Warehouse reinstated for federal program

More area warehouses expect status change

By BOB FREUND Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The U.S. Department of Agriculture has reinstated the first of 15 Idaho warehouses suspended last month from storing federal grain, and more reinstatements are expected soon. "Oh what a relief it is," said Walt Rudloff, manager and treasurer of the Cottonwood Elevator Co., which was placed back on the government's list of approved warehouses on Tuesday. He was notified by Sen. Steve Symms' office that his northern Idaho elevator had been approved conditionally to again handle government grain.

Rudloff and the managers of at least five other storage facilities in the state have appeared before a special review committee in Washington to explain unauthorized movements of grain being held in federal reserves.

Merrill Marxman, deputy administrator for commodity operations in the U.S. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, told the Times-News Tuesday that more reinstatements can be expected in the next few days.

The 15 warehouses, including eight in the Magic Valley, have been barred from participating in the federal reserve program for the past 3½ weeks.

Federal officials have accused them of shipping away grain in the reserve and transferring the title to another warehouse — in effect, selling grain that was not their property. The grain either was directly owned by the government or being held by the government as collateral for price support loans given to farmers.

The de-listing of the elevators has delayed many farmers who want to take advantage of federal price supports by placing their grain in the federal reserve. Farmers must have their crops in a government-approved warehouse to get the federal loans offered by the reserve program.

The reserve this year is a critical part of many wheat farmers' marketing plans, because of low prices on the open market.

Symms and other members of the Idaho Congressional delegation, as well as Gov. John Evans and Idaho Director of Agriculture Dick Rush, have pressed federal officials to reopen the warehouses immediately and finish the investigations later.

Trent Clark, agriculture aide to Symms, said the senator has obtained informal agreement from Deputy Secretary of Agriculture John Norton to speed up the process. He also said Norton told Symms "that they do not expect criminal sanctions to be brought up and would discourage that route," unless violations were blatant.

Marxman said, however, that he has no knowledge of that agreement. No criminal charges have been filed regarding the transactions. The administrative procedures should be rigorous to protect farmers in the reserve system, he said. "We still view what the warehousemen have done as a serious violation of their contracts," he said.

Although admitting unintentional mistakes, some warehouse owners have defended their actions by saying the grain movements resulted from confusion over the role of the state in authorizing grain movements.

They say they obtained state permission to move 1984 grain late last spring in order to make space in their elevators for new wheat from the 1985 harvest. That "forward movement" of grain is legal under Idaho law, with permission of the state and of the owner.

However, Rush has said that some elevators also did not seek any permission from state authorities. Circumstances of the grain movements also have varied. In some instances, warehouse operators have said the transfer of title was merely a formality, with no practical effect.

"We never felt we had lost control of the grain," said Rudloff. "We did nothing there but try to gain storage for our growers."

Rudloff said his elevator can start accepting federal reserve grain again on a conditional basis. After federal auditors complete a look at the company's books, the elevator will be fully reinstated, he and Clark said.

"It's very good news," the warehouse operator said. "I feel confident it's over."

Soviets doubt U.S. sincerity

By BRENDA WATSON The Associated Press

GENEVA, Switzerland — The Soviet Union said Tuesday it will strive for agreement on nuclear arms control despite its belief that the U.S. position makes progress impossible in the bilateral Geneva negotiations.

Viktor P. Karpov, the chief Soviet delegate, said on arrival in Geneva that his team will "make every possible effort" to reach an accord, but added: "Unfortunately, the U.S.

position, above all on the key issue of militarization of space, has so far made it impossible to accomplish the tasks before the negotiations."

U.S. negotiators arrived Monday for the third round of talks, which begins Thursday. Spokesman Terry Shroder said they would have comment on Karpov's remarks:

Chief U.S. delegate Max M. Kampelman urged the Soviets, in his arrival statement Monday, to back up recent public declarations with concrete proposals at the negotiations, which he called "the designated forum for the conduct of serious business."

His apparent reference was to Soviet hints of readiness to make deep cuts in its nuclear arsenal if the United States would scrap the Strategic Defense Initiative program, the space-based defense system commonly called Star Wars.

"The Reagan administration says it will not abandon the research program."

Both Karpov and Kampelman said the planned U.S.-Soviet summit increases the importance of this round of arms negotiations, which indicated they may use it to lay groundwork for arms control discussions by their leaders.

President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev are to meet in Geneva on Nov. 19-20.

Earlier Tuesday, Gorbachev told visiting Japanese Socialist leader Masashi Ishibashi in Moscow that the Kremlin would do everything to get "positive results" at the summit, but added: "Deplorably, a lot is being done in the U.S. official circles to aggravate the Soviet-American relations before the opening of the meeting."

Lawmakers relay Reagan's farm stand

By JIM DRINKARD The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — President Reagan will veto any farm bill that reaches his desk containing provisions for farmers to vote on a system of higher price supports and restraints on agricultural production, Republican congressional leaders said Tuesday.

Reagan also will insist on a farm bill that meets the budget restraints laid down by Congress, but will be flexible on how that spending level is compiled with, said GOP House leader Robert Michel of Illinois and Senate leader Robert Dole of Kansas.

Michel, Dole, Senate Agriculture Committee Chairman Jesse Helms, R-N.C., and Rep. Edward Madigan, R-Ill., ranking minority member of the House Agriculture Committee, met with Reagan for about a half-hour at the president's invitation to discuss farm legislation due to come before Congress soon.

"The president is aware of the extent of the problem and very sympathetic to the plight that many farmers find themselves in," said Madigan. "But he made it very clear to us that if that mandatory referendum... is in the bill that comes down here, that he would be absolutely obliged to veto the bill. He could never sign a bill with a provision like that in it."

The farm bill approved by the House Agriculture Committee last week contains a section written by Rep. Berkeley Bedell, D-Iowa, offering farmers an alternative to the policies contained in the wheat and corn provisions of the legislation.

If 60 percent of farmers voting in a national referendum approved, they would be offered higher price support levels but required to participate in an acreage reduction program if they wanted to be able to sell their grain domestically.

Symms kicks off 1986 campaign on the Potomac

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Sen. Steve Symms put his 1986 reelection campaign into cruise mode Monday, taking about 40 corporate friends on a twilight outing along the Potomac River aboard a 131-foot motor yacht.

For the chance to dine with Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole of Kansas and his wife, Symms' U.S. Transportation Secretary Symms' corporate guests paid $10,000 per couple. The sum is the maximum for "cruise" business or corporation political committee to give any candidate for an office in which the primary and general election are held. Symms aides, closed-mouthed about the gala since it became known several weeks ago, declined to identify the contributors or give many details.

"There has been a decision to protect the privacy of the people involved," Rusty Butler, Symms' press secretary said in a Gannett News Service story. Invitations, nominally from Dole, went to "a whole bunch of different PACs (political action committees)," said Butler, "but I don't know who was invited."

As of the end of June, Symms' running for a second term in the Senate had more than $600,000 in contributions this year, according to Common Cause, a public interest group that follows reports to the Federal Elections Commission. The group said $200,000 were PAC contributions. Earlier accounts had said in-

Reagan rules out 'Star Wars' dickering

By MICHAEL PUTZEL The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — President Reagan said Tuesday night he would rule out any summit agreement with the Soviet Union that would block testing and development of his controversial "Star Wars" space-based missile system.

But the president, answering questions at his first formal news conference in three months, indicated he might be willing to negotiate with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev over the deployment of the controversial system. With the Reagan-Gorbachev summit set for Nov. 19-20 in Geneva, the president also defended the recent test of an American anti-satellite weapon. He said the Soviets have tested such a system, and added, "We couldn't stand by and allow them to have a monopoly on the ability to shoot-down satellites."

Reagan said he was taking his prospective summit meeting seriously, but added he doesn't plan on giving the Soviet leader "a friendship ring or anything."

"It isn't necessary that we love or even like each other," he said, but that it is important for the two superpowers to negotiate.

Reagan opened his news conference with a call for "free and fair trade for all," and cautioned that a "mindless stampede toward protectionism will be a one-way trip toward economic disaster."

With numerous bills pending in Congress to slap restrictions on American trading partners, the president said free trade can lead to a "decade of growth" and creation of 10 million new jobs in this country. "Opportunity is our engine of progress," said Reagan, who claimed that his economic policies have produced "33 straight months of growth and more than eight million new jobs."

The U.S. trade deficit is expected to be in the $150 billion range this year, prompting calls for protection. See REAGAN on Page A2

Judge orders teachers to jail

The Associated Press
A judge jailed and fined 23 members of a striking teachers' union in Pawtucket, R.I., for contempt Tuesday and threatened to cite more, as walkouts by 8,000 teachers in seven states kept 115,000 students out of classes.

In the largest strike, Seattle School District officials called for a state fact-finder to study a two-week teachers' walkout that has kept 43,500 students out of school. The teachers had voted down a proposed contract which the school district had sweetened by $1 million.

Other strikes were in Michigan, Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York and Illinois. In Pawtucket, teachers' union president Mary Ann Kaveny and 22 of the city's 600 striking teachers were ordered to jail by Superior Court Judge Corinne P. Grande. There is no justification, Grande said of the teachers' refusal to heed her order last week to end their walkout. The third by the city's teachers in 10 years, which has idled 8,200 students.

Senate panel OKs cutbacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee on Tuesday approved a package of spending cuts, including limits on Medicare payments to doctors and hospitals, that would reduce the federal budget deficit by more than $21 billion over the next three years.

