Congress quits, shelves deficit reduction bill

By STEVEN KOMAROW
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — A tired and frustrated Congress adjourned for the year Friday after falling in a long battle to pass a $74 billion deficit-reduction bill, the centerpiece of its 1985 budget-cutting effort.

In a final day of maneuvering, with many lawmakers already on their way home, the Senate refused for the second and third times in two days to pass the House version of the massive package of spending cuts and taxes. The House had removed from the package a new tax to pay for the "Superfund" toxic waste cleanup program.

The 35-29 and 35-30 votes killed the bill until next year.

The Senate then approved, on a voice vote, a separate House-passed bill to temporarily extend some expiring tax provisions, including the 16-cent-a-pack tax on cigarettes, until next March. It was the last measure needed before adjournment.

Senate leaders telephoned President Reagan at Camp David to notify him Congress was leaving.

"Mr. President, we're here, we're finished, we wanted to check and see if you had any further work you wanted us to do," said Minority Leader Robert Dole, R-Kan., who said the president indicated he did not.

They exchanged holiday greetings, and the leaders returned to the Senate chamber where the gavel fell for the last time at 6:28 p.m. The House followed suit, adjourning at 6:40 p.m. Congress returns on Jan. 21.

Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., said the Senate would return to conference with the House in January and revise the budget bill, which the White House said would have been vetoed without changes. "This is not being sent back to die as far as this senator is concerned," he said.

But he drew sharp criticism from Democrats and Republicans, who said Congress did not act this year to cut the huge federal deficit.

"It's a way to let Reagan avoid facing up," said Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., the Democratic leader. "We send this back to conference, that's the end of this measure."

"It's a new form of presidential veto," said Sen. William Armstrong, R-Colo. "It's a veto without even sending the bill to the White House."

But Packwood and Senate Budget Committee Chairman Pete V. Domenici, R-N.M., won out after arguing it was better for Congress to clean up the bill and get what it could. "There are scores of programs that should not be in this bill," he said.

The Senate could have revised the bill Friday but House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Texas, said the House was in cement — in part because so many members had left town to add up a quorum.

"We have completed our work," said Wright, standing in for Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., who already had left. "We're just waiting for the Senate . . . so we can catch the airplanes home."

Rep. Bill Frenzel, R-Minn., said the budget bill was "a dead duck."

The House, seeking to give the Senate a way to adjourn, convened briefly Friday afternoon to pass the separate package to "simply extend some expiring tax provisions until March 15 next year. The bill passed by a voice vote, and no one questioned whether a quorum was present on the almost-empty House floor.

The House would retroactively renew the 16-cent-a-pack tax on cigarettes, which technically dropped to 8 cents at midnight Thursday after Congress failed to act. It would also restore two Medicare cost-control laws which expired, one setting the rate.

French hostages set free, gunmen give up at airport

By PAUL TREUTHARDT
The Associated Press

NANTES, France — Three gunmen who took over a courtroom during a robbery trial surrendered and released their last two hostages unharmed at the Nantes airport Friday night, 35 hours after the drama began, police said.

The van they had been given for their escape from the courthouse plied up outside the airport terminal, carrying the three handcuffed gunmen in police custody. The gunmen were taken away and police escorted their former hostages into the terminal.

"The three men surrendered together when suddenly they realized they were at a dead end," Police Commissioner Robert Broussard, who negotiated with the gunmen, told reporters. "They understood our determination because they found themselves at the far end of the runway with police all around them."

A man who burst into the crowded courtroom Thursday morning with guns and grenades, and two defendants in the trial, surrendered at the far end of a runway at Nantes' small Chateaubouan Airport. They had taken 52 people captive in the courtroom.

They left the courthouse earlier Friday and sped off to the airport in the van, supplied by police, and spent several hours on the runway surrounded by dozens of officers and security vehicles. The gang leader had handcuffed himself to the trial's presiding judge, Dominique Baelhache.

Police sources said the gunman stopped at a railway station between the courthouse and the airport and picked up more weapons from a luggage locker. The additional weapons made it "far from certain that the affair was over until they reached the airport and were surrounded," the sources said.

The other hostages, Assistant Judge Bernard Bureau, said the gunmen were "very determined. I was extremely afraid. . . . The most difficult moment was when we came out of the courthouse."

He said there were long periods when his captors held grenades in their hands, with the pins removed. Bureau said he believed the man who stormed the courtroom, Abdel Karim Khalki, "acted out of deep friendship" for the other two men.

Bureau, who said a lump on his head was caused by a blow from one of the captors, said that "at the beginning it was a suicide operation for them" but the gunmen later "wanted to limit the cost."

Headlong acts of '33 yield of desperation

By DEAN S. MILLER
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Quiet desperation over farm foreclosures gave way to headlong action in the early 1930s in Idaho, with citizens and lawmakers alike taking steps that seem extreme by today's standards.

In Twin Falls, a scapegoat for farmers' problems was tarred and feathered, and in Boise, the Legislature gave a popular governor unprecedented executive power.

On Jan. 24, 1933, one P.J. Pringle of Twin Falls was seized and tied out into the sagebrush beyond the Twin Falls city limits, where an angry mob pistol-whipped him and treated him to a suit of tar and feathers.

Pringle had recently foreclosed on a man named John T. Parish, an action that brought the wrath of a secretive local group down on his head, court records say.

Public sentiment, it appears, did not then swing to the man disgraced. Instead, when the case went to trial in August of that year, Twin Falls County Prosecutor O.W. Witham tried to have the trial moved out of the county because, he said, there was "a strong feeling of bias and prejudice in the minds of many persons against mortgage foreclosure proceedings and . . . against P.J. Pringle."

Witham said a fair and impartial trial could not be held in the county.

According to affidavits filed in the case brought against John Goertzen, Pringle's tar and feathering was the work of about 25 members of a secretive group devoted to blocking foreclosure sales.

Pringle's tar-and-feathering was only the most spectacular of their feuds.

According to the affidavit of David Brown, a 29-year resident of the county, other mortgagees who started foreclosure proceedings were sent letters threatening mob violence if they did not stop.

And for those brave enough to actually file foreclosure sales, there were visitations by hundreds of people who "by the use of the show of force and violence prevented said sales from being held," Brown said.

Because of the acts and threats of this group, all foreclosure sales and proceedings were stopped for a while, said Brown.

G.C. Hendrickson, a local title abstractor, said that there were 14 foreclosure sales in January, 1933, four in February, seven in March, one in April, and none in May or June.

Farmer smashes tractor into bank

The Associated Press

BOULDER, Colo. — A farmer who rammed his tractor into the front of a bank that held a past-due note on the "just broke" under pressure of mounting debts, foreclosure of his farm and a divorce case, his lawyers said Friday.

Boulder County Judge Roxanne Ballin set a cash surety bond of $25,000 for James Futhey, 55, a former Continental Airlines pilot who turned to farming after his union struck the carrier.

Authorities said Futhey was arrested Thursday after he drove his tractor into the front doors of First National Bank of Lafayette, which held a note requiring a $17,000 payment Sept. 1.

Other financial institutions had repossessed his car and sued for foreclosure of his 169-acre alfalfa hay farm southeast of Boulder.

Although Ballin set bond, she said Futhey would not be released because of a hold from California, where his attorney said he was on probation stemming from an arson fire at a Continental Airlines office.

Ballin also ordered him held in jail for at least a week for psychological evaluation.

Futhey, who stood silent among other prisoners during Friday's court appearance, also is in the midst of a divorce action, said Thomas Zukaitis, who has represented Futhey in the domestic case.

After the hearing, Zukaitis and Lad Shunnesson told reporters Thursday's incident was climax of a string of misfortunes for their client.

"I'm just simply, I think he just lost it," said Zukaitis.

A $17,000 payment was due for the tractor Sept. 1, Zukaitis said.

A foreclosure sale on Futhey's farm is scheduled Jan. 24. A late-model car was repossessed a few months ago, and Futhey and his wife are in the midst of a divorce, said Zukaitis.

"We think he just broke," said Shunnesson.

Futhey was not armed and no one was injured in the incident, police said. He fled on the tractor but was captured about three miles away, authorities said.

The top of the tractor crashed into an overhang above the entrance, slightly damaging the tractor and the building's doorway.

"It's lucky that the tractor didn't go all the way through. The bank was full at the time," police Sgt. Mark Wilson said.

Shultz loyal but draws strong line on matters of principle

By ROBERT FURLOW
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Loyal George Shultz can be pushed only so far on matters of principle.

It's a lesson President Reagan is learning over the issue of lie-detector tests, and one President Nixon learned 14 years ago in the thick of the Watergate era.

This week, the normally placid Shultz publicly raised the possibility of resigning in the face of a presidential directive calling for wider use of lie-detector tests to expose disloyal officials.

