Assassin strikes Swedish leader

By DICK SODERLUND
The Associated Press

STOCKHOLM — Prime Minister Olof Palme was shot down Friday night on a snowy sidewalk as he strolled with his wife in downtown Stockholm and was pronounced dead on a hospital operating table a few minutes after midnight.

Police searched for one gunman, believed to be a foreigner, sealed off the city and ordered thorough checks at the airport and other exits from the country.

Shocked witnesses said the assassin suddenly pulled the pistol from the brightly-lit intersection of Curzon and Sveavagen streets and opened fire, then fled. They said Lisbeth Palme, also wounded, tried in vain to help her husband as he lay bleeding in the snow.

A taxi driver who saw the shooting called police and an ambulance. The prime minister was taken to Sabbatsberg Hospital, with his wife at his side, and doctors pronounced him dead on an operating table a few minutes after midnight.

Police said Palme was hit at close range by at least two bullets in the chest and stomach. Their preliminary report said Mrs. Palme, 55, was grazed by one of the bullets but not seriously hurt. She was released from the hospital a few hours later and returned to the couple's apartment.

Palme, 59, and his wife had attended the premiere of the film "The Brothers Mozart" by Swedish director Suzanne Osten, and were taking a walk afterward.

Police said the weapon, which the killer was believed to have thrown away, was still being sought near the slaying scene.

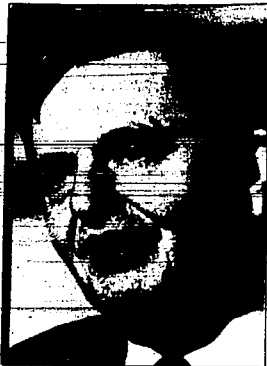

Police were hunting "a dark-haired man aged 35-40 in a long dark overcoat" who apparently fled in a car. A police radio alert said the killer was believed to have one or more accomplices, and a spokesman for the criminal police said they were thought to be foreigners.

A general police alert went out to look for possible suspects among members of the Croatian terrorist organization Ustasha, which has threatened Palme in the past, police sources said.

Authorities closed off almost the entire capital to search for the killer. A police report said squad cars chased a Volkswagen sedan headed north.

"I have very little to go after so far, with only sketchy witness reports," police superintendent Sune Sandstrom said.

Ingvar Carlstrom, the deputy prime minister, arrived at Government House at 1 a.m. Saturday to lead a crisis meeting of the Cabinet and took charge of the government. The domestic news agency TT, quoted him as saying, "We have asked all those we could get to come over here. It is horrible. I just got to know it 30 minutes ago."

OLOF PALME
Gunned down during stroll

Officials said Carlsson would head an interim government until Parliament. In recess, could be called back into session.

No head of state in Sweden has been murdered since King Gustaf III was shot and killed at the opera masked ball in 1772, and even in recent terrorist-plagued years Scandinavia had largely escaped terrorist attacks.

"It's an unbelievable shock; this is something you just don't think could happen in Sweden," said opposition Conservative Party leader Ulf Adelsohn.

Sweden will never be the same again after this "the meaningless violence" will forever cast its shadow over our political life.

Palme was sharp-tongued and controversial throughout his political career and was accustomed to death threats. He usually shrugged them off, but often had been accompanied later by two or three bodyguards in civilian clothes.

A police spokesman said they were not with him Friday night.

"I have learned to live with these threats," Palme said a few years ago. "The most unpleasant is that when they are published they usually are followed by others."

Palme received his first bomb threat in 1969, when he became prime minister the first time.

He was a severe critic of the U.S. role in Vietnam and was invited to the White House only once, during the 25th U.N. anniversary celebration in 1970. The visit was canceled because of a threat to bomb the aircraft taking him to the United States.

Tax plan killed

The Associated Press

BOISE — The House has effectively killed the Senate-passed alternative tax package to erase the current deficit and supplement 1987 revenues as Republican leaders rejected the option of submitting the issue to legislative negotiators for compromise.

City, county react — A5

"What was the point?" House Speaker Tom Stivers, R-Twin Falls, asked Friday after he disposed of the bill that had passed the Senate less than 24 hours earlier following a week of maneuvering in that chamber.

"I don't think it would have been approved," Stivers added. Revenue and Taxation Committee and the full House were unanimous in refusing to accept the specifics of the Senate plan, although a number of House members indicated some tinkering by a House-Senate negotiating committee might have made it less objectionable.

The package, passed on a 23-18 vote late Thursday by the Senate, called for an 11-month penny increase in the state sales tax through next February and local option sales and income taxing authority for counties in exchange for repeal of $15 million a year in direct state aid to local governments.

"If the matter is unacceptable to them, it's important to put a plan together," Senate President Pro Tem James Risch, R-Boise, said. "The leadership's going to have to get together and study this thing a little bit further."

The demise of the short-lived Senate plan, which ran into stiff opposition, was announced Friday.

Gramm-Rudman sinks its teeth today

By CHRISTOPHER CONNELL
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The first pinch of the Gramm-Rudman deficit reduction law takes effect Saturday, siphoning $1.7 billion out of the federal budget by eliminating 91,000 college scholarships, paying farmers less for milk and butter, and scaling back grants to scientists seeking cures for Alzheimer's disease.

The reductions are only a down payment on the much deeper cuts that will be triggered this fall and beyond if the Supreme Court upholds the law that requires a balanced budget by 1991.

The agencies learned six weeks ago how much they stood to lose from the 4.3 percent across-the-board cuts in most programs. Social Security, Medicaid, food stamps and some other social programs are exempt.

President Reagan also decided to buffer military pay and the Strategic Defense Initiative against any cuts, so the result is a 4.9 percent cut in the Pentagon's other programs.

That will force the Army to fly its helicopters 75,000 fewer hours than the 1.6 million hours planned. It also will mean Air Force commissaries at major installations will open a half-hour for each morning.

State cuts manpower — A5

Gramm-Rudman also means fewer helicopter flights over the Mount St. Helens and Kilauea volcanoes for the U.S. Geological Survey.

The Library of Congress will close on Sundays and most evenings starting March 9.

He was made the initial sequestration order Feb. 11 as the law stipulates — and most agencies took immediate steps to hold down their travel, freeze hiring or find other ways to prune their fiscal 1986 budgets.

Edwin Dale, spokesman for the Office of Management and Budget, said that although the sequestration becomes official Saturday, "the fighting begins in itself is of no great significance. It's a pro-forma date."

But many Americans will feel the impact of these cuts in the months ahead:

Medicare, the $70 billion health insurance plan for the aged, was largely shielded, but will still trim the amount it reimburses hospitals and patients by 1 percent, that will affect all services performed on and after Saturday.

Ninety-nine thousand fewer college students will qualify for Pell Grants for the upcoming school year. In addition, a spending ceiling will knock 199,000 other middle-income students out of that program, which aided 2.9 million students this year. The eligibility cutoff for a student from a family of four, which was $28,300, will drop to $23,900.

The House wrangled Thursday and Friday over attempts by farm-state lawmakers to delay Gramm-Rudman's impact on dairy farmers. The cuts were expected to reduce the support price for non-fat dry milk, cheese and butter from $11.60 per hundred pounds to about $11.10.

An ironic Rep. Mike Lowry, D-Wash., on Friday denounced the lobbying by dairy groups, saying "Gramm-Rudman is tough. That 4.3 percent cut is tough. Along comes the dairy lobby and we say we're not going to do it to dairy, statuary."

Marcos had 'no heart' to shed Filipino blood

By LISA LEVITT RYCKMAN
The Associated Press

HONOLULU, Hawaii — Former Philippines President Ferdinand Marcos, in his first public comment since leaving his country on Friday, called for the peaceful unification of the people he ruled for 20 years.

Marcos, who read a brief letter to his "beloved countrymen" at Hickam Air Force Base where he and his entourage are staying, also said he was looking for private quarters, but did not say where.

Marcos, who read the letter to reporters but did not take any questions, said he decided not to use his "superior military power" to crush the rebellion that resulted in his exile Wednesday because "employment of such an overwhelming force, no matter how legitimate, would have resulted in the bloody carnage among innocent civilians."

"I have no heart to shed Filipino blood," he said.

"Now from where I am, I implore the entire Philippine people, not to forget these ideals and noble objectives which we will obtain only through the peaceful unification of our people," Marcos concluded.

The former president also said he initially planned to "return" from the presidential palace to his home province.

Oops! Reagan mutters expletive with microphones on

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — President Reagan, after trying to end a picture-taking session Friday at which reporters were seeking to question him, turned to the person sitting next to him and remarked, "Sons of bitches."

The expletive was picked up by the White House microphones in front of Reagan and was clearly audible as news organizations throughout the White House press room monitored the session in the Cabinet Room, where only a handful of reporters were permitted.

Later, as he left for his Camp David retreat in Maryland, Reagan was asked by reporters whom he had in mind, and he replied, "I thought it was one of you sitting about us."

When that was greeted by a good-natured chorus of "No," the president, smiling, said, "It wasn't me."

The news people had been escorted into the room to watch Reagan accept the Lifetime report of his Blue Ribbon Commission on Defense Management, and after Reagan and Chairman David Packard completed their prepared remarks, reporters sought to question the president.

The brief photo sessions are among the few occasions when reporters have an opportunity to ask the president about issues of the day. A White House staff person usually signals the end of such sessions by calling, "Lights," which directs the lighting technicians to turn off their high-intensity television lights.

But, as often happens, the questioning continued after the call for "lights." In the time, Reagan himself sought to cut off further interrogation after replying to a query about wasteful defense spending, and another on the United States helping ex-

"I think now we've got to get on with some more meetings," Reagan said.

