Man convicted of child abuse

NEW YORK (AP) — A former assistant teacher at a day-care center was found guilty Sunday of 23 counts of rape, sodomy and sexual abuse in attacks on five children at the facility. Albert Algarin, 22, had been charged with 55 counts of rape, sodomy and sexual abuse of 13 children between the ages of 4 and 8 at the Puerto Rican Association for Community Affairs day-care center in the Bronx.

A jury after five days of deliberation found Algarin guilty of two counts of rape, 11 counts of sodomy and 10 counts of sexual abuse in incidents that occurred during the spring and summer of 1984.

Bonner plans to see a doctor

NEWTON, Mass. (AP)
Yelena Bonner, glad to be with her children after years apart, spent her first full-day in-the-United States on Sunday making plans to see a heart doctor and to call her husband, dissident Soviet physicist Andred Sakharov.

"I am very-happy-about my-children-pl-ti-m aiways-worried—about my husband," Mrs. Bonner said Sunday as she posed hor photographs with her bent lawn of her daughter's home in this Boston suburh. She had arrived from Rome on Saturday.

Retail gasoline prices rise again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Retail gasoline prices, which usually slide in the fail, increased over the past two weeks, continuing a rise that may accelerate next year, as the allowable lead content decreases, an estry analyst said Sunday.

Dan Lundberg, who releases a twee-monthly survey of gasoline prices, said his latest poll conducted Friday shows prices at the pump have gone up an average quartercent a gailon every two weeks since Oct.11:

By comparison, prices dropped more than a penny a gallon from ear-iy September to early December in 1984 and by 2.6 cents per gallon dur-ing the same period in 1983, said Lundberg.

"The reason for the upward trend is the increasing cost of the lead phase-down-program," said Lundberg, referring to lederally maindated reductions in the amount of lead in gasaline "It takes 1-bt more crude to refine unleaded gasoline."

Atrocities serve as frightening caution

The indignant-family-of-Yelena-Bonner and her Nobel-laureate husband. Andrei D. Sakharov, has disclosed new information about the captivity, abuse and deprivation of rights of the couple. It is a story that confirms the worst suspicions, that reconfirms the reports of paist atrocities, that shows the desperate fear that seizes those in authority in the Soviet Union.

There is today, as through past generations, no room for dissent. There is no recognition of fundamental humaff-rights, including those affirmed by the Soviet leaders at Helsinki a decade ago in the Final Act of the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe.

the Soviet leaders at Helsinki a decade ago in the Final Act of the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe.*

The story is remarkable even against a background of hundreds of other disclosures of the brutality of life in the Soviet Union. The deception that has been practiced by the Moscow government to conceal its cruel and outrageous—treatment of the great physicist is a frightening caution in the search for detente. Just as the leaders in, Moscow seem unable to trust anyone, so must they be the objects of mistrust. And their flagrant violation of agreements on human rights, which they openly and freely negotiated, places in doubt their reliability as parties to any international accord.

At least Bonner has been-allowed-to-seek medicalhelp in the West. But her husband remains in internal exile at Gorky, his own physical condition worsened apparently as a result of the brutal force-feeding that sustained him when he refused food. It was that hunger strike, by that lone brave man, that seems to have prevailed over the ugly apparatus of police controls, finally forcing the government to grant his request that his wife be allowed to seek the care that she has needed for at least two years.

There may be an assumption in the Kremlin that Bonner's release will distract a peace-hungry world from the repression with which those leaders rule, from the crudeness with which they flout international obligations. That is not the case. Indeed, the promise of committed negotiations that emerged from the Geneva summit only makes more urgent a demonstration within the Soviet-Union of respect-forthe rule of law, without which agreements have little meaning.

China shift takes on historic dimension

Napoleon once said about China, "There lies a sieeping glant. Let her sleep, for when she wakes he will shake the world." That time has come. China is about to become a superpower. If China and the Soviet Union maintain the same respective growth rates they have averaged over the last decade, by the year 2000 China's economy will be three times as big as the Soviet-Lieton's.

China has presting an independent course in foreign at fairs, producing a massive shift in the global balance of military power.

