U.S. diverts pirates' plane to Italy

By SUSANNE M. SCHAFER The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — American warplanes intercepted an Egyptian aircraft carrying four Palestinian hijackers Thursday, forcing the plane to land in Sicily. There, the gunmen have been harried over to Italian authorities by the White House spokesman late in the evening. Larry Speakes said that "in a matter of hours the United States would pursue prompt extradition" so that prosecution could be undertaken here for the murder of a 69-year-old American tourist Leon Klinghoffer.

"This operation was conducted without firing a shot," Speakes told reporters. He said the four Palestinians who hijacked the Italian luxury cruise ship Achille Lauro were in Italian custody "for appropriate legal proceedings." Asked what the Palestinians said as they were taken from the plane, Speakes said the judge they probably had an explosive or two. Speakes said President Reagan approved the interception plan at midday, giving general approval while visiting a Sara Lee baking plant in Chicago and giving final go-ahead while returning to Washington aboard Air Force One.

The intercept took place immediately north of Egypt, above international waters of the Mediterranean as the hijackers hoped they were flying to safety. The Palestinians, who surrendered to Egyptian authorities on Wednesday, had bargained for safe passage and the airplane was heading for Tunisia. "The president directed that U.S. forces intercept the aircraft," said Speakes said, part of a U.S. policy calling for "apprehension, prosecution and punishment" of terrorists. "The United States will seek extradition on grounds an American citizen was murdered," Speakes said. "Our law permits it." He said there was no agreement with the Italian government on the extradition request. Italian authorities have said they want to prosecute, since the cruise liner was hijacked under an Italian flag when the hijackers took control. A government source reinforced that view Thursday night. During the intercepted flight, according to administration sources, the Tunisian government apparently heeding a U.S. request to deny sanctuary to the hijackers refused the Egyptian plane permission to land. U.S. F14 Tomcat jets, coming off the aircraft carrier Saratoga, intercepted the Egyptian 737 aircraft as it headed toward Tunisia from Cairo, Speakes said. At Sicily's Sigonella airport near Catania at 12:30 a.m. (5:30 p.m. EDT), the Egyptian aircraft landed with Italian consent and was surrounded by American and Italian troops," he said. Later an Italian official said the plane could return to Egypt but the four Palestinians would remain in custody for trial. "I think the president is extremely pleased that this was a successful mission. It is one that was carefully thought out, carefully planned, carefully coordinated." See HIJACK on Page A2

New turn in quest for MIAs

Hanoi may allow U.S. team to visit

By GEORGE ESPEY The Associated Press

UNITED NATIONS — "In what could be a major breakthrough in the search for Americans missing in action, a top-ranking Vietnamese Cabinet minister says his government is agreeable in principle to allowing U.S. excavation teams into the Hanoi area for the first time. Other official-American and Vietnamese sources said Vietnam has agreed to a U.S. proposal that the countries carry out a joint survey and excavation of a crash site near Hanoi as an experiment. The sources said the date and other details of the excavation have yet to be worked out. Vo Dong Giang, a Cabinet minister without portfolio and the second-ranking official in the Foreign Ministry, told The Associated Press Wednesday that with regard to joint excavations: "In principle we are agreeable except in the crash sites where our security cannot permit foreigners to have access." A U.S. State Department official in Washington confirmed that American officials have discussed the joint excavation of sites with a Vietnamese delegation led by Giang. The State Department official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said the Vietnamese had expressed their agreement in principle to the proposal at meetings in Hanoi Aug. 28-29 and in New York Sept. 27 with Richard Childress, the National Security Council's political and military affairs director. The State Department official said that since both sides had agreed to speed up the search, the U.S. passed on to the Vietnamese "many more cases" at the meeting in Hanoi Aug. 28-29. "Both sides are very positive about the process at this point," the State Department official said. See HANOI on Page A2

Killing overnight frosts haven't thwarted Rose Pirraglia's Easter lily from blooming outside of her Twin Falls house. The plant, which normally will bloom in the spring, has produced two rare autumn blossoms and two buds, possibly making it the only "Halloween lily" in the Magic Valley.

Senators OK limiting debt to $2 trillion

By CLIFF HAAS The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — After ending eight days of wrangling over a balanced-budget plan, the Senate agreed to raise the national debt limit to more than $2 trillion Thursday night. By 51-47, the Senate voted to increase the government's line of credit from the current $1,824 trillion to $2,078 trillion, enough to meet the government's borrowing needs for the next year. The action came after the Senate completed a series of revisions to the balanced budget plan that was attached to the debt limit legislation on Wednesday. The House, in effect, agreed to the debt limit increase when it passed a budget blueprint on Aug. 1, but the Senate will require further action. "The Senate has been tied up since last week on the debt and budget issues, which forced an extraordinary weekend session," prompted hard feelings between Republicans and Democrats and between the Republican leadership and the Treasury Department. Earlier Thursday, Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole angrily accused the Treasury Department of undermining efforts to pass the balanced-budget plan and displaying "no guts" with an emergency $5-billion auction that eased the government's credit crisis. "What they've done is give the House plenty of time to try and kill the package," the Kansas Republican said before the Senate went back to work on fine-tuning the measure passed Wednesday to set statutory limits on federal deficits in order to achieve a balanced budget by fiscal 1991. On Thursday, the Senate turned aside a series of Democratic amendments aimed at forcing deficit reduction through a spending-for-defense-and-Social-Security-and-through tax increases. Sen. Bill Bradley, D-N.J., offered an amendment to raise $70 billion over five years by increasing the federal excise tax on gasoline to 18 cents. He said the balanced budget amendment adopted Wednesday was merely "a procedural answer to a substantive question." "How serious can this body be about deficit reduction if one day after voting for a balanced budget, it then votes not to do anything about Social Security, defense or revenues," Bradley said. Bradley's gasoline tax amendment was tabled — in effect killed — on an 89-9 vote. The balanced budget plan has been attached to legislation raising the government's borrowing authority from the national debt limit — to more than $2 trillion. The government has reached its current borrowing ceiling of $1,824 trillion and Dole was using the threat of government checks bouncing to spur action on the budget plan. However, with no cash on hand and Congress delaying the borrowing authority increase, the Treasury Department turned, for the first time, to the borrowing authority of the Federal Financing Bank to cover a $5-billion auction of notes. Wednesday's auction has eased the government back from the fiscal brink at least into next week. Dole, though, said, "The Treasury probably pulled the plug on us" and said he would seek to end the $5-billion auction by taking similar action in the future. House Democratic leaders have indicated they favor letting the Federal Financing Bank use up to the full $15 billion in borrowing authority the agency has.

Denial of insurance coverage sparks suit

By PAT MARCONTONIO Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A man who allegedly staged his own disappearance last January by pushing his car into the Snake River is suing a Texas insurance company which denied coverage to the incident. Paul Rudeen, 56, a former Twin Falls businessman and Jerome-area resident, filed the complaint against the Miller Casualty Insurance Co. of Fort Worth, Tex., also known as the Millers Group, Sept. 26, in District Magistrate Court. Rudeen claimed the company issued him policies Oct. 30, 1984, including a liability policy on his 1978 Subaru station wagon. Under the policy, the company would pay — on behalf of Rudeen — damages resulting from bodily injury or property damages from an accident or other occurrence, Rudeen alleges. The company also was obliged, according to the claim, to defend any lawsuits against Rudeen seeking damages because of bodily injury or property damage, "even if any of the allegations of the suit are groundless, false and fraudulent." After the station wagon went off the roadway into the river near Milner Dam Bridge Jan. 24, Twin Falls County sued Rudeen in April for damages "as a result of property damage resulting from the negligent operation of the said Subaru station wagon," the claim says. "The insurance company refused to defend the lawsuit and extend coverage, Rudeen alleged in the suit. Rudeen and his attorney, Harry DeHaan of Twin Falls, have asked the court to interpret the policy to provide coverage and require a defense. Rudeen also seeks attorney fees. The Rudeen claim, however, only tells part of the story surrounding the lost car. About 100 people had searched the bridge area by foot and air for two days, because it was presumed Rudeen also was lost in the river. The search was prompted by a call

Rotating messages cite health hazards

Cigarettes pack new warning labels

By HANU OLEK SCHMID The Associated Press WASHINGTON — Surgeon General C. Everett Koop says he is most pleased about the pregnancy warning. "Most people understand about cancer and heart disease. If you have lung cancer, it's pretty obvious you shouldn't be smoking. But one of our big health problems is low birth weight babies, and this is something that can be prevented," Koop said. "There is little question in my mind that this is an improvement over the old 'Warning: Quitting Now Greatly Reduces Serious Risks to Your Health' label," Koop said. "I particularly like the rotational feature. I think it will make smokers take a little bit closer look and give some thought to the issue," Koop said. Koop said he would have preferred larger, more prominent warnings, including a statement that tobacco is addictive, which is something he thinks young people need to know. "To hide from them the fact that if they do smoke, there is a high probability of and lung disease and hazards to pregnant women and their babies. Surgeon General C. Everett Koop says he is most pleased about the pregnancy warning. Major brands will have to use one warning for three months and then switch to another, while some smaller companies are being allowed to use their own warnings at the same time, on a random basis. The new warnings are: Surgeon General's Warning: Smoking Causes Lung Cancer, Heart Disease, Emphysema, and May Complicate Pregnancy. Surgeon General's Warning: Quitting Now Greatly Reduces Serious Risks to Your Health. Surgeon General's Warning: Cigarette Smoking Causes Lung Cancer, Heart Disease, Emphysema, and May Complicate Pregnancy. Surgeon General's Warning: Smoking by Pregnant Women May Result in Fetal Injury, Premature Birth and Low Birth Weight. The American Cancer Society, American Lung Association and American Heart Association announced last month that they are joining in a public service campaign using television, radio and magazine ads to increase awareness of the warnings.

It should send a message and a strong one, that we will do what is necessary to apprehend those who are involved in terrorism. We will do it again, if the opportunity presents itself.

Earlier in the day, Reagan demanded that the four pirates be turned over to authorities for prosecution "as the murderers that they are." Kilingerhoff was in a wheelchair when he was apparently attacked and then thrown overboard as the hijackers pursued their demands for release of Palestinian terrorists held in Israel.

Sonata. Majority Leader Robert Dole, R-Kan., supported the military action saying Thursday night "if something we've needed for a long time."

For months the president has said the United States should take appropriate action in these cases, Dole said, "The important thing is we've been able to null some of these terrorists."

The White House ended an evening of news "source" reports on the intercept operation — when — Special Forces units were sent to the White House for a 9 p.m. MDT briefing.

ANSA, the Italian news agency, quibbled Italian Premier Bettino Craxi's offer saying that in a telephone call, President Reagan asked him for permission for the plane to land, and the permission was granted.

Speakes said the Egyptian government was not a party to the operation, declining a reporter's speculation that it was meant as a face-saving gesture since Egypt apparently was involved in agreeing to the "safe passage" of the hijackers following their surrender Wednesday in Port Said.

Before the four hijackers left Egypt, President Hosni Mubarak said they had become the Palestine Liberation Organization's responsibility, but a PLO spokesman in Tunis said the PLO has not been turned over.

Reagan, during appearances in the Chicago area, had initially said it would be "all right" if the hijackers punished the hijackers, but it took him less than an hour to retract that statement.

"I shouldn't have made a statement of that kind... I think that I was thinking kind of mad as I am," he added, "but whichever nation apprehended the men should make them available to whatever country has the proper jurisdiction to prosecute them."