"The minute in this government that I'm told that I'm not trusted is the day that I leave," the secretary of state declared.

On Friday, after meeting with Shultz, Reagan told reporters that "neither one of us" will have to take a polygraph test.

Facing a different loyalty test in 1972, Shultz made no public announcements but still made his point secretary. By all accounts, he was a loyal soldier in all of them.

For example, insiders have said Dean, called Shultz, a "candy ass" that within the White House, he for refusing to order income tax controls ordered by Nixon in the early 1970s. But he supported the positions — budget director, labor publicly — and even helped run the program.

All there were limits.

On the lie-detector issue, Shultz got strong support Friday from William Simon, a former deputy who later headed the Energy and Treasury departments in his own right.

Simon called Shultz "without a doubt the most principled man I've ever known."

"The lie-detector test I consider an absolute total insult to one's integrity. I agree with George 100 percent," Simon said in a telephone interview from New York, where he heads a merchant banking company.

Aside from the issue of trust, Shultz said Thursday of the polygraph machine: "From what I've seen, it's hardly a scientific instrument. It tends to identify people who are innocent as guilty and misses some fraction of people who are guilty of lying."

It is, he think, pretty well demonstrated that a professional spy or professional liar can probably train himself or herself not to be caught by the test.

And he added that the use of such tests as a "broad-gauged" criterion of employment seems to me to be questionable. That is my view."

Lie detector test unneeded, Reagan says

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — President Reagan said Friday that Secretary of State George Shultz won't be required to take a lie detector test as part of a new government security program.

Shultz filed said Thursday he would resign before taking a polygraph examination, adding that he considers the tests unreliable because they sometimes implicate the innocent or absolve the guilty.

Reagan said Friday that Shultz's resignation would not be necessary. "I don't think we need to take a polygraph test," he said.

June.

Across the state, farmers were frustrated and angry and leaning on the Legislature. Threats of vigilante justice were in the air, with some slowing the rate-of-foreclosure in 1933.

C.B. "Cowboy Ben" Ross was in the lead in this movement, riding herd over the first Democratic-dominated Legislature in a long time. According to Ross biographer Mike Malone, the Legislature was composed mostly of first-time representatives elected on helping out farmers.

In his book, "C.B. Ross and the New Deal in Idaho," Malone says Ross held off on endorsing any of the proposed farmers-relief measures until February.

Then, on Feb. 10, he intervened in a foreclosure on behalf of a friend named Henry May, whose land near Roswell was being foreclosed. In his Ross' description of the farmer's plight at the time was reported as follows:

"In these times when mortgages threaten to deprive farmers their homes because of conditions for which they are in no way responsible, I feel that the mortgagee must take his share of the loss along with the farmer. The loans were made when farm values were high, but now that four bushels of wheat are required to pay for what one bushel sold a few years ago I don't think we should take a man's farm away from him. I will give my policy, until the prices of farm products return to the point where the farmer can meet his obligations, to discourage the disposal of land by sheriff's sale upon which the state holds the mortgages."

On Feb. 21, a meeting of several hundred southwest Idaho farmers demanded that laws be passed to require a jury in foreclosures and to declare a two-year foreclosure holiday.

Steering a somewhat moderated course, Ross proposed to the Legislature a bill granting him the authority to declare 60-day holidays on mortgage foreclosures and to renew the 60-day holidays consecutively. The General Moratorium Law was enacted and became law on March 1.

At the time, the Boise Capital News editorialized that the "greenhorn Legislature has given Ross 'Powers that would make Benito Mussolini blush with envy.'"

Though he was often in court over the law, Ross declared the moratorium through 1935.

Frustration, and its toll-tale bubbles of tar and featherings and mass meeting demands on government, brought change from the grass roots to the national level. By late 1933, the foundations of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal were being laid.

On March 6 that year, Roosevelt declared a nationwide bank holiday, and banking conditions began to stabilize. As banks were slowly reopened in Idaho and around the nation, Ross began the task of managing the federal recovery programs filtering back to Idaho from Washington.

at which the government reimburses hospitals for treating Medicare patients and the other a freeze on fees paid to doctors under the program.

With snow threatening to snarl transportation out of the capital, lawmakers were impatient for a solution.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes indicated the lawmakers were spinning their wheels over the deficit-reduction bill—a three-year package which included $60 billion in spending cuts and $14 billion in taxes.

"We would veto the... bill in its present form," he said, saying the Superfund tax was just one of many problems the administration saw in the measure.

Others include a formula to share billions of dollars of offshore oil revenues with coastal states, which Speakes called a "giveaway" which could cost the Treasury up to $27 billion over several years. The administration also opposed the bill's continuation of aid to industries hurt by foreign trade.

The Superfund levy of .1 percent on most manufacturers was designed to raise about $5.7 billion for over the next five years. The Senate approved the deficit-reduction bill including the Superfund tax in a vote which rejected the idea earlier—rebelled and sent the bill back to the Senate without it.

It bounced back and forth again between the chambers in a marathon session that ended early Friday.

Before the Senate reconvened Friday, Dole said, the Senate could send the bill back to the House again, but acknowledged it would be pointless. "I expect most of the House guys except those with 100 percent voting records are gone," he said.

The Superfund tax dispute blocked what otherwise is a broad compromise on a wide-ranging package most favored by...

of program changes and tax increases designed to meet the guidelines of the fiscal 1988 budget Congress approved last August.

Some of the spending cuts could be made elsewhere, but some major efforts could die with the budget bill, including program changes of $11.2 billion in the Medicare program and a major new tobacco program.

The tobacco bill, which would raise nearly $5 billion over three years, was part of the budget bill program in the future.

The bill also included language to require all new state and local employees to pay Medicare taxes, a major source of revenue for the program in the future.

point.

It seems highly unlikely the presidential directive was aimed at Shultz. White House spokesman Larry Speakes answered "Of course not," when asked Friday whether there was concern that Shultz was bucking presidential policy or wasn't a "team player."

The customarily soft-spoken Shultz has sometimes shown frustration with the way things are done in Washington.

In a news conference just before he left Nixon's cabinet in 1974, he was asked if a quiet comment he'd made in support of an administration position didn't show a lack of enthusiasm.

"That is—the trouble—with Washington," he retorted. "If you say something quietly, thoughtfully, with inclusive reasoning, nobody pays any attention. They only pay attention if you pound on the rostrum."

He made this week's statement on his detectors and trust in quiet, measured tones. But there's little doubt the message got through.

State employees call budget proposal 'selective taxation'

BOISE (AP) — State employees are labeling Gov. John Evans' budget proposal "selective taxation" because it does not provide a salary increase, while education of current services will even maintain current salaries.

Idaho Republican leaders also were critical of the plan, but for different reasons. House Speaker Tom Slivers and Senate President "Pete" Tully criticized Evans' budget request, contending that it failed to include provisions for cutting state programs.

The governor is asking Idaho lawmakers for a fiscal 1987 budget of $612 million, a 4.3-percent increase over the budget appropriated by this year's Legislature.

Of that $612.7 million would go toward maintaining services and $9.5 million would be spent on special projects.

Evans is recommending that lawmakers extend the 4-cent sales tax to all services beginning June 1, except for social services, such as counseling, medical care, and education.

Idaho Public Employees Association executive director Jerry Rasavage called for a sales tax increase to fund a salary increase for state workers, while Idaho Education Board Executive Director Charles McQuillen said education programs will deteriorate without more funding.

Rasavage said state employees recognize that Idaho's economy is unstable, but contended that falling to grant employees for a second year in a row would amount to cutting state employees' salaries when inflation is taken into account.

He said this amounts to "selective taxation." He said the organization supports a tax increase because "we object to state and other public employees being singled out for this extra tax."

McQuillen said that the budget would fail to support existing services.

"It's clearly a maintenance level budget," McQuillen said.

"Traditionally, the governor's request has been the starting point for discussion in the legislature, and things go down from there," said State Superintendent Jerry Evans. "This is a significant blow in that the discussion point is starting so low."

Republican leaders disagreed, contending the governor should have looked for areas in state government where costs could be trimmed.

"Before there's any talk about raising taxes, let the taxpayers want to see a bona fide and sincere effort made to cut," Slivers said.

"After that is done, and after you go as far as you can possibly go, then I think people will support additional revenue if it's absolutely necessary."

Risch said extending the state sales tax to other services amounted to a 1-cent sales tax increase. "That's really what he's talking about. He's afraid to say, '1-cent sales tax.'"

Rep. Kathleen "Kitty" Gurnsey, R-Boise, said "I think the governor understands the needs of the state of Idaho, but I'm not sure that he understands the economic times."

Deputies told to get stun guns

CALDWELL (AP) — Canyon County sheriff's deputies have been ordered to turn in their night sticks in favor of electric "stun guns," Sheriff Bill Anderson said.