The bill, similar to one written by the House Ways and Means Committee in July, would moderate increases in premiums that Medicare recipients pay for Part B insurance coverage of doctors' fees. Under the provision, the present $15.50-a-month premium would rise to about $16.20 next year, $18.60 in 1987 and $20.80 in 1988. The Reagan administration wants to raise the premium to $25.00 by 1992. The committee delayed action until Wednesday on a hotly disputed proposal to reduce the deficit by allowing the federal tax on cigarettes to continue at the present level of 16 cents a pack. Under present law it is due to drop to 8 cents on Oct. 1. Another revenue provision, to impose "user fees" on people who pass through Customs, ran into unexpected trouble and action was delayed until Wednesday. The plan would levy a $2 fee on each passenger on a train, plane or ship who passes through a Customs point from most countries and $1 for those who come in through Mexico, Canada or most Caribbean nations.

Finance panel votes to boost debt ceiling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee, heading a Reagan administration warning that the Treasury will soon run out of cash, voted Tuesday to raise the national debt limit above $3 trillion.

The current debt ceiling of $1.824 trillion will be reached by the end of this month and cash reserves will dry up soon after without congressional action, he said. The committee approved the bill without amendment.

Administration under fire over defense fraud

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration came under fire from three senators Tuesday for what one of them called its "got so hot" record on prosecuting defense contractors who cheat the Pentagon.

Sen. Charles Grassley, R-Iowa, criticized what he called "happy talk" about how defense fraud is being rooted out, and said "every Justice Department witness up here paints a rosy picture, even though the evidence contradicts what they have to say."

In recent weeks, the Justice Department has been criticized as being soft on white-collar crime and the Senate Judiciary Committee has announced hearings on the department's handling of several major cases.

Grand jury to check out Presser

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new federal grand jury will be impaneled to look into the circumstances behind the government's terminated investigation of Teamsters union President Jackie Presser, a Justice Department spokesman said Tuesday.

He confirmed that the decision to turn the investigation over to a grand jury resulted from consultations between Michael J. Shaheen, who heads the department's Office of Professional Responsibility, and U.S. District Judge Sam H. Bell of Akron, Ohio.

Presser has denied any wrongdoing in connection with a nearly 3-year-old investigation by a Cleveland grand jury of allegations that payroll money from Teamsters Local 507 in that city was given to a person who performed no work for the union.

Archbishop ready to appoint woman

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Archbishop Roger Mahony plans to appoint the first female vicar in the nation's largest Roman Catholic archdiocese, part of a trend one leader hopes may someday lead to priesthood for women.

Mahony has asked representatives of the more than 2,400 area nuns in 80 orders to form a council to nominate three women for vicar and advise him on other matters involving women in the church.

"I am much in favor of looking for and providing enhanced roles for women in the life of the church," Mahony said when appointed in July as prelate of the 2.6 million-member archdiocese.

The position of vicar of religious women serves as liaison between nuns and the archbishop; it is held by Bishop John Ward, who will stay on as vicar to religious men.

Mahony has said he would not seek ordination of women as priests.

Israeli underworld expands

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel's underworld has branched out overseas, counterfeiting dollars and pushing drugs in major American and European cities, according to Israeli and U.S. officials.

As many as 2,500 Israelis are operating crime rings in Los Angeles, New York, Chicago and Miami, Fla., said Rudolph Giuliani, U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of New York.

Israeli police say the drug trade is behind an epidemic in Israel of robberies, burglaries and automobile break-ins that have sent crime rates soaring in the last two years.

Seven die in tractor accident

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Seven people were killed and 10 injured, five seriously, when a train hit a tractor hauling a trailer with people on it, the news agency CTK reported Tuesday.

CTK said all train passengers escaped unhurt in the accident Monday evening near Pelhrimov, about 62 miles southeast of Prague.

The agency said the tractor driver apparently disregarded traffic rules at the rail crossing, but gave no details.

Explosion rips Big Ben replica

BUENOS Aires, Argentina (AP) — A bomb seriously damaged Tuesday a replica of London's Big Ben clock tower, a frequent target of Argentine nationalist groups who oppose British occupation of the Falkland Islands.

Police said the blast occurred inside the six-story brick tower and hurled a heavy metal door more than 25 yards, badly damaged balconies and masonry coats of arms, cracked one wall and broke all the windows.

The tower is near the center of the city and faces a major railway station.

No group immediately claimed responsibility, but police said the incident seemed "similar" to others which followed the 1982 Falkland Islands war between Britain and Argentina, won by Britain.

Glemp leaves for U.S. tour

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Cardinal Jozef Glemp, Roman Catholic primate of Poland, left Warsaw on Tuesday to begin his first visit to the United States.

"I'm leaving on such a long journey in a good mood," Glemp said at Warsaw's Okęcie airport.

"I have no intention to undertake a social or political talks," said Glemp, whose visit is at the invitation of the U.S. National Conference of Catholic Bishops. "I have pastoral tasks there."

Four charged in coup attempt

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Four former top military officers were arrested Tuesday and charged with treason, a capital offense, by authorities investigating last week's failed coup.

The four include Kriangsak Chomanand, a former prime minister who now leads one of four parties in the coalition government, said National Police Chief Narong Mahanonda. Kriangsak is also a former supreme commander of the armed forces.

Prem told reporters he could not yet say if there would be more changes in the Cabinet than replacement of the three industry ministers.

Paper reports Greenpeace cover-up

By STANLEY MEISLER
The Los Angeles Times

PARIS — Le Monde, France's most influential newspaper, reported Tuesday that two French frogmen, whose presence in New Zealand waters had been kept secret until now, are being held responsible for the bombing and sinking of the Greenpeace ship Rainbow Warrior in New Zealand last July.

Le Monde's account, if true, would indicate an attempt at a massive cover-up by the government of President Francois Mitterrand.

It would also imply that high officials of the Ministry of Defense, the French intelligence agency and perhaps the president's office lied to a special investigator who cleared the French government of responsibility in a report issued three weeks ago.

Le Monde said it had been informed by many knowledgeable sources that the five French intelligence agents now under arrest or sought by the New Zealand authorities were accomplices in the crime but did not actually place the mines in the hull of the ship.

The explosion, which killed a Portuguese-born photographer aboard the ship, prevented the Rainbow Warrior from leading a flotilla of ships to Mururoa Atoll in the South Pacific to protest French nuclear testing there.

Le Monde said that two other French agents, both trained as frogmen, placed the mines and then escaped from New Zealand after the explosion — Bernard — Frost — the special French investigator, evidently was not told about these two agents and did not interview them. He concluded that the French government had sent its agents to New Zealand to spy on the Rainbow Warrior but not to bomb it.

The articles in Le Monde seem to indicate that the French government is getting involved in what it has said it is trying to avoid — what the French press calls a "tricolor Watergate."

The Ministry of Defense, asked to comment on the Le Monde articles, said only that "everything is and will be done to reveal the truth."

The office of Prime Minister Laurent Fabius issued a statement recalling that Fabius had previously promised that "judicial proceedings will be started if it appears that any criminal acts were committed by French persons."

Le Monde implicated leading French officials in the bombing.

Miss America sprayed on Firm Grip to hold down suit

The Associated Press

NEW YORK — Miss America, the newly crowned Susan Akin, the blemish a trick of the beauty trade Tuesday — she used a sticky spray on her bikini to keep her bathing suit from riding up during her walk down the runway.

Albert A. Marks Jr., chairman of the pageant, said there was no objection to use of the spray and that all contestants used it.

Miss Akin was asked during an interview on WABC radio if she had seen any padding or other cosmetic enhancement used by any women in last week's pageant. "I saw padding and I saw taping and everything," she said. "But I feel that's just to make themselves feel better."

Asked if she had used any padding or taping, she said, "No, I didn't. The only thing I did was put Firm Grip on my behind so when I walked my swimsuit wouldn't ride up."

YVANNIS FOR LEADERSHIP

HYANNIS, Mass. — William F. Keough Jr. was subjected to mock firing squads while he was held hostage in Iran from 1979 to 1981, but now he faces death every day.

Within a year of his release, Keough was diagnosed as having amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, an incurable degenerative disease of the central nervous system better known as Lou Gehrig's disease.

"No matter how bad things are," Keough said, "you can't be cynical and pessimistic because that's self-

Keough, a former Burlington, Vt., and Bedford school superintendent, lives in Washington D.C. Although bedridden much of the time, he has been working for the past year from his home for the Department of Education.

"I can either laugh or joke, or die a grouchy old man," he said about facing his illness. "And I'm not a grouchy old man."

DENVER — Mayor Federico Pena on Tuesday signed a door-size birth-

Denver. The card features a drawing of Springsteen dancing atop a cake and says, "Happy Birthday, Bruce." Inside is written, "Consider Denver Your Home-Town."

Springsteen's birthday falls on the second night of two concerts at Mile High Stadium, and the card will be presented during the concert.

Oriental counter stereotype

Asian actors hold workshops

LOS ANGELES (AP) — He was buck-toothed and spoke pidgin English. And every time Long Duk Dong appeared in the movie "Sixteen Candles," a Chinese "gong" sounded.

Hollywood has long envisioned Orientals as either buck-toothed clowns or evil arch-villains. The stereotype was continued in the recent release of Michael Cimino's "Year of the Dragon." The film about drug dealing in New York's Chinatown generated a rash of protest from Asian-Americans throughout the United States.