I don't know... I did not mean to imply that I favored them (the PLO) to bring the hijackers to justice."

He went on to say, "I really believe that the PLO, if the hijackers are in their custody, should turn them over to a sovereign state."

The president's two statements were typical of the confusion surrounding the end of the two-day piracy drama in the Middle East.

The president commented on the hijacking situation upon his arrival at O'Hare airport for two Chicago appearances to plug his tax reform proposal.

On route to Chicago, Speakes said the United States was receiving conflicting reports on where the hijackers were.

An hour later, Reagan, standing in the rain under the wing of Air Force One, said, "They have been allowed to depart Egypt for parts unknown."

The president said he believed "no nation, no responsible nation, would shelter these people."

He added that whichever nation apprehended the men should make them available to whatever country has the proper jurisdiction to prosecute them.

The first official U.S. excavation in Communist territory was carried out last February in southern Laos at the site where a C-130 transport was shot down in December 1972.

American excavation teams have never ventured into North Vietnam, although recovery operations were carried out in U.S.-backed South Vietnam before the fall of its capital, Hanoi, in April 1975.

Hanoi previously has limited American teams to rare visits of the car into the river and she drove him from the area, deputies reported in February.

Ruduen was located in New Mexico weeks later and extradited back to Twin Falls on a charge of using a false name to obtain a second driver's license. The charge later was reduced to a misdemeanor, which Ruduen pleaded guilty to.

Neither the car nor Ruduen, his former wife Marjorie, and Lively for repayment of the $11,393 allegedly spent on the search for Ruduen. The county also wanted $100,000 in damages for the alleged risk-takers because of the alleged conspiracy of Ruduen and Lively, according to the complaint filed with 5th District Court.

Lively paid the county a $1,666 settlement July 16. As a result, she was dropped as a defendant from the suit.

Marjorie Ruduen, who divorced her husband in April, has asked the court to be dropped from the case.

Twin Falls County Deputy Prosecutor Jeff Hosking said the county will proceed with the case in court.

Ruduen and Dollan of Twin Falls couldn't be reached for comment Thursday on the latest court action.

would ask the U.S. for help. "There are few in number," Glang said. Glang said his government was agreeable to joint excavations. "That was the talk in principle," he said, "but in reality in my discussions with Mr. Childress, I ask him what specific cases might involve joint excavations because I can't imagine those cases. Mr. Childress has not explained that to me."

Heavy rains drench Kansas, Missouri

By The Associated Press

Heavy rains deluged Kansas and Missouri on Thursday, flooding low-lying areas and forcing the evacuations of about 40 families, while record-low temperatures were reached in the West.

Rain also fell in Florida and Georgia as a result of a tropical depression that moved from the Gulf of Mexico to a tropical depression.

In Idaho, Pocatello's 18 degrees and Boise's 26 set new record lows for the date. Other record lows included 22 degrees in Billings, Mont., and International Falls, Minn., and 41 at Stockton, Calif. Winnetu, Nev., tied a 105-year old record with a temperature of 14.

Heavy rains sent rivers and streams over their banks in Kansas and Missouri, with some homes evacuated and low-lying roads closed.

At Wichita, Kan., 5.8 inches of rain fell in the 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. Thursday, flooding streets during the morning rush hour.

Texas also was hit by heavy rain, with Lamesa recording 6.24 inches, Miami 5.58 inches, Crosbyton 4.75 inches and Post 4.31 inches.

In Missouri, more than 6 1/2 inches of rain had fallen by Thursday morning at Liberty, about 6 inches in Kansas City and 3 inches over northeast Missouri. Flooded streets in low-lying areas of Kansas City, Mo., were barricaded Thursday morning and several schools in the outlying area were closed because of high water.

Clay County, Mo., officials said 40 homes in Mosby, a small community northeast of Kansas City, were evacuated when the Fishing River rose to its highest level in several years. About 15 of the residents were rescued by firefighters.

Early afternoon temperatures remained unseasonably chilly from the northern Plateau across the northern and central Plains to the upper Great Lakes, with readings mostly in the 40s. Temperatures were in the 90s over south Texas.

Today's weather

Increasing clouds may bring showers

Twin Falls, Burley, Rupert, Jerome and Gooding: Increasing high clouds today. Southeast winds 5 to 15 mph. Highs in the mid-50s. Tonight and Saturday, partly cloudy. Slight chance of a rain or snow shower. Lows 30 to 35. Highs 45 to 55.

Camas Prairie, Hatley, Lower Wood River Valley: Increasing high clouds today. Southeast winds 5 to 15 mph. Highs 45 to 55. Tonight and Saturday, partly cloudy. Chance of showers. Lows 35 to 40. Highs 45 to 55.

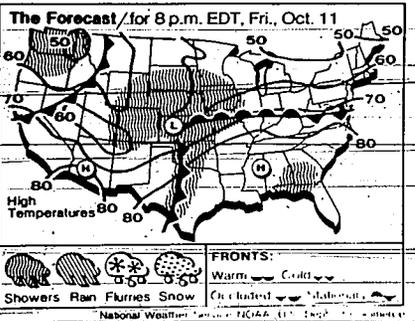

Northern Utah and Nevada: Utah - Partly cloudy through tonight. Increasing clouds Saturday with widely scattered showers developing later in the day. Lows 35 to 45. Highs 55 to 65. South winds to 15 mph Saturday.

Nevada - Chance of showers northwest border today and northeast Saturday otherwise mostly sunny both days. Warmer today with highs both days mid-50s to mid-60s. Overnight lows upper teens to near 32.

Synopsis: Some cloudiness was reported late Thursday afternoon in the north while fair skies prevailed elsewhere over Idaho.

Late afternoon temperatures were mostly in the high 40s and low 50s. Light winds were reported by most stations.

Highest temperature in the state

Thursday was 69 degrees in Hagerman, while Elk City had a low of 4 degrees.

The extended outlook for southern Idaho Sunday through Tuesday indicates a chance of showers Sunday, then dry Monday and Tuesday. Highs in the 50s to low 60s. Lows in the upper 20s through the 30s.

The agricultural forecast for southern Idaho shows conditions for field work and harvesting will be fair to good through the period with a few showers possible on Saturday and Sunday. Total precipitation will be .10 inch or less. Soil temperatures for the potato harvest will fall below 45 degrees by 3 a.m. then rise above 45 degrees by about noon today then remain near 45 degrees or above through Saturday.

Elsewhere in the nation Thursday, temperatures ranged from a high of 97 degrees in Laredo, Texas, to a low of 2 degrees in West Yellowstone, Mont.

Idaho men face coke charges

MIAMI (AP) — One of two Idaho Falls men who pleaded guilty to a cocaine conspiracy was sentenced to five years in prison Thursday by federal court judge.

In sentencing Kirk Woolf, 26, Chief U.S. District Judge James Lawrence King said the possible maximum penalty for conspiracy to possess cocaine with intent to distribute it was 20 years in federal prison and a $500,000 fine.

Woolf's co-defendant, R. Paul Adams, 34, also was set for sentencing Thursday, but the judge postponed the session because of a scheduling conflict with the defense attorney.

Adams also pleaded guilty to the cocaine conspiracy and could receive up to 20 years in prison and $500,000 in fines.

Evans/Bennett meeting set

BOISE (AP) — Officials in Idaho and British Columbia are finalizing plans for a mid-November meeting in Coeur d'Alene between Gov. John Evans and Premier William Bennett to set the agenda for the new joint task force on U.S.-Canadian trade problems.

Evans aide Dave McAllindin said Thursday that only the actual date still must be set for the session between the two leaders who are serving as co-chairmen of the Governors and Premiers Task Force on Trade. The meeting will be used to determine what issues in addition to timber will be discussed by the panel and in what order those issues will be taken up.

Idaho industries still hurting

POCATELLO (AP) — The national recession and its fallout have wrenched the construction industries of Idaho's economy and analysts for those those sectors see little evidence of any quick improvement.

Mining, agriculture and timber — the state's three bedrock industries — will have to cope with continued depressed prices and adverse international conditions for another year or more, the analysis indicated during Thursday's closing session of the two-day annual meeting of the Idaho Association of Commerce and Industry.

Although Jack Peterson, president of the Idaho Mining Association, said Idaho makers are encouraging for his industry, he anticipated continued low prices, high interest rates and intense foreign competition for Idaho operators in the years ahead.

Hansen's IRS spots on hold

BOISE (AP) — Former 2nd District Rep. George Hansen's anti-Internal Revenue Service advertisements will not appear on Lowe's Green's New Wilderness program as Hansen had said, according to Sigi Dejean, who handles advertising for the show.

Ms. Dejean, distribution manager for Access Syndication in Los Angeles, said her company was asked to run the ads by Hansen's agency. But she said the agency was told that no time was available on the show.

The ads were not rejected because of the anti-IRS content, Ms. Dejean said, adding that her company did not even review the ads.

Court rules in real estate case

BOISE (AP) — There is no requirement that a real estate contract must contain a provision to cure a default, a sharply divided Idaho Supreme Court has ruled.

The court ruled 3-2 on Thursday against a claim filed by a Shoshone County woman against Hecla Mining Co. after the company repossessed a house and resold it because the woman did not make payments.

Dissenting justices Robert C. Huntrey and Stephen Bistline both argued strongly that it's well-established in Idaho law that when a buyer falls behind on defaults on a purchase agreement, the buyer must be given a reasonable opportunity to cure the default.

Jones claims cons up in agency's gap

BOISE (AP) — There's been a public service announcements, warning people that deals which sound too good to be true probably are not true.

Since the Idaho Legislature dropped funding for a consumer protection agency, Attorney General Jim Jones says.

Jones told a news conference here Thursday he's going to ask the next Legislature for $129,000 to reinstate the consumer protection agency dropped in 1981 as an economy measure.

But Jones says unless there's a dramatic turnaround in the economy, it's possible the Legislature will not approve the request. So he's organizing a volunteer consumer protection effort. More than 100 lawyers have volunteered to legal services of between 1,100 and 3,000 hours, Jones said.

He also has prepared a series of salesmen have become fairly commonplace in Idaho since the consumer protection division in the attorney general's office was terminated in 1981, Jones said.

Since then, there has been little protection for Idaho residents against swindlers, he said.

Big cases or those involving a lot of investors, can get some protection, but usually it's not worth fighting a $500 or $750 loss through court, Jones said.

He's lining up attorneys to take consumer protection cases on a contingency basis, with payment to be based on the amount of money obtained in a court judgment or settlement.

Road construction nearly completed

BOISE (AP) — Two construction state line and Black Canyon exit projects are nearing completion on scheduled for completion Nov. 1, the Interstate 84 between Caldwell and Idaho Transportation Department said. The $4.1 million project includes repaving the highway and installing guard rails.

Idaho picked for tanks

BOISE (AP) — Idaho has been selected as a training site for advanced Army tanks, Army National Guard officials said.

The training area is located south of Gowen Field, near Boise, said Capt. Rick Johnson, operations officer for the new equipment training team.

Gowen Field was selected by the Army earlier this year as one of two training sites. Camp Shelby, Miss., is the other installation.

The new program, involving 45 M60A3 tanks, will cost the Army about $6.5 million during the first year of operation.

The tanks are an updated model of the M60 tank that Guard forces have used for years — is equipped with a computerized laser rangefinder fire control system.