Anderson said Friday he decided to discontinue use of the sticks after conferring with Canyon County Prosecutor Richard Harris. But he said deputies will only be able to use stun guns after training and — if they buy them — themselves.

From now on, the only weapon the county will purchase for sheriff's officers will be .357 Magnum revolvers.

Spill tested for PCBs

NAMPA (AP) — Division of Environmental Inspectors are investigating the possibility that PCBs were contained in a handful of dirt that fell off a truck at Amalgamated Sugar Co. in Nampa.

Two trucks delivered PCBs — a substance that has been linked to cancer — to Envirosafe Services Inc. near Grand View Friday before stopping at Amalgamated-Sugar to pick up a load of sugar beet pulp, which is used for cattle feed, said division spokesman Steve Provant.

Provant said a handful of dirt fell off the truck, and investigators are testing it for PCB contamination. Results should be available Monday, he said.

Provant said state law doesn't prohibit the transport of materials that are used as cattle feed on trucks that have just carried PCBs.

Transporters are required under federal law to use double-lined when carrying PCBs. The liners are supposed to be disposed of along with the PCBs, he said.

Murder leads look promising

ELKO, Nev. (AP) — Detectives are following up promising leads in their investigation of the murder of a Utah man whose frozen body was found this week along Interstate 80 north of Nevada's Elko County Sheriff Jim Miller said Friday.

Miller said authorities have several "good leads" in the case of Larry B. Fuller, 40, but wouldn't elaborate. He said the search for a suspect or suspects has so far centered around the Pocatello, Idaho, area where Fuller was last seen alive.

Miller also said he has requested the FBI enter the case, explaining investigators believe the victim, a carpenter, was "kidnapped in Idaho and taken to Nevada where he was murdered."

Fuller had been missing since Dec. 8 when he called his wife from Pocatello while on a business trip. His body was discovered partially buried in snow by a county road crew Tuesday, authorities believe the victim had been dead for one to two weeks.

Fuller's hands, legs and feet were tied and his head wrapped in plastic. He had two bullet holes in his chest and an unspecified wound on the back of his head.

Utah County Sheriff's Sgt. Frank Wall said detectives believe the victim was robbed and then beaten unconscious before he was shot while lying on the ground.

"I believe he was executed outside (his car)," said Wall. "I believe he was shot right where he was found. The two empty cartridges were found underneath his body."

While Miller said authorities still don't have a motive in the case, he said Fuller's family reported the carpenter was fond of picking up hitchhikers.

An autopsy to determine the exact cause of death that had been scheduled for Friday will probably be postponed until Saturday because the body is still frozen, Miller added.

Miller said Fuller's yellow Chevrolet Suburban still hasn't been found.

Fuller's survivors include his wife and five children, all 10-years-old or younger.

Pier blamed for bridge fall

BONNERS FERRY (AP) — A wooden pier support tilting under the weight of a crossing train caused the 80-year-old Spokane International Railroad bridge to collapse Dec. 6, a railway official said.

The pier consisted of 10 to 15 wooden "pilings" driven into the Kootenai River bottom in 1932, said George Skorney, spokesman for the Union Pacific System in Portland, Ore. UP owns Spokane International.

"Old age and scouring of the river bottom by the river's current caused the failure, Skorney said.

A report by the UP's bridge engineering department will be forwarded to the Federal Railroad Administration.

Eight cars of a 76-car northbound freight train plunged into the river when the span collapsed. A ninth car was left hanging on one bank.

Nobody was injured, but three of the bridge's five spans were destroyed.

COEUR D'ALENE (AP) — Tony Ray Sterley, son of former Pocatello police chief Ron Sterley, has been sentenced to two years in jail on a cocaine charge.

Ron Sterley, convicted of delivery and conspiracy to deliver cocaine, is scheduled for sentencing next month.

Judge Walt Prather retained jurisdiction for 120 days on Tony Sterley, 26, meaning he probably will be evaluated in that time and may spend the rest of his sentence on probation.

Diplomat safety program urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration sent proposed legislation to Congress Friday that would authorize the most costly security program ever for American diplomatic posts overseas.

The authorizing legislation did not come with a price tag. But the State Department, in the wake of attacks on U.S. embassies, originally had proposed a $4.2 billion, seven-year program that would include everything from construction of new embassies to installation of better lights and locks.

Democrats and Republicans on a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee had accused the Office of Management and Budget of bottling up the legislation.

Specific cost figures for the security project must come in separate appropriations bills, which will be affected by the new balanced budget law that takes effect next year.

However, in the initial State Department plan, some $3.2 billion of the request was for a six-year construction program that would include 62 new diplomatic facilities and 40 to 50 major renovation projects.

Department officials have said they are ready to seek bids for the construction projects as soon as money becomes available. All projects would be under way in the first three years and completed within five years under the plan.

In addition to the construction program, the authorizing bill would require the secretary of state to convene a board of inquiry "in any case involving serious injury, loss of life or significant destruction of property... at a United States Government mission abroad."

Jarvik-7 cases backed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal advisory panel on Friday endorsed continued human experimentation with the Jarvik-7 artificial heart, but called for increased observation of procedures because of concerns about serious medical complications.

The advisory panel, after meeting in closed session for more than six hours, said it would recommend that the Food and Drug Administration allow Dr. William DeVries to continue performing heart implants on a case-by-case basis.

DeVries has performed four of the seven implants authorized by the FDA. Of the four, two patients have died and all have suffered complications including strokes and blood clotting.

But in testimony before the panel Friday, Dr. Robert Jarvik, the developer of the heart, said the four cases have contributed to the scientific and medical knowledge necessary to develop an acceptable artificial heart.

Dr. Charles L. McIntosh, chairman of the federal advisory panel, said the committee agreed unanimously to allow the experiments to continue, but under sharp new reporting requirements.

Heart transplant patient still critical

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The first woman to receive an artificial heart grasped a doctor's hand Friday, but a spokesman for her surgeons said she is not recovering as quickly as they hoped and the implant may have come too late.

Mary Lund, 40, who suffered from a rare heart disease, received a scaled-down version of the Jarvik-7 heart in a six-hour operation at Abbott Northwestern Hospital — that ended Thursday morning.

The Kensington woman was experiencing minor bleeding in the chest cavity and her condition remained critical but stable.

No verdict yet in Order trial

SEATTLE (AP) — Jurors in the racketeering trial against 10 alleged members of the Nazi-like group The Order retired Friday after four days of deliberations without reaching a verdict.

The jury began their weekend break at 3 p.m., planning to resume meeting Monday morning.

The jurors asked Friday to listen to some tape recordings that were introduced during the three-month trial but made no other special requests and asked no legal questions of U.S. District Judge Walter McGovern, court officials said.

The case involves a total of 44 counts against the defendants, who are accused of running a criminal conspiracy for the white supremacist sect in 1983 and 1984, committing two murders, more than $4 million in robberies, counterfeiting and arson.

The government claims the group hoped to overthrow the government, eliminate Jews and other minorities and establish a homeland for white people.

Education seminar focuses on money woes

By JANE ROBINSON
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — With the start of the 1986 legislative session less than three weeks away, and a state 2.5-percent holdback pushing educators to the funding brink, a seminar Thursday on legislative effect on education in Idaho inevitably focused on money.

State Superintendent of Education Jerry Evans said he doubted public schools would be exempted from the governor's 2.5-percent holdback request, which is likely to increase to 5 percent.

Gov. John Evans on Thursday said the budget crisis facing the state would require that spending reductions he ordered this fall be made permanent for the current budgets for all government operations except public education.

Officials are predicting at least a $20 million revenue shortfall, up from the $14 million shortfall estimated earlier this year.

The state superintendent said that if public education is excluded from the holdback, everyone else would have to hold back 10 percent of their budgets, and "I don't think it can be done that way."

Currently, the Twin Falls School District will lose $223,963 if the 2.5-percent holdback remains, or $500,000 if the holdback jumps to 5 percent.

The state superintendent was in Twin Falls Thursday as part of an all-day conference sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce on the quality of education in Idaho. About a dozen local people attended.

Evans also defended his department's stiff growth-increase request, charging that education should not be tied to the price of potatoes.

"I've heard a lot of comments from people who say we should be upgrading our educational system in poor economic times," Evans said. "But our commitment is to young people and their future. We shouldn't have to adjust education standards when the price of potatoes goes up or down."

The state Department of Education is seeking $61 million in state funding for public education, "just to maintain" the system, Evans said.

He also blasted the current 5-percent cap on local government budgets as "the most anti-growth thing ever done."

"It's a killer on the economy because it stifles growth and development," he said. "Although new development means more of a demand on services, local governments do not realize any more in taxes than if the development had not occurred, Evans said.

