It's rare, but misuse does raise concern

Going against label directions called leading cause of fears

TWIN FALLS — During the week of July 6, 1985, the first of what would grow to more than 100 persons in California sought medical attention with complaints: nausea, dizziness, tremors, muscle cramps and other flu-like symptoms. All of the victims had been poisoned by watermelons contaminated with the pesticide Temik, also known as aldrin.

Farmers in Southern California had been applying the pesticide to the melons — a use forbidden by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and noted on the label of the pesticide.

That misuse eventually prompted a nationwide recall of California-grown watermelons, at a cost of several million dollars.

"I only had to hear one news report to know exactly what they had done," says Earl Jones, of Steve Regan's in Jerome, a chemical distributor.

For Temik, it was also another blow to a product that has already been blamed for more than its share of environmental and health problems.

While there has been no contamination problem from pesticide misuse in Idaho comparable to the melon problems in California, Magic Valley farmers acknowledge that there are some growers who apply products to crops they are not labeled for.

"It's a problem," Twin Falls County Agricultural Extension Agent Dale Beck says of pesticide misuse. "Someone finds a chemical gave good control on weeds," he says, and then decides to use it on other crops. "The problem is where someone uses it on carrots because (carrots) well on beans. Hopefully it's minimal," he adds.

"On a crop we're more concerned about it than others," Beck says. "An example would be crops going directly into human consumption or into dairy cattle."

Pesticide misuse is rare in the Magic Valley. Chemical dealers and farmers keep a close eye on the farmers they deal with, says Bill Lewis of Rangen's, west of Twin Falls. In addition, most farmers are "high-caliber people," he says.

As for the melon problems in California, Lewis says, "I can guarantee you more people were involved than just the farmers," suggesting that chemical dealers and fieldmen working with the melon growers were probably aware of the misuse as well.

Representatives from the agricultural chemical industry see such misuse of chemicals as the leading cause behind public fears of health problems linked to pesticides. Local experts, such as Beck, agree.

"Those who misuse chemicals are the ones who get you into trouble," he says.

As a county extension agent, Beck is often called on by farmers to make a pesticide recommendation when weed or insect problems occur.

"Unlicensed consultants are also forbidden by law to make recommendations inconsistent with a product's labeling."

Along with labeling, Beck said a number of considerations must be taken into account when making a pesticide recommendation, such as the location of the field, stage of crop growth and expertise of the farmer.

Proper use, and use in accordance to labeling, "is something we're concerned about in all aspects," Beck says.

"A farmer comes in and says, 'I've got a problem, what will take care of it?' But we need to know the stage of weed growth; the state of, say, if it's a bean field, the bean growth. You could knock down a crop's yield by 20 to 30 percent if you spray at the wrong time. You also have to know where the field is and what's next to it," Beck says.

It is also important, he says, to have an idea of a farmer's reputation and how careful he is in running his operation.

A few are careless; others, he says, consistently fail to follow instructions.

"They put on three quarts per acre when you say one, or they're sloppy," Beck says. "In the spring you see people running around with yellow hands from chemicals like Dinitro. You don't recommend that they spray with parathion or monitor (two highly toxic insecticides), because they will kill themselves or someone else," he says.

Proper white labeling is critical to a product's safe use, enforcing labeling is often a practical impossibility.

Although enforcement is the responsibility of the state Department of Agriculture, inspectors are usually only called in after the fact: when a neighboring farmer calls in to complain that another's spraying has damaged his crops or livestock.

"There are only four pesticide inspectors in the state, however, and following label instructions generally ends up being a matter of individual responsibility.

A study in the Midwest found that while about 90 percent of the farmers read the label before applying a pesticide, only 30 to 40 percent said they actually followed the instructions.

Most farmers in Idaho, however, seem to be doing a good job.

The most frequent problem, says Rod Awe, head of the state Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Pesticides, is drift. Wind or temperature changes can cause a pesticide to drift "off-target" and onto crops or areas where it can cause substantial damage.

Last year, the pesticide bureau in-

Poison found inside capsules

PHILADELPHIA — Contac and two other popular over-the-counter medicines were withdrawn from the market Friday after rat poison was found in eight capsules that had been tampered with, the drug's manufacturer said.

Consumers also were warned not to use any Contac, Dietac and Teldrin that had been purchased since mid-March because the capsules may have been tampered with in a "terrorist, criminal act," FDA Commissioner Frank Young said at a news conference in Washington.

Warfarin, an anticoagulant used in rat poison, was discovered in six Contac, one Teldrin and one Dietac capsules in Houston and Orlando, Fla. — in tests by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration laboratory in New York City, according to Alan Wachter, spokesman for SmithKline Beckman Corp.

No injuries have been reported.

The amounts of rat poison could sicken but not kill a person, said SmithKline president Henry Wendt.

The company said it knew of telephone threats against the products in Orlando and Houston, as well as St. Louis and Chicago. The telephone calls to SmithKline, at least one storekeeper, the news media and police made no demands for money, but the male caller claimed cyanide and rat poison were placed in packages on shelves in the four cities.

"The individual who claims to be responsible for these terrorist acts contacted USA Today and repeated his warnings that several of our capsules have been poisoned with cyanide, and recently placed in selected retail outlets," Wendt said.

While the three brands have been withdrawn, the company said it would continue production and reintroduce the products later, Wendt said.

"We take this action most regretfully," he said of the recall, "following our continued attention to public safety and the public welfare."

Soviet version of little Samantha launches peace tour at breakfast

CHICAGO — Katerina "Katya" Lycheva, an 11-year-old Soviet girl on a peace mission to America, wished two dozen new friends "blue skies, bright sun and peace" Friday as she sat down to her first breakfast in the United States.

"I'm very glad to see you all, very glad to come to the United States and tell you how all our children want peace," said Katya before she and 25 sixth-graders from the LaSalle Language Academy tucked into a lavish breakfast in the chef's kitchen of her hotel.

Katya was greeted by Michele Gaza, 11, who was shaking as she handed the young Soviet visitor a bouquet of sweetheart roses.

"I'm excited. I'm nervous," said the American youngster.

Katya addressed the students briefly in the chef's kitchen, reserved for the most important dignitaries, and then helped scramble eggs to go along with the pancakes, waffles, sausages, bacon, hash brown potatoes and mounds of exotic fruits.

While she spoke English at times, Katya generally spoke Russian and used an interpreter.

Reagan vows not to give up on aid to Nicaraguan rebels

By TERENCE HUNT
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — President Reagan told leaders of Nicaragua's rebel movement Thursday "we're in this together" and vowed "we will never give up" until he can reverse a House vote denying $100 million in military and other aid to the insurgents.

"I will not rest until freedom is given a fighting chance in Nicaragua," Reagan pledged to cheers and applause from a White House audience 24 hours after the House, by a 222-210 vote, rejected his aid proposal.

Arguing that the forces of Nicaragua's leftist Sandinista regime are pressing their offensive against the rebels, Reagan said, "No doubt they'll be emboldened by yesterday's vote in the House and will try to seriously damage the freedom fighters before aid can arrive. And we can't let that happen."

The Senate will begin debate on rebel aid next Tuesday and vote on it by Thursday.

"The game isn't over by a long shot," said White House chief of staff Donald T. Regan. "I think we'll come out of the Senate winning it there and then we'll come back to the House in April" when another vote is scheduled.

Beginning round two of his fight to help the rebels, Reagan invited rebel

Government again warns U.S. invasion imminent

By BRYNA BRENNAN

MANAGUA, Nicaragua — The government on Friday warned Nicaraguans to be vigilant, trumpeting the danger of U.S. invasion the day after President Reagan lost the first vote on his aid package for Contra rebels.

President Daniel Ortega said the United States is about to turn Nicaragua into another Vietnam.

A banner headline in Barricada, the Sandinista newspaper, read: "Aggression and Serious Threat Continues." Inside the six-page edition, stories called for a "popular mobilization to defeat aggression" and said, "The people should prepare themselves to resist."

"Without a doubt, as President Reagan said yesterday (Thursday) after the discussions, the blackmail and the obsession for United States military involvement will continue, with arms and advisers in order to save the mercenaries from their definite defeat," the newspaper said in a front-page editorial.

In a meeting with reporters late Thursday, Ortega would not comment directly on the resolution by the House of Representatives of Reagan's request for $100 million in aid to Nicaraguan rebels. But he called congressional delay on the issue "illegitimate and immoral" and said "a vote against (the aid) does not signify the war has ended."

The government has said repeatedly that it expects a U.S. or U.S.-supported invasion and support of the rebels, known as Contras. The four-year-old guerrilla war has cost thousands of lives and contributed to the deterioration of Nicaragua's economy.

Stoker leads unsuccessful fight against CSI funding freeze

By DEAN MILLER
Times-News writer

BOISE — Rep. Jeff Stoker, R-Twin Falls, led an unsuccessful rebellion against a state funding freeze for the College of Southern Idaho on the floor of the Idaho House Friday.

Pointing to a projected 5-percent increase in state spending for the state's four-year schools, Stoker said CSI and North Idaho College deserve an increase in state funding this year.

He said an additional $288,000 of state money would give the two junior colleges a 5-percent increase. "I think it's time we gave these guys some help," he said. The junior colleges run some of the nation's leading athletic and other programs on a shoe-string budget compared to the money four-year schools work with, he said.

Stoker's challenge, which died 30-1, followed a similar effort by Rep. Don Scott, R-Twin Falls, to adopt the legislative budget committee's proposed zero-increase budget for junior colleges. Only five of 12 of his Magic Valley colleagues joined him.

Acting Monday on a motion by Scott, the Legislature's budget-writing committee proposed to freeze junior college funding at last year's $5,337,600. The motion passed the committee Monday, and Scott brought the proposal to the full House Friday.