The M60A3 has been in the regular Army inventory for about five years, and is being assigned to National Guard units for the first time.

Johnson said the computerized fire system is more accurate than the old M60s.

Man files abuse suit against police

BOISE (AP) — A Nez Perce County man "claims" in a U.S. District Court lawsuit here that three Lewiston police officers used improper force when they arrested him last year.

Donald D. Wayne filed the lawsuit against "Methiel D. Shelton," Joseph B. Hardy and Paul D. Ayers. It asks a total of $1,000 for medical expense, $25,000 for pain, suffering and mental and physical injuries and $125,000 in punitive damages.

Wayne claimed in the lawsuit he was arrested on April 11, 1984, and the arresting officers used excessive force.

Disease feared after island mudslide

PUNCE, Puerto Rico (AP) — The National Science Foundation's out-of-Mamyeves-shantytown Thursday after Puerto Rico said it was considering making a common grave of the mudslide where up to 500 people are believed buried.

A 30-hour tropical deluge triggered the avalanche Monday morning that toppled some 400-wood and 100-iron shacks in the hillside shantytown outside Ponce.

Gov. Rafael Hernandez Colon said a decision will be made soon whether to seal off the disaster site to avoid an outbreak of disease, which is the spread he said the action could be taken by this weekend.

Puerto Rican authorities said Thursday that 75 bodies had been recovered from flooded communities and landslide debris on this U.S. commonwealth island of 3.2 million people in the Caribbean. Thirty-two of the bodies were uncovered in Mamyeves.

Dr. Godolmo San Antonio, the Ponce region's health department director, said decomposing bodies, covered by mud, rocks and splintered homes, were creating a threat of water contamination, typhoid fever, mosquito-borne diseases, tetanus and diphtheria.

The tropical depression, subsequently upgraded to Tropical Storm Isabel, hit the Florida coast on Thursday after crossing the Bahamas. Local officials have estimated the damage in Puerto Rico at $100 million.

President Reagan on Thursday declared four flood-stricken Puerto Rican cities as major disaster areas, making them eligible for U.S. federal funds in relief and recovery efforts.

The Federal Emergency Management Agency said that the municipalities of Coamo, Ponce, Santa Isabel and Toa Baja would qualify for federal disaster assistance for families, individuals and businesses.

Coamo and Ponce also were designated as eligible for federal aid to local governments for the repair or replacement of public facilities damaged by the disaster.

U.S. loses Pacific missile range lease

HONOLULU (AP) — Kwajalein, meeting with the Marshall Islands' Atoll landowners has rejected a president. George M. Allen, at U.S. proposal to temporarily extend (lease) for the landowners, said the rental of land, for Kwajalein, Wednesday. Missile Range-use in the Pacific. There were no interruptions or. They rejected the 60-day extension. They rejected the Marshall Islands, about 2,100 miles and they rejected a southwest of Hawaii, he said.

House favors textile cuts, vote lacks veto block

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House approved major trade legislation Thursday to force sharp cutbacks in textile and apparel imports but the 283-188 vote was short of the two-thirds margin needed to override a threatened veto.

"This is the last gasp of this industry — don't say you weren't told," declared Rep. Ed Jenkins, D-Ga., chief sponsor of the measure, which is the spearhead in a wave of hundreds of trade bills before Congress.

The measure now goes to the Senate, which is weighing a softer version.

The victory margin fell short of the two-thirds that would be needed to override a threatened veto by President Reagan. But as he left the floor afterward, Jenkins told reporters he would "switch 15 people between now and the override if the override comes."

Override of a presidential veto requires two thirds of those voting and, thus, the number needed in any specific instance depends on how many of the 335 congressmen answer the roll call.

In a two-hour debate, free-trade forces argued that the measure, which would force cutbacks averaging perhaps 35 percent in textile and apparel imports, was bound to boomerang on farmers, workers and consumers by bringing retaliation in East Asia against American exports.

Clocks to move for votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional subcommittee on Thursday decided to tinker with the clock so late voters on the West Coast won't know who won the presidential election before they have a chance to vote.

The proposal, offered by Rep. William M. Thomas, R-Calif., was seen by supporters, especially Westerners, as a way of getting around problems created by broadcast network projections of election winners.

The Constitution prevents Congress from outlawing reporting of election results, so the House Administration Committee's subcommittee on elections voted 7-1 to approve a different way of making sure West Coast voters don't learn East Coast vote totals while their polling places are still open.

Under the bill, scheduled to be considered by the full committee next Thursday, voting will start at 7 p.m. MST in all the states except Alaska and Hawaii.

However, to give residents of California, Washington, Oregon, Nevada and the Idaho panhandle a chance to vote after work, the end of daylight-saving time in those areas will be delayed until the Sunday after Election Day every four years.

That way it will be 6 p.m. MDT when it is 9 p.m. in the Eastern time zone, 8 p.m. in the Central time zone and 7 p.m. in the Mountain time zone.

Daylight-saving time now applies from 2 a.m. on the last Sunday in April until 2 a.m. on the last Sunday in October in areas that do not specifically exempt themselves. Another bill pending in the Congress would extend daylight time one week nationwide.

Navy leak to sink spies

BALTIMORE (AP) — Classified information that a Navy analyst is accused of leaking to a magazine could have given the Soviets an idea of U.S. spy efforts to sink the "Horn" — an intelligence analyst testified Thursday.

Samuel Loring Morrison is on trial on a charge of espionage for allegedly giving a British military magazine, Jane's Defense Weekly, information about an explosion of a Soviet ammunition depot and three U.S. satellite photographs of a Soviet aircraft carrier under construction.

Capt. Robert Chapin Jr. said, "Given that information, a Soviet agent can identify the window we are looking out and hold things that we see and control what we see."

Senator demands Japan trade push

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Pete Wilson, R-Calif., on Thursday urged trade retaliation to force the Japanese government to open its markets to U.S. semiconductor products.

"The time has come to stop turning the other cheek," Wilson said at a joint Economic Committee hearing which examined problems in U.S.-Japanese trade in semiconductors, the basic units running modern electronic equipment.

He said that, in part, pressure from imports has led the U.S. semiconductor industry to experience a drop in demand, causing widespread layoffs in California's Silicon Valley.

Shuttle cargoes no longer a secret
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force on Thursday announced that the space shuttle will carry on its first mission from the West Coast next year.
 One is designed to track cruise missiles; the other is to be, eventually, a detector for ballistic missiles.
 It has been a badly kept secret that the inaugural flight from Vandenberg Air Force Base in California next March 29 will carry an infra-red space surveillance experiment called "Teal Ruby."

Bright star of film goes out as Orson Welles dies

YUL BRYNNER
In role as exotic Siamese king

Stage mourns the king

NEW YORK (AP) — The lights went out on Broadway on Thursday night to mourn Yul Brynner, whose bursting vitality and cool demeanor made him one of the stage's most enduring monarchs.

Marquees and theaters in the drama district dimmed for the actor, who had starred as the King of Siam for a record 1,625 performances in "The King and I" musical.

Brynner, who died early Thursday at age 65, gave his final performance last June 30, taking his final bow with his legendary gesture, arms shot high in the air, eyes glittering and a smile that devoured his face.

His fourth wife, Kathy Lee, and his four children were with him at The New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center when he died, said Josh Ellis, a family spokesman.

"He faced death with a dignity and strength that astounded his doctors. He fought like a lion," Ellis said.

He was a charming and amusing man of many talents, although, of course, he will be identified as the king for ever," Deborah Kerr, who starred with Brynner in the 1956 movie version of "The King and I," said from her villa in Marbella, Spain.

In his thousands of performances as the king of Siam, Brynner was lord and master over 189 wives, 447 children and 12 Annas during 34 years of stage performances that ended in June. More than 3.5 million theatergoers are estimated to have seen him in the role on Broadway and another 4.5 million on the road.

"He had so many facets as an actor. And of course, he grew in the part of the king. He became the king," said Mary Martin, who recommended Brynner to Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein for the job as the imperious ruler of Siam.

Brynner shaved his head for the part, and it became his trademark after the show opened on Broadway in 1951.

The role brought him a Tony in 1952, an Oscar in 1957 for the film version, and a special Tony in June which Miss Martin presented. Brynner played his final performance as the monarch June 30 in New York at the end of a national tour that had lasted almost 4 1/2 years.

Brynner made more than three dozen movies, including "The Ten Commandments," "The Magnificent Seven," "A Man Called Horse," "Tora! Tora! Tora!" and "Westward 101."

Brynner's final tour in the musical was interrupted in September 1983 when the actor, who at one time smoked five packs of cigarettes a day, began treatment for lung cancer in Las Vegas.

Brynner was born Taidje Khan on Sakhalin Island, north of Japan. His father was a Mongolian mining engineer who later changed the family name to Brynner. His mother was a gypsy who died at his birth. Brynner was abandoned and was found in Peking but he went to Paris to live with his grandmother and study.

In Europe, Brynner worked as an acrobat until a fall at 17 forced him to give up the trapeze.

Brynner and friends held a private service Thursday, and a memorial service will be scheduled later, Ellis said.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Orson Welles, the Hollywood boy-wonder who terrified radio listeners with a tale of a Martian invasion and created "Citizen Kane," one of the greatest films of all time, died of a heart attack Thursday at the age of 70.

Welles, who reached the pinnacle of his career by the time he was 26, had seen his hopes of making more films rebuffed over the last quarter-century by an industry that bit parts, talk-show slots and commercials.

In fact, many young people knew him mainly for a recent series of Paul Masson wine commercials, in which he intoned, "We will sell you wine before its time."

"It seems so many giants have left us," said Janet Leigh, who starred in "A Touch of Evil" with Welles. "I think we lost one of our geniuses, one of our innovative, courageous geniuses."

"It's no feather in the cap of our Hollywood community that it didn't make better use of his talents," said actor-director John Huston.

The death of the partly, 6-foot-3 actor, who lived in Las Vegas, Nev., was reported to the coroner's office at 10 a.m. MDT by Hollywood Division police, said Donald Messerle.

ORSON WELLES
Directed 'Citizen Kane'

assistant chief of coroner's investigations. Messerle said the death would not be a coroner's case, because Welles had seen his personal physician within 20 days.

Welles' attorney, Eli Blumenthal, said Welles' physician, Dr. Thomas J. Dalley, informed him the cause of death was a heart attack.

No funeral arrangements had been made.

Welles panicked America in 1938 with his Mercury Theater of the Air radio adaptation of H. G. Wells' "War of the Worlds." Despite frequent disclaimers during the broadcast, some listeners believed the nation really was being invaded by Martians.

He stunned the film world in 1941 with his first venture in film, "Citizen Kane," based on the life of publisher William Randolph Hearst. Welles directed, wrote and starred in the film, winning an Oscar for writing. He also was nominated for directing and acting Oscars.

Other credits included the classic "Othello," "The Third Man," "A Touch of Evil," "The Lady from Shanghai" and dozens of others in a career that spanned more than 40 years.

The last 25 years of his life were marked by a series of unfinished projects. At his death, he was working on a project to film Shakespeare's "King Lear."

Born on May 6, 1915, in Kenosha, Wis., Welles was a precocious child. He read at age 2, played the violin for Stravinsky and Ravel at 7, and did Shakespeare in modern dress at 10. By 16 he was acting in Dublin. He appeared in New York, founding the Mercury Theater with John Houseman in 1937.

in 1934, he married first wife Virginia Nicholson, and they had a daughter, Christopher. They divorced in 1940. He wed Rita Hayworth in 1943, and they had a daughter, Rebecca.