As an example, state Sen. Laird Noh, R-Kimberly, who was also at the meeting, said the new, $13-million Magic Valley Mall being developed north of Twin Falls would "not generate one nickel for schools."

Also speaking at the seminar was Twin Falls Assistant Superintendent Kent Heaton, who chiefed lawmakers for failing to increase funding at the same time they increase educational requirements.

"It's easy to enact laws, and they serve a good purpose, but by the time they filter down to us, they're costly," he said. "We need money to work with."

For example, in 1986, seniors will have to have 44 credits to graduate, rather than the current 40. That means school districts will have to add at least three to four teachers, plus textbooks, at an estimated cost of $100,000 to each, Heaton said.

Kimberly to merge 2 reports

Hartgen says action may not be enough

By ANNETTE CARY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Kimberly City Council met in closed session Friday night to write a summary report combining material in two disputed reports written following investigations of the Kimberly Police Department.

The council is expected to vote to release the summary report at an open meeting Monday at 7 p.m., but there was no indication Friday that the original reports would be made public.

Councilmember Jack Wright said Friday afternoon that he hoped The Times-News would be satisfied with the council's report, combining elements of reports prepared by the Attorney General's Office and the Twin Falls Police Department.

Stephen Hartgen, managing editor of The Times-News, called for the release of the Attorney General's report in a Thursday editorial. Mayor Ron Jones responded by calling a Friday afternoon meeting of the council to "discuss threatened litigation that will be apparently brought by The Times-News. They feel it (information in the reports) is public information."

Hartgen said he would not know if the combined report would be satisfactory until he saw it, but said he had strong doubts.

"I don't know why we need the council's version of the two existing reports," he said. "The reports should speak for themselves. A third report only confuses the issues and raises inevitable questions about what was included and what was not. It appears to be a sanitized version (the council is preparing)."

"Again we have two reports done by official agencies. The public has the right to see them. They are public property. The (combined) version would seem to be something less than the two reports together," Hartgen said.

About 20 townspeople attended an early afternoon closed meeting of the council at the community center. The council met in the center for about an hour until the meeting was interrupted to tell those waiting outside that the council would take no action Friday. At one point, those outside could hear shouting in the meeting room.

The council met for another hour before adjourning until evening, so members could return to their jobs for the rest of the afternoon.

Mayor Ron Jones, who has called for the release of the Attorney General's report, said he refused to attend the evening meeting.

"Now I did agree to mark out the names (in the Attorney General report) of juveniles and innocent people — there is a suicide (attempt) mentioned," he said. "But that's as far as I'll go."

Councilmembers had not returned from the meeting at press time.

Range-aron charge hits area resident

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

CASTLEFORD — A Castleford-area resident will go to trial Feb. 24 in Boise on a charge of setting a fire that consumed 18,500 acres of public rangeland west of Rogerson Aug. 15, the U.S. Bureau of Land Management reported Friday.

This is the second time a Magic Valley resident has been charged with illegally setting fires this summer.

Ricardo Beraun-Panez, no age available, was arraigned Tuesday in U.S. District Court on the federal charge of felony arson, said Chris Long, a public information officer with the BLM. Beraun-Panez had been indicted on the charge Dec. 11 by a grand jury in Boise.

Beraun-Panez was arrested in the Castleford-area Monday evening and transported Tuesday to Boise for an initial appearance in the federal court, Long said.

After the hearing, Beraun-Panez was released by the court to the custody of Mrs. Maurice Guerry, according to court records. Mrs. Guerry's son, Mike, said Beraun-Panez, who works for the family, had been seen at the fire.

While suppressing the fire, which was located about 15 miles west of Rogerson, one BLM firefighter suffered a broken leg and another sustained a severe sprain, Long said.

If convicted, Beraun-Panez faces the maximum penalty of five years in prison and/or a $5,000 fine. He also may be liable for the costs of fighting the fire, which in this case amounted to $75,000, Long said.

State BLM investigator Dan Hughes worked with the Twin Falls County Sheriff's Department on the fire investigation. Long said he could release no other information about the case.

In a separate arson case investigated by the BLM, Twin Falls-area resident Richard L. Kerbs is accused of igniting a fire June 19 that burned 3,000 acres of public rangeland near Castleford. Kerbs farms near Castleford.

Kerbs was scheduled to go to trial Dec. 17 in U.S. District Court in Boise. Long said the hearing was postponed until January because of new information in the case and the unavailability of a witness.

If convicted, Kerbs faces a maximum sentence of $1,000, fine and/or one year in jail.

Hughes, who was not available for comment Friday, had investigated a series of arson-suspected fires this summer in southern Idaho after reports of people attempting to burn out grasshoppers plaguing nearby farmland.

Long previously reported more arson cases are pending in southern Idaho.

2 officers slapped by sheriff's actions

Suspension, firing in Jerome County

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

JEROME — One Jerome County Sheriff's Department officer has been suspended without pay for two weeks and another, on probation as a new employee, has been dismissed from the force, Sheriff Elza Hall said Thursday.

Orville Balzer, who has served on the department staff for about four years, was placed on suspension for what Sheriff Hall said was repeated unwillingness to follow department rules and regulations.

Kent Carlson, who was hired about three months ago and was working under a six-month probation, was relieved of his duties Thursday, Hall said.

He said Carlson was "sent home" Monday afternoon by Chief Deputy Sheriff Larry Webb and was then suspended.

"I asked him to come in to talk with me about the situation and he didn't show up yesterday or today," Hall said. "Apparently he isn't going to talk to me about it, so I have terminated him under terms of our hiring policy," Hall said.

Hall, who was on vacation when Webb sent Carlson home from work, said he didn't want to go into any details of allegations against the two men. He said, however, that there was no connection between the two incidents that led to suspension and termination of the men.

Balzer was suspended last week after he went to the Jerome County Commissioners' asking to appeal the suspension. He filed a letter with Hall requesting a hearing and Hall said he passed the letter on to the commissioners Monday. The commissioners returned it, saying it did not meet appeal requirements. Balzer now has 10 days in which to submit a proper appeal.

The suspension and dismissal leave the department with only two deputies in the west end of the county, but Hall said he has full coverage by using reserve officers.

"I have four reserves (officers) who have attended police training schools and are well qualified," Hall said. "They farm, so they have time to help out in the winter."

County airport board endorses race-track idea

By MICHAEL VANAUSEL
Times-News correspondent

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls County Airport Board Thursday endorsed the idea of a race track being built near the airport, but will not make a decision on who will be able to build a track until after the Twin Falls City Council approves the construction.

"We don't know anything more than we knew before," said Dick

Shotwell, chairman of the Airport Board, "but we do support the building of a race track."

Two Twin Falls men, Robert Watts and Norman Jones, have each presented proposals to the board in the anticipation of obtaining a lease in order to build an auto race track. Board members felt that they should give only one lease to build one of the two proposed tracks.

"We'll have to wait and consider each proposal before making a decision," said Shotwell. "We need some more information."

There was concern expressed over the disturbance the track might cause to nearby residents. Some of the residents are protesting the building of any racetrack in the Twin Falls impact area because of the noise and heavy traffic that would result from the track.

Residents have appealed the Twin Falls Planning and Zoning Committee's decision last week to give Watts and Jones special permits to build their respective tracks, even though the board will award only one lease.

The board also approved the purchase of a snowplow for next year. With the trouble the weather has caused this year in particular, some boardmembers felt that a snowplow was long overdue. The possible cost was not discussed, however.

"We need a bigger one," said Shotwell. "Then watch, it will quit snowing."

Hall said he was "sent home" Monday afternoon by Chief Deputy Sheriff Larry Webb and was then suspended.

"I asked him to come in to talk with me about the situation and he didn't show up yesterday or today," Hall said. "Apparently he isn't going to talk to me about it, so I have terminated him under terms of our hiring policy," Hall said.

'Amazing' Kreskin makes Twin Falls audience believe

By MICHAEL VANAUSEL

TWIN FALLS — An "amazing" performance by Kreskin, a "marketing" director for the American Cancer Society, made a Twin Falls audience believe he could control the weather, move objects, and even communicate with the dead.

Kreskin, a 40-year-old man with a shaved head and a goatee, was dressed in a dark suit and tie. He performed his "magic" in a room with a stage and a large audience of about 100 people.

Social Security base to rise

TWIN FALLS — The annual earnings base — the maximum amount of earnings that counts for Social Security — will increase to $42,000 in 1986, up from $39,600 in 1985, said Len Satterfield, Social Security manager in Twin Falls, said recently.

The increase is based on the change in average earnings levels from 1984 to 1985.

Also scheduled to increase in 1986 is the Social Security tax rate. The 1986 tax rate will be 7.15 percent, an increase of .10 percent over the 1985 rate of 7.05 percent. The increase will amount to $1.50 a month for a person earning $1,500 a month.