In a closing debate after Stoker's challenge failed, Scott said there are inefficiencies in the junior college budgets, but she would fight for more junior college funding if the budget committee finishes its work with money left over. Magic Valley members voted, 8-4, to support Scott and the budget committee.

One Boise Republican from the budget committee accused Stoker of playing politics with the junior college budgets.

"If I were running for re-election (in a junior college district) I would do the same thing," said Rep. Kitty Gurnsey, R-Boise. "I agree with you; the junior college people are doing more than anyone else to support their school,"

REP. JEFF STOKER Time to provide some help

REP. DONNA SCOTT Carries freeze in House

Gurnsey said. Junior college funding is unfair because two-year programs at Idaho's four-year schools are fully-state funded, she said, but that problem needs to be solved "on down the line."

"In the meantime, we can't solve the inequity by putting more money into it," she said.

Stoker was joined in his floor challenge by Magic Valley colleague Doug Jones and North Idahoans seeking to protect NIC.

"I think there's a real inequity here in what we're doing to junior colleges," said Rep. Doug Jones, R-Elmer. The junior colleges get 35 percent of their budgets from the state while educating 22 percent of the freshmen and sophomores in college in the state, he said.

"We're treated as second-class citizens," the junior colleges take the back seat," said Rep. Robert Seates, R-Post Falls.

Rep. Steve Herndon, D-Sandpoint, said NIC is levying 95 percent of the maximum it can charge in property taxes. "The people in these districts are doing more than their share," he said.

Stoker and his cohorts ran into opposition from conservatives in the House and members of the budget committee. Rep. Mack Nelbaur, R-Paul, said the junior colleges have fared better than higher education in recent years.

Nelbaur said Stoker and company could try to amend the budget committee's recommendations, but might have a hard time, considering the difficulties the 24-member budget committee runs into. "If you want to work at it with 84 (the full House membership), God bless you," Nelbaur said.

Voting with Stoker in his challenge were Reps. Ernest Hale, R-Burley; Jones; Waldo Martens, R-Jerome; and Jari Robbins, wife, and substitute for Gary Robbins, R-Dietrich.

Voting against Stoker were Reps. Steve Antone, R-Rupert; Jerry Brackett, R-Twin Falls; Jody Callen, R-Jerome; Vard Chaburn, R-Albion; Nelbaur; Scott; and Tom Silvers, R-Twin Falls.

Voting with Scott for her motion to freeze spending were Antone; Brackett; Chaburn, Hale, Nelbaur; Robbins; and Silvers.

Voting against the motion were Callen, Jones, Martens, and Stoker.

Liability insurance fund may get airing

By DEAN MILLER
Times-News writer

BOISE — A Senate bill to establish a state-funded liability insurance fund for cities, counties, and businesses may yet get a hearing on the House floor.

After languishing in legislative limbo for a month since passing the Senate, Senate Bill 1297 made it onto the House Business Committee agenda Friday.

The committee took no action on the bill, but will consider it further at a hearing next week.

The bill is drawing fire from insurance industry lobbyists and lawmakers who either work in insurance sales or are opposed to the state of Idaho offering services traditionally offered by private enterprise.

Proponents of the bill include lobbyists for industries who have had a hard time getting insurance and local government officials left without insurance. Senate Minority Leader, Sen. Kermit Kiebert, D-Hope, the sponsor of the bill, said the insurance pool would help businesses as well as cities and counties.

"I see it as Idahoans insuring Idahoans," he said. Kiebert said there are 70 cities in the state that are operating without liability insurance. "We have elected officials out there that are running without any insurance of any kind," he said.

Kiebert said Idahoans pay California and New Jersey rates for insurance.

Industry spokesmen disagreed. "What we're talking about here is incredibly bad legislation," said Gary Robb, who operates Industrial Indemnity Insurance of Idaho.

Robb said the state would be hard pressed to operate a successful insurance pool in an industry where private companies have already failed.

"You don't set an insurance company up by passing a piece of legislation," Robb said, noting it took him 13 months to set up his insurance company.

Robb said Kiebert was wrong about insurance rates in Idaho. "We pay Idaho rates. We're not paying California rates," he said.

Ray Oliver of the Idaho Highway Users Association said the legislation is much needed. He said one member of his group hasn't filed an insurance claim on its policy since 1974, but premiums increased from $16,000 to $39,000.

Pence broker Dana Kopper, who is helping Idaho counties set up a self-insurance fund, said the state should stay out of the insurance business and let insurance companies handle the needs of the state. "The private sector is, in fact, responding to this need."

He said the level of claims against law enforcement agencies in the state is high compared to other states and a high number of those claims go to litigation. The state would be targeting an expensive insurance market, he said.

Grant Simonds, who represents the Idaho Outfitters and Guides Association, said the guides lost their insurance 10 days before the start of hunting season and are in need of another insurance provider.

Drinking age still 19

BOISE (AP) — In quick fashion, the State Affairs Committee has disposed of a House-passed bill raising the state's legal drinking age from 19 to 21.

The committee voted 5-4 Friday afternoon to hold the bill indefinitely, usually a killing motion.

Capping a battle that has extended most of the session, the House on Thursday voted 52-31 to raise Idaho's legal drinking age to 21 effective Sept. 1.

Sponsors were divided whether they were taking the action for moral, economic or highway-safety reasons.

Backers of the measure have been warning that if Idaho does not meet a federal mandate to raise the drinking age to 21 by next October, the state could face the loss of about $4.5 million in federal funds this year and twice that amount next year.

"I don't like federal blackmail," said Sen. John Peavey, D-Carey.

He voted against the bill along with Democrats Bruce Sweeney of Lewiston and Kermit Kiebert of Hope, and with Republicans Bracke Yarbrough of Grand View and Phil Batt of Wilder.

Supporting the drinking-age bill were Republicans Mark Ricks, Rexburg; Reed Budge, Soda Springs; Vearl Crystal, Lewisville and James Risch, Boise.

School trustee recall emerges from committee

By DEAN MILLER
Times-News writer

BOISE — Legislation to bring Idaho law in compliance with the constitution by providing a method to recall school trustees struggled out of the House Education Committee Friday morning.

One of the bills that survived three revisions in the Senate Education Committee won its way to further debate on the floor of the House of Representatives.

Architects of the bill said they put as many barriers as they could in the bill to protect school board members from frivolous recall elections, while still allowing citizens to get rid of trustees.

The bill would require citizens who want to petition for the recall of a school district trustee to draft a formal set of charges to be reviewed by a magistrate court and then submitted to the voters, along with the rebuttal of the trustee in question.

In the House committee, members discussed adding a filing fee to the petition process.

And Rep. Dorothy Reynolds, R-Cardwell, moved that the committee send the bill to a summer study committee instead of acting on it this year. The motion failed, and the committee agreed to send the bill to the full House without recommendation.

The vote to send the bill out had a false start, though. Apparently surprised at a voice vote that would have sent the bill to the full House with a "do pass" recommendation, the committee went back and debated the bill again and then passed the motion to send the bill out unamended.

There is no law on the books that establishes a way for trustees to be recalled, despite a constitutional mandate that all elected officials be subject to recall.

Responding to a question from Rep. Jerry Callen, R-Jerome, Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction Gus Hein said the bill would allow trustees to be recalled for default spending, which is forbidden by law. Committee members said they didn't like the bill, but felt they had to vote for it to forestall the chance that the courts would write the recall measure to fill a void left by the Legislature.

Without the bill, "We're just laying this wide open for the courts to write something we may not want to live with," Callen said.

Corporate profit tax passes House

BOISE (AP) — In an unusual development, the Idaho House voted for a $5 million tax increase Friday and the measure came within five votes of unanimous support.

The bill, which now goes to the Senate, imposes a new 1 1/2 percent surtax on corporate profits above $50,000 per year. Sponsor Rep. James Lucas, R-Moscow, said it is expected to generate between $5 million and $5.5 million per year.

The money is to be earmarked for research at the state's colleges and universities, and Lucas and other sponsors predicted that investment would pay off in the long run.

Rep. Preston Brimhall, R-Idaho Falls, called the investment critical to Idaho's chances of winning a huge scientific research project for the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory.

That project, said Brimhall, will be "one of the major scientific programs in the world," and a drawback to Idaho's chances is "the inability of our higher education institutions to build up programs."

Brimhall said investing in scientific research "in the long run, will really pay dividends."

Rep. Janet Hay, R-Nampa, said it would be a "real shot in the arm" for the colleges.

"Corporations don't pay taxes; people pay taxes," said Elizabeth Altan, R-Nampa, who voted against the bill. Also voting against it were Rep. Dolores Crow, R-Nampa; Rep. Robert Forrey, R-Nampa; Rep. Myron Jones, R-Malad and Rep. Dorothy McCann, D-Wallace.

Cutler given 12-year term

BOISE (AP) — Aryan Nations security chief Elden "Bud" Cutler has been sentenced to 12 years in prison on his four-count felony conviction for hiring a man he thought was an assassin to kill a government informant.

"Jesus Christ was the only one who was tempted and never fell," a subdued Cutler said before his sentencing Friday in Boise. "I was tempted, and I fell."

U.S. District Judge Harold Ryan sentenced Cutler to two concurrent 10-year prison terms for retaliating against or tampering with a witness or informant, and for intimidating a witness or informant. He also handed down two concurrent two-year terms for using interstate commerce and the United States mail in murder-for-hire.

Moore slashes work force

BOISE (AP) — To reduce costs and stay competitive, Moore Financial Group has cut 108 positions from its work force since November and anticipates trimming about 100 more by the end of this year, Chief Executive Fred Humphreys said.

He also said Thursday the company will close two Idaho data processing offices.

"It isn't a massive layoff . . . It isn't a hotch pot," Humphreys said after the company's annual shareholders' meeting in Boise. "We are looking for ways to achieve efficiency of operations and improve our service."

