to give the courts criminal jurisdiction in such cases.

Working as a private consultant in Washington since losing his seat to Democrat Richard Stallings last year by just 170 votes despite the conviction, Hansen was traveling in Idaho and Utah and could not be reached for comment. His attorney said, "But one of his defense attorneys, Frank A.S.

Campbell, said the decision would be appealed to either the full 10-member Court of Appeals or the Supreme Court.

"We strongly disagree with the result," he said. "We have issues important enough to warrant further review."

The seven-term conservative has said he would take his case as high within the court system as necessary to win vindication, and he had indicated he may try to reclaim his congressional seat next year. Deputy Secretary of State Ben Yursa said the U.S. Constitution does not preclude Hansen from running despite his conviction and possible jail sentence.

But Sen. James McClure, the state's top Republican officeholder, speculated, that the appeals court loss Friday would end any thought by Hansen of another bid for Congress. One of the unannounced 1986 contenders for the congressional seat, Republican State Rep. J.F. Chadband of Idaho Falls, said the ruling sounds the death knell for Hansen's political career.

The ethics law requires virtually all major government officials to disclose annually their financial holdings, liabilities and transactions, including gifts, loans and profits for themselves and members of their immediate family.

Hansen, who has also lost his bid in the House to unseat Stallings, was convicted by a federal court jury April 2, 1984, on charges of failing to report $353,978 in loans and other financial transactions.

He was sentenced by U.S. District Judge Joyce Hens Green to five to 15 months, to run concurrently, on each of four counts of violating the 1978 Ethics in Government Act and fined $40,000.

Among other things, Hansen had argued that the ethics law provides only civil and not criminal penalties. "The last thing Congress wanted to do" was send its members to jail, his lawyers told the appeals court last Dec. 18.

However, Scalia agreed with Green and the Justice Department that the violations were punishable under a separate law which forbids making "any false statements" to a federal agency, in this case the House.

"In light of the plain applicability of (the catchall law), Hansen misperceives the issue before us when he urges... that 'Congress prescribed only a civil remedy and did not authorize criminal punishment for the submission of a false EIGA statement,'" said Scalia.

"It was not necessary for the Congress that enacted the EIGA to authorize criminal punishment, for the authorization had been conferred by an earlier Congress, and remained on the statute books," he said. "The precise issue is whether the Congress that enacted the EIGA precluded the criminal sanctions that would otherwise attach."

Scalia said it is clear that the terms of the catchall law "cover falsification of EIGA financial disclosure forms; if Congress wished to exclude that coverage it would normally have said so; we will not readily conclude that it did so by implication."

McClure expressed surprise at the court's opinion, agreeing instead with Hansen that Congress never intended the law to carry criminal sanctions, and he predicted that further appeals will continue to be based on that issue.

But he added, "I think the failure of the appeal and that it will not now be resolved before the next election increases the likelihood that he won't run... Whatever the Hansen case has done has been a personal loss for him, but I don't think it hurts the Republican Party as a whole."

Deficit guess pared slightly

By TOM RAUM
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration trimmed its forecast for the fiscal 1985 federal deficit by $2 billion Friday, putting it at $211.3 billion, still a record high.

At the same time, the White House held fast to its assertion that the economy remains poised for a strong rebound.

The White House Office of Management and Budget said lower-than-anticipated spending, particularly for defense items, and lower interest rates led to the downward recalculation.

Actual spending was $6.6 billion below what the administration had estimated in April for fiscal 1985, which ends Sept. 30. Partially offsetting this savings was a $4.6 billion reduction in tax receipts, reflecting the sluggishness of the economy, the administration said.

Economists generally said the downward revision held little significance, noting that actual defense spending frequently comes "in beneath what is budgeted."

As expected, the administration stuck by its optimistic prediction that the economy would grow by nearly 5 percent in the second half of calendar year 1985.

That would produce an annual rate of 3.0 percent — a pace most private and many government economists doubt can be reached in light of the disappointing 1.1 percent growth of the first six months.

The report, much of which had already been disclosed by administration officials — was originally to have also included an official estimate of the impact of the recently adopted congressional budget on future deficits.

However, that detail, according to reports, reached late last month, came too late for White House accounts to be able to include it in the analysis, according to Ed Dale, an OMB spokesman.

Thus, Friday's report shows a deficit plunging to $177.8 billion in 1986, $139.3 billion in 1987, $99.8 billion in 1988, $53.6 billion in 1989 and to $17.7 billion by 1990 — a projection administration officials conceded was misleading and unrealistically optimistic.

Police, gangs battle in anti-apartheid riots

By TOM BALDWIN
The Associated Press

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Police fought gangs of youths hurling rocks in mixed-race suburbs near Cape Town on Friday in a third day of anti-apartheid riots that have killed at least 31 people.

"It's been like a war," said mixed-race shopkeeper Andy Skoon of the day-and-night clashes.

The violence began Wednesday in the black township of Guguletu and spread to the mixed-race suburbs of Mannenberg and Mitchells Plain on Thursday and Friday.

Black Anglican Bishop Desmond Tutu and white anti-apartheid activist Rev. Beyers Naude said after meeting three foreign ministers from the European Common Market that advocating sanctions against South Africa is one of the few remaining peaceful ways to fight apartheid from inside the country.

Tutu, who is a Nobel Peace Prize winner, and Naude, secretary-general of the South African Council of Churches, said they had made a case for sanctions to the ministers.

The two clergymen spoke to reporters after meeting in Pretoria with Jacques Pooos of Luxembourg, Hans van den Broek of the Netherlands and Giulio Andreotti of Italy, who are on a three-day visit to attend the Common Market on whether to vote for sanctions.

Tutu also said the state of emergency imposed July 21 to try to end the persistent rioting was not working. "On the contrary, it has provided a license for brutality by some against the blacks," Tutu said.

Testimony on roadless areas divided

By KENNETH A. BROWN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Testimony at the U.S. Forest Service's hearing Thursday night on roadless areas in the Sawtooth National Recreation Area was split almost evenly between Ketchum area residents and Magic Valley residents.

Witnesses from the Magic Valley said they were opposed to any more wilderness in the SNRA. Those from Ketchum and the Wood River Valley, however, criticized the agency for failing to recommend some of the SNRA's most unique roadless areas for wilderness status.

"I'm against locking up more wilderness, something which would be keeping me and my family out of it," said Carl Kleinkopf of Twin Falls. "I love the wilderness, but enough is enough."

By contrast, Hildegard Raeber, a resident of the Ketchum area since 1948, said that the SNRA's roadless areas should be preserved as wilderness "for the young children who may need it more than we do." Raeber, who was unable to attend, had Carole Coccolone, also a resident of the Ketchum area, read her written statement at the hearing.

Raeber also said that in the agency's plans "too many outstanding areas have been ignored in the recommendations for wilderness."

The hearing, held at the Canyon Springs Inn, was called to gather public comment on the Forest Service's wilderness recommendations for the SNRA. The formal hearing was required by the law which created the special area in 1972.

Over half of the land in the 756,019-acre SNRA is roadless. Roughly 217,000 acres of that are already designated as wilderness in the Sawtooth Wilderness Area.

The focus of the hearing was the fate of 369,584 acres of roadless land remaining in the recreational area. The Forest Service's Draft Management Plan for the Sawtooth National Forest has recommended wilderness status for

FBI scoops up terrorist group linked to rich cash robbery

By DAN SEWELL
The Associated Press

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — In a massive swoop, some 200 FBI agents arrested 11 alleged members of a Puerto Rican terrorist group before dawn Friday in connection with the second biggest cash robbery in U.S. history.

They also arrested a woman in Cambridge, Mass., and a man in transit at Dallas International Airport in connection with the $7 million armed robbery of a Wells Fargo depot in West Hartford, Conn., in 1983. Four people still were being sought.

Federal Bureau of Investigation officials in Washington said a 14th person, Iris Blanca Ojeda, was arrested in San Juan when she allegedly assaulted a federal agent sent to arrest her husband, Filiberto Inocencio Ojeda-Rios.

FBI director William H. Webster said in a statement in Washington that the suspected ringleader of the robbery, Victor M. Gerena, has been given sanctuary in Cuba with some of the stolen money.

One FBI agent entered a suspect's apartment in San Juan and the man shot him, FBI spokesman Angel Berlingieri said. He said the agent was "slightly injured in the face," and the suspect, whom he declined to identify, then surrendered.

Some agents carrying automatic weapons and shotguns were dropped onto apartment building roofs from helicopters. They were assisted by Puerto Rican policemen, witnesses said.

Those arrested included lawyers and journalists. They were indicted on charges ranging from interstate transportation of stolen property to bank robbery, and were to appear before a federal magistrate for arraignment.

Rita Zingotta, a political activist and attorney representing three of those arrested, said armed agents had entered the homes of several other people to interrogate them.

The FBI had sent more than 100 agents from the mainland for the raids and the searches of more than 30 locations in Puerto Rico.

In Washington, Attorney General Edwin Meese III said 17 people, including 16 members of the Macheteros, an extremist Puerto Rican independence group, had been named in a sealed indictment returned Aug. 23 by a federal grand jury in Hartford, Conn.

James W. Greenleaf, special agent in charge of the Boston FBI office, said the 17th person was Anne Gassin, 26, who was arrested in Cambridge, Mass. Greenleaf said she "was involved in handling, disposing and laundering of some of the stolen Wells Fargo money."