Another reporter then asked if Philippine President Corason Aquino should have been released from prison.

"I don't know," Reagan said. "I really don't know."

Denny Brisley, a junior member of the White House press office staff, then told reporters and camera crews, which she had been trying to escort out of the Cabinet Room, "Let's go. Thank you. This way please."

And, in a highly unusual step, Miss Brisley began pulling the camera crews' cables out of the White House sound system. At least one camera was still focused on Reagan when his audio went dead.

"At that point," the president turned to Packard, tapped the index cards containing the entire Philippine people, and uttered, "Sons of bitches."

President spokesman Larry Speakes, asked about Reagan's comment, said the president "doesn't recall saying it. He doesn't recall anybody else saying it."

"If he said anything," Speakes added, "he said, 'It's sunny, and you're rich.'"

Asked to whom Reagan was referring, the spokesman said, "They know who they are."

Middleton teachers walk off

MIDDLETON (AP) — Teachers in the Middleton School District about 20 miles west of Boise, walked off the job Friday morning after voting to strike over a salary dispute with the trustees.

"We know the district is not rolling in money, but we also know that the money is there ... If there is some movement of expenditures," said Yvonne Hill, a junior-high school teacher and president of the Middleton Education Association.

"It is coming down to a matter of priorities and if the teachers' increment is truly a priority for them," she said.

More than 85 percent of the district's 86 teachers voted for the strike, and all but seven immediately began walking a picket line outside the district office Friday morning. They were joined by some parents who supported their cause.

Tylenol cases ruled isolated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration said Friday that after examining two samples of Tylenol, it has concluded there was no apparent connection between the poisoning deaths of a woman in New York and a man in Tennessee.

The Tylenol—the woman consumed and the Tylenol capsule found next to the man's body contained different types of cyanide, meaning the cases were apparently isolated, said FDA Commissioner Frank E. Young.

Young told a Senate hearing that his agency's laboratory in Cincinnati had identified the poison that killed Timothy R. Green, 32, whose body was found Sunday in Nashville, as sodium cyanide.

Flight attendants agree to cut

MIAMI (AP) — Eastern Airlines said its flight attendants agreed to a tentative contract featuring a 20 percent pay cut Friday, averting a strike and helping prevent a shutdown threatened by creditors owed by $2.5 billion.

The lenders have said Eastern would be in technical default at 12:01 a.m. Saturday.

But they assured the airline they would take no action because of the carrier's impending sale and its agreements with flight attendants and pilots.

Glenn Parsons, Eastern's vice president for communications, The machinists union, which represents 13,000 workers, has refused to negotiate until its contract expires next year.

The technical default will not affect service, Parsons said.

Two border officers disciplined

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Border Patrol officers who returned Soviet seaman Miroslav Medvid to his ship on Oct. 25, after he tried to defect, are being demoted and suspended without pay, the Immigration and Naturalization Service said Friday.

INS Commissioner Alan C. Nelson said in a statement that the officers failed to comply with the agency's regulations governing such situations and that they will be demoted two grades.

Medvid leaped into the Mississippi River from the grain freighter Marshal Koniev late in the evening of Oct. 24 near New Orleans. He subsequently jumped from another boat being used to ferry him back to the freighter.

Border Patrol agents twice returned Medvid to the Soviet ship, even though a Ukrainian Interpreter in New York, with whom Medvid spoke by telephone, told officials at the scene that the 25-year-old seaman wanted political asylum.

Possible disease fighter found

BOSTON (AP) — The discovery of a key chemical messenger that triggers the body to rally against dangerous intruders may someday provide doctors with potent new weapons against cancer, AIDS, rheumatoid arthritis and other diseases, researchers say.

Their work also provides an apparent explanation for a lingering mystery of the immune system—how the body can mount a fast and effective defense against a myriad of germs and other potential killers.

Their discovery is a protein they call Interleukin 4A or IL-4A. It acts as a kind of internal alarm that summons nearby blood cells to attack an intruder as soon as it is spotted.

Duvalier return could start war

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Bringing deposed dictator Jean-Claude Duvalier back to Haiti to stand trial would plunge the country into a civil war that the new government would probably lose, Western diplomats said Friday.

Haiti's six-member ruling council said Thursday it would seek Duvalier's extradition from France and the return from Brazil of Duvalier's former police chief, Col. Albert Pierre.

The Western diplomats said this bid appeared aimed more at widening public support for the new Haitian government than bringing Duvalier to justice. Haiti has no extradition treaty with France.

Aquino orders all prisoners released; military will obey

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — President Corazon Aquino ordered Friday that all political prisoners of the Marcos regime be freed, including some suspected of leading communist rebels and reluctant military chiefs said they would obey.

She acted in response to criticism that she was not being decisive enough and had shown weakness in government. Ferdinand E. Marcos, whose two decades of personal rule ended with his flight Wednesday, than to some of his enemies.

Mrs. Aquino has said she would not ask the United States to extradite former President Marcos, who is in the slow process of releasing the more than 500 political prisoners held in military camps around the country being Thursday, with an initial group of 39. By Friday night, only 16 had actually gone home and 23 remained in special centers.

Raul Manglapus, a former senator, returned from 14 years of voluntary exile in the United States and met immediately with Mrs. Aquino. She suspended most employees of the government. Mrs. Aquino's first move against grandiose and expensive institutions established by Imelda Marcos, the former first lady.

Thousands of people marched through the financial district to celebrate Mrs. Aquino's victory. Dozens of others picketed the Supreme Court, demanding that its 13 members resign so she can reorganize the judiciary.

Defense Minister Juan Ponce Enrile pledged to free the prisoners, but did not appear happy about it.

"We are bound by the order of the president. If she issues that order, we will carry it out," he said in a television interview shortly after Enrile's resignation. Mrs. Aquino's first spokesman, announced the new president's order.

Asked if the order included Sison, Bernabe Buscayno, suspected former commander of the communist New People's Army, and several captured insurgents, Saguisag replied, "Without any exception."

vince of Ilocos Norte. But "I was informed by President Reagan's direct representative that we would have to leave for Guam instead," he said.

Marcos, who said he has recovered from "a touch of the flu," said he would leave the base as soon as he has found private quarters.

Marcos read his letter while seated at a table at the base officers' club. His wife, Imelda, sat beside him.

Marcos' son has told supporters that his father most likely wants to stay in Hawaii but fears violence from outsiders.

Since Wednesday, Marcos has been living with his 90-member entourage under heavy security at Hickam Air Force Base. He is being guarded by the Philippines aboard a U.S. military jet as opposition leader Corazon Aquino took power.

NBC and ABC quoted unidentified government officials as saying the plane was loaded with millions of dollars in cash, certificates of deposit, deeds for U.S. land holdings and weapons.

FERDINAND E. MARCOS First comments in exile

However, President Reagan said Friday that "there's no way for us to know anything" about reports that Marcos brought millions of dollars in cash and jewelry from the Philippines.

Although some family members complained to Gov. George Ariyoshi that they left the Philippines too hurriedly to grab even a change in the Philippine peso, a quoted union-affiliated source in Washington said jewelry belonging to Imelda Marcos was brought into the country in diaper boxes, along with $20,000 in gold bullion and nearly $1 million in Philippine currency.

Secretary of State George Shultz asked what the U.S. response would be to a Philippine request for a seizure of Marcos assets, replied, "Undoubtedly, whatever proper and legal steps should be taken will be taken and, obviously, we are a law-abiding country and will go along with that."

CBS reported Friday that U.S. officials are "concerned about" very sensitive documents found in Marcos' luggage. The unidentified officials cited by CBS said the documents relate to charges the Marcos regime funneled U.S. military aid through a shadow company, Starbu Dupl, and while House spokesmen said Friday night they had no information on the matter.

position from local government officials because of the state revenue sharing repeal, still left the Senate in possession of a House-passed permanent increase in the state sales tax to 5 cents.

Risch warned the Senate that next week it would have to make some "hard decisions" on the budget crisis, but he said there was no plan to put that permanent sales tax increase bill before the Senate, at least during the first part of next week.

"If they don't move it, we'll have to start from the beginning," Stivers said.

Although Risch suggested the House rejection of the proposal did not mean it was dead as a concept, tax-writing committee Chairman Steve Antone indicated there was little chance the House would support a plan many members perceived as jeopardizing the already shaky financial standing of the local governments in their districts. In addition, temporary sales tax increases solutions to the budget crisis have been repeatedly defeated by the House.

A major problem with the Senate plan, House leaders contended, was the fact that it may violate the constitutional requirement—that all tax-increase bills originate in the House. Although through procedural maneuvering the Senate plan was placed on a House-originated bill, that bill was not specifically a tax increase proposal.

The state Supreme Court has, however, upheld the right of the Senate to add or delete provisions from a House-passed tax-increase legislation.

The inability of the Republican-dominated Legislature to resolve the budget crisis has ensured that the state's public schools will not receive the entire final payment of state aid in May, as scheduled, because at least part of that payment will have to be delayed until after July 1 so the 1986 budget is balanced.

Because of that and other financial problems facing local school districts, the House gave final approval on Friday and sent to the governor legislation allowing those districts to borrow against their anticipated state aid checks.

Victim-compensation OK'd

BOISE (AP) — The Senate, doing an about-face from its position just a year ago, has overwhelmingly passed legislation establishing a fund to compensate innocent victims of violent crime.

A similar bill introduced last year by the same sponsor, Sen. Vernon Lamm, D-Pinehurst, was defeated 18-28. But the Senate voted 34-4 on Thursday to adopt the measure and send it to the House.

