Hondurans down copter near border

By FREDDY CUEVAS
The Associated Press

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras — Honduran warplanes strafed Nicaraguan military positions and shot down a Soviet-made helicopter along the frontier Friday following a Nicaraguan mortar barrage on a Honduran outpost, the armed forces announced.

The communique, broadcast on national radio stations Friday night, did not give any casualties.

Radio announcements said the Honduran armed forces had been placed on full alert, and Honduran military officials said 2,000 reinforcements were sent to the border to guard against any additional attacks.

Honduras' ambassador to Nicaragua, Col. Isidro Tapia Martinez, was recalled to receive instructions about the critical border situation, said chief government spokesman Antonio Mazariegos.

Maj. Ricardo Borjas of the armed forces public affairs office told The Associated Press that the Nicaraguan helicopter shot down was flying in a formation along the frontier and he believed casualties were inevitable.

The communique said the Honduran warplanes attacked artillery and ground positions of Nicaragua's Sandinista army in retaliation for the mortar shelling earlier in the day of a Honduran outpost that killed one soldier and wounded eight.

Nicaragua's foreign minister, Miguel D'Escoto, arriving in Managua from a meeting in Panama to negotiate a Central American peace treaty, said the Nicaraguan government was preparing a communique. He would not immediately comment further.

Honduran President Robert Suazo Cordova rushed to the capital from his hometown where he was to have spent the weekend.

Suazo Cordova called for an "urgent" meeting of the congress.

Spud-plant owner bids for reopening

By BOB FREUND
and DIANA HOOLEY
of the Times-News

GLENN'S FERRY — The owner of a shuttered potato processing plant in Glenns Ferry is trying to reopen the factory and restore between 60 and 100 jobs.

Roger Jones of Rupert — whose Magic West Inc. leased the large plant to Redi-Spuds of America five years ago — has unveiled a $2 million plan for putting the factory back to work making frozen potato products.

Jones, who is president of Magic West, met with the Glenns Ferry Industrial Development Committee this week to seek support and explore financing for the project.

"We're in the process of trying to get financing, and sales contracts, and city cooperation, and so forth to get it going again," said Bill Schow, vice president of Magic Valley Foods Inc. of Rupert, a potato flake company run by Jones.

The news gladdened Glenns Ferry business and civic leaders.

"We need those jobs in Glenns Ferry," said Industrial Development Committee Chairman Larry Rose. "The town is at a real low point economically."

Mayor Duano Messerly said he is...

State GOP contenders line up for campaign

The Associated Press

Republican contenders for major offices are lining up to formally enter the 1986 campaign despite the fact that the May primary is still more than eight months away.

Veteran state Sen. Dane Watkins of Idaho Falls said he will formally announce his candidacy for the 2nd District congressional seat next Tuesday; and Post Falls businessman and attorney Chuck Lempestis plans a formal announcement next Thursday of his bid for the GOP nomination for lieutenant governor.

Also in northern Idaho, first-term state Sen. Maril Calabretta of Osburn said she will set up a steering committee within the next two weeks to help her investigate the possibility of seeking the Democratic nomination to challenge incumbent Republican Congressman Larry Craig. Unsuccessful 1984 Democratic Senate candidate Pete Busch announced his candidacy on July 4. And Democratic state Treasurer...

Satellite-killer passes test

'Flawless' experiment proceeds despite critics

By NORMAN BLACK
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The United States conducted an "absolutely flawless" test of a satellite-killing weapon in space for the first time Friday, smashing an old satellite into bits as it orbited 345 miles above Earth, the Pentagon said.

Lt. Gen. Bernard P. Randolph, Air Force deputy chief of staff for research, said the test was carried out over the Pacific Ocean by a rocket launched from an F-15 fighter plane.

"From everything that we can tell, it went absolutely flawless," said Randolph. He declined to provide operational details, saying such information needed to be kept secret.

The experiment, the third live firing of the ASAT rocket but the first against an actual object in space, was carried out despite a rising drumbeat of criticism here and abroad. The administration maintained the operational test was essential because the United States must reach parity with the Soviet Union, which already has an operating, albeit more crude, ASAT weapon.

The so-called "ASAT" rocket slammed into an old Air Force scientific satellite at 2:42 p.m. MDT, Randolph said, "a few hours" after the F-15 jet fighter took off from Edwards Air Force Base.

The ASAT weapon was launched from an altitude of 35,000 to 40,000 feet by the jet, then flew into space where its Miniature Homing Vehicle locked on to the target with infrared sensors and then destroyed it through impact.

Pentagon spokesman Fred Hoffman said Defense Secretary Casper W. Weinberger "is absolutely delighted by the result of today's test."

"The secretary called this 'a great step forward' in developing an effective ASAT capability," Hoffman said.

The United States has suffered a "serious imbalance" compared with the Soviet Union, which already has an operational system, the spokesman continued.

"Secretary Weinberger told me he is looking forward to a second test of this promising system in the months ahead," Hoffman said.

Neither Hoffman nor Randolph would predict when the Air Force would be ready to conduct a second test in space.

The Soviets threatened to resume the testing of anti-satellite weapons if the United States conducted the test. And congressional Democrats have charged the experiment may poison the atmosphere for November's summit between President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev, as well as prospects for negotiating a ban on such space weaponry in Geneva.

Democratic Reps. George Brown of California and Joe Moakley of Massachusetts, who failed to get a court order to block the ASAT test, said it was a major blow to arms control.

"The policy implications of the test are very negative for the future relationship with the Soviets and will destroy the future of arms control," Brown said at a news conference on Capitol Hill before the results were announced.

"It doesn't matter if the test scores a direct hit, or a near miss, or it malfunctions, President Reagan's endorsement of it increases tension with the Soviets."

On Thursday, a federal judge dismissed a suit brought by four Democratic congressmen and the Union of Concerned Scientists seeking a restraining order to block the test. Later in the day, Rep. Joseph Moakley, D-Mass., one of the four who brought the suit, sent Reagan a letter signed by 97 other congressmen pleading that the test be halted because "the informal U.S.-Soviet ASAT test moratorium that has been in effect over the past two years has contributed to our national security."

for 10 a.m. Saturday and said all 82 congressional deputies should attend "for whatever decision they must make in defense of national integrity and sovereignty."

The Honduran attack was launched at 4 p.m. and was aimed at Nicaraguan battery emplacements across the border from the village of Espanillo, 1 1/2 miles from the border and about 38 miles southeast of Tegucigalpa, the military said in communiqués.

It was not immediately clear if Honduran aircraft crossed into Nicaraguan air space to strafe the battery emplacements, which had fired mortar into Honduras at 10 a.m. and again at noon, said a military spokesman who requested anonymity.

U.S. Embassy spokesman Arthur Skop said no Americans were involved in the actions and that none of the approximately 1,200 U.S. troops who are based in Honduras have been put on alert.

"There has been a long record of Sandinista attacks along the border," he said. "This is the first time there has been a Honduran military response. They have a basis to respond to these actions."

Skop said the downed Nicaraguan helicopter was Soviet-made because "they don't have anything else." Skop said he did not know if the helicopter was the sophisticated Mi-24 armored gunship or an Mi-8 troop carrier.

Deputy Foreign Minister Tomas Arilla Valle said the Nicaraguan attack occurred about 10 a.m. near Espanillo, and it lasted about 30 minutes.

In Washington, U.S. State Department spokesman Joseph Reap said: "There reportedly have been some military exchanges along the Honduran-Nicaraguan border. We are attempting to ascertain all the facts."

"The Honduran government charged today that Nicaragua carried out a cross-border mortar attack this morning which left one Honduran soldier dead and as many as eight injured," Reap said. "This is the latest in a number of border incursions and attacks mounted by Nicaragua against Honduras in the last several months."

The Nicaraguan Democratic Force, the largest of the U.S.-backed rebel groups fighting the Sandinista government, maintains bases along the border and returns to them after making attacks in Nicaragua, often with Sandinista troops in pursuit.

Impressed with Jones' proposal, "He is an established businessman and was definitely serious about this," he said. "There's no reason to believe he won't be successful in Glenns Ferry."

For Jones, it actually is a return to business in the town of Glenns Ferry. Magic West built and operated the potato plant itself from 1974 to 1980, before leasing it to Redi-Spuds.

