Reagan offers test-ban plan to Gorbachev

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
 The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — President Reagan on Friday announced he had sent Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev a "new, very specific and far-reaching proposal" on nuclear testing that could open the way to U.S. ratification of two long-dormant test ban treaties.

Lehman tabbed — A11 Diplomat ousted — A12

The proposal, however, makes clear the United States still intends to detonate a nuclear device underground next month.

The Soviets have put international pressure on the Reagan administration to refrain from testing by announcing their own moratorium, which Gorbachev said Thursday would remain in effect until the United States explodes another nuclear device.

In a written statement issued by the White House, Reagan said he gave Gorbachev a technical description of a new method of detecting and measuring underground nuclear tests.

Reagan said the method, which he called CORTEX, would enable both superpowers "to improve verification and ensure compliance" with the never-ratified 1974 Threshold Test Ban Treaty and the Peaceful Nuclear Explosion Treaty that was signed two years later.

The two treaties — which both sides have said they would observe, but which both have suggested the other has violated — limit underground nuclear tests to 150 kilotons. Nuclear explosions in the atmosphere were banned by a 1963 test ban treaty.

"I provided to Mr. Gorbachev a technical description of CORTEX designed to demonstrate how this method will enhance verification procedures," Reagan said.

The president added that he invited the Soviet leader to send his own experts to the United States

Shultz slates meeting with Soviet official

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State George P. Shultz said Friday he would meet in Stockholm with the Soviet premier, Nikolai I. Ryzhkov, "to compare notes" on the nuclear arms competition and other superpower issues, but he dampened any expectations of a breakthrough.

It will be the first high-level U.S.-Soviet meeting since the "fireside" summit held by President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev in Geneva last November.

But Shultz said his talks with Ryzhkov on Saturday, while they are in the Swedish capital for the funeral of assassinated Prime Minister Olof Palme, "is not set up as a negotiating session" but more as an acquainted meeting with the Soviet official who was named premier last September.

The Soviet premier, who like Shultz is an economist by profession, is a protégé of General Secretary Gorbachev. He was appointed to the Politburo, the policy-making body of the Communist Party, last April and then succeeded Nikolai A. Tikhonov as premier five months later.

Shultz said he was prepared to discuss with Ryzhkov setting a date for this year's summit meeting between Reagan and Gorbachev. "Whether Mr. Ryzhkov will have any information, I don't know," Shultz said. "But I'd be glad to listen to anything he has to say."

Logged president says he's a Contra

By W. DALE NELSON
 The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — President Reagan, acknowledging serious opposition to his plan to arm Nicaragua's Contra guerrillas, proclaimed himself "a Contra, too" on Friday and pledged to enter his case to the American people.

Addressing about 200 state and local officials who support his program, Reagan said that in a speech on the issue Sunday night he is "going to the people by way of television to try and tell them this story and get their help."

The president, who has met almost daily with members of Congress about his proposal, said, "They're telling me more and more of the people that they're hearing from back home... don't want us to do this."

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said the administration is "making progress" in the campaign for approval of its aid package, but it is "still an uphill fight."

The House, controlled by Democrats, is scheduled to vote March 20 on Reagan's proposal for $70 million in military aid to the rebels as well as $30 million to continue the present aid program, limited to medical and logistical supplies.

Nine Republican congressmen left early Friday on a hastily arranged trip to Nicaragua to assess the situation there. Two Democratic congressmen left Thursday night on a similar mission.

Opening his remarks to the elected officials, Reagan said some supporters of the Contras do not use that name, which stands for counter-revolutionary, because it was first applied to the rebels by Nicaragua's Marxist-led Sandinista government to imply that the guerrillas were backers of former Nicaraguan dictator Anastasio Somoza.

"The way I see it," he said, "Somoza has been gone a long time, the revolution that toppled him has become a communist coup, and so

More shuttle evidence points to seals as cause

By DAVID ESPINO
 The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Presidential investigators received "considerable confirmation" from new film studies shown in a private meeting Friday that safety seals on the Challenger's right booster rocket caused the shuttle to explode in flight, a source close to the probe said.

This source, who asked not to be identified by name, said "for the first time" the commission saw enhanced film analysis corroborated with a timeline of the accident. "It provided considerable confirmation of our view on the place and timing of the fire" that caused the explosion.

The source added that the panel is still trying to determine what caused the failure of the seam that is designed to contain hot gases inside the solid fuel booster—rocket. Leading theories are that cold weather reduced the effectiveness of rubber-like O-ring seals, or that the seals were harmed by the normal motion of the rocket, or were defective on manufacture; the source said.

The commission met with the chairman of the Senate subcommittee that oversees NASA said that Congress probably will approve a replacement for the lost shuttle Challenger unless the space agency is forced to accept across-the-board cuts under the Gramm-Rudman law.

In that case, "there certainly wouldn't be a replacement orbit," said NASA. "We have to make do with the three shuttles left in the fleet, said Sen. Slade Gorton, R-Wash., who chairs the Senate space subcommittee.

At Cape Canaveral, Florida, meanwhile, a top NASA official told space agency employees in a televised pep talk that executives are planning to resume shuttle flights in a year. Once the shuttle fleet is back in the air, Dr. Raymond Colvard said, "we adopted a buildup rate of nine flights in the first year, 14 in the second, to a level of 18 flights per year with a three-orbit fleet."

A space agency decision to maintain such a schedule would almost certainly cause concern in Congress, where lawmakers have said in the past that NASA was trying to maintain too ambitious a timetable in a program still under development.

All seven crew members were killed in the nation's worst space disaster when the shuttle Challenger exploded 73 seconds after launch.

Comet's nucleus wide, deep black

By NESHA STARCEVIC
 The Associated Press

DARMSTADT, West Germany — The Halley's comet nucleus is much wider than was thought and has a "velvet black," peanut-shaped surface as dark as anything known to man, pictures from the European spacecraft Giotto showed Friday.

The nucleus is the comet's elongated, hard center, which scientists said is made up of ice with a warm dust surface and surrounded by a cloud of dust.

"Giotto's mission was accomplished beyond all expectations," said Roger Bonnet, the mission's director of science projects, despite loss of signal two seconds before the European Space Agency probe circled the comet's path early Friday at a distance of 372 miles, the closest point.

The encounter, 89 million miles out in space, was the closest ever between a spacecraft and the comet, which returns to the Earth's solar system every 76 years.

Mission control scientists in Darmstadt near Frankfurt said they would decide later if Giotto was operational enough to try to bring it back to Earth.

Even after the pictures stopped coming, scientists said they received an unexpected bonus 25 minutes after the fly-by when other instruments on Giotto began transmitting information. West German scientist Horst

Keller of the Max Planck Science Institute, who is in charge of analyzing pictures received from the sophisticated multi-lens camera aboard Giotto, told a news conference at mission control.

"The true color of the dust and the surface of the nucleus has to be black... I would say velvet black."

"It is blacker than black coal, as dark as dark as the darkest objects in the solar system known to man."

He said the nucleus was of a very irregular, elongated shape, "similar to a potato, or a peanut, or a banana."

"The dark color of the surface indicates a rather warm surface layer. The ice would have to be deeper," he said.

Keller said the computer-enhanced pictures indicated the nucleus is about 9 miles long.

He said the center mass appeared to be at least two times bigger than previously believed, and that the overall width of the nucleus probably was about 5 miles.

"This is one of the most important pieces of information we have received and analyzed so far," Keller said.

He said dust particles knocked out from the rotating camera and kept on sending pictures from all sides of the comet.

"We had a 30-degree angle change instead of 75 to 120 degrees," he said.

Lawmakers start lottery petition drive

The Associated Press

BOISE — Relying on what some have called a creative interpretation of the state constitution, a bipartisan group of Idaho lawmakers on Friday launched an initiative petition drive to put a state lottery before voters this November.

"There is a tremendous ground swell from the people of Idaho to vote on this issue," Republican Senate President Pro Tem James Risch of Boise said in announcing the effort.

The petition drive came as a strong minority in the House continued to have enough power to thwart repeated attempts to put before voters a proposed constitutional amendment that would remove the ban on the Legislature enacting a state-run lottery.

SEN. JAMES RISCH
 Commends issue to people issue before the people. "Each viewpoint should be tolerant of the other person's point of view... We commend the issue to the people of Idaho. We have no doubt they will handle this issue responsibly."

The state constitution currently prohibits the Legislature from enacting a lottery and at the same time precludes citizen initiatives to change constitutional provisions.

But Risch, a lawyer, said in his opinion the constitutional ban only covers legislative action on a lottery, leaving open the possibility of a citizen initiative to enact a lottery by law.

The constitution, he said, "doesn't prohibit lotteries. It doesn't prohibit the people of Idaho to authorize a lottery."

The proposed initiative petition was immediately submitted to Secretary of State Pete Cenarrusa, who along with Attorney General Jim Jones must approve its form and validity before it can be circulated for signatures. Some 33,000 signatures will be needed to put the issue before voters this November if the drive receives the go-ahead from the state.

The lottery issue has been simmering in Idaho for the past several years, as Washington, Oregon and Nevada have implemented their own lotteries and lured hundreds of thousands of dollars in Idaho money across their borders.

Supporters of the lottery claim that money could be kept in Idaho if there were a lottery here, and the proceeds would help augment extremely depressed state tax revenues.

But critics, who have managed to stop passage of a legislative lottery amendment in the House for the last three years, including twice this year, warn that a state lottery would only be a step toward wide-open, full-scale gambling in Idaho. They also contend it takes advantage of the poor, who are least able to afford to play.

Briefly

Marcos probes will cooperate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of a Philippine commission investigating former President Ferdinand Marcos and the chairman of the U.S. House subcommittee agreed Friday to fully cooperate in trying to learn the extent of Marcos' financial dealings.

"We will cooperate with the Philippine government in its investigation of Marcos' hidden assets and we have promised to cooperate fully in our," Rep. Stephen Solarz, D-N.Y., told a news conference after an hour-long meeting with Jovito Solongia in Solarz's office.

Solongia is chairman of the Commission on Good Government, the panel appointed by Philippine President Corason Aquino to investigate the financial dealings of her predecessor.

Government 'revolutionary'

MANILA, Philippines (DPA) — The new Philippine government is "revolutionary" in character and will last only 100 days, Vice President Salvador Laurel said Friday.

Receiving envoys from France, the Netherlands, West Germany, Italy, Greece, Britain, Denmark and Belgium, Laurel said, "We have in mind to limit the duration of the revolutionary government to 100 days, during which we will do everything to alleviate or ease the suffering of the people."

Laurel also announced plans for a plebiscite for a new constitution and local and congressional elections before the end of the year.

His announcement came as reports of fighting indicated that the fragile cease-fire between Communist guerrilla and government troops had been shattered in at least two fronts.

Cookie cases ruled isolated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration said Friday that investigators have found no problem in a Kentucky bakery that could account for glass and sewing needles found in four boxes of Girl Scout cookies in Indiana, and suggested any tampering involved isolated incidents.

While the investigation is continuing, the agency said, "past experience suggests that most (tampering reports) are likely to be hoaxes, children's pranks or localized tamperings of the sort seen during Halloween."

In an advisory issued Friday night, the agency said its investigators went to the Little Brownie Bakers in Louisville, which produced the Girl Scout cookies sold in Indiana.

Indictments name officials

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A former state-police commissioner, a former gubernatorial candidate, a district judge, and a county sheriff were among 16 people indicted by a federal grand jury in a wide-ranging corruption probe, authorities said Friday.

Twelve of the 16 appeared Friday before U.S. Magistrate James Cook and pleaded innocent to the charges.

The indictments covered an array of charges, including conspiracy, extortion, public corruption, obstruction of justice, insurance fraud, federal narcotics violations and interstate transportation of stolen property of officials.

Joel A. Carlson, special agent in charge of the FBI in Kentucky, State Police Commissioner Morgan Elkins and U.S. Attorney Louis DeFalaise held a news conference Friday to announce 12 arrests stemming from the probe that began in 1983.

Embattled official kills self

NEW YORK (AP) — The suicide of former Queens borough president Donald Manes, who plunged a knife into his heart while talking to his psychiatrist on the telephone, will not stop a sweeping investigation into city corruption, a federal prosecutor said Friday.

Manes had attempted to kill himself in January just before allegations of widespread kickbacks broke open. On Thursday night he succeeded, ending a tumultuous string of events that had already cost him his $80,000-a-year job and political reputation.

At least six prosecutors, four commissions and several city and state agencies are investigating city contracts and procedures as a result of disclosures that followed Manes' first suicide attempt.

Peace march sponsor gives up

BARSTOW, Calif. (AP) — The group sponsoring the Great Peace March folded Friday under mounting debt as hundreds of marchers spent a fourth day stuck at a chilly Mojave Desert camp, just 120 miles from the 3,235-mile trek.

"It's going to be necessary for PRO-Peace to fold so that the debts no longer become an unbearable burden on those who wish to march," David Mixner, the founder of People Reaching Out for Peace, told between 300 and 500 marchers at the campsite off a remote stretch of highway.

Mixner accepted personal responsibility, Mixner pledged to do what he could to help the group of walkers trying to take over control of the march.

discuss verification methods and thus pave the way for resolving the serious concerns which have arisen in this area," Reagan said. "In making this offer, I made clear to General Secretary Gorbachev that we could reach agreement on the use of an effective verification system incorporating such a method to verify the (Threshold Test Ban Treaty). I would be prepared to move toward ratification of both the threshold agreement and the companion measure limiting peaceful nuclear explosions.