Officials of the Boise-based financial services company said most of the job cuts were achieved through attrition or reassignment. Those methods will be used for future cuts whenever possible.

GOP to conduct straw poll

BOISE (AP) — Republican Party leaders will vote in Boise April 12 on who they favor among the six candidates for the party's 2nd District congressional nomination.

The GOP Executive Committee, in a meeting in Boise Thursday night, voted to conduct a straw poll by secret ballot on the candidates, then announce the result immediately.

State Chairman Blake Hall said Friday about 230 people have voting rights on the State Central Committee, which will conduct the straw poll. The meeting will be held at the Holiday Inn in Boise.

Senate OKs 'pork barrel' building plan

BOISE (AP) — Ignoring charges of "pork-barrel" politics, the Senate narrowly approved a $28.9 million budget—for—1987—state—building—maintenance—and—construction on Friday, casting a cloud over agreement on a politically acceptable education budget for the new year.

By a vote of 22-20, the Senate sent the measure to the House, where the vote was also expected to be close. Moderates seeking additional money to support education had hoped to siphon some of it from the public buildings allocation if it was defeated.

In addition to basic maintenance, the bill included money for State Hospital South in Blackfoot, the State School for the Deaf and Blind in Gooding, a new maximum security prison and nine projects scattered over the four campuses and Eastern Idaho Vocational Technical School. Those projects were the target of the bill's critics because they were not a priority of the Board of Education.

Approval of the bill in the Senate came as the conservative majority colleges, an amount Board of Education President Diane Bilyeu called inadequate although it matched the recommendation of—Democratic Gov. John Evans.

The higher education allocation was over $1 million below the level Board Director Charles McQuillen had said was necessary to avoid program cuts and faculty layoffs, although Mrs. Bilyeu said the full board had not sanctioned such a stand. The board had sought $104 million for 1987 after seeing its $88 million allotment for this year slashed by over $2 million this winter. Its impact was muted, however, by the fact that the building budget included over $7 million for projects on the campuses.

But the public schools budget proposal was some $3 million lower than the governor's recommendation and about $8 million below what State Schools Superintendent Jerry Evans was needed to stop further deterioration of the state-wide school system.

Although some legislative leaders have said that spending level cannot secure majority support needed for passage, much the same prediction had been made about the public works bill.

Senate Education Committee Chairman Terry Sverdsten, R-Cataldo, who has made $317 million his "bottom-line" for the schools, said the bill approved on a 13-11 vote nothing but force local school districts to hit their patrons for increased property taxes.

"I wouldn't be surprised to see some of the school districts that are near bankruptcy sue the state over the inequity of the distribution," he said.

House approves bill on medical education

BOISE (AP) — After a long debate whether Idaho has too many doctors, the Idaho House has approved legislation continuing a subsidized medical education program.

The measure, which goes to the Senate, cleared the House Friday on a 58-25 vote. But first it survived a long debate whether it should be put up for amendment, an effort which lost by a single vote.

Some House members said they wanted to amend the bill, which now says Idaho will drop five guaranteed seats in a regional medical education program.

Other members warned, more than once, that if the proposal was put up for amendment, the entire subsidy program might be killed.

The legislation, which now goes to the Senate, finances Idaho's participation in the Washington-Alaska-Montana-Idaho medical education program. The state is paying more than $2 million this year to pay for 20 seats per year in a regional medical education program.

Through a decision in the Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee, Idaho's guaranteed seats in the program will be cut from 20 per year to 15 per year.

Rep. Thomas Boyd, R-Moscow, said that is because the number of applications has been dropping.

There are three vacancies in the third year of the program and two in the second year, he said.

Rep. Janet Hay, R-Nampa, the wife of a doctor, tried put the bill up for amendment to restore at least some of the five seats. Also backing the effort was Rep. Dean Sorenson, R-Boise, a physician.

Rep. Mack Nelbaur, R-Paul, and Rep. Gene Winchester, R-Kuna, both warned that if the bill is put up for amendment, they'll try to kill it altogether.

Nelbaur said the bill spends about $25,000 per year per student to subsidize medical education, with no requirement that the medical students return to Idaho to practice.

"This is an example of the rich taking care of the rich," said Winchester. He said most of the people approved for the program are the children of doctors or are related to members of the state Board of Education.

"This is really a bargain that we're getting," said Rep. Kathleen "Kitty" Gurnsey, R-Boise. To Nelbaur's suggestion that it might be cheaper to simply give each medical student applicant cash, and let them go to school where they want, Gurnsey said the state could use the same approach with other college students.

Chemical licensing is expected to toughen

By KENNETH A BROWN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — In a rare moment of quiet, Bill Hazen, one of Twin Falls County's agricultural-extension agents, was explaining some of the considerations that required the use of malathion in last summer's spraying program against grasshoppers.

As it was in the U.S. Plant and Health Inspection Service office on the other side of town, quiet was a rare commodity in mid-summer. Planning for the federal grasshopper spraying program was in full swing. In addition to calls from farmers trying to organize themselves for inclusion in the spray program, there were frantic calls from those who were already watching their crops disappear and pleading for planes to get in the air.

Who's watching?

Seventh in a series

The quiet was interrupted by a local farmer sticking his head through the door: "Hey, I've got a real bad ground squirrel problem. They're cutting into my beans. I've got to do something now. What should I use?" he asked.

Hazen thought for a few seconds before replying. "Well," he said, "about the only thing you can use is strychnine. But you need a permit to apply it."

Classes for the license, however, are offered only in the fall and there was no way Hazen could give him a permit or sell the chemical to him.

Mumbling about the damned bureaucrats fouling everyone up, the farmer disappeared down the hall.

The problem, Hazen later explained, was that strychnine is a "restricted-use" pesticide. While a number of pesticides can be applied without any special training or permits, a farmer must have a license to apply a restricted-use pesticide.

In the case of the farmer's problem, he added, strychnine would not have provided an immediate solution anyway, as it takes several days of baiting and preparation for it to work effectively.

The distinction between restricted- and general-use pesticides is probably where federal licensing laws have the most direct impact on the farmer.

Restricted-use pesticides are those judged by the EPA as posing a special health or environmental hazard.

While licensing is nothing new to professional sprayers such as aerial applicators or custom applicators, the expanding list of restricted-use pesticides is beginning to make federal licensing laws affect farmers as well.

With a public that is increasingly concerned about the potential hazards of pesticides, state and federal regulators, as well as representatives from the chemical industry, stress that ensuring proper use is important.

We have some very hazardous chemicals in our farming operations," says Dale Beck, Twin Falls County's other extension agent. "They are tools, and they can be good or bad, depending on how they're used."

Strychnine is used for rodent control and though it may not be as much a concern as more widely used insecticides, such as Temik or Parathion, its special problems illustrate some of the concerns behind the restricted-use designation.

"In the case of strychnine," says Beck, "it's one of the few effective chemicals left for controlling ground squirrels. If we lose it, we don't have many tools left. And we don't want to lose it. But we must have"

Moon attacks Legislature's record, delay

Taking aim at fiscal choices, she runs hard for lieutenant

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — State Treasurer Majorie Ruth Moon, seeking the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, on Friday rapped the state Legislature on the knuckles for failures in dealing with significant economic problems and in controlling state funding and spending.

"Their 'Papa knows best' attitude appalls me," she said in a campaign speech through the Magic Valley.

The legislators are denying the taxpayers, for instance, the right to vote for local option taxes, Moon added. "The temporary sales tax included in the 1985 state budget, which the GOP-dominated Legislature nine weeks to accept, only decreases part of the estimated $21 million deficit. That leaves the state government to either borrow money or cut back services to deal with the remaining shortfall.

MARJORIE RUTH MOON
Seeks taxing alternatives

She couldn't understand, she added, why the Legislature abolished the investment position in her office. That action saved $40,000 initially, but lost the state $2 million in potential investments from state funds.

"The legislators needed to get back into the 'real world,'" Moon said. "I would like to see them reserve final judgment until the session has ended. So far, however, 'it (the Legislature) has been one of the poorest for accomplishing anything' at a cost of $15,000 a day to taxpayers for legislative operations.

The economy in the state needs help, as evidenced by closed businesses and foreclosed farms, she said. Some of the Republican candidates for lieutenant governor are promoting economic development and international foreign trade, she said. That job should be left to the state Department of Commerce, which had positions cut by the Legislature.

"She would promote a policy where the state government will be a partnership with the people by providing non-priority tax resources of funding," Moon said.

"I want to fill in the gaps of government."

Moon, who has been the state treasurer for 23 years, said she entered the race to help set policy, instead of working with the technical side of state finances in the treasurer's office.

"People will remember in November that the state lawmakers failed to solve some financial problems, she added.

On the business of campaigning, Moon said the Democrats this year have a strong ticket, including former governor Cecil Andrus seeking the job back; Gov. John Evans, who is eyeing the U.S. Senate position now held by Republican Steve Symms; and U.S. Rep. Richard Stallings, who won the 2nd District position from embattled Republican incumbent George Hanz.

Moon said she sees no front runners among the five Republicans seeking the nomination to challenge Stallings in November. Stallings, she added, was doing an excellent job of representing the people — Democrat and Republican, alike — in the district.

In her own race, Moon said she has been a popular vote-getter when she ran for state treasurer, which people probably conceived as a non-partisan job. Now, she will be running for an office more political in nature. "But she believes voters will follow her."

"I have the experience and expertise and I want to use it."

Moon said that experience and name identification give her the edge.

The much-publicized race among the six Republicans in the 2nd Congressional District race has obscured the fact there also is a Democratic primary in May, Moon claimed.

Former state Sen. Terry Rellily of Nampa is opposing her for the Democratic nomination.