China has the copyrulative and costly process of turning a whole society on its head to enforce the order of the control of the major communist society, is looking for guidance less and less to Maxx, more and more to the magic of the marketplace. What a powerful example, when the world's largest developing country, a country with almost one-fourth of all mankind, embraces ideas like the profit motive, private entrepreneurship and market pricing.

China's revolution helped define America's approach to the postwar world. Here was proof that the Soviets aspired to reshape the world in Adarsist lange and that, unless resisted, they might. In the 1950s and 1960s, the memory of the fail of China and fears of the Chinese Communists lured us into two divisive land wars in Asia, first Korea, then Vietnam.

Against that background, it is stunning that we now find so much in common with China.

The shift began in the 1960s, with the deterioration in China's relations with her osten-

Chinese leaders are not tintid about describing what they are doing and why. The party leader himself, Hu Yaobang, has said China "wasted 20 years" after 1940 because of the "radical leftist monsense" associated with Mao.
These are changes of historic proportions. No major Communist country has tried to move so far, let alone so fast, loward a market economy. The Economist, a british weekly, recently suggested that "if the same thing were happening in Russin, it would be the wonder of the century.
The West is entitled to be enthrailed."

Plew hopes to have all the artifacts analyzed and a report prepared by September that may unravel at least some of the mystery remaining about the inhabitants of the Baker Caves and yield new.information about late, prehistoric indian life in Idaho.
Magic Valley residents will have a chance to see artifacts first-hand in 1996, when a traveling exhibit is ready. The collection will be permanently housed at Idaho State University.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter was married a month ago, and a couple, we know well attended both the wedding and reception. However, no gift was ever received from them. They live in our town, so I'm sure it wasn't mailed. Should I mention it to them? Either they haven't bought a, gift, yel, or if they gave money, it could have gotten lost at the reception. Our daughter received either a gift or money from everyone else.

Bison hunt publicity mounts

BOZEMAN, Mont. (AP) — The No. 1 man on the list of 500 buf-falo hunters could find more news media representatives than buf-falo when Montant's new bison season actually starts.

Departmento-le Fish, Wildliffe and Parks-officials in Bogemen say belevision networks and major newspapers have actually started to the property of the p

Park and becomes fair game.

But the hunter lucky enough to be drawn first out of more than 3,000 applicants isn't looking forward to being in the middle of a media circus.

"It-would-be-like putting on some kind of big show," said James.

Butts of Great Falls. "It wouldn't be much of a hunt then."

Butts, who works part-time as an aide for handleapped students, said he is tucky to be No. 1 and considers the hunt "a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity."

Prison escape attempt foiled

PTISON ESCAPE ALLERING TOTALES

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Ulah (AP) — Two convicted killers committed for life to the Ulah State Prison were captured at the prison's perimeter fence early Sunday, a spokesman said. David Hansen, 24, Riverside, Calli, and Joseph P. Rocco, 25, Layton, Utah, were placed in a maximum security until after prison officers, apprehended them at 2:15. a.m. at the northeast fence, said prison public affairs officer Juan Benavidez. Both had gotton through the first of two fence layers.

A makeshift instrument had been used to Jimmy three locks while the officer in charge of Unit. Two of the: A'-Elock. was. helping another officer on rounds elsewhere, Benavidez said. The officer's absence was in accordance with regulations.

The inmates were found in front of an unmanned guard tower.

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — An infestation of bee mites found recently, inSouthern Oregon shouldn't spread elsewhere in the state, a state agriculture official says.
David Turner of the Oregon
Agriculture Department says the infestation was verified by the state agriculture lab Nov. 25. The beekeeper has agreed to destroy the infested colonies, which are in Jackson County.
The milte, known as Accarapis
woodii or actrine, lives in the bee's breathing tube. It weakens the bee and shortens its-lifespan by feeding on its body fluids.

Edgerb, 19, took home $100,000 with the victory, which was delayed by varin.

Wilander, who was seeking his third straight Australian Open title, received a runnerup check for $50,000.