"Redi-Spuds ran the factory for five years, but abruptly closed it and laid off its 69 workers in March, citing difficult market conditions. Within a short time, it and its parent company, Marvin Properties of San Lorenzo, Calif., sought protection from creditors by filing for reorganization under federal bankruptcy law."

"We've got to refurbish it. It's in very poor condition," he said. "The water and sewage disposal system has to be updated. The building needs repair. The grounds need repair."

The company plans to bring in new production equipment and to manufacture frozen potato products with three shifts of workers, Schow said. However, he could not estimate when the plant might reopen because the plans still are in their early stages.

Jones, who was out of town late Friday, is discussing the possibility of an industrial revenue bonding agreement with city officials. "We're looking at all types of financing," Schow said.

But the plant also must have profit potential, Schow said. "We're going to try. If we can't come up with a profitable way to do it, we won't," he said. "We are optimistic," he said. And Glenns Ferry officials "are very willing to help and do what it takes to get the plant going again."

Rose said that the committee had sent out several letters asking advice from congressional representatives and other officials after the plant closed.

Reagan favors three terms

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan privately told a group of state legislators this week that presidents should be allowed to serve more than two terms, according to Saturday editions of The Washington Post.

The Post, quoting one of the participants in the session in Tallahassee, Fla., airport Thursday, said Reagan told the group that he has no personal interest in seeking a third four-year term.

However, the president said he believes as a matter of principle that the 22nd Amendment to the Constitution, which limits a president to two terms, should be repealed, the unidentified participant told the newspaper.

The dead were identified as Walter Nills Green, 23, and John Althowe, age unknown, both of Jackson, and Kenneth Webb, 37, of Seattle.

The survivors, Greg Findley, 21, of Jackson, and Paul M. Johnson, 40, of Issaquah, Wash., were in serious condition at St. John's Hospital in Jackson, suffering from severe frostbite.

5 worshippers die in bus crash

BERRYVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A bus carrying about 38 worshippers from a bible college went off an embankment and overturned in the Ozark Mountains on Friday night, killing five people and injuring at least 10 others, authorities said.

The bus went down a ravine at 6:40 p.m. MDT near the intersection of Arkansas highways 187 and 23 about four miles north of Eureka Springs in northern Arkansas near the Missouri border, said Carroll County Deputy Rand Langhove.

Five bodies were found in the wreckage, said Carroll County Coroner Douglas Nelson.

The bus was carrying young worshippers from the Ozark Bible Institute, a small college of about 120 students in Neesho, Mo., to a performance of the Passion Play, a tourist attraction in Eureka Springs, Ark., said state police dispatcher Joe Sims in Springdale.

Bodies found on Grand Teton

JACKSON, Wyo. (AP) — Searchers on Friday found the bodies of three climbers trapped by a howling wintry storm on Grand Teton, a day after two other climbers were saved on the massive peak.

The two survivors, who like the others set out Wednesday to scale the 13,766-foot mountain, were rescued late Thursday by rangers who braved rain, snow and winds gusting to 80 mph, said Grand Teton National Park Ranger John Krambrink.

The other three were not discovered until Friday morning, by which time they had succumbed near Exum Ridge.

Marjorie Ruth Moon has said she probably will formally enter the race for lieutenant governor next month.

Watkins, chairman of the Senate Local Government and Taxation Committee, is the first of several Republican contenders to formally announce his decision to take on incumbent Democrat Richard Stallings, who has already said he will seek a second term.

Although others are also active, though unofficially, campaigning for the GOP nomination, Watkins has already described himself as the front-runner. He will make his formal declaration in a series of news conferences across the district.

Stallings won the seat by only 170 votes last fall over veteran Republican incumbent George Hansen, who campaigned under the cloud of a four-count felony conviction.

Lempesis, the former Kootenai County Republican chairman, said he has already raised $50,000 to bankroll a lieutenant governor's race.

The decision to formally announce now, he said, followed 10 months of "low-profile, person-to-person campaigning" for the job being vacated by Republican David Leroy, who announced this week for governor. He also planned a series of news conferences around the state on Thursday to formally launch his campaign.

"I'm taking my message to the people of Idaho on a person-to-person basis," Lempesis said.

California board rejects text books

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The California Board of Education on Friday rejected every science textbook submitted for use in seventh and eighth grade next year, saying publishers "water down" instruction on evolution to avoid controversy.

The unanimous vote by the 10-member board came the day after parents and spokesmen for fundamentalist religious groups contended the textbooks over-emphasized evolution, and presented it as fact, not theory.

The board rejected about 30 books submitted by a dozen national publishers. It invited publishers of the seven books judged best by its science curriculum committee to rewrite the books, with more comprehensive sections on evolution.

The board action affects an estimated $25 million in annual science textbook sales for nearly 1 million junior high school students.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Bill Honig said the vote was "a momentous decision" with a national impact because California holds such a large share of the national textbook market that publishers usually follow the state's wishes. He also said other states follow California's lead on textbook selection.

"It is not just this state we're speaking for... for the reality of it we are going to establish policy for the rest of this country," Honig said.

Honig stressed that the issue was not science versus religion, but quality.

"We must send a message to the publishing industry that we cannot tip-toe around certain subjects just because they are controversial. Doing so undermines our efforts toward excellence in our classrooms," he said in a written statement.

"We have looked at these books from a science perspective, and they just don't come up to a level that's acceptable as far as making these ideas understandable to our students."

Creationists said they were disappointed by the vote Friday, but their criticism was muted.

"We will look carefully at the revisions. We don't object to evolution being presented as a theory," said Kelly Segraves of the Creation Science Research Center of San Diego. "But we are concerned that there is nothing which gives the impression that it is fact... that creation is wrong."

One creationist, Jean Sumrall of Irvine, said in testimony Thursday that book said by the commission to have inadequate sections on evolution already go too far.

"Evolution is a theory, to be presented as a theory, in a theoretical context, not as history, in an historical context," she said, objecting to such things as one science book using the chapter title "History of Living Things" to introduce evolution to seventh graders.

The theory of evolution, generally accepted by the established scientific community, holds that life evolved over a great period of time, and that man evolved from lower life forms. Creationists, who usually hold to the biblical account of man's origin, believe life appeared over a much shorter time.

U.S. trails Soviets in exports of arms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union sold $9.4 billion worth of weaponry to foreign countries in 1984, surpassing U.S. sales for the sixth time in seven years, the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency says.

In weapons exports to Third World countries, France last year outsold the United States for the first time in history, the agency said in a new report, titled "World Military Expenditures and Arms Transfers."

The study also said the United States has ceased to be an important arms supplier to Latin America. U.S. sales of $700 million to that region between 1979 and 1983 ranked behind the totals of four other countries.

The Soviet Union, with $3.6 billion in sales, was the leading arms supplier to Latin America for that period, reflecting that country's close military ties with Cuba. Other countries which outsold the United States in the region were France ($1.9 billion), West Germany ($1.2 billion) and Italy ($1.1 billion).

For many years, the United States ranked at the top of the list of arms exporters but its share of the market generally has been declining over the past decade, partly because the Soviets and other suppliers offer easier payment terms.

During the current decade, 1983 was the only year U.S. arms sales exceeded those of the Soviet Union, the report said. U.S. sales last year totaled $7.7 billion.

Buckley hospitalized with chest pains

DETROIT (AP) — Author and columnist William F. Buckley Jr. was admitted to the coronary unit of a hospital here Friday after complaining of chest and stomach pains, an aide said.

Buckley, 59, was in good and stable condition at Harper Hospital.

He came to the hospital before the State Bar of Michigan's annual convention and was taken to Detroit Receiving Hospital; then to the coronary care unit at Harper, said his secretary, Francis Bronson.

Buckley's "chest discomfort episodes have been reduced but have not been totally eliminated," said Harper spokesman Timothy Ball.

Soviets face expulsion if Britons forced home

LONDON (AP) — Britain is prepared to eject more Soviet officials if the Soviet Union orders even one Briton to leave Moscow following the defection of a major KGB figure and expulsion of 25 Soviet spies, British officials said Friday.

One official, speaking on condition he not be identified, said defector Oleg A. Gordievski was "one of the largest catches" for Western intelligence since World War II.

In its early Saturday editions, the Times of London quoted unidentified government sources as saying Gordievski was controlled jointly for 15 years by British and Danish intelligence "as a deeply placed 'mole' in the Soviet espionage network."