However, while some American filmmakers perpetuate the stereotypes, Asian-American groups such as The East West Players try to counter the practice with workshops for amateur Oriental actors and presentations of plays relating to their experience and culture.

Asian filmmakers, such as Akira Kurosawa, attempt to produce movies reflecting Oriental history and culture. "Mishima," a poetic and artistic movie on the life of Japanese writer Yukio Mishima is a new American-Japanese production with Paul Schrader directing.

"Year of the Dragon" drew severe criticism from the Asian community with Henry Mu, executive director of the Organization of Chinese Americans, calling it "sexist and racist," and Henece Tajima of the National Asian American Telecommunications Association saying: "It's the most racist film that I've seen in years."

In an effort to quiet the controversy, the film's releasing company, MGM-UA, attached a disclaimer to the picture. It said in part that the movie "does not intend to demean or ignore the many positive features of Asian Americans."

John Lone, who stars as the Chinese mob leader in "Year of the Dragon," defended the film. Lone, who was born in Nevada and played the thaved-out Neanderthal man in the movie "Ice Man," said: "Can you remember a film where you've seen so many Asian faces allowed to simply breathe, simply have the dignity and bearing of who we are?"

Though the movie provided work for scores of Orientals, Hollywood still has a long way to go in increasing their ranks.

Only 2 percent of the 54,000 members of the Screen Actors Guild are Oriental. Of the more than 7,500 members in the Directors Guild of America, only 44 are Oriental.

Hing S. Noor, a Cambodian, became only the second Asian to ever win an Academy Award when he was named best-supporting actor this year for his role in "The Killing Fields."

"I can't see that the number of Asian members has risen. Nor has the nature of the roles improved," said TV producer and actress Suniti Hara. "Kim Miyori was playing a doctor on 'St. Elsewhere,' but her character committed suicide. Bob Ho was a member of the coroner's office on 'Quincy.' Now there are three Asian regulars on TV series, and all are servants."

Holdback will test schools' survival skills

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — An announced 2½ percent holdback of state funds has put a damper on back-to-school activities in the Magic Valley.

Facing the task of paying fixed costs with less money, public school district superintendents say the upcoming school year will be a lesson on survival.

"Financially, if it (the holdback) goes ahead, it will be disastrous for Twin Falls," said Twin Falls District Supt. Carl Snow.

Gov. John Evans last week dropped the ax on state agencies in an effort to deal with a continued fall in sales tax revenue. Without across-the-board budget cuts, the expected state deficit for the current spending year — which began July 1 — will be $14 million.

Evans said the holdback would last until the end of January so the state Legislature could create solutions. If the holdback last longer than that, an automatic property tax increase will kick in with funds for school. But the districts won't see that money for months because they must wait for property taxes to be collected.

In the meantime, schools must make ends meet.

The Twin Falls School District, one of the largest in the Magic Valley, has no contingency fund from which to draw in its $11 million budget, Snow said. Except for the last year, the district's been in a state of deficit funding.

"This is the worst I've seen it," Snow said. In his district, "There's really nothing to cut," except the staff salaries that take up a large part of the budget.

The holdback could cost the district $200,000, Snow added. "That's 15 teachers," Twin Falls school officials haven't yet discussed how to handle the shortfall.

"This isn't something we will decide overnight," the superintendent said.

The Twin Falls District has survived other holdbacks, he added. It managed to operate cheaply and produce quality education. But the quality may drop as finances put the squeeze on school operations and programs.

"It's already started slipping," he added. With more funding, "We could do so much more."

Norman Hurst, superintendent of the Cassia County Joint School District, had the same story.

The district is committed by contract to retain teachers, so teaching staff can't be cut, Hurst said. Utility and transportation costs also are fixed.

The $100,000 contingency budget for emergencies could be eaten up by a hard winter, he added.

"You can't say we're not going to heat a building or transport kids to school. We'll just operate the best way we can operate."

Dietrich School District Supt. Wayne Perron said spending will have to be curtailed during the year, particularly on equipment and teaching materials. The district's long-term plan of installing computers in each room will be halted for this year.

As it has in the past, the Dietrich district will get by on a "starvation" budget, he added.

Sheldon Kovarsky, superintendent of the Filer School District, said the holdback means about $2,000 less money this year.

The state announcement added insult to injury because the district also got hit with increased liability insurance costs — from $17,000 to $28,000. To top it off, another bus route must be added.

"It's a cash flow problem and every district is hurting," Kovarsky said. "Our spending has virtually stopped, except for fixed things such as salaries and utilities." Buying supplies, he added, "has come to a screeching halt." The essentials have been purchased, but "if something comes else comes up, that's it."

Kimberly School District Supt. Richard Bauscher added that there will have to be priorities for spending.

With a potential decrease of $35,000 from the holdback, the district may ask creditors to postpone billings until the district receives tax revenue, in order to continue

Future farmers follow processing route

By BOB FREUND
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Milk, meat and potatoes begin on the farm, but to understand how they land on dinner tables, you have to look into food processing factories.

Six young leaders from the Idaho Future Farmers of America are touring Magic Valley packing plants and other agri-businesses this week to find out how farm produce becomes a meal.

State President Laura Hobbs of Eagle, Vice President Brett Reynolds of Kuna, Secretary Kile Barclay of Sterling, Treasurer Karl Ritchie of Rexburg, reporter Danielle Harrington of Melba and Sentinel John Hibbard of Shoshone are in the Burley area today for the second leg of the FFA's Industry Awareness Tour.

"The idea of doing this is to help educate the state officers," says FFA Executive Secretary Laura Grimm, who planned the trip. "They are expected to know about all phases of agriculture in the state."

Five are recent high school graduates and one has completed one year of college. Elected earlier this year, they will lead the state FFA association until next spring.

The Industry Awareness Tour was begun last year in eastern Idaho, and now is likely to become an annual event, she said.

It takes the young farmers beyond their fields and barns where production starts into the processing, packaging and marketing end of the foods business.

At 9 a.m. Tuesday, the six visitors were watching milk being purified at Triangle-Young's Dairy; an hour later, they were walking into the carcass coolers and along the hot dog line at Independent Meat Co.; in another hour, they were discussing agricultural issues at Aurora Capital Corp. in Twin Falls.

Later in the day, they would dip into the trout raising business and study the slicing of potatoes into frozen french fries.

Other stops include fresh potato packs, a sugar factory, farm equipment dealership, grain warehouse, electric company, seed plants, trucking brokerage, farm supply wholesaler, cheese plant and private research center.

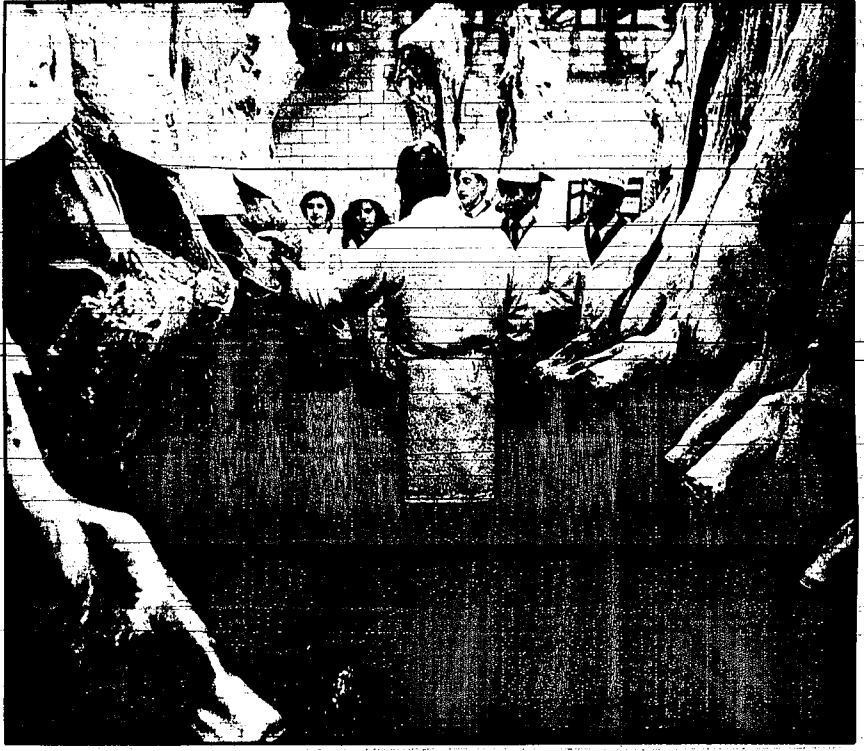

The tour is not all watching and listening, though. The state FFA officials also are holding workshops for chapter leaders in the Magic Valley on various association topics. One is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. tonight at Burley High School and another is being held Sept. 19, also at 7:30, in Jerome.

Hibbard, now a University of Idaho agriculture student, helps his family raise crops and cattle 2½ miles east of Shoshone.

He was absorbing new knowledge from the tour. "It's really made me more aware of some of the businesses and their importance to the Magic Valley in providing employment, products and many other things that are vital," he said.

Hibbard, 17, is concerned about current conditions in agriculture, but confident that farming offers a future for him and other FFA members, he said.

"It concerns you now because things aren't going very well. But I know there's always got to be a future in farming, because we've got to eat in America," he said.

Plans 'going ahead' for prison project

By JANENE BUCKWAY
Times-News correspondent

GOODING — The proposal to turn the abandoned state tuberculosis hospital into a privately operated regional prison looks favorable, Gooding residents were told Monday at a meeting of the City Council.