The charges involve the Sept. 12, 1983, robbery of more than $7 million from the Wells Fargo depot in West Hartford, Conn. The Macheteros, the Spanish word for machete wielders, claimed they helped Gerena with the robbery, and said he was a member of the group.

Dole disputes administration's claim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several members of Congress, led by Senate Republican leader Robert Dole, disputed on Friday the Reagan administration's assertion that a 1982 amendment to the Voting Rights Act was not intended to ensure safe seats for black political candidates.

The lawmakers submitted to the Supreme Court a brief contending that the Justice Department misstated what Congress intended in amending Section 2 of the civil rights law.

The administration's position was stated in a July 10 "friend-of-the-court" brief submitted to the high court in a case involving challenged state legislative redistricting in North Carolina.

Dole, a Republican from Kansas, recently has been urging the GOP to make itself more attractive to black voters.

The existence of the brief, signed by Dole and other Republicans who were joined by several

House and Senate Democrats, was first reported Friday by National Public Radio.

The brief was filed with the court late Friday. The Supreme Court has agreed to review a 1984 decision by a three-judge federal court in North Carolina that invalidated reapportionment plans for nine state legislative districts as having illegally diluted the voting strength of blacks.

The principal issue in contention is whether the amended Section 2, which was reluctantly accepted by the Reagan administration, was intended to guarantee that blacks would be elected to public office in direct proportion to their percentage of the population.

In a brief filed July 10, Justice Department lawyers maintained that the amended section was designed to ensure "access to the electoral process — not ensure victories for minority candidates."

That brief, signed by Acting Solicitor General Charles Fried and Assistant Attorney General William Bradford Reynolds, head of the department's civil rights division, said nothing in the act permits judges to insist on election district boundaries which guarantee safe seats for blacks.

The administration's brief also noted that despite the challenge to the North Carolina redistricting by black voters in the original 1981 suit, blacks subsequently were elected to the legislature from several of the challenged districts.

It contended that the 1982 amendment "represents a studied compromise that condemns only those electoral procedures that result in a denial of an equal opportunity to participate in the electoral process."

Reagan invokes period for rail strike to cool off

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — President Reagan invoked a two-month cooling-off period under the National Railway Labor Act on Friday to head off a threatened national railroad strike.

The president issued an executive order establishing an emergency board to attempt to resolve the labor-management dispute. His action has the effect of delaying any possible strike for at least two months.

"The situation appears to the president to be extremely critical," the White House press office said in a statement.

"The impact of a nationwide railroad strike would have an immediate effect on the public," the White House said. In addition, it said, a strike would idle hundreds of thousands of employees and halt the flow of $750 million worth of goods each day.

The board has 30 days to report its findings to the president, after which the parties will have 30 days to consider the recommendations and attempt to resolve their differences.

New office to give aid to Contras

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — President Reagan established a State Department office Friday to funnel non-lethal assistance to rebels fighting Nicaragua's leftist government and said his administration "is determined to pursue political, not military, solutions in Central America."

Reagan's action was in response to a congressional cutback in aid to the rebels, which previously was administered by the Central Intelligence Agency.

Congress voted $27 million in aid, substantially less money than the administration requested, and stipulated that no CIA or Defense Department employees could take part in the program.

The announcement of the aid office was made as the president went into the final weekend of a three-week vacation at his ranch in the Santa Ynez Mountains, 30 miles north of here. He will return to Washington on Monday.

The White House press office said the Reagans were enjoying "glorious" weather at the ranch, where the president has been attending to paperwork, trimming trees and horseback riding with his wife, Nancy.

In other announcements, the president announced plans for two ambassadorial nominations.

He said he will nominate Malcolm Wilkey, 66, a retired judge of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Washington, as ambassador to Uruguay. He would succeed Thomas Aranda Jr.

Roger Kirk, 54, a veteran Foreign Service officer who has served in Moscow, New Delhi and Saigon, was selected to become ambassador to Romania.

Pentagon will test for AIDS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department, saying there were sufficient danger signs to act, announced Friday it would begin immediately to test the blood of all military recruits for an antibody indicating exposure to the deadly disease AIDS.

Those who do not pass the initial blood tests and a series of more complex, follow-up examinations will be denied entry to the service, said Dr. William Mayer, the assistant secretary of defense for health affairs.

"This is a simple, prudent, conservative medical step to take," said Mayer. Based on the latest research statistics he said, the screening program could be expected to isolate up to 75 people per month who have been exposed to the disease.

Mayer said the screening would begin as soon as possible but no later than Oct. 1.

The program, perhaps the most dramatic reflection to date of the concern by medical experts that AIDS is spreading to the general population, was assailed by homosexual rights groups.

NSC predicts 550 will die in traffic

CHICAGO (AP) — Millions of Americans took to the nation's highways Friday as the long Labor Day weekend began, and safety officials predicted that up to 550 people would be killed in traffic accidents.

From 6 p.m. Friday until midnight Monday, between 450 and 550 could die in accidents during the three-day observance, the National Safety Council said.

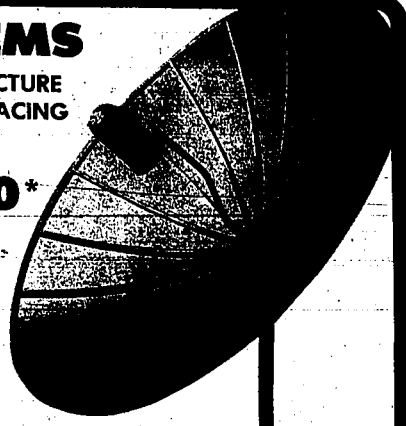

Last year, there were 41 highway deaths during the three-day Labor Day weekend.

Sakharov's stepson protests isolation of dissident, mother

WASHINGTON (AP) — The stepson of Soviet dissident Andrei Sakharov began a hunger strike Friday near the Soviet Embassy to pressure the Kremlin to allow him to see his parents, whom he fears may be dead.

"I am just desperate about the situation of my parents," said Alexey Semyonov, son of Sakharov's second wife, Yelena Bonner. "My demand is to be able to see them."

Semyonov set up a folding chair at a street corner about a block and a half from the Soviet Embassy, where he planned to stage a vigil as part of the hunger strike.

He displayed a hand-made sign stating, "I am on hunger strike. Soviets, let me see my parents. Free Sakharovs."

Semyonov said he and his sister, Tatiana Yankelevich, have not received any letters from their mother in nearly two months and are afraid that Sakharov — and possibly Mrs. Bonner, as well — may be dead.

Semyonov said he fears the Soviets may be trying to conceal Sakharov's death — until after the scheduled November summit between President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev, so as not to spoil the atmosphere of the meeting.

It appears "the Soviets have made a definite decision not to allow any communication with my parents, which is to say: 'We will do whatever we want with them at any moment we want,'" he said.

Semyonov, 29, a computer programmer who lives in Newton, Mass., said he last heard from his mother in early July, when he received two postcards that made no mention of Sakharov's condition.

After that, the Soviets released videotapes purporting to show

Alexey Semyonov talks with Soviet Service officer

Sakharov in a hospital in Gorky, the city where the dissident couple was sent into exile in 1980.

Semyonov said he feared the Soviets made the films to provide a medical alibi for any harm that may come to his parents.

During the film, a doctor recites a long list of illnesses that Sakharov was supposedly suffering from. Semyonov said he was not aware that his stepfather had suffered from most of the ailments.

The Soviets publicized these ailments to make it appear that "if something happened, it's not their fault," he contended.

Sakharov, a physicist who helped develop the Soviet atomic bomb, won the 1975 Nobel Peace Prize for his activities on behalf of human rights. Mrs. Bonner, also an active dissident, was convicted of spreading anti-Soviet propaganda. She has been unable to leave Gorky since the spring of 1984 and is forbidden to telephone her children in the United States.

Semyonov, who has lived in the United States since 1978, sent a telegram to Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin on Aug. 27 demanding to see his parents, but received no reply.

Currency official accuses Lance and his bank of improper practices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The comptroller of the currency accused Bert Lance and Calhoun First National Bank on Friday of violating federal securities laws in connection with alleged check kiting and questionable loans.

The civil suit filed in U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia comes less than two weeks after Lance sued the comptroller's office for allegedly making public a bank examiner's report critical of Lance.

Lance, former budget director in the Carter administration, resigned in July as chairman of the Georgia Democratic Party after publication of details from a federal examiner's report on the Calhoun bank of which Lance is chairman and major stockholder.

The suit filed Friday tracks the allegations of improper practices contained in that report, namely that:

- Calhoun First National Bank honored checks that Lance and related interests wrote on accounts with insufficient funds.
- Lance used proceeds from loans made to others, including his secretary.
- Lance recommended that the bank buy loans from banks controlled by now-bankrupt Tennessee financiers Jake and C.H. Butcher at a time when Lance had substantial loans from the Butcher banks.

Lance resigned as then-President Carter's budget director following other allegations of unsound banking practices. A federal jury in Atlanta acquitted him of nine charges of bank fraud in connection with those allegations. It deadlocked on three other charges, which were then dismissed.

Lance could not be reached for comment on the comptroller's suit. His secretary in Calhoun, Ga., said he was not in the office and that she did not know whether he would be available for comment.