"Citizen Kane" proved the high point of Welles' Hollywood career. It plunged Welles into controversy, and studios were wary of a filmmaker who delighted in tweaking the Establishment nose.

During World War II, Welles, who was classified 4-F by the military, entertained troops with a magic act in which he sawed Miss Hayworth in half.

In the late 1940s, he moved to Europe where he hired out as an actor ("The Black Rose," "The Third Man") to finance his own projects such as "Othello" and "Chimes at Midnight."

He returned to the United States in the 1970s with his third Countess di Graciano, who acted in Italian films as Paola Mori.

In 1975, Welles received a Lifetime Achievement Award of the American Film Institute, and the Directors Guild gave him its highest honor, the D.W. Griffith Award.

He had also been given a special Oscar in 1970 for "superlative literary and versatility in the creation of motion pictures."

On Tuesday, Welles had appeared drawn and haggard during a lunch with Burt Reynolds.

Stocks edge up on quiet day

By CHET CURRIER
The Associate Press

NEW YORK — The stock market emerged from a quiet, drifting session Thursday clinging to a small gain.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial, up 1.24 points on Wednesday, rose another 1.35 to 1,328.07.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange slowed to 90.91 million shares from 89.14 million the day before.

The market's advance Wednesday was sparked by heated takeover speculation in many issues.

But analysts said that kind of trading enthusiasm couldn't be sustained for long. As it faded, they said, stock prices gave way to continuing concerns about the outlook for the economy, corporate earnings and interest rates.

A barrage of new debt securities from the Treasury is expected soon in the credit markets. Many Wall Street analysts worried that it will push interest rates higher.

Higher rates, in turn, could weaken the economy. Even so, some economic activity hasn't been producing corporate profits at levels many investors had been hoping for.

Brokers said the market might take its next cue from International Business Machines' impending third-quarter earnings report. In Thursday's trading, IBM shares rose 1/4 to 124 1/2.

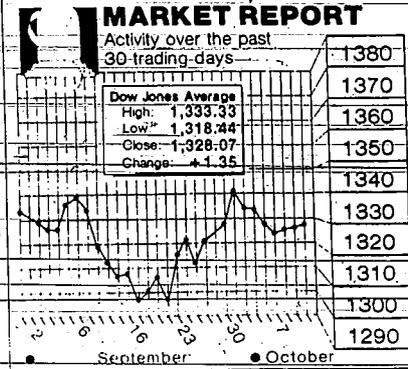

Beatrice, a prime target of takeover speculators in recent sessions, dropped back 2 1/4 to 11 1/4.

Some semiconductor and other technology issues declined amid concern about earnings prospects in that sector of the economy.

Motorola fell 1/4 to 39 1/4; Hewlett-Packard, down 1/4 to 23 1/4; and National Semiconductor, down 1/4 to 10 1/4.

Ford Motor gained 1/4 to 45 1/4. The company raised its quarterly dividend from 60 cents a share to 70 cents a share.

Retailing issues were mixed as major companies in the industry posted generally soft sales results for September. Sears Roebuck dropped 1/4 to 32 1/4; K mart % to 31 1/4; and J.C. Penney % to 46 1/4.

Middle South Utilities climbed 1/4 to 10. A Judge ordered an immediate rate increase for NU's Louisiana Power & Light subsidiary, which has been in financial difficulties relating to a nuclear power project.

Bank stocks were mostly higher as the first of the third-quarter earnings reports in the industry generally showed healthy gains. Citicorp rose 1/4 to 43 1/4; Chase Manhattan % to 53 1/4; J.P. Morgan % to 49; and Manufacturers Hanover % to 39 1/4.

In the daily tally on the Big Board, about five issues rose in price for every four that lost ground. The exchange's composite index of all its listed common stocks gained .21 to 105.75.

The NASDAQ composite index for the over-the-counter market edged up .13 to 279.41. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index closed at 221.98, up .50.

Retail sales sluggish

By The Associated Press

The nation's biggest retailers Thursday reported sluggish sales for September, compared with the strong gains recorded a year earlier.

Among the big retailers, Sears, Roebuck & Co. said its sales for the five weeks ended Oct. 5 edged up on by 0.3 percent and J.C. Penney Co. posted a 0.5 percent decline.

The lackluster results reflected weakened consumer demand, the impact of Hurricane Gloria on several major Eastern markets and competition for consumers' dollars from auto companies that offered rebates to stimulate sales, said Jeffrey Feiner, a retail analyst with Merrill Lynch & Co. in New York.

Bernard Faber, chairman of K mart Corp., which reported a 7.7 percent September sales gain, said that while K mart expects sales to pick up as the important holiday season approaches, the "strong sales increases last year will continue to make comparisons difficult for the balance of the year."

Ford Motor Co. said, meanwhile, that it will offer 8.8 percent loan rates on four lines of 1986-model small cars with manual transmissions and on two lines of light trucks.

The limited terms nearly match those offered last Monday by General Motors Corp. on seven lines of 1986 cars with manual transmissions.

A few hours after Ford's action, American Motors Corp. said it would offer 8.8 percent financing on its two U.S.-made subcompact cars, the Renault Encore and Alliance. Chrysler Corp. said it wouldn't react immediately.

Moore Financial's earnings increase

By BOISE (AP)

Moore Financial Group of Boise announced third-quarter earnings that are 13.3 percent higher than the corresponding period a year earlier.

The company announced Wednesday that its third-quarter net income was $6.1 million, or 90 cents a share. That's up 4 percent from 1985's second quarter.

Total assets for Moore Financial Group were $3.2 billion as of Sept. 30. Moore Financial Group is the parent company of Idaho First.

Reagan selects 2 to take Fed seats

By WASHINGTON (AP)

President Reagan, splitting the difference between the monetarist and supply side schools of economics, picked William D. English and Alan B. Johnson on Thursday to fill two seats on the powerful Federal Reserve Board.

Johnson, assistant treasury secretary for economic policy, is a follower of the supply-side school that believes in the need for sharp cuts in tax rates and an easy monetary policy to stimulate economic growth.

State ends court case against Power Pump

By BOB FREUND
Times-News writer

BOISE — The Idaho Department of Finance has ended court action against a Kimberly-man-and-other-officials of Power Pump International Inc. of Boise, which once was hired to develop geothermal energy under the state capitol complex.

Clark D. Higley, a director and vice president of marketing for the company, has agreed to leave any official company posts for at least two years in a settlement announced Monday by the state agency.

Fourth District Court Judge D. Duff McKee also ordered a permanent injunction that prevents Higley from violating securities laws in the future. The Kimberly-man made the settlement without admitting or denying guilt.

His wife, Colleen, declined comment on his behalf Thursday. "There really isn't anything to say," she said. "The state has settled."

In December the department accused Higley, the company and three other top officers of violating numerous securities laws, including misrepresenting the company to investors. It obtained similar injunctions against the company, its chairman, Marvin Judd, reportedly from Provo, Utah; and its president, Kenneth E. Ford, reportedly from Edmonds, Wash.

The state dropped action against Power Pump Vice President Byron B. Jolly of Boise.

However, in its settlement with Higley state securities officials have left open the possibility of reviving the lawsuit to obtain restitution if another case filed by investors isn't settled within the next four months. Finance Department Director Tam McElwain said.

asking for triple damages on some counts.

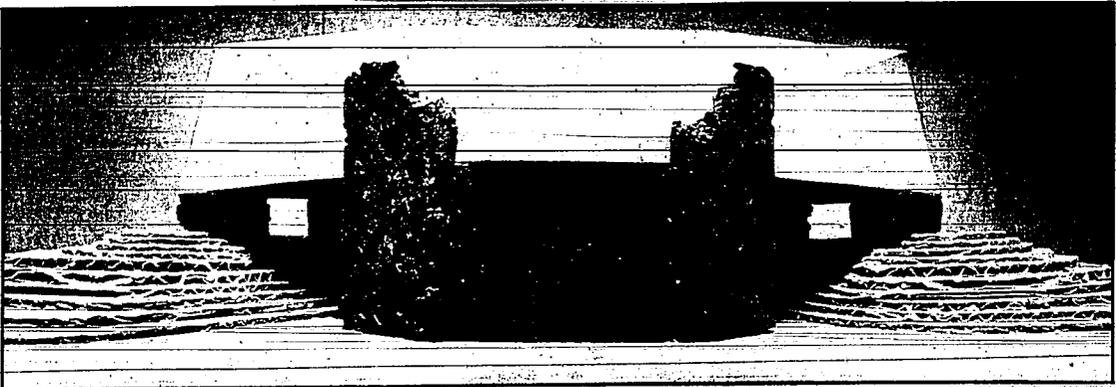

Lloyd and Darlene Montgomery of Norland; Dennis and Diana Montgomery, also from Norland; Deloy and Barbara Montgomery, from Kennewick; and Clifton and Hazel May Heburn, allege that Power Pump officers misrepresented the securities, the risks involved in the investments and the reliability of the power-pump technology itself.

They also claim in court documents that Judd had been forbidden to sell securities by a U.S. District Court, and that none of Power Pumps representatives, including Higley, were registered in Idaho to sell securities.

On that case, Colleen Higley on Thursday would say only, "That's in the process of being settled."

Power Pump also gained statewide attention in 1983 when the state Department of Lands gave the company — then known as Power Pump Idaho Inc. — a 35-year contract to generate electricity with surplus geothermal water found under the state capitol complex.

Under the contract, Power Pump would use its patented process, that claims to convert heat energy to electrical energy with a pump that requires no outside energy to run. The state would have gained $14 million in royalties if the plan had been successful. The contract has been cancelled.

An architect's model of the amphitheater that will be built in Rock Creek Park with the help of money donated through country music benefit concerts

Plans call for expanding, improving Rock Creek Park

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The popular Rock Creek park west of Magic Valley Regional Medical Center may soon double in size and recreational assets.

Darrell Heider, director of parks for Twin Falls County, says he has been assured the county will be getting a federal matching grant with which to develop 9.7 acres of land located across Rock Creek from the present park development. The Land and Water Conservation funds have been approved for Twin Falls County and only final paper work remains to be done before the money is in the hands of county officials, he said.

At that time, Heider added, the county will receive a gift of the nearly 10 acres of land from the Twin Falls Canal Co. The firm has indicated a desire to donate the land which it acquired for flood control purpose. The land value will serve as matching local funds for the grant.

Heider said Twin Falls County applied for $195,000 in federal funding which is allocated within the state by the Parks and Recreation Department. This is the agency that has assured Heider that the application has been approved.

When both the federal money and the additional land are received, he said, the railroad flat cars, a donation from Union said. A modern amphitheater for the park will be moved into place site to serve as foot bridges, connecting the new and the old park sites. Heider said the railroad cars are made of a cast steel understructure and will provide long-lasting crossings for Rock Creek. Each fall show held by the area musicians who donate their time and musical talent for the performances.

Plans for the development across the creek call for an amphitheater, hiking trails and probably in the future, tennis courts, parking and a baseball diamond. The Twentieth Century Club of Twin Falls, one of the original park sponsors, has donated $1,000 to help purchase land at the north entrance of the park to assure public access to the area that will be developed. Another more help is on the way. Heider said.

This organization will donate proceeds from two shows, Monday and Tuesday nights in the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Auditorium. This is the annual fall show held by the area musicians who donate their time and musical talent for the performances.