Council President Robert Moine told area businessmen Bill Skaggs he had been in touch with one of the prospective developers, Buckingham Security, Ltd., of Lewisburg, Pa., earlier that day and company Vice President Joseph Fenton told him plans for local investment to back the project were "going ahead."

Gooding Mayor Gene Heller also responded to Skaggs' question about the prison project, which Skaggs called "the most important thing happening in the City Council."

Heller said, adding, interested developer Corrections Associates Inc. of Nashville, Tenn., would have a representative in Gooding Friday to continue work on a plan.

Water, sewer fees cut; sanitation hiked

By ANNETTE CARY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls City Council Monday night set lower water and sewer fees and higher sanitation fees.

The minimum water rate beginning Oct. 1 will be $4.39 for the first 4,000 gallons, a decrease of 75 cents. Charges for additional water used will remain the same as this year.

The rate decrease is possible because residents will finish paying off the 1984 water bond. Exploration of the bonds actually would allow a larger cut in water bills, but city officials decided to put $53,784 aside while engineers study the cost of changing the water supply system to an automatic system.

The charge for household and commercial wastewater service will decrease 30 cents per account. Households will pay $5.81 a month for the service, beginning Oct. 1.

The decrease is a result of cost savings made by contracting sewer treatment to Operations Management International.

Garbage collection fees will increase about 7 percent, from $5.35 to $5.72. Much of the increase will be used to pay more to Parks and Sons, the garbage collection contractor. The company did not receive any increase last year.

City residents will also begin paying a user fee for street-sweeping services in the coming fiscal year. No charge for the service can be set, however, until the council decides whether city employees or a contractor will sweep the streets.

In other business, the council heard a downtown parking proposal made by Joe Citek, chairman of the Downtown Business Improvement District's newest parking committee.

The committee wants to leave meters on the three central blocks of the Main Avenue mall and double rates to 10 cents an hour. Other meters would be removed, unless businesses asked that those near their businesses remain.

Parking lots would be available for customer and leased parking. Customers could park free for two hours. Enforcement would be done by chalking tires and would be selective, with the most attention given to morning hours, crowded lots and peak retail months.

To discourage employees from parking in the lots most convenient for customers, a graduated fine system would be used. There would be no charge for the first offense in a month, a $1 fine for the second and a $5 fine for the sixth.

Most customers would seldom get more than two tickets in the same month, Citek said.

If the BID and the council decide to adopt the plan, it could be in place by Nov. 1 — in time for the Christmas shopping season.

Also Monday, the council granted an animal permit variance to Coleen Featherston, to keep 126 birds at her Twin Falls home. Featherston and her husband raise exotic birds.

Watkins announces bid for Congress

The Associated Press and the Times-News

TWIN FALLS — Veteran state Sen. Dane Watkins of Idaho Falls formally launched his bid for the 1986 Republican 2nd District congressional nomination Tuesday, jangling out at the federal government's intrusion into the lives of Idahoans.

Stopping briefly at the Twin Falls-Sun Valley Regional Airport Tuesday afternoon, Watkins said, "We can't take care of ourselves; we want to take care of ourselves, and we will take care of ourselves if the federal government will free us from red tape and enact a responsible fiscal policy." Ongoing need for donors Eye bank becomes 1st state tissue fund

By LORAYNK O. SMITH
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — With the establishment of the Idaho Lions Eye Bank in Boise this summer it is now easier — and more efficient — to give someone else the gift of sight through donation of one's eyes after death.

Paul Dannhardt, Boise, coordinator for the eye bank which opened July 1 at St. Alphonsus Regional Medical Center, says eight people now are on the waiting list for replacement corneas. A corneal transplant, a relatively simple surgical procedure, has one of the highest success rates for any type of transplant surgery, he says.

The eye bank coordinator, whose salary is paid by the Idaho-Oregon

Sight and Hearing Foundation, a charitable organization of the Lions Club, was at Magic Valley Regional Medical Center Monday to publicize the new eye bank.

It is the first tissue bank of any kind in Idaho, he said, and the need for donors is continuous. Dannhardt coordinates the entire operation throughout the state.

Prior to the opening of the Boise eye bank, Portland was the nearest such facility and Lions Club volunteers for many years have sought donors, arranged for the cornea removal (called enucleation) and transportation of the tissue to Portland.

Ed Bossard, Twin Falls, longtime Lions Club leader and member of the foundation, said it will now be much easier for donated corneas to be used because Boise is much closer and improved procedures allow better utilization of the tissue.

The first step in the donation process is when an individual signs a donor card. Bossard said club members obtained 273 signatures last week at the Twin Falls County Fair. But MVRMC personnel told Dannhardt local hospital policy stipulates that the attending physician must seek family consent and oversee the decision, although in some hospitals nurses and pastoral staff also may ask family members if they would like to donate the eyes after a loved one's death.

Neither eye-wearing glasses, nor death from diseases such as cancer prohibit eye donations. Dannhardt said, and removal of the cornea does not mar the appearance of the deceased.

Corneas must be received within six hours after death and be at the eye bank within 10 hours.

Lions volunteers perform the key service in arranging for air transportation to Boise. There the cornea is screened under a special microscope and, after passing necessary tests, is placed in a culture which extends the use of the eye from 24 to 72 hours.

"That may not sound like a long time, but it means we have up to three days instead of one to contact physicians who have a patient on our waiting list," said Dannhardt.

Although percent of any age can need cornea replacement through injuries, the majority of those needing donated eyes are middle-aged and older persons, Dannhardt said.

Isn't it a little confusing when every food store in the Magic Valley claim they have the lowest prices?

It has to be. This one says he's the lowest. That one says he won't be beat. Just who should we believe? At Safeway, we can't guarantee you that we will have the lowest price on every single item in the store every day of the week. No supermarket can make that claim. (At least not if they want to go to heaven). But one thing we can guarantee you when you shop at our stores in the Magic Valley, is that we'll give you a good honest deal on your groceries. That means low everyday prices. You can see those for yourself on the next two pages and in our weekly ads, but it means more. It means passing along good deals that we get from the manufacturer so that your dollar goes further. It means giving you the fast and friendly services you deserve -service like bagging your groceries for you, and carrying large orders to your car. It means quality foods -especially in meats, produce and dairy.

You see, we're out to get you in Safeway's corner. And we know it takes a lot more than tough talk to convince a tough customer.

Board proposes tuition definition Sparked by legal concern

BOISE (AP) — Concerns among at least one member of the Idaho Board of Education have caused the board to propose legislation to legally define tuition for the state's universities and Lewis Clark State College.

Regent Robert Montgomery of Boise has been worried about the Idaho Supreme Court's interpretation of the institutional maintenance fee. He told members of state Rep. Janet Hay's committee on higher education last spring he was surprised the board hadn't been taken to court by students paying the fee.

Kim Phillips, the board's public information officer, said the bill to define tuition will be submitted with four other housekeeping measures to Gov. John V. Evans' office next month along with the board's formal budget request.

"This proposal does not say anything about what tuition should be; it's totally neutral," said Edward Cisek, the board's chief fiscal officer. "This simply validates what the board currently is doing. It removes any doubt that the institutional maintenance fee we charge currently is not tuition."

Since 1982, the board has charged in-state undergraduate students an institutional maintenance fee which now stands at $245 per semester.

Constitutionally and statutorily, public institutions are not allowed to charge tuition, and there has been some question about whether the institutional maintenance fee is legal.

"The problem is tuition is defined on a state-by-state basis. Without a definition, the courts would be likely to use definitions developed by other states," Cisek said.

The proposal adds several sentences to the current law defining tuition as "the fee for the cost of instruction at the collegekeeping measures to Gov. Evans' office next month along with the board's formal budget request."

The cost of instruction shall include those costs associated with component of said colleges and universities, such as research, public service, maintenance and operation of physical plant, academic support, student services and institutional support, which are complementary, but not a part of the instructional program," according to the proposed legislation.

Former Boisean pleads guilty to theft

BOISE (AP) — A former Boise businessman who disappeared under the federal Witness Protection Program and later was charged with misappropriating $15,245 has pleaded guilty to one count of grand theft.

William "Bill" Reed, once manager of the now-bankrupt Riley's Store for Men in Boise, admitted cashing two checks made out to the clothing store.

"I feel I am guilty of an Idaho offense," he told 4th District Judge Alan Schwartzman. "I'm not sure I'm guilty in a sense of fair play, but of course, the law and fair play are two different things."

Schwartzman set Reed's sentencing for Oct. 9. Reed remained in the Ada County Jail in lieu of a $10,000 bond.

In September 1983, Reed received two checks totaling $15,245 intended for Riley's and funneled them through his private account, defense attorney Edward Odessey said.

Reed believed that he had an "active ownership" in Riley's, although prosecutors disagree, said Odessey.

an attorney with the Ada County public defender's office.

Odessey said Reed gave Brian Lowry, a majority owner, a $10,000 check when the business started and later paid him a total of $9,600. He also fronted $1,500 for a lease on Riley's sister store, Marshall's, and paid a Marshall's owner, Mike Sasser, $2,200 to $2,300 in legal fees.

Holdback halts plans for prison expansions

LEWISTON (AP) — A 2.5-percent holdback in state spending has stalled expansion plans at two northern Idaho prisons, and may put the Idaho Department of Corrections in hot water with a federal judge who ordered an end to crowding in the state's prison system.

Remodeling had begun at the North Idaho Correctional Institution in Cottonwood and the Idaho Correctional Institution-Orofino to make room for 170 additional prisoners as part of a plan to relieve crowding at the main Idaho State Penitentiary south of Boise.