Lance's son, David Lance, who is president of Calhoun First National Bank, told the Rome News-Tribune in an interview Thursday that an investigation of the bank would have been closed if an examiner's report had not been leaked to The Atlanta Constitution, which published details of the report.

He said the comptroller's office "radically altered its negotiating position" after publication of the report.

"I'm not convinced there is a conspiracy, but there are a lot of questions that need to be answered to unravel the chain of events that have occurred," the younger Lance said.

Smeal does some housecleaning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eleanor Smeal, who promised to "raise a little hell" as the newly elected president of the National Organization for Women, is starting by cleaning house at the feminist group's Washington headquarters.

In an Aug. 16 letter, Mrs. Smeal asked 30 staff members of NOW to submit their resignations, saying they could reapply for their jobs. She said Friday that 10 or 11 of them are expected to leave with outgoing NOW president Judy Goldsmith.

Ms. Goldsmith, who lost a bitterly fought battle to keep her job during the New Orleans convention of the 170,000-member organization last July, is unhappy over her successor's staff shakeup.

She said in a telephone interview

Friday that Ms. Smeal did not have authority to fire or hire staff members before she takes office on Sunday.

In a separate interview, Ms. Smeal rejected her predecessor's criticism. "After elections, there are always staff changes," she said, adding that she was following "quite orderly procedures" prescribed by NOW's employee manual.

Soviets buy wheat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union will buy an additional 1.1 million metric tons of U.S. wheat in the coming month, thereby living up to its agreement to buy a specified minimum amount during the year, Agriculture Secretary John R. Block said Friday.

Block, who is visiting the Soviet Union, was in Leningrad and his report was made available here by USDA broadcast officials.

The agriculture secretary told others in his delegation he had been informed by an official of the Soviet agriculture ministry that "the Soviet Union would buy the 1.1 million metric tons of wheat that is still outstanding on the contract."

Symms' views on S. Africa blacks blasted

By The Times-News and The Associated Press

BOISE — Blacks are relative newcomers to South Africa, drawn there by jobs and a strong economy created by white settlers, and now have a great deal of "upward mobility" in that society's economy, said Sen. Steve Symms, R-Idaho, at a Friday news conference in Boise.

When it came to Symms' comment about blacks as relative newcomers to South Africa, CSI history instructor Dr. Robert Alfred said the senator was partially correct. Before industrialization and other business efforts by white Dutch settlers at the turn of the century, blacks were scattered in warring tribes.

At the news conference, Symms also defended his statements last week agreeing with the Rev. Jerry Falwell that Anglican Bishop Desmond Tutu's position as a spokesman for black South Africans was largely a creation of the "liberal media."

At the news conference, Symms also defended his statements last week agreeing with the Rev. Jerry Falwell that Anglican Bishop Desmond Tutu's position as a spokesman for black South Africans was largely a creation of the "liberal media."

Reporters are asking Symms about South Africa, not the people who are worried about the economy of Idaho and the federal government, he added.

April Annen was one of 126 contestants at the Twin Falls County 4-H Style Revue.

2 more lawsuits filed

Due to Rupert spill

RUPERT (AP) — Two more lawsuits have been filed in 5th District Court seeking damages as a result of a chemical spill near downtown Rupert last spring.

Steven Roy Hammond and his wife Terry are asking for $1.8 million in damages as a result of the spill. Five other people, Kevin Winn, Jerold Ketterling, Fred Rice, Robert Connor and Stan Clark, are asking for at least $400,000 in damages in their joint claim alleging they were exposed to the dangerous chemical.

Earlier this month, Mindoka County Deputy Sheriff John Fisher filed suit for $1.6 million in damages over the same incident.

The suits seek damages from American Farmland Inc. and others because of the spill of a highly toxic herbicide that hospitalized a dozen people and forced others to seek medical treatment.

The spill occurred when the driver of the American Farmland truck stopped to wash the herbicide, used in a diluted form as a potato defoliant, out of his trailer after it leaked from five-gallon containers.

Several homes, including the Hammond's, were ordered evacuated while crews tried to clean up the chemical.

Besides American Farmland, others named as defendants in the suits include truck driver Donald Frasher, his wife Helen; Flite Chemical Co. Inc.; Bacoem Chemical Co. Inc.; United Agri Products Inc.; David Bremers; Emergency Chemical Response Unit; and four unnamed individuals.

JUNIOR II — 1st, Shannon White, No. 18 Kimberly This and That; 2nd, Daynanne Bradshaw, No. 18, Kimberly This and That; and 3rd, Ehrin Annen, No. 96 Rainbows and Ruffles.

District winners — Kelle Jones, Karma Krueger, Tami Aufderheide and Maria Glenn. Blue: Maria Glenn, Karen Irwin, Kelle Jones, Karma Krueger; Tami Aufderheide, Sheri Nimmo and Maria Glenn.

Judge postpones drug trial

BOISE (AP) — Saying government prosecutors need more time to reply to a motion that evidence gained through a wiretap be suppressed, a federal judge in Boise has rescheduled the trial of nine Twin Falls-area residents on drug-related charges.

The trial was rescheduled for Oct. 1. Under terms of a plea-bargain agreement, Charles Roney, 32, pleaded guilty in June to one count of conspiracy to distribute controlled substances and a second that he tried to conceal his assets in an effort to defraud the Internal Revenue Service.

son and Rene Brown also have been charged in state court, along with one other woman with trying to smuggle marijuana to four prisoners at the Idaho State Penitentiary south of Boise.

Couple sues Idaho Youth Ranch for damages in burning of home

RUPERT (AP) — A Mindoka County couple has sued the state Health and Welfare Department and the Idaho Youth Ranch for $1.9 million in damages because of a fire that destroyed their home two years ago.

The suit filed by Jerald and Dixie Schenk alleged that three boys in the custody of near Rupert without permission and then ransacked their home and set it ablaze.

The suit seeks $137,000 in actual damages, $36,000 in consequential damages and over $1.7 million in punitive damages. In addition to the state department and the ranch, their home was away on a camping trip at the time.

Wagon museum dedicated

By DAVE LEWIS Times-News correspondent

KETCHUM — The nephew of the man who built Ketchum's famed ore wagons helped dedicate their museum Friday by thanking the city for its efforts in preserving an important part of the Wood River Valley's history.

Palmer Lewis dedicated the wagons to the city in 1968 after they had been out of use for more than one-half century. They were used from 1884 until mining died in the region after the turn of this century.

The mayor said it is important to preserve what is left to symbolize the town's history, especially in an era when technology is changing the character of life as it has been known.

Briefly

Murder suspects held in jail

TWIN FALLS — Four brothers were being held in Ada County Jail on murder charges Friday after their arrests in Burley and Ada on a police man was slaying, with the shooting deaths of a tavern dancer and patron at the Hide Out tavern in Ada County Aug. 8.

Ezequiel Hernandez, 26, Nampa; and Jose Hernandez, 30, Salt Lake City, were arrested Wednesday after Burley police officers spotted a vehicle matching a description of the getaway car in a police report, said Burley Police Chief Leman Mesley. Juan Hernandez, 22, Nampa, and Raul Hernandez, 24, were arrested in Nampa Tuesday.

They are being held without bond. Killed are Patricia Hanson, 27, New Plymouth, and Billy Daniel, 28, Nampa.

Ada County authorities say Hanson was shot at night as she started to go home from the tavern at which she danced. Daniel, a customer, was sleeping in a van outside the tavern when the shooting started and later was found dead.

Police said four men were refused service at the tavern earlier in the evening.

A woman who was arrested with Daniel and Jose was charged by Burley police, but her arrest was not connected to the murders.

BLM conducts 'hopper surveys

BOISE — The BLM will be conducting grasshopper surveys this month to improve the forecasting of a possible 1986 grasshopper problem. Results of the survey will be given to the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service to help identify potential problem areas needing spraying next year.

A number of state and local officials have criticized the federal government for not conducting a year-round monitoring program, tracking grasshopper populations. Some officials said the lack of a monitoring program cost them valuable time in this year's fight against grasshoppers.

According to Larry Woodard, associate state director for the BLM, the state of next year's grasshopper infestation will depend largely on a carryover of grasshoppers from this year and spring weather conditions.

A warm, early spring followed by cold, wet weather could kill most of the potential hatch, Woodard said.

If weather conditions are similar to this year's spring, however, the situation could again be critical in the Magic Valley.

Over $12.5 million were spent on spraying 6 million acres of land in Idaho this summer.

Slaying sentence sustained

BOISE (AP) — A 26-year-old illegal alien must serve at least 10 years in prison for a Twin Falls County slaying, the Idaho Court of Appeals says.

The court Friday sustained the sentence ordered by 5th District Judge Daniel Mechl for Demetrio Beltran, convicted of shooting a woman to death.

Mechl sentenced Beltran to a fixed, 15-year prison term for "voluntary manslaughter, but with good conduct reductions, the man can be released in 10 years.

Beltran contended the sentence was excessive. But the Court of Appeals upheld Mechl's finding that a lesser prison term would depreciate the seriousness of the crime.

The court noted that Beltran has only a second-grade education, cannot read, write or speak English. He fled the state after the shooting and was located in Arizona several months later.

The Court of Appeals said Beltran admitted he usually gets intoxicated twice a week and on the night of the killing was intoxicated.

ISU commuter van proposed

TWIN FALLS — Plans are under way to provide a daily commuter van to serve Idaho State University commuter students between Twin Falls and Pocatello.