Heider said the park has long been the pride of Twin Falls County officials. "It is almost on the city limits of Twin Falls, and yet when you are in the canyon you could be miles from town. It is secluded and away from traffic and the hustle and bustle of business," he said. "It is a favorite spot for families, individuals, youth groups and organizational functions."

The park is closed each night and remains relatively free of vandalism and damage. It currently has picnic shelters, tables, playground equipment and paved roadways and parking.

Heider said the achievement of the present small park is especially significant since the site was formerly a wrecking lot filled with hundreds of old car bodies that created an eyesore to travelers on U.S. Highway 30 entering town from the west.

The County Commission, then headed by William Chancy, combined efforts with the Twentieth Century Club and many other Magic Valley organizations that provided free labor and funding for the initial clearing and development of the park.

Burley police team with union

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

BURLEY — About 90 percent of the Burley Police Department members are said to have joined the Idaho Service Employees Union, Local 687, AFL-CIO, in an effort to obtain pay increases and improved benefits.

Warren Lundquist of Boise, business representative for the union, said Thursday night that printed filters will be sent to Burley today for distribution by statistics from a recent survey that shows Burley police are the lowest paid officers in the state of Idaho, Lundquist said. Public information about the situation and possibly meetings with city officials are also planned, the union official said.

"Several months ago the department unionized in an effort to improve conditions," Lundquist said. They (police officers) sent a letter to the city council stating their concerns and asking for an answer. The city council has never responded and members have contacted me asking for help.

Lundquist said the starting pay for a patrolman in Burley is $900 and there is no patrolman, regardless of how long he has worked for the city, receiving more than $1,000 per month.

Lundquist said some of the officers' children receive free school lunches and one applied for and received $86 in food stamps recently.

"Some are working two jobs to support their families, especially if their wives are not employed," Lundquist said. "There is no question but they are at the poverty level."

He added other police benefits are not on a par with most other cities.

"What we are asking is that Burley city pays its police officers on a basis equal to that in other Idaho cities of equal size. For example, a patrolman in Blackfoot will earn about $3,000 more a year than one in Burley," Lundquist said.

He said a survey of all city police employees in the state shows Burley at the absolute bottom of the list with many very small communities paying much better salaries.

Mayor Chuck Shaddock of Burley said he recalls hearing something about the union quite a while ago, but added he does not want to comment at this time on any requests may have been submitted to the city council by the police employees.

"We haven't heard anything about it for a long time," he said. "Just about anyone can qualify for food stamps now days."

Farm bill gets nod for opposite reasons

By DEAN S. MILLER
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Idaho's congressmen cast lukewarm votes for the farm bill that passed the House Wednesday, votes that were lukewarm for opposite reasons.

U.S. Rep. Richard Stallings, D-Idaho, says the bill doesn't do enough to help farmers out of their current woes; but his colleague from the north, Larry Craig, R-Idaho, says the bill doesn't go far enough in getting the U.S. government out of agriculture.

Craig said Thursday night he did not vote for farm bills in the past, but this one was within the budget restrictions set by President Reagan and did make some moves to restrict government support for farmers — particularly for wheat and feed grain producers.

Stallings said he is satisfied the House farm bill will offer a safety net for the tough years ahead, but he wishes it did more to protect them back on their feet. "My concern is that we've really done nothing to reverse the decline," the 2nd District congressman said.

Craig said the House farm bill will help farmers hold their own. Farm problems are "the end result of a high dollar, pushed up and held up there by the fiscal policy Congress has been following; and that's a deficit policy," Craig said.

Rendering plant targeted for February opening

By BOB FREUND
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Independent Meat Co. may start up operations at its proposed rendering plant along Rock Creek Canyon by February.

"We hope we can get the building built within 90 days," company president Dan Florence said Thursday in a telephone interview.

On Tuesday, Independent Meat got the final go-ahead from city officials for the plant, which will process slaughterhouse wastes into byproducts for resale.

The plant already has been designed, equipment has been purchased and construction can get under way, Florence said.

The packinghouse currently trucks close to 45,000 pounds of animal fat, bones and inedible offal daily to a rendering facility at Bliss. With a plant at its own site, Independent will save the costs of shipping the wastes and will gain income from the byproducts, Florence said.

The animal parts will be processed into two primary products — tallow and high-protein meals. The tallow is used in manufacturing soaps and in stearic acid, a chemical important to the production of rubber and cosmetics. Bone meal and meat meal are high-protein supplements for animal feeds.

"We anticipate marketing most of it in the Magic Valley," the executive said. Some products also could be shipped to West Coast buyers.

"The animal wastes yield an average of $ million pounds of finished products per year, worth somewhere between $1 and $2 million, Florence has estimated.

"The plant will open by processing the daily output from its own meatpacking operations. However, company officials also plan to process wastes from smaller slaughterhouses in the future, he said.

"There are no other large packers like ourselves in the valley, but there are several other small operations from Burley to Gooding that also produce fat and bone and inedible offal," he said.

Statue of Liberty exhibit travels as fund-raiser

By ANNETTE CARY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — For about half the residents in the Magic Valley, the first view their ancestors had of America was Liberty Enlightening the World, 151 feet above New York Harbor.

But since the flood of 17 immigrants passing under the eyes of the Statue of Liberty stopped in the early 1950s, the statue and the Federal Immigration Station on Ellis Island have fallen into disrepair.

Saturday, Magic Valley residents will have a chance to contribute part of the $20 million needed for repairs and to learn about their heritage when a traveling mini-museum featuring the statue stops in Twin Falls.

The exhibit, housed in a truck trailer, features displays that publicists say are designed to create the images and impressions immigrants shared of Ellis Island and the Statue of Liberty.

The exhibit is being sponsored nationally by Allied Van Lines, with the endorsement of the Liberty-Ellis Island Foundation. Local sponsors are the Downtown Business Improvement District and Main Moving and Storage Inc.

Jones says consumers need protection back

By The Associated Press
and the Times-News

BOISE (AP) — There's been a steady build up of scams, con artists and other types of fraud in Idaho since the Idaho Legislature dropped funding for a consumer protection agency Attorney General Jim Jones says.

Jones told a news conference here Thursday he's going to ask the next Legislature for $129,000 to reinstate the consumer protection agency dropped in 1981 as an economy measure.

But Jones says unless there's a dramatic turnaround in the economy, it's possible the Legislature will not approve the request. So he's organizing a volunteer

Burglars pick off two homes

TWIN FALLS — Burglars visited two Twin Falls residences recently, taking nearly $500 in household items.

Police reports showed the home of William Stope at 119 Eighth Avenue N., was entered through a back door that was apparently left unlocked. The only item missing was a $150 telescope.

The home of Roger Ambers at 312 Shoshone St. E., was entered and the owner reported a television set and other items valued at $318 were missing. Entry was gained by forcing open the front door of the apartment.

Police-arrested Kenneth Dean Council, 25, of Twin Falls as a suspect in the Ambers burglary. Council was charged with first-degree burglary.

Thieves like tires this week

TWIN FALLS — Tire thefts continued to plague Twin Falls area dealers Thursday.

Police in Twin Falls received a report on theft from Commercial Tire Co., 2030 Kimberly Road, totaling $1,325.

Officials of Commercial Tires said someone removed five large truck tires and wheels that were chained in a tire rack at the rear of the building Wednesday. The five were valued at $125 each. About the same time another truck tire, valued at $200, was taken from a rented enclosure behind the building.

Earlier in the week, tire thefts were reported by Big O Tires, on Addison Avenue West, and Snake River Tire Co., on Blue Lakes Boulevard North, in Twin Falls.

Bar reports cash register theft

HOLLISTER — The theft of about $187 from the cash register at Howard's Bar in Hollister was reported early Thursday morning to Twin Falls County sheriff's officers.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Harold Jensen said the reported robbery has been under investigation all day, but no arrests had been made.

He said the bar, which also includes a service station, reported the incident at 1:35 a.m. Thursday. The clerk on duty said two men and one woman came to the station and purchased gasoline. While the clerk's attention was apparently distracted, the money from the cash register disappeared.

Officers in Nevada and Twin Falls were notified, but no suspects were sighted.

Jensen said the investigation is continuing.

Court upholds award of fees

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho Supreme Court has upheld the awarding of $47,000 in legal fees in a Blaine County case involving a failed Colorado business venture.

John J. Beaupre of Ketchum won the judgment in a lawsuit against Gerald Robert King and Douglas Betzold, his partners in a Red Robin restaurant franchise in Colorado.

When the venture failed, Beaupre sued his partners for their share of legal fees to defend claims by creditors.

Fifth District Judge Daniel Meehl awarded Beaupre legal fees and the Supreme Court ruled Thursday there was sufficient basis for the award.

The court also rejected Beaupre's cross-appeal that the jury did not award enough punitive damages.

Judge sticks to forgery charge on former superintendent

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Former Superintendent Robert Hutchins was bound over to 5th District Court Thursday on a charge of forgery.

Hutchins had no address available. He is accused of forging a $2,023 district payroll check sometime in April.

The decision to bind over Hutchins to District Court was made by Magistrate Judge Mel Edwards. In the next step of the process, Hutchins will be asked to plead to the felony charge before a district judge.

Edwards made the decision to bind over Hutchins after defense attorney William Hoffield of Twin Falls had indicated he would not submit a brief to support his earlier request to dismiss the forgery charge.

Hoffield made the request at a closed preliminary hearing Sept. 20 in Magistrate Court in Twin Falls. Hoffield argued the charge should be dropped because the evidence didn't reflect the language in the criminal complaint.

Edwards had given Hoffield 30 days to submit a written argument to support his request, at which time the prosecution would be given time to respond.

Hoffield said Thursday that he didn't follow through because, after further search, he found the point he raised wasn't valid. He told the court he wouldn't be pursuing the issue.

Based on the evidence at the hearing, which Hutchins did not attend, Edwards made his decision.

Hutchins, who couldn't be found for comment, is out on $5,000 bond.

At the Sept. 20 preliminary hearing a charge of grand theft against Hutchins was dismissed by Edwards. The charge stemmed from a complaint by a Buhl business that Hutchins had returned four X-rated video movies — valued at $50 each — June 13-14.

Twin Falls County Deputy Prosecutor Rockne Lammers said Thursday that the county is considering retelling the theft charge. Hutchins resigned from his job with the Castleford School District in April and left the area. He was arrested Aug. 23, on a Twin Falls County warrant, in South Sherman, Ore., where he was working as a principal and superintendent in a small rural school district.

Power council chairman elected

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Robert Saxvik, a former Democratic state senator, and vice to Gov. John Evans, has been elected chairman of the Northwest Power Planning Council.

Saxvik, 55, who has been vice chairman, took over as the leader of the eight-member council Thursday, succeeding the elected chairman of Washington, Kai Lee of Washington succeeds Saxvik as vice chairman.

A former radio station general manager in Burley, Idaho, Saxvik takes control of the council as it prepares its new 29-year electrical power plan for the Northwest and plans to protect and enhance fish and wildlife habitat affected by hydropower development in the Columbia River Basin.

The hydropower system is critical to the Northwest because it supplies 75 percent of all our power.

Saxvik said, "With the power council as the regional policy-maker, the plan calls for regional cooperation from both private and public utilities."

He also pledged to work closely with ratepayers, Indian tribes, industry, utilities and local governments to ensure that a workable public policy on energy is developed for the region.