Several nonaligned nations, as well as the U.S. House of Representatives, have been pressing the Reagan administration to ratify the existing treaties and proceed to negotiate a comprehensive treaty that would ban all nuclear tests, not just those larger than 150 kilotons.

But Reagan has contended the United States needs to continue testing to catch up with Soviet weapons technology.

Reagan previously had invited the Soviets to observations of both a weapons test, but he said Friday the new proposal's inclusion of a CORTEX demonstration and the details provided about the new technology made it unique in its "specificity and comprehensiveness."

However, David McKillop, director of the comprehensive test ban task force of the pro-arms control Committee for National Security, called the new tactic an attempt to resume testing "without the monkey on their back" put there by Gorbachev's moratorium.

With only $20.3 million available from the state building fund, the 16-member Joint Finance Appropriations Committee on Friday mandated that nearly $6.6 million in severely limited general tax receipts would have to be used to underwrite the proposal.

In budget-setting sessions all week, the panel will leave the panel with less than $600 million to finance basic state operations for the year that begins July 1.

"The joint committee broke the bank this morning," Sen. Norma Dobler, D-Moscow, said. "We gave away the funds."

Division of that large amount in the coming year from general tax receipts, which the panel's conservative majority has been hushbanding.

That is only about $19 million more than is being spent this year on already curtailed basic government operations, a 3 percent increase, and could aggravate the already difficult task facing the panel of drafting public education budgets that will be politically acceptable to a majority in both houses.

Litterbug crackdown wins panel approval

By DEAN MILLER Times-News writer

BOISE — Highway litterbugs will face stiffer fines and paid informants if the Legislature adopts a bill that won unanimous approval in the Senate Transportation Committee Thursday.

In an effort to discourage people from throwing trash out their car windows, sponsors of House Bill 459 are working to have the highway littering fine increased from $50 to $300 and to allow for $50 rewards for people who turn in litterbugs.

Judd also said the rewards will give other drivers an incentive to turn people in.

Sen. Phil Batt, R-Wilder, said he didn't think the bill would do much good, but voted for it because he thinks it sends a good message to the people who litter-the roadsides. "It's a disgusting habit the motoring public has," Batt said.

Rep. Claude Judd, D-Orofino, who brought the bill from the House to the Senate committee, said he hopes the stiffer fine will put litterers on notice. "It might add more bluff," he said.

Several members joked that they voted for the bill because they were urged to in letters from the mother of committee colleague Sen. Ron Belletschpacher and D-Grangeville.

Sen. Jerry Twigg, R-Blackfoot, said he was one up on the rest of the committee members because he got a letter from Mrs. Belletschpacher, a member of Mrs. Belletschpacher's garden club.

Reagan remained cool to a proposed compromise under which Congress would approve the aid package, but delay delivery of the military assistance until another try has been made for a political deal.

"If we delay aid for a few months while we are talking, the Sandinistas will take the time and use it to finish off the Contras," he said. "That's the communist strategy — to kill them off. And when the execution is complete they will end the talks."

Reagan, who has asserted that the Sandinistas are heavily backed by the Soviet Union and Cuba, told his audience the Nicaraguan rulers "are not operating independently" but are "part of the new mob, part of the 20th century's answer to 'Murder Incorporated.'"

"There is no question, I think, that for our times that is more crucial to our future than what happens in Central America," the president said.

Reagan drew a parallel with the early days of World War II, before the United States had entered the conflict, when British Prime Minister Winston Churchill appealed to America to "give us the tools, and we will finish the job."

"We are not asking for American boys to go down there," Reagan said. "There has been no appeal for them. They just need the tools that we can provide them as Churchill once asked for tools."

'Radical' deregulation plan goes to Senate

BOISE (AP) — Legislation deregulating the telephone industry in Idaho under a plan that both sides called one of the "most radical" under consideration in the United States has been sent to the full Senate for a vote.

On a 3-vote Friday, the State Affairs Committee sent the measure to the floor without any recommendation. It would still need House approval if it clears the Senate when it comes to a vote, probably sometime next week.

Sen. John Peavey, D-Carey, along with Republican Sens. Vearl Crystal of Lewisville and Reed Budge of Soda Springs, opposed the move, contending the issue was too complex with the bill raising too many questions, unanswered questions, for action to be considered.

universal telephone service in highly rural Idaho.

The panel's decision came despite outcries from consumer groups and other critics who were denied the opportunity to testify on the proposition, a revised version of the original deregulation bill introduced last month.

Chairman Walt Yarbrough, R-Grand View, conceded the irregularity of precluding further testimony on the issue. But he contended the committee has spent all the time it could afford on the measure with more than seven hours of hearings in two rounds, and he speculated that additional testimony would add little to the information already before the panel. Consumer groups and other critics did testify during the hearing on the original bill.

But the panel's majority echoed statements earlier in the week by state utility regulators that a delay for some kind of further study or in-depth investigation would do nothing to improve the situation.

Mountain Bell Telephone Co. has contended it needs the flexibility of deregulation to compete in the new business atmosphere created following the court-ordered break-up of the national Bell system. But critics fear that even with the safeguards that have been included, the plan is a ploy to skyrocket residential phone rates and spells the end of

"If we don't provide a framework... and a finite time line, we'll be back here again next year in the same position we're in now," said Democratic Floor Leader Kermit Kiebert of Hope.

Telephone executive says groups shut out

By DEAN MILLER
Times-News writer

BOISE — Filer Mutual Telephone Company Manager John Gunn says small telephone companies and consumer groups have been shut out of legislative debate on a bill that would deregulate Mountain Bell telephone service in Idaho.

Gunn, who spoke against the bill at a Wednesday hearing said Friday night, "I feel like I was denied my right to reappear before the committee and submit additional testimony."

Gunn said Senate State Affairs Committee chairman Sen. Walt Yarbrough, R-Grand View, should have allowed small, independent phone companies and consumer groups to testify on the revised version of the bill.

Yarbrough closed testimony after a lengthy Wednesday night meeting in which Mountain representatives, some independent phone company representatives and representatives of long-distance competitors of Mountain Bell testified.

Gunn was not in Boise Friday for the afternoon meeting in which the Senate State Affairs Committee voted to send the deregulation bill to the full Senate for a vote.

Though representatives of consumer groups such as Idaho Fair Share testified on an earlier version of the bill and a speaker for senior citizens testified Wednesday, they were not allowed to speak Friday.

"I'm sure there's nothing they could have said that would have given us any information that would have helped us make up our minds," Yarbrough said after the meeting.

Idaho Fair Share lobbyist Bruce Wenigmann called Yarbrough's decision to shut down testimony "totally outrageous" after the meeting and said his group will be lobbying the Senate to kill the bill.

Yarbrough said he has received many phone calls and letters concerning the bill from people who "don't know what they're talking about."

"My judgment is that the action we took will, in the long run, protect them... more than if the bill isn't passed," Yarbrough said.

Gunn said the bill, if passed, will allow long distance phone rates to increase and will eventually drive up local phone rates.

"If this bill passes, Idaho will be famous for more than potatoes," because it will have one of the lowest deregulation bills in the country, Gunn said.

The Filer-Telephone executive said he is firing off letters to members of the Senate to urge them to vote against the bill.

Talks continue on records-access bill

BOISE (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee has delayed definitive action on controversial legislation limiting access to some law enforcement records while government officials and the news media continue talks toward a compromise.

Deputy Attorney General Pat Kole conceded on Friday the original proposal had major flaws, and he said the while negotiations toward a compromise had begun, "what progress is not yet complete."

Both he and Stephen Hartgen, managing editor of The Times-News and president of the Idaho Press Club, said the negotiations had yielded a proposal patterned after the federal Freedom of Information Act but that details were still in dispute.

But while Hartgen said he was willing to continue the talks into next week, he added, "I am not at all confident an agreement can be reached in the time limits."

Hartgen expressed concern over the fact that the pending proposal did not specifically follow the federal law and left open the possibility that local police officials could indiscriminately decide what would and would not be made available to reporters.

Kole said the talks were aimed at coming up with a plan "to make sure the information that is vital to the public is disseminated" while at the same time giving law enforcement agencies the ability to effectively conduct investigations.

The bill was prompted by a state Supreme Court decision that appeared to open up to public scrutiny all government records unless state law specifically closed them. The attorney general's office, the Department of Law Enforcement and local prosecutors have contended that would undermine criminal investigations.

The fact that the bill carries a clause putting it into effect immediately upon signing by the governor has also raised concern among some news organization officials who fear it is being rushed through the Legislature to cover up some major probe.

But Kole said the attorney general has asked for the so-called emergency clause because without it several current investigations could be compromised.

The original bill overwhelmingly passed by the House would have allowed the attorney general's office and state and local police agencies to withhold records of complaints, investigations, intelligence and office security procedures.

Tom Grote, legislative co-chairman of the Idaho Newspaper Association and publisher of the Central Idaho Star-News in McCall, and Hartgen said they recognize law enforcement's need to have some records protected and do not seek investigative information such as confidential source lists or witness interviews.

But, Hartgen said, the proposal could institutionalize the practice of withholding information he considers public — offense and accident reports, arrest records, jail rosters, and internal records on budget and personnel.

Money woes have put department in jeopardy, commerce chief says

The Associated Press and The Times-News

BOISE — Unless the Legislature restores at least $150,000 in lost funds to the Idaho Department of Commerce, the department's economic development division will have to curtail two of its three key programs, the department director says.

Director David Porter said Thursday he would have to eliminate the jobs of four employees in fiscal year 1987 out of a division staff of eight if the Legislature fails to restore the money.

The department is suffering from a 4 1/2 percent holdback of funds ordered last fall by Gov. John Evans and the expected loss of an estimated $147,000 in federal revenues.

To date, Porter has avoided laying off any employees. But the state holdback has pulled back most travel and some other operations.

"We just had to shut things down, except what we can operate locally or hook up to other travel," said Keri Tueller, deputy director, in February. The department's general funds revenues pay most salaries, he said.

In the coming fiscal year, the department faces the elimination of two Economic Development Administration grants Oct. 1, along with reductions in Department of Defense and Community Development Block Grant funds.

Porter said he will have to curtail two programs, international trade and business recruitment. The department would continue to operate its program to aid existing businesses in the state, he said.

"Clearly, we can't do all of those services with four people," Porter said. "We'll have to reduce our efforts and do almost nothing in international marketing and industrial recruitment. I feel it's important to maintain assistance to existing businesses. They pay the taxes."

The governor has asked the Legislature to appropriate $765,000 to the department for fiscal 1987, slightly more than twice the $351,700 it received last year. Of that, $415,000 would go toward economic development-related activities.

Unless the lost state and federal funds are restored, Idaho's per capita expenditure on economic development would plunge to 16 cents from 29 cents last year, Porter said.

Oregon is expected to spend $5.22 per person, while the Utah and Montana legislatures have appropriated $3.42 and $1.97 per person, respectively.

Porter said a Kansas Department of Commerce study shows that Idaho's economic development division already is the smallest in the United States. "And from my examination of the figures, they are 50 percent of the state that is 49th," he said.

City attorney: Workload requires more staff

By ANNETTE CARY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls City Attorney Shane Bengoechea is asking for a larger legal staff to cope with expanding duties.

Already, comparably sized cities in the state keep twice as many lawyers and clerks busy, he says.

Twin Falls employs one attorney, and a secretary, to prosecute criminal cases, handle civil cases against the city, advise the City Council and, in recent months, handle insurance claims.

However, Lewiston employs two full-time attorneys and a part-time intern who are backed up with a full-time and a part-time clerk. Coeur d'Alene's legal staff is even-larger with two full-time attorneys, two part-time attorneys and more than two clerks.

Bengoechea says that the legal duties he is required to perform have increased during the past year and promise to continue to expand. He outlined changes in a memo written at the council's request.

Twin Falls County Prosecutor K. Ellen Baxter notified Bengoechea last month that her office will be cutting back on the work it does for the city.

Now the county prosecutes felonies that occur within the city and the city attorney handles misdemeanors. However, three or four city cases each week are filed as felonies but determined by county officials to be misdemeanors.

The county has continued to handle those duties in the past but will pass them back to the city in the future, according to a letter from Baxter.

In addition, she says she will carefully screen "conflict cases" such as those filed against employees of the cities or friends of the city's legal employees. The county has handled all of those in the past, at the city's request but "will no longer be so generous," according to Baxter's letter.

The city caseload will increase by three or four cases a week as a result, Bengoechea says. "That seems small but is significant, considering staff time to research, investigate, plea bargain or prepare and try such cases given the (size of) the staff," he says.

Already the city is cutting corners compared to prosecutors for Twin Falls County, Ada County and Boise, he says. A city representative can often not attend sentences and other hearings where defense attorneys appear to argue their side, leaving no one to protect the interests of the victim and the city, he says.

A decision of the Legislature has also added to Bengoechea's workload. Since Oct. 1, 1985, he has been required to attend hearings regarding restitution for victims and later confirm that payments have been made. In the past city attorneys have made written restitution recommendations to the judge to avoid sitting through lengthy hearings.

Now, if the city attorney is not present at the hearing and the defendant objects to the amount of restitution, the victim collects nothing. He may then sue the city for negligence, Bengoechea says.

About 50 percent of the city's cases involve restitution, he says.