Gordievski headed the KGB secret police operation in Britain, the Foreign Office said Thursday when it announced his defection. It ordered 25 Soviet diplomats and other personnel to leave Britain by Oct. 3, saying Gordievski had identified them as spies.

So far, Moscow has not reacted to the expulsions. But the British officials said they believed retaliatory Soviet expulsions were likely.

"One of our options in this case is counter-retaliation," one of the Britons said.

The British Broadcasting Corp. reported that the Soviet charge d'affaires, Lev A. Parshin, was shown a list of about 20 other Soviets who could be expelled in the event of Soviet retaliation.

The British official said he was not aware of such an incident.

Another British source said London would act "if even one member" of the British diplomatic and business community in Moscow were expelled.

When Britain threw out 105 Soviets in 1971, Moscow retaliated by expelling 18 Britons, 10 of whom had already left Moscow. Before Thursday's mass expulsion, Britain had expelled 18 alleged Soviet agents since 1971, and the Russians countered by expelling eight Britons.

The whereabouts of Gordievski's family was unclear, but extremely cautious comments from the British officials indicated they may be under Soviet control in several locations in London or Moscow.

British officials declined to confirm press reports that Gordievski, 46, has a wife and two children.

Sandinistas stop Cardinal's program

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — The government stopped the Roman Catholic Church's radio station from broadcasting a Thursday night Mass by Cardinal Miguel Obando y Bravo, a church spokesman said Friday.

Obando y Bravo, a critic of the ruling Sandinistas, conducted the Mass in Boaco, 55 miles northeast of the capital; and Radio Catolica had planned to make a live national broadcast of the celebration.

But a church spokesman, Monsignor Bismarck Carballo, said two officials from the government's censorship bureau arrived at the station and ordered employees to stop the broadcast.

Citizens campaign against new mall, predict problems

By ANNETTE CARY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The planned Magic Valley Mall will harm the local economy, diminish the quality of life in the valley and further deteriorate the already-slipping aesthetics of Twin Falls, says a newly-formed group.

Citizens to Stop the Mall, organized only last week, is starting a campaign to have Magic Valley citizens boycott the mall being built on Blue Lakes Boulevard North, near the Snake River Canyon rim.

The campaign began Friday with the distribution of letters explaining the group's position to city councils, chambers of commerce, and business people throughout the Magic Valley.

"The objective is to get people to stop and think about the choices they are making," says Kathy Sursley, Buhl, the spokesperson for the group.

Business owners who think they have to move to the mall to ensure economic survival need to know that there are those in the community who will not be shopping there, Sursley says.

"This can alleviate some of the pressure to move," she says. "It can reassure them they're part of the community; we're part of it."

Shoppers also need to be aware that the dollars they spend in the mall are likely to be shipped outside the region, rather than being recycled back into the local economy as they are when spent at local businesses.

Mall rents will be paid to Price Industry Corp. of Salt Lake City, and Price officials say that they expect 60 percent of the small shops in the mall to be owned by regional and national chains. The three anchor stores — J.C. Penney's, The Bon and ShopKo — are also regional and national chains.

Group members think local businesses stand to be hurt by the increased competition. Shoppers will have no more money to spend, Sursley says.

An "argument sheet" being distributed by the group says that the mall "will cause a breakdown in the central business cores of our communities, create empty business shells in downtown Twin Falls and drain the economies of other Magic Valley communities and adversely impact their downtowns."

Price representatives have said that the mall will draw more trade into Twin Falls from the seven outlying Magic Valley counties.

Sursley says shoppers need to be aware of how taking their trade to the mall will harm their own communities.

"We believe that the mall will affect every downtown business in nearly all Magic Valley communities by drawing local consumers away from them," says the letter distributed Friday. "One need only examine the empty business spaces in Burley and Buhl to determine what happens when out-of-downtown malls are constructed. Twin Falls

Kimberly Perkins, teacher, says she usually works with students one-on-one.

Kimberly schools lauded for 'Chapter I' program

By DEANS MILLER
Times-News writer

SCHOOL DISTRICT "Chapter I" special reading program has been cited by the U.S. Department of Education for "progress towards excellence."

Chapter I programs are about 20 years old in Idaho and are designed to give remedial help to students falling behind in basic skills like reading and writing.

The award-winning Kimberly program focuses on reading skills and is taught by Leigh Ann Perkins, who has been the Chapter I teacher in Kimberly for three years.

"What's really made this successful is that the rest of the faculty and I work so well together. We're really coordinated," she said Friday.

"We targeted reading because that's been the forerunner of unsuccessful students," says Superintendent Bauscher.

He says the school puts time and effort into catching reading problems early on to keep reading troubles from causing troubles throughout the curriculum.

Teachers perform tests need to be done that is a key to success for the program, Bauscher says.

Specialists brought in to look for children with special needs do not know the students and may not know the performance on a day-by-day basis.

After a student has been tested and diagnosed as needing help, Perkins said, she sits down with teachers and parents to outline what they can all cooperate on.

Bauscher says Perkins uses a "special" testing program that lets her separate the various components of a student's reading difficulties so that the biggest weaknesses get the most attention.

Working one-on-one with students during their selective periods, Perkins uses books and computers and other aids to bring young readers up to their grade level. Students must be one grade level behind in reading skills to qualify for the program.

"We run this Chapter I program through the ninth grade. We keep the children in mainstream and get them back in, that's the goal," says Bauscher.

Perkins says she prescribes reading materials to problem areas, giving students extra training in the specific areas where they are weak.

"It's very rewarding, really," she says, smiling, who when he came to her, was reading at a third grade level. After an initial test showed her he spelled very well, she concentrated on improving his comprehension of the material instead of word-by-word reading. At the end of a semester, he was reading at a level above most eighth graders.

"I do what I can with a child in nine months," she said. If a child makes it back to his or her grade level, exceeds that level, or merely feels good about whatever progress made, "I'm thrilled," she said.

And although the award is encouraging, Perkins says, she is not resting and keeps her eye on finding federal support for education programs. "There's still lots of room for improvement... I keep hoping they will allow us enough money to keep up with things."

The Kimberly program gets about $30,000 per year to pay salaries for Perkins and a full-time aide, as well as all materials.

The Idaho Department of Education nominated the Kimberly program, along with seven others in the state. Kimberly was one of five runners-up in the state, as was the Chapter I migrant education program in Twin Falls.

Taking top honors were programs at Sandpoint, Idaho Falls, and New Plymouth.

Gilbert responds to religious groups

By DEANS MILLER
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Reacting to ongoing criticism of teachers and public education by conservative Christian groups, local Idaho Education Association representative Terry Gilbert took his case Friday to the local Ministerial Association.

"We need a sense of compassion and a sense of understanding," he told the ministers. "What is so troubling to me is the portrayal of public education as evil incarnate. This is personally very hurtful to teachers who are struggling every day to do the best we can."

"I am not saying please don't criticize... we need a sense of compassion and a sense of understanding."

Gilbert said that he was angered by a Phyllis Shively broadcast on KQIR in which she said children are not taught anything but sex education and nuclear war in school.

"Somewhere, I said, there is a lack of Christian compassion at work here."

"What I think should happen is a healthy dialogue should start. Let's get those concerns out on the table and let's see where we go."

He said legitimate issues such as the illiteracy rate among teenagers should be discussed, but that schools should not be blamed for drug abuse, teen-age pregnancy, and other societal ills.

Gilbert made light of the charges by Rep. Robert Farley, R-Boise, and others that the National Education Association is a communist association. "We've been characterized as a Marxist Association," Gilbert said. "Are we Groucho or Harpo?"

First Assembly of God pastor Noel Ravan said he thought most ministers support public education, but with reservations. "None of us would like to see the collapse of the public education system," Ravan said, but a lot of us do have the feelings that there is the influence of secular humanism that is eroding our value system."

Ravan said parents are misunderstood and mislabeled as teachers are. He said Christians voicing concerns about schools are labeled as "narrow-minded fundamentalists, finding a communist behind every bush. Isn't that just as stifling to dialogue?"

A man who said he was the former pastor of the Community Church said it is important for parents and preachers with problems to go talk to the teachers. "I'll stand on what I can do," the man said. "That way I have discharged my responsibility." He said people have turned their responsibility as parents over to the public schools.