But besides putting those plans on hold, the holdback ordered last week by Gov. John Evans to ward off a projected fiscal 1986 revenue shortfall of more than $14 million also means the two facilities must cut $7,000 each from their current budgets.

The holdback means an overall reduction of about $370,000 from the Corrections Department budget. But with last November's order from U.S. District Judge Harold Ryan to relieve crowding and improve security, medical and other conditions at the Boise prison, the department has some leverage in asking for an exemption, Cottonwood Warden Ron McKinsey said.

Corrections Director Al Murphy earlier said the department could face contempt proceedings this fall if conditions of Ryan's order were not fulfilled on schedule.

Besides stalling expansion plans, McKinsey said one-half cent being cut from the price of each meal for all state prisoners.

"We're not giving out seconds now, so we can't stop that," he said.

Still, Warden G. Dennis Boddy of the Orofino facility said he hopes the expansion plans will be delayed only a short time.

The expansion at Orofino involves remodeling the vacant third floor of the prison to make room for 100 additional beds, while the project at Cottonwood calls for renovating an empty fire-galled dormitory to make room for 70 beds.

Evans plans eight hearings on state budget proposal

BOISE (AP) — Gov. John Evans is working on next year's state budget proposal, which promises to be a very tight spending plan.

And before he gets down to final work on the budget, the governor plans eight statewide hearings for public input.

"Revenues for funding essential state services continue to be very limited," the governor said in a statement released Tuesday. "I encourage all Idaho citizens to take this opportunity to make their views known on how they want their state taxes spent."

The hearings will be conducted by Evans' Division of Financial Management.

State budget officers say the state is not taking in enough revenue to pay for the current budget. The deficit is likely to get worse before it gets better, officials say.

State Agriculture Director Richard Rush told a gathering last week that Idaho farmers are caught in the worst of all possible worlds. Production is likely to be low in key crops this fall, and prices also are low. He said the Gem State's farm problems are likely to get worse before they get better.

AT&T to cut jobs in Idaho by Nov. 8

BOISE (AP) — American Telephone & Telegraph Co. will eliminate 35 jobs in Idaho by Nov. 8, says a Communications Workers of America official.

"It was my understanding that they (the affected employees) would be told at noon (Monday) by their supervisors," Bill Thornburg, CWA's Idaho-Montana director, said Monday.

Phil Warner, AT&T operations manager for Idaho, Montana and Wyoming, said the company hopes to avoid layoffs by offering employees transfers. If early retirement inducements open up other jobs, he said AT&T already has found jobs in Salt Lake City for six people.

Thornburg said 28 positions will be eliminated in Boise, three in Pocatello, two in Idaho Falls, one in Burley and one in Payette. People with the least seniority will be affected first.

Anti-apartheid petition begun

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The nation's governors are being urged by Arizona Gov. Bruce Babbitt to denounce apartheid in South Africa and to join him in signing a petition supporting the Free South Africa Movement.

In a letter to the 49 other governors, Babbitt also chastised the Reagan administration for showing "indifference" toward South Africa's black majority.

"Most Americans, including citizens of my state, are troubled by apartheid," Babbitt said. "Strong action by the United States can bring about change in South Africa. We must show the entire world that we want change."

Unfaithful geyser erupts again

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (AP) — Unfaithful Geyser, dormant since 1979, began erupting last weekend, shooting hot water and steam 55 feet.

But Excelsior went dormant early Monday, said Rick Hutchinson, research geologist for Yellowstone National Park.

Hutchinson said he didn't know why the geyser erupted dozens of times during the weekend.

Located in the Midway Geyser Basin, Excelsior was once one of Yellowstone's major attractions. During its most active period in the 1880s, Excelsior was known to shoot a column of water and rock as high as 300 feet.

Tower climb electrocutes man

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — A 19-year-old man was electrocuted and two companions were burned early today when they climbed a Tacoma City Light transmission tower "to see the sights" and shored out 110,000-volt electrical lines, sheriff's officers said.

Electricity to some 16,000 customers of Peninsula Light, a utility on the Gig Harbor side of the Tacoma Narrows, was cut for 90 minutes to allow rescue workers to recover the body of Bobby Kirsh.

Kirsh's two companions were taken to Tacoma General Hospital.

Squad tries to rescue hiker

SKYKOMISH, Wash. (AP) — A 53-member rescue squad set out this morning on a treacherous 2½-mile hike in the Alpine Lakes Wilderness area to rescue a hiker with a broken leg, King County authorities reported.

Unless heavy clouds lifted to allow a helicopter rescue, the effort to rescue 19-year-old Steven Kane of Tacoma was expected to take all day — or longer, said King County police spokesman Dick Larson.

Kane, who has a compound fracture of the shin, rested comfortably Monday night, said Harry Naehr, a King County Emergency Services coordinator. Five rescue personnel spent the night with the injured hiker.

Natural gas explosion kills 1

GILLETTE, Wyo. (AP) — One man was killed today and four others injured, one critically, in a natural gas explosion at an oil well site in southwestern Crook County, officials said.

Campbell County Memorial Hospital Administrator Ed Frye said the dead man, whose name was not immediately released, was pronounced dead at the site about 40 miles northeast of Gillette.

Frye said the dead man and the one in critical condition were brothers. The critically injured man had burns over 80 percent of his body and would be flown to the University of Utah's Intermountain Burn Center in Salt Lake City later today, the administrator said.

State buys Russell collection

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP) — A collection of letters and artwork by western artist Charles M. Russell became state property Monday, purchased from the Great Falls Elks Lodge for $495,000.

Robert Archibald, director of the Montana Historical Society, made a "down payment" of $313,000, handing over a check to the lodge's exalted ruler, Jim Janssen. Archibald also gave Janssen a promissory note for the remaining $182,000, which will be paid in three payments over the next 18 months.

Escapes caught in Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Three dangerous inmates, exhausted from a 24-hour flight across the Nevada desert, surrendered early Tuesday after alert neighbors tipped police to their whereabouts.

Meanwhile, officials at the Southern Desert Correctional Center said polygraph tests would be administered to three guards to determine if one of them was asleep when the escape took place late Sunday night.

And the officials placed part of the blame for the escape on a $250,000 detection system that has never worked properly at the 4-year-old medium security facility 40 miles northwest of Las Vegas.

Rajneesh calls former leaders fascists

By BRIAN S. AKRE
The Associated Press

RAJNEESH PURAM, Ore. — Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh has accused several of his sect's former leaders of crimes including arson, attempted murder and illegal wiretapping, but authorities said they have seen no evidence to back the charges.

The Indian guru called the group "the gang of fascists" at a news conference Monday night before about 2,500 of his disciples in this commune-city's large meeting hall, Rajneesh Mandir. He said he discovered

Monday that mismanagement by the former leaders had left the sect $55 million in debt.

The former leaders, including Rajneesh's former personal secretary, Ma Anand Sheela, and Rajneeshpuram Mayor Swami Krishna Deva, resigned their posts and left the remote Central Oregon commune-city last weekend for Europe, Rajneesh said.

Rajneesh alleged the group was involved in a massive outbreak of salmonella food poisoning last year in The Dalles, a January arson that damaged the Wasco County planning office, and the attempted poisoning of Rajneesh's doctor and dentist, he said. The guru ended a three-year period of public silence in October.

"It seems these people would have even killed me, because my silence was favorable to them and my absence would have been more favorable," he said. The guru ended a three-year period of public silence in October.

In a discourse to a group of his followers today, Rajneesh added those charges after the issue was another allegation against the deposed commune leaders, Rajneesh spokeswoman Ma Prem Isabel group who has left the communequoted the guru as saying it appeared it was true that large amounts of tranquilizers were shipped to the commune to dispense to the so-called "street people" who had been recruited to come to Rajneeshpuram last fall.

"It seems that truly was the intention," she quoted Rajneesh as saying.

Ma Anand Puja, president of the Jefferson County district attorney Rajneesh Medical Corp., had denied the commune to dispense to the so-called "street people" who had been recruited to come to Rajneeshpuram last fall.

Washington primaries draw out few voters

SEATTLE (AP) — Voting was reportedly light today across Washington in a patchwork of primaries that included mayoral races in the state's three largest cities.

A low voter turnout of perhaps 30 percent was predicted, with stormy weather and a lack of statewide contests or ballot propositions putting a damper on the enthusiasm for the off-year election. Some areas don't even have primaries this year.

"It was depressing," Clark County

Auditor David Michner said of early morning checks of polling places. "I stopped at two polling places between 7:45 a.m. and 8:30 a.m. and there wasn't a voter in either."

Election officials in populous King County said early indications were that few people were casting ballots.

"It's about what we predicted," according to Noel Elliott, assistant elections supervisor in Spokane County. Elliott noted that it's about the same turnout as 1981 when there was a 24 percent final turnout.