The bill would set up a Crime Victims Compensation Account from money levied in additional fines against criminals who injure or kill another person. A fine of $20 would be added for felonies, $10 for misdemeanors.

It would augment a law passed during the 1985 session directing judges to order criminals to pay restitution to victims of their crimes when possible.

Resolution blasts day-care

BOISE (AP) — The continuing debate over day-care center regulation in Idaho has surfaced again in the House, this time with passage of a nonbinding resolution the sponsor said put the chamber on record against any state law regulating the facilities.

"This is the first piece of legislation that states there ought not to be a law," said Rep. Liz Allan, R-Caldwell, as the House voted 46-33 on Friday for the resolution that urges the day-care industry to develop its own voluntary rating system to ensure quality day-care facilities in the state.

Mrs. Allan, a staunch opponent of mandatory statewide day-care regulation as proposed by Gov. Seltzer, said such a system would leave the responsibility for day-care centers in the hands of those best able to deal with it — the operators and the parents.

'C' rule still in force — for now

BOISE (AP) — Heading arguments that it hasn't had time to prove itself, the Senate Education Committee has effectively stilled an attempt to scrap the C-average grade requirement for core classes toward high school graduation.

The controversial resolution, authored by Sen. E. Lee Staker, R-Idaho Falls, would have eliminated the requirement that high school students, beginning with the graduating class of 1988, attain an average grade of at least C in the 14 credits of required core classes. It was held in committee Friday on a 5-1 vote.

BSU president isn't moving

BOISE (AP) — Boise State University President John Keiser says that he has withdrawn from consideration for the chancellor's job at Southern Illinois University.

"A combination of the opportunities, the challenges and the lifestyle here make it seem like this is the best place," Keiser said Thursday.

"Lots of things have happened here since the 1 Percent Initiative," said Keiser, who arrived at BSU in 1978, the same year the property-tax-cutting initiative went into effect. "There's an equality in ambitious goals to try for."

Keiser, 49, interviewed for the SIU chancellorship in St. Louis over the weekend. He was one of four finalists.

Keiser, who said he did not know who the other finalists were, said a consulting company submitted his name to the SIU search committee.

House passes non-profit hospitals bill

By DEAN MILLER
Times-News writer

BOISE — A bill to allow county hospitals more freedom to compete with private hospitals passed the Idaho House Friday.

Rep. Donna Scott, R-Twin Falls, led debate in favor of the bill and prevailed, despite opposition from county conservatives and a last-minute job-by-drive by Gary Thietzen, operator of Idaho Home Health and Hospice in Twin Falls.

House Bill 579, which has been pushed in the House by representatives of Magic Valley Regional Medical Center in Twin Falls, would allow county boards of commissioners to transfer county hospitals to local non-profit corporations.

By doing so, MVRMC officials say, county hospitals will be able to side-step the state laws that prevent them from buying into lucrative partnerships with private companies.

State law currently requires that citizens be asked to approve hospital sales by vote. The new law would allow county commissioners to transfer hospitals to non-profit local corporations.

Without a vote of the people, but would not allow hospitals to fall into the hands of private owners.

Despite the provision preventing county commissioners from selling to private companies, Rep. Mack Neibaur, R-Paul, said he did not approve of the bill because citizens have traditionally had a say in changes at county hospitals.

"I have some fears of this thing. . . This thing takes that control totally away from them," Neibaur said.

Rep. Brent Brocksome, R-Boise, said he also thinks voters will lose control if the bill becomes law. "This legislation disenfranchises the voters who paid for the original facility," he said.

Brocksome also told the House the bill would allow counties to transfer hospitals to non-profit corporations without commanding a fair market price. "This does not address the value of that asset," he said.

Rep. Dean Sorenson, R-Boise, argued the bill would give the non-profit corporations an unfair advantage over private hospitals. "It sounds to me like a subsidized deal," he said.

Scott got some support for the bill from Rep. Ruby Stone, R-Boise, who said the county hospitals need to be able to compete in order to survive.

Scott said a letter urging legislators not to vote in favor of the bill was placed on House members' desks just before afternoon debate on the measure began.

Signed by Thietzen, the letter said county hospitals would be given an unfair advantage. He said a vote in favor of the bill would be favoring something that is "if not illegal, certainly unethical and un-American."

Having passed the House, the bill now moves to the Senate for consideration in committee.

Podiatrists take step toward approval of plan

By DEAN MILLER
Times-News writer

BOISE — Idaho's podiatrists won the first round on Friday of their fight for passage of a bill that they say will end discrimination against their profession in Idaho hospitals.

The Senate Health and Welfare Committee voted, 5-2, to send the bill to the full Senate for consideration, and Committee Chairman Sen. Denton Darrington, R-Deer, said he will sponsor the foot doctors' bill.

Burley podiatrist H. Gary Corless, president of the Idaho Podiatrists Association, told the committee that more than 50 percent of hospitals in the United States have podiatrists on their staffs and 60 percent of all foot surgery is performed by podiatrists.

Though podiatrists join medical doctors and dentists in being licensed by the state to write drug prescriptions and perform surgery, some hospitals deny them hospital user privileges, Corless said.

"We need hospitals because our patients need hospitals," Corless told the committee.

He said there are about 25 podiatrists in the state, many of whom cannot get hospital privileges.

"We believe that one reason is to limit competition," he said.

Idaho Medical Association representative Donald Bjornson said the state's medical doctors object to the bill because it would require hospitals to add podiatrists to their staffs, rather than allowing them to add them if they are needed. He said some hospitals have no need for a podiatrist. "Hospital governing boards should have the power to determine scope of treatment," he said.

Bjornson said the Association's other objection to the bill is a technical one: "The language of the law proposed would change the legal definition of the word 'physician' and might affect state law in ways the podiatrists have not predicted."

Subsidy bill stopped

BOISE (AP) — Legislation designed to subsidize Idaho farmers by declaring farm operating loans non-taxable has been sidetracked by the House.

The measure, a proposal from Lt. Gov. David Leroy, would have allowed banks to escape income taxes on the first $300,000 in operating loans they make to farmers in a year.

But opponents argued there was no idea how much the measure would cost the state, and bankers would be the chief beneficiaries of the legislation, not farmers.

Sponsors Rep. Robert Geddes, R-Preston, and Rep. Gary Robbins, R-Idrieh, allowed the bill to be put up for amendment, after receiving a lot of debate against it.

Robbins maintained that although the bill could cost the state some tax revenue in the long run, the state would benefit. He said having another source of operating revenue available might keep some farmers in business instead of going under.

Rep. Harold Reid-Draigmont, argued that the bill was badly drafted, and would benefit bankers more than farmers.

He said farmers would get no more than a half-percent of the interest rate, but bankers would avoid state taxes on the interest earnings.

Alleged war criminal in Israel

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — John Demjanjuk, accused of being "Ivan the Terrible" of Treblinka who later became an obscure autoworker in Cleveland, was taken from his plane to an isolation cell Friday to await trial as a war criminal.

Demjanjuk, 65, is accused of killing thousands of Jews in gas chambers at the notorious Nazi death camp in Poland. He is the first person charged with war crimes to be extradited from the United States to Israel.

Israeli police met Demjanjuk at the foot of the stairs leading from the El Al Boeing 747. Officer Alex Ish-Shalom read him his rights and arrested him.

Two U.S. marshals accompanying Demjanjuk removed his handcuffs and Israeli police replaced them with their own. Demjanjuk laughed nervously.

Salvadorans get 30-year terms

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Two former national guardsmen linked to right-wing death squads have been sentenced to 30 years in prison for the murders of two Americans and a Salvadoran land reform official, court sources said Friday.

They said the sentences were passed Tuesday against Jose Dimas Valle and Santiago Gomez Gonzalez, both former corporals, but no public announcement was made. The two had been convicted of the killings by a five-member jury following a one-day trial on Feb. 13.

The defendants had confessed to the murders of Mark David Pearlman of Seattle, Wash., Michael Hammer of Potomac, Md., and Rodolfo Viera on Jan. 3, 1981, but said they were acting on orders from their superiors. Gunmen opened fire on the three as they sat in the coffee shop of the Sheraton Hotel.

S. Koreans reject revision delay

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Korea's main opposition party Friday formally rejected President Chun Doo-hwan's proposal to delay constitutional revisions until 1989.

The militant New Korea Democratic Party, however, agreed to hold a special session of the National Assembly next month to discuss proposed constitutional amendments.

All dialogue between Chun's governing Democratic Justice Party and the opposition ceased when the two sides clashed in the National Assembly last December, mainly over an opposition demand that the constitution be changed to provide direct, popular vote for the president.

WHO urges use of new flu vaccine Egyptian violence continues

GENEVA (AP) — The World Health Organization on Friday recommended a new vaccine to fight influenza in 1986-87, saying viruses have developed resistance to the current vaccine.

The organization's weekly report said the vaccine now used had lost its effectiveness against the influenza B viruses, blamed for epidemics in the United States, and influenza A viruses, which caused outbreaks in North America, the Southern Hemisphere and Europe.

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Soldiers stormed a camp of mutinous paramilitary conscripts at the foot of the Great Pyramids on Friday and captured about 100 of them.

The soldiers advanced under covering machine gun fire from armored cars. Two U.S.-made M-60 tanks trained their guns on the camp during the assault, but did not fire.

Reporters at the scene said members of the Central Security Force fired on the assault troops, but soon were overwhelmed. The conscripts began the mutiny on Tuesday, setting off three days of riots in Cairo and other cities.

President Hosni Mubarak arrived on an inspection tour soon after the operation.