A third change in city procedures has also increased the legal workload. Late in 1985, Obenchin Insurance began asking the city to handle minor claims against the city to keep its insurance rates from increasing. Much of the work of processing, investigating and settling claims, as well as writing the final brief, has fallen to the legal department, Bengoechea says.

More recently, the city changed to a self-insurance program which means all claims will now go through the city's legal department.

Worth the wait

Fans seeking good seats at Friday night's College of Southern Idaho men's basketball bi-regional playoff game had to arrive about four hours before tip-off to take a place in line. This line extended nearly to the south parking lot before the gymnasium doors were opened at 5:30 p.m. The Golden Eagles defeated Arizona Western, 118-73, to claim a spot in the national playoffs.

Andrus names local executives to advisory council

By The Associated Press and The Times-News

BOISE — Governoratorial Democratic candidate Cecil Andrus has named three Magic Valley-area executives to a new advisory committee made up of Idaho business leaders.

Andrus said in an announcement Friday he is convening the group to form a lasting partnership between business and government that will improve the state economy.

"There is no denying that we have been through some tough economic times," Andrus said, "but by the same token there have been some real success stories in Idaho. The members of this business advisory committee are examples of that success."

"I think with my aggressive business program, the right ideas and positive attitude, we can restore that confidence, get the economy rolling and build a better Idaho," he said.

Andrus selected Arthur F. "Skip" Oppenheimer, president and chief executive officer of Oppenheimer Companies, Inc., Boise, to chair the committee.

Three executives from the Magic and Wood River valleys will serve on the committee. They are: Pat Florence, president of Independent Meat Co. in Twin Falls; Chip Fisher, president of Snug Co., Ketchum; and G. "Bud" Newcomb of G.T. Newcomb Co., Ketchum.

Other members of the advisory committee include executives from financial, timber and retailing companies. They are: James J. Curran, president and chief executive officer of First Interstate Bank of Boise; Peter S. O'Neill, president of River Run Development Co., Boise; Harry F. Magnuson, H.F. Magnuson Co. at Wallace; Gary Michael, vice chairman of the board and chief financial officer for Albertson's Inc., Boise; Fred Humphreys, chairman and chief executive officer of Moore Financial Group, Boise, and Dick Bennett, president of Bennett Lumber Co., Prineville.

The list also includes Robert Hansberger, chairman and chief executive officer of Futura Industries, Boise; Roger Martell, partner in charge, Touche Ross and Co., Boise; Phil Barber, Boise attorney.

Too early to predict 'hopper populations

By KENNETH A. BROWN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — With spring just around the corner Magic Valley farmers are beginning to make plans for planting. For some farmers, thoughts are also turning to grasshoppers.

But "while a lot of people would like to make a prediction," Roger Pollard, head of the U.S. Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service office in Twin Falls, said "it just isn't possible to tell what the upcoming season will bring in the way of grasshoppers."

There have been some reports of an early hatch in the Bruneau and Mountain Home areas, Pollard said, but none of those reports have been confirmed by APHIS personnel.

Last fall the Associated Press reported that BLM grasshopper surveys were finding significant populations of grasshoppers in September along the Snake River

Plain from Oneida County to the Oregon border.

Some areas, according to the AP story, had only spotty infestations while other sites had more than eight insects per square yard — above the levels at which spraying is considered economical.

Although the high fall levels were not encouraging, the real key to this year's grasshopper infestation will be spring weather. Because grasshopper eggs are laid in the soil, they are immune to harsh weather conditions throughout the winter.

In spring, they begin to hatch with warm weather. If that warm weather is followed by cold wet conditions, the hatch will be killed.

In spite of the warm weather of the past two weeks, however, there is still no hatch, according to APHIS.

As Pollard pointed out, those waiting for some word on the upcoming grasshopper situation will have to wait a little longer.

Murder suspect arrested

Ex-husband charged with Kimberly native's death

By BONNIE BAIRD-JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A Kimberly man says the arrest of his ex-son-in-law March 3 on a murder charge in California supports his original contention that the man had killed his daughter.

George Hammond Brown, 40, an insurance man, has been charged with masterminding the fatal shooting of Nancy Whitehead Brown, Aug. 18, 1985, in her Robner Park, Calif., home.

Also in custody in California is Rip Martin Hodson, suspected of the actual shooting. Hodson, police say, has told them he was hired by Brown to kill the former Kimberly resident for $10,000 and a car belonging to the victim.

The dead woman's father, William Whitehead, said a police lieutenant called him at 4 a.m. March 3, to advise him that both men had been arrested. Whitehead said he was told that investigation and questioning of the two indicated Brown had a life insurance policy on his former wife of about $10,000, and he allegedly hired Hodson to kill her. Police said the policy shows Brown is the agent who wrote it.

Whitehead said his daughter married Brown in 1974 and later divorced him. However, she allowed him to move back into her home last summer on a trial basis "to prove himself," Whitehead said.

"My wife and I suspected him right away when we were told of her (Nancy's) death. It just couldn't have been anyone else; and we told the police that," Whitehead said.

He said his daughter was ambushed in her home when she returned from work early one morning. Whoever entered apparently had a key to the house as it was locked and dark, officers told the parents.

California authorities said a break in the case came a few days before Brown was arrested March 3. An informant told police his conscience was bothering him and he wanted to admit first-hand knowledge of the shooting.

The informant said he accompanied Hodson to the Brown home the morning of the murder and waited outside. He said Hodson took a baked potato (to silence the gun) into the Brown home and killed Nancy Brown with her own .22-caliber rifle.

The shooting took place about 7:30 a.m. when she entered the home after her work as a hospital laboratory technician.

Officers said Brown was on a trip to San Diego and Las Vegas, Nev., and left a "trail of paper transcripts" to support his story that he could not have committed the murder.

However, Brown was tied to an association with Hodson when he allegedly wrote a check to pay Hodson for his work and when police found that Hodson was issued a traffic citation about a month ago while driving Brown's Cadillac.

Hodson told police Brown was the man who hired him to do the killing. In exchange for his cooperation, he was charged with first-degree homicide — that carries a 25-year-to-life sentence. Brown faces a first-degree murder charge with special circumstances charge. If convicted, he could receive a death sentence.

When arrested, Brown was in the lobby of his psychiatrist's office and was carrying $1,400 in cash, officers told Whitehead.

"You hear about this sort of thing happening to other people, but you never understand the impact of it until it happens to you and your family," Whitehead said of the murder of his daughter. "I think I can sleep nights now. We (he and his wife) have been uplight for the past six months."

He said the arrest of Brown doesn't bring their daughter back, but it somehow softens the blow.

Nancy Whitehead Brown, 34, was a graduate of Kimberly High School and one of four children in the Whitehead family.

Western Days will ride again, say merchants

By ANNETTE CARY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Area residents will get a little Western spirit in their lives May 27 to June 1 with the fourth annual Twin Falls Western Days celebration.

Western Days Co-Chairman Wes Gates says local merchants have come up with enough money to sponsor the event without depending on funds from the Greater Twin Falls Area Chamber of Commerce.

The Western Days tradition will continue with events similar to those held last year.

Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association competition will be the highlight, with rodeos scheduled in Twin Falls for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, he says. Rodeo roundup dances will again be held after each day's events at the Turf Club.

The final day of the celebration will feature a musical Jamboree from noon to 6 p.m., he says.

There was some doubt early in the week as to whether there would be a Western Days celebration this year, Gates says. "On Monday local merchants wrote checks for a total of $500 to sponsor the celebration."

However, by Thursday 25 businesses had agreed to contribute

$50 and Randy Hansen of Randy Hansen Chevrolet, who was afraid the event would be discontinued, had written a check for $5,000 to underwrite Western Days.

Hansen's contribution will be used to start a permanent fund for Western Days and to underwrite current expenses, Gates says. About half is an outright donation, he says.

In the past the Chamber of Commerce has sponsored the event and made as much as $5,000 annually available for Western Days.

Making the transition to a community-sponsored event is important for the celebrations continued success, however, Gates says. Leaving the chamber will give Western Days "a tremendous opportunity for growth," he says. Now anyone in the community, not just chamber members, will be able to participate in planning and organizing Western Days, he says.

Western Days was started as a celebration of life in the Magic Valley, Gates says. "We're really after a good time," he says.

A Western theme was picked to bind the area together and remind people of their common heritage, he says. The event's traditional theme, "Put a Little Western Spirit in Your Life," will be used again this year, he says.

Hansen makes Democratic bid for Senate seat

By RONDATAYLOR
Times-News correspondent

BURLEY — Grant Hansen, former chairman of the Mini-Cassia Democratic party, announced Friday he will run for the Idaho Senate in the May primary election.

A teacher at West Minico Junior High, Hansen is seeking the District 24 seat now held by Sen. Denton Darrington, R-Deerlodge. District 24 is comprised of portions of Jerome County and all of Cassia and Minidoka counties.

In a prepared statement, Hansen accused the 1986 Legislature of being "Indecisive and unresponsive" to the needs of the people of Idaho.

"There is much that the state Legislature could have done to help remedy our depressed economy, but they have been weak, disinclined, and afraid to act," Hansen charged.

Improving the economy should be the "number one priority" of state government, according to Hansen. To accomplish this, he believes Idaho must work to obtain a better business climate.

He says he would also like to improve the education system and find solutions for the financial plight of area farmers.

Major tax reforms are anticipated by Hansen, who claimed Republican leaders have hinted at this by calling the recently adopted 1 percent sales tax increase a "stop gap measure."

"There will be tax reform," he said. "What I'm concerned about is that it be fair."

This is Hansen's second bid for political office. He ran for the former District 25 seat in 1978 opposite Ernest Hale, but was defeated.

He holds a master's degree in government from Brigham Young University and has interned with the clerk of the U.S. House of Representatives. He was appointed by Gov. John Evans to attend the White House Conference on Families in Los Angeles after in 1980.

Hansen lives in Burley with his wife, Tina, and their four children.

Briefly

Residential areas report burglaries

TWIN FALLS — Burglaries and thefts continued to mount in Twin Falls this week with a number of residential areas reporting visits by burglars.

Among those reported Wednesday in Twin Falls police was the theft of $1,168 in assorted items from the residence of Jerry Jones at 551 Buchanan St. Jones reported to police that sometime between Nov. 15 and Tuesday, someone entered the back yard of his home and took a tent, bicycle, lawn and garden equipment. He said the bicycle was on a patio at the rear of the house and the other items were in an unlocked storage building in the back yard.

Roger Will of Nampa reported the theft of a $425 guitar. He said he left the instrument on a music stand at the Wingback Lounge at 1749 Kimberly Road, after performing there until early Tuesday morning. Later in the day, he discovered it had been taken after closing hours at the lounge.

Police reported a suspect, Michael J. Jenkins, 19, of Twin Falls has been charged with grand theft. Jenkins worked in cleaning service at the lounge.

A handicapped man told police that two men picked him up while he was hitchhiking on Blue Lakes Boulevard Tuesday evening. Douglas Kippes of Twin Falls said the men took him down-town, then threatened him with a knife and forced him to write a check. He said he wrote a check for $4, but it was altered to show $41 and the men attempted to cash it at Albertson's Food Center. The manager refused and the two left. Police said their investigation was continuing.

Fire department dance tonight

HANSEN — Dancing and door prizes are planned for tonight's annual fund-raiser to benefit the Hansen Volunteer Fire Department.

Held at the Hansen Eagles Lodge, music will be provided by the Rhythmites. Door prizes include a $100 gift certificate for beef, dinner certificates and a quilt made by the women of the Hansen Fire Department. A cake auction will also be held.

The Eagles Lodge is "on the borderline of closing its doors," according to Hansen Mayor Tom Butler, and has been unable to purchase a liquor license this year. Recent action by the City Council required liquor licenses to be purchased for a full year, not per month as before.

Liquor will not be sold during the dance, but participants may bring their own. Tickets will be available for the dance cost $5 per couple or $3 single. Extra raffle tickets will be available at the door.

SCCAA seeks board members

JEROME — The South-Central Community Action Agency is seeking a northern counties representative and alternate to the private sector on its board of Directors. Any service club, agency or organization may petition for the seat.

SCCAA is a private, non-profit corporation with offices in Twin Falls, Jerome and Cassia counties and with services extending into an eight-county area. Other counties included are Gooding, Lincoln, Camas, Blaine and Minidoka.

The Board of Directors is comprised of three sectors: public (county commissioner), low-income and private. This board is the governing body for all SCCAA programs. Some of these programs include Head Start, LIHEAP, Weatherization, Commodities and Guardian Aid Litem.

Anyone interested in petitioning for this seat or more information may call Mary Lee Pfeiffer at 234-8855 or stop at the office at 115 1st Ave. East in Jerome by May 15.

Continuing education offered

TWIN FALLS — Several Continuing Education classes are scheduled to begin later this month at the College of Southern Idaho.

On March 24, Joan Holloway will begin her "Spinning Workshop," which meets from 7 to 10 p.m. in Shields building, room 106 for four sessions. The fee is $20.

A Home Gardening class begins March 25, with Dan Peterson as the instructor. The four-session class meets from 7 to 9 p.m. in Shields building, room 106, and the fee is $20.

A photography class begins March 31, meeting Mondays from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. through May 4 in the Art Center. Wes Wada, CSI Art Department, will be the instructor, and the fee is $35.

For more information on these classes call 733-9554, ext. 363 or preregister in the Taylor Administration Building.