 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
 salt and pepper to taste
 1 teaspoon parsley, chopped
 1 can (4 ounce size) whole chiles, sliced and seeded
 1 cup shredded monterey jack cheese

PETER SCHOTT'S BRIE SOUP
 This was served at the National Governor's Conference and was a big hit.
 1 leek, finely chopped
 3 green onions, chopped 1/4 inch wide

1/2 cup sliced mushrooms (try the new Bliss variety for an extra special treat)
 3 tablespoons butter
 1 quart rich chicken stock (1 used homemade, not canned)
 2 cups heavy cream
 1/2 cup dry sherry
 3 tablespoons cornstarch
 salt and pepper to taste
 French bread baguette (the long thinner loaf of French bread)
 2 slices Brie cheese per serving
 First slice the French Bread Baguettes into 1 inch slices and make 1/4-inch pieces out of them, like crostons. Toast at 300 degrees in oven until brown.
 Sauté the leeks, onions and mushrooms in the butter. Add the stock and cream and bring to a gentle boil. Mix cornstarch with sherry and add to soup mixture to thicken. It should be a creamy and thick consistency.
 Use oven-proof soup bowls. Ladle the soup into the bowls. Cover each crostion with Brie cheese and put on top of the soup and broil until cheese is melted. Serve immediately.

This makes 10 cups, so it could serve several as a first course or just a few as more of an entree.
MEXICAN CHEESE SOUP
 1 medium onion, chopped
 2 tablespoons oil
 128-ounce can tomatoes
 3 tablespoons flour
 1 small can (5 ounces) evaporated milk minced garlic
 8 ounces American-style cheese, diced
 2 cups longhorn cheese, diced
 1 1/4-ounce can diced green chiles, drained
 2 3/4 tablespoons seeded, chopped Jalapeno peppers
 Sauté onion in the oil in a saucepan. Add tomatoes and cook until tomatoes break-up. Mix the flour and milk together and add to the tomato mixture stirring well. Simmer uncovered until thickens. Add cheeses a handful at a time. Stir until melted. Add chiles, peppers and garlic. Serve hot with tortilla chips. So there are some fall soups to try out on your family or guests. Enjoy!

 The following recipes are from "Madame Chocolate's" Book of Divine Indulgences."
EASY FUDGE SAUCE
 This is dark, thick, smooth and not too sweet. It takes just minutes to make.
 16 ounces semisweet chocolate
 1-2 cup whipping cream
 1-3 cup water
 Chop chocolate into small pieces and set aside.
 In a heavy saucepan, bring the cream and water to a boil. Add the chocolate and stir over a very low flame until completely melted. Use a whisk to stir and dissolve any remaining small pieces.
 Serve warm or at room temperature. Store in the refrigerator. Leftovers can be reheated. Makes 2 1/4 cups.
FUDGE SAUCE
 This tastes wonderful on top of brownies, too. It is dark, thick and has a deep taste of cocoa.
 6 tablespoons unsalted butter at room temperature
 1 cup unsweetened-Dutch process cocoa
 1 cup whipping cream
 2-3 cup sugar
 1 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
 Pinch of salt
 1 teaspoon pure vanilla
 Cut the butter into pieces and set aside. Sift the cocoa and set aside.
 In a heavy saucepan over medium heat, stir the cream and butter until the butter melts and cream bubbles around the edges. Stir in both sugars until dissolved. Lower heat. With a whisk, stir in the salt and cocoa. Let the mixture simmer 10 to 15 minutes or until it thickens. Do not stir during this time. The mixture will reduce to about 1 1/4 cups. Remove pan from the heat and stir in the vanilla and salt. Stir until smooth.
 Sauce should be served warm. Store in tightly covered, heatproof jar, in the refrigerator. Before using, place jar in simmering water until sauce is warm. Leftovers can be warmed the same day. Makes 1 1/4 cups.

Toppings

 Betsy introduced her naturally sweetened fruit spreads in 1982, "after five years of working on the basics," she said. She began with a simple apple butter, then added strawberry-apple and apricot-apple to the line. The apple with raspberry also proved a winner, and Betsy went on to more exotic flavors, such as apricot-pineapple and orange-berry preserves. There was also mincemeat for holiday time.
 She added a ginger-nut topping for ice cream and puddings, a complete line of chutneys and sauces, such as apricot chutney and ginger-apricot chutney, a sweet and sour sauce, then a sea sauce with lemons, onions, tomatoes and spices, and finally the crowning touch-for which chocolate lovers will forever praise her: the Fudge Sweet Topping.
 The deep, dark fudge is smooth and rich and few can resist eating it straight out of the jar. Even Betsy admits that she always keeps a few jars on hand at home, "but we don't serve it - we just nip it out of the jar with a spoon," she adds with a laugh.

 Fudge Sweet is available by mail, or you can visit Wax Orchards in person and pick up a few jars if you happen to be in the Seattle area. Just board the ferry from either Seattle or Tacoma or fly into Wax Orchards airport.
 For those who like to order Betsy's hot fudge sauce, it costs $5 per 10-ounce jar plus $2 for shipping (for either 1 or 2 bottles).
 Write to Fudge Sweet Topping, Wax Orchards, Route 4, Box 320, Vashon Island, Wash. 98070, or call (206) 463-8775. You'll probably get Betsy or Bob on the line. Just tell them what you want and be sure to order one extra jar. You can't believe how fast the level of fudge falls once you open the jar.

Stores giving more wallpaper advice

By BARBARA MAYER
The Associated Press

The days when people chose a wallcovering from a sample book brought to the home by a paper hanger have faded from memory in most localities.

Nowadays, the typical wallpaper purchaser buys the product at a retail outlet within two miles of her home, and, in 90 percent of the transactions, a woman does the choosing, says Harold Norby, president of Fred G. Anderson Inc., a wallcovering retailer in Minneapolis.

Norby was one of a group of wallcovering professionals who discussed the whys and wherefores of the product at a recent seminar sponsored by the Wallcovering Information Bureau, a trade group. He said many retailers had upgraded the amount of guidance they offered consumers, to make the selection process simpler and less tension-fraught. Typically, a consumer should expect to receive information on how to prepare the walls before hanging the paper, how much wallpaper to buy, and how to self-install it. If an installer is used, the retailer should have a list of the competent individuals in the area.

A number of firms have developed a questionnaire to help consumers choose more effectively. Questions they ask (and you should, too, with or without a questionnaire) include the following: What color are the drapes, walls and woodwork? What effect do you wish to create in the room? What is your budget?

Measurements are essential in order to figure out how much wallcovering is needed. "We give them a simple diagram consisting of four rectangles that represent the walls of the room laid out flat. We ask them to take height and length measurements for each wall and to draw in the doors and windows," said Norby.

The retailer advised consumers to look at patterns in room settings pictured in books of design and its appropriateness in a room.

Dalton Windham, chairman of the technical committee of the Wallcoverings Manufacturers Association, noted that while the decorative surface is what sells the product, the underlayers are just as important. Most wallcoverings consist of two or three layers: the surface, the intermediate layer which is seen as the background color, and the backing which actually gets pasted onto the wall. The composition of the two inner layers determines how durable, abrasion resistant, washable and long-lasting the wallcovering will be.

One guide in selection of a heavy-duty covering for hard use is to check the rating of the wallcovering. In 1983, the industry adopted a standard that classifies wallcoverings by their durability, Windham said. Many manufacturers now indicate the grade of their products according to this standard, which is known as ASTM-F793. The standard classifies wallcoverings on a continuum ranging from Class 1—the least durable—to Class 6—the most durable.

If the standard is not indicated in the sample book, look for it on the wallcovering roll itself, he said. In any case, even if not listed, the properties you need to know (such as strippability and washability) are often marked on the back of the wallcovering, he added.

If you have the impression that wallcoverings seem to be more in the center of decorating trends, you are right, according to Mike Landau, president of the Wallcovering Information Bureau.

Landau said the product had been enjoying renewed sales growth after a long period of stagnation.

The low-point for wallpaper was in 1970 when sales dropped to 90 million rolls, less than a quarter of what they had been in 1940 when 400 million rolls were sold. By 1980, however, sales had begun building again and recent estimates were that about 190 million rolls of wallpaper had been sold annually in recent years.

Interest has come about for a variety of reasons, including a greater choice of patterns and colors and improved technology which makes it easier to apply and to remove wallcoverings.

Landau said "virtually every wallcovering is at least washable today, if not scrubable."

Build storage to keep fruits, vegetables

By EARI ARONSON
The Associated Press

A simple way to preserve your garden's surplus produce is home storage in a basement, out-building or ground pit. It will help if you plant good storage varieties of fruits and vegetables, and store only the top quality produce under the proper temperature and humidity conditions for each crop.

For the easiest crops to store are parsnips, carrots, salsify and Jerusalem artichokes, because you can leave them in the garden all winter. Just muck heavily after cool weather arrives but before the ground freezes, then mark the rows with stakes to provide signs of where to dig when snow covers the ground.

You can leave Brussels sprouts in the garden through light frost, but harvest when a hard freeze threatens.

Good crops for home storage are potatoes and onions, which will keep quite well from harvest. Store to the next under good conditions. Almost all potatoes in temperatures just above freezing and in high humidity (80 to 90 percent). Higher temperatures promote sprouting, lower humidity causes potatoes to shrivel. Good storage places are a root cellar, a well pit or a dark corner of a damp, unheated basement.

Similar conditions are suggested for apple storage. But don't store apples or pears with potatoes or other vegetables. As fruits age, they give off a gas (ethylene) that speeds up aging in vegetables and shortens their storage life.

Keep-stored onions cool — as near 32 degrees F as possible without freezing — and at low humidity. Suggested are an unheated attic or a cold room in a dry basement.

For green tomatoes, winter squash and pumpkins, use an unheated room with temperatures in the 50s and fairly low humidity. Harvest before frost damages these crops and place them on shelves so they don't touch each other.