Rev. Arthur Cromser of the Immanuel Lutheran Church said his church operates a private school, but still supports public education.

"We assume that the public school has no right to teach religion," Rev. Cromser said. "We are willing to spend the bucks for public and private schools. That's our duty."

Rev. Ervin L. Huston of the Twin Falls Church of the Brethren said there is "a real danger in bringing formal religion into the classroom... I think there should be a definite separation of church and state."

Hutchin faces preliminary hearing on forgery

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A preliminary hearing will be held on Sept. 20 for former Castleford School District superintendent Robert Hutchin, who is charged with grand theft and forgery.

Hutchin, 53, was charged with the felonies on Tuesday in 6th District Magistrate Court in Twin Falls. He is accused of forging a School District payroll check for $2,023 on April 26. He also is charged with failing to return four X-rated video tapes from a Buhl rental store on either date on which they were due, June 13 or 14.

At the preliminary hearing, Magistrate Judge Mel Edwards will hear evidence from the defense and prosecution. Based upon the evidence, he will determine if there is probable cause to believe an offense was committed and whether to bind the case over to District Court for further proceedings or dismiss the action.

Hutchin, who was released on a $6,500 bond, couldn't be located for comment on Friday. His attorney, Bill Hordfield of Twin Falls, was unavailable to discuss the case on Friday afternoon.

Elsewhere in Magistrate Court, the Magic Valley Teachers Credit Union filed a civil suit on Aug. 30 against Hutchin in which it seeks more than $2,500 in unpaid personal loans Hutchin received while superintendent.

Muldoon receives award for community service

The Times-News

TWIN FALLS — Jack Muldoon, manager of Penny Wise Drug Store, has been helping with many community activities in Twin Falls for the past two decades.

This week his long civic involvement earned him recognition as a "Heart of Gold" winner in a nationwide contest to honor community leaders, sponsored by Edward D. Jones and Co.

The Twin Falls winner, who was presented a "Heart of Gold" plaque, will now compete against other winners throughout the United States for the national title, which will be announced in January 1986.

Muldoon was chosen by a panel of judges, who included Emmett Harrison, Curtis Eaton Sr., Dr. Fran Tanner, Earl Haroldson and Earl Faulkner.

Muldoon has been involved with the Boy Scouts, the Chamber of Commerce, the Salvation Army Board, the United Way, the Kiwanis, the PTA, the YPCA, the Hospital Foundation, as well as his church and with youth organizations.

BPA finds radon

By KENNETH A. BROWN
Times-News writer

BOISE — A study by the Bonneville Power Administration has found potentially dangerous levels of radiation in homes in the Wood River Valley and the Mountain Home area.

The study found abnormally high levels of radon in 14 out of 46 Idaho homes. Eight homes were tested in Halley, and four homes were in Mountain Home. Eleven homes were tested in both communities.

The results of the BPA testing were reported on Idaho Public Television's "Idaho Reports," by Gary Richardson, on Friday night. According to Richardson, concentrations above 5 picocuries per liter are considered potentially dangerous.

The homes with high radon levels in Halley had an average level of 0.4 picocuries per liter. The highest reading was 30.5 picocuries per liter — or more than six times the acceptable level.

There were no homes in Twin Falls with abnormal levels of radon.

According to a July article in Time Magazine, national health officials believe that radon may be responsible for more than 30,000 lung cancer deaths a year among non-smokers, Richardson said.

Radon is a heavy, inert, radioactive gas. It is formed from the disintegration of radium, which is in turn formed from the disintegration of uranium. A picocurie of radon contains one-trillionth of a gram of radium.

Richardson said that evidence seems to indicate that radon is probably coming up through fault lines, porous rock, or geothermal vents.

The BPA study discovered the radon problem indirectly in a series of tests aimed at examining indoor air pollution in model conservation homes.

There was no correlation between high radon levels and model conservation homes indicated in the BPA study. The high levels are apparently related to home location, Richardson said. But while the problem is apparently related to location, he added that there are mitigation methods homeowners can take to lower high radon levels.

In the 46 homes tested in the study, 23 were model conservation homes and 23 were control, or "normal," homes.

Halley City Councilwoman Maryann Mix told the Times-News Friday that the location of the homes was confidential and revealing them would be a "breach of contract" with the homeowners who had agreed to participate in the tests.

The model conservation program was promoted by the BPA through the state's Department of Water Resources to encourage improved home insulation, and energy-efficient home design.

On Monday night, "Idaho Reports" will present a full half-hour program on the radon problem. Representatives of the BPA, the states' Water Resources and Health and Welfare departments, and a representative of the Halley city government, will be featured on the show. Also included will be a discussion of possible mitigation measures. The show begins at 6:30 p.m. on local public television stations.

Cassia board votes to drop junior-high grades

By LINDA LARSON
Times-News correspondent

BURLEY — Cassia County School Board members ruled Wednesday to designate Almo Elementary as a kindergarten through sixth-grade school, and to eliminate the seventh- and eighth-grade programs beginning next fall.

There are no eighth-grade students at the school this year.

Several parents at Wednesday's meeting supported removal of the board that the school's one seventh-grade student be bused to Malheur to eliminate that grade from Almo's class.

There are no eighth-grade students at the school this year.

Several parents at Wednesday's meeting supported removal of the

Funds ready for Burley's water project

BURLEY — A recently acquired fund of $750,000 will be used to improve the water system in north Burley.

Utilities Superintendent Don Hill said a total of $1.25 million will be spent on the project to build a water tower and complete a new well and pump house. Funding will include $300,000 from a block grant and $200,000 from the city budget.

New pipelines will be built to what Hill said could become an industrial area at some future time. New water lines will run along a proposed truck route with considerations to future expansion by industrial businesses, he said.

Hill said that a new well will be put in to replace a well that was filled with sand two years ago. The new well will be south of the Snake River, and the new water tower will be on the north of the river.

Hill said that the city is concerned that there could be a problem delivering water to North Burley should anything happen to the water pipeline that crosses the river between Burley and North Burley. The storage tank will make it possible for ample water and water pressure to be available at all times, he said.

Wendell welcomes two new businesses

By TERRELL WILLIAMS Times-News correspondent

WENDELL — Two new businesses were welcomed to Wendell Wednesday by the Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. William Kearley, a veterinarian specializing in dairy herd health and fertility, has opened an office on South Idaho Street.

Dairy Health Services, located next to the Ace Theater, has regular office hours and features medical supplies for dairy operators.

Kearley originally from Wendell, practiced in Buhl two years ago and in the Wendell area for the last six years. He is a 1977 graduate of Washington State University.

Barr's Game House opened August 1 on North Idaho Street in Wendell, next to Adventureland Video.

Marina and Dennis Barr have lived in Wendell three years. Their business is open Monday through Thursday during the lunch hour and from 3 to 9 p.m. Hours Friday and Saturday are 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Marina Barr says the Game House serves lunches and will offer various discounts and prizes.

In other business: Chamber President Harold Simerly said Wendell needs to buy some new or second-hand Christmas decorations. He asked City Superintendent Charlie Doty to find out the cost of replacing the city's worn out decorations.

"There is some money available, if it will go anywhere," Simerly said, reporting the chamber has $1,990.

Dale Bunn estimated that new decorations will cost $500 to $600 for each pole. Mayor Otto Lemke said the city could help the chamber buy some decorations.

Hansen council gives nod to 1985-86 budget

By KRISTIN TUCKER Times-News correspondent

HANSEN — The Hansen City Council approved a $182,672 city budget for the 1985-86 fiscal year at its meeting Monday.

The budget includes a general fund budget of $65,596 to cover salaries, payroll taxes, police and fire departments and some insurance.

earmarked for senior citizens, library, recreation and street repairs is $19,200 from state and federal revenue sharing funds.

The city's $72,362 revenue fund includes $11,000 in salaries plus fees for publishing, accounting, legal and engineering services.

The street fund is set at $25,515. Insurance premiums for municipalities have doubled and tripled in the past year, said Hansen Mayor Tom Butler, estimating that the city's liability insurance alone will cost more than $10,000. Insurance bids had not yet been returned, he said, although the insurance comes due at the end of this month.

Butler told the council that insurance costs had been budgeted out of three of the city's accounts.

Feeling the financial pinch while working on the budget last July, city trustees dropped the library's budget from the general fund. Subsequent council action amended the budget to include $100 for the library from the general fund in addition to the $1,600 available through revenue sharing.