Any Mag Valley student-commuters are urged to call the ISU Resident Center, 734-4478, if interested.

Marjorie Slotten, ISU coordinator, said, "If enough students respond to the idea, we will work out scheduling to include a stop in Burley. Fares and departure times will be announced later."

For further information, call 734-4478.

Buhl man accused of assault

TWIN FALLS — Stephen Thomas Victor, 36, of Route 2, Buhl, has been accused of threatening a woman with a Revolver early this morning.

Victor faces a felony charge of aggravated assault, according to a complaint filed Tuesday in 5th District Magistrate Court in Twin Falls.

The alleged incident took place at a residence southwest of Buhl. Mary E. Surber, no age or address available, reported Victor threatened to kill her with a gun.

Victor was released on his own recognizance after a Tuesday-court appearance. A preliminary hearing will be held Sept. 13.

Warm Springs area firms propose BID to draw tourists

By DAVE LEWIS
Times-News correspondent

condominium and duplex owners north and south of Warm Springs Road.

KETCHUM — Businesses at the base of Bald Mountain in Ketchum are joining together to propose a taxing district to fund improvements in the area.

The proposed taxing district, to allow a general upgrading of the Warm Springs area used primarily by tourists, has almost unanimous support from businesses and landowners in the area, says John Wells, owner of Warm Springs Rest and The Brokerage.

The work will be done "to try and improve the Warm Springs area in the skier/guest area and upgrade it to the level of other major ski resorts," Wells says.

Sidewalks, curbs, benches, signs and parking and automobile circulation patterns are being considered in the improvements, he says.

Wells says the group hopes to include within the district businesses,

"Eventually we'll try to take in everything from Skiway (Drive) west, from the mountain and the whole width of the valley to the in some consistent elements," he says.

Wells says the area is now congested during the winter because of no well thought-out traffic pattern. It also lacks uniform signs to direct automobiles and pedestrians.

There also are no sidewalks, he says.

Sometimes in September or October the group will take the plan to the city, which has the authority to form the district, Wells says.

The group hopes to have some of the improvements in by this winter season.

The plan is still being developed by Corbin, Yamaguchi and Partners of Irvine, Calif., the architectural firm designing Daon Development Corp.'s Greyhawk Inn, and the designer of the preliminary plans for Daon's Greyhawk Hotel that was defeated by the city. Wells says there is no phased plan or cost estimates for the project yet.

Daon has given the work its approval. Sun Valley Co., which owns the Northface Warming Hut, is supportive of the venture, but has not yet committed to it, Wells says.

How to tax each property owner hasn't been determined. Wells says he is not sure what the group's options are for raising the money, but it may be locked into a tax based on property frontage.

However, that may not be the most equitable way to assess the tax, he says.

Some lots are owned by individuals and others by property associations consisting of numerous condominium owners, he said.

Wells says the area has needed work for some time. Daon had agreed to certain improvements if its hotel had been approved. Now, all businesses must become involved, he said.

Boy, 8, killed in bicycle accident

JEROME — An 8-year-old Jerome boy was killed Friday morning when he rode his bicycle into the path of a car on a county road southeast of Jerome.

The victim was identified by Jerome County Sheriff Elza Hall as Joshua Ronald Hendrickson, a son of Ronald and Toni S. Hendrickson of Route 6, Jerome.

Hall said the boy and a companion were riding their bicycles on a county road near the Idaho Fish and Game Department game farm, one of a mile south and about three-quarters of a mile east of Jerome, at 9:52 a.m.

Hendrickson died of head injuries, said Jerome County Coroner Gerald Oster.

Witnesses told sheriff's officers the two had been riding in and out of the game farm driveways. Hall said the Hendrickson youth apparently rode from the driveway onto the county road without seeing the approaching vehicle.

The driver of the automobile, Eleanor Mary Franklin, 69, who resides southeast of Jerome, told officers she was traveling about 35 miles per hour.

Hall said the woman hit her brakes when the bicycle appeared in front of her car and kept them locked. Young Hendrickson was thrown onto the hood of the car and then to the pavement as the car continued skidding. He was not run over by the vehicle. Hall said the child struck his head and also suffered other fractures.

He said the boy probably died instantly and was dead when officers and an ambulance arrived.

No citation was issued, Hall said. The accident victim and his family reside a short distance from where the accident occurred, the sheriff said.

Stallings timber support

ST. ANTHONY (AP) — More than 100,000 better quality wood would help Idaho's timber industry begin to recover, Rep. Bill Stallings says.

During a meeting with the Timber Industry Association, the Idaho Democratic Club and Woodworkers Association, the Idaho Democrat said he will explore the possibility of transferring timber from Volume quotas between national forests to ensure the highest possible sale volume.

Logging companies in the U.S. Forest Service's pricing policies: poor quality wood and too little volume for many of their woods. The firms also claim they face unfair competition from weekend timber buyers who buy in bulk and sell to a third party.

Stallings said he will introduce legislation to allow small volume timber sales to be sold to a third party.

Metals dealer files lawsuit

Asking $1.5 million against a Boise bank and gold coin buyer

BOISE (AP) — A Boise precious metal dealer has filed a 4th District Court lawsuit here asking damages of $1.5 million against a Boise bank and an individual who purchased gold coins.

Keith and Eleonore Bybee, doing business as Keith Bybee Enterprises, filed the lawsuit Friday afternoon here against Citizens National Bank and George Boswell, both individually and in his capacity as head of Random Computers, Inc.

Bank officials could not be reached for comment Friday night.

Bybee attorney Karl Shurtliff said the lawsuit alleges that Bybee took a $134,681 check from Boswell in exchange for 134,681 gold coins. Boswell, a resident of Boise, deposited it with Citizens National Bank on June 5, and released the coins to Boswell.

Five days later, the lawsuit alleges, the bank dishonored the $134,681 check and deducted that amount from Bybee's account.

Under "extreme financial, business and emotional distress" caused by the bank, Bybee a few days later signed a $120,000 loan agreement which released CNB from all claims, the suit says.

The lawsuit alleges the bank failed to meet its banking responsibilities by provisionally crediting the $134,681 check allowing Boswell later to withdraw money from his account, and then later dishonoring the check and charging it to Bybee's account.

The lawsuit said Boswell's whereabouts are unknown. It asks damages from Boswell and the bank him in the amount of the dishonored check plus interest.

The lawsuit asks that the loan agreement be voided; for $500,000 in general damages and $1 million punitive damages, in addition to attorney fees and costs.

last year, he added.

Symms said Friday that the current unrest in that country has been spurred by activists in the United States pushing for divestiture of American businesses with interests there.

"The U.S. can't be the moral policeman of the world," he said. "I'm not saying it's right. I think it's abhorrent. But those using apartheid to make a political statement are doing a real disservice to South Africa's black population."

Symms also applauded President Reagan's policy of "constructive engagement" with the South African government, aimed at gradual change toward a more democratic system. But even with current conditions, blacks in South Africa are being "driven out of their own land," he said.

He pointed to Zimbabwe as an example of the fate of a nation allowed to become dominated by one-party rule at the expense of personal freedom. "This is foolishness at best, and hypocrisy on the worst side."

But he said in South Africa America has even more to lose. An unfriendly government there could close vital shipping lanes and remove the vast mineral wealth of the area from world markets, Symms said.

Shoshone-Bannocks, officials set water negotiations rules

FORT HALL (AP) — The Shoshone-Bannock Indian Tribes and Idaho officials have signed an agreement setting down guidelines for negotiations on the extent of the tribes' historically reserved water rights in the state.

"In many other Western states, the process of establishing Indian reserved water rights has been a divisive and sometimes bitter experience on all sides, involving millions of dollars of litigation costs," Gov. John Evans said Friday at the signing ceremony in Fort Hall.

Evans said the agreement is a "positive solution to benefit Indians and non-Indians alike," he said.

Besides Evans, others signing the "memorandum of understanding" included Attorney General Jim Jones; Keesley Edmo, chairman of the Shoshone-Bannock Tribal Business Council; A. Kenneth Dunn, director of the Department of Water Resources; tribal attorneys and several state legislators.

The Idaho Legislature last winter approved the start of a legal process to sort out the thousands of water-right claims in the Snake River Basin as part of a broader settlement between the state and Idaho Power Co. over control of the Snake River.

The adjudication process, which some expect to take a decade and cost $27 million, is designed to measure and give priority to the rights of all water users and claimants in the basin.

In authorizing that process, the Legislature also adopted a resolution requiring Evans and Jones to negotiate a settlement of Indian claims to Snake River waters, which some feared could be a major sticking point in the adjudication effort.

The agreement signed Friday outlines the general format to be followed in the negotiation process and the course of action if negotiations reach a stalemate. Formal talks are expected to begin Oct. 15.

The talks will include such topics as what authority and role parties will have in negotiations, who should participate other than the tribes and the state, the order of issues to be discussed, the role of the federal government in the talks, the interests the tribes wish to protect, the extent of the adjudication of the Snake River system, and a timetable for resolving the issues.

The agreement also called for the parties to refrain from beginning court proceedings for water adjudication without serving advance written notice.

"There are really only two alternatives. Either go to court and spend tens of millions of dollars, or we can negotiate at a small fraction of the cost," Edmo said. "Given our history, we are understandably leary of negotiations. But we believe good-faith discussions between our governments is the sensible way to resolve these issues."