Mature green tomatoes stored this way should last easily until Thanksgiving. Ripen as many as you need by moving them to a warm room. Squash and pumpkins should keep for several months. Don't store tomatoes with bruises, cracks or damage caused by insects, diseases or rough handling. Use at once any winter squash touched by frost or damaged. Cook and freeze it. Damage to squash skin encourages spoilage organisms and molds. One spoiled one will speed deterioration of others.

Carrots, beets, turnips, parsnips and other root crops store well in a barrel or clean garbage can. Set layers of assorted vegetables in damp sand with straw between layers. When the can is full, bury it with the top at ground level and cover the top with 8-12 inches of straw or leaves for insulation.

Cabbage and cauliflower need the same storage conditions as potatoes. But because of odor problems with cabbage, store it outside the house in a ventilated pit.

Choosing good storage varieties is important. Hard yellow onions such as Spartan Sleeper and Staggart store for months without sprouting. Hubbard and butternut squash keep better than other types, but butternut is more apt to be frost damaged than Hubbard or buttercup.

Woman gains nothing in affair with married man

DEAR ABBY: A very dear friend of mine is having an affair with a married man. She divorced her husband of 14 years to be free for "Joe." Joe lived with my friend for a few months, then moved back home because his children "needed" him.

Joe goes to my friend's place three or four mornings a week for coffee and sex. The rest of the time he is with his wife. Joe has given my friend some expensive gifts and which is all she lives for. She's beautiful and smart and has everything going for her. I've tried to tell her she's wasting her time, but she says she loves Joe and he's worth waiting for. I know you get lots of letters from women who are waiting for married men to leave their wives. Can you send me a few dozen? If I show them to my friend, she may see the light. Thanks.

—ALL TALKED OUT IN DALLAS
DEAR TALKED OUT: A thousand letters wouldn't convince your friend. She's in love. And love is a mental condition; it doesn't respond to logic. A woman in love cannot learn from the experiences of others because she perceives her love as unique — unlike any other.

Occasionally a married man will divorce his wife and marry the other woman. So what does the other woman get? A man who cheats on his wife.

DEAR ABBY: Please proclaim a day in the near future for people everywhere to check their cupboards and refrigerators for plates, platters, trays, bowls, dishes — for whatever doesn't belong to them. In appreciation of someone's thoughtfulness, I do think we should promptly return the dishes to whomever they belong.

In case some of us don't know any better, you tell 'em, Abby! — DINAH, WHO WILL FEEL MUCH BETTER WHEN FOLKING IN CAROLINA RETURN MY COUPON
DEAR DINAH: All right, tell 'em, now if only they can remember where they got 'em.

I don't wear dentures, but I have a colostomy and must chew my food well and eat nothing that might cause a blockage. I was told that some seeds can swell considerably while in the body, causing a blockage.

It's unfortunate that there isn't a Wendy's restaurant in his town. The food at Wendy's is delicious and the buns are unseeded.

DEAR COLOSTOMATE: There may be one after this hit print. And the competition just might provide a choice of seeded or unseeded buns. (At least you planted the seed.)

Minico sweeps Bruins, Poky

By Brad Breland
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — In the past, the Minico Spartans couldn't get out of the Twin Falls gym with a win, but Tuesday night, they left with a pair.

"That's all in the past and not in the future," said Minico Coach Debbie Bridges after Minico topped Twin Falls 9-15, 15-10, 15-6 and beat Pocatello 15-6, 15-9.

Twin Falls did manage a victory as it downed the Indians 15-5, 15-7.

Shawn Kaba and Dana Cowen literally served Twin Falls a win in the first game of the match against Minico. Kaba helped the Bruins to an 11-7 lead and after Minico scored a couple of points, Cowen put the game away.

Great serving by Stacey Kreigh put Minico ahead 4-0 early in the second game, but Kaba and Laura McQueen each knocked in three serves apiece and the Bruins took the lead.

The Spartans then outscored Twin Falls 9-2 breezing to the second game victory.

After the Bruins built a 5-1 lead in the rubber game, the Spartans came back and scored the next eight points behind the serving of Carolyn Robbins. Minico cruised to the victory from there as the Bruins could only manage to score one point.

"We go flat too fast," said Twin Falls Coach Jerry Sivulich of his team's performance. "They never give up. They get down and they can't get up."

Pocatello built a 3-0 lead in both games of the match with the Bruins but Twin Falls fought back.

After spotting Pocatello four points, the Bruins scored the next seven points. After an Indian serve, Kristin Barton served in five points boosting the lead to 10-5.

Laura McQueen made a block to get a side-out call and her ace gave Twin Falls the victory.

In the second game, Pocatello and Twin Falls were tied 5-5, but Cowen served up the next three points giving Twin Falls an 8-5 edge.

Barton once again helped out knocking in three serves that were never returned and the Bruins led 13-7.

Sarah Crawford entered into the game and the lefty put in the next two points for the 15-7 win.

Robbins was hot from the serving line in Minico's pair of wins against Pocatello.

With the wins, Minico boosts its record to 5-3 while the Bruins are now 3-7.

Twin Falls won the jayvee match beating Minico 15-1, 12-15, 15-12 and edging Pocatello 15-11, 8-15, 15-12. In the other match, Pocatello topped Minico 7-15, 15-12, 15-8.

Indians go 9-0

MALTA — Shoshone's undefeated Indians ran their record to 9-0 Tuesday night when they turned back the Raft River Trojans 15-5, 16-14.

Tracy Guenechea's serving highlighted the first win and Julie Hibbard's serving and sister Cary Hibbard's hitting pulled the Indians through the second.

Shoshone, which travels to Hagerman Thursday night, also took the jayvee match 15-4, 15-5.

Solons undefeated

GOODING — Gooding maintained its unbeaten boast by defeating Burley 15-5, 15-11 behind the serving of Wendy Anderson and Carrie Bradshaw and the spiking of Joyce Jacobson and Susie Kelly.

Burley, now 2-3, got good play from Tonya Jensen and Barb Haycock.

Gooding, now 5-0, will travel to Filer Thursday night. Burley won the preliminary.

Pirates win pair

HANSEN — The Hagerman Pirates toppled Oakley and Hansen in a Magic Valley Conference triangular Tuesday night.

The Pirates started the night by downing Oakley 15-9, 15-6 and then went to the sideline as Oakley beat Hansen 16-14, 7-15, 18-16. The Pirates returned to ice the victory 13-15, 15-3, 15-8 over Hansen.

Buhl tops Filer

BUHL — The Buhl Indians put together a strong team effort to defeat Filer 15-5, 15-10.

The Indians, running their record to 9-2, also took the preliminary 15-11, 15-15, 15-13. They will participate in the Wood River Invitational Saturday.

Devils trim Valley

HAZELTON — Valley scored the last two points of the night and they were the only difference between the Vikings and Murtaugh.

Valley, getting spiking from Kim Kohtz and air-around play from Sonya Huettig, won the first game 15-4 but Murtaugh replied 3-15. Valley led much of the final game before the Red Devils pulled into a 14-14 tie.

Murtaugh took the preliminary 16-14, 3-15, 15-7. Valley hosts Kimberly Thursday night.

Tanner contradicts Berra's Pittsburgh drug trial testimony

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh Pirates Manager Chuck Tanner testified Tuesday he never warned infielder Dale Berra to stay away from a man now accused of dealing cocaine to major league baseball players.

Tanner was the first defense witness in the U.S. District Court trial of Curtis Strong, 39, of Philadelphia, the former Phillies clubhouse caterer accused of 14 counts of dealing cocaine to several former Pirates as the source of amphetamines in the team's locker room while a player, Stargell denied the charges.

Stargell, the Pirates' team captain when they won the World Series in 1979, was identified last week by several former Pirates as the source of amphetamines in the team's locker room while a player, Stargell denied the charges.

Stargell, unlike the seven players who have testified for the Justice Department in the Strong case, was not given a grant of immunity to testify.

The trial was recessed earlier than anticipated Tuesday afternoon after Renfro failed to call St. Louis Cardinals pitcher Joaquin Andujar as a witness.

The defense did not have a witness prepared to take the stand when it elected not to call Andujar, previously linked to cocaine use in testimony by former Cardinals teammates Lonnie Smith and Keith Hernandez.

State seeks to reopen Tulane cage trial

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — District Attorney Harry Connick is asking a state appeals court to let him try former Tulane basketball star John "Hot Rod" Williams again on sports bribery charges, his office announced Tuesday.

Williams was cleared of all charges late last month when District Judge Alvin Oser ruled that prosecutors had used dirty tricks, including deliberately provoking a mistrial, to get a new start on a case that was going badly.

Connick contends that while his assistants may have violated some of Oser's orders, they did so unwittingly and in good faith.

A spokeswoman for his office said the appeal is being prepared and will be filed by Wednesday morning in the state's 4th Circuit Court of Appeal. Connick is asking the 4th Circuit to overturn Oser's ruling and permit him to bring Williams up for trial again.

Williams is working out with the Cleveland Cavaliers of the National Basketball Association, which picked him in the second round of the NBA draft.

Williams was accused of three counts of conspiracy and two counts of taking bribes to control the outcome of basketball games last season against Southern Mississippi and Memphis State.

Niekro still searches for 300th victory

DETROIT (AP) — As 46-year-old Phil Niekro continues his quest to become only the 18th major league pitcher to win 300 games, one question keeps coming up: "How'd you do it, Phil?"

How did this quiet, unassuming man come out of Ohio in 1959 and go on to pitch 22 big league seasons after spending over five years in the minors?