Local resident Frances Harris also has pledged a $300 monthly donation to the library, beginning this month.

City attorney William Holtfield told the council Monday that there are no legal provisions to establish a library user fee as discussed in a previous meeting.

2 hospitalized after accident

CAREY — One person was in critical condition in a Pocatello hospital on Thursday night and another was in stable condition at Blaine County Medical Center following a pickup truck accident near Carey which occurred at about 2 p.m.

Duane Sisson, 28, of Taos, N. M., was listed in extremely critical condition in the intensive care unit in Pocatello Regional Medical Center, where he was flown late Thursday afternoon. He had suffered head injuries and had not regained consciousness, hospital officials said.

A passenger in the small 1983 pickup truck was driving Sandra Dinter, 38, also of Taos, was being treated in Blaine County Medical Center for shoulder and other injuries.

Idaho State police reported Sisson was traveling west on U. S. 93-20, about 15 miles north of Carey when the vehicle left the highway on the left side, swerved back to the right side of the road, then swerved left, overturning and rolling twice in the center of the roadway. Both were wearing seat belts, officers said. It was necessary to extricate at least one of the pair from the wreckage. Damage to the vehicle was estimated at $7,000.

Filer's budget down again in wake of sewer payments

By KAREN MAIN Times-News correspondent

FILER — Since the costs of retreating the municipal water and sewer systems have been paid off, Filer's city budget has dropped for the fourth year in a row.

The 1985-86 budget of $207,082, recently adopted by the Filer City Council, is $46,000 less than last year's budget, which included the remainder of a federal Housing and Urban Development grant.

In the next year, approximately $16,000 in revenue sharing funds will be used to remodel the city library, which was purchased with $30,000 in revenue sharing funds last year.

Within the general fund, there is an increase of $9,000 in salaries for the mayor and council members, $10,000 for the police department, and $7,000 for the fire department.

Councilman Ron Stokesberry said the general fund increases come from a 5 percent raise in salaries and a rise in retirement insurance rates for police officers' and the maintenance crew.

Another reason the police and fire department budgets show an increase is because the council again restructured those budgets to charge the departments for their share of services, such as heating and telephones, Stokesberry said.

The budget also includes a cash carryover from last year of $68,154.

With the major renovations to the water and sewer systems completed, Stokesberry said that residents will see a small decrease in sewer rates, but an increase in water rates.

"So it's kind of a trade-off," Stokesberry said. "Your bill will run about the same."

"It's getting progressively more costly to maintain the water system," he said.

spent $2.5 million in 1972 to revitalize the downtown business section.

Members also doubt that the mall corporation and national companies will show the same commitment to the community that local stores do now.

When Bickel (Elementary School) needs a fundraiser, they come to the local businesses for prize donations," Sursley says. Many of the national chains will not even allow the children to put up fliers, she says.

The group also questions whether new or good jobs will be created by the mall. Large interests will hire local people mostly at minimal wages for part-time work, the group says.

"I don't see where we're creating any growth," Sursley says. "It's like the finger in the dike. You take it out one place and put it in another."

The group is also unhappy about the location of the mall, near the rim of the scenic Snake River Canyon.

Twin Falls already has allowed Blue Lakes Boulevard to deteriorate, she says. Businesses, particularly fast-food businesses, now line the boulevard once dominated by old trees and stately homes.

The mall will "degrade the Snake River Canyon Rim and the entrance to Twin Falls," while serving to encourage commercial development away from town and increasing traffic congestion, the letter from the group says.

Citizens to Stop the Mall are asking Magie Valley residents to sign a petition saying they believe the mall will harm life valley and saying they agree to boycott businesses in the mall.

Sursley says she would like to distribute the signed petitions to stores planning to move from downtown Twin Falls to the mall. The group is also asking for $1 contributions to print "Stop the Mall" bumper stickers.

So far business has not been the group's biggest supporter.

"Basically, businesses want to try a positive approach before they do what we're doing," Sursley says. "Businesses are supportive of what we are doing, but they support free enterprise. I do, too, but I'm into consumer awareness — the need for information to make choices."

Man accused of rape waives first hearing

TWIN FALLS — A 21-year-old man charged with raping a teen-ager and threatening another woman with a knife was bound over Friday to 5th District Court.

A preliminary hearing had been scheduled Friday in 5th District Magistrate Court for Michael Eugene Goodson of 237 Jackson St. in Twin Falls, but he waived his right to the hearing. At the hearing, a judge would have determined if there was evidence enough for a trial.

Because he waived the preliminary hearing, Goodson's case automatically goes to District Court for further proceedings.

Goodson is suspected of raping a 16-year-old girl Aug. 31, at a Twin Falls residence.

In an unrelated case, Goodson is charged with aggravated battery for grabbing a woman Aug. 14 and threatening her with a knife after he told her to perform oral sex. The woman was not injured.

Goodson is being held in Twin Falls County Jail.

Courts

The following people were sentenced Tuesday in 5th District Magistrate Court in Gooding:

Rod Drury, 18, of Wendell, contributing to the delinquency of a minor, 90 days in jail, 20 days suspended, 25 hours of community service, $15.50 court costs, two years probation.

James Merida Brown, 21, of Gooding, driving under the influence of an intoxicating substance, three months in jail, 30 days suspended, $1,000 fine, with $250 suspended, $150.00 court costs, 180 days license suspension, attendance of three Alcoholics Anonymous meetings per week for two years.

Donald L. McRoberts, 21, of Hagerman, malicious injury to property, 30-day suspended jail sentence, $100 fine, $16.60 court costs, $115.50 to replace a broken car windshield.

Ronald Leroy Stigall, 21, of Bliss, assault, two days in jail, $15.50 court costs, $100 fine, suspended 25 hours of community service in lieu of fine.

Alaskan group denied use of school to hold cult seminar

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP) — A group seen as gearing up for an attack on the use of school facilities to hold a seminar on cults.

The move by the Ketchikan Gateway Borough School Board came against the advice of its attorneys, who said it could leave the board open to lawsuits alleging violation of free speech.

Former state Rep. Oral Freeman spoke in a public hearing for many citizens concerned about the intent of the seminar, as seen in pamphlets mailed last week to local addresses.

Freeman called the mailings "hate mail."

"Jesus' teachings never advocated meanness or viciousness," Freeman said.

A majority of the seven-member board voted to block the group from using school facilities.

School officials heard about 20 people speak on a request for space in two public school auditoriums to hold a five-day seminar on cultic practice.

The organizer of the "cults awareness workshop," Ed Decker of Washington state, said the board's Wednesday vote was a violation of freedom of speech. Decker, called a "Christian carpetbagger" by opponents, said a Washington, D.C., attorney would launch court action seeking a restraining order against the district.

Decker said his seminar isn't meant to ridicule or defame any faith, but only to present differences in doctrine. His promotional material promises to "unmask the myth of Mormonism."

A Ketchikan pastor who sits on the cults awareness committee that invited Decker and colleague James Witham to Ketchikan said Thursday he would recommend against a civil suit. The Rev. Bill Iaan of Calvary Bible Church said a suit would only serve to further exacerbate bad feelings on both sides.

"From the theological standpoint, I really feel for the best interests of the community it would not be the best course to pursue a lawsuit for the pastors," Iaan said.

Kirk Thomas, a member of the Mormon Church, strongly opposed Decker's proposed series of films, discussions and panel sessions on "heretical beliefs." The series would include substantial criticism of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day

sat. "I feel like I'm being ridiculed at attacked," Thomas said. "I don't want my children ridiculed at school," he said. "I don't want my children ridiculed at school," he said. "I don't want my children ridiculed at school," he said.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE
"PRAYER and the ECONOMY"

"Where can we turn when we see financial security slipping through our fingers?" asks a visiting Christian Science lecturer, EDWIN G. LEEVER of Winter Park, Florida offers a bold Christian approach to economic challenges in his upcoming lecture, "Prayer is Effective in Our Economy." . . . to be given on SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 14th at 8:00 P.M. in the Christian Science Church, Twin Falls, 160 9th Ave. East.

Through a series of examples from his own and others' experiences, Leever illustrates that prayer brings healing to situations of unemployment, insufficient income and inadequate housing. "Prayer," says Leever, "is discovering what is true of GOD and HIS creation. It is seeing more clearly the abundant good GOD has for each one of us."