After a year, Hollister LDS ward finally ready to dedicate building

HOLLISTER — When Hollister's Mormon Bishop Tom Williams says, "We just ran out of room," he's talking square feet, not square miles. The congregation over which Bishop Williams presides stretches from Jarbidge, Nev., to the Salmon Truck south of Filer. Of the seven LDS wards that make up the 2,200-member Filer Stake of the LDS Church, the Hollister Ward is the largest in area.

For two of its families, going to church on Sunday means a 150-mile round trip, most of it on dirt roads, snow roads or mud roads depending on the season.

To meet the challenge of rapid membership growth over an extensive territory, the Hollister Latter-day Saints rely on the pioneering spirit for which they are already well known. They rebuilt their church in Hollister, then started up a new congregation 50 miles away in Three Creek.

"Now we have 21 teaching areas, a library, full kitchen, and a large hall for socials and cultural events," Williams said in a news release. The building has been finished nearly a year, but the official dedication won't be until 5 p.m. Sunday. "We just wanted to make sure everything worked the way it was supposed to," Williams explained.

An open house is scheduled at the new building from 1 to 9 p.m. today.

The open house will feature displays and demonstrations—and a special youth music program. Refreshments will be served. Williams invites the public to attend both the open house today and the dedication services on Sunday.

With a new congregation—they call it Home Sunday School—in Three Creek, 25 Hollister ward members won't have far to travel on Sundays. The Sunday School meets in the Three Creek schoolhouse and draws its members from Three Creek, House Creek, Murphy Hot Springs and Jarbidge.

George Swan is the president of the Sunday School and will work under the direction of Williams.

Williams is a 1985 graduate of Buhl High School. He was active in music and athletics, received the J.P. Sousa Musical Award, was four-year participant in Clinic Band and played one year in the Idaho All-State Band. Williams also received his Arrow of Light, Duty to God and Eagle Award in scouting.

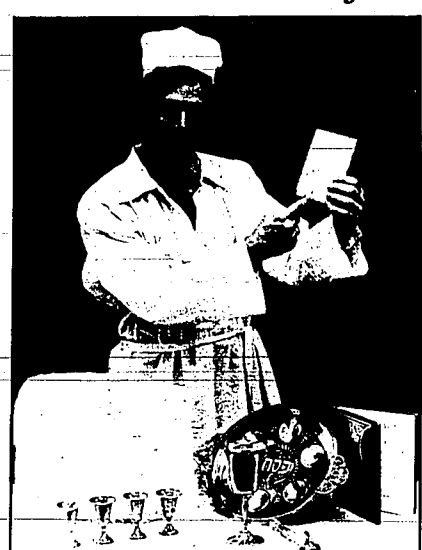

LDS chapel on Main Street. The public is invited to attend.

TWIN FALLS — "Hallelujah, What a Savior," one of the most popular Easter Cantatas ever written, will be presented by the First Christian Church Choir on Palm Sunday, March 23, during the regular Sunday morning service at 11 a.m.

The Cantata, composed by John Peterson, includes favorites such as, "Tis Midnight and on Olives Brow," "He Carried the Cross for Me," "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross," and "Christ Arose."

Solos will be performed by Ferris Sweet, Jim Reynolds, Mary Ann Sweet and Shirley Vernon, and a duet by Erna Jean Parish and Chris Stinecker. Director Mary Nelson, piano accompanist Sylvia Osterman, narrator Ray Rostron and the 22-to 25-voice choir invite all to attend this 50-minute sermon in song. An hour of fellowship will be held after the service.

Jews for Jesus evangelist to help Christians learn of Jewish roots

Keith Halberg of Jews for Jesus will present 'Christ in the Passover' to a Twin Falls audience on Thursday.

TWIN FALLS — What do the Jewish Passover and Jesus' Last Supper have in common? Keith Halberg, staff evangelist for Jews for Jesus, will answer that question as he presents "Christ in the Passover" at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Twin Falls Church of the Nazarene, 401 6th Ave. N.

The purpose of the "Christ in the Passover" presentation is to enhance the Christian understanding of the New Testament by showing a Jewish background for the Communion celebration. Ancient and modern Jewish customs are discussed and described with an emphasis on the aspect of redemption that Christ accomplished at Calvary.

A table is set with the traditional Jewish Passover items, including symbolic foods which are explained, but not eaten. Many of the elements of the Passover feast are observed by Orthodox Jews today in the same manner that they were in Jesus' time.

Jews for Jesus gives these presentations as an invitation for believers to focus to learn about the Jewish roots of their faith. Non-Christians are invited, as well, to come and observe how Jews for Jesus see Christ in the Passover. Child care for children to 5 years of age will be provided. For more information, call the church at 733-6610.

Exercises slated off Libya

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States will stage its third naval exercise of the year off the coast of Libya this weekend, but the exercise will be limited in scope compared with the previous maneuvers, Pentagon sources said Friday.

The source described the weekend's maneuvers, which will revolve around a single aircraft carrier instead of two, as "a small tune-up" for what could be a three-carrier exercise later in the month.

Other sources continued to insist, however, that no final decision had been made on conducting that much larger exercise.

The Defense Department and Navy, following their normal practice, refused to discuss details of this weekend's exercise beyond confirming that a Notice of Intent to conduct flight operations within the so-called Tripoli flight-control region had been filed on Thursday.

Couple ruled legal parents

DETROIT (AP) — A circuit judge on Friday declared a couple the legal biological parents of an unborn child being carried for them by a surrogate mother.

The attorney for the couple said it was the nation's first legal opinion on determining the parentage of a child conceived from the egg and sperm of a couple but carried by and born to a surrogate mother.

The interim order by Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Brianne O. Detman will become permanent following blood tests after the infant's birth.

The ruling may pave the way for couples unable to conceive children to use the womb of a surrogate mother to give birth to a baby conceived in a test tube using the infertile couple's sperm and egg.

The surrogate mother received a fee of $5,000 to $10,000 for bearing the child, said attorney Noel Keane, who declined to identify the parents or the surrogate mother.

Police shoot tire, foil hijack

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A man put a gun to a co-pilot's head aboard an otherwise-empty Delta Air Lines jet Friday and ordered him to take off, but police shot out a tire on the plane and the gunman surrendered, police said.

The suspect gave himself up to the co-pilot aboard the DC-9, said Delta spokesman Jim Ewing in Atlanta.

The man, Martin Earl Mitchell, 30, of Daytona Beach, was armed with a .25-caliber revolver and would be charged with air piracy, said FBI spokesman Dave Stark in Jacksonville.

The man rushed aboard the plane, Flight 655, after all passengers had gotten out when it landed at Daytona Beach Regional Airport from Atlanta, authorities said.

The plane had begun taxiing to a runway for takeoff when the rear tire was shot out, sheriff's deputies said.

FAA seeks $9.5 million fine

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration, after a lengthy inspection that uncovered numerous safety violations, is seeking a record $9.5 million fine against Eastern Airlines, according to government sources.

Although the amount of the proposed civil penalty is still negotiable, one source said Friday the FAA "is hanging tough" on the $9.5 million figure, which would make it by far the largest fine ever levied against a commercial airline.

Another government source, who also asked not to be identified, suggested the FAA is pushing for the large fine because agency officials do not believe Eastern, the country's third largest air carrier, has moved quickly enough to correct maintenance and record-keeping deficiencies.

Lehman named to arms post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Moving quickly to fill a vacancy on his arms negotiating team, President Reagan on Friday nominated Ronald E. Lehman, a national security expert, as chief representative at the strategic weapons talks with the Soviet Union.

Lehman will replace former Sen. John Tower, who this week announced plans to step down in April as negotiator of the Geneva Strategic Arms Reduction Talks (START).

Lehman, 39, is a deputy assistant to the president for national security affairs as well as Tower's deputy at the arms talks. The START negotiations are one of three sets of meetings that have been under way in Geneva for a year. The other discussions are on space systems and medium range weapons.

Secretary of State George P. Shultz, presenting Lehman at a brief news conference, expressed disappointment in the lack of progress at the talks and blamed the Soviets for the slow pace.

"While the United States has put forward proposals in all three sets of negotiations," he said, "As yet we have not seen a real response from the Soviet Union."

His comments echoed negotiators' assessments that the just-completed fourth round of the talks had achieved little.

"I just wish more progress had been made and we were certainly prepared for more progress," Shultz said. "We're there, we're ready, we'd like to see the radical reductions that were called for" by Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev at their summit last November.

"There is a lot of action in Geneva, potentially," the secretary said. "Our positions are there and we're prepared for the give and take that is normal in any negotiation."

Shultz said Lehman had "tremendous ability, background and knowledge" to handle the negotiator's job.

Union cuts off Hormel strikers' benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) — The parent union of 1,000 striking Hormel meatpackers in Minnesota cut off their strike benefits Friday and ordered leaders of the renegade local to end the 7-month-old walkout.

The United Food and Commercial Workers union lifted its sanction of the strike at Geo. A. Hormel & Co.'s pork processing plant at Austin, Minn., and said it would seek direct negotiations, bypassing the leadership of its dissident P-9 local, with the company on a new contract.

"I officially called off the strike," UFCW President William Wynna said at a news conference. "Many more jobs could be lost if the strike is not ended."

"The UFCW is unwilling to watch one of the largest and most modern plants in the industry go non-union because Local P-9's leadership is incapable of settling their strike," he said.

In a directive to James Guyette, the president of the P-9 local in Austin, Wynna said that "to continue to sanction or authorize the strike can only lead to further division, further suffering and further loss of jobs of good union members."

Guyette, who was in New York City for a labor rally Friday night, said in a telephone interview that he was unsure of the legal status

Bill would make tax permanent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate on Friday passed an amended version of a deficit-reduction package left over from last year that would funnel about $2 billion in offshore oil-drilling revenues to central states and permanent the 16-cent-a-pack federal cigarette tax and rewrite federal tobacco programs.

However, a continued impasse over the measure with the House meant that the provision on the expiring federal cigarette tax could not go into effect.

Thus, the tax was automatically falling to eight cents a pack at midnight Friday.

The Senate passed its version of the complicated three-year, $18 billion package of budget savings on a voice vote, sending it back to the House where further action is expected next week.

Last week, the House voted 314-86 for a different version of the measure. That strong vote indicated the House was not likely to easily give up on the bill it passed, leaving the future of the legislation uncertain.

The bill, mandated by the budget Congress adopted last August, was meant to help trim federal red ink.

Lucky fall victim lands on a couch

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — Police say a pregnant woman knocked over a 20-foot cliff by a speeding car was saved by a "one-in-a-million lucky break" when she landed on a padded couch.

Heldi Geoghegan and Richard Schraeder-of-nearby Ben-Lomond were strolling along the cliff at Lighthouse Point on Thursday when the pregnant woman indicated by a drunk man-ager went off the road, struck them and plunged over the cliff, said Sgt. Tom Watson.

Geoghegan's fall was cushioned by an old, broken couch on the rocks below. She was treated briefly for scrapes at a hospital and released. Schraeder, who also fell over the cliff, was unharmed.

Ecuadoran troops recapture air base

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Government soldiers backed by tanks and cannon recaptured an air base Friday that had been seized by the armed forces of a renegade general who was hiding and arrested, officials said.

Government press spokesman Galo Vargas said Gen. Frank Vargas was captured inside a building at the Quito air base, where he hid for six hours after 2,000 soldiers recaptured from Vargas.

Government spokesman Patricio Quevedo said that Vargas, who seized the air base Thursday night and called on his supporters to march on the government palace to restore "true social democracy," was taken by helicopter to an undisclosed military facility. He said Vargas did not resist arrest once he was found by government soldiers.

Earlier, Quevedo said in a statement broadcast over all radio stations, under government control as part of a state of emergency, that four people were killed and nine were wounded during the attack on the base.

The dead included two soldiers loyal to the government and two civilians killed under unclear circumstances, he said. Two soldiers loyal to Vargas and seven government soldiers were reported wounded.

Quevedo said the attack was planned to "reduce to the minimum the number of victims. Orders were given to shoot into the air, not at bodies."

Radio Quito earlier reported government troops took about 400 prisoners.

Before the battle Vargas had told a news conference President Leon Febres Cordero should resign and turn over power to the vice president.

"I am determined to continue despite the differences (in forces), since outside they have tanks, heavy arms, which should be used to defend national sovereignty," Vargas said.

U.N. charges gas use

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Iraq has used chemical weapons against Iran, the United Nations chief charged Friday. It was the first time the United Nations has blamed Iraq by name for using poison gas in the six-year-old Persian Gulf war.

Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar, in a note to the Security Council, cited a report by four experts in chemical warfare who visited Iraq Feb. 28 to March 3. The experts concluded that "on many occasions, Iraqi forces have used chemical weapons against Iranian forces."

Perez de Cuellar said he "cannot but note with regret that the specialists have confirmed the use of chemical weapons by Iraqi forces against Iranian forces."

He said he "strongly condemns the use of chemical weapons wherever and whenever this may occur" and that case is in violation of the Geneva Protocol of 1925 outlawing chemical warfare.

Although it was the third U.N. investigation of chemical warfare in the war, it was the first time the blame was laid on Iraq.

Soviets expel U.S. diplomat on spy charges

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union on Friday ordered a U.S. diplomat out of the country and accused him of spying. The move came a week after Washington ordered cutbacks in personnel at the Soviet U.N. mission in New York.

KGB agents in Moscow on Monday detained U.S. diplomat Michael Sellers "in flagrante delicto as he was having a clandestine meeting with a Soviet citizen recruited by U.S. intelligence," the official news agency

Tass said.