It was the first all-Swedish Grand Slam final and meant that all four Grand Slam men's crowns were won by different players. Wilander captured the French Open. West Germany's Boris. Becker was the winner at Wimbledon and Ivan Lendi. of Czechoslovakia took the U.S. Open.

The historic victory moved Edberg to fifth in the world rankings, displacing Becker, who didn't get past the first round in this grass—ourt-tournamenh.

"This has been one of my greatest tournments ever," Edberg said after his triumph. "I've never been so happy in my life. I hope to be back in "87."

It was the second time this year that Edberg and Wilander have met in a tournament final. Wilander won the first meeting, in the Swedish Open Championships in Bastad.

These fitness gifts say 'to your good health',

From Heavy Hands to Hip Cycles, exercise aids come in a wide variety

TWIN FALLS — Considering the infinite variety of exercise equipment on the market, and the continuing fitness fever, it seems as though our homes might soon become mini-gyms. This growing trend could provide us with some Christmas gift could provide us with some Christians andeas.

In our area, filliess comes his wide price range, from about $3 for a jump rope or hand grip to a $2,000 exercycle.

Rowing machines, which have hydraulic cylinders to simulate the real thing, all look pretty much alike, but there are differences. John Houser, co-owner of Valley. Schwinn, says the arms work independently on the better ones: And each of this person's feet should be able to operate on its own.

"This way," he says, "if you want to do he kind of exercise where you twist and you can. If you-rock, with heach motion, it.

gives your feet independent movement."
Bob Newton, co-owner of Newton's
Sports Center, says when on a limited budget, and buying for a person who has no exercise equipment, a rower is a good choice. "That will exercise more musclegroups and-still enable you to sustain anear-boic exercise." he says.—

Most of the stores which sell exercise equipment also stock rowing machines, and they run anywhere from about $250 of the counter, which counts each stide or row it

If you belong to a health club, it probably has a special area where a variety of stationary bikes are lined up and waiting for riders. You may have wondered whether he high-tech, computerted bike will give you a better workout than the traditional style.

FITNESS BENEFITS

Stationary cycling is a sale and convenient way to improve your cardiovascular fitness. Unlike other aerobic conditioning activities, such as running, cross-country skiing or aerobic dancing, stationary cycling is practically injury-free, except-for those few embarrassing incidents when your foot slips off the pedal and you lose your balance on the blike. In fact, many doctors and physical therabists recommend it as a way to maintain filmess while recovering from an injury.

The formula for improving your cardiovascular fitness when you ride a stationary. The tornula for improving your cardiovascular fitness when you ride a stationary bike is the same one that applies to all aerobic training programs. You must work out at least three times per week for 20 to 30 minutes at your training heart rate. By taking your pulse periodically—during—your—indoor—cyeling—workout, you can be sure your heart rate is in the training zone and that you're strengthening your cardiovascular system.

Stationary cycling also builds, strengthens and tones the muscles of the upper thighs and calves. There are some bikes on the market,—specifically—the—Schwinn—Air-Dyne,—with—handlebars that move back and forth. This allows you to work your arms, shoulders and upper back while cycling. THE ACES®

"Experience is not what happens to you, it's what you do with what happens to you."

— Aldous Huxley.

There were enough clues about to 5. South, to know how to play to day's dialmonds. Unfortunately for him, he played that sult in the usual willy losing his game in the process. West'ook two top clubs and shifted to a heart. Dummy's ace won and a trump fingess lost to West's king. Back came another heart to South Shigs, and South drew the remaining tramps. Next came his diamond king, and with that the game was load. East eventually scored a diast eventually eventually mond, and the defenders enjoyed one down.

South's play of the diamonds would have succeeded had diamonds not been 4.0 or it West had been the defender holding all four diamonds, Obeclarer could still have finessed against West's jack). However, since West had already shown a long club suit (his overcall) and five cards in the majors. Liwas Impossible for him to hold all four diamonds.

To guard against four diamonds with East, South plays the diamond ace first. When West discards, South hen Teads diamonds twice through. East, each time covering whatever card East plays. This careful plan eliminates the diamond-loser and instead of one down. South-scoreshis game and rubber.