This deeper understanding of God's goodness brings practical solutions to daily needs, the lecturer states, adding, "It brings a deeper dimension to life . . . It satisfies your inward craving and brings real peace and security . . . It helps us to make a more meaningful contribution to the world around us, helping and healing others." Mr. Leever has long been active in his church's healing ministry, resigning from a career in the aerospace industry to devote full time to the public practice of Christian Science. In 1977, he was elected to the Christian Science Board of Lectureship.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST is sponsoring this one-hour lecture which is open to the public without charge.

Calvary Chapel

Calvary Chapel has been formed as a fellowship of believers in the Lordship of Jesus Christ. Our supreme desire is to know Christ and to be conformed into His image by the power of the Holy Spirit.

We like to think of ourselves as Bible Christians. We establish our beliefs from the Word of God — and if the Bible says it, we try to practice it.

We are not a denominational church, nor are we opposed to denominations as such, only their over-emphasis of the doctrinal differences that have led to the division of the Body of Christ.

We believe that the only true basis of Christian fellowship is God's (Agape) love, which is greater than any differences we possess and without which we have no right to claim to be Christians.

WE BELIEVE worship of God should be spiritual.
Therefore: We remain flexible and yielded to the leading of the Holy Spirit to direct our worship.

WE BELIEVE worship of God should be inspirational.
Therefore: We give a great place to music in our worship.

WE BELIEVE worship of God should be intelligent.
Therefore: Our services are designed with great emphasis upon teaching the Word of God so He can instruct us, how He wants to be worshipped.

WE BELIEVE worship of God should be truthful.
Therefore: We look for His love in our lives as the supreme manifestation that we have truly been worshipping Him.

We cordially invite you to come worship with us and seek the Lord together.

Board makes education fund request

POCATELLO (AP) — Under the cloud of a major spending holdback in the current budget, the state Board of Education Friday voted to ask the governor and state lawmakers to approve a $155.6 million public funds budget for higher education in 1986-1987.

That request, up substantially from the $139.4 million granted for the current year and now jeopardized by the spending holdback, would boost total financing for higher education to more than $204 million in the next year, up 14 percent from this year's total budget.

But with serious financial problems plaguing the state and little prospect for relief, board member Mike Mitchell of Lewiston warned, "The governor and the Legislature will both make adjustments in this."

The board is still wrestling with where to shave its share of the $14.4 million statewide spending holdback, estimated in excess of $10 million. Part of that could be imposed on the public schools but that would trigger local property tax increases to make up for the cuts.

Approval of the higher education budget request saw the full board trim some $2.2 million from the recommendation of its Finance Committee submitted a day earlier. About $1.5 million of that came in the reduction of financing for a new community job creation program. The board cut it back from $2.5 million to $1 million as Mitchell and Dennis Wheeler of Coeur d'Alene said the program appeared too vague and less money should be used to develop a more concrete plan.

As allocated by the board, the budget request seeks $92.6 million for basic continuing operations of the four state-run colleges and then another $10.6 million for salary hikes and adjustments to bring pay nearer levels of surrounding states, $3.6 million for preventive maintenance and the $1 million for the community job creation program.

The budget for the current year totaled $86 million in general tax receipts, and that includes just under $5 million for improved salaries and upgrading programs facing accreditation problems.

Broken down among the colleges, the basic operating budget request would be split up with $26.7 million to Boise State University, $22.6 million to Idaho State University, $38.4 million to the University of Idaho and $4.1 million for Lewis-Clark State College. The board had yet to determine the division of the additional money sought for salaries and maintenance.

The request for Vocational Education totaled $16.5 million from general revenues, up from $15.6 million this year. The College of Southern Idaho's budget request was increased by $160,000 to $3.1 million while North Idaho College's budget request was boosted by $190,000 to $3.3 million.

The board overruled its Finance Committee and granted the request for an additional $23.7 million for the Idaho Dental Educational Program at Idaho State, $22,800 for the Washington, Arizona, Montana, Idaho cooperative medical education program operated through Idaho and $203,800 for Lewis-Clark.

But it sided with the committee in rejecting Boise State's request for another $295,000 to resolve some accreditation problems there.

Train victim stays on feet

POCATELLO (AP) — Searchers turned out early on Friday the 13th to find a man who was struck by a train, but were surprised when the victim came toward them out of some tall grass, a railroad spokesman said.

Raymond Ortiz, 25, was strolling along the tracks near here about 1:30 a.m. when he was hit by a west-bound train, said Union Pacific Railroad spokesman Dick Tincher.

The train's engineer reported the accident to the Bannock County Sheriff, and a search and rescue team was called out.

The team was started when the man, whom Tincher said was a transient, rose out of the grass next to the tracks more than two hours later and began walking toward them.

He apparently had been knocked out for a time by the impact, Tincher said, adding he did not know how fast the train was moving at the time.

A spokeswoman at the Pocatello Regional Medical Center said Ortiz was in serious but stable condition with a broken shoulder.

Oakley shades Trojans

By SCOTT TUDEHOPE
Times-News writer

MALTA — It was a game of the big play, the big break and the fickle fumble.

But while Oakley committed as many turnovers, it also made the biggest plays to defeat Magic Valley Conference rival Raft River 21-14 Friday night.

Long runs on punt and interceptions gave Oakley two touchdowns and Raft River could reply with just one 20-yard strike and a safety.

The win improved the top-ranked Hornets season record to 3-0 and their conference mark to 2-0. Raft River is now winless in three games and 0-1 in conference.

Oakley's first possession resulted in Joel Elquist sprint to the left for a 40-yard gain. Three plays later, Russan Hale went in from the two to make it 6-0.

Raft River, not huddling during its next series, also converted by going to the air on the arm of Justin Whitaker. With less than three minutes gone in the game, Whitaker wobbled a 20-yard scoring strike to Steve Fredericksen.

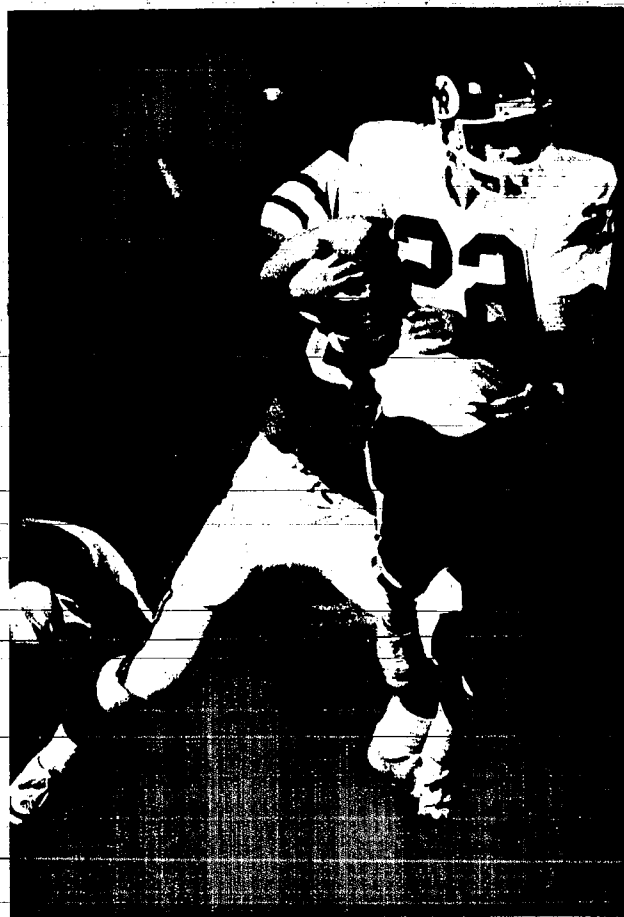

Raft River got its first break after fumbling its extra-point attempt. Oakley fumbled in its own end zone and although Andy Rodriguez recovered, Raft River picked up the two-point safety.

The score probably would have remained there, despite the six fumbles to then, had not Elquist returned a punt. Taking the ball at his own 40, he broke to his left and then cut back to complete the 60-yard romp. The kick failed with 3:30 left in the first half.

Raft River replied for what was to be its last score. Justin Koyle took a Whitaker pitch, then threw back to the quarterback for a 50-yard play. Another Raft River opportunity came with 10 seconds left when Oakley fumbled near midfield but Whitaker's pass was long.