Tribal Attorney Howard Funke said, "I don't believe there is any doubt the tribes have substantial reserved water rights on the Snake River system." However, he said litigation is a "non-flexible process, basically unconcerned with the impacts on present users."

Funke said a federal document issued in 1908 by the U.S. Supreme Court determined what water rights Indian tribes possess.

The Indians have sufficient water rights from the time a reservation was established to fulfill their needs," he said. "We'll be trying to arrive at what those needs are for the present and what they will be in the future."

Gene Gray, chairman of the Idaho Water Resources Board and the principal negotiator for the state, said the board "is going to do everything possible to protect everyone involved."

"My objective is to encourage open and free discussion to continue the spirit of cooperation that presently exists," Gray said. "The signing of this memorandum of understanding is an important step in that process."

McClure fears retaliatory policy is country's only trade recourse

BOISE (AP) — Although declaring himself a "free trader," Idaho Sen. James McClure says the U.S. may have no alternative retaliatory trade barriers on America's trading partners that refuse to fully open their markets.

"I don't like protectionism, but I'm becoming skeptical," McClure said Friday after returning to Boise from a tour of Pacific Rim nations that included trade discussions with some officials.

"We will be doing our own thing if some of those nations like Japan realize the seriousness of the mounting U.S. trade deficit and will probably increase sales opportunities for American businessmen in the near future, McClure said their actions appear to be 'too little and too slow.'

"They're going to ride it (the trade imbalance) as long as they can," he charged.

That attitude is fueling a rising tide of support for protectionism that may easily result in congressional approval of retaliatory measures, he speculated.

Although President Reagan is likely to veto that kind of legislation, McClure said, "There is no assurance that the president's veto would not be overridden."

He said many in Congress believe some action must be taken if America's trading partners fail to resolve the imbalance, especially in view of the fact that the Pacific Rim nations have developed to the point that they are capable of competing internationally without protections.

"We're finding that the playing field is no longer level," he said. "It is being subsidized in ways we can no longer tolerate."

"If we can't force them to play by our rules, we're going to have to learn to play by their rules," McClure said. "I'm not certain we can continue indefinitely with the ideal of American free trade."

Sam Shippy moves family out of district

MIDDLETON (AP) — Sam Shippy, who has challenged Idaho's compulsory education law for almost three years, has moved his family out of the New Plymouth School District.

The Shippys moved this week into a mobile home about eight miles north of Middleton. It is in Gem County near the Canyon County line and in the Emmett School District.

The couple lived at New Plymouth for 10 years, said Shippy's wife, Marquita. In an interview Thursday at their new home.

Sam Shippy, who was working in Oregon on Thursday, said earlier he might move to avoid further problems with New Plymouth School District officials.

The problems began in 1982 when four Shippy couples were found guilty of failing to educate their children in an approved home school program, as required by state law.

The couple still plans to educate the children at home and started instruction Wednesday. Mrs. Shippy said, adding that they had not contacted local school officials. School began Tuesday in the Emmett School District.

Eleven of the 12 children who live at home were seated at the kitchen table Thursday surrounded by an assortment of workbooks and crayons. The older children helped younger siblings complete math problems. The youngest children were occupied with coloring books.

Winds whip up Butte fire; fire crews pull back to wait

By The Associated Press

Winds gusting up to 50 miles an hour on the ridges forced fire bosses to abandon their battle against the head of the raging Butte fire in east-central Idaho's Salmon National Forest Friday as the blaze burned out of control across the Idaho border into Montana.

"The winds are really ripping," spokesman Jim Stone said. "It means a lot more acres but they don't know how many yet."

Fire crews were pulled off the northeastern front of the fire Friday after flames earlier overran firelines and the high winds pushed the fire the final mile across the high ridge separating Idaho and Montana.

Supervisors closed three more roads in area to the public as the fire created safety hazards, and the more than 900 firefighters and support personnel concentrated on strengthening containment lines on the south, east and west sides of the blaze away from the winds.

The latest surge followed an earlier run that rapidly blackened thousands of new acres, forcing the abandonment of one fire camp and leaving five firefighters suffering from smoke inhalation.

Reinforcements continued to pour into northern Idaho's Nez Perce National Forest, where weather conditions have helped firefighters check a stubborn 250-acre fire some 20 miles southeast of Grangeville that has already destroyed several out-buildings at a Forest Service maintenance center near Castle Creek. The value of those structures was not immediately determined.

"We haven't yet determined the cause, but we had no lightning so we're pretty sure it was caused by humans," said spokeswoman Mary Zubinski.

Another 50 firefighters arrived on the scene Friday, boosting manpower on the blaze to 160, she said. Damp brush within and around the fire enabled crews to make progress on a containment line, and Ms. Zubinski said the blaze in steep heavy timber along the South Fork of the Clearwater River was expected to be contained by Sunday night.

That fire began Thursday afternoon and was whipped out of control by winds gusting up to 35 miles an hour. Crews constructed containment lines to the southeast to protect private groves about a half mile from the flames.

The Butte fire, which had lain dormant for nearly three weeks after charring just over 21,000 acres in late July, roared back to life last weekend under high winds, jumping containment lines and spreading across another 7,300 acres in the last week. It has now covered nearly 45 square miles.

"Roughly 100 firefighters had to move to safety zones, and some deployed their fire shelters," Stone said. "There were no serious injuries, but five suffered smoke inhalation and one was airlifted to Salmon (32 miles away) for treatment."

The spike, or auxiliary, camp set up close to the fire's front was evacuated when the dramatic explosion of the fire brought flames within a mile and a half. Some 340 firefighters operating out of the camp relocated it about two miles further away from the advancing flames.

Tax protestor admits efforts futile, gets 9-month sentence

BOISE (AP) — A former American Falls tax protestor has been sentenced to jail and probation for several tax violations, Internal Revenue Service officials said.

"I've come to the conclusion that this tax rebellion movement is a total waste of time," Harry Veltman said Friday during his sentencing in U.S. District Court in Boise. "They seek reform of the tax laws but they haven't accomplished anything except getting people imprisoned."

U.S. District Judge Marlon Callister sentenced Veltman to nine months in prison for failing to appear in court, but gave him credit for time already served.

Callister also sentenced him to two six-month jail terms for filing false claim and failing to file a tax return. Both sentences were suspended and Veltman was placed on three years probation to begin after his release from prison. He also was ordered to file and pay all delinquent tax returns.

For Lankford brothers

Court issues stays of death sentences

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho Supreme Court has issued stays of execution for two Texas men convicted of first-degree murder in the slayings of a Marine Corps captain and his wife in northern Idaho.

Mark Henry Lankford, 28, Houston, and Bryan Stuart Lankford, 24, Conrow, were sentenced to death in the June 21, 1983, slayings of Robert and Cheryl Bravence.

Death warrants were issued on Aug. 23 against both brothers, setting an execution date for Bryan Lankford on Sept. 13 and for Mark Lankford on Oct. 7.

However, Idaho law requires that the clerk of the Supreme Court automatically enter stays of execution in death penalty cases pending appeals and statutory review. The stays were issued Friday.

Second District Judge George Reinhardt in June denied a request from Mark Lankford to reconsider his death sentence, ruling that not enough evidence was presented to suggest that his original trial had been in error.

The Bravences originally were from Scottsdale, Ariz., and were stationed at El Paso, Texas, when they were killed while camping along the South Fork of the Clearwater River east of Grangeville.

The Lankfords were arrested three months later in Liberty County, Texas.

Garden City official arraigned on funds charge

GARDEN CITY (AP) — Garden City city clerk David M. Easton was arraigned Thursday in Ada County Magistrate Court on a charge of misappropriating $13,576 of city money between May, 1983, and May, 1985.

He pleaded innocent to the felony charge of misuse of public money by an officer — an offense carrying a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison — and requested a preliminary hearing.

Easton's attorney said eight of the nine counts involved Easton writing himself checks for his regular salary as city clerk. And Mayor Margaret Mockwitz predicted Easton would be found innocent and called the own recognition.

PT boat vets gather to remember good times amid chaos

By SUZANNE WETLAUFER
The Associated Press

BOSTON — John Lydon was a 17-year-old sailor when Japanese submarines surrounded his grounded PT boat near a tiny Pacific island. He and 13 crewmates jumped overboard, swam to shore and lived in the jungle for a week before being rescued.

Lydon remembers his fear, but talks of the experience fondly. "It was a fun time," he said. At a four-day gathering of 1,200 PT boat veterans here, "You know, they say PT boats were made of wood, mainly men made of iron."

Patrol-torpedo boat veterans of World War II traveled from all 50 states to attend their 21st reunion sponsored by PT Boats Inc., Organization and Museum, of Memphis, Tenn.

"We fight the war all over again," said Lydon, 59, a train engineer from Memphis. "We share a few beers and wonder how we ever won."

As the reunion began Wednesday, many said PT boats "recreated a special kind of camaraderie among the 16,000 sailors who volunteered for duty aboard them."

The 80-foot vessels, with wooden hulls and high-octane gasoline engines, were designed for quick torpedo attacks on larger ships and were considered highly vulnerable to the enemy. Originally, no married men were accepted for the boats, which usually had only 44-man crews.

"There wasn't much protection. It was just three pieces of plywood," said Lydon. "But we could go in and do things and come out."