The mutineers were dressed in civilian clothes, with their hands in the air, when soldiers brought them out of the camp. They were loaded into military trucks and driven to detention centers.

There was no word on casualties during the attack, nor was the number of troops involved given. It was believed by reporters on the scene, however, that about 200 soldiers made the assault.

Mubarak's adviser Osama el-Baz told reporters Thursday that 36 people were killed in two days of riots and 321 injured. Most casualties were from the rebellious security force.

An Interior Ministry spokesman said about 2,500 security force members and about 700 civilians had been arrested since Tuesday night, not counting the people arrested Friday.

The 120,000-strong Central Security Force paramilitary conscripts are drafted for three years. They mutinied Tuesday night when a false rumor spread that their tour of duty would be extended to four years.

Rioting spread to other parts of Cairo and to the provincial cities of Assiut, Sohag and Ismailia, joined by students and the poor, who denounced wealthy people.

City, county officials back rejected tax plan

By ANNETTE CARY and MICHAEL VANAUDELN Times-News writers

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls county and city officials agreed Friday to lobby the Legislature for a local option tax, with most favoring the resurrection of an alternate tax package rejected by the House that day.

The tax package could have been risky, since it would have resulted in far less money if voters opposed a local option tax. But if they approved it, the city would have had money to replace lost federal revenue sharing money.

In a hastily called meeting Friday, the County Board of Commissioners and the City Council discussed surprise legislation passed by the Senate Thursday that would have withheld $15 million in state revenue sharing money from cities and counties. In exchange, it would have given them freedom to increase taxes locally.

Moments before the meeting began, House Speaker Tom Silvers called to say that the House had unanimously refused to accept the Senate's plan.

The feelings of local officials on the plan were mixed. The Twin Falls County Board of Commissioners went to Boise Thursday to oppose the taxation plan. By Friday they were beginning to see benefits in it, including the means to raise money for a new county jail without raising property taxes.

"It's a bill we could live with," said County Commissioner Marvin Hempman.

"We'll have to let them (legislators) know how we feel and wait to see what happens,"

Mayor Doug Veilmer, however, said that while he was in favor of more freedom at the local level, he objected to the loss of state revenue sharing on top of the loss of federal revenue sharing.

"This year the city received $330,000 in state revenue sharing through a two-year-old state program that distributed sales tax money to local governments. It also received $420,000 from the federal government in revenue sharing, which is the last year of a national revenue sharing program.

Much of the state funds are used for operating costs, and the federal funds form the basis for the streets budget.

The bill rejected by the House Friday would have allowed the county to ask voters in November if they supported a one-cent, county-wide sales tax increase or a comparable increase in income tax. Passage would have depended on the support of 55 percent of the voters, rather than the 66 percent required for most local tax increases.

County and city officials said they favored the sales tax option in a plan drawn up before the House rejected the bill, county officials estimated a one-cent sales tax increase would have generated $2,232,000 annually.

They proposed taking $410,000 off the top to pay for a new jail at 64 percent interest that would have allowed a $5 million jail to be paid for in 25 years.

Some $132,800 would have been left to be paid for in 25 years.

Some $132,800 would have been left to be paid for in 25 years.

Some $132,800 would have been left to be paid for in 25 years.

the $750,000 the city would lose in both state and federal money.

The county would have been left with $791,231. Payments to the other cities would have ranged from $100,946 for Buhl to $2,883 for Murfreesboro.

"The concurrence (at the meeting) was we would like to have the bill resurrected," said Councilman Jack Miller. "It would not result in a net loss. . . . It's a gamble, but if we don't do something, we will have nothing."

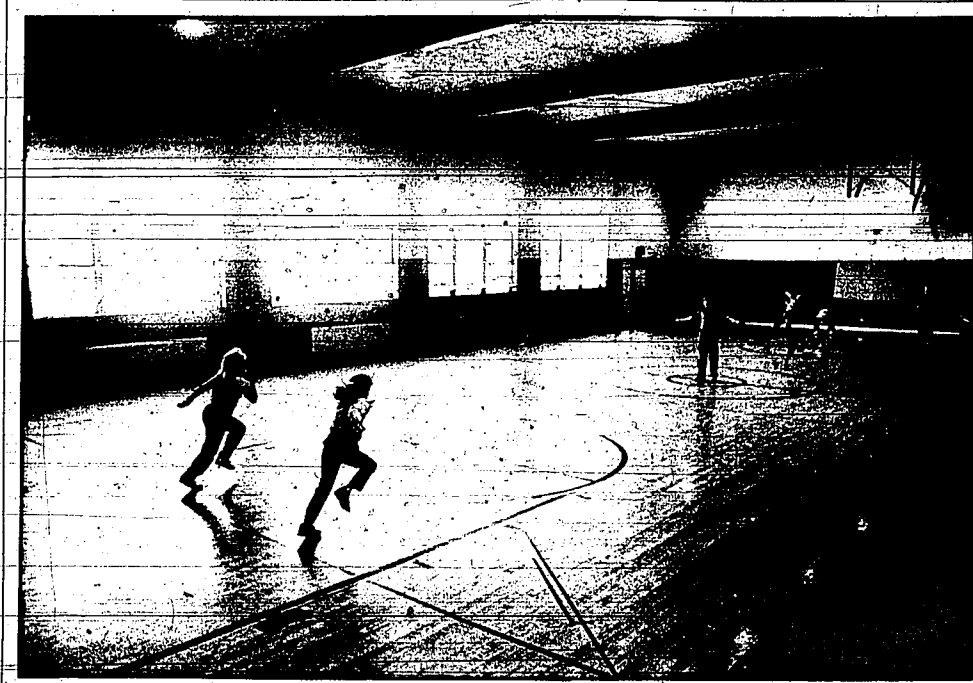

The property owner is now taxed to the limit, he said. But with a local option tax the city could continue with present services and even plan some capital improvements, he says.

Kids play in the Salvation Army Community Center gymnasium, one of several areas in the building needing repairs

Salvation Army to expand in new home

By PAT MARCANTONIO Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Salvation Army is moving into its new and larger home, which will allow it to expand present programs and add new ones.

The new Salvation Army Community Center is located at 348 4th Ave. N. in the former Mormon church building. The 24,000-square-foot structure has a gymnasium — and is in need of repairs.

In response, the army will kick off at its annual dinner Saturday night a one-time campaign to raise $200,000 from local businesses and national corporations to pay the mortgage on the building and make improvements, said Lt. Doug Tollerd, the commander in Twin Falls.

The dinner, sponsored by the army's advisory board, begins at 6:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn. The public is welcome to attend the event, which will include honoring contributors, a report about army activities and a multi-media presentation. The cost of the dinner is $7.50 a person.

"We have a lot to talk about (at the dinner) because of the new facility," Tollerd said.

The army started moving into the new building last month from the home on 2nd Avenue North it occupied for 35 years, Tollerd said.

The advisory board, made up of local residents, decided the time was right to expand, he added. What added the decision was the availability of buildings at the right price.

Its new home has more than a dozen classrooms, a 160-seat chapel, locker room, meeting room, kitchen and game room, Tollerd said.

Army staff and volunteers now are doing some small repairs along with the moving. The fundraising effort will pay for the big jobs, such as painting, refurbishing the gymnasium floor and repairing the roof, Tollerd said.

The new home of Salvation Army is not just for its offices. It's also a community center. It will be a

Hwy. 93 criticisms solicited

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A meeting to discuss the accident rate on U.S. Highway 93 with Idaho Transportation Board members and area legislators in Boise has been moved up to March 11 from 11 to 11:30 a.m., Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce Manager Mike Dolton announced Thursday.

Twin Falls and Jackpot delegates met in Twin Falls Thursday to map plans for a presentation to the legislators and Transportation Board members. Dolton said that because the appointment is for only 30 minutes, the group is asking for written input from all interested persons.

"I know there are a lot of persons who would like to see improvements on the heavily traveled road," Dolton said. "If we could conclude our brief presentation with a stack of letters from these people, I'm sure it would carry a lot more influence."

Letters should be sent to the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, 323 Shoshone St. N., 83301, prior to the March 11 meeting.

It had originally been planned to meet with the officials on March 12, but Dolton said confirmation of the new date has now been received. In addition to board members and legislators, Dolton expects Dean Tisdale, director of the Department of Transportation, to attend.

Transportation Board members include Lloyd Barron of Fairfield; Carl Moore of Lewiston; and John Ohmart of Idaho Falls.

Dolton said plans are to prepare statistics and facts to support the "local delegation's" appeal for better maintenance and widening of the highway between Twin Falls and the Nevada state line and the eventual construction of a four-lane road along that route.

Twelve persons died in traffic accidents on the highway last year, and Dolton said many more were injured.

"We feel the 43-mile stretch of highway holds a major impact on our tourism industry and entire economic climate and also for services to the 1,200 residents of Jackpot, Nev. We are the main source of supplies and business for that community. There are 375 people living in Twin Falls who earn their livelihood from jobs in Jackpot," Dolton said.

These are some of the facts, along with the accident records, critical injury and property damage over the past five years, that the delegation will present at the March 11 meeting.

"We know budgets are tight, but we believe this road should have a higher priority for funding," Dolton said.

The local delegation will ask for a public hearing in the area on the highway needs and possible solutions of a four-lane roadway in the future. Right now, Dolton said,

Employment offices dismiss 145 workers

By The Associated Press and The Times-News

TWIN FALLS — State employment offices in the Magic and Wood River valleys are losing 145 temporary workers as part of a statewide cutback ordered this week.

The reductions in manpower could change the way offices at Twin Falls, Burley and Halley operate, managers said.