Oakley's game-winner came after its biggest break of the night. With Raft River threatening on the

Indians rally to overhaul Bruins, 20-19

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

POCATELLO — Twin Falls had struggled all night. But after the Bruins put the ball on the Astroturf at the Pocatello 12-yard line — the 11th miscue of the night — the struggle was over.

Abetted by a call that nullified a Bruin interception 33 seconds later, the Pocatello Indians passed their way for 82 yards in 61 seconds and nailed down a 20-19 Gem State Conference victory when Matt Smith drilled the extra point with 33 seconds showing.

In a season that figured to be filled with pitfalls, this was one game the Bruin coaching staff felt it could win. But as the offense continued to sputter at inopportune times, this time around the defense had to share in the blame.

The Bruins fell to 1-2 for the season and 0-2 in conference with the loss. Pocatello is now 1-1 for the season and in GSC competition.

The Bruins led throughout the game but wasted several opportunities — including back-to-back first downs at the Pocatello 10 in the second half. Pocatello started turning the screws when Bob Jenkins hit Scott Swallow with a 32-yard scoring pass with 6:15 left in the game. That led to the Twin Falls lead to 19-13 after Smith's conversion. Twin Falls punted Pocatello into a hole and had a golden chance to ice things when the Indians' return punt carried only to the Pocatello 38. Two line plays netted a first down at the Pocatello 26 and the next play carried for seven — but ended in the long succession of fumbles.

After a first-down pass to Swallow, Jenkins was intercepted by Dave Sturgill. But the head linesman said the Twin Falls lead to 19-13 after a throw an interference flag.

"It was a poor call — in fact, it was a terrible call," said Bruin Coach Bill Jones, who remonstrated for a full timeout to no avail with the official. "While that call hurt us, it didn't cost us the game," Jones continued. "We had plenty of chances before then to win it."

And one on the very next play when a Twin Falls back stepped in front on a sideline pattern. The ball was squarely in his chest with nothing but yard lines between him and the goal. That luckless Bruin found out why he was playing defense as he barely slowed the pass down.

After that, Jenkins quickly hit for 14 yards and then turned to Swallow for a 32-yard game. Swallow also took the tying points in the end zone on the next play and Smith latched on the kick.

Twin Falls didn't come close with three closing passes in an effort to get into field goal range.

"We just beat ourselves. What probably beat us was our pass defense which has been respectable until now. They hit the two long passes on us. We'd better play better next week," Jones said.

The matter of the excessive fumbling was partly attributable to "their tackle released down and our young lineman didn't go with him" and that caused some mishandled handoffs. "But too many of the others, including the last one, were just flat fumbles," the coach said.

Twin Falls cruised 51 yards in 13 plays with the opening kickoff for a 30-yard lead but David Glenn's conversion kick never got high enough and was blocked at the line.

The Bruins then muffed a punt to give Pocatello a chance at the Bruin 19 but that ended in a missed field goal attempt. Early in the second half, Jeff Malina returned a punt to the Pocatello 33 but that ended in a fumble but three plays later, Rob Lewis picked off a Jenkins pass at the Indians 34. After a five-yard penalty, Casey Bartholomew broke a 30-yard scoring scamper. The two-point pass attempt failed, leaving it 12-0.

Pocatello got half that back four plays later when Jenkins and speedster Anthony Stewart hooked up on a third-and-21 scoring bomb worth 66 yards. Twin Falls then used up the rest of the half moving from its own 12 to a first down at the

Dickerson joins Rams without contract

By BILL STIEG
The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA — Record-setting running back Eric Dickerson and the Los Angeles Rams settled their contract dispute Friday, and Dickerson came to Philadelphia with his National Football League team.

At a news conference, Dickerson and the team released a statement saying the two parties settled the disagreements that kept Dickerson out of action and will begin good-faith negotiations Tuesday to extend his contract.

Rams Coach John Robinson said Dickerson will not suit up for Sunday's game against the Eagles but will Monday night, Sept. 23, in Seattle.

"Monday night I'll be ready to play," Dickerson said.

"We'll give him the ball 30 times next week and see what kind of shape he's in," Robinson said, chuckling.

The statement said the Rams will cover Dickerson with a $4 million insurance policy for the 1985 season and that his entire 1985 contract, including a reporting bonus of $150,000, will be paid.

For his part, Dickerson will pay a fine that, at a rate of $1,000 a day, received $47,000 Friday for reporting late, according to his lawyer, David J. Epstein said.

ERIC DICKERSON
Compromise

"I got most of what I was asking for," said Dickerson, whose 2,105 yards rushing last season set an NFL record.

He said the insurance was crucial and his previous $1 million coverage would not be enough if he suffered a career-ending injury.

"I feel I'm very well covered now," he said.

Dickerson, 25, has said he wants a three-year extension of the four-year, $2.2 million contract he signed prior to his rookie year, 1983. He gained 1,800 yards that season, an NFL rookie record.

Dickerson also has said repeatedly that he wants to be paid on a par with the top running backs in the NFL.

Dickerson, who set the NFL single-season record with 2,105 yards last season, said he met the team plane Friday afternoon as soon as Epstein told him a deal had been made. He said he took some ribbing from teammates.

"I had a bag with me, they said, 'Is that your money bag?'" said Dickerson, who acknowledged he missed football.

"You get tired of laying around — I got tired of working out every day and not playing football," he said.

But, he said, he had no regrets about the holdout.

"I think we came to a good compromise and I'm satisfied," he said.

"Obviously we're elated to have him back. It's a lift," Robinson said. "We will get a lot of practice next week, then we'll get him back all in one night on Monday night."

Robinson said Dickerson, like "all great athletes," will be able to return to top form more quickly than "normal people."

Dickerson expressed no doubt that he would be ready in nine days, saying, "I trust my ability pretty well."

Epstein said the dispute was settled "a short while ago after a series of calls yesterday and today, shortly before the team left for Philadelphia."

One of Dickerson's representatives, Jack Rodri, confirmed earlier this week that the 6-foot-3, 218-pound former Southern Methodist standout wanted something comparable to the four-year, $3.7 million contract signed by Marcus Allen of the Los Angeles Raiders earlier this summer.

Playing without Dickerson, the Rams topped the Denver Broncos 20-16 last Sunday in their season opener.

AL: Jays spoil Niekro's 300th Oakley

NEW YORK (AP) — It was Friday the 13th: lucky for Al Oliver, unlucky for Phil Niekro.

Oliver, who came into the game with just one RBI in his previous 71 at-bats, drove in three runs as the Blue Jays beat the Yankees 9-2 and thwarted Niekro in his first attempt at career victory No. 300 Friday night.

The victory expanded the Blue Jays' lead in the American League East to 2-1-2 games over the Yankees.

"There's one thing about Friday the 13th," Oliver said. "It had to be bad luck for one of the teams. I just hoped it wasn't going to be us."

All the runs against the 46-year-old Niekro were earned. Niekro, 15-14, who had a five-game winning streak broken, probably will get his next try at becoming the 18th 300-game winner Wednesday night in Detroit.

Niekro went all nine innings for his fifth complete game of the season.

"We're 2-1-2 games out of the race right now," Niekro said. "That's the biggest objective. Everybody put a lot of emphasis on the 300th game, but the most important thing is winning in the biggest pennant race that's been here in a while."

"If I don't get it this year, I've got 30 or 35 starts next year, and I should get one in there," Niekro ad-

Blue Jays' victory came on the heels of a 7-5 loss in the opener of the four-game series Thursday night. The Yankees rallied for six runs in the seventh inning of that game, powered by Ron Hassey's three-run homer.

"This gets us going again," Cox said. "Believe me, these games are exciting for both jaimies."

Right-hander Jim Clancy, making only his second start since coming off the disabled list on Sept. 2, pitched the first 4 1/2 innings for Toronto before needing help in the fifth from left-hander Gary Lavelle, 5-7.

Kansas City 5 Oakland 2

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Jamie Quirk broke up a scoreless game with a bases-loaded single off Jose Rijo in the seventh inning, and Kansas City Royals scored four more runs in the inning to beat the Oakland A's 5-2 Friday night.

Winning pitcher Mark Gubicza, 13-7, had allowed only one hit over the first six innings. Rijo, 3-3, yielded just two while striking out nine batters before leaving in the seventh.