On the Republican side, Boise businessman C.E. "Butch" Otter, Post Falls attorney Chuck Lempius and State Rep. Linden Bateman, R-Idaho Falls, want the nomination.

"She had no predictions about who would win the GOP nomination for lieutenant governor. She joked that if the race were won by Otter, the son-in-law of Idaho industrialist J.R. Simplot, she couldn't outspend him in a general election campaign.

While she will do some fund-raising with the usual dinners and teas, most of the contributions probably will head to the "big name" races

Federal funding prompts projects

By ANNETTE CARY

TWIN FALLS — The Snake River Canyon walls near the entrance to Shoshone Falls Park will undergo a scrubbing this summer and public facilities in a dozen Magic Valley communities will also be facelifted, with the help of federal money.

Rob Lundgren, coordinator for the South-Central Private Industry Council, says money has been found to hire enough youth work crews to complete all the painting, planting, refurbishing and building requested in applications from Magic Valley communities.

The communities, counties or civic groups provide equipment and materials, and the council pays the wages of the work crews for eight weeks with federal money from the Job Training Partnership Act. Each crew will have four youths, who are living at or below the poverty level, and an adult trainer.

The city of Twin Falls has gained approval from the Private Industry Council to use a work crew to remove graffiti from rocks at the entrance to the park with paint remover and high-pressure sprays or, if necessary, sandblasting.

The city receives frequent complaints about the placement of the rocks at Shoshone Falls Community Development Director LaMar Orton. The complaints come not only from local residents, but also from tourists on first-time visits to the park who are "shocked to find the area marred by graffiti," he says.

Policeman exonerated of charges

The Associated Press

TWIN FALLS — A 5th District magistrate has granted a motion from the Idaho Attorney General's Office to drop a charge of grand theft by possession of stolen property against a Harlow policeman.

Marvin Krueger was charged by the Cassia County prosecutor in October with possessing a television, set allegedly stolen from the Pon-tiac Inn in Burley.

The case was turned over to the attorney general's office to avoid a possible conflict of interest, Deputy Attorney General Michael Henderson said.

Henderson, of the attorney general's criminal justice division, said a review of evidence gathered by the Cassia County Sheriff's Department and state investigators, showed there was not enough evidence that Krueger had committed a crime.

Hurlbutt awards jail suit fees

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Fifth District Court Judge Daniel Hurlbutt on Friday awarded attorney Greg Fuller $7,358 in fees and costs in a lawsuit he filed against Twin Falls County over conditions at the county jail.

Twin Falls County Commissioner Marvin Hempleman said, "If we thought the fees were fair, we would have paid them. The taxpayers are being given the business," he added.

Sheriff Jim Munn, who was named in the lawsuit along with the Board of County Commissioners, had no comment.

Fuller, who was out of town and not available for comment, did not even know about the ruling in his favor, according to his office.

Fuller had requested $10,192 for fees and $1,626 in costs for the suit he filed on Oct. 22 on behalf of two jail inmates. The suit claimed the 74-year-old jail was inadequate and did not meet constitutional requirements.

An agreement between Fuller and the county was reached on Feb. 11 in which the county agreed to make several improvements at the jail and place a bond proposal before the public to finance a new jail. In the agreement, the county admitted the jail had problems of "constitutional dimension."

County officials, however, didn't agree to pay Fuller his fees.

At a Feb. 21 hearing on the fee issue, Fuller claimed he and associate Dan Mink deserved to be paid by the county because federal statutes allowed for fees in civil rights cases where the plaintiffs couldn't afford to pay. Without the suit, the county wouldn't have implemented the improvements, Fuller contended.

Lloyd Webb, who represented the county, objected to the payment. He argued that the plaintiffs weren't the "prevailing party" under state law.

Hurlbutt disagreed with the county. Federal law did govern in this case and according to federal definitions the plaintiffs did prevail.

"The stipulation entered into between the parties substantially accomplishes the goals sought by the plaintiffs," Hurlbutt ruled. "The conclusion is inescapable that the plaintiffs in this action are the prevailing parties."

The county also had argued it had done its best to solve the jail problems.

The county's efforts to improve the present jail over the last two years by various methods were well documented, Hurlbutt wrote.

The important point in the attorney fee issue didn't revolve around past efforts to replace or improve the jail, the judge ruled.

Kimberly School Board urges addition of key sidewalk

By MICHAEL VANAUDELN
Times-News correspondent

KIMBERLY — The Kimberly School Board plans to ask the City Council to build a sidewalk along Main Street on the east side of the Kimberly Elementary School.

The busy road currently has no sidewalk where school children walk to school, causing a potential traffic hazard, board members said Thursday.

Elementary school principal Chris Charlton, Superintendent

Richard Bauscher, and the trustees agreed that children walking down the street are "taking their lives in their own hands." Board members said there is no place for the children to walk except on the edge of the street.

Trustee Jim Campbell, who is also the city's chief of police, said the area does have a traffic problem and that the police department is monitoring the area closely.

"We have had radar on that area constantly," he said. "It is a dangerous spot, and we hope we can prevent any accident (from) occurring."

The school district cannot build a sidewalk in the area because the property belongs to the city. Board members hope that public pressure will convince the city to build the sidewalk if funds are available.

Charlton said that several parents have asked that there be a student patrol in the area. But he thinks that a sidewalk would be a more realistic solution to the problem.

Bauscher said the sidewalk should be a top priority for the city.

"It is a dangerous enough area that the city needs to address itself to the situation," he said. "Building a sidewalk would be advantageous to everyone."

Kimberly Mayor Jesse Posey said Friday that public opinion on the issue would help in getting the council to build a sidewalk, but said money is tight.

"We've been using our money to fix the streets," he said. "I don't know what is available for other projects."

In other business, Bauscher reported the Idaho Department of Education is cutting $14,000 from this year's allotment of funds as a part of a statewide education cutback. Bauscher also said there were three education budget proposals going through the state Legislature. The largest one is for $220 million, a 5.2 percent increase over last year. The other two are 2 and 3 percent increases, $309 and $310 million.

The biggest proposal is the one

(the superintendents) want because a 5 percent increase would help us fight the 4 percent inflation," Bauscher said. "If one of the other budgets goes through, then we lose out."

The board approved the 1986-87 school calendar. The school year will begin on Aug. 25. The board agreed to start the school year break, running from Dec. 22 to Jan. 2, to coincide with the Twin Falls district break. As a result of the expanded vacation, the last day of

Rodeo events slated for '86 Desert Arena

JACKPOT, Nev. — Expert ropers, barrel riders and barrel racers will be competing during the next several months in a series of horsemanship and rodeo events at Jackpot.

The Cactus Pete's Desert Arena opens the season April 16-17 with the 1988 cow-cutting competition, with $4,700 added prize money going to the winning entries. Zeb Bell, owner of the facility, said the event is approved by the National Cutting Horse Association, as well as the Utah and Pacific Coast Associations.

Top cutting horses from surrounding states are expected to see action during the two-day event, starting Sunday.

There will be a special appreciation dinner and show for contestants at Cactus Pete's Casino on April 16.

Ron Hess of Jerome is arena manager.

The Jackpot event will be followed by the W.D. Ranch cutting competition April 19-19. The ranch is located 1 1/2 miles southeast of Jackpot.

Other upcoming events include the first annual Cactus Pete's Bull-O-Rama on April 19-20. This will feature the top 60 barrel riders in world competition, Bell said, with $5,000 added prize money. There also will be open and novice barrel racing events, with $1,000 added money.

A team roping school, conducted by Dee Pickett and Mike Beora, is scheduled for May 1-3 at the arena, with a limit of 40 students. Additional information is available from Ron Bricker of Jerome at 324-7844 or Bell at 423-4655.

Irwin-Williams to talk on archaeology at CSI

TWIN FALLS — In one of two appearances in the state, a noted archaeologist will present a slide lecture program on archaeology in the Southwest at the College of Southern Idaho on Thursday.

Cynthia Irwin-Williams, director of the Social Sciences Center at the Desert Research Institute, University of Nevada, will discuss "Archaeology: The Old and the New in the Southwest."

The lecture will begin at 7:30 p.m. in rooms 117-118, Shields Building. The lecture is free and open to the public.

Bill Woodall, who wrote the grant bringing Irwin-Williams to Idaho, called the archaeologist "a real slicker" because of her breakthroughs in the field. And he said CSI was selected because the Affil field eastern Idaho was not getting enough programs in humanities.

"Also, there's a large, active amateur archaeology society around Twin Falls," he said. "It's a place where people would recognize her name and know of her work. It's a place to get a good crowd."

Irwin-Williams, who received her Ph.D. from Harvard in 1963, developed new archaeological methods for studying nomadic peoples and their artifacts. During her lecture, she will compare her new methods with approaches used by archaeologists in the past.

The program is supported in part by a grant from the Association for the Humanities in Idaho, a state-based program of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Hansen picks her campaign committee

POCATELLO (AP) — Republican congressional candidate Connie Hansen has named James Johnston of Pocatello to chair a 20-member campaign committee.

The wife of former Rep. George Hansen said Friday that members of her campaign committee reflect her broad base of support throughout the 2nd Congressional District.

Mrs. Hansen is vying with five other GOP candidates in the May primary for the right to challenge Democratic Rep. Richard Stallings in the November election.

Besides Johnston, Mrs. Hansen said other committee members were Dave Burggraf and Ray Burns, Idaho Falls; Jim Willmore, St. Anthony; Homer Satterfield, Both Taysom and Bob Barlow, Pocatello; Clyde Gault, Rupert; John Burmonson, Mountain Home; Billie Zollinger, Bliss; Verlon Lauder, Rexburg; Carey Hawkins, Geri Moomhann and Judie Lorde, Boise; Joe Salisbury, Guy Kelker and Bill Chancy, Twin Falls; Ann Lane, Lawrence; and George and George Johnson, Burley.