Other Social Security figures are scheduled to increase in 1986 as well, Satterfield said. The annual exempt amount used in the annual earnings test will increase. The annual earnings test is the measure used to determine whether a person who works will receive benefits during the year.

A person whose earnings do not exceed the annual exempt amount will receive all benefits due for the year. A person's benefit is reduced $1 for each $2 of earnings above the exempt amount. The annual earnings test does not apply once a person reaches 70.

More information about Social Security taxes and benefits can be obtained at any Social Security office in Idaho, call toll free 1-800-632-5121. The Twin Falls Social Security office is located at 202 Second Ave. N.

Former Twin Falls superintendent, wife file bankruptcy for a 2nd time

TWIN FALLS — Former Twin Falls School Superintendent Gary Piller and his wife, Susan, have filed for Chapter 7 bankruptcy in U.S. Bankruptcy Court in Boise, listing more than $46,000 in unsecured loans.

Piller also is embroiled in two other legal actions. He is suing Twin Falls School District for $1.75 million, alleging violations of his constitutional right to due process when the board fired him in August 1984. That case is scheduled for trial in July.

In the other case, he is being sued by Twin Falls Bank & Trust Co. for defaulting on almost $6,800 in unsecured loans, said interest.

In his bankruptcy case, Piller listed debts of $111,249, including $69,000 for his house at 803-N. Locust, along with $46,572 in unsecured assets.

Chapter 7 is a liquidation of assets.

The case was filed Nov. 29, one month after the seven-year limitation period bankruptcy filings: Piller previously filed for bankruptcy in U.S. District Court in Tacoma, Wash., on Nov. 17, 1978. The recent case said creditors in the previous bankruptcy had been paid.

In a statement of financial affairs, Piller said he made regular payments on all accounts until June 1984, "then ran out of money." He was suspended from his post as superintendent in August 1984 and dismissed thereafter.

Although the bankruptcy case and his suit against the district are separate, they may have a bearing on one another. In an affidavit filed in U.S. District Court in Tacoma, the district, Piller alleged that School Board member Robert Knight was able to adversely influence Piller's ability to obtain credit through Knight's friendship with Curtis H. Eaton, then vice president of Twin Falls Bank and Trust Co.

However, Curtis T. Eaton, father of Curtis H., denied the charge, saying Piller "had been well taken care of over the years by this office."

Twin Falls Bank & Trust has since filed suit in U.S. District Court against Piller for failing to pay back $3,339.98 of a $6,000 loan, issued June 1984. The bank is suing for three other unsecured loans, totalling $2,454, which it says Piller is in default on. All of the loans are listed by Piller in the bankruptcy case.

Neither Piller's lawyer, James Meservy, nor the School District's lawyer, Phillip Oberreicht in Boise, could be reached for comment.

Twin Falls Bank & Trust officials refused comment on whether the bank would protest Piller's bankruptcy filing.

A hearing with creditors in the bankruptcy case is set for 11 a.m. Jan. 6 at the Jerome County Courthouse.

After delay, deficiency checks ready

WASHINGTON — Idaho farmers should receive deficiency payments from the U.S. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service today or Monday, the Idaho office announced.

The payments were released Friday after being delayed for a week because the U.S. Commodity Credit Corp. was nearing its credit limit, said U.S. Rep. Richard Stallings, D-Idaho, who announced the release.

"The delay has caused serious concern to many of our Idaho farmers," he said. The deficiency checks are vital to many farmers faced with end-of-the-year property taxes, Stallings said.

Farmer program specialist Rex Braithwaite, who works in the ASCS Idaho office, said the checks went into the mail Friday. They mainly are for wheat and barley crops.

The government payments are part of the price support system. They make up the difference between an artificially set target price and the market price or loan rate received by a farmer.

Priests fight career burnout at desert retreat

By KIT MINICLIER (c) 1985, The Denver Post
TESQUE, N.M. - Even priests get the blues.
Eyes and souls fixed on the eternal, those in the church still fall prey to the contemporary demons as the middle crisis.

New York, who has presented life-planning workshops at the center for 10 years.
30 in the current program came from across the United States and from Australia, Sri Lanka, Lesotho, Tanzania, Ethiopia and dozens of other points around the globe to participate in the 47th session of what's called "reformation."

Irish priest who ministers to the dying and their loved ones - in a Boston-area hospital; a brother who ran a small newspaper for the Navajo and a brother from a school in New York.
They soon learned here that they share many uncertainties, concerns, frustrations and fears which never were able to talk about before with anyone, one brother said.

Brother Mike - some of those interviewed preferred to be mentioned only by their Christian names - took up running again, plays volleyball and learned needlepoint, "just another form of art," at the center.
Brother John Corkeron, a white-haired, 52-year-old Australian, is on his first trip outside of his native country. He appreciates the intellectual stimulation and camaraderie that he took up tennis again after 30 years.

Israeli Cabinet panel to study BYU annex

JERUSALEM (AP) - Prime Minister Shimon Peres is setting up a special cabinet committee to discuss the construction of an annex of Brigham Young University that Orthodox Jews fear will become a Mormon missionary center, a Cabinet minister said Wednesday.
Top officials of the Mormon-affiliated BYU of Provo, Utah, under construction near the Mount of Olives will serve as the University's Near East Studies Department. They advised Israeli leaders that no attempt will be made to convert Jews to Christianity. But many Jews have rejected the assurances on the grounds that proselytizing plays a central role in the Mormon faith.

The committee's creation followed a Senate threat by a coalition of the religious parties in the seven-party coalition to quit the government and submit a no-confidence motion against it in Parliament.
Abraham Shapira, chairman of Parliament's finance committee, said, "If Agudat Israel Party would walk out, guess who on the Mount of Olives will serve as the question was being studied."
The Yediot-Ahronot newspaper, in a report by its Washington correspondent, said Wednesday that the U.S. Senate will hold hearings on what is called "the harassment of Mormons in Israel."

That women worldwide tend to put into motion a new course of action that can be beneficial to you. Later you must be careful with money; don't argue what it with another.

AMTRAK
Amtrak serves more towns nationwide than all the major U.S. airlines combined.

Two out of five gold balls are colored, now. I say "now" because when they were first introduced commercially in 1928 nobody wanted them.

The race most likely to have twins — blacks. Least likely — Orientals.

There are a lot more square inches in a square mile, you know, than seconds in a century.

Rapid-Reply: On medical prescriptions, "A.C." represents "before meals." "B.I.D." stands for "bis in die" meaning "twice a day." And "H.S." is short for "hora somni" meaning "before bedtime."

Why twice as many women as men are admitted to hospitals — for "depression" is not clear.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Give your home and family your undivided attention today and feel more peaceful. Don't bother asking for favors today.

Plan to sell FHA needs study

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration has retreated from its plan to sell the Federal Housing Administration to earn cash for the government, but the 1987 budget document will say further study is necessary before the plan goes forward, an official said Friday.

The official at the Office of Management and Budget, who spoke on condition that his name not be used, said the administration intended to carry through with plans to sell the giant mortgage insurance agency to private industry.

However, this source said the 1987 budget document would announce that a study would need to be completed, exploring the best ways to conduct the sale before the actual sale could be scheduled. In a draft budget document, the administration had stated that the mortgage agency should be sold by the end of 1985.

The study will not be whether to sell FHA, but how to do it.

The official said, "The policy commitment to privatize the FHA will be in this budget. We simply need more time to study how to do it."

But housing industry lobbyists and officials at the Department of Housing and Urban Development said the study represents a retreat for OMB Director James Miller and others in the administration who have been pushing the sale.

"We would declare a victory for right now," said Warren Eaker, executive vice-president of the Mortgage Bankers Association, one of the groups opposing the sale. "We deal with these issues one year at a time. It is satisfying that for this year at least, the administration recognizes that FHA is right where it should be."

Holiday traffic deaths forecast

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council has estimated that 150 to 250 people will die in traffic accidents during the two-day Christmas holiday period this year.

The council also estimated that 7,400 to 12,800 people might suffer disabling injuries in traffic accidents.

The council said its figures are for a two-day period beginning at 5 p.m. local time Monday and ending at midnight local time Wednesday.

In a four-day period over Christmas last year, 537 people were killed and 23,560 suffered disabling injuries.

American airfares cut

NEW YORK (AP) — American Airlines cut fares by 75 percent Friday for all mainland U.S. flights from Jan. 8 to Feb. 10, including a struggle to capture a greater number of bargain-travelers from low-cost competitors.

The announcement was the latest extension of fare-cutting that has blanketed the Christmas and New Year holidays. Republic Airlines and no-frills carrier People Express also have post-New Year discounts.

Northwest Airlines said it would match American's discounts in markets where they compete. Other major airlines said they were studying American's "Winter Wonder Fare Sale," and spokesmen for United Airlines and Delta Air Lines said they intend to "remain competitive" with American.