The Idaho Department of Employment planned to dismiss 145 temporary workers Friday because of budget cuts imposed by the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings deficit reduction act, Director Scott McDonald said.

The department also is eliminating four Job Service offices in Idaho by Oct. 1, he said Thursday.

"We are going to discontinue the use of temporary staff to help out in our programs," McDonald said. "The one that is affected the most is the unemployment insurance program."

He said that about half the temporary workers would be paired from that program at the department's 24 local offices throughout the state and in the central administrative office in Boise.

While the department would normally cut some of the temporary positions as winter ends and seasonal unemployment — insurance claims are reduced, he said the reduction was more severe than normal because of the losses of federal money.

Area managers in the Magic Valley said their offices are almost certain to stay open, based on conversations with headquarters officials. In the past three years, the Jerome and Gooding offices have been closed.

However, all three offices had to terminate part-time employees.

"We had to take seven of our hour-and-a-half employees off the payroll," said Jim Ingalls, manager of the Twin Falls office.

Manager Roger Poulton said his office at Burley lost six workers. Susan Doerner, manager at Halley, said she was forced to let her office receptionist go, leaving four employees on the job.

McDonald said the elimination of temporary workers will slow service, especially for unemployment insurance checks, and reduce local service.

Managers of Magic Valley offices said they could also change the way offices handle clients.

"We'll probably take unemployment claims in a group on a scheduled basis instead of individually as in the past," said Poulton. His office will have 11 workers after the cuts.

Ingalls said, "We can see it just would be possible to handle it on the same one-to-one basis as we've always done," he said. The Twin Falls office, which will be left with 26 full-time employees, also will lose

Business ideas can help state grow

By BOB FREUND Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — International businessman C.L. "Butch" Otter couldn't wangle even a few minutes with former Philippine president Ferdinand Marcos to talk about potatoes.

When introduced in 1980 as a two-term state representative and former gubernatorial candidate, Otter quickly was ushered into a 1 1/2-hour, face-to-face meeting with Marcos.

Otter, president of Simplot International Inc., long ago won the Boise-based company's investments in the island country.

But in introducing himself to Idaho voters he is boldly mixing business principles with politics.

Otter is hitching his campaign for the Republican nomination as lieutenant governor — on taking charge of Idaho's economic development. In an interview Friday in Twin Falls, he also prescribed a "business strategy" pinned in place with performance targets as a way to direct state government.

Now, he says, government merely appropriates tax money and spends the cash until it runs out, a tactic that would "bankrupt" a business.

Otter sees Idaho's conventional approaches to paying for government — as raising taxes or cutting services.

C.L. 'BUTCH' OTTER Lt. governor candidate

"I'm offering a third alternative that says you generate a bigger pie with economic development," he says.

Otter, semi-lawyer of potato magnate J.R. Simplot, says the state's second-in-command should lead the economic thrust personally. He would lead it straight to foreign markets.

"The real market for Idaho in the 21st century is going to be the developing countries," he says.

Idaho's economic strength is its production of food and other natural resources. "We've got people in the United States eating 118 pounds of potatoes a year, and they're full," the candidate says. But in "the developing nations, we've got 400 million people going to be hungry."

Business also is done — or at least introduced — government in those emerging countries, Otter notes. A political portfolio opens doors.

Idaho's attempts to bolster its economy by its products have been sporadic and scattered so far, he says. What's needed, Otter says, is leadership with a business sense.

For instance, commodity commissions and agricultural organizations should talk for the state's products as well as their own commodities, when courting customers. "These guys ought to be Idaho salesmen, not potato salesmen," he says.

Otter, who also would direct the new Idaho Department of Commerce, says the state Legislature and other government officials also would back economic development aggressively. If a political leader who came up through business presented them with a specific strategy for success.

Otter says his plan would set down perky its products numbers as recruiting specific numbers of firms and providing specific numbers of jobs — lock-in time lines, protect the cost, protect the impacts and undergo constant scrutiny.

The candidate also says Idaho should concentrate on its strong points in aiding existing business and recruiting new jobs. "We don't do a good job of marketing the assets we have," he says.

National Engineering Laboratory as a training ground for experts in food preservation — with radiation, a technique already used by Canada, he says.

You generate a bigger pie with economic development, C.L. 'Butch' Otter

Pitch Idaho's large mineral resources to Japanese companies seeking sites for factories making auto components, he counsels.

A 10-percent expansion of Idaho industry would put back $73 million a year into state coffers — more than the $60 million from a one-percent increase in the sales tax, Otter says.

In at least two other states, Florida and Indiana, the lieutenant governor directs all state economic development efforts, he says, and as lieutenant governor, he would seek the same responsibility in Idaho.

Area farmers eligible for FmHA emergency aid

By The Associated Press and The Times-News

TWIN FALLS — Farmers in the Magic Valley and other areas of southern Idaho have become eligible for emergency loans from the federal Farmers Home Administration because of frost and grasshopper damage to crops last year, officials have announced. The Idaho congressional delegation was notified Friday that Blaine, Lincoln, Jerome, Twin Falls and Boise counties have qualified as federal disaster areas because of grasshopper infestations between May 1 and Sept. 30. The U.S. Department of Agriculture also said Cassia, Blaine, Lincoln, Bingham, Bonneville, Fremont, Jefferson, Madison and Blaine counties qualified for similar loans because of frost damage to crops between Aug. 9-10 and Sept. 28-Oct. 15.

Farmers in "contiguous" or adjoining counties who suffered crop losses also can apply for disaster loans, the agency said. Blaine, Lincoln, Jerome, Twin Falls and Boise counties are considered contiguous to both grasshopper and frost damage.

Camas, Cassia, Gooding, Custer, Gem and Canyon counties are designated as contiguous to grasshopper infestations. Bannock, Butte, Caribou, Valley, Clark, Lemhi, Oneida and Power counties are considered contiguous to frost-damaged areas.

The FmHA program will loan farmers 80 percent of their losses up to $500,000 at interest rates determined by their ability to find conventional financing. To be eligible, farmers must have suffered the loss of at least 30 percent of their annual production, the USDA said.

local option tax would have given the city to its residents decide how much they are willing to pay for local services, said Vollmer. "We're going to have to have one of two things happen," he said. "They (legislators) are going to have to cut services, or we're going to have to cut services." Now a five-percent annual lid on tax increases has left the city without a way to replace the expected loss of federal money next year. The legislature will be called Friday would have unfairly cast local government as the villain in any tax increase, said Vollmer and Councilman Erik Andersen. The Legislature would have used the money formerly sent to local government for state projects, while the local government took the criticism for higher taxes, he said. However, in the long run, the city could gain more from a local option tax than outright state contributions since the revenue sharing, Vollmer said. "A local one-cent tax would mean more money for Twin Falls County and its cities than a one-cent tax hike at the state level, in part because of the state tax distribution formula, he said. Sales tax collected now throughout the state is pooled and distributed with a formula unrelated to the amount each county collects. Consequently, counties such as Twin Falls, with more commerce, would benefit more from local option taxes than some of the less-populated surrounding counties. County officials were concerned that the local option tax — as approved by the Senate and rejected by the House — would have left local government without a safety net. Voters could have approved a local tax and then repealed it when only half of the jail expenses had been paid. Local government could also be suddenly left without operating expenses by a repeal.

place to add to play basketball, volleyball or join jazzercise classes, Tollerud said. Children will be invited to participate in after-school programs there, as well as the army's regular fitness programs. A youth center director probably will be hired in the fall, he added. "The main idea wherever we (the army) go is to accept the programs needed in the community. If you go to other army facilities, you'll find everything from swimming pools to gyms," Tollerud said. In the older, 3,000-square-foot building on 2nd and 10th streets, the army had to limit the number of people in its youth and adult programs, such as classes in home arts. These are "character-building" aids, which is one of the army's greatest contributions, he said. "There was a kitchen in the old building, which now for sale. But its new home has a larger kitchen to feed the needy and for use in the classes, Tollerud said. The use of the locker room also will be extended to services, such as the army's "services to the poor," he said. "That's just what is so exciting about it; we now have room to expand the programs," Tollerud said. With half of the money raised in its three-month-long campaign, the army plans to pay the balance of the mortgage on the building to the original owner, the LDS Church. The army took over the mortgage payments from the former resident, the Christ Covenant Church. The army is well on its way in the campaign with a $50,000 contribution already received. Tollerud would not release the names of the donors. "The center also will house other programs operated by different groups, such as the Pregnancy Crisis Center, and Prison Ministries, Tollerud said.

most clerical staff, he said. "Temporary staff are used to augment full-time workers during the busiest times of the year, Ingalls said. The state department must make other cuts, McDonald said. Under Gramm-Rudman, the state department needs to save $200,000 from its $20 million operating budget by March 1. It will need to trim another $200,000-$400,000 by July 1, and up to $3 million by Oct. 1. Not all the figures are firm at this point. "There are still some unknowns," McDonald said. The deficit reductions also will affect the Worker Incentive Program, the Job Training Partnership Act program and a worker placement program — all of which help people find jobs. McDonald said Thursday, "The only way this wouldn't go through is if the president cuts the defense budget or raises taxes."

Congressional funding snag delays sign-ups for commodity programs

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Department of Agriculture Friday delayed sign-up for its 1986 government commodity programs, stilling problems obtaining funds from Congress.

The agency administers commodity programs. The postponement was because of a delay in authorizing supplemental appropriations and "because of the ongoing debate in Congress over provisions of the commodity programs," the officials announced. Legislation appropriating money for the U.S. Commodity Credit Corp., which holds government crop reserves, has been held up in the Senate. Bills to change provisions in the 1985 Farm Bill also failed to clear both houses before the original sign-up deadline of March 3. No action is anticipated over the weekend.