In a short report, Tass said an investigation "produced evidence fully implicating the staff member of the U.S. embassy in intelligence-gathering activities incompatible with his official status."

Tass did not say how long Sellers was held or give further details of the incident. It said the report came from the KGB security police.

U.S. Embassy spokesman Jaroslav Verner confirmed Sellers was declared persona non grata Friday but had no further comment. The embassy has a policy of not commenting on Soviet allegations of spying by U.S. diplomats.

In Washington, State Department spokesman Bernard Kalb said he knew nothing about the expulsion.

Sellers, a second secretary who specialized in Soviet relations with Eastern Europe and previously served in Poland and Ethiopia, could not be reached at home or through the U.S. Embassy.

Sellers is the first U.S. diplomat ordered out of the Soviet Union since June, when authorities detained and then expelled diplomat Paul Stombaugh because of what the Soviets said was a major espionage mission.

The expulsion of Sellers comes a week after the United States ordered the Soviets to cut the size of their missions at the United Nations in New York from 279 to 170 by April 1988.

Group says it pulled off kidnapping

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A hitherto unknown group said Friday it carried out last week's abduction of a four-man French television crew and was holding them to protest France's "bolstered interference" in Lebanon's internal affairs.

Earlier Friday, the extremist Shiite Moslem organization Islamic Jihad produced a videotape of three other French captives and warned it was giving the French government a last chance to meet its demands.

A claim purporting to come from the previously unheard of Revolutionary Justice Organization was delivered to a Western news agency in Beirut along with photocopies of identity cards of two of the Antenne-2 television hostages — George Hansen, 45, a cameraman, and Jean-Louis Normandin, 34, a lighting engineer.

The others held were correspondent Philippe Rochot, 39, and soundman Aurel Cornea, 54.

The Arabic-language statement made no demands for the men's return. It said the kidnapping was "a warning to the French government . . . to stop its military and political intervention in Lebanon's internal affairs."

It said French truce observers in Beirut and French peacekeeping soldiers with the U.N. Interim Force in Lebanon, deployed in the south constituted an extension of France's "colonialism" in Lebanon.

UNLV rips Northeastern Louisiana behind Jones' scoring

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Anthony Jones scored 19 points and Armon Gilliam added 16 points and grabbed 13 rebounds as 11th-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas overcame a sluggish start to overpower Northeast Louisiana 74-51 in an NCAA West Regional first-round game Friday.

Trailing 15-12 12 minutes into the game, UNLV scored 19 of the final 25 points of the first half, including a streak of 11 straight to take a 31-21 lead at intermission. The Runnin' Rebels cruised home in the second half to post their 31st victory in 35 starts this season.

Gilliam, a 6-foot-9, 230-pounder who operated as an inside against the smaller Indians, had five points in the 11-0 stretch. Jones, who got most of his points on jumpers from 18 feet and more, had four.

Meanwhile, the Runnin' Rebels

West

trapping defense held Northeast Louisiana to just six field goals and a shooting percentage of 25 percent in the first half. During one stretch of 9:59 late in the half, the Indians were held without a field goal, making just four foul shots.

Maryland 69, Pepperdine 64

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — All-America forward Len Bias scored 26 points and Maryland made seven free throws in the final 37 seconds Friday as the Terrapins held off Pepperdine 69-64 in a first-round

NCAA West Regional Tournament. The Terrapins advance to meet 11th-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas, which is seeded fourth in the West Region, in a second-round game Sunday. UNLV overwhelmed Northeast Louisiana 74-51 earlier Friday at the Long Beach Arena.

A three-point play by Bias with 6:25 remaining gave Maryland, seeded fifth in the region, a seemingly safe 54-43 lead, but Pepperdine, the West Coast Athletic Conference champion, battled back.

The Waves, seeded 12th in the West, outscored the Terps 10-3 over the next 3:33 to make it 58-55 with 3:22 left.

go and two more by Bias with three seconds to play kept the Terps on top.

The Waves, who had a nine-game winning streak snapped and finished the season with a 25-5 record, never had possession with a chance to tie or go ahead under the stretch. They had an opportunity to get as close as one point but Grant Godzdzick missed the second free throw after making the first, leaving the score at 62-59 with 38 seconds to go.

St. John's 83, Montana State 74

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Walter Berry, playing on an injured ankle, scored 31 points and grabbed 11 rebounds as sluggish St. John's overcame scrappy Montana State 83-74 in a first-round NCAA Western regional tournament game.

But winning their 31st game in 35 starts wasn't easy for the fourth-ranked Redmen against the only team that entered the tournament with a losing record.

Off guard Hampton dribbling around and through the taller Redmen and Tom Damako and Kral Ferch bombing from outside, the Bobcats led by as many as five points in the first half. Then they caught a streak of nine straight points midway through the second to cut a 14-point St. John's lead to five.

Auburn 73, Arizona 43

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Forward Chuck Person overcame a slow start to score 29 points and lead Auburn to a 73-43 victory over Arizona in a first-round game of the NCAA West Regionals. By winning the nationally televised game, the Tigers qualified to meet fourth-ranked St. John's Saturday at 10:30 p.m. EST in a second-round game at the Long Beach Arena. The Redmen, seeded first in the West Region, advanced by beating Montana State 83-74 earlier Friday night.

The Auburn-Arizona game was close nearly all the way, with neither team leading by more than six points until the Tigers pulled away late in the game.

Auburn went ahead for good on a jump shot by guard Gerald White with 6:06 to play. That made it 56-54 and Person's 10 jumper 1-03 later gave Auburn a four-point lead.

After a free throw by Arizona's Craig McMillan with 4:36 left made it 58-55, Auburn's JMT Moore made a three-point play.

Kentucky romps to 75-55 win over Davidson

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Kenny Walker scored 20 points as third-ranked Kentucky overcame a sluggish start and downed Davidson 75-55 Friday night in the first round of the NCAA Southeast Regional basketball tournament.

The victory set up only the second meeting ever between Kentucky and Western Kentucky in Sunday's second round. Western defeated Nebraska 67-59 in an earlier contest and owns a 107-83 victory over the Wildcats in their only previous meeting — in the 1971 NCAA tournament.

Kentucky's 12th victory in a row was slow to develop as Davidson built a 16-11 lead in the first seven minutes and still led 20-17 with 10 minutes left in the opening half.

Roger Harden then began a 12-0 Kentucky run with a 23-footer and James Blackmon followed with a three-point play off a steal and dunk that gave Kentucky the lead for good at 22-20. The Wildcats' comeback with a 6-6 footer with 4:40 left in the half that put the Southeastern Conference champions ahead 29-20.

Illinois 75, Fairfield 51

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Anthony Welch scored 22 points and 19th-ranked Illinois used intense defensive pressure to break open the game as the Fighting Illini downed Fairfield 75-51 in the first round of the NCAA Southeast Regional basketball tournament Friday.

Welch scored the first 10 points for the Illini and had 16 in the first half when the Big Ten Conference team rolled to a 34-22 lead.

After Fairfield cut the lead to 42-33 with 12:28 left, Illinois again applied defensive pressure and used a 15-run to take command.

It was the sixth straight victory for Illinois, 22-9, in its first meeting with the Stags, who finished at 24-7 after seeing a seven-game winning streak halted.

Southeast

Alabama 97, Xavier 80

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Jim Farmer scored 24 points and Buck Johnson 25 as Alabama never trailed in downing Xavier of Ohio 97-80 in the first round of the NCAA Southeast Regional basketball tournament Friday.

The victory sends the Southeastern Conference runner-up to a second-round matchup on Sunday against No. 19 Illinois, which ousted scrappy Fairfield 75-51 earlier in the day.

Xavier, the Midwestern Collegiate Conference champions, made one run at Alabama four minutes into the second half, cutting a 10-point lead to 49-45 by using two steals in a run that featured two layups by Eddie Johnson and a tip by Richie Harris.

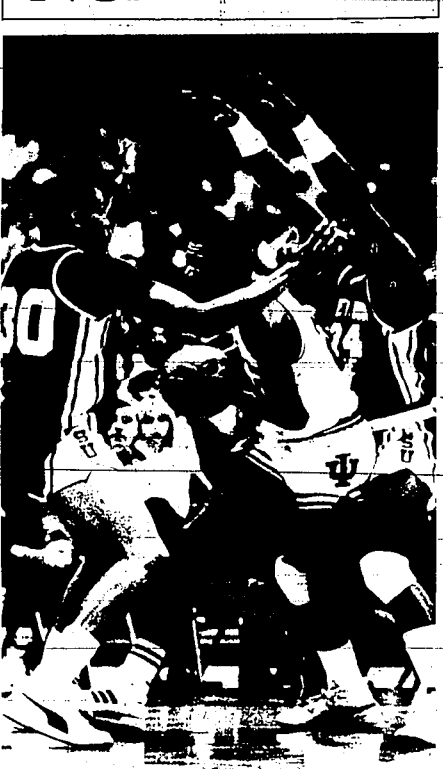

W. Kentucky 67, Nebraska 59

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Kainard Johnson and Clarence Martin scored six points each in a 16-4 stretch in the second half that created the 17-point lead and Western Kentucky survived a Nebraska comeback to down the Cornhuskers 67-59 in the first round of the NCAA Southeast Regional tournament Friday night.

The victory sends the Sun Belt Conference runner-up to Sunday's second round against the winner of Friday night's game between third-ranked Kentucky and Davidson.

Nebraska's Bernard Day had slashed Western's 33-26 halftime lead to five with an 18-footer 14 seconds into the second half and it was two minutes later when Johnson hit two baskets in a row to start the Western surge.

Little Rock drops Irish from midwest

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Pete Myers scored 29 points, Michael Clark 27 and Myron Jackson 22, combining for all but 12 of Arkansas-Little Rock's points, and leading the Trojans to a 90-83 upset over No. 10 Notre Dame on Friday in the first round of the NCAA Midwest Regionals.

UARL, 23-10, will play in Sunday's second-round game against North Carolina State, 19-12, which defeated Iowa 66-64 in a first-round game Friday.

Jackson hit a layup with 3:35 to play to give the Trojans — an unheralded team from the Trans America Conference — the lead for good at 76-75. Myers followed with a three-point play to make it 79-75.

Guard David Rivers, who scored 25 points and almost single-handedly rallied Notre Dame, 23-6, to victory, hit a 15-foot jumper to narrow the deficit to 79-77. But Clarke hit on a drive and UARL made nine of 12 free throws down the stretch to clinch the triumph.

Michigan 70, Akron 64

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Roy Tarpley, a two-time All-Big Ten center, who didn't start for disciplinary reasons, scored 43 points, including a three-point play with 8:03 remaining to open up a close game and lead No. 5 Michigan to a 70-64 NCAA Midwest Regional first-round victory over Akron Friday.

Michigan, 28-4, advances to Sunday's second-round game against the winner of the Miami of Ohio-Iowa State game, which was played later Friday.

Akron, 22-8, led 32-30 at halftime and was still within 49-48 with 8:52 to play before the 6-foot-11 Tarpley, the Big Ten player of the year in 1985, took over.

His basket and free throw ignited an 11-4 spurt that put Michigan up 60-52 with 4:08 to go. Tarpley also had a rebound slam dunk and a blocked shot that led to a basket during the spurt, after which Akron never pulled closer than six points.

Iowa State 81, Miami, Ohio 79

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Jeff Hornacek, whose 15-foot jump shot with 27 seconds left in regulation sent the game into overtime, hit a 22-foot jumper as the buzzer sounded at the end of the extra session to lift Iowa State to an 81-79 NCAA Midwest Regional first-round victory over Miami of Ohio.

Iowa State, 21-10, will play in a second-round game Sunday against No. 5 Michigan, 28-4, a 70-64 first-round winner over Akron earlier Friday.

With four seconds left in overtime, Eric Newsome, who led Miami with 18 points, tied the game at 79-79 with a layup on a controversial goaltending call against Iowa State's Jeff Grayer.

There were two seconds on the clock when Gary Thompkins inbounded to Hornacek, who took two dribbles and launched his game-winning jumper.

N.C. State 66, Iowa 64

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Chris Washburn scored 18 points and led a 10-9 spurt midway through the second half that gave North Carolina State the lead for good Friday night and the Wolfpack held on for a 66-64 NCAA Midwest Regional first-round victory over Iowa.

N.C. State began its decisive rally after two long-range jumpers by Andre Banks gave Iowa, 20-12, a 57-51 lead with 9:45 to play.

First, Nate McMillan hit a 15-foot jumper. Then, Washburn scored his first basket of the second half, rebounding his own miss.

After Tevin Binns tied the game at 57-57 with a 10-footer, Ernie Myers gave the Wolfpack their first lead since early in the contest.

Cleveland State uses tight press to surprise Indiana 83-79

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Cleveland State parlayed a hectic press and Clinton Ranney's 27 points into an 83-79 upset of No. 16 Indiana in the first round of East Regional tournament.

The Vikings, 28-3, advanced to Sunday's second round against St. Joseph's, 26-5, which beat Richmond 60-59 earlier Friday. Indiana was the regional's third seed and Cleveland State was seeded 14th despite ranking second in the nation in scoring with a 90.2 average and first in victory margin.

Indiana, a National Invitation Tournament runner-up last year, bowed out with a 21-8 record. It was Coach Bob Knight's initial first-round loss in the tournament in 15 years of Indiana.