American's prices are based on mileage, ranging from $29 one way for destinations less than 100 miles, to $129 for routes exceeding 2,000 miles, said Thomas Plaskett, vice president of marketing.

Bonner to address synagogue service

BOSTON (AP) — Yelena Bonner will speak at a suburban synagogue today to show her gratitude to the Jewish community for its concern with the plight of her and her husband, Soviet dissident Andrei Sakharov, according to the temple's rabbi and a family member.

Mrs. Bonner, visiting the United States for three months of heart and eye treatment, will speak during the morning service at Congregation Mishkan Tefila in Newton even though she is a non-practicing Jew. Rabbi Richard Yellin said, Sakharov, a Nobel Peace Prize winner, is not Jewish.

Yellin said he had known Mrs. Bonner's daughter, Tatiana Yankelevich, since 1980, shortly after the Yankelevichs arrived in Newton.

Envoy arrives in Lebanon for third visit

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Church of England envoy Terry Waite appealed to radical Moslem kidnappers Friday to let their American captives go home for Christmas.

It was his third visit to Beirut in a long quest for the hostages' freedom.

Waite said after arriving from London that he has "just and fair proposals" for the captors. He was flanked by members of the Shiite Moslem militia Amal, who took him from the airport to the Summerland hotel in Moslem west Beirut.

"The fact that I'm here at Christmas is partly coincidental," Waite said, "but I would hope that the significance of this religious festival, which is a time of peace on Earth and goodwill towards men, would not be lost here in this country."

Waite represents Archbishop of Canterbury Robert Runcie, to whom four kidnapped Americans wrote last-month requesting-intercession.

Octuplets born; six die quickly

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — A 25-year-old woman gave birth to octuplets Friday in the Aegean coastal city of Izmir, but six died within 12 hours, the semi-official news agency Anadolu reported.

It said the five boys and three girls were delivered by Caesarean section, 12 weeks premature.

India: Flaws prompted leak

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The government said Friday that design flaws and inadequate safety controls caused the 1984 gas leak at the Union Carbide Corp. pesticide plant in Bhopal that killed more than 2,000 people.

controls were "not fool-proof to ensure absolute avoidance of violent chemical reactions and leakage of toxic gases."

The minister based his statement on a report by S. Vardarajan, director general of the government's Council of Scientific and Industrial Research. The report was submitted to Parliament Friday.

Eagle cagers' Canadian success continues

By THE TIMES-NEWS

CALGARY, Alberta — Chris Blocker and Keith Jackson started an 19-0 surge midway through the first half to send the College of Southern Idaho men past the defending Canadian national junior college champion Sheridan Valley Bruins 95-69 and into the finals of the Canadian National Holiday Tournament.

The Eagles will go against host Southern Alberta Institute of Technology for the championship at 8 p.m. today.

The Eagles, after holding a couple of early six-point leads, fell behind the Bruins 18-10 before the defense took over. Blocker, who had 22 points at halftime, opened with two field goals and Jackson converted a crumple-off-a-steal. After another Blocker field goal, Jackson made another steal and converted a three-point play to blow things to 29-18.

As usual, CSI gave up the height advantage underneath but that's also where the Eagles feasted for their points. With Blocker picking up a double handful of assists, Eric Newman and Jeff Keweweg picked up a lot of close-in buckets. Newman closed the first half with five points to make it 50-41 and started the second half with another layin.

Although the game was played in Canada, all the starters were from the United States. Sheridan Valley, located in the Canadian province of Ontario, started five Americans from upper New York and border states.

The victory was the second in two weeks for CSI over national champions, having downed U.S. Juco Titlet Dixie in the K and T Steel tournament.

"The defending champions go down hard," said Coach Fred Trenkle.

It also leaves him looking at the No. 1 ranked team in Canada in tonight's finalis.

"Southern Alberta is being picked to win the national championship up here this year. They're quick; they run like heck, they're very defensively oriented, get after you and play hard. It will be an extremely tough game. In front of their home crowd but we're going to have to play over that," Trenkle said.

"They beat the team we played tonight by seven and they have some players who have been here three and four years and they are talented. But if our guys come out and play the way they're capable, I feel good about our chances," he added.

Trenkle said Sheridan gave his Eagles as much as they wanted in the first half.

"I thought our first-half defense was decent; they just shot so well in the first-half," Trenkle said of the halftime score. "I have to be pleased with the way Jackson and Keweweg came off the bench for us tonight, especially in the second-half. Keith had a good half, defensively and got some points."

Blocker ended the night hitting 11 for 16 from the field and 6-6 from the foul line to pace all scorers while five other Eagles joined him in double scoring figures.

Pocatello squad takes lead with 7 three-point tosses

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The three-point field goal made an auspicious appearance at the Twin Falls High gymnasium Friday night.

Pocatello's Wade Wyatt and Jon Goodman combined for seven of them — six in the first half — to blow out to a big early lead and down the Twin Falls Bruins 49-35 in the Gem State Conference opener for both sides.

Twin Falls, ranked fifth in the latest Associated Press poll, had two major problems. The first was turnovers — five straight to open the game — and the second was lack of shooting touch.

"At halftime," said a dismayed Bruin Coach John Astorquia who had seen his charges outbreed the shorter Indians about 21, "we're 6-for-19 and they're 6-for-7 from three-point land."

At no time did the combination of events throw a game out of which more quickly than the mid-first to mid-second quarters.

After the teams had tied at 4-4 in a slow start, Twin Falls, scoring simply stopped, while Pocatello's hit its best streak. The defending GSC champion Indians broke the tie on a "putback" shot by Curtis Chambers and Wyatt added a field goal. Then in quick succession Wyatt and Goodman hit three-pointers to explode the lead to 14-4. Goodman closed the first and started the second quarters with three-pointers and Wyatt chimed in with another howitzer and a regulation 2-pointer.

With 5:37 left in the half, Pocatello owned a 25-5 lead.

Earl Clark's field-goal with 4:05 left in the half ended a nine-minute field goal drought for the Bruins. Twin Falls managed to cut the deficit to 10 points in the fourth quarter but never did back into a challenging position.

"I think our offense was pretty bad all night but it started getting a little better in the second half. By that I mean the passing and the execution was a little better but the shooting was never good," Astorquia said.

"I thought our zone was pretty good early and then it went along with the shooting because of the turnovers. Pocatello blew the zone in the second half and we went to the man and in some areas it was better and in other it was worse," said the man who had predicted tough sledding for the Bruins until at least mid-January.

After trailing by 20, Twin Falls chipped back in the closing minute of the half with eight points. Clark hitting twice and Jeff Scheel finding a field goal and two free throws.

The Bruins lowered the deficit to 12 when Cal Osgyn and Dave Fullon started the second half with points. On their next possession, Twin Falls got five shots but none fell and Pocatello immediately three-pointed. Twin Falls managed just two more points over the period and trailed 37-21 as the final eight minutes began.

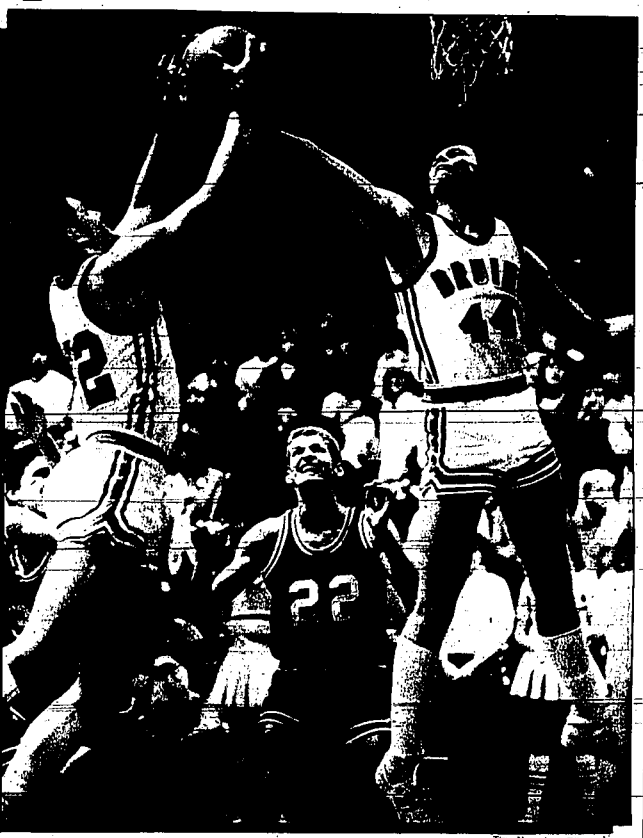

Scheel and Jon Fullon, who got the Bruins only three points of the night, pulled Twin Falls back to within 10 with 2:21 to play but the Bruins had to foul after that and Goodman made them pay.