Aides to Sen. Steve Symms, R-Idaho, said that before the USDA announcement, he had also suggested notices to farmers about pending legislation in discussions late Friday with Acting Secretary of Agriculture Frank Naylor.

Gem show to glitter this weekend

TWIN FALLS — The Magic Valley Gem Club's annual show, featuring displays and demonstrations, will open today at 10 a.m. in the Twin Falls National Guard Armory. Displays will be open to the public at a $1 admission fee for adults, from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. Door prizes will be awarded during the two-day event. Youngsters under 12 years are admitted free if accompanied by an adult.

A number of additions are included in this year's event. Bill Foster, Gem Club member, said there will be some unique black-light displays in which ordinary rocks will come alive with brilliant colors under black lights. Demonstrations in flintknapping, the skill used by Indians in making weapons and tools, will be featured. Nine competitive cases will be displayed — about double the usual number entered in the show, Foster added.

Dr. Elwood Rees will head the six-member judges panel. Robert Wilcox of Kimberly is this year's show chairman. Other attractions of the show include silver smith demonstrations, dealer exhibits and sale of stones and equipment. Dealers are coming from Lewiston; Jerome; Magna; Uby and Helena, Mont. Most of the individual exhibits will be those of Magic Valley club members.

Patrolman shoots himself; death considered a suicide

GLENN'S FERRY — An off-duty Glens Ferry patrolman shot and killed himself in the pre-dawn hours Friday as he and a female companion were driving down Interstate 84, the Elmore County Sheriff's Office said.

The officer, Patrolman Eusebio "Joe" Martinez, 26, of Glens Ferry, was dead on arrival about 2:30 a.m. at Elmore Memorial Hospital in Mountain Home, said Rick Layher, chief deputy with the Elmore County Sheriff's Office. Layher said Martinez was a passenger in a car driven by an 18-year-old female. The two were driving from Glens Ferry to Mountain Home when the woman "had a bang" and turned to discover that Martinez had shot himself with his 9-mill pistol. She then drove him to the Elmore hospital, where he was pronounced dead.

Layher said there were no signs of a struggle or foul play, and his office is ruling it a suicide. Martinez, who is survived by his wife, Leticia, and three small children, was hired as a Glens Ferry patrolman in October 1985, said Glens Ferry Police Chief Dave Hartway. "He was an outstanding officer," Hartway said on Friday. "He worked well with teenagers, and kids liked him." Hartway said the suicide was a shock. A rotary service will be recited at 5 p.m. today at Humphreys Funeral Home. Burial will be in Texas.

Shuttle rocket chiefs insist decision to launch was sound

The Associated Press

NASA rocketry managers, bluntly rejecting criticism from unidentified sources Friday, defended the decision-making that preceded the disastrous Challenger launch. The man who actually made the decision to launch said it was "too soon" to condemn NASA's countdown process.

The rocket experts who advised him to go ahead with launch, said Jesse Moore, "are satisfied that they made the right judgment." Until the cause of the Jan. 28 explosion is known, he said, "I'm not prepared to say whether the judgment was flawed or the process was flawed."

JESSE MOORE
"Too soon" to condemn

At the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala., NASA officials who have borne the brunt of investigators' attention told reporters they felt the countdown process is sound.

"I think it was a sound decision to launch," said William Lucas, director of the Marshall center, where the space shuttle's suspect booster rocket program is supervised.

Said Lawrence Mulloy, head of Marshall's booster program: "I think the launch decision process is sound. I think the launch decision process in this case was sound."

Lucas and one of the chiefs of his shuttle office, Stanley Reinartz, said they found some of the decision-making by Morton Thiokol, which makes the booster rockets, "strange."

His comments came just 24 hours after shuttle commission chairman William Rogers sharply

"We do not have evidence the solid rocket booster was the root cause," Lucas told reporters. "We need to find the right booster" on the Atlantic coast.

"We've got to reflect on whether we need to make changes in how to launch," acknowledged Jud Longgood, deputy of the Marshall shuttle office, "but you've got to remember this is the same process that we've used in 24 successful shuttle launches" and in manned spaceflights — including moon landings — before that.

Investigators believe a leak in the seal of Challenger's right rocket booster might have triggered last month's mid-air explosion. Thiokol engineers warned the seals might fail due to unusually cold temperatures, but company managers reversed a no-launch order and gave written approval.

The commission now has moved to pursue possible causes other than the booster rockets.

Commission spokesman Mark Weinberg said the panel had "no response" to the rebuttal offered by officials at Marshall.

Speaking to reporters Friday, the Marshall managers said they still do not understand what caused the Jan. 28 disaster but that they stood behind the decision to approve the launch despite unusually cold weather.

450 workers facing layoff due to delay

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — NASA announced Friday that 450 private contract employees at the Kennedy Space Center will be laid off or transferred because of the Jan. 28 explosion of the space shuttle Challenger.

The newest layoffs are in addition to 650 other workers that contractors had planned to drop from payrolls starting Friday because they have completed construction of a second shuttle launch pad, space center officials said.

The twin layoffs will reduce the center work force from about 16,000 to 14,900, of which about 2,000 are NASA civil service personnel.

"During the next few weeks we have been working with headquarters and the other NASA centers on a work plan," said Thomas E. Utman, deputy center director, at a news conference. "We feel we have a good work plan that will keep our employees occupied."

"We're planning on the basis of a 12-month slowdown in shuttle launches," he said. "This is just planning."

He said additional layoffs could occur if launches are delayed significantly more than a year.

Utman said those losing jobs include technicians, engineers, managers, inspectors and journeyman workers.

criticized the launch decision-making process, in part because opposition to a cold-weather launch by Morton Thiokol engineers was never passed along by the Marshall officials to Moore.

"Commission spokesman Mark Weinberg said the panel had "no response" to the rebuttal offered by officials at Marshall.

Speaking to reporters Friday, the Marshall managers said they still do not understand what caused the Jan. 28 disaster but that they stood behind the decision to approve the launch despite unusually cold weather.

Reagan vows action after Pentagon report

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan pledged Friday to act "as quickly as I can" to follow the recommendations of a commission he named to improve Pentagon management and spending practices.

"I will act promptly and firmly on this," Reagan told David Packard, commission chairman and former deputy secretary of defense, as he accepted the panel's interim report at a White House ceremony.

The panel's two major proposals are aimed at strengthening the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and creating a new civilian office to oversee Defense Department purchasing.

The Packard Commission report represented the latest in a long series of such studies since the late 1940s, all of them designed to reform the way the Pentagon, the government's largest agency, spends money and oversees the nation's military forces.

At the Pentagon, spokesman Robert Sims said Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger "doesn't agree with every jot and tittle of the report," but in general believes it will be of "great value" in pursuing additional management reforms.

Officials say more than 120 attacks foiled in '85

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI, the State Department and other federal agencies helped foil more than 120 planned terrorist attacks against U.S. citizens here and abroad last year, but international terrorism is likely to worsen, Ambassador Robert Oakley said Friday.

Oakley, acting ambassador-at-large for counter-terrorism, said more than 100 plots against American citizens abroad were thwarted "by a combination of good security, good intelligence and good cooperation with local governments."

He told the House Judiciary subcommittee on civil and constitutional rights that in Bogota, Colombia, in a single evening, "we knew that there were three attacks planned on American business firms."

"Bombs were located and disarmed (at all three) because the embassy had been able to work with the Colombian government and tell them in advance there would be a bomb attempt," he said.

But Oakley testified that despite increased vigilance, the incidence of international terrorism has been growing sharply in the past two years, killing 23 Americans and injuring 139 in 1985.

There were more than 800 incidents of international terrorism last year against all people, including Americans, up 60 percent from the annual average of 500 for the period from 1978 to 1983, he said.

A-3 Gooding forces second match

Gooding 87 Kimberly 75

By RON GATES
Times-News writer

WENDELL — The 1984-85 high school boys' basketball campaign was highlighted by five Gooding-Shoshone clashes that carried over into state tournament action. This season, with the Indians cropping to Class A-4, the Kimberly Bulldogs have emerged as the Senators' nemesis in the A-3 ranks.

That pair met for the fourth time this season Friday night in what was tabbed as the District 4 A-3 tournament championship contest. But it wasn't to be.

Having nearly everything going its way through the first 29 minutes, second-ranked Gooding took it to an extra game by a 87-75 count. That extra game will be played tonight at 8 in the Wendell High gym, with the winner getting the district trophy.

Both teams will go to next week's Idaho A-3 tourney in Boise, but the District 4 champion isn't going to have it any easier there than the runner-up. The No. 1 team from the Magic Valley will be paired with either No. 1-ranked Pottlatch of Lapwai in the first round, while the District 4 runner-up gets to open up against third-ranked Sugar-Salem.

Coach Allan Kelsey of the fifth-ranked Bulldogs gave out a few words of caution prior to the contest.

"I've got all the respect in the world for Gooding—we have to play our tails off just to stay in the ballgame with them. One of the big keys is trying to keep a fairly fresh man on (Todd) Simis. Boy, is he an athlete."

Simis demonstrated not only his athletic prowess but his leadership qualities as well Friday, Simis' 22 first-half points, on 11-for-17 shooting from the floor, staked the Senators to a 15-point halftime bulge.

After a couple of early exchanges and a full tie at the midway point of the first period, Simis sprang for 10 points in only one minute and 44 seconds. His fifth pull-up jumper pulled the Senators ahead by 10 for the first time.

"I'm not sure we didn't defense him (Simis) well," said Kelsey later. "There was someone in his face all night."