BLM still finds 'hopper infestation

BOISE (AP) — Idaho's public lands are still infested with grasshoppers, according to a Bureau of Land Management survey conducted in September to determine the effect of the summer's infestation and multimillion-dollar spraying program.

"There are still 'hoppers out there," said Bud Sherrets, a natural resource specialist with the BLM's state office.

Sherrets said a significant population gathered in September along the Snake River plain on Oneida County's Oregon border.

Concentrations varied from area to area. Some locations showed spotty evidence of the insects, while others remained packed with more than eight per square yard. Concentrations at that level or higher are considered to pose an economic danger.

However, Sherrets said the survey grasshopper harvest could result in a BLM prediction of what sort of problem will hatch next year. The severity of next year's infestation will depend largely on whether the eggs laid by this summer's grasshoppers live through spring.

Grasshopper eggs are laid in the soil, where they remain immune to harsh conditions throughout the winter. When the weather turns warm, the eggs will hatch, said Roger Vega, administrator of the state's Agriculture — Departments — Plant Industries Division.

Sherrets said that early spring warmth followed by cold wet conditions would kill the hatch. But if the spring stays warm and dry, as it has the past two years, another banner grasshopper harvest could result. An explicit condition could continue throughout many parts of southern Idaho.

"We're kind of at the mercy of the weather," Sherrets said.

While the survey did not provide an explicit grasshopper forecast, Sherrets said it tells authorities where the grasshoppers are concentrated on public lands and allows monitoring through the next year.

No such monitoring was done last spring and no survey was done last year. The BLM because a grasshopper problem was not foreseen, he

Bliss Highway District election scheduled

BLISS — An election will be held in December for two seats on the Bliss Highway District. Clerk Margo Sears announced this week.

The election is for sub-district commissioner posts for zones one and two.

The zone one post, currently held by Jim Brizandine, covers the area south of Bliss. The zone two post is held by Fred Halmline and covers the area west of Bliss.

Sears said that only people living in each sub-district may file a petition for the position in their zone and people who sign the petition must also be residents of the zone. However, Sears added, all residents of the Bliss area may vote, not just residents of the zones.

Petitions may be obtained from Sears and must be returned by Nov. 20 at noon. The election will be held Dec. 2 from 1-4 to 7 p.m. at the Bliss City Hall.

consumer protection effort. More than 100 lawyers have volunteered services of between 1,000 and 3,000 hours, Jones said.

He also has prepared a series of public service announcements warning people that deals which sound too good to be true probably are not true.

"On artists' and fly-by-night salesmen have become fairly common in the area since the consumer-protection division in the attorney general's office was terminated," he said.

Florence also said special equipment such as condensers and scrubbers should prevent any air pollution from the plant. Independent Meat's private sewage system should take care of wastewater from the rendering plant, he said.

The plant will employ between one and three workers, Florence said earlier.

Florence declined to release the cost of constructing the plant.

Since then, there has been little protection for Idaho residents against swindlers, he said.

But cases, or those involving a lot of investors, can get some protection, but usually it's not worth fighting a $500 or $750 loss through court, Jones said.

He's lining up attorneys to take consumer protection cases on a contingency basis, with payment to be based on the amount of money obtained in a court judgment or settlement.

He used a similar process in a Pocatello gas-price-fixing case, which Jones said so far has produced civil settlements of $130,000.

The public service announcements will carry three basic messages, Jones said:

- Deals which look too good to be true probably are not true and should be carefully investigated.
- Written agreements should be read and understood before they are signed.
- Buyers should find out details of warranties before completing the transaction.

Jones also is reprinting two booklets first prepared by former attorney general David Leroy. One covers provisions of Idaho's 1971 Consumer Protection Act and identifies sources of assistance.

"Another" covers landlord-tenant relationships.

Jones said using volunteer lawyers will be a "stop gap" measure until the state can afford full-scale consumer protection.

He estimated Idaho residents are losing hundreds of thousands of dollars per year to swindlers, but Ken Thornberg, director of the Treasure Valley Better Business Bureau, said the figure probably is 10 times that amount.

On Thursday, the BBB's board of directors approved new, tight standards to guard against one major problem, deceptive fund-raisers, Thornberg said.

He said professional solicitors working for charities or non-profit groups to give at least 30 percent of their gross sales to the groups that hire them. The percentage increases to 40 percent if an entertainment event is involved.

"If loss is being given by the promoters must let customers exactly how much will go to the non-profit group that hired them, within the first three sentences of the sales pitch," Thornberg said.

He said it's necessary because consumers have been deliberately misled for a century by professional promoters as to where their contributions are going, he said.

The standards do not have the force of law. But the Treasure Valley BBB aggressively advises the public on whether solicitors and other businesses maintain good business practices in their dealings with customers. It also helps individual consumers interpret state law on fraud and deceptive practices.

There is no "Better Business Bureau office in the Magic Valley," Thornberg said. Thursday the Treasure Valley BBB will lobby legislators to give Jones' office a consumer protection budget.

He likely will say he won't be enough to lackey every instance of fraud, he said. But "We're asking that something be done to work on the very worst frauds."

Two burglary sentences suspended

JEROME — Two young Jerome men were sentenced in 5th District Court in Jerome this week on charges of burglarizing Jerome High School property.

Dennis Buchik, 19, and Brad Aron Koepnick, 19, were given five-year prison sentences, which were suspended in favor of three-year probation.

Both were arrested and charged with first-degree burglary after officers saw three men climb to the roof of the building and enter through a roof vent. Exercise weights and other items were taken from the school gymnasium.

Judge Phillip Becker set the sentence at five years, the exact time to be determined by the Idaho State Board of Corrections. He then suspended the sentences, placing both men on probation and requiring that each pay a $500 fine.

Both originally entered pleas of "not guilty" to the charges and then appeared on June 11 to change their pleas to guilty.

The third man charged with the school burglary, Ryan Scott Parion, 18, was sentenced on Sept. 5 to five years in state prison, but the court withheld the sentence for 120 days, placing Parion in the North Idaho Correctional Institute during that time. If he completes a satisfactory 120-day stay in custody there, he will be able to return to Jerome to appear in court for possible dismissal of the charges.

In another case, Joseph Clarence Sweet of Jerome was given a three-year probation after being sentenced to five years in prison on a second-degree burglary charge. He was charged with burglarizing the Frank Pearson home, at 225 East 11, St. early this summer. A quantity of jewelry and a cable television attachment were taken. Sweet entered a plea of guilty July 30 and was released on his own recognizance.

Another Jerome offender appeared Tuesday and entered a plea of not guilty to charges of malicious destruction. He is charged with breaking a valve on an ammonia tank and breaking up others and compressors at the P2-D-110V dairy processing firm in Jerome on June 5. Damage was estimated at $1,000. He is free on bond, pending further court action.

Twins, triplets deserve treatment as individuals — give 'whole' gifts

DEAR ABBY: A reader wrote that she was going to a shower for a friend who was expecting triplets. Her question: "Must I bring three presents, or is one gift acceptable?"

You reply: Give three gifts — one for each baby. The cost of all three should amount to whatever you would have spent had your friend been expecting a single.

Abby, triplets are three children born together. They would have been entitled to separate "whole value" gifts. Neither the parents nor the children should be shortchanged at this time.

Abigail Van Buren
Dear Abby

The issue of multiples and gift-giving is far-reaching. When twins attend a birthday party, mothers should send them with two gifts of value that they would like to see reciprocated. Since parents of singles often spend in the manner that you suggest, multiples rarely receive a gift of similar value.

In the reverse circumstances, when gifts are given to teachers, mothers of multiples should give the full amount per child because the teacher had the responsibility for two or three children. The "per child" gift acknowledges that the teacher had two hands to hold and two noses to wipe.

Friends and relatives could help by understanding that the circumstances of the birth should not affect the value of the gift. Each child should be treated as an individual.

DIANE WEISS, PRESIDENT, NASSAU COUNTY MOTHERS OF TWINS CLUB

DEAR MRS. WEISS: You are absolutely right: Every child should receive a "whole" gift, but did you overlook the fact that the letter was signed "Over Budget"?

In the interest of treating each child as an individual, I recommend three individual gifts instead of something all three could share, such as a box of dusting powder, a record album or a game.

Read on for another point of view.

DEAR ABBY: As a twin yourself, you should have used better sense in your reply to "Over Budget." I, too, am a twin, and I have plenty of bad memories of receiving identical birthday parties — my sister and I were better off when we received a "normal" gift that we could share, like a game. Instead we got a lot of low-cost gifts that were totally useless because mothers would try to buy us two gifts for the price of one.

Sure, I enjoyed the fun and benefits of being a twin — and I am not spoiled — but multiple-birth babies should not be treated as a half or a third of a person. I know what it feels like, and I'm sure you do.

JILL COUSINS, MARIETTA, GA.

DEAR ABBY: I am 28 years old and female. I am either confused or stupid, but there is something I need explained to me. I heard that a man determines whether the baby will be a boy or a girl.

For example, my dad had the mumps when he was in his teens, and the mumps fell on the left side of his private parts. After Dad got married, Mom had six girls — no boys. The doctor told him that the mumps had fallen on his "boy side," so he could only have girls.

Is that true?

— IN THE DARK

DEAR IN: No. Although the male does determine the sex of the child, it has nothing to do with either the left or right side — or the mumps, for that matter. Either your dad misunderstood the doctor, or the doctor was joking.

Our new Reduced Payment Auto Loan can be the difference between admiring a new car in the showroom and parking it in your garage. You may not need a down payment. And your monthly payments are up to 50% lower than conventional loans.

Choose your term
Choose your financing from one to five years. While interest is computed on the purchase price, your payments are lower because you only pay back the difference between the purchase price and the guaranteed value.

At the end of the term you have three options: you may refinance the vehicle, you may sell it, pay the guaranteed value and keep any profit; or you may simply return the vehicle as specified in the agreement.

Cancer survivors suffer from infertility

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Survivors of childhood cancers are 40 percent more likely not to marry and 50 percent more likely not to have children than are their brothers and sisters, says a new report by the National Cancer Institute.

The number of such cancer survivors is growing as improvements in cancer treatment that began in the 1970s have made childhood cancers easier to cure. That trend is expected to continue.

"I think we're going to see more people treated more aggressively, more surviving cancer, and more with fertility problems," said Julianne Byrne, one of the authors of the new report presented Wednesday at the annual meeting of the American Society of Human Genetics.

For purposes of the study, the researchers considered anyone who did not have children as displaying infertility, whether the reason was a biological problem stemming from the treatment, or a conscious decision to remain childless.

Byrne said in an interview that there was a bright side to the research. She and her colleagues found that fertility problems were limited to certain kinds of childhood cancer: Hodgkin's disease, brain tumors and other central nervous system cancers, and soft-tissue sarcomas such as cancer of the lymph nodes.

Children surviving bone cancer, kidney cancer and melanoma did not show subsequent fertility problems, Byrne said. Not enough children have yet survived leukemia to know whether it will be followed by infertility, she said.

Byrne said the study is a statistical one and does not say anything about what kind of genetic damage the cancer survivors might have experienced as a result of their treatment.

Byrne said cancer treatment is probably only partly responsible for subsequent infertility. She said the increased likelihood that cancer survivors will not choose to get married is probably largely caused by psychological factors related to surviving cancer.

"Those who have had cancer as children — their prospects are different," said Byrne. Both their self-images and their social dealings with others could be affected by the knowledge that they had had cancer, she said.