"We had to look for that three-pointer after we got it down to 10 in the last quarter but we look some horrible shots. I mean we could have taken our time to get a little better on-balanced shot," Astorquia said of the last hoop.

Two of those shots wound up air balls.

Twin Falls, now 2-1, remains home tonight to entertain the Jerome Tigers. Pocatello is 2-4 for the season.

Hungry Rams destroy Minico

Spartans stunned by 63-49 thrashing

By BRAD BRELAND
Times-News writer

POCATELLO — "We've been hungry for a win."

With that, Highland Coach Don Colant cut loose his Rams, who feasted on the Minico Spartans 63-49 in a Gem State Conference boys' basketball game Friday night.

The loss was the second in two conference games for the Spartans, who are now 2-3 for the season.

The Rams took an early lead, but Minico always managed to scrap back and keep the score close.

The Spartans had trouble through the entire first quarter. When Highland's Larry Davis popped in a bucket from the outside, the Rams led by eight points.

Midway through the second quarter Brad Bird scored and the Rams increased their lead to a dozen.

Minico mounted a comeback with two minutes in the half as Jack Bagley and David Duff each scored a pair of points and the Spartans trailed by five at the half.

Danny Poulton opened the third quarter with a basket, cutting Highland's lead to three.

Darron Williams, a thorn in Minico's side all night, turned a three-point Highland lead into a six-point bulge by scoring from the three-point perimeter.

It took almost the entire third quarter, but Minico cut the lead back to three points on a Robert Greener basket. But Williams, who ended the game with 33 points, scored from three-point range at the buzzer to extend the lead to six.

Minico went cold in the fourth quarter, failing to score in its next eight possessions. By the time Jesse Beilman scored at the 3:25 mark, Minico trailed 57-45.

Beilman ended the game scoring 17 points for the Spartans and Poulton and Duff had 10 each.

The victory left the Rams at 1-5 for the season and 1-1 in league games. Highland won the preliminary, 65-50.

Broncos nip Seahawks, 27-24, keep hopes alive

By JIM COUR
The Associated Press

SEATTLE — The Denver Broncos started out their "must-win" game Friday night as if they were going to be run off the field.

With 5:44 gone in the second quarter they came together to win in order to keep their National Football League playoff hopes alive, they trailed Seattle 17-0.

But a 43-yard field goal with 55 seconds left in the game by Rikis Karlis, who missed a 34-yard field goal attempt earlier in the fourth quarter, gave Denver a come-from-behind 27-24 victory.

"I can't say any prouder of a team than this one," said Denver Coach Dan Reeves. "Any team has been unbelievable all season long."

"We had our backs to the wall early and came back from 17-0. We deserved to win. We showed them why we think we're one of the best either, but I hit it true enough to go through," he said of the game-winning. "It's been a weird year. I seem to have my concentration on 9 out of 10 kicks."

John Elway, who passed for 432 yards, was optimistic about the Broncos' playoff chances.

"We've got the confidence," he said. "We kept fighting back today. It's been part of this team all year. I just hope we get to the playoffs."

In order for Denver, 11-5, to get an AFC wild-card berth, it would need a loss by either the New York Jets or New England in those teams' regular-season finales on Sunday.

The Broncos, who trailed 17-0 in the first half, were behind 24-17 with 5:20 to go in the game after Seattle's Curt Warner leaped into the end zone from one yard out.

But John Elway, Denver's brilliant quarterback who completed 21 of 42 passes for 432 yards, drove his team 80 yards in eight plays for the game-tying touchdown with 2:35 left. The key play, a 66-yard strike to Steve Watson to the Seattle 6.

Steve Sewell's one-yard run and Karlis' extra-point kick tied the score at 24-24, setting the stage for Karlis' winning kick.

Elway was almost sacked on the long pass play, but he scrambled around, then fired the 66-yard bomb to Watson.

Sewell scored four plays later to knot the score.

The Seahawks then gave up the ball after three Dave Krieg passes were incomplete. And Denver took over on its own 38 with 1:55 remaining. The Broncos went 34 yards in five plays to position Karlis for his game-winning field goal.

Elway had a 27-yard pass complete to Sewell to start out the drive.

but had to leave the game with an ankle injury after being hit by Seahawks' defensive end Jeff Bryant on the pass play to Sewell. Gary Kubiak came in and ran six yards on a quarterback-keeper to get Denver to the Seattle 25 before Karlis came onto the field.

Karlis, who beat the Seahawks in Denver earlier in the season with an overtime field goal, was perfect with his 43-yard attempt.

He was wide to the left with his 34-yard try with 10:02 to go with the score tied at 17-17.

The Seahawks, 8-8, who were eliminated from playoff contention last Sunday with a loss to the Raiders in Los Angeles, jumped out to a 17-0 lead in the opening half.

Krieg passed 41 yards to Daryl Turner for a touchdown. Johnson booted a 28-yard field goal and Terry Taylor ran a blocked Chris Norman punt into the end zone from 15 yards out.

Krieg hit 17 of 40 passes for 216 yards and was intercepted once for the game's only turnover.

Boise State's Perkins out with benign tumor

The Associated Press

BOISE — Boise State freshman guard Bill Perkins has been sidelined indefinitely after doctors diagnosed a benign tumor near his spinal column.

"We will watch it to see if it heats itself," Bronco head basketball coach Bobby Dye said. "It is a benign tumor so we feel good about that. It's hard to speculate how long the recovery time is, but the main thing is, Bill's going to be fine."

Dye said doctors want to determine whether the tumor grows back. If it should be removed surgically.

The starter, who saw limited action in the last three games, first complained of back problems earlier this month during Boise State's successful outing against Washington. The problem was originally thought to be back spasms.

Smith came off the bench to hit three straight baskets and fed Steve Hale for a basket to key the run. The Cardinals drew no closer than 12 points the rest of the way in falling to 5-2.

Kentucky shot out to a 13-4 lead on Roger Harden's layup with 14:44 left in the first half, and expanded the margin to 18-3 on Blackmon's free throw at 12:11.

HAZELTON — The Valley Vikings broke out in a 13-8 lead in the early minutes but had to turn to the foul line in the late going to turn back the Wendell Trojans 65-54 Friday in a Canyon Conference boys' basketball game.
Valley led the flimsy opening. Valley couldn't put the Trojans away. A lot of that had to do with the outside gunning of Jimmy Jo Prince, who canned 27 points and had 11 of those in the third quarter. He had four three-pointers and his hot hand in the third quarter started Wendell back from an 18-point halftime deficit.

Twice in the fourth quarter Wendell chipped to within three points but was turned back the first time on a goal-tending call and then by Valley's foul shooting. Bill Hardy hit six straight from the stripe to lead the lead at five points and Blake Gardner added some critical foul shots to help extend the lead.

Nation's economy grows slowly '85

By MARTIN CRUTSINGER
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The economy grew a lusterless 2.4 percent in 1985, the slowest pace since the last recession, the government reported Friday.

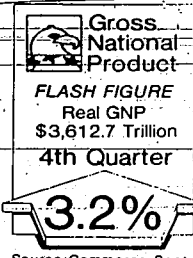

While the year ended on a faster note, many analysts predicted only a slightly improved economy in 1986.

Growth in the gross national product, the total output of goods and services, was down substantially from the previous 5.6 percent advance recorded in 1984 and was below even a scaled-down estimate by the Reagan administration.

"The economy is still growing, but it is growing very slowly and there is no indication yet of any change in that pattern," said Lawrence Chiminer, head of Chase Econometrics of Bala Cynwyd, Pa. "We expect 1986 to be pretty much a repeat of 1985."

The GNP report and a separate Labor Department report on Friday showed that inflation is remaining under control as the economy enters its fourth year of expansion.

GNP-linked inflation measure rose 3.5 percent in 1985, the lowest increase since 1967. The Labor Department reported that consumer prices were rising at an annual rate of just 3.6 percent during the first 11 months of the year, despite a sharp 0.6 percent increase in November prices.

Many analysts discounted the big November gain, the largest in almost two years, saying it stemmed from a temporary spurt in food and energy costs.

At the White House, spokesman Larry Speakes said the GNP figures showed an economy "continuing on the steady progression of moderate growth. There is no reason to expect any end to the economic recovery."

The administration focused on the fact that a "flash" preliminary estimate showed the economy in the still uncompleted fourth quarter was growing at a 3.2 percent rate, up from a revised 3 percent pace in the third quarter.

For the last six months of the year, the economy has grown at an annual rate of 3.1 percent, up substantially from growth of 2.4 percent turned in during the first half of 1985.

The economy was slowed this year by a huge trade deficit, which caused a near-recession in U.S. industry as domestic manufacturers lost sales to foreign competition both at home and abroad.