But the Bulldogs failed to help their own cause, going on a characteristic 20 percent (3-for-15) from the charity stripe before intermission. That, combined with more than a dozen turnovers, put them in a hole that they were never able to recover from.

Gooding's Swen Swenson traded the first four buckets of the third period with Kimberly center Kurt Holcomb but Swenson's block on the next Bulldog possession put the ball in Simis' hands and he fired in a three-point to spark an 11-point Gooding breakaway that increased the spread to 20.

The only bright light for the Bulldogs from that point until just under three minutes remained in the game was Mike Stark's block of 6-foot-9 Brian Darcy's field goal attempt.

It all turned around in the final 2:55 as Kimberly chalked up 24 points, nine of those from the three-point area, and "forced Senator mentor Lou Andersen to pupils starters back on the floor.

Simis finished the game with 30 points, while Holcomb and Brett Wright scored 22 apiece for Kimberly.

Flier claimed the JV title by beating Gooding 50-35.

Blocker theft saves game against Ricks

OT steal preserves 87-85 win

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

REXBURG — Sophomore forward Chris Blocker capped the "worst" night of his career at the College of Southern Idaho with its biggest play Friday.

With CSI holding an 87-85 lead over Ricks College with three seconds left in overtime and Vikings inboundng the ball underneath their own basket, Blocker stole the ball to preserve the fifth-ranked Eagles' 28th victory in 30 outings this season.

The play crushed an emotionally supercharged effort by Ricks, which came into this two-game weekend series needing a victory to get into at least a playoff for a berth in next week's Region 18 men's basketball tournament.

How quickly the Vikings can recharge their batteries will be decided tonight when the teams wind up their regular seasons at 7:30 in Hart Gymnasium.

Another CSI victory would vault North Idaho past Ricks in the northern division standings and into the regional tournament at Utah's Dixie College next weekend. The Cardinals defeated Treasure Valley Community College 94-73 in Coeur d'Alene Friday.

The issue is moot for the Eagles, who already had a confirmed reservation for next weekend in St. George, Utah, when they took the court Friday.

It seemed strange to say Blocker had a bad night, because statistically he had a triple-double with 17 points, 14 rebounds and 11 assists. It was doubly puzzling because he got off to a tremendous start collecting six straight defensive rebounds, six points and two assists in the first four minutes of the game. But the second half was 3-for-17 from the floor.

"This was a funny win," CSI Coach Fred Trenkle said, "because I knew when I came into the gym that I wasn't ready. I just hoped the players were. I don't think they were near the previous intensity, but they managed to pull it out."

"It was the type of game I don't think anyone could have blamed us for losing," Trenkle continued. "We played hard even if we didn't play well, and I thought Ricks played a very quiet game and maybe deserved the win more than we did. But I didn't want someone to suggest we laid down and let Ricks back into it. So, from that standpoint, I'm very pleased with this victory."

One CSI player who had an excellent night was freshman forward Joey Johnson who forced the Eagles with 24 points and had two behind-the-head shots and an up-two-the-elbow tip-in midway to electrify this partisan crowd.

The Eagles led by as much as eight in the first half, and a chance for a blowout loomed midway in the second half when Johnson scored six straight points to run the CSI lead to 63-54.

But at that point, Ricks' guards, particularly Gerald Riddick, hauled the Vikings back into the game. Riddick scored nine points over the next four minutes to tie the game at 65 and Ricks took its first lead at 66 on a Gordon Bean field goal with 5:39 to play. A minute and a half later, Ricks' hopes burned brightly when Jeff Parry scored from the outside to make it 72-60.

But CSI's Greg Babin then converted a rare four-point play to tie it, and the teams seasawed to a 78-78 tie at the end of regulation.

After CSI freshman center Erick Newman hit one free throw to open the overtime, the standoff continued. The teams alternated the lead until 1:36 remaining, when Breck Parkinson tied it for Ricks at the foul line. Blocker hit an off-balance 30-second shot later to establish the final margin and then sealed it with his steal.

CSI women lose to Ricks, 76-61, face elimination

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

REXBURG — The College of Southern Idaho women's basketball team will put it all on the line tonight after dropping a 76-61 decision to Ricks College here Friday in a northern division Region 18 contest.

The CSI women must win the teams' rematch at 5:30 p.m. or their season will be over. But even if they win, the Vikings in playoff sometime next week to decide which of the two teams will advance to the Region 18 finals in Coeur d'Alene next weekend — CSI and Ricks split a two-game set in Twin Falls last month.

Ricks won this one by pulling away late in the first half and thoroughly dominating the first 10 minutes of the second. The Vikings took the initiative inside, where superior height resulted in several putback points. But CSI scrambled and stayed within four points until they cut the deficit to four points, at 22-22. But in the closing 4:36 of the half, Ricks moved ahead 37-26.

After intermission, the medium-range jump shooting of Andrea Smith and Kathy Parkinson did most of the damage as Ricks built its lead to as much as 34 points midway through the final half.

Parkinson ended the night by hitting 5-for-11 from the field and 15 points, while Smith was 8-for-16 with 17 points. The inside duo of Celeste Summers and Andrea Wright were dominant, each hitting 2-15 between them and combining for 33 points.

Amy Arme, a freshman from nearby Pirth, paced the Eagles with 13 points.

Parkinson 5-9-3-13, Woods 1-1-2-3, Vastorf 2-4-5-12, James 3-0-2-6, Crubbers 2-2-1-4, Hunt 2-3-5-8, Arme 0-0-2-0, Peterson 3-0-4-8, Jackson 0-1-3-4, Taylor 1-0-0-7, Totals: 35-26-14-86.

Drug crackdown

Baseball chief Ueberroth hands seven players an ultimatum

By JOHN NELSON
The Associated Press

NEW YORK — Joaquin Andujar, Dave Parker, Keith Hernandez and four other major league players linked to drug use were suspended for one year Friday by Commissioner Peter Ueberroth, but still may play if they donate 10 percent of their salaries to drug-prevention programs.

"In what he called "a deep, difficult, sleep-eliminating decision," Ueberroth announced rulings affecting as many as 24 players, all but one of whom he interviewed in the past two months.

Ueberroth said that Andujar, Parker, Hernandez, Lonnie Smith, Eric Cabell, Jeff Leonard and Dale Berra also must submit to random drug testing for the rest of their careers and contribute 100 hours of drug-related community service in each of the next two years if they want to play.

Four more players — Al Holland, Lee Lacy, Larry Sorenson and Claudell Washington — were given 60-day suspensions which also will be held in abeyance if they follow guidelines similar to those set down for the other seven. Another player, Mike Norris, may also be included in the 60-day group, Ueberroth said, pending outcome of his case on drug possession charges.

Ten other players must submit to drug testing.

"I kept trying to come back to what was fair," Ueberroth said at a news conference, "that I was not taking the players out of the game, but instead I was letting them give back to the area of society that caused them their problems."

Ueberroth also outlined plans for his office to take over all drug testing from the clubs.

Called on teams to tighten access to locker rooms.

Dr. J, crowd stunned by long heave

DALLAS — Julius Erving was tempted to say he'd planned it that way.

But after adding another trick to his impressive repertoire Friday night, the Philadelphia 76ers forward admitted he was just as stunned as everyone else.

"They'll give me that shot—any day," Erving said after his half-court heave at the buzzer gave the Sixers a 123-120 victory over the Dallas Mavericks.

"I practiced that shot this afternoon, but I've never made one like that in a game," Erving said.

Even he admitted this one had a chance as soon as it left his hands. "I thought it would be close and as it started toward the basket I got excited," he said. "Next thing you know, it's going in."

Erving, who made the desperation shot on the first 10 minutes of the game, threw the ball in the back court with just two seconds left, finished with 20 points.

The Sixers got their opportunity to win when Dallas' Mark Aguirre missed a long jump shot and Moses Malone grabbed the rebound as the clock ran down.

The game ceased into the final seconds, and Malone's short jumper pulled Philadelphia into a 120-120 tie with 24 seconds left. A swarming Sixers defense then forced Aguirre into a poor shot, and Philadelphia got a quick time out to set up the winning play.

The Sixers extended their edge to 111-100 with a hard lay slam dunk with just under six minutes to play. But a 14-2 Dallas run, capped by two baskets by Aguirre, put the Mavericks back up 114-111 with two minutes remaining.

Neither team led by more than two the rest of the way until Erving's game-winning provided the final three-point margin.

A-2: Buhl gains final of district tourney

By SCOTT TUDEHOPE Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Buhl took advantage of a cold-shooting opponent Friday night, beating Jerome 63-52 in the consolation final of the District A-2 boys' basketball tournament.

The win put the Indians into a Monday night rematch with Burley for the district title. That game is scheduled for the first of the week at Southern Idaho gymnasium, with a second championship game, if it is necessary, to be played Tuesday night.

The loss ended Jerome's season at 11-2. Buhl set the pattern early, limiting the Tigers to just two field goals and pulling ahead 13-8 at the end of the first period. "You hope to start out and do better than that," said Jerome's Ben Allen of his team's first quarter performance. "And in a three-point game, you have the advantage of hindsight to see what you could have done differently. Things were especially forcing over 19 turnovers."

Buhl's Alan Thornberry started

Boys basketball

things out with a short popper 35 seconds into the game. After Buhl's game temporarily stalled, Buhl's 6-foot-5 junior Kyle Wilson put his club ahead 6-4 on a three-point play. Buhl never trailed from that point.

Jerome's Rob Bartholomew hit a short jumper to start the second quarter, but just 90 seconds later, the Indians scored two more field goals and a nine-point spread developed. Buhl, meanwhile, did what it had to underneath, coming up with more than its share of rebounds. That fact does much to explain why the Indians trotted into the lockerroom at halftime with an eight-point advantage.