Unique autos to be displayed

TWIN FALLS — About 25 vintage, antique and special interest vehicles will be displayed today Sunday by area members of the Veteran Motor Car Club of America.

The display opens inside the Blue Lakes Mall at 4:30 p.m. today and will remain open to the public until 4:30 p.m. Sunday. With only a few special exceptions, all cars shown will be at least 25 years old and many will represent notable history.

Among the vehicles on display will be several that have not been featured in the Mall shows during the past four years. The style show that usually accompanies the display will not be held this year, but many members will be wearing clothing of the same era as the cars.

An information table will set up in the mall, where information will also be available about the annual swap meet coming up in August in Jerome.

Kugler is superintendent again

JEROME — The Jerome School Board has approved a three-year contract for Richard Kugler to serve as district superintendent.

He has been acting superintendent since last summer following the resignation of former superintendent Stephenson Youngerman.

Kugler said he has asked the board not to set a salary for his position until the district's financial situation "is a little clearer." He estimates it will take about four years to make the district "debt-free."

His contract extends from July 1, 1988, to June 30, 1991.

Reilly plans a public meeting

TWIN FALLS — Terry Reilly, a Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor and a former state senator from Nampa, will hold a public meeting Monday at 5 p.m. at Canyon Springs Inn.

He will be discussing the status of the lottery in Idaho, after recently establishing a statewide organization to promote a lottery for Idaho, according to a press release from his office.

Reilly also is discussing a proposed think tank, dubbed the Idaho Foundation for Public Policy, to make long-range plans for the state, the press release says.

Reception for Eagles scheduled

TWIN FALLS — A reception honoring the College of Southern Idaho Golden Eagles basketball team, following its return from the National Junior College Athletic Association men's basketball championships at Hutchinson, Kan., is scheduled for Sunday, from 8:30 to 10 p.m., in the CSI cafeteria.

Refreshments will be available and comments are expected from Coach Fred Trenkle and President Gerald Meyerhoefer, according to CSI spokesperson Sylvia Mullinix. The event is open to the public.

problems, public pressure, the EPA, or whoever, is going to make a case and show that it is being misused and it will be taken away."

The potential hazards of strychnine, both as a long-term poison and as a short-term poison for children or pets, are obvious, he says.

In the past, few chemicals were developed as restricted use. As reports of problems on the ground have come in, the EPA has been adding previously unrestricted pesticides to the list.

"The list of restricted-use pesticides has been expanding on a daily basis," says Mark Butler, an investigator with the Idaho Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Pesticides. "Where the private applicator wasn't affected by the restricted-use designation, he will become more and more affected by it. Up until 1984 most restricted-use pesticides were not applied."

Licensing programs for professional applicators and restricted-use pesticides are being developed by the EPA. Enforcement and education, however, are state responsibilities.

In Idaho, enforcement is managed by the state Department of Agriculture. Education and training for the licenses is the responsibility of the state's agricultural extension services.

Professional applicators must take a written test and pay a licensing fee as well as carry liability insurance. Testing for commercial applicators is divided into 15 different categories, ranging from sprayers of agricultural chemicals to lawn sprayers.

"Private applicators are required to attend a training session for a $5 fee. Currently, however, there is no requirement for retraining, either for professional or private applicators."

When the state set up its licensing program, it had planned to require yearly retesting. That was dropped, however, because of funding problems.

"Basically we would like to have retesting for several reasons," says Red Awe, head of the state pesticide bureau. "We would like to reintroduce people to the basics, and the technology is also changing very quickly."

Labels have also been changing, Awe says, and there have been new regulations intended to protect farm workers — that pesticide users should be aware of.

Local chemical dealers seem to think that licensing and education programs have been a good thing.

"The problems are less than they were five years ago," says Bill Lewis of Ranges' dealership at Curry Crossing, west of Twin Falls. "You used to see empty containers here and there, and they don't do that anymore."

Earl Jones of Steve Regan Co.'s office in Jerome agrees. "The farmer has been getting much better education. Ten years ago, Mountain Home constantly to calibrate spray equipment," says Jones of the adjustments needed to ensure pesticides are applied at the proper legal rates. In the past three years, "I haven't done any. Farmers have learned to do it themselves."

Now, however, there is still a potential for problems as farmers who received their restricted-use license a few years ago can apply any newly designated restricted-use pesticide. With the list of restricted-use pesticides rapidly expanding, state officials say the EPA is looking closely at recertification of private and professional applicators.

Awe predicts there will be some type of retesting required for private and professional applicators in Idaho within the next two years.

Jerome chamber meeting set

JEROME — The annual Jerome Chamber of Commerce meeting, featuring a luncheon and an introduction of the newly appointed executive secretary, will be held Wednesday in the Blue Lakes Country Club.

Bonny Ross is the new president of the Jerome Chamber of Commerce and Ron Aldrich is president-elect. Norma Herzinger Fliscus will serve as vice president and other board members are Sharon Neuberger, John Heazler, Charles Correll, Jim Evans and Emmett Broilner, who is the retiring president.

The board of directors has selected Carreen Prunty as new executive secretary. She succeeds Ethel Nelson, who is moving to Nevada where her husband Dick, former manager of the J.C. Penney Co. store in Jerome, is transferring.

The Wednesday night dinner is at 7:15 p.m., following a social hour at 6:15 p.m. Deadline for reservations is Monday.

Rather, the critical point was whether the lawsuit was necessary to achieve the result reached.

"For all their work, county officials failed to show plans to rectify the extensive fire safety problems in the Twin Falls jail, which is located on the fourth floor of the courthouse, Hurlbutt decided. A good part of the agreement reached in the lawsuit pertains to the jail, such as the county agreeing to add a smoke detection system or improve fire exits.

"This action was a necessary and important factor in achieving the improvement for which the county has committed. There is no doubt that the plaintiff's lawsuit was the catalyst motivating the county to provide the primary relief sought."

On the issue of reasonable fees, Hurlbutt ordered many factors including experience of the attorney and "undiscoverability" of a case, among other items.

Fuller wanted to be paid for a total of about 136 hours at $75 per hour for the time he and Mink spent on the case. Hurlbutt knocked off about 45 hours of the request because some of those hours were spent seeking their fees and costs from the county or on duplicated services. Hurlbutt said a few hours because the explanation of the services was insufficient.

Because Mink had practiced law only one year, Hurlbutt reduced the rate of his payment to $50 an hour. He left Fuller at $75 an hour.

After all the exclusions and reductions, Fuller was awarded $2,992 for his "reasonable" time and $2,440 for Mink's services, Hurlbutt ruled.

Fuller also asked for $100,000, $1,626 for costs related to the suit, such as expenses for expert witness and filing fees. The costs were reasonable, the judge wrote.

• Mike Packham, parent of three Kimberly students, addressed the board about a lack of fun for the school's agriculture department. Packham told the board he felt the department is being treated unfairly when money is distributed among school programs.

He said that the agriculture curriculum is getting the same treatment as the other departments. Bauscher told Packham if he still has concerns after further discussion with school officials, another meeting could be arranged.

• Two board members, Mary Ann Fischer and Weldon Shuman, are running for re-election in a May 20 election for their positions in zones 4 and 5. Both members are ending their terms on June 30. Neither served a full term. Both replaced previous board members.

• Anyone interested in running for the positions can call the Kimberly School District office at 422-4179. Petitions are due May 2, and candidates must obtain at least five signatures from residents in their zone.

The board also approved all contracts of district teachers' with tenure.

The attorney general's office last week asked 5th District Magistrate Michael Redman to dismiss the charge against Krueger, Henderson said.

Redman said he granted that request on Wednesday.

Krueger has been on a voluntary leave of absence from the Burley Police Department during the investigation. Chief Leman Messey said Thursday that Krueger has asked the City Council to terminate that leave so he could return to duty.

Messey said Krueger probably would be reinstated after the city goes official word that he has been exonerated.

Involving Andrus and Evans, she added.

Her campaigning is stymied while the state Legislature still is in session, she added: Once it has adjourned, she will take some vacation time and jump into the type of campaigning that has gotten her elected in the years past, she adds. And, that is the door-to-door, old fashioned."

"That's the way to find what the people want and what you can do for them," she said.

Several of the communities and county grants will provide requested help with refurbishing or expanding fairground facilities.

The city of Oakley and the Oakley Vigilantes plan a joint project to build new benches, add an office, rig more lighting and plant a lawn. The Gooding County Fair and Rodeo Board plans to expand and repair corrals and to add a loading chute, fences and benches. And Cassia County plans fairground painting and repair, in addition to fencing other public facilities.

Projects in most other communities will involve landscaping and refurbishing of parks and public buildings and school building repairs.

Crucifixion wasn't romantic

CHICAGO (AP) — Jesus Christ's execution on the cross was "gruesome and disgraceful" with extreme suffering and not the romantic death of legend, says a pathologist who wrote a new medical analysis based on historical records.

His death was probably hastened by earlier floggings, said Dr. William D. Edwards, a pathologist at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn.

"There has been a tendency, probably on the part of artists and denominations and even lay individuals, ... to almost romanticize the crucifixion and to not use the gruesome and disgraceful means of executing it," Edwards said in a telephone interview Thursday.

"From that standpoint, there is perhaps not enough appreciation of what Christ suffered."

His analysis, co-written by a Methodist pastor and medical illustrator, appears in the current Journal of the American Medical Association. It concludes that Jesus died from shock due to blood loss, and because the weight of his body pulling down on the outstretched arms and shoulders made breathing difficult.

The study also addresses the question of whether Jesus really did die on the cross. Christians believe that he died and rose from the dead three days later.

Most people say his death is "self-evident. It really isn't," Edwards said.