"I try to take good care of myself," said Niekro, who will go after No. 300 again Wednesday night when his New York Yankees play the Detroit Tigers. "I know what I have to do. I'm pretty selective about what I do and don't do. I think that's helped some over the years."

Niekro, who failed in his first attempt to win his 300th against the Toronto Blue Jays last Friday, also credits an even disposition for much of his success. He always seems very low key.

"I'm known for that," Niekro said as he dressed Tuesday night and prepared for photo sessions with his younger brother, Joe, a 15-year veteran who was obtained by the Yankees this year from the Houston Astros.

Twins give pitcher unconditional release

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Relief pitcher Steve Howe, who missed the Minnesota Twins' weekend series in Cleveland because of a recurrence of his cocaine addiction problems, requested and was granted his unconditional release, the Twins said Tuesday.

STEVE HOWE Wrestles drugs alone

In a prepared statement, the team said: "After meeting with Twins officials this morning, Steve Howe requested and was granted his unconditional release from the Minnesota Twins. Steve will devote his immediate full attention to complete recovery from his personal problems."

Howe, the 1980 National League Rookie of the Year with the Los Angeles Dodgers, was suspended for the 1984 season by former Commissioner Bowie Kuhn for violation of baseball's drug policies.

New violations threaten USC season

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Things seemed to be going Southern Cal's way. The Trojans opened their football campaign by beating Illinois, then had a bye to rest and prepare for Saturday night's home debut against Baylor, moving up to third in the national rankings in the process.

But Coach Ted Tollner's weekly meeting with the media Tuesday was marked by an air of tension.

The Trojans, already playing under an NCAA sanction that prohibits them from appearing in televised games during the regular season, were struck last Friday by the revelation of fresh rules violations. An assistant coach was fired and two other school athletic officials were reprimanded.

"The most important thing to me right now is not to get caught up in distractions," Tollner said at the meeting with reporters. "My most important responsibility is to get our team ready to play. After we've presented our point (on the rules infractions), we can't just go on and on."

"It's unfortunate," Tollner said, "but I have to get my job done."

Asked how, in the light of the current consciousness over NCAA rules, the violations could have occurred, Tollner said: "How do mistakes happen? How do mistakes happen in your business?"

The TV ban is the final NCAA sanction resulting from a probe that revealed in 1982 that an assistant coach had sold players' game tickets for them.

The current violations investigated by the school and the Pacific-10 Conference include excessive contact with three recruits, providing two recruits with transportation to the school to take their entrance exams, and providing tickets to the Holiday Bowl game in San Diego for two different recruits and their high school coach.

In the wake of the investigation, Russ Purnell, an assistant coach handling tight ends and special teams and also in charge of recruiting in the San Diego area, was dismissed, and two unidentified members of the athletic department received letters of reprimand.

Disciplinary action against the school by the Pac-10 and the NCAA is possible after the investigations are complete. The university is not, however, in danger of having its football program suspended because of the new NCAA rule regarding second offers of non-retractable.

Tollner, asked what he told the team during a meeting over the weekend, said: "I told them we had a game against Baylor ... (I told them) sometimes the world doesn't work the way you want it to ... there's adversity."

"How they will react, we won't know until they play."

Fish derby fund-raiser set

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley Handicaps in Motion will sponsor a fund-raising fishing derby on Saturday, Sept. 22.

The event, which will be held at Day Dream Ranch, will be open to the public for a small fee. Fish will be donated by area hatcheries.

Fish will be tagged and cash prizes will be given according to the colored tags on the fish that are caught.

The event will run from 10 a.m. until dusk. There is a $2.50 entry fee.

Handicaps in Motion is an organization designed to provide recreational opportunities for the physically handicapped in the Magic Valley.

Hampblin paces pro-am field

JACKPOT — Mike Hampblin's five-under 67 led all scorers in the Cactus Pete's Pro-Am golf tournament Monday.

Hampblin won the pro division by three shots over John Lewis, Idaho Falls, followed by Tracy Frank, Burley, 71, and Robb Ellis, Boise; Tom Sanderson, Ketchum, and Bill Downs, Jackpot, all 73.

The Idaho Falls Country Club crew of Pro Don O'Neill and amateurs Anita Newman, Veneta Gustavson, Betty Hankins and Carol Ball won the team title at 118.

Lynn Reynolds, Idaho Falls, and JoAnne Sanderson, Twin Falls, paced the amateur group 0-22 division with 84s, two ahead of Burley's Sergene Sorenson and four up on Doris Ellingham. Justin Messersmith, Jerome, won net at 66, five ahead of Cay King, Mountain Home, and Judy Foulson, Idaho Falls.

In the upper handicap division, Betty Hankins won gross at 92 with Jerri Hutchison, Burley, at 94. Net honors went to Barb Colard, Blackfoot, with Geri Lambson, Blackfoot and Sharon Huffman, Twin Falls, at 67.

Tennis deadline is Thursday

SUN VALLEY — Entry deadline is Thursday for the third annual Idaho Open Seniors Tennis Championship, which will be played Saturday and Sunday at Elkhorn.

Events will include 16 men's, women's and seniors' categories for players aged 35 and older.

Pairings will be posted at the Harker Center at Elkhorn at noon Friday.

Further information can be obtained by phoning 622-3220. Entry forms are available at the Harker Center.

Jays' tickets just like gold

TORONTO (AP) — A safe at Exhibition Stadium has become the temporary keeper of what could be a most popular commodity — 350,000 tickets to the Toronto Blue Jays' playoff and World Series games.

Arriving under tight security Monday, the gold-colored tickets are worth an estimated $11.5 million, providing the American League baseball club finishes first in the Eastern Division, then defeats its western rival to take the AL pennant.

Toronto holds a five-game lead over the New York Yankees going into Tuesday night's games. New York had 19 regular-season contests remaining, while Toronto had 18. However, if the two teams finish the regular season within a half-game of each other, the Jays would have to play a game with the Baltimore Orioles that was lost to the strike.

George Holm, Jays' director of ticket operations, said about 45,000 tickets will be sold for each playoff and World Series game in Toronto, and all tickets will be refunded if a game is not played.

Pruitt signs with Buffalo

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (AP) — Fullback Mike Pruitt, cut by Cleveland before the start of the National Football League season after nine years with the Browns, has signed with Buffalo, the Bills announced Tuesday.

The Bills said there was room on the roster for Pruitt because offensive tackle Justin Cross, who suffered a broken arm in a game against the New York Jets Sunday, was placed on the injured reserve list.

The Bills didn't divulge any terms of the Pruitt deal. But Pruitt's lawyer, George Koury, was quoted in Cleveland as saying, "Mike will be well paid, though not as well as with the Browns."

"I don't anticipate any problems," Pruitt said. "The Bills' system won't be difficult. It's really very similar to the Browns. And I've kept myself in shape, so I'll also be physically ready to play Sunday."

Niles apologizes to Canada

OTTAWA (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Tom Niles offered an apology Tuesday for New York baseball fans who booed when the Canadian national anthem was played before a Yankees-Toronto Blue Jays game.

"Most Americans, indeed most New Yorkers, were as deeply offended as were Canadians at the reaction of some spectators to the playing of the Canadian national anthem at Yankee Stadium last week," Niles said in a statement issued through the American embassy in Ottawa.

"I hope that Canadians realize that the booing reflected excessive partisan spirit in support of the home team and not any hostility to Canada."

However, Niles said Canadians deserve an apology for the impression that was left after New York fans booed when Robert Merrill of the Metropolitan Opera sang "O Canada."

"I offer it on behalf of that vast majority of Americans who feel as I do," Niles said.

Cowboy to miss final year

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma State's record-setting slugger Pete Incaviglia will pass up his final year of college eligibility to pursue a professional baseball career, he has confirmed.

Incaviglia, the top draft pick of the Montreal Expos and eighth pick overall in the June draft, did not enroll at Oklahoma State this semester and confirmed his Stillwater home on Monday he will not play another season for the Cowboys.

Incaviglia, from Pebble Beach, Calif., hit .464 with 48 homers and 143 runs batted in last season, leading the Cowboys to the College World Series.

His decision to bypass his final season did not come as a surprise.

"It was the only thing I could do," he said. "I want to play winter ball and be ready for spring training."

"I'll miss college baseball and OSU and that's the hard part," he said. "I wanted to keep that option open — to come back to school. But it came to the point that I had to make a decision. I want to get my career under way and do that required passing up my final season."

NFL to consider replays

DALLAS (AP) — The head of the National Football League's competition committee says that the use of videotaped replays to review officials' calls will be considered at the owner's meeting next month in New York.

Tex Schramm, president of Dallas Cowboys, said Tuesday that the system, which was tried on an experimental basis during the 1985 preseason, could be in use for the NFL playoffs.

"I can't speculate what the league will do at their meeting," he said. "I certainly would think that everyone would be interested in eliminating mistakes as much as possible."

Schramm said the system "answers most of the problems we have had in the past" with using videotaped replays of close calls.

The system would have the television network provide the raw tape for replays, but would remove network officials from the process of choosing which plays would be reviewed, he said.

O'Brian gets bowling off to good start

TWIN FALLS — Denny O'Brian had the high game and the best series last week as Twin Falls city bowling leagues swung into full action.

O'Brian, who bowls on the Valley League at the Magic Bowl, rolled a 288 game and a 725 series for the honors.

Verna Raymond had the top women's game in town last week, a 244 in the City Mixed League at the Bowladrome. Best women's series belonged to Barb Smith, whose 631 came in the Moonshiners League at the Magic Bowl.