Jerome got a vital boost at the 6:15 mark in the third period when a Tiger hit a three-pointer, cutting the margin to seven points. But, as on cue, Buhl's Kevin Cato hit a baseline jumper to extend the lead. Jerome's Travis Danton came a jumper with 1:45 in the period, while teammate Tom Fleming hit the latter half of a two-shot free throw opportunity and then sank a field goal to make it a three-point contest. Then, with 30 seconds left in the period, Buhl's Troy Stevens expanded his ballclub's advantage to five. In the final frame, the Indians kept to their conservative shooting philosophy, putting up just nine shots and making five of them. By contrast, Jerome was 7-of-23, repressing its first quarter offensive difficulties. Mike Welch led in the losing effort with 16 points. Jerome teammates Torrey Sheels and Randy Keys also hit double figures. Buhl's Wilson was a perfect 7-for-7 from the field and led the Indians with 19 points. Jerome's (from) knew what we were going to do," said Buhl Coach Wayne Humphreys, whose team has beaten the Tigers three times this season. "We didn't have any surprises. We told them that we'd take it to them underneath and on the press. But the defense was our key. When you can limit Jerome to two field goals, that's what it's all about."

The Indians, who lost to Burley 68-58 in the team semifinal on Wednesday, guaranteed themselves of at least an outside shot at the state tournament with the win Friday. Even if Buhl loses the district title to Burley, it has the chance to beat the runner-up from Districts 5 and 6 in a three-way playoff next week for a berth in the A-2 finals.

Boise St. thumps Wolf Pack; gets leg up on Idaho

By SCOTT PEYRON Special To The Times-News

BOISE — Boise State University, whose middle has been off-riddled by Nevada-Reno power in recent years, turned to its reved-up forwards to clobber the Wolf Pack 81-63 in a Big Sky Conference basketball game here Friday.

The victory, combined with Idaho's loss to Northern Arizona in Moscow Friday, lifted the Broncos out of the Big Sky cellar and heightened the chances that they will face Weber State in the first round of next week's Big Sky Conference tournament in Reno, Nev. The Wildcats will earn the third seed in the tourney if they beat Idaho State in Ogden, Utah, tonight. Boise State severed a three-game losing streak and raised its record to 58-2 against conference opposition and 11-15 for the season pending tonight's regular-season finale here against NAU.

Forward Roland Smith rhythmic first half jump-shooting staked the Broncos to a lead that lasted virtually the whole game. He struck for 13 points in the first 20 minutes, including Boise State to an eight-point, half-time advantage. The 6-5 senior Broncos inside as he dominates the entire 20 points and six rebounds during the game.

When Nevada-Reno began to post Boise State's interior defense, trailing Smith reserve forward Eric Hayes became the game's most authoritative figure. He touched off a mid-second half Boise State burst that sealed the game's outcome.

WATER BURGER DRIVER review: Hayes, a junior with uncommon jumping ability, broke into the lane for 44 points in the last 12 minutes and 48 seconds. When Hayes began to erupt, the game was tied 45-45.

Smillie and Hayes' rambunctiousness came partly at the expense of Dwayne Randall, the Big Sky's leading scorer who spent much of the second half in foul trouble. Randall scored 23 points and cleared seven and three, respectively.

Freshman guard Bill Perkins of Boise State, 3-for-3 from three-point range, hit 14 points for the night. Perhaps more significant for BSU, though, was its 36-33 rebounding edge. Kelvin Rawlins, Smith and Broncos advantage. But he had to play cautiously on defense and no one else could handle Hayes—who will freshman guard Chris Childs shared a 19-4 Boise State run that sealed the game.

The struggling Wolf Pack, the two-time defending Big Sky champion, played for 67 in league play and 12-14 for the season. Childs' defense dogged clever UNR point guard Rob Harden into a 2-for-10 shooting performance. Harden, who averages 12 points and near five assists per game, finished with seven and three, respectively.

Freshman guard Bill Perkins of Boise State, 3-for-3 from three-point range, hit 14 points for the night. Perhaps more significant for BSU, though, was its 36-33 rebounding edge. Kelvin Rawlins, Smith and Hayes combined for 19 boards and kept Randall away from the offensive glass just enough.

Idaho falls 82-58 to Northern Arizona at home

By TIM KEOWN Special To The Times-News

MOSCOW — The Northern Arizona University duo of Andre Spencer and Andy Hurd combined for 47 points to lead the Lumberjacks to a convincing 82-58 victory over the Idaho Vandals Friday night in a Big Sky Conference basketball game.

The loss dropped Idaho's conference record to 4-9 and gave the Vandals sole possession of the Big Sky's cellar. More ominously for Idaho, it almost guaranteed that the Vandals must face either NAU or Big Sky co-leader Montana next Thursday in Reno, Nev., in the first round of the Big Sky post-season tournament.

The only way Idaho can prevent that scenario is by beating Nevada-Reno here tonight in its regular-season finale, provided that the Lumberjacks defeat Boise State in Boise tonight. NAU led from start to finish and the Lumberjacks were never remotely threatened. The Axers who shot a blistering 64-percent from the field on the night, jumped out to a commanding 29-9 lead behind the sharpshooting Hurd. The 6-foot-5 senior swingman accounted for 17 of those 29, including five three-point bombs.

Hurd's long-range proficiency came as no surprise to Vandal Coach Bill Trumbo, but his team's lack of intensity was not expected. "I thought we were ready to play because our preparation was good," Trumbo said. "But we got ourselves mixed in a mediocre effort and couldn't really bounce out of it."

Hurd, who finished with 22 points, scored all 17 of his first-half points in the opening 11 minutes and 19 seconds, and Spencer took over where his teammate left off. The muscular 6-7 forward gave the Lumberjacks a 43-

"Spencer gave us a lot of problems," Trumbo said. "We don't have a guy that big with his quickness. The Vandals could draw no closer than 17 points in the second half. Former Vandal Antwine Murchison gave NAU its biggest lead of the night, at 76-38, with a monster slam of his own at the 3:24 mark.

The Vandals, who to 11-16 for the season, were led by guard Chris Trumbo, who finished with 15 points and three pointers. Idaho's second-leading scorer, Kenny Luckett, finished with only six points (12 below his average) on 2-for-12 shooting.

"They outplayed us in every area there was," Trumbo said. "You're going to suffer when you play (without intensity) against a good team that has something on you."

The Lumberjacks, in upping their conference mark to 9-19 overall, moved into a first-place tie with remaining Boise and the Grizzlies' regular-season ending meeting with Montana State in Bozeman, Mont. The Trade deficit keeps on rising

By TOM RAUM The Associated Press WASHINGTON — The U.S. trade deficit soared to a record $16.5 billion in January, unrestrained by recent declines in oil prices and in the dollar, the Commerce Department reported Friday.

The report showed that the long-awaited improvement in the nation's balance-of-trade has yet to materialize. Imports have exceeded exports in each of the past four years and in 1985 outpaced them by $4.6 billion.

"We should not expect a real improvement in the trade balance until the last half of this year," Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige said in a statement. "It will take that long for the impact of the lower dollar to shift demand toward American goods."

And analysts noted that much of the oil imports reflected in the January trade figures were purchased under contracts up to several months old and do not completely reflect the recent oil price decline.

Price of domestic oil grade dips under $13

By STEVEN P. ROSENFELD The Associated Press NEW YORK — The price of the main grade of U.S. oil briefly plunged below $13 a barrel Friday, a level last seen in 1978, and isolated instances of another 1970s phenomenon — gasoline price wars — started to emerge.

Saudi Arabia's oil minister said popularly traded crudes could drop as low as $10 before bottoming out.

In-Houston, some dealers are selling regular gas for 69 cents a gallon and unleaded at a few pennies a gallon more, compared with the 90 cent charge that prevails in other areas of that metropolitan area.

In a separate report, U.S. Trade Representative Clayton Yentzer said the import surge, combined with the loss of U.S. export markets "would significantly affect the very structure of American industry" if prolonged.

That still was 78 cents lower than Thursday's close, and 58.5 percent lower than the $31.70 a barrel that prevailed as recently as November.

Tempco Inc. announced that because of falling oil prices, wages will be frozen for 12 months, beginning Saturday.

The January merchandise trade deficit was up 23 percent from the December level of $15.1 billion, the department said.

The January report reflects a change in accounting procedures. Department analysts said they decided to abandon the past practice of adjusting the trade figures for seasonal factors.

THE FARMER'S MARKET CALL TOLL FREE 536-2535

Jerome, Wendell Gooding, Hagerman

THE ACES

The faults of the burglar are the qualities of the financier.

— George Bernard Shaw

The bridge-playing burglar tries to steal your tricks using crude methods. More dangerous is the financier. He takes your tricks with polish and with flair.

The burglar wins the first heart and crosses to dummy in diamonds to lead the queen of spades. Only a foolish East would cover, so the burglar loses two spades, a heart and the ace of clubs for one down.

The financier has the same objective as the burglar — to crash the ace and king of trumps — but he goes about it in a different way.

He wins the heart ace and cashes three diamonds in hopes of a 3-3 split. When luck is with him, he leads his fourth diamond and the defenders are stuck. If West ruffs with his ace of trumps, dummy's heart loser disappears, so West ducks. Dummy discards the losing heart and East gets to ruff with his small trumps — a temporary expedient.

However, as soon as South gains the lead, he leads a trump. Instead of losing to the ace and king of trumps separately, South crashes the honors to escape with only three losers.