"It was like one big family," added Homer Facto, who served on four PT boats during the war, including one with John F. Kennedy. "The boat was so small. The American people, when things get tough, they get together. We all became very close friends."

Of Kennedy, Facto recalled, "He was a real good skipper. You could always talk to him."

Kennedy won national attention during the war when his ship, PT 109, was cut in half by a Japanese destroyer in the Solomon Islands. Despite a back injury, the future president helped injured sailors swim to shore, then scratched a message on a coconut and asked a native to deliver it to the closest American base.

The story later inspired a popular song and movie, "PT 109." Lydon and other PT boat veterans said they attended the reunion to talk about the good times, not to reminisce about combat.

"You try to forget the bad times and remember the good," said Leo Campbell, a businessman from Bakersfield, Calif. "Sure, we were scared. But we were so young at the time, 18 or 19. It was exciting."

Campbell was aboard PT 236 when it sped by three Japanese ships in the Solomon Islands to rescue a squad of trapped Marines.

"We got what was left of them," he said. "But, gosh, they killed so many of them before we could get there. We picked up 106. One man died on the boat."

"You wouldn't trade these memories for anything. But you would never do it again."

On Sunday, the veterans are to visit Battleship Cove in Fall River for the rededication of PT 617, which was nearly destroyed in Korea but was rebuilt with $600,000 in donations from PT boat veterans and their families.

"They will also pay tribute to James M. 'Boats' Newberry, of Memphis, Tenn., the founder of PT Boats Inc. Newberry was a chief boatswain's mate on a PT boat with Kennedy and started the PT boat reunions in 1964.

Seat belt law spurs conflicts

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Supporters of the state's mandatory seat belt law don't talk about how often seat belts have been deadly.

Town Supervisor Daniel E. Weber of suburban Cheektowaga said Friday after being ticketed a second time for driving without a seat belt.

"They tell you how many times seat belts save lives," Weber said. "But they fail to tell you how many times they have been responsible for deaths."

Weber, who has been battling for repeal of the nation's first seat belt law, said he has newspaper stories about people burning to death in wrecked cars because they couldn't get out of their seat belts.

Gov. Mario Cuomo, who signed the seat belt law, told a New York City news conference this week that during the first six months the law was in effect nearly 100 people survived because they were wearing seat belts.

Weber said he doesn't object to people wearing seat belts if they want to. "But I'm opposed to a law that compels us to do something against our free will," he said. "The choice should be left to the person, to the individual."

He called the law nefarious and punitive and charged that Cuomo and the state Legislature usurped the rights of the people by passing the legislation.

A state trooper stopped Weber in suburban Clarence Thursday and gave him a summons for violating the law, which requires drivers and front seat passengers to wear seat belts. A Cheektowaga officer ticketed Weber for the same violation June 21.

A hearing for the first violation is scheduled for Sept. 9 but will be held in suburban Amherst because Cheektowaga justices disqualified themselves on the basis of their relationship to the supervisor. A hearing on the Thursday violation is scheduled in Clarence Sept. 17.

Burglars betray lack of wine appreciation

NEW YORK (AP) — After breaking into a restaurant well-stocked wine cellar, thieves opted for an expensive French Sauvignon muscadet — a faux pas the restaurant's wine expert says saved him a fortune.

"I guess they took the French wine because they probably thought French is always better and more expensive. But the thief was wrong," said Joseph DeLisio, wine cellar master at the River Cafe in Brooklyn.

"Exactly how wrong? DeLisio says the 137 cases of imported wine stolen were worth $30,000 wholesale. The thieves left untouched some $100,000 of California wines and a case of 1981 Chateau LaFite from France worth $550 per bottle. The California wines had a resale value of about $300,000, DeLisio said.

The stolen Sauvignon muscadet goes for about $13 a bottle, DeLisio said, adding the thieves also made off with cheaper bottles of bordeaux and burgundy.

In all, he said, they swiped about 1,650 bottles sometime between Tuesday night and Wednesday morning.

"I was upset about the theft, but thank God they did not take the other wines," he said DeLisio.

"It took me two years to acquire the California wines," he said. "The bottles are irreplaceable."

No arrests have been made, police said Friday.

Ferry service to be renewed on East River

NEW YORK (AP) — Walt Whitman wrote about crossing to Brooklyn on the ferry, and about the communion he felt with future generations that would be doing the same thing.

When the ferry went out of business last year, it was the end of a line that next week, after an absence of more than 60 years, ferry service on the East River between the boroughs of Brooklyn and Manhattan is scheduled to resume.

"The ferry is being brought back on a six-week trial starting at 10 a.m. Thursday. It will run seven days a week, one boat will be used, leaving each port every 30 minutes. The fare is $1.

Officials hope to restore permanent service by next spring.

The ferry is being operated by the Brooklyn borough president's office, the Department of Transportation, the South Street Seaport Museum and real-estate developer David Walentas.

U.S. draws bombing blame

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Shiite Muslim spiritual leader Sheik Mohammed Hussein Fadlallah on Friday said U.S. and Israeli intelligence agencies were behind five car-bomb attacks in Beirut and Tripoli this month that killed more than 140 people.

Fadlallah, considered by many to be the spiritual guide of the radical pro-Iranian Hezbollah, or Party of God, said in a sermon that the bombings "are a gang trained by America and Israel."

Friday's accusations did little to cool sectarian passions and there was new fighting in Beirut and Tripoli in which police reported four people killed. Hezbollah is believed to be connected to last June's hijacking of an TWA jetliner and the holding of 39 American passengers hostage for 17 days.

Walesa challenges Warsaw

GDANSK, Poland (AP) — On the fifth anniversary of the founding of the Solidarity labor union, Lech Walesa accused the Communist leaders of destroying Poland and challenged them to end repression and make fundamental political and economic changes.

"To the authorities, we say, release political prisoners, end your policy of repression and come back to the road of agreement," Walesa told reporters after he was cheered by more than 500 supporters outside the Lenin shipyard, where he works as an electrician.

Five years ago Saturday, Walesa represented striking Gdansk workers at the signing of a historic agreement with the Polish government.

NATO plans naval exercises

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — NATO naval and air forces will hold exercises in the North Sea, the Danish Straits and the Baltic Sea in early September, the alliance announced Friday.

A statement provided by NATO headquarters in Denmark said the forces in the first part of the exercises, starting Sept. 2, would practice defending merchant convoys in the North Sea.

A second phase, starting Sept. 11 and lasting until Sept. 18, would rehearse maneuvers aimed at maintaining control of the Danish Straits and the western Baltic and repelling amphibious landings by Warsaw Pact forces.

Leaking gas kills 1, injures scores in Bombay

BOMBAY, India (AP) — A cloud of chlorine gas escaped from a chemical plant in an industrial suburb Friday and spread through residential areas, killing one person and injuring at least 150, officials reported.

The gas leaked for at least 300 hours in Chembur, a northwest suburb of Bombay known as the "gas chamber" because of the number of chemical plants located there. It spilled out of the plant in a greenish-yellow cloud, spreading over nearby neighborhoods.

It was the fourth major leak of toxic material in this Arabian Sea port since March. In Bhopal, central India, Dec. 3, 1984, methyl isocyanate escaped from a Union Carbide plant killing more than 2,000 people and injuring hundreds of thousands in the world's worst industrial accident.

About 300,000 people live around the cluster of at least 10 major chemical plants in Chembur. In areas ranging from slums to wealthy neighborhoods, thousands fled their homes in panic when the gas leaked Friday morning, but the cloud dissipated and the police said conditions were safe by nightfall.

Residents of Bombay, India's leading industrial city, have been clamoring for more controls on more than 200 plants that use hazardous chemicals.

Police and doctors at four hospitals said the casualty toll probably would rise. By late Friday night they reported 149 people hospitalized with serious breathing problems, who were being given oxygen and anti-spasmodic drugs.

Hundreds of other residents complained of nausea, breathlessness and burning eyes, they said.

Officials said they had not determined the cause of the gas leak, which began between 9:30 and 10 a.m. at the chemical complex owned by Calico, one of India's largest textile companies.

Reliable senior police sources told The Associated Press that the cause appeared to be a leaking valve attached to a large gas storage tank. They said the gas was being transferred to another tank, but details were unclear.

Court rules out statements

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled Friday that statements made by armed forces chief Gen. Fabian Ver before a fact-finding board could not be used against him in the Benigno Aquino assassination trial.

Chief prosecutor Manuel Herrera, who has said he has very little evidence against Ver other than the chief's own statements, declined comment on the decision.

Ver's lawyer, Antonio Coronel, said he will move for dismissal of charges against Ver, who has long been President Ferdinand E. Marcos' closest military adviser. He was among the defendants accused of trying to cover up a military plot to assassinate Aquino.

Taylor's turnovers lead Giants to 24-14 win over Steelers

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Lawrence Taylor's interception, scoring drive and his third-quarter fumble recovery set up the clinching touchdown Friday night as the New York Giants ended a perfect preseason with a 24-14 victory over the Steelers.

Phil Simms completed 19 of 38 passes for 233 yards in just under three quarters of play and replacement Jeff Hostetler fired fourth-quarter scoring passes to Lionel Manuel and Phil McConkey as the Giants ended the National Football League exhibition season with a 5-0 record.

The loss marked the first time since 1968, the year before Chuck Noll became their coach, that the Steelers, 1-3, lost three consecutive preseason games.