The highest risk of infertility is to cancer survivors who received both radiation and chemotherapy that included drugs called alkylating agents. Byrne said. Alkylating agents are highly effective against cancer and for that reason are being used more often, she said.

An estimated 6,000 children will be diagnosed with cancer in 1985, the American Cancer Society says. Although cancer is uncommon in children, it is the chief cause of death by disease in children aged 3 to 14, the society says.

Survival rates vary depending upon the type of cancer, but National Cancer Institute figures show that 88 percent of children with Hodgkin's disease survive at least five years.

Engagements

Dedra Lea Brizee

Brizee-Swanstrom

TWIN FALLS — Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Brizee, Twin Falls, announce the engagement of their daughter, Dedra Lea, to Todd Howard Swanstrom, son of Judge and Mrs. Roger Swanstrom, Boise. Brizee, a 1981 graduate of Twin Falls High School, will graduate in December from the University of Idaho with a degree in elementary education. She is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and currently is student teaching in the Boise area.

Swanstrom graduated in 1979 from Grangeville High School and in 1985 from the University of Idaho where he belonged to Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. A mechanical engineer, he is employed at Packaging Technologies in Boise.

The wedding is planned for Dec. 28 at the First Presbyterian Church in Twin Falls. The couple will reside in Boise.

Eldredge-Bradbury

FILER — Mrs. Larry Newton, Kimberly, and William Dale Eldredge, Buhl, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sherry Eldredge, to Hosea J. Bradbury Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Hegea J. Bradbury, Jerome.

Eldredge attended Murtaugh High School and now resides in Filer. Bradbury graduated from Jerome High School in 1982 and works at Idaho Frozen Foods, Twin Falls.

The couple plans a Nov. 15 wedding at the Shangri-La Wedding Villa, Twin Falls.

Park Lane reunion set

TWIN FALLS — A reunion of all former students of the old Park Lane school south of Twin Falls is planned for next summer and names and addresses of anyone who attended the two-room country school are needed, as well as historical information about the school. Anyone interested in helping with the reunion is invited to a meeting at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 23 at the home of Zenda Gray Schmidt, 451 Lawrence, Twin Falls.

Dodgers clip Cardinals' wings, 8-2

The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — When Los Angeles Dodgers pitcher Orel Hershiser turned the power on, he was afraid he might have blown a fuse. Instead, he turned the lights out on St. Louis.

"The type of energy I felt — it wasn't nervous energy, I wasn't scared or shaky," Hershiser said. "It made me feel so strong I thought I could throw the ball through a wall. That's not good for a sinkerball pitcher."

"I felt like I wanted to be Dwight Gooden and throw the ball past people," he said. "If I would make me throw like Gooden, I'd love it. But it doesn't."

Hershiser muddled through some early innings, but on Thursday night, then got in the groove to pitch the Dodgers to an 8-2 victory over the wasteful St. Louis Cardinals in Game 2 of the National League playoffs.

The Dodgers now go to St. Louis for Games 3, 4 and a beginning Saturday with a two-games-to-none lead over the Cardinals in the best-of-seven series.

"We are kind of digging a hole for ourselves," Cardinals right fielder Andy Van Slyke said. "We definitely have the attitude that we have to sweep them in St. Louis because this ballpark hasn't been nice to us, and we don't want to come back here behind."

Not only did Hershiser hold the Cardinals to single runs in the third and ninth innings, but he drove in the Dodgers' first run of the game with a single in a three-run third-inning after a squeeze play successfully to put down a squeeze run.

St. Louis skipper Whitey Herzog seems to taste something sour after his Cardinals lost 8-2 to the Dodgers in game two missing the bunts," Hershiser said. Greg Brock hit a two-run homer in the fourth inning off Joaquin Andujar, and Ken Landreux doubled twice, drove in a run and scored three times. Bill Madlock added three singles, two of which drove in runs, to the Dodgers' 11-hit attack. "I felt like it was a must for us to win two here," Landreux said, "because they play so well at Busch Stadium."

Hershiser, 19-3 with 11 consecutive victories to close the season, allowed eight hits, walked five and struck out four. The Cards got five of their hits in the first four innings. The Cardinals failed on two fronts. Andujar, 21-12 after finishing the season with three straight losses, was ineffective after retiring the first seven batters, contributing to his own downfall with a costly error. And the normally opportunistic Cardinals failed time and again to capitalize on chances to score against

Dodgers pitcher Orel Hershiser slides in with the go-ahead run in the second inning

Hershiser. "We haven't been very good," Cardinals manager Whitey Herzog said. "It's amazing how lucky you are when you're good," Herzog said. Andujar, "kind of fell apart" after his third-inning error.

Both Vince Coleman and Willie McGee, the Cardinals' two fastest speedsters, were thrown out trying to steal in the first inning by catcher Mike Scioscia, and the Cardinals runners tonight "I wasn't going to stop running; they're not going to be intimidated because somebody you throw out runners like Coleman threw them out."

Prep football Kimberly Bulldogs back to wall against Gooding

By LARRY HOVEY Times-News writer

KIMBERLY — When you're standing with your back to the wall, the least thing you need is for the biggest guy in the house to make a run at you.

That's about the way the Kimberly Bulldogs feel as they prepare for a make-or-break Canyon Conference battle with the Gooding Senators at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Bulldog Field.

Kimberly, which appeared strolling — effortlessly toward its showdown two weeks ago — has to win this one or probably say goodbye to any post-season playoff chances. The victory is important to Gooding because it probably would all but mathematically clinch the right to defend its state Class A3 championship. But the Senators — for this week at least — have the luxury of win or tie because a Kimberly decision still would leave Gooding the chance to recoup against Deeto.

After that, of course, the possibility of a three-way tie would exist and then would come the unlikely conference tie where the school principals would vote the teams into playoff berths.

"Absolutely, I understand and I think it's safe to say our players understand" the situation, says Kimberly Coach Gordon Hogan.

"We expect to see a very determined team against us," says Gooding Coach Bob Mitzen. "They have a good tradition of winning. Coach Hogan always does a good job of scouting and they're always well-

He's got Dally out of the backfield and that big tight end (Brian) Darcy and the wide receiver (John) Weeks) who at 6-3 is a big target and catches the ball well. ## Cross country Borah and Highland set pace at invitational

By LARRY HOVEY Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Borah's girls, headed by Shawn Sintay, and the Highland boys claimed team titles in the Twin Falls Cross-Country Invitational Thursday.

Sintay, the state two-mile champion last spring, paced Borah to an easy victory with 24 points while Highland was second with 75. The Lions put four in the top 10.

In the boys division, Robin Carr of Capital beat Highland's Rob Rene by nine seconds for individual honors but the Rams finished third to win with 61 points, followed by Idaho Falls at 71.

Twin Falls sophomore Jenny Hannah claimed second in the girls division, prompting her to say: "I'm proud of myself."

The major reason for that, notes Coach Jerry Kleinkopf, is she "finished 11th in this event last year and nine of those girls Thursday." Hannah's effort paced Twin Falls to third place, leading Coach Duane Stands to note "it looks like our girls are right on schedule. This is their third consecutive week of improvement." Highland heading as by only four points is a positive sign for us.

N. Gem, Richfield coaches say score could be a low one

By STEVE CRUMP Times-News sports editor

RICHFIELD — Low-scoring games are about as rare in eight-man football as taxi squads, but both North Gem Coach Frank Bunce and Richfield Coach Rudy Miles figure one could be on tap here today.

At issue between the second-year coach and the No. 3 Tigers is "for all practical purposes, the Sawtooth Conference championship and the top berth from southern Idaho. In next month's state eight-man playoffs, "I don't think there will be a lot of points scored," says Miles, who inherited the Richfield program this fall and has it off to a 5-2 start. "It was — what? — 52-16 last year? I don't anticipate that will be the case this time."

"Our defense has only given up 28 points all season, so I kind of think it will be a low-scoring game," conours North Gem's Bunce. "Our first defensive unit has only allowed eight points this season." Kickoff time is 4 p.m. at the Richfield High field.

Unlike last season when the two teams met "getting to state shouldn't be a problem for either. Defending a league championship is a different matter. Shoshone was kicked upstairs to the Magic Valley Conference, leaving last year's runner-up Cowboys and Richfield to contend for the spoils. Richfield is 4-0 in conference games, while North Gem is 3-0. The league's third-place team, Rockland, has a 2-1 conference record and has lost to both the Cowboys and the Tigers

Valley's Tiger-Indian rivalry lacks some of its historic fury

By STEVE CRUMP Times-News sports editor

JEROME — The annual football game between Jerome and Buhl high schools may be among the oldest rivalries in the Magic Valley, but in the last few years it has hardly been a classic one.

Buhl was a powerhouse in the late 1970s that regularly beat up on its neighbor across the Snake River, but then fell on hard times. Since the end of the Indians' domination of the Tigers in 1980, only one Jerome-Buhl game — that in 1981 — had anything to say about the outcome of the South-Central Idaho Conference and the selection of District 4's representative in the Class A-2 playoffs.

Until 1985, that is.

The Indians and Tigers will get together at the Jerome High field tonight at 8, with the winner earning the inside track to state. If the winner is Buhl, the Indians also still have a shot at the SCIC Title, if not their front-running Mountain Home and at times there we played well — and then we wouldn't."

Hogan says the key to Kimberly's hopes probably lie in the "hope we can contain and not give up any momentum. Make them earn

Oct. 25 on the last day of the season. "It's going to be an emotional game," says Jerome High Coach Jon Jund, who until 1978 held the same job at Buhl High. "It's a old rivalry and you have two pretty good football teams with a chance to go to state."

"Our kids are feeling pretty excited about this game," says second-year Buhl Coach Keith Mitzner. "They know what's not to be done, and I hope they can rise to the occasion and do it."

Both teams are 3-3 for the season heading into tonight's contest and both have a track record of consistently good defense and inconsistent offense.

That's ironic, because their respective tailbacks — Buhl's Brian Howard and Jerome's Tracy Black — are probably the best running backs in their class in the state.

"I'm not real super concerned defensively about Jerome," says Mitzner. "The run a good 4-4, but goodness knows we've seen enough in the last few weeks. What I am concerned about is their passing game. Not to belittle Tracy Black at all, but we had the passing game in last two weeks, and that's not what we've got to stop."

Behind sophomore Joel Jund, the Tigers' passing attack has been productive in the past two weeks. Joel Jund has passed for 499 yards and completed 53 percent of his passes in the last two games. Senior Torrey Sheets, switched from quarterback to wide receiver early in the season, has caught 27 passes for 452 yards — an average of 16.7 yards per catch.

"We've had a good week of practice — the best we've had this year," says Jon Jund. "But the big challenge for us this week is going to be containing their defensive line. They're bigger than we are size-wise and a lot of them are returning starters."

On the other side of the ball, the Indians will be without their senior fullback, Mike Hartway, who broke his toe and will miss the rest of the season.

Looking ahead to state in Jerome in two weeks, Stands added "it appears we're not going to improve enough to beat Borah but we're not going to be sixth this year again either."

Stands said he was pleased with the team's run, noting "Jenny ran a good race but what was really important is how her teammates ran, too. Our third, fourth and fifth place girls passed up a lot of individuals in the pack today."

Jenny kept herself competitive throughout the race and on the right-day may do it yet," he said of possibly catching the talented Sintay. "Right from the start Jenny went out thinking of first place and through two miles she was right up there and still trying. Sintay was just too strong over the last third of the course."