Eric Muss contributed 16 points and Clinton Smith 12 for Cleveland State, which fuels its pressure defense with rapid substitutions.

All-American Steve Papp paced the Hoosiers with 24 points, while

East

Andre Harris added 16, Daryl Thomas 11 and Stew Robinson and Rick Calloway 10 apiece.

The confident Vikings, who shot 53 percent in the first half and then hit 15 of 22 field goal attempts in the second, never led by more than 10 points nor fewer than four in the final period after baskets by Mudd, Smith and Ken McPadden in the first 1:58 put them ahead 51-11.

St. Joseph's 60, Richmond 59

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Maurice Martin scored 21 points, including three free throws in the last 14 seconds, to lead St. Joseph's to a 60-59 first-round NCAA East Regional victory over Richmond Friday.

In Sunday's second round, St. Joseph's will take on Friday's Indiana-Cleveland State winner. Sunday's other pairings at the Carrier Dome match Friday night's winners between Navy-Tulsa and Syracuse-Brown.

St. Joseph's, 26-5, the Atlantic 10 champions, pulled ahead for the first time in the second half, 52-51, on Wayne Williams' two free throws with three minutes left.

Martin hit the front end of a one-and-one with nine seconds left for a 60-57 lead, and reserve Joe Funk got Richmond's last points on driving goal with two seconds left.

Richmond, 27-7, the Colonial Athletic Association runner-up in the regular season, got 25 points from Johnny Newman, 14 in the first half when the Spiders led 30-28.

Navy 87, Tulsa 68

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — David Richmond scored 30 points and Vernon Butler added 24 as No. 17 Navy knocked off Tulsa 87-68 Friday night in a first-round NCAA East Regional basketball game.

Navy, 30-4, will meet Friday night's Syracuse-Brown winner in Sunday's second round. Sunday's other pairing at the Carrier Dome will be Cleveland State vs. St. Joseph's.

Navy posted its 14th straight triumph while snapping Tulsa's six-game winning streak and dropping the Golden Hurricane to 23-9.

Robinson, a 6-foot-11 junior center, hit Butler, a 6-7, 245-pound senior forward, worked inside and from the foul line for a combined 31 points as the Midshipmen took a 41-38 halftime lead.

In the second half, the Middies scored the first seven points to start a 19-6 run that put them on top 60-44 with 11:14 remaining. Robinson and Butler did the bulk of Navy's scoring during the spurt.

Navy boosted its lead to 72-52 with just over seven minutes remaining and coasted the rest of the way.

made their first NCAA appearance since the 1939 inaugural year.

Syracuse 101, Brown 52

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Dwayne Washington and Rafael Addison scored 21 and 17 points, respectively, Friday night to propel No. 9 Syracuse to a 101-52 victory over Brown in the opening round of the NCAA East Regional basketball tournament.

Syracuse, 26-5, took the suspense out of one game midway through the first half of the Ivy League championship 27-2 over a 7-10 span to lead 51-23 at intermission.

Washington had 17 points by then and Addison had 16. Both were benched about five minutes into the second half.

Centee Ronny Salkley scored 12 points, and Rodney Walker, his freshman backup, scored 15 for the Orange.

The game was one of the most lopsided in the 47-year-old tournament. By coincidence, the Bruins, 16-11, advantage with a basket nine seconds shy of intermission.

"We gave up an awful lot of points on the offensive boards in the first half," said Jensen, who stayed with a zone defense throughout the game.

"Our kids just weren't blocking them out."

Then the Knights demonstrated that they, too, knew how to bust a zone defense.

went to a full-court press and forced a Burley turnover with 1:57 on the clock. That resulted in a foul, which the Knights' Jarrod Pirnie used to trim the margin to three points, at 63-59, with 1:42 left. But he missed the bonus shot on the free throw, and Harris' foul put Burley's David Budge on the rebound.

Budge missed the front end of the one-and-one, and the Cats missed two shots at the putback. Kelly got the rebound, missed the shot at the corner end of the floor and turned the ball over under its own basket with 1:04 to play.

Then the Knights made the mistake of fouling Church as he was bringing the ball up court.

Church hit both foul shots, giving the Cats a 65-59 lead with 50 seconds left. Kelly's 6-3 senior center Troy Little scored 16 seconds later, and then fouled Burley's Scott Melling. Melling missed the free throw, Little got the rebound and gave Mooney the opportunity to launch his 10th three-point goal attempt with seven seconds to go.

It was all net, Burley 65, Kelly 64.

Church then inbounded the ball to Newcomb, who was immediately fouled by Heffner. Newcomb made the most of the two-shot foul with four seconds left.

Church, who ended the game with nine points and four assists, said Burley's ability to control the tempo of the game in the second half kept Kelly by bay.

"We knew if we let them run with the ball, we'd have trouble, so we spread our offense out a little bit," he said. "We just wanted to be patient and work the ball into Mike."

Mal-ender, the game with 14 points, and a game-high 12 rebounds, while Newcomb scored 20, including three of five from three-point country.

Melling had 16 points to go with his nine boards. Mooney led everyone with 23 points, including four three-pointers.

Three-point posts: Bubop Kelly, 13-16-64; Burley, 11-11-31; Heffner, 10-11-31; Melling, 10-11-31; Pirnie, 10-11-31; Little, 6-2-24; Heffner, 4-2-2-12; Mooney, 9-11-23; Heffner, 5-11-11; Pirnie, 2-0-2-2; Little, 6-2-24.

Bradley ends long day with Glendale lead

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — Pat Bradley concluded her longest day of golf with a 1-shot lead Friday in the final round of the GNA-Glendale Federal Classic.

Bradley played 30 holes Friday, completing the first round — which was halted by rain Thursday — in the morning, then playing the second round the afternoon.

She carried par 72s for each round, giving her a 1-stroke edge over Amy Alcott. Judy Inkster, Chris Johnson and Judy Rosenthal after each had played 36 holes of the LGFA event.

Second-round tee times were much later than normal because the schedule was adjusted to allow rain but left the golfers to finish their round delayed opening round.

"It was definitely a challenge," said Bradley. "It was a survival of the fittest."

"I started at 7:15 in the morning and finished playing at a quarter of six. It's the longest day I've ever spent on the golf course."

On the golf course, Bradley said she won't have to play any extra holes on Saturday.

Many of the golfers, including first-day co-leaders Shelley Hamlin and Kristi Arrington, were able to complete just five or six holes at Oakmont Country Club before darkness halted play Friday.

Sophomore sets dash record

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Lee McRae, the precocious University of Pittsburgh sophomore, smothered the world indoor best in the men's 55-meter dash Friday night, clocking in 59 seconds in the NCAA Indoor Track and Field Championships at the Myriad.

In becoming the first runner to break six seconds in the event, McRae cracked the previous world indoor best of 6:02, set in 1983 by quadruple Olympic medalist Carl Lewis of the United States.

Another world indoor best fell in the men's 500 meters, as sophomore Roddie Haley of the University of Arkansas was clocked in 1:40.69 in a trial heat leading up to Saturday's final.

The previous best of 1:40.85 was set by University of Florida assistant coach Clarence Daniel at Gainesville, Fla. on Feb. 2, 1986.

It was the second time this year that Haley had broken the mark. On Jan. 17, he ran 1:40.18. But that mark lasted less than two weeks, before Edwin Modified of Villanova University and Bophuthlswana-and-Thomas Johnson of Florida State each ran 1:40.10.

"This is the third time that I've ever run the 500, and only the second time this year," said Haley, the 1985 NCAA outdoor 400 champion. "The 500 isn't my favorite," he said.

In the 55-meter dash, McRae said that he had a feeling he could break the six-second barrier.

"Earlier today, I was joking around with some of the guys and I told them, I was going to break the record," he said.

"I knew that if I got out quick and maintained it all the way through, something good would come out of it."

Jazz batters Spurs 146-121

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Adrian Dantley scored a season-high 47 points as the Utah Jazz defeated the San Antonio Spurs 146-121 in NBA action Friday night.

The Jazz team total was a season-high for the club, beating their previous high of 139 against Dallas.

Dantley scored 27 points in the first half and added 20 in the second half as the Jazz took an early lead and were never threatened.

Clippers 105, Kings 104

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rookie Benoit Benjamin had 26 points and 14 rebounds and Norm Nixon added 19 points Friday night, leading the Los Angeles Clippers to a 105-104 NBA victory over the Sacramento Kings.

Nixon hit a 15-footer to give the Clippers a 102-102 lead with 47 seconds left and, after Cedric Maxwell missed a layup, the Kings could only get a layin by LaSalle Thompson with five seconds to go for the final margin.

Darnell Valentine of the Clippers missed two free throws after being intentionally fouled. After the Kings called a timeout, Reggie Theus missed a 20-footer at the buzzer that hit the rim and bounced away.

Nuggets 101, Pistons 99

Detroit (AP) — Kelly Tripucka scored 21 points as the Detroit Pistons handed the New York Knicks their sixth consecutive NBA loss, a 112-89 decision Friday night.

Center Bill Laimbeer added 18 points for Detroit, while Isiah Thomas and Tony Campbell had 15 each as the Pistons won for the 24th time in their last 30 starts.

Gerald Wilkins led New York with 20 points as the Knicks lost their 10th in a row on the road.

Celtics 121, Hawks 114

ATLANTA (AP) — Larry Bird put Boston ahead to stay with two free throws and then clinched the Celtics' 121-114 NBA victory over Atlanta with a three-point shot with 1:01 remaining Friday night.

The Celtics, who have not lost to the Hawks this year, won their 12th straight on the Hawks' home court, breaking a 13-game Atlanta winning streak at the Omni.

Bird led Boston with 25 points, while Dominique Wilkins paced the Hawks with 42. Kevin McHale had 24 points for the Celtics and led all rebounders with 12, and Robert Parish added 18 points.

Mavericks 129, Blazers 118

DALLAS (AP) — Mark Aguirre scored 35 points and Rolando Blackman added 34 to give the Dallas Mavericks a 129-118 NBA victory over the Portland Trail Blazers Friday night.

The Blazers, who lost their 10th straight road game, despite a 24-point effort by guard Clyde Drexler, had cut a 16-point deficit to 112-108 on a Jerome Kersey tip-in with 4:32 to play. But Blackman hit a basket and a free throw and moments later Aguirre hit an eight-footer as the 22-second clock expired to put Dallas ahead 117-109.

Pacers 114, Bucks 104

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Clint Richardson scored 10 of his 21 points in the third quarter as the Indiana Pacers outscored the Bucks 31-23 on their way to a 114-104 NBA victory Friday night.

Steve Sipanovich scored 22 points for the Pacers, who broke their 14-game losing streak at the Milwaukee Arena. Bill Martin added 20 for Indiana.

It was the third consecutive loss for Milwaukee, which was led by Sidney Moncrief with 25 points. The Bucks played without two injured starters, Craig Hodges and Paul Pressley.

The Pacers trailed by as many as 12 points in the second quarter but rallied to take a 57-55 halftime lead by final five minutes of the second quarter.

Iba leaves Nebraska

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Nebraska basketball Coach Joe Iba resigned Friday night after the Cornhuskers ended the season with a 19-9 record and finished in a second place tie with Iowa State in the Big Eight Conference race.

"I have resigned to pursue another head coaching job," Iba said. "I resigned right after the game."

Iba said he planned to quit the job as soon as Nebraska lost in the tournament, "even if we had made it to the Final Four." He had no further comment.

The announcement came as a surprise to Nebraska players.

"We didn't know anything about it," guard Brian Carr said. "We don't let the press bother us. We just go out and play."

Western Kentucky coach Clem Haskins said he was sorry Iba was resigning.

"I think there's too much pressure put on a man to win at all costs," Haskins said.

10 reasons you should advertise when business gets tough.

Results

Advertising is "news" — about products and services. Most shoppers look for this kind of news in the pages of the daily newspaper. In push times, retailers often experiment with other media. But when the going gets tough, they concentrate their efforts in the daily newspaper because it provides an immediate payoff at the cash register.

If you're old business is heading for a slowdown, that's the best possible reason to increase your advertising in the newspaper. The Times-News will help you plan a program that will pay dividends in more store traffic and more sales. UNLV rips Northeastern Louisiana behind Jones' scoring

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Anthony Jones scored 18 points and Armon Gilliam added 16 points and grabbed 13 rebounds as 11th-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas overcame a sluggish start to overpower Northeastern Louisiana 75-51 in an NCAA West Regional first-round game Friday.

Trailing 15-12 12 minutes into the game, UNLV scored 19 of the final 25 points of the first half, including a streak of 11 straight to take a 31-21 lead at intermission. The Runnin' Rebels cruised home in the second half to post their 31st victory in 35 starts this season.

Gilliam, a 6-foot-9, 230-pounder who operated at will inside against the smaller Indians, had five points in the 11-0 stretch. Jones, who got most of his points on jumpers from 15 feet and more had four.

Kentucky romps to 75-55 win over Davidson

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Kenny Walker scored 20 points as a sluggish start and a 16-11 lead in the first 10 minutes of the first round of the NCAA Southeast Regional basketball tournament.

The victory set up only the second meeting ever between Kentucky and Western Kentucky in Sunday's second round. Western defeated Nebraska 67-59 in an earlier contest and owns a 107-83 victory over the Wildcats in their only previous meeting — in the 1974 NCAA tournament.

Kentucky's 12th victory in a row was slow to develop as Davidson built a 16-11 lead in the first seven minutes and still led 20-17 with 10 minutes left in the opening half.