In August, the administration had predicted a second-half rebound would push growth for the whole year to 2.7 percent. This was a downward estimate from an original forecast in February of 3.9 percent growth this year.

The actual 2.4 percent growth rate for the year, which is subject to revision, would be the slowest pace since the recession year of 1982 when the GNP fell by 2.5 percent.

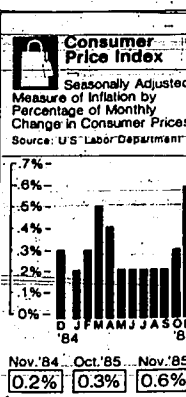

All the GNP figures reported Friday reflected a wholesale overhaul that is done once every five years in an effort to make sure this key economic indicator accurately reflects the real world.

In addition to moving the base year for prices to 1982 from 1972, the department added $101.2 billion to Americans' personal income in 1984 to reflect the so-called "underground economy" on which people don't pay taxes. This change had the effect of boosting somewhat Americans' personal savings rate. Analysts have expressed real concern over the low savings levels, saying this could indicate Americans will have to cut back sharply on future spending.

The various changes ended up shaving 0.2 percentage point off the average annual growth rate from 1972 to 1984, putting it at 2.5 percent under the new figures instead of 2.7 percent.

However, the new calculations also showed inflation was not as severe during this time frame. Prices, as measured by an indicator that checks an unchanging mix of goods, rose at an annual average of 6.6 percent from 1972 to 1984, instead of the previously thought 7.3 annual rate of increase.

slightly lowering growth last year to 5.6 percent instead of 6.8 percent and boosting growth in the first quarter of this year.

For 1984, the old numbers had the economy expanding at a minuscule 0.3 percent in the first quarter, 1.9 percent in the second quarter and 4.3 percent in the fourth.

The revisions put growth at a much faster 3.7 percent in the first quarter followed by growth of 1.1 percent in the second and 3 percent in the third. Last month, third quarter growth had been put at a much faster 4.3 percent.

While the Reagan administration is forecasting the economy will grow at a 4 percent rate in 1986, many private analysts are predicting growth will be only slightly better than this year's 2.4 percent rate.

The new report put the GNP at $3.58 trillion for all of 1985, up from $3.49 trillion in 1984. Before inflation is removed, the 1985 GNP figure is $3.59 trillion, up 5.8 percent from 1984.

In a separate report, the Commerce Department said that after-tax corporate profits rose 3.4 percent in the third quarter this year, reflecting a downward revision from an earlier estimate that profits had risen a stronger 5.3 percent.

The revisions also used a more accurate method of tabulating import and shipments, which had the effect of

Stock prices finish mixed as rally fades

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices finished mixed Friday after an early advance faded in the last hour of trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up more than 14 points at midday, was off .92 at 1,543.00 by the close.

Advances outpaced declines by nearly 2 to 1 on the New York Stock Exchange.

Big Board volume totaled 170.7 million shares, against 130.23 million in the previous session.

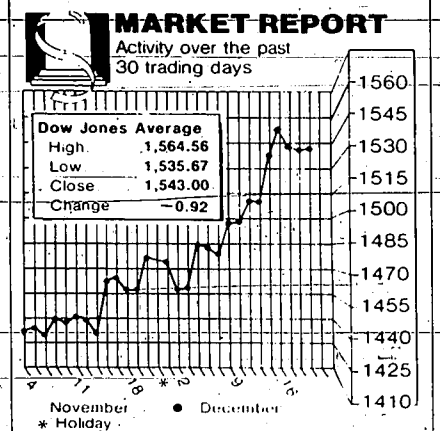

The NYSE's composite index rose .57 to 121.32.

Analysts said the market showed no drastic effects from the so-called witching hour.

The term refers to the expiration of a set of options and futures in stock indexes. Last-minute maneuvering by professional traders involving these contracts and individual stocks has on occasion in the past sparked some sudden swings in stock prices.

Before the opening, the Commerce Department issued a "flash" estimate that the gross national product is growing at a 3.2 percent annual rate in the fourth quarter. At the same time, it revised its figure for the third quarter downward, from 4.3 percent to 3 percent.

The Labor Department, meanwhile, said the consumer price index rose 0.6 percent last month.

Malaysian pepper crop cooling down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Malaysian pepper crop is not the hottest it was a decade ago, according to a report by the Agriculture Department.

"Due to years of depressed prices, many farmers have either abandoned their vines or switched to Malaysia's latest 'darling' crop — cocoa," the report said.

Since 1980, pepper output has dropped from about 35,000 metric tons to an estimated 16,000 tons in 1985. It is also estimated that about 40 percent of the current pepper area is intercropped with cocoa.

Texaco hearing put on hold

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — A federal judge has indefinitely postponed action in a bid by Texaco Inc. to win court protection while it appeals the $11.1 billion judgment won by Pennzoil Co., saying Friday that both sides were seeking to reach a settlement.

Neither side would comment on the negotiations toward an out-of-court settlement of the case, which arose when Getty Oil Co. backed out of a merger deal with Pennzoil and was acquired by Texaco.

U.S. District Court Judge Charles Bryant Jr. continued a temporary restraining order issued earlier in the week prohibiting Pennzoil from attaching liens on Texaco property.

Bryant added that he hoped it would not be necessary to resume the hearing, representing Texaco, declined to comment on Friday's court proceeding, except to say, "The judge stated it correctly."

Arthur Liman, the attorney for Houston-based Pennzoil, also refused to comment as did spokesmen for both companies.

On Nov. 15, a Houston jury ruled that Texaco had wrongly interfered with a merger agreement between Pennzoil and Getty. The jury awarded Pennzoil $10.3 billion in damages.

Texas State Judge Solomon Casseb Jr. affirmed the award last week and added $600 million in interest. He said more interest would accumulate at the rate of 10 percent annually.

However, he temporarily waived a requirement that Texaco post a $12 billion bond to protect Pennzoil's award.

Texaco agreed not to file for reorganization under Chapter 11 of the U.S. Bankruptcy Code, while Pennzoil agreed not to attach any liens to Texaco property.

In the federal lawsuit filed against Pennzoil a week ago, Texaco said it could not afford to post such a huge bond and thus would be denied its constitutional right to appeal.

Texaco officials said the federal suit was necessary because the agreement worked out with Pennzoil would become invalid if Casseb lost jurisdiction in the case or if his order were to be vacated or modified.

"I think it is a positive development for Texaco," said William Randol, an analyst at the investment firm First Boston Corp., which represented Texaco in its acquisition of Getty. "My sense is that Pennzoil's bargaining position has peaked."

Germany, Italy, Liechtenstein, Monaco, the Netherlands, Norway, San Marino, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and Vatican City, 10.7 percent.

• Kuwait, Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates, 6 percent.

Rates to all other countries and the cost of the first minute of operator-assisted would remain unchanged.

"I think this is the fourth reduction in international rates since 1981.

FCC asked to allow phone rate reductions

WASHINGTON (AP) — AT&T has asked the Federal Communications Commission to allow it to reduce international telephone rates to 32 countries and locations on Jan. 2.

The reductions are calculated to save customers $150 million a year.

For example, the cost of a call to Mexico will drop 5.2 percent, while calls to Namibia, Nigeria and South Africa will fall 18.1 percent.

The changes apply to the initial one minute of direct-dialed calls and to all additional minutes of all calls.

These other reductions will apply:

- United Kingdom, 12.8 percent.
- Australia, Hong Kong, Japan and Singapore, 6.8 percent.
- The Bahamas and Bermuda, 14.2 percent.
- India, 12.2 percent.
- Venezuela, 13.9 percent.
- Andorra, Austria, Belgium, Denmark, France, Federal Republic of Germany, Italy, Liechtenstein, Monaco, the Netherlands, Norway, San Marino, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and Vatican City, 10.7 percent.

• Kuwait, Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates, 6 percent.

Rates to all other countries and the cost of the first minute of operator-assisted would remain unchanged.

"I think this is the fourth reduction in international rates since 1981.

THE ACES BOBBY WOLFF

'The greater our knowledge increases, the greater our ignorance unfolds.' - John F. Kennedy.

East's opening-bid should have told South that his play wouldn't work, but South was undaunted. Either he forgot East's opening bid or he didn't see the alternative possibilities.

West wouldn't work. At trick two, he led a low heart to dummy's nine, willing to lose a trick to West's hoped-for king. East took his trump king and led clubs, and now South was finished.

South ruffed the spade queen and saw four possible losers. He couldn't do anything about losing two clubs, but he could manage a diamond finesse if he could find the trump king with West.

West wouldn't work. At trick two, he led a low heart to dummy's nine, willing to lose a trick to West's hoped-for king. East took his trump king and led clubs, and now South was finished.