There are a couple of arguments against the resurrection based on the case that Jesus did not die on the cross, but merely swooned and was later resuscitated. "This will put that to rest," he said.

All three co-authors are Christians, and Edwards said that he is a member of the church. He is regarded as biased. So, "we tried to go to extreme lengths" to get reliable data, "and let the cards fall where they might," he said.

"What we found ... does not come into conflict with Scripture," he said.

The program will have a close look at the scourging or flogging, that was a legal prelude to execution at the time.

Clergy urged to boycott services

DENVER (AP) — A group of Denver-area Catholic and Protestant ministers has issued a plea to 400 of their peers to boycott activities leading up to the dedication of a new Mormon temple in Arapahoe County.

The letter being circulated claims part of the Mormon temple ritual includes statements that traditional Christian ministers are tools of the devil named Lucifer.

The letter also expressed fears that if traditional Christian clergy attend the temple events it would give Mormonism "Christian credibility in the community."

"This was not an attempt to make trouble. It was kind of a brother-to-brother warning, saying, 'This is something you need to be alerted to,'" said the Rev. Henry F. Fingerlin of the Hills Lutheran Church in Arapahoe County.

The letter was sent out on Hills Lutheran Church letterhead and was produced with the help of the Ex-Mormons for Jesus, Fingerlin said.

As for the alleged ritual involving Lucifer and a preacher, Fingerlin said, "It's an attack on all Christian clergy. We affirm Mormons' rights to practice and preach their faith, but we also affirm our right to warn other Christians about what Mormonism teaches."

Elder Alfred L. Draney, Denver-area representative for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, said the letter was the latest example of members of the 150-year-old Mormon faith being "singled out for being different."

"If our worship of Jesus Christ is seen as different from that of other Christian faiths, we take exception in the religious liberty which allows us that privilege of expression," Draney said.

Draney said the activities before the opening of the temple will be educational in nature. Non-Mormons are invited to attend open-house sessions. The dedication itself will be limited to Mormons.

Church news

TWIN FALLS — Sunrise services on these Sunday will be conducted at Shoshone Falls by the men's organization of the First United Methodist Church of Twin Falls.

L.M. Boyd What's what

Among young men and women -- those from 18 to 24 years old -- the women evidently are more independent than the men. Sixty-two percent of the men that age still live with their parents. Only 47 percent of the women do.

Not everybody with a telephone has an answering machine, you may be surprised to learn. Only one out of 10 does so now. More are going that way all the time, though.

Anybody in your family over 70 years old? If so, please note, said Seasoned Citizen was born before the Japanese got karate. It was the Okinawans, not the Japanese, who originated that martial art.

BRIDGE
 Can you support the old contention that women are happier when happy and sadder when sad than men are?

Such a simple generally may no longer hold up in today's advanced disciplines. But it was the claim of that pioneer psychologist Lewis M. Terman.

Each habitual criminal tends to repeat the same crime, sort of, in the same way, sort of. This is said to be what helps police most in the conviction of offenders. Were it not for the modus operandi patterns, it's claimed, the law officers wouldn't have a chance.

If you play bridge, you probably make in any one session about 400 border-line decisions, at least a third of them wrong. Or so contends a bridge authority.

STRAYING DOG

Those who purport to know all about canines contend the dog that respects its master rarely leaves home for more than 15 minutes.

Q. Which is the older flag--the British Union Jack, the French Tricolor or the U.S. Stars and Stripes?
 A. The Stars and Stripes.

You've read that fish make noises underwater, but did you know the fish in the tropics are a lot noisier than the fish in the Arctic?

That eminent scholar Theodor Reik claimed women write more but mail fewer letters than do men.

Daily Horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You do wonderfully well now by forgetting the past and its mistakes and concentrate upon the new and inspirational aspects of your life. Think big today.

ARIES (Mar 21 to Apr. 19) Pay that bill and forget about it, and then you can make the progress you want to in the outside world.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Steer clear of a person who makes demands on you. Get into your rightful niche so that you can operate more efficiently.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You are thinking cleverly and you know how to make the right contacts so that you can improve your mode of operating.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to Jul. 21) Think how to add to your income and become a more important person and forget pleasure that is only temporary.

LEO (Jul. 22 to Aug. 21) You are charming and can gain personal desires easily, provided your don't sit in that easy chair and let the world go by.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Sit down quietly and think about widening your vision. Be concerned more with the big issues and not so much on details.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A good day to interest your friends in some new project you have been working on. Much sociability gets right results.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Get outside duties handled that need attention though they are hardly enjoyable, and they are soon out of the way.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Go to new sites and make worthwhile contacts that can be very helpful to you in the near future.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can handle many small but important matters today if you don't keep harping on one issue.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Show an outside partner that you appreciate his or her ideas and outlets. Avoid bigwig who is trouble.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get your home in better condition and add to the harmony now existing there. Build up your energies and stamina with exercise.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TO DAY... He or she will be able to readily understand every phase of any project that is fascinating and can make a big success of it. Give sufficient praise for good work done in order to further raise the incentive. One who will have great vision and tremendous talents.

LaRouche party predicts growing tide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Followers of ultraconservative Lyndon LaRouche predicted Friday that their political victories in Illinois marked the beginning of a movement that could rid the world of "traitorous" influences destroying civilization.

The Illinois results are just the beginning of a landslide, said Warren Hammerman, chairman of the National Democratic-Polity Committee — LaRouche's political organization.

Hammerman said that group has flooded about 800 candidates so far this year for federal, state and local offices around the nation.

Hammerman made the comments at a news conference at which he hailed the unexpected Illinois victories of Mark Fairchild and Janice Hart — as "a clear signal" that Americans are upset about the Gramm-Rudman deficit reduction law and government "mismanagement" and "cover-up" on the spread of the disease AIDS.

Fairchild, 28, who won Tuesday's Democratic primary for Illinois lieutenant governor, and Mrs. Hart, 31, the apparent winner of the Democratic nomination for secretary of state, joined Hammerman at the news conference.

The state constitution requires the nominees for governor and lieutenant governor to run as a ticket.

Former Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson, who won the party's nod for governor, has threatened to run on a third-party ticket rather than campaign with Fairchild or Mrs. Hart.

Candidates Janice Hart and Mark Fairchild confer Friday.

Stevenson has denounced LaRouche's philosophy as one of hatred and bigotry.

Fairchild and LaRouche, who did not attend the conference but issued a written statement, said Stevenson should meet with LaRouche and his candidates and come to an agreement on a platform for the fall campaign.

Those issues, according to Fairchild, include stopping farm bankruptcies and the loss of the state's industrial capacity.

But Mrs. Hart offered a broader vision of the LaRouche agenda. She accused international bankers, drug dealers and top-ranking officials of American government of involvement in numerous conspiracies.

She said, for instance, that international bankers foster drug trafficking and the spread of the disease AIDS through Africa and the rest of the world.

"I'm going to put every drug pusher behind bars..." she snapped.

She said banking interests were responsible for AIDS because their policies had created a "pre-Iron Age existence" in some African nations and thus rendered the population susceptible to plagues.

Likening herself to Joan of Arc, Mrs. Hart said "we will not only win the election, we will win the nation away from the traitorous influence that is currently running the show today."

At another point, she said the American people endorse LaRouche's policies as a way "to get the traitors out of Washington...."

Mrs. Hart advocated "Nuremberg tribunals" to judge international bankers and other unnamed persons involved in what she described as a worldwide economic conspiracy that included backers of the Gramm-Rudman plan.

She vowed to use her powers as secretary of state to deny licenses to banks involved in unlawful activity and to close restaurants that may spread AIDS.

Jim Graham, a spokesman for the Illinois Secretary of State's office, said the office, which deals mainly in licensing vehicles and drivers and registering corporations and securities, has no authority to shut down banks or restaurants.

"That's absurd," he commented in a telephone interview.

While reviewing her background, Mrs. Hart was asked if she had attended college.

"No, I didn't get brainwashed," she snapped.

Lawmakers urge halt to test

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 50 congressmen and senators on Friday urged President Reagan to cancel a nuclear test scheduled Saturday in Nevada and to accept the Soviet Union's offer of a joint test ban.

"We're here to say stop. For God's sake, stop, Mr. President," Rep. Berkeley Bedell, D-Iowa, said at a press conference given by legislators who signed a letter to Reagan.

"We have a golden opportunity, if we are prepared to seize it, to stop nuclear weapons testing on this planet to send a loud and clear signal to the rest of the world that we are prepared to do it," said Rep. Thomas Downey, D-N.Y.

He said there would be a "public relations catastrophe" if the test proceeded.

Leaders of the effort said approximately 50 House members signed the letter, along with five senators.

Beverly Keen of the Department of Energy said Saturday's test would be in the range of 20-to-150 kilotons, but declined to disclose any other information.

Deficit surges in February

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal budget deficit surged to $2.38 billion in February, four times higher than the January imbalance, the Treasury Department said Friday.

The department said the deficit for the first five months of the 1988 fiscal year was running 5.7 percent ahead of the deficit for the same period in fiscal 1985.

However, the administration is projecting that the deficit for the entire fiscal year will be $20.78 billion, down 4.5 percent from the record $21.2 billion deficit set in the last fiscal year, which ended on Sept. 30.

Packwood wants bonds taxed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Refusal to tax interest on all state and local government bonds owned by the wealthy will make it more difficult to pass a fair tax-overhaul plan, the chairman of the Senate Finance Committee said Friday.

"Several thousand people who are millionaires will pay no tax" if the committee on Monday votes, as expected, to limit the provision, Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., told a news conference. "It is important that the American people no longer read in their newspapers that wealthy individuals and profitable corporations are not paying taxes."

More than half the 20 members of the committee oppose a provision in Packwood's tax plan that would tax interest on all state and local bonds now owned or bought in the future by people who are subject to a special income tax known as the "alternative minimum tax."