Gubicza gave up three hits and two runs in the seventh before Dan Quisenberry came out of the bullpen to earn his 34th save.

Harrison, "and they probably hurt us the most. I'm proud of these kids but we've just got to put one in the win column."

Don Tompkins, Harrison's counterpart, said he felt lucky the Oakland didn't drop the game of fumbles. "It's a matter we're giving our fullest attention to," he said.

Oakley 19, Whittaker tossed the ball into the waiting hands of Oakley linebacker Jared Milton behind the line of scrimmage. Milton raced 75 yards for the touchdown that keeps Oakley in control for its defense of the conference title.

Fumbles puzzled both teams. Oakley twice was poised deep inside Raft River territory before fumbles. Part of the problem was the crashing end play of Rick Holtman, who single-handedly caused two loose balls.

"We had some big plays out there," said Raft River Coach Tom

NL: Cards win, Mets split two Bruins

MONTREAL (AP) — Terry Leach finds little added incentive in being relieved of his bullpen duties.

The New York right-hander made his third start of the season and only the fifth of his career a successful one as the Mets split their doubleheader with Montreal by downing the Expos 7-2 in the nightcap Friday night.

"I get myself just as psyched up when I relieve as when I start," said Leach, who went 5 1/2 innings to even his record at 3-3. "I just go out there trying to do the best I can for as long as I can."

Roger McDowell finished the game to pick up his 14th save as New York moved into first place, half a game ahead of the St. Louis Cardinals in the National League East Division.

Montreal won the opener 5-1 behind the three-hit pitching of Bryn Smith, 16-5.

St. Louis 9 Chicago 3

CHICAGO (AP) — Cesar Cedeno and Vince Coleman each drove in two runs and St. Louis stole eight bases as the Cardinals beat the Chicago Cubs 9-3 Friday.

The Cardinals began the day one game behind the first-place New York Mets in the National League East.

Bob Forsch, 7-6, won his first game since Aug. 24, scattering five singles over 6 1/2 innings. Ricky Horton and Todd Worrell finished, allowing four hits in the final 2 1/2 innings.

The Cardinals, the major league leaders in steals with 259, equalled their single-game high in scoring by handling the Cubs their 20th loss in 25 games. Cubs' pitchers allowed 10 walks and two wild pitches.

Cincinnati 6 Los Angeles 5

CINCINNATI (AP) — Eric Davis singled home Eddie Milner from second base with one out in the bottom of the ninth inning to give the Cincinnati Reds a 6-5 victory and a split of their doubleheader with the Los Angeles Dodgers Friday night.

The split left the Dodgers eight games ahead of second-place Cincinnati in the National League West. The Dodgers trimmed their "magic number" for winning the division to 14.

Len Matusek's two-run homer started the Dodgers to a 4-1 lead over Mark Soto in the fourth inning of the nightcap. But Tony Perez singled home a fifth-inning run off reliever Ken Hothell, 4-6, and Nick Esasky followed with his 16th homer into the second deck for a 3-1 lead.

Los Angeles 8 Cincinnati 2

CINCINNATI (AP) — Mike Marshall drove in three runs with two homers and Orel Hershiser notched his 15th victory Friday night as the Los Angeles Dodgers took an 8-2 victory over the Cincinnati Reds in the first game of a doubleheader.

Philadelphia 6 Pittsburgh 3

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Glenn Wilson drove in two runs and Ozzie Virgil singled home the winning run in a seventh-inning rally to give the Philadelphia Phillies a 6-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Friday night.

San Francisco 9 Atlanta 3

ATLANTA (AP) — Ron Roenicke hit a two-run homer and Vida Blue struck out nine in six innings as the San Francisco Giants beat the Atlanta Braves 9-3 Friday night.

Houston 3 San Diego 2

HOUSTON (AP) — Mike Scott pitched a five-hitter and drove in two runs as the Houston Astros beat the San Diego Padres 3-2 Friday night.

Pocoletto 9. An incomplete pass, a run for no gain and a handoff fumble finally led to a 20-yard field goal attempt that died on a bouncing center snap.

A second Lewis interception two plays into the second half set up another sequence of futility for the Bruins. Twin Falls moved to a first down at the 10 but fumbled. This time Pocoletto fumbled right back but Twin Falls would have none of this largesse and had an over-the-middle screen pass intercepted for the second time this year.

The Bruins marched 48 yards in seven plays to make it 19-6 when Bob Bain got the final nine yards with an option pitch. Glenn's kick was good but Twin Falls managed just one first down the rest of the way.

Young Eagle netters go 4-0 in tourney

TWIN FALLS — The College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles, hosting a volleyball tournament — their first in over four years — took four games in the round robin tournament to lead after the first day.

Volleyball

The Golden Eagles started the tournament off by beating Western Montana 15-8, 15-4. In their next match, CSI edged Ricks 15-13, 18-16. Ricks led the second game at 13-13 and 15-16 before Dianna Hoss served in a pair of points putting the game away.

CSI continued to roll as the Golden Eagles won three games with Colorado Northwestern 15-4, 10-15, 15-3. They closed out tournament play topping Eastern Oregon 15-1, 16-14.

The tournament resumes this morning at 9 and should conclude around 6 p.m.

North Gem's defense stumps Mushers, 34-8

By The Times-News

FAIRFIELD — Junior quarterback Dan Argyle passed for 138 yards and rushed for 29 more yards Friday as North Gem rolled over Camas County 34-8 in the Sawtooth Conference football opener for both schools.

The Cowboys, ranked second in The Associated Press football poll among eight-man schools in Idaho, limited Camas to 41 yards total offense. Both of the Mushers' scores — a third-quarter safety and a 98-yard interception return on the last play of the game — came on defensive plays.

North Gem's big defensive line was the key, forcing four Camas County fumbles and an interception and stopping the Mushers' one sustained offensive drive on the Cowboys' 7-yard line. Guards James Mabey and David Weaver each forced a fumble, while linebacker David Uribe recovered two.

North Gem scored the first two times it got the ball, on the first occasion moving 84 yards in seven plays, starting on a 26-yard pass from Argyle to Derek Moser. The same tandem hooked up for the two-point conversion, and it was 8-0 with 6:30 left in the first quarter.

On their next possession, the Cowboys marched 60 yards in three plays, with Argyle breaking a 54-yard run on a quarterback option for the touchdown. The PAT run failed, and it was 14-0 North Gem with 4:14 left in the first quarter.

Early in the second period, the Cowboys got into the end zone by traveling 36 yards in seven plays with the help a facemask penalty that put the ball on the Camas 16. Freshman Keith Greenwood sprinted six yards for the touchdown. The PAT attempt failed again, and it was 20-8 North Gem with 8:18 left in the half.

The Mushers finally got on the scoreboard on the second play of the second half when four Camas defenders trapped Argyle in the end zone for a safety.

After two more North Gem scores, the Mushers got a touchdown on the last play of the game. With six seconds remaining, junior Todd Tupper cut in front of an Argyle pass to the Camas 2 and ran 98 yards untouched. The PAT run failed.

Skyline 49 Minico 26

RUPERT — A kickoff return took all the wind out of Minico's second-half comeback effort Friday night as the Skyline Grizzlies collected a 49-26 Gem State Conference victory.

The Grizzlies appeared easy winners when they jumped ahead 28-7 at intermission. But in the third quarter, Minico came back with a 40-yard scoring strike from Jess Beltran to Jesse Branson. Seconds later, defensive end Shane Crist picked off a Skyline option pitch and romped 50 yards to cut the deficit to 28-20.

Rigby 21 Burley 15

RIGBY — Rigby only completed three passes of two of those accounted for 130 and two touchdowns and led Rigby to a 21-15 Cross State Conference victory over the Burley Bobcats Friday night.

With 26 seconds left in the first half, Rigby quarterback Mike Anderson threw a perfect strike to a streaking Brian Barrett for the touchdown which gave Rigby a 14-7 halftime edge.

Dog Breath

Dogs can and sometimes do have bad breath. Many times bad breath means bad teeth. Plaque build-up or even gum decay in the advanced stages. Don't wait. Bring your dog into our pet complex for a dental exam or teeth cleaning. Since they don't brush like we do, pets need regular dental attention. Ever see a dog with false teeth? Believe it or not it can be done and we've done it. But, with proper dental care it's not necessary. Make an appointment for a dental exam today. Healthy teeth make a happy dog.