Roger Harden then began a 12-0 Kentucky run with a 2-foot jumper and James Blackmon followed with a three-point play off a steal and during that gave Kentucky the lead for good at 22-20. Walker ended the spurt with a 6-footer with 4:40 left in the half that put the Southeastern Conference champions ahead 29-20.

Illinois 75, Fairfield 51

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Anthony Welch scored 22 points and 19th-ranked Illinois used intense defensive pressure to break open the game as the Fighting Illini downed Fairfield 75-51 in the first round of the NCAA Southeast Regional basketball tournament Friday.

Welch scored the first 10 points for the Illini and had 16 in the first half when the Big Ten Conference team rolled to a 34-22 lead.

After Fairfield cut the lead to 42-34 with 12:16 left, Illinois again applied defensive pressure and used a 15-1 run to take command.

It was the sixth straight victory for Illinois, 22-9, in its first meeting with the Tigers, who finished at 24-7 after seeing a seven-game winning streak halted.

West

trapping defense held Northeast Louisiana to just six field goals and a shooting percentage of 25 percent in the first half. During one stretch of 9:59 late in the half, the Indians scored without a field goal, making just four foul shots.

Maryland 69, Pepperdine 64

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — All-America forward Len Bias scored 26 points and Maryland made seven free throws in the final 37 seconds Friday as the Terrapins held off Pepperdine 69-64 in a first-round

NCAA West Regional Tournament. The Terrapins advance to meet 11th-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas, which is seeded fourth in the West Regional, in a second-round game Sunday. UNLV overwhelmed Northeast Louisiana 74-51 earlier Friday at the Long Beach Arena.

A three-point play by Bias with 6:25 remaining gave Maryland, seeded fifth in the region, a seemingly safe 55-49 lead. But Pepperdine, the West Coast Athletic Conference champion, battled back.

The Waves, seeded 12th in the West, outscored the Terps 10-9 over the next 3:03 to make it 58-55 with 3:22 left.

Pepperdine got as close as two points twice in the final minute, but two free throws by Bias with 37 seconds remaining, two more by Keith Gatlin with 18 seconds left, another by Derrick Lewis with 11 seconds to go and two more by Bias with three seconds to play kept the Terps on top.

The Waves, who had a nine-game winning streak snapped and finished the season with a 25-5 record, never had possession with a chance to tie or go ahead under the stretch. They had an opportunity to get as close as one point, but Grant Goddard missed the second free throw after making the first, leaving the score at 62-60 with 39 seconds to go.

St. John's 83, Montana St. 74

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Walter Berry, playing on an injured ankle, scored 21 points and grabbed 11 rebounds as sluggish St. John's overcame scrappy Montana State 83-74 in a first-round NCAA Western regional tournament game.

But winning their 31st game in 35 starts wasn't easy for the fourth-ranked Redmen against the only team that entered the tournament with a losing record.

With Tony Hampton dribbling around and through the taller Redmen and Tom Damko and Kral Frech bombing from outside, the Hawks led by as many as five points in the first half. Then they put together a streak of nine straight points midway through the second to cut a 14-point St. John's lead to five.

Auburn 73, Arizona 43

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Fred Chuck Person overcame a slow start to score 20 points Friday night, leading Auburn to a 73-61 victory over Arizona in a first-round game of the NCAA West Regionals. By winning the nationally televised game, the Tigers qualified to meet fourth-ranked St. John's Sunday at 4:37 p.m. EST in a second-round game — at the Long Beach Arena. The Redmen, seeded first in the West Region, advanced by beating Montana State 83-74 earlier Friday night.

The Auburn-Arizona game was close nearly all the way, with neither team leading by more than six points until the Tigers pulled away late in the game.

Auburn went ahead for good on a jump shot by guard Gerald White with 6:06 to play. That made it 55-54 and Person's long jumper 1:03 later gave Auburn a four-point lead.

After a free throw by Arizona's Craig McMillan with 4:35 left made it 58-55, Auburn's Jeff Moore made a three-point play.

Southeast

Alabama 97, Xavier 80

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Jim Farmer scored 24 points and Buck Johnson 22 as Alabama never trailed in the first round of the NCAA Southeast Regional basketball tournament Friday.

The victory sends the Southeastern Conference runnerup into a second-round matchup on Sunday against No. 19 Illinois, which ousted scrappy Fairfield 75-51 earlier in the day.

Xavier, the Midwestern Collegiate Conference champions, made one run at Alabama four minutes into the second half, cutting a 19-point lead to 49-45 by using two steals in a 6:0 run that featured two layups by Eddie Johnson and a tip by Richie Harris.

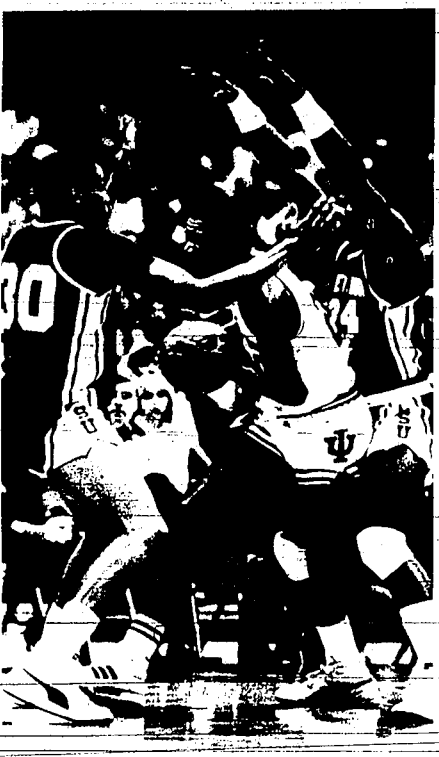

W. Kentucky 67, Nebraska 59

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Kanner Johnson and Clarence Martin scored six points each in a 16-4 burst early in the second half that created a 17-point lead and Western Kentucky, survived a Nebraska comeback to down the Cornhuskers 67-59 in the first round of the NCAA Southeast Regional tournament Friday.

The victory sends the Sun Belt Conference runnerup into Sunday's second round against the winner of Friday night's game between 19th-ranked Kentucky and Davidson.

Nebraska's Bernard Day had slashed Western's 33-26 halftime lead to five with an 18-footer 14 seconds into the second half and it was two minutes later when Johnson hit two baskets in a row to start the Western surge.

Little Rock drops Irish from midwest

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Pete Myers scored 29 points, Michael Clarke 27 and Myron Jackson 22, combining for all but 12 of Arkansas-Little Rock's points, and leading the Trojans to a 90-83 upset over No. 10 Notre Dame on Friday in the first round of the NCAA Midwest Regionals.

UCLR, 23-10, will play in Sunday's second-round game against North Carolina State, 19-12, which defeated Iowa 66-64 in a first-round game Friday.

Jackson hit a layup with 3:35 to play to give the Trojans — an unheralded team from the Trans America Conference — the lead for good at 75-75. Myers followed with a three-point play to make it 79-75.

Guard David Rivers, who scored 25 points and almost single-handedly lifted Notre Dame, 22-6, to a victory hit a 15-foot jumper to narrow the deficit to 79-77. But Clarke hit on a drive and UCLR made nine of 12 free throws down the stretch to clinch the triumph.

Michigan 70, Akron 64

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Roy Tarpley, a two-time All-Big Ten center who didn't start for disciplinary reasons, scored 13 points, including a three-point play with 8:03 remaining to open up a close game and lead No. 5 Michigan to a 70-64 NCAA Midwest Regional first-round victory over Akron Friday.

Michigan, 28-4, advances to Sunday's second-round game against the winner of the Midwest of Ohio-Iowa State game, which was played later Friday.

Akron, 22-8, led 32-30 at halftime and was still within 49-48 with 8:52 to play before the 6-foot-11 Tarpley, Big Ten player of the year in 1985, took over.

His basket and free throw ignited an 11-4 spurt that put Michigan up 60-32 with 4:08 to go. Tarpley also had a rebound, a dunk and a blocked shot that led to a basket during the spurt, after which Akron

Iowa State 81, Miami, Ohio, 79

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Jeff Horvath, whose 15-foot jump shot with 27 seconds left in regulation sent the Hoosiers to overtime, hit a 22-footer as the buzzer sounded at the end of the extra session to lift Iowa State to an 81-79 NCAA Midwest Regional first-round victory over Miami of Ohio.

Iowa State, 21-10, will play in a second-round game Sunday against No. 5 Michigan, 28-4, a 70-64 regional winner over Akron earlier Friday.

With four seconds left in overtime, Eric Newsome, who led Miami with 18 points, tied the game at 79-79 with a layup on a controversial goaltending call against Iowa State's Jeff Grayer.

There were two seconds on the clock when Gary Thompkins inbounded to Hornacek, who took two dribbles and launched his game-winning jumper.

N.C. State 66, Iowa 64

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Chris Washburn scored 18 points and led a 10-0 spurt midway through the second half that gave North Carolina State the lead for good Friday night and the Wolfpack held on for a 66-64 NCAA Midwest Regional first-round victory over Iowa.

N.C. State began its decisive rally after two long-range jumpers by Andre Banks gave Iowa, 20-12, a 57-51 lead with 5:45 to play.

First, Nate McMillan hit a 15-foot jumper. Then, Washburn scored his first basket of the second half, rebounding his own miss.

After Tevin Binns tied the game at 57-57 with a 10-footer, Eric Myers gave the Wolfpack their first lead since early in the contest.

Cleveland State uses tight press to surprise Indiana 83-79

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Cleveland State parlayed a hectic press-and-chinon-Ransay's 37-points effort to upset Indiana 83-79 in the first round of East Regional tournament.

The Vikings, 29-3, advanced to Sunday's second round against St. Joseph's, 26-5, which beat Richmond 69-59 earlier Friday in the regional's third seed and Cleveland State was seeded 14th despite ranking second in the nation in scoring with a 90.2 average and first in victory margin.

Indiana, a National Invitation Tournament runner-up last year, bowed out with a 21-8 record. It was Coach Bob Knight's initial first-round loss in the tournament in 15 years at Indiana.

Eric Mudd contributed 16 points and Clinton Smith 12 for Cleveland State, which flexed its pressure defense with rapid substitutions.

Three American players, including the Hoosiers with 24 points, held Andre Harris added 16, Daryl Thomas 11 and Stew Robinson and Rick Calloway, in a foul, which the Knights' Jarrod Pirnie used to trim the margin to three points, at 63-59, with 1:42 left. But he missed the bonus shot on the free throw, and Harrington fouled Burley's David Budge on the rebound.

Budge missed the front end of the one-and-one and the Cats missed two shots at the putback. Kelly got the rebound, missed the shot at the foul, and Harrington fouled Burley's David Budge on the rebound.

Budge missed the front end of the one-and-one and the Cats missed two shots at the putback. Kelly got the rebound, missed the shot at the foul, and Harrington fouled Burley's David Budge on the rebound.

Then the Knights made the mistake of fouling Church as he was finishing the layup. Kelly got the rebound, hit both foul shots, giving the Cats a 65-59 lead with 50 seconds left. Kelly's 6-5 senior center Troy Little scored 16 seconds later, and then fouled Burley's Scott Melling. Melling missed the free throw, Little got the rebound and gave Mooney the opportunity to launch his 10th three-point goal attempt with seven seconds to go.

It was all net. Burley 65, Kelly 64. Church then inbounded the ball to Newcomb, who was immediately fouled by Heffner. Newcomb made the most of the two-shot foul with four seconds left.

Church, who ended the game with nine points and four assists, said Burley's ability to control the tempo of the game in the second half kept Kelly a bay.

"We knew if we let them run with the ball, we'd have trouble, so we spread our offense out a little bit," he said. "We just wanted to be patient and work the ball into Mike."

Manning ended the game with 14 points and a game-high 12 rebounds, while Newcomb scored 20, including three of five from three-point country.

Melling had 16 points to go with his nine boards. Mooney led everyone with 23 points, including four three-pointers.

Three-point goals: Bishop Kelly 10, Mooney 4; Burley, Church, Newcomb 2, Mall 1.

Syracuse 101, Brown 52

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Dwayne Washington and Rafael Addison scored 21 and 17 points, respectively, Friday night to propel the Orange to a 101-52 slaughter of Brown in the opening round of the NCAA East Regional basketball tournament.

Syracuse, 26-5, took the suspense out of the Midwest of Ohio-Iowa State game, which was played later Friday.

Washington had 17 points by then and Addison had 10. Both were benched about five minutes into the second half.

Center Rony Selkay scored 12 points, and Rodney Walker, his freshman backup, scored 15 for the Orangemen.

The game was one of the most lopsided in the 47-year-old tournament. By coincidence, the Bruins, 16-11, made their first NCAA appearance since the 1920 inaugural season.

Brown center Tom Turner was the only Bruin in double figures with 13.

In earlier games, St. Joseph's edged Richmond 60-59, unheralded Cleveland State knocked out No. 16 Indiana 83-79 and No. 17 Navy clubbed Tulsa 87-68 to set up a Sunday rematch with the Orangemen.

Syracuse defeated Navy 89-67 here in December.

The Orangemen seemed almost bemused in the early stages, allowing the Bruins to lead at 7-6 and 8-9 and to pull within one point at 20-19 on a pair of Patrick Lynch free throws with 10:10 left in the half.

However, freshman guard Sherman Douglas fired up Syracuse's blistering transition game, dealing off jazzy assists to Washington, Alexis, Washington and Washington for fast-break layups which built the lead to 32-21.