On tax returns filed in 1984, fewer than 265,000 couples and individuals were rich enough and had deductions big enough to pay that tax.

Action keeps Superfund alive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to prevent a virtual shutdown next month of the nation's toxic waste cleanup effort cleared Congress Friday and went to the White House for President Reagan's expected signature.

The stopgap "Superfund" bill would pump a $150 million transfusion into the nation's premier environmental program, which has been limping along ever since Congress allowed its principal money source — a tax on petroleum and basic petrochemicals — to expire last Sept. 30.

The legislation would allow the Environmental Protection Agency to spend the new money through May 31 while House and Senate negotiators work on a five-year plan to restructure and expand the effort to clean up chemical dumps.

Shuttle commission views detailed movie

WASHINGTON (AP) — NASA experts ran a riveting movie Friday for the Challenger investigating commission showing in dramatic frames a few thousands of a second apart, the flame from a booster rocket leak triggering the explosion that cost seven lives.

"We've looked at the heating that would result from that type of flame coming out," said Wayne Littles, after the 14.5-minute, computer-enhanced film showed flame from the booster shooting for about seven seconds toward the shuttle's external tank. That tank contains volatile liquid hydrogen and liquid oxygen fuel.

"There's more than sufficient heat during that time to burn heat through the tank," said Littles, associate director for engineering at NASA's Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala. "You could burn a hole in that tank in a couple of seconds."

Challenger exploded during the 74th second of its flight after launch from Kennedy Space Center in Florida on Jan. 28. Those killed included schoolteacher Christa McAuliffe, the first "ordinary citizen" to be aboard a shuttle.

The films and still pictures shown the presidential commission, came from 14 cameras routinely trained at the shuttle from liftoff until it nears orbit. Littles and other experts from Huntsville provided the commission with a new, more detailed timeline of events from liftoff to explosion, 9 miles high and 8 miles downrange from the launch pad.

Like all Friday's witnesses, Littles testified that tests and analysis during the last two weeks have ruled out all potential causes other than a failed seam in the aft portion of the right solid booster rocket.

"I believe we have eliminated all the other possibilities," he said, adding that the remaining theories "all deal with the joint."

A commission source said that the panel intends to recommend that the joint be redesigned, even if the exact way in which it failed cannot be pinpointed. NASA officials have said the shuttle will not fly again until joint problems are remedied.

After a review of the three-year history of problems with the joint, commission chairman William P. Rogers noted that "some of the people who made the decision to launch (Challenger) said they were not familiar with the problem."

Littles responded: "I do know those problems have been reviewed in flight readiness reviews" attended by launch decision-makers. "I can't imagine it was not known."

Meanwhile, rough seas forced the Challenger search and recovery fleet to suspend operations Friday, and eight of the nine ships steamed into port to wait for calmer seas.

Mass-grave reports prompt investigation in Philippines

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — The Presidential Commission on Human Rights reports of mass graves that are believed to contain foes of deposed President Ferdinand E. Marcos or his cronies. Chairman Jose Diokno said Friday.

He also complained that human rights abuses persist in the Philippines.

Diokno told a news conference his committee received reports that the graves might hold remains of some of the more than 500 people believed abducted by the military or by private troops of provincial strongmen.

He declined to go into details. Diokno himself was jailed for two years in the early 1970s by Marcos, who ruled this nation of 55.5 million people for 20 years before fleeing in 1986 to exile last month during a generally peaceful uprising.

"We believe most mass graves are near the safe houses" (where political dissidents were said to have been interrogated or tortured), but we don't know where the safe houses are," Diokno said Friday.

He said "of the five or six hundred people who disappeared we believe at least 90 percent are dead" and are buried in these graves or others.

Diokno said that some military commanders and local warlords have not stopped abiding human rights abuses.

"Human rights violations continue. We haven't enough evidence to comment on it yet, but there is preliminary evidence of such violations," Diokno said.

The seven-member commission was created on Tuesday. On Thursday, President Corason Aquino directed it to compile evidence of

Panama rejects asylum bid

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — Panama, citing security problems, on Friday rejected Ferdinand E. Marcos' request for asylum, but appeared to leave an opening for further negotiations concerning the ousted Philippine president.

Presidential press secretary Guillermo Antonio Adames read a brief communique that said President Eric Arturo Delvalle "has made the decision not to accept Mr. Marcos' request."

He then was asked if the matter was closed. "Maybe," he replied. When asked if the government might reconsider its refusal he said, "I'm not saying that. But in a negotiation, you never know."

Adames declined to elaborate, but earlier in Washington, White House Chief of Staff Donald Regan said the United States still was talking to Panama about Marcos, who has been living in Hawaii since he fled the Philippines Feb. 26.

Adames also declined further comment on the communique's reference to a possible threat to Panama's security if asylum were granted.

Marcos and his party have been staying at Hawaii's Hickam Air Force Base, and U.S. sources said he is unhappy there because the quarters are small and he feared he would be subpoenaed by federal grand juries or a House subcommittee that are investigating his financial dealings.

Spain had been mentioned as Marcos' first choice for asylum, but the Spanish government announced last weekend that it would not consider his request.

human rights violations and find ways to deter such abuses.

Government officials said military commanders or local officials abused the human rights of rural civilians through intimidation, kidnapping, torture and murder. Diokno termed these violations "very widespread."

The officials said the violations were led mainly by people tied to Marcos' system of "crony capitalism," in which, they said, Marcos gained loyalty by granting political appointments and shares in state monopolies.

The chairman said the committee also intends to open the Benigno

Aquino assassination case but will investigate other cases first.

"We hear there is new evidence, not only of the crime but of the pollution of the prosecution," said Diokno, referring to the acquittal in December of armed forces chief Gen. Fabian C. Ver and 25 other defendants in the 1983 airport shooting of Aquino, Marcos' chief political foe.

Mrs. Aquino, widow of the politician, has said Marcos is her No. 1 suspect in the murder. She said she intends to see that her husband's murder is solved, but she has indicated she does not intend to seek Marcos' extradition.

Haitian chief announces shake-up

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — The armed forces reorganized the country's interim government Friday after four of the six provisional council members resigned.

Namphy announced the shake-up, said he would remain as president, and named a new member of the council, giving it three members. It had never been revealed before who those council members were.

Earlier Friday, police fired on protesters disrupting traffic with flower planters in the capital's main boulevard.

Radio Antilles reported Friday evening police with gunshot wounds were being taken to the General Hospital. An unidentified doctor interviewed by the radio station said several people were wounded, but did not give numbers.

Namphy repeated the council's promise to eventually hold elections and "appealed to the population to engage in reconstruction of the nation."

Namphy announced the resignations of Alexis Cineas and of army colonels Max Vallis and Prosper Avril from what had been a six-man civilian-military council. Another council member, Gerard Gorgeux, who also served as minister of justice, resigned Thursday.

Independents won't agree to oil cutback

GENEVA (AP) — OPEC failed Friday to win commitments from five independent oil-producing nations to reduce output, although the cartel said the five had agreed to support an effort to push oil prices up $28 a barrel.

Without major reductions in world oil supplies, prices would be expected to remain near levels of about $15 a barrel, analysts have said.

The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries had announced that the five nations — Mexico, Malaysia, Egypt, Oman and Angola — agreed to support the cartel, but it had not given any specifics on what was agreed to.

That announcement sent oil prices up dramatically, although analysts expressed skepticism that a substantive agreement had been reached.

Saudi oil minister Ahmed al-Shanfari, oil minister of Oman, said the five nations had not agreed to any specific production cuts.

"They explained to us what they wanted. The figures for output cuts were not specified," he said.

Al-Shanfari said he had agreed only to ask his government to consider production cuts and to ask other non-OPEC oil producing nations to cooperate with OPEC.

S. African blacks honor dead, strike

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Tens of thousands of blacks gathered Friday to honor their dead, paralyzed a major city with a strike and clashed with police in the streets of two others.

Witnesses said police broke up one ceremony with rubber whips and birdshot.

Authorities reported 13 blacks killed by other blacks elsewhere in this white-ruled country.

The main occasion Friday was the anniversary of the day a year ago when police fired on a funeral procession in the black Cape Province township of Langa and killed 20 people.

More than 50,000 packed the Langa sports stadium in a mass display of opposition to the official apartheid policy that reserves privilege for the 5 million whites and denies rights to South Africa's 24 million blacks.

Sluggish Eagles lose in semifinal

They'll play Hutchinson for third

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

HUTCHINSON, Kan. — The College of Southern Idaho finally ran into a team it couldn't outrun or run down here Friday night, falling to Vincennes University Community College of Vincennes, Ind., 59-91 in the semifinals of the National Junior College Athletic Association men's basketball tournament.

The loss put the Eagles into a 5:30 p.m. MST game against host-standing Hutchinson Community College tonight for the tournament's third-place trophy. Vincennes will square off against San Jacinto College of Houston, which defeated Hutchinson 82-81 in the other semifinal on Friday, for the national junior championship at 7:15 p.m. MST.

A capacity crowd of 6,500 is expected in the Hutchinson Sports Arena.

Although from the early moments the Trailblazers dominated the contest, it was remarkable that the Eagles were able to stay within four points of their much more intense opponents. CSI was thoroughly beaten on the boards and compounded its misery with poor free throw shooting.

In addition, the Eagles' top three rebounders, Chris Blocker, Erick Newman and Joey Johnson, spent half of the game on the bench for foul trouble. The badly out-quickened CSI second team, sparked again by freshman point guard Keith Jackson, managed to keep things respectable.

Take nothing away from Coach (Dan) Sparks' team," said CSI Coach Fred Trenkle. "He had his team ready. I thought maybe our team was. But all the fouls kept us off balance all night."