San Francisco 23 Seattle 21

SEATTLE (AP) — Ray Wersching kicked a 29-yard field goal on the final play of the game Friday night to give the San Francisco 49ers a 23-21 victory over the Seattle Seahawks in a National Football League exhibition finale.

The 49ers came from behind to win after trailing 21-10 in the third quarter following Dave Krieg's third touchdown strike for Seattle.

Matt Cavanagh and Mike Mereski ran the San Francisco offense in a piece of two-time Super Bowl MVP Joe Montana, who was held out of the contest with an ailing back.

San Diego 21 New Orleans 20

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Barefooted linebacker Billy Ray Smith kicked a 17-yard field goal with no time remaining Friday night to lift the San Diego Chargers to a 21-20 victory over the New Orleans Saints in a National Football League exhibition game.

Two plays earlier, with four seconds remaining, Smith had an apparent game-winning, 34-yard field goal disallowed when referees ruled he had taped on his kicking shoe.

On the San Diego's next play from the New Orleans 33-yard line, a pass interference penalty at the goal line against defensive back David Rackley of the Saints gave the Chargers the ball on the 1-yard line with no time remaining.

Discarding his tape, Smith then booted the game-winner on the final play.

L.A. Raiders 26 Cleveland 7

CLEVELAND (AP) — Stacey Toran intercepted a Bernie Kosar pass and sprinted 29 yards for a touchdown and the Los Angeles Raiders converted two Greg Allen fumbles into field goals to beat the Cleveland Browns 26-7 in a National Football League exhibition game Friday night.

The Raiders, 1-3, victims of 14 turnovers in their first three preseason losses, forced seven turnovers by the Browns in the final preseason game for both teams.

Atlanta 19 Miami 17

ATLANTA (AP) — Steve Bartkowski fired a 68-yard touchdown pass to Arthur Cox with 7:10 remaining to lift the Atlanta Falcons to a 19-17 victory over the Miami Dolphins in a National Football League exhibition game Friday night.

Bruin spikers lose twice at Skyline meet

IDAHO FALLS — Two-time defending Gem State Conference volleyball champion Twin Falls got off to a rough start in its new season here Thursday night.

Prep volleyball

The Bruins fell to Bonneville 9-15, 13-15, and then lost to host Skyline 10-15, 15-13, 11-15 in a Gem State triangular meet in the Skyline gym.

It was the first time in three years that Twin Falls has lost two conference matches in a tri-meet.

Shawn Kaba and Tracy Szabo were the top performers for Twin Falls.

Meanwhile, the Bruin JV's beat Bonneville 6-15, 15-5, 15-7 and then topped Skyline 10-15, 15-13, 15-11.

Bliss wins tri-meet

DIETRICH — Defending District 4 Class A-4 champion Dietrich opened its volleyball season here Friday by splitting a Northside Conference tri-meet with Bliss and Richfield.

The Bliss girls lost to Bliss 9-15, 10-15, then beat Richfield 15-5, 15-8. The Bears completed the sweep by fopping the Tigers 15-0, 15-17.

Shoshone 15-15 Filer 4-9

FILER — Shoshone defeated Filer in 15-4, 15-9 in a non-conference volleyball match here Thursday.

Junior Candy Cowley served five points for the Indians in the first game and Tracy Guenechea served nine in the second.

The Filer JV's won their match, 15-6, 4-12, 15-13.

Dolphins in a National Football League exhibition game Friday night.

Cox caught the scoring strike on the Miami 48, escaped the clutches of Lyle Blackwood at the 45 and raced to the end zone.

The decision left both teams with 2-2 records going into next weekend's regular season openers.

Bartkowski also hurried a 16-yard touchdown pass to Clinton Brown in the second quarter. Mick Luckhurst kicked a 27-yard field goal in the first and the Falcons added a safety in the third when Joe Pisarcik was tackled in the end zone for a safety by Tiger Greene and Andrew Proby following a high center snap by Tom Taylor.

Washington 20 Tampa Bay 7

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Washington cornerback Darrell Green returned an interception 42 yards for a touchdown and George Rogers scored on a 1-yard run Friday night to lead the Redskins to a 20-7 victory over the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in a National Football League preseason finale.

Mark Moseley also booted field goals of 47 and 24 yards as Washington completed its exhibition finale with a 4-0 record. The Bucs finished 1-3 before a crowd of 33,640 that turned out despite steady rain and gale warnings associated with Hurricane Elena.

Cincinnati 31 Indianapolis 21

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Quarterback Ken Anderson set up two touchdowns with 141 yards passing in the first quarter and three nine yards to rookie Eddie Brown for a second-period score Friday night, leading the Cincinnati Bengals to a 31-21 exhibition victory over the Indianapolis Colts.

Anderson had 14 completions in 21 attempts for 226 yards for the game, while Brown finished four receptions for 85 yards.

Minnesota 13 Denver 9

DENVER (AP) — Safety Keith Nord intercepted a Scott Stankavage pass and returned it 28 yards — for a fourth-quarter touchdown, lifting the Minnesota Vikings to a 13-9 victory over the Denver Broncos Friday night in the final National Football League preseason game for both teams.

Stankavage, Denver's third-string quarterback who had been cut just 10 days earlier and then was re-signed when John Elway and Gary Kubiak were injured in last week's game, had staked the Broncos to a 9-lead with a solid performance.

But early in the final period, Nord threw a pass intended for tight end Clarence Kay, cut in front of Kay and picked it off, racing into the color of the end zone with 13:33 left.

Angels resort to bag of tricks to best Yankees at home, 4-1

NEW YORK (AP) — The old cliché in baseball is that it takes all kinds of things to win ballgames. Big things and little things.

Friday night, the California Angels used every trick in the book, both big and little, and defeated the New York Yankees 4-1.

The victory moved the Angels 2½ games ahead of Kansas City in the American League West, while the Yankees dropped five games behind AL East-leading Toronto.

New York Mets 2 San Francisco 1

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A fielding error by left fielder Dan Gladden with two outs in the ninth inning and Howard Johnson's run-scoring double enabled the New York Mets to edge the San Francisco Giants 2-1 Friday night and move within two games of first place in the National League East.

Ron Darling, 13-5, threw a five-hitter for the Mets, who trail St. Louis in the East Division. He pitched out of a bases-loaded jam in the ninth by getting Gladden to line to center field for the last out.

Toronto 5 Chicago 3

TORONTO (AP) — Lloyd Moseby hit a bases-empty homer and Garth Torg drove in two runs Friday night, leading the Toronto Blue Jays over the Chicago White Sox 5-3.

Jimmy Key, 11-6, set a team record for left-handers with the victory. He gave up nine hits over 9½ innings, and left the game after a run-scoring single by Julio Cruz. Tom Henke got the final out for his eighth save.

Houston 7 St. Louis 5

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Denny Walling singled home runs in the first, second and seventh innings and rookie Glenn Davis doubled and pounded his 10th homer, powering the Houston Astros to a 7-5 triumph Friday night over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Houston right-hander Mike Scott, 14-7, pitched 6½ innings, striking out three and walking two while yielding a seventh-inning homer to Cesar Cedeno in his first St. Louis at-bat. Scott's victory was his second over the Cardinals in 11 days.

Frank DiPino replaced Scott but needed help from Dave Smith in the ninth. Smith finished up for his 20th save.

Philadelphia 5 Los Angeles 2

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mike Schmidt broke a 2-2 tie with a two-run triple off the center field wall in the eighth inning Friday night to lift the Philadelphia Phillies to a 5-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Dodgers' lead in the National League West was cut to seven games over the San Diego Padres, who were idle.

Schmidt, who had earlier homered, hit a 3-2 pitch with two outs off Bob Welch, 9-3. Welch had held the Phillies to just two hits entering the eighth but walked pinch-hitter Greg Gross and gave up a one-out single to Juan Samuel before Schmidt lined his game-winning hit over the head of center fielder Ken Landreaux.

Oakland 8 Detroit 3

DETROIT (AP) — Don Sutton pitched a five-hitter over eight innings for his 23rd career victory and Mike Davis, who had three hits, keyed a four-run first inning Friday night that led the Oakland A's past the Detroit Tigers 8-3.

Sutton, 13-7, gave up one earned run and struck out four while not walking a batter. Sutton, who has won 10 of his last 12 decisions, was making his 66th career start, tying him with Walter Johnson for fourth on the all-time list.

Cincinnati 1 Pittsburgh 0

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ninth-inning doubles by Ron Oester and Max Venable sent Jay Tibbo and the Cincinnati Reds to a 1-0 victory Friday night over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Oester doubled off the glove of third baseman Bill Madlock with one out in the ninth. Venable followed with a pinch-hit double that eluded left fielder Denny Gonzalez, who tripped on the play.

Baltimore 6 Seattle 0

BALTIMORE (AP) — Storm Davis pitched a three-hitter and Floyd Rayford and Rick Dempsey homered Friday night as the Baltimore Orioles tied a major-league home run record in beating the Seattle Mariners 6-0.

Rayford and Dempsey each hit their 10th home runs of the season, enabling the Orioles to become the ninth team in history to have nine players reach double figures in homers. Another Oriole, Lee Lacy, has nine.