Twin Falls boys jayvees, paced by Scott Scholes, moved into a runner-up spot in their division.

"He who conquers others is strong."
 "He who conquers himself is mighty."
 — Lao-tse.

"Thank you for the vote of confidence," beamed South as he eyed the below-average dummy. It wasn't long before South's play gave North some second thoughts.

South ruffed the club king and led a happy king of trumps. West discarded and East ducked, and South's confidence fell a notch. A lay diamond went to dummy's jack and East's queen, and East played the heart ace and another trump to prevent the diamond ruff in dummy. The only hope now rested with the spade finesse and when that failed, South had to concede on down.

"You made a good bid," offered South. "It took trumps 3-0 and the spade finesse offside to beat us."

"I could do without the compliments and with a bit more caution in your play," replied North. "All you had to do was play diamonds before you touched trumps and no amount of bad luck could have stopped the diamond ruff in dummy."

When things seem most secure, it pays to take a second look.

DICK DEY'S Happy Anniversary Sale

10 BIG DAYS

Thank you Magic Valley. We appreciate your business. As a way of saying thank-you, we will give you 13 cases of food with the purchase of any previously owned automobile. Our Fall Close-Out-of-the-1985 Oldsmobiles and Buicks has resulted in an over-stocked used car inventory. During our anniversary celebration all used units are slashed drastically.

DICK DEY'S Happy Anniversary Sale

10 BIG DAYS

Thank you Magic Valley. We appreciate your business. As a way of saying thank-you, we will give you 13 cases of food with the purchase of any previously owned automobile. Our Fall Close-Out of the 1985 Oldsmobiles and Buicks has resulted in an over stocked used car inventory. During our anniversary celebration all used units are slashed drastically.

TWIN FALLS — The United States Air Force Band of the Pacific Northwest, sponsored by The Times-News, will appear in a free concert at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Auditorium tonight at 7 p.m. Originally scheduled for the bandshell at City Park, Southern Idaho's unseasonal cold snap threatened to freeze the musicians' notes in mid-air.

However, for music lovers, the change in location should prove a stroke of good fortune. Considering the superior acoustics and comfortable seating of the auditorium, the band's program, which features selections by Strauss, Sousa, Copland and others, should be greatly enhanced.

Noted for its versatility and exceptional showmanship, the band travels extensively throughout the Northwest, Canada, Alaska and Hawaii as musical ambassadors of the U.S. Air Force.

Currently based at McChord Air Force Base in Tacoma, Wash., the band was originally organized in 1943 in New Jersey. After moving to North Carolina, music great Glenn Miller, then an Air Force captain, recruited professional musicians to swell the band to a whopping 159 members.

At the end of World War II the band was reduced in size and moved to Mather Air Force Base in California, then later redesignated to its present location in Tacoma.

SGT. CARLTON WILLIAMS
Featured male vocalist

Lead singer Carlton Williams, no stranger to Magic Valley, has appeared at the bandshell at the Twin Falls County Fair on a number of occasions as master of ceremonies and featured male vocalist of the band's spin-off jazz ensemble, "A Touch of Blue."

The band's program concentrates

Concert's tonight at 7 p.m.
at CSI Fine Arts Auditorium

Currently, the band is under the direction of Captain Daniel L. Schmidt, who has commanded Air Force bands in Louisiana, Alaska and California before his current assignment as conductor of The United States Air Force Band of the Pacific Northwest.

on fast-paced, music blending musical selections by traditional and contemporary composers, light pop music and the latest in Broadway. Admission to Friday night's two-hour performance is free. Seating will be strictly on a first-come, first-seated basis.

Play walks the scary side

'Angel Street' travels deep into psychological sabotage

By TERRY RICH HARTLEY
Times-News correspondent

Amy Vietti, Mrs. Manningham, and Chad Miller, Inspector Vaux, rehearse lines

TWIN FALLS — Not since the staging of "Dial M For Murder" in 1977 has the College of Southern Idaho Drama Department attempted such a chilling play as "Angel Street," to be presented October 17, 18 and 19 at 8:15 p.m.

"Angel Street," written by Patrick Hamilton in 1938, was first presented in London as "Gaslight," then in New York in 1941 where it went on to be among the longest running non-musicals in Broadway history. Starring as the heavy, Mr. Manningham, was Vincent Price who was just beginning to earn his well-deserved reputation as the king of horror.

Movie buffs may remember the story from its original title, "Gaslight," which was filmed by MGM starring Ingrid Bergman, Joseph Cotton and Charles Boyer. For her performance, Bergman took home an Oscar from the 1945 Academy awards.

"Angel Street," set in 1890, tells the key story of a demented husband, Manningham, who is bent on destroying his wife with subtle coyness. Manningham initiates his plan to drive Mrs. Manningham insane; a plan which proves "vicious" but necessarily confined to the physical realm, but can be, in fact, even more damning when aimed at the mind.

By spreading seeds of doubt in her mind through accusations of petty aberrations that he, in reality, has arranged, Manningham leads his wife on a twisting road to terror while constantly reminding her that her own mother had died of insanity.

Suspense is built by a concentration of small incidents: a picture disappears from the living room wall, cufflinks and jewelry vanish only to be discovered later in the wife's possession. Strange footsteps heard the house at night and "twigs" there is the weird lowering of the gaslights, as if manipulated by unseen ghosts that haunt the house on Angel Street.

Momentary relief for the viewer is written into the play when a detective enters. But, then questions arise: Is he actually an accomplice in the sordid scheme? Has he really been hurt?

Country music extravaganza to benefit park amphitheater

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Musical favorites from gospel to folk and performers from ages six to 70 will come together to make October a true country music month in Twin Falls Monday and Tuesday nights in the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Auditorium.

The event is the annual fall Magic Valley Country Music Association Show, about two hours of foot-stomping entertainment each night.

About 50 area musicians will be donating their talents for the two shows that begin at 8 p.m.

This year proceeds will be used to help build an amphitheater in the Twin Falls Lakes Sporting Goods, and the Music Center

County Rock Creek Park, west of town. The amphitheater is part of an expansion program at the popular park that was built several years ago by Twin Falls County and the Twentieth Century Club. An additional 10 acres of land is being donated for expansion of the park, just west of Magic Valley Regional Medical Center. The amphitheater will be available to the public and for community events.

Two musical groups from around Magic Valley will be appearing and plans are to vary the performers for two completely different shows.

Tickets are $3 for adults and $1.50 for children and senior citizens. They are now on sale at Peterson's Western Wear.

Blue gospel group, The Last Generation and Jennifer Jones. This group includes twin sisters, Brenda Hansen and Glenda Bostock, and a talented six-year-old songstress who has been performing publicly since the age of three.

Fiddling Amy Stukenholtz is another young performer on the program. She will play fiddle with a band backing her. Maritt said she has won numerous old-time fiddle awards in contests in Idaho and other states and is a genuine show personality.

A family group including Curt and Shirley Merchant and their daughters who perform as The Common People are on the schedule as are members of The Country Ramblers.

This group is made up mostly of the Virgil and Wilma Maritt family, along with Corey Tyrce, who has played with the Osmond Brothers for several years.

Edie's Band, headed by Edie Fuller, a long-time area musical personality. The Quicksilver Express, a newly formed group of well-known players from previous bands; and veteran area performer Bob Hansting and his band are also on the agenda. The Country Music Express, a group that performs at area clubs, and the Country Rebound and the Last Resorts will complete the list.

Cliff Haak of the Last Resorts has performed in every show over the past 24 years of the association's jamboree and fall shows except one.

Maritt said musicians for this year's two performances will be Larry Hunt, Virgil Maritt and Curt Merchant.

Music club slates ball

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Music Club will stage a scholarship ball Oct. 10 at the Blue Lakes Country Club.

The dinner dance will begin with cocktails at 7 p.m., followed by prime rib dinner at 8 p.m. Proceeds will benefit deserving young musicians.

When Avel & Shun Sham Yappung will dance "Putting on the Ritz" in top hats and tails. Jane Ellen Shew will accompany them on the piano.

Tickets are $20 per person, and are tax-deductible. Send checks to Scholarship Ball, c/o Mildred Wilson, 1222 Juniper St., N., Twin Falls, ID 83401. Reservations after Oct. 14 cannot be assured.

For more information call Wilson at 733-1898 or Shirley High at 733-0917.

Pianist will perform at academy Oct. 12

TWIN FALLS — Pianist Zoe Ellen Rayborn, daughter of Robert Rayborn and Sally Mae Farland, both Twin Falls, will appear in concert at the Renaissance Academy of the Arts Oct. 12 at 8 p.m., and again in Jewett Auditorium on the College of Idaho campus, Caldwell, at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 15.

Rayborn, who began piano study at the age of five in Twin Falls, gave her first solo recital in her freshman year of high school and was first runner-up in a statewide high school competition held the same year.

A 1982 graduate of the College of Idaho, Rayborn is now a graduate teaching assistant at Wichita State University in Kansas, where she recently placed first in the Griegside Wallingford Competition in music. Previous honors include the 1981 Thursday Musicite Scholarship and performances as soloist with both the CI choir and community orchestra.

Tickets for the Twin Falls concert are $5 adults, $3 students and senior citizens. For reservations call 734-0719. There will be no admission charge for the Caldwell performance.

Show to enhance community

When Magic Valley musicians gather to make a celebration of country music Monday and Tuesday nights, the good-time effects will last far longer than the concerts.

The Magic Valley Country Music Association is going to donate the proceeds to a proposed amphitheater for the Twin Falls County Rock Creek Park. The amphitheater would provide a stage for performing groups, amateur or professional, and community events.

Ten acts will donate their talents to the shows, set for 8 p.m. at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Auditorium. Organizers say Tuesday's performance won't repeat Monday's, so avid country music fans can attend both concerts while contributing even more to this community project.

Tickets are $3 for adults and $1.50 for children and senior citizens. They may be purchased at the door.

suing her husband as the prime suspect in a murder committed five years in the past? From this point the plot swells into a thrilling climax.

Director Tony Mannen is unabashed about his enthusiasm for the play, considering it one of the drama department's finest efforts since "Dial M For Murder."

"Let's put it this way," he says. "The audience will be favorably impressed with this show."

Mannen is equally enthusiastic about the cast which was chosen entirely from CSI drama students. "I've never had this percentage of Twin Falls people in a show. I went out last year to the high school and recruited these kids hard. They're a bunch of smart people who'll be good as actors."

From Twin Falls are Joe Requena (Manningham), Shelley Watson (Nancy), Chad Miller (Inspector Vaux) and Marcy McDowell (Elizabeth). Amy Vietti of Elko plays the besieged Mrs. Mannen.

On casting, Mannen points out, "I don't generally go in looking for a particular type or pick an actor just because of a physical description of the author's. I look for an actor who can portray a type of character who can fulfill the type I'm looking for."

For example, Joe Requena can personally evil with a look. Walt Hill the audience sees some of the looking can give his wife! Additionally, acting freshman Marcy McDowell's portrayal of Elizabeth, who the author describes as "a stout, amiable, subservient woman of 50."

Mannen says it is not the physical features that count, but the "mental attitude."

Striving for the intimacy of a smaller room, one which affords a physical closeness to the actors performing this chiller, "Angel Street" will be performed in room 119 of the CSI Fine Arts Building. Tickets, $3 by calling 733-9554, ext. 234. No one under age six will be admitted.