Syracuse reserves played much of the second half.

Bobcats

"We gave up an awful lot of points on the offensive boards in the first half," said Jensen, who stayed with a zone defense throughout the game.

His kids just weren't blocking them out."

"The Cats did so in the third quarter, limiting B-K to just one offensive rebound and increasing their lead to five, at 51-46, by the end of the third period."

Then the Knights demonstrated that they, too, knew how to bust a zone defense.

went to a full-court press and forced a Burley turnover with 1:57 on the clock. That resulted in a foul, which the Knights' Jarrod Pirnie used to trim the margin to three points, at 63-59, with 1:42 left. But he missed the bonus shot on the free throw, and Harrington fouled Burley's David Budge on the rebound.

Bradley ends long day with Glendale lead

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — Pat Bradley concluded her "longest day" of golf with a 1-shot lead Friday in the final round of the GNA-Glendale Federal Classic.

Bradley played 30 holes Friday, completing the first round — which was halted by rain Thursday — in the morning, then played the second round over the afternoon.

She carded par 72s for each round, giving her a 1-stroke edge over Amy Alcott, Juli Inokter, Chris Johnson and Amy Rosenthal after each had played 35 holes of the 18-hole event.

Second-round tee times were much later than normal because the schedule was adjusted to allow rain-delayed golfers to finish their about-half opening round.

"It was definitely a challenge Friday for fast-break layups which built the lead to 32-21."

Syracuse reserves played much of the second half.

Many of the golfers, including first-day co-leaders Shelley Hamilton and Kristi Arrington, were able to complete just five or six holes at Oakmont Country Club before darkness halted play Friday.

Area wrestlers make showing

JEROME—A number of Magic Valley wrestlers placed in a tournament held recently in Pocatello.

Jeff G. Lahti of Twin Falls finished first in the 13-14-year-old 115-pound division, winning six of his matches by pins.

Kevin Irish of Twin Falls took a first place in the 15-16-year-old heavyweight division, while Jason Wilson of Twin Falls took first as a first-place winner in the 13-14-year-old 145-pound class. Lon Egbert of Jerome took first place in the 15-16-year-old boys' 143-pound class.

Jim Hart of Jerome won a second place in the junior (high school age) 154-pound division, while Paul Sueher of Twin Falls was second in the 13-14-year-old 105-pound class.

John Lamb of Jerome finished third in the 125-pound 13-14-year old class.

The tournament, held at Pocatello's Highland High School, attracted 600 wrestlers from Idaho and Utah.

Babe Ruth signup begins

TWIN FALLS—The Magic Valley Boys' Babe Ruth Baseball League will hold its registration for the 1986 season April 1 and April 8.

The registration will be held at Robert Stuart and O'Leary Junior high schools from 7 to 9 p.m. on those dates. An adult must accompany each player and must bring a copy of the player's birth certificate.

Players must be at least 13 year old and not yet 16 by Aug. 1. Registration fee is $20.

Draper assumes bowling lead

BLACKFOOT—Darrall Draper of Gooding took over the all-events leadership after the second weekend of the Idaho State Men's Bowling Tournament last weekend.

Draper's 2,013 points for nine games handicap in the singles, doubles and team divisions gives him a four-point lead over Devin Wesley of Boise. Ken Wilcox of Boise, last week's all-events leader, fell to fourth place with 2,058.

The team of Dallas Brown of Filer and Les Harding of Blackfoot leads the handicap doubles with a score of 1,434, followed by Ernie Bradburn and Steve Studer of Boise with 1,428. Steve and George Abo of Burley are in fourth place with 1,413.

Steve Allison of Jerome remains the singles handicap leader with a score of 763, while Glen Kober of Burley is in third place with 739.

Vander Meer-Dairy of Jerome is in third place in the scratch team competition with 3,039, while Budweiser of Buhl is fourth with 2,908. The event leader is Pro Am Classics of Boise with 3,221.

More than 2,900 bowlers are participating in the 11-week tournament at Starlite and Pindale lanes in Blackfoot.

Standlee scored 16 points

The Times-News inaccurately reported in Friday's edition the scoring totals of two basketball players in the Magic Valley Conference-Canyon Conference all-star girls' basketball game in Murtaugh Thursday night.

Filer High senior Terrie Standlee scored 16 points and Glenns Ferry High senior Claudette Mills scored four points.

The Times-News regrets the error.

Kennedy sees improvement

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Pat Kennedy appeared publicly for the first time as Florida State's new baseball coach Friday, promising to bring a sleeping giant out of hibernation and into national prominence.

But a contract dispute threatened Kennedy's dream, as officials at Iona College said the 34-year-old former protegee of North Carolina State Coach Jim Valvano was still their property.

Florida State officials introduced Kennedy during news conference as the university's fifth baseball coach. A five-member selection committee tapped Kennedy Thursday to replace Joe Williams, who resigned after eight seasons of coaching the Seminoles.

Blue Jays sign Cedeno

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Veteran free-agent outfielder Cesar Cedeno has been signed to a minor-league contract by the Toronto Blue Jays, the American League team announced Thursday night.

Cedeno, 35, a veteran of 15 major league seasons, all of them in the National League, will report to the Blue Jays' minor-league complex here and is expected to be added to Toronto's 40-man roster when a position becomes available, a spokesman for the Blue Jays said.

Oakland still pursues Raiders

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—The city council, faced with a possible $4 million bill from Los Angeles Raiders' attorneys, should continue the fight to bring the National Football League team back to Oakland, says the lawyer representing Oakland in the six-year-old case.

"Our case is very much better than almost all other cases that come before the court," said attorney David Self in asking the council to take the case to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The council met on Thursday night to consider the next step in the case after the state Supreme Court's rejection last month of the city's claim to the Raiders. Oakland wants the Raiders brought back to Oakland under the state's eminent domain law, which allows cities to take possession of private properties for the public good.

The council took public testimony but did not vote on whether to appeal.

Ewing undergoes surgery

NEW YORK (AP)—Rookie center Patrick Ewing of the New York Knicks successfully underwent arthroscopic surgery Friday morning and was released from the hospital, a spokesman for the NBA team said.

"Everything went well," said John Cirillo, public relations director of the Knicks. "The piece was removed and it was exactly what was expected."

Dr. Norman Scott, the Knicks' team physician, said the soft tissue was a piece of the lining from under the surface of the kneecap. He said it resulted from the wear and tear changes in the knee that every basketball player experiences.

In Ewing's case, Scott said, a piece of tissue broke off.

Cirillo said Ewing will begin therapy Saturday with light exercises consisting of leg raises and bending of the knee. On Monday, he will start whirlpool rehabilitation, swimming and resistance exercises.

"We anticipate a full recovery for Patrick and expect him to be a franchise player in New York for many years to come," said Scott Stirling, the Knicks' general manager.

The surgery was performed after Ewing was examined by four doctors, all of whom came up with the same recommendation.

Eagles begin outdoor season

BOISE—College of Southern Idaho men's and women's track teams will take their first taste of outdoor competition at Boise State today.

Coach Rick Neill will be doing some experimenting with his lineups in an effort to find events that best fit individual talents.

The Eagles' effort probably will be paced by DeVoe Whaley, a double finalist and placers in the recently concluded national indoor junior college finals.

LSU threatened to boycott

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—A few hours before LSU's overtime victory over Purdue on Thursday, the NCAA confirmed the eligibility of center Jose Vargas and warned off a boycott of the first-round game in the NCAA Southeast Regional here, sources in the LSU athletic department confirmed Friday.

Athletic Director Bob Brodhead did not answer his office number, and Assistant Athletic Director Joe Yates referred all questions to Brodhead.

Pittsburgh voters asked to buy Pirates

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates' performance will be more than sporting news this season with an unusual public financing plan that Baseball Commissioner Peter Ueberroth calls "a blueprint for other municipalities with struggling franchises."

The City Council is scheduled to vote Monday on a proposed $21 million bond issue to help buy the National League team for a private group led by chief executives of U.S. Steel Corp., Westinghouse Electric Corp., Aluminac Corp. of America and Carnegie-Mellon University.

"I still think it's a bargain," says Mayor Richard S. Caliguri. "We have got to do whatever we can to assure the people of this city, the economy of this city, that the Pirates are going to stay in Pittsburgh."

Not everyone agrees. "It's a public handout for what should be a private affair," Robert Gore, an unemployed writer, told a City Council hearing this week in opposition to Caliguri.

Caliguri's bond issue would finance a loan to the new owners to help operate the money-losing team for at least five more seasons in Pittsburgh.

The 29-year bond issue would cost Pittsburgh and Allegheny County taxpayers $316.00 this year, $15.2 million next year and $2.15 million a year thereafter in debt service, according to city officials.

Caliguri turned to the bond issue late last week after he failed to raise the loan money by selling city-owned

Three Rivers Stadium to private investors seeking a tax shelter.

Under that plan, the stadium's new owners would have put up a $25 million down payment to the city and lease back the ballpark to the Pirates and the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League.

Caliguri says the 16-year-old stadium still may be sold and the bond issue paid off.

"We're not giving this money away. It's a loan," city Finance Director Ronald Schmetzer told council members.

"The taxpayers didn't get themselves into trouble," the Pirates' Director Ronald Schmetzer told council members.

Ueberroth, speaking to the council in November, said Caliguri's proposal, which then included the sale of the stadium, was "so imaginative and creative (that) I would not be surprised if it served as a blueprint for other municipalities with struggling franchises."

The Pirates have been losing for years from first base to the bank.

After the glorious '70s, when they won two World Series and four division championships, the Pirates slid deep into the cellar of the NL East in 1984 and 1985 and turned off Pittsburgh's blue-collar fans.

Home attendance at the 58,438-seat stadium, never among baseball's best, slumped to an average of only 9,435 a game last season, better than only the Cleveland Indians.

Fisk uncertain about shift to left field

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Sometimes Carlton Fisk jokes about it. Other times, he seems a little unhappy, and occasionally even embarrassed.

After 15 years in the major leagues as a catcher, Fisk was given a choice by the Chicago White Sox: part-time catcher-designated hitter or fulltime left fielder.

He reluctantly chose left field, a position he hasn't played regularly since American Legion ball.

"I don't know that much about it other than you go out there and catch balls hit to you," Fisk says. "I mean, I know there's more to it than that. If you can't catch them, you pick them up and throw them back in."

While the White Sox say he is adapting well to his new position, Fisk at times has looked awkward and confused. That's the embarrassing part. After all those years running the show from behind the plate, he virtually is starting over again at age 33.

"People are going to say I look like a whole out there looking for water," Fisk cracks.

Manager Tony LaRussa is taking the move a little more seriously. "I was designed to get the Fisk into more games by saving some wear-and-tear on his legs. The White Sox need his offense. Last year, he hit a career-high 37 home runs and batted in 107."

"He's getting more comfortable all the time," LaRussa says. "The biggest adjustment for him, I guess, is not being in the middle of the action all the time. Left field is a little quieter."

"If somebody told me Carlton Fisk was going to be my biggest problem," LaRussa adds, "I would start spending my playoff money."

Fisk admits he is worried about the lack of involvement. He will miss calling pitches and all those trips to the mound.

"After being involved to such an intense degree, then I have to go out and play the outfield — maybe my head will be out to lunch," says Fisk.

Caliguri turned to the bond issue late last week after he failed to raise the loan money by selling city-owned

Three Rivers Stadium to private investors seeking a tax shelter.

Under that plan, the stadium's new owners would have put up a $25 million down payment to the city and lease back the ballpark to the Pirates and the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League.

Caliguri says the 16-year-old stadium still may be sold and the bond issue paid off.

Home attendance at the 58,438-seat stadium, never among baseball's best, slumped to an average of only 9,435 a game last season, better than only the Cleveland Indians.

well Fisk's replacements, Joel Skinner or Scott Bradley, respond. Skinner, a fine defensive catcher, batted .341 in 44 at-bats last season but is generally considered weak in the hitting department. Bradley is another young player without much experience and hit only 163 with 49 at-bats with the New York Yankees last season.

If neither Skinner nor Bradley work out, Fisk may have to move back behind the plate. Many believe he will be catching again by May, but Fisk says even that may be trouble.

"It'd be a tough move because there is such a big involvement behind the plate — physically and mentally," Fisk says. "The position has to be reviewed every spring — the hitters and the pitchers. And physically it'd be tough — no doubt about that."

THE ACES

BOBBY WOLFF

"Woe to him who doesn't know how to win his mask, be king or Pope."
— Luigi Pirandello

East's behavior at trick one told West that his opening lead had struck off. Unfortunately for the defense, East also had it impossible for South to make the wrong play. North gambled with his jump to the small slam, and West found the weak link with his lead of a low spade. East couldn't help showing his approval, playing as emphatic 10 when dummy inserted the nine. South won his ace and drew trumps. With no options left but a diamond-finesse, South brought in a shaky 12 tricks.

What would have happened had East not unmasked his strong spades holding at trick one? No one knows for sure; however, South would have had reason to consider a losing play.

If East plays the king or queen of spades at trick one, South wins as before and draws trumps. With one discard available in dummy on the fourth club, South must decide whether he will take a diamond finesse (which will win) or a play in spades (which will lose). And since there is good reason to believe that West has led from a spade honor (good tactics against a small slam), he is likely to lead toward dummy's J-5 of spades instead of taking the diamond finesse.

When South leads spades, East is happy to win two spade tricks, and thanks to a little honest deception,