Texas 4 Kansas City 1

ARLINGTON, TEXAS (AP) — Charlie Hough scattered seven hits and Pete O'Brien doubled home two runs during a three-run fifth inning Friday night as the Texas Rangers beat the Kansas City Royals 4-1.

Hough, 14-12, walked two and struck out three. Bud Black, 8-14, was the loser.

Milwaukee 9 Cleveland 6

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Ted Simmons and Jim Gantner hit home runs Friday night, leading the Milwaukee Brewers to a 9-6 victory Friday night over the Cleveland Indians.

The Brewers, held hitless for 4½ innings by Tom Waddell, 7-6, scored three runs in the sixth inning to tie the game 3-3. Earnest Riles singled, Cecil Cooper walked and Simmons followed with his 11th homer into the right-field bleachers.

Boston 7 Minnesota 3

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Rich Gedman, whose bid for a two-run home run earlier in the game was foiled by a tremendous catch, hit a two-run homer in the sixth inning Friday night, rallying the Boston Red Sox to a 7-3 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

With the game tied 1-1 in the fourth, Gedman hit a pitch from John Butcher to deep right-center field. But Kirby Puckett, Minnesota's 5-foot-8 center fielder, timed his leap perfectly and snared the drive three feet over the seven-foot fence to end the inning.

Atlanta 8 Chicago 1

CHICAGO (AP) — Terry Harper's three-run homer and a solo blast by Bob Horner Friday powered the Atlanta Braves to an 8-1 triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

The victory was the fifth straight for the Braves under new Manager Bobby Wine, while the Cubs tumbled to their fourth straight defeat.

Rookie Joe Johnson, 2-0, was the winner. Ray Fontenot, 8-5, suffered the loss.

U.S. women win gold in swimming

KOBE, Japan (AP) — Mary T. Meagher swam to her fourth gold medal of the 1985 World University Games Friday, helping the American swimmers score four victories in the pool, while Soviet women won four golds in track and field.

Cuba was the day's other big winner with Jaime Jefferson's victory in the men's long jump and Ivon Leal Bravo's meet record-breaking javelin throw, which kept the Soviets from sweeping all five women's events on the track.

Meagher also broke a games record in winning the 200-meter butterfly, although she was about 1.5 seconds slower than her world record.

The U.S. men's 400-meter medley relay quartet broke another games record as it won without Matt Blondi, who had been ordered to bed with an infected leg after winning four golds himself. A total of 20 games records fell here.

Smaller oil bill trims American trade deficit

By MARTIN CRUTSINGER
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The U.S. foreign trade deficit, helped out by a steep plunge in the country's imported oil bill, dropped to $10.5 billion in July, the lowest level since January, the Commerce Department said Friday.

The Commerce Department said the merchandise trade deficit, the difference between what the country exports and what it imports, was 22 percent below the $13.4 billion June deficit.

The big improvement came from a 19.3 percent drop in oil imports and a 16.7 percent drop in shipments of foreign cars.

Economists were "split," however, on whether the July decline reflected temporary factors or whether it signaled a tur-nauround in the country's disastrous trading performance.

"The decline in the dollar has at last affected the trade balance," said John Abernethy, president of the American Business Conference, a coalition of high-growth companies.

"We're a long way from the complete resolution of our trade problems, but the July trade statistics may indicate that we have touched bottom and are on the way up."

While the dollar has indeed fallen by about 15 percent from its record highs reached last February, other analysts maintained that this decline has not been steep enough or lasted long enough to begin to have a favorable impact on the trade deficit.

A strong dollar makes imports cheaper and more attractive to Americans while making it harder to sell U.S. goods overseas.

These analysts predicted that the deficit will begin to shoot upward in coming months because oil demand will again strengthen and auto imports will climb following the resolution of a brief Teamsters strike which prevented the cars from being hauled from U.S. ports.

The big decline in oil shipments, to a July total of $4.03 billion, stemmed from a drop in both the volume and the price.

The average price per barrel fell to $27.16 in July. This was down almost $1 from the June level of $28.07 and was the lowest since December 1979, when the price was $26.46 per barrel.

The amount of oil shipped also dropped to 4.79 million barrels a day, the lowest level since February, and down from an average of 5.93 million barrels a day during June.

Car imports fell 16.7 percent to a July level of $2.85 billion with the biggest decline coming in shipments of Japanese automobiles.

Total imports declined by $2.9 billion to $32.73 billion in July, 9.5 percent below the June level.

Exports were also off by a small 0.2 percent to $17.4 billion, the lowest monthly total since February 1984, as U.S. farmers and other exporters continued to suffer a loss of sales because the dollar has made their goods uncompetitive on world markets.

The export total included a 5.3 percent drop in sales of U.S. agricultural commodities, which fell to $2.11 billion in July.

Sales of manufactured goods were also down, by a smaller 0.9 percent to a total of $12 billion. By contrast, U.S. imports of manufactured goods totaled $19.8 billion last month.

As usual, the largest trade deficit was posted with Japan, a $4 billion imbalance, which was down only slightly from a $4.57 billion June imbalance.

The July trade performance was likely to do little to blunt a growing move to pass protectionist legislation in Congress.

Lawmakers will return after Labor Day to face a total of 300 bills calling for restrictions on imports of everything from textiles to water beds.

For the first seven months of the year, the deficit has totaled $61.2 billion, 10 percent above the same period last year.

Many forecasters are predicting this year's deficit will hit $150 billion.

Wall Street ends sluggish month mixed, looks past holiday

Being debtor nation offers advantages

NEW YORK — The latest of the big concerns in economic circles, where worries are endemic, is that the United States is on the verge of becoming a debtor nation.

"So what?" said one economist, stepping out of the circle.

But isn't "debtor nation" one of those pejorative labels applied to nations that can't get their economic systems in order and who have to rely on loans to survive?

Is it appropriate, therefore, to say "so what" when the great and glorious United States is liable to fall into such ranks? Isn't the blow to America's image enough to send shivers through any citizen, even an economist?

But Kenneth Mayland, chief economist of First Pennsylvania Corp., asks: "Is this so terrible?" His "this" refers to the label. He concedes that "on the surface it sounds terrible." But he adds that sound and substance are not always one and the same.

Analysis, he observes, have gone overboard to point out that the debt results in an ongoing burden, the interest expense, and that this burden imposes a drag on the economy.

The implication, he says, "is that this is a

NEW YORK — The stock market closed out a month of sluggish activity with a mixed showing Friday, faced with some uneven signals on the state of the economy.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials dropped 17 1/2 to 1,334.01. That left the average with a 15.63-point gain for the week, but a net loss of 13.44 for August.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange came to 81.62 million shares, against 85.66 million Thursday.

Before the opening, the government reported that the index of leading economic indicators rose 0.4 percent in July. At the same time, it revised the figure for June, originally reported as a 1 percent increase, to a rise of 0.4 percent.

The Commerce Department also said the nation's trade deficit narrowed last month. But new factory orders fell 1.6 percent, for their biggest decrease in 10 months.

Among actively traded blue chips, International Business Machines dropped 2 1/2 to 126 3/4; American Express, 4 1/2 to 41 1/2; and American Telephone & Telegraph 1/2 to 21 1/2.

Analysts said the effect of all this news on the market apparently was split.

Many with many investors on vacation or getting an early start on the long Labor Day weekend.

After the holiday, when market participants devote their full attention to the outlook for the economy and corporate profits, brokers said there is still likely to be plenty of debate over whether business conditions are picking up after a sluggish first half of 1985.

"We don't feel that this week's market action is significant," said Vernon Zinder, technical analyst at E.F. Hutton. "Next week is likely to be more important."

Playboy Enterprises dropped 1/2 to 87 1/2. The company said its independent auditors will qualify their report on its financial statements and because of uncertainties involving certain payments due it from a sale of its interest in a hotel-casino in Atlantic City, N.J.

In the daily tally on the Big Board, advancing issues slightly outnumbered declines. But the exchange's composite index of more than 1,500 common stocks slipped .08 to 109.39. The NASDAQ composite index for the over-the-counter market gained .40 to 297.71. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index closed at 235.25, up 1.00.

great evil." But is it, he asks, and in a report to customers of First Pennsylvania, a bank holding company, he strives to convince them that it isn't.

Households, he points out, routinely go into debt to improve their living standards. And companies routinely go into debt to finance investment projects. But do they worry about the origins of the money they borrow? No, he answers.

"It makes no difference to the household or business if the debt is held by a domestic concern or foreign concern," says Mayland. "Furthermore, the debt constitutes no burden at all if it is used for productive purposes."

When business borrows to invest, he says, it does so with the idea of being able to service the debt and get some good out of it, perhaps in the form of higher productivity and profits.

For this purpose, he says, "foreign capital goods can serve the purpose as well as domestic capital goods." Consequently, he concludes, "foreign debt can help boost our nation's productive capacity, employment and income."

Moreover, the improvement in America's productive capacity made possible by the money, eventually will mean that foreign lenders will take repayment in American goods. If so, the debts become a potential source of future jobs.

"A very real burden would indeed be imposed on Americans, says Mayland, if fears of becoming a debtor nation are translated into protectionist measures, such as tariffs and quotas aimed at keeping out foreign goods.

Many others isn't the only one to make the point. Many abroad also, especially since the Japanese have launched a publicity blitz to demonstrate their side of America's trade deficit with their country.

But nobody said it quite like Mayland.

John Cuniff is business analyst for The Associated Press.