Warning to his topic, Trenkle said "one guy (official) called every charging against (Blocker) for three games. He set Blocker out for 12 minutes in the first half and eight minutes in the second half. You can't win with the most prolific scorer in a school's history on the bench and that one official wouldn't let him play."

Vincennes spent the night "dew dropping" at practically every possible situation and CSI was called repeatedly for offensive fouls — an infraction which seldom is assessed by any of the other officials in this 16-team tournament.

The three officials working Friday night's game accounted for 59 violations among them 31 against Vincennes, 28 on CSI. Those things also led to a marked difference and showed up CSI's Achilles heel. While the Blazers shot 27 of 34 from the foul line, CSI was a lackluster 21-for-36. Blocker hit nine of 10 and Mike Miller went 5-for-6, but those flashy numbers were offset by Newman at 3-for-9, Jackson at 1-for-3 and Gerald Collins at 0-for-3.

But the most noticeable difference in the game was on the inside, where Vincennes was thoroughly dominant. The Blazers had 22 points on put-backs while CSI had just four. The hurried Eagles also missed a number of close inside shots due to the quick jumping of Vincennes.

Another critical factor was that CSI's outside gun Greg Boyd missed his first five shots and ended up 3-for-13 from the field.

This wasn't foreseeable in the first five minutes when Vincennes' two big men, Jeff Huffman and Cal Foster, picked up five quick fouls between them and went to the bench. But the Blazers' depth and Antone Gillishaw and Reggie Kirk allowed Vincennes to grow even stronger on the offensive glass.

That was no surprise to Blazers' assistant Coach Skip Holmes.

"It's no secret; we're 10 deep," said Holmes. "Anyone who has followed us knows that and tonight was a prime example of the way that pays off."

"I thought our defense did well, that and controlling the boards were the secrets," Holmes continued. "We emphasized to the players to try to control the inside."

On that score, Trenkle agreed. "Vincennes' defense looked like ours should have," he said. "They were out there digging the ball all night and we were setting back on our heels."

Trenkle said the major difference was the intensity the two teams displayed in the first 10 minutes. Generally, the time the Eagles have enjoyed itself this season.

"I had an inclination of what was going to happen at the pre-game meal," Trenkle said. "I sat there and listened and I didn't like what I was hearing. They weren't thinking about playing in a championship game between the two schools Friday night in Columbus, Ohio. Ohio State won the game 79-58 to advance to the NIT Final Four in New York next week. See story on Page B2."

It's batter up today for Bruins, Minico

By RON GATES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The high school baseball season gets under way today with General Conference doubleheaders scheduled on the home field for both Twin Falls and Minico.

The Bruins will entertain the Skyline Grizzlies at Harmon Park in the first game slated for 11 a.m. At the same time, the Spartans will play host to the Bonneville Bees.

Twin Falls will count heavily on performances of three starters back from last year's 15-7 squad. That team finished fourth in the GSC with a 9-5 league record.

Senior Casey Bartholomew, a catcher; senior right-handed pitcher Tommy Prater; and junior right-handed pitcher/third baseman Kevin Ames are the three returning veterans.

"It's a rebuilding year for us," said Twin Falls Coach Bill Ingram. "But we'll probably start eight seniors even though all but three are inexperienced as far as varsity baseball is concerned. We're looking for our strength on the mound holding us up early while the team gains experience in other positions." Handy Hite, a right-handed hitting senior who is expected to lead the relief pitching corps, will start in right field for the Bruins. Joining Hite in the outfield will be David Cook in left while junior Kelly Carterton and senior teammate Chris Pratt are vying for the center field spot.

Except for Ames, the infield comes from the senior class. Paul Waldapfel saw quite a bit of playing time in the last campaign and will handle first base. Phil Romans the second sacker and shortstop Nick Baumert round out that group. Though it's a new position for Baumert, he has played the infield previously and had a good (American) Legion season," according to his coach, Shane Clark, a junior, will back up Baumert at shortstop and John Mehr will handle the coffin corner when Ames, who is expected to combine with Prater to handle the majority of the pitching, takes the mound.

Saturday's Skyline game starts a series of GSC counters that will see the Bruins meeting conference teams each weekend with the exception of an Easter weekend tournament in Rupert and Burley. The Grizzlies should prove a good test for Twin Falls, according to Ingram. "It depends on how long they've been (able to practice) outside. They should be tough. I haven't seen their roster, but they did well last year."

Picking a conference finish is a bit harder.

"I would say right now that Pocetello has the most experience," Ingram said. "Idaho Falls and Bonneville pretty much graduated their pitching staffs and two of Blackfoot's best from 1985 are playing for the College of Southern Idaho. Madison should be pretty good — that is if they can get outside to practice before June 1."

Minico

If trades were possible in prep baseball, Spartan Coach Cory Bridges might have offered a package to his Twin Falls counterpart. Welcoming back a host of solid hitting players, Bridges is concerned with the early-season pitching chores.

"We're fairly solid defensively and, if we improve at all at the plate, we could be tough — pitching is my main concern," says Bridges.

Jesse Branson, who was accorded all-conference honorable mention honors last season as a junior, returns to handle the catching. Branson batted over .400 last season and he joins five other lettermen, all of whom hit in excess of .300 in 1985.

Girardelli claims title

BROMONT, Quebec (AP) — Marc Girardelli of Luxembourg clinched his second consecutive World Cup overall championship on Friday when Yugoslavian veteran Bojan Krizaj won a slalom ski race at this Canadian resort.

The sixth career victory by the long-time leader of the Yugoslav team denied a bid by Switzerland's Pirmin Zurbriggen to overtake Girardelli in the final race of the longest World Cup season in history.

Two share USFG lead

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Calvin Peele and Nick Faldo matched 68's in a cold, blustery wind and shared the lead Friday in the rain-delayed first round of the $500,000 USF&G Classic.

Faldo, a three-time British PGA champion, birdied four of his first six holes, including three in a row.

Spinks, Qawi square off

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Leon Spinks, once was the more famous of the fighting Spinks brothers, can move toward regaining some of his fame with an impressive showing Saturday.

Spinks, who won the light heavyweight gold in 1976 and two years later took Muhammad Ali's title, will be out to capture the World Boxing Association junior heavyweight championship from Dwight Muhammad Qawi.

Qawi, 25-2-1 with 14 knockouts, will make his first defense of the title.

Thomas set for graded crown

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Pinklon Thomas, who hopes to branch out as a singer and manager of fighters, will try to take another step Saturday night in pursuit of another goal — the undisputed heavyweight championship.

Thomas will defend the World Boxing Council title against Trevor Berbick in the first of at least seven title bouts under an agreement between HBO and promoters Don King and Butch Lewis.

The purpose of the series is to produce a single heavyweight champion.

A rematch between Michael Spinks, the International Boxing Federation champion, and Larry Holmes here April 19 will be the second fight in the series.

Should Thomas win, he is scheduled to make one more defense and if he wins that, then fight sometime next year against the World Boxing Association champion. The winner would then fight the IBF champion for the undisputed title.

Bradley sets new record

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Pat Bradley shot a 4-under-par 68 Friday for an early six-stroke lead and a record 36-hole total of 133 in a breezy second round of the $200,000 LPGA Circle K Tucson Open.

The 18-year pro played through swirling to post the best for two rounds on the LPGA tour this season and two better than Chris Johnson's 135 previous record through two rounds of the Kemper Open in Hawaii two weeks ago.

Myra Blackwelder and Jerilyn Britz shot 69s on the 6,214-yard, par-72 Handolph North golf course to stand at 139.

Bosco fails his NFL physical

PROVO, Utah (AP) — An arm problem caused former Brigham Young quarterback Robbie Bosco to fail a professional football camp physical earlier this year, but now his throwing arm has recovered, a Salt Lake newspaper reports.

BYU trainer George Curtis said Gary Lasse, team physician for the San Diego Chargers, told him that a stress test of Bosco's arm earlier showed the arm was very weak.

Additionally, the Deseret News reported Friday, Lasse said the team would require another test before it would draft him.

Since then, the problem has been diagnosed as bursitis and the arm has been strengthened through rehabilitation. Bosco passed 338 times last season, completing 338 passes for 4,273 yards and 30 touchdowns.

He also was intercepted 24 times, causing fans to wonder if the quarterback's arm was healthy.

"That was one of the best-kept secrets of last season," said former quarterback Coach Mike Holmgren. But Holmgren added that, it wasn't a CIA-type secret; we just didn't know for sure."

Curtis said Lasse told him that prior to the examination, Bosco told him he felt fine and he was surprised that his arm tested so weak.

During the season, Curtis said, Bosco often told coaches and trainers that he was fine. "There was no real pain," Curtis said. "It's just that he couldn't perform."

After Curtis learned of the problem, he asked Bosco to submit to a stress test and bursitis was diagnosed.

"It came up minus seven percent," Curtis said. "It should have been 10- to 15-percent positive. Bursitis is not a big deal, but you have to take care of it."

Bosco responded immediately to anti-inflammatory medicine and therapy.

"Within 10 days, he tested at plus-20 percent," Curtis said. "It was like taking a horn out of his foot."

"I feel strong now," Bosco said. "I'm back to 100 percent." Holmgren said the arm is back to normal and may be above normal.

East: Robinson's last-minute bucket puts Navy in region finals

By DICK JOYCE
The Associated Press

College basketball

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — "I've worked five minutes to get somebody had better take charge," Navy center David Robinson said. "That's when I turned it on."

Robinson, a 6-foot-11 junior, scored 12 points over the last 5:31, including the winning basket with six seconds left, to earn No. 17 Navy a 71-70 victory over surprising Cleveland State Friday night.

"That put the Middles, 20-4 and winners of 16 straight games, in Sunday's NCAA East Regional final against Duke. The winner of that game advances to the Final Four in Dallas on March 23."

"I was getting banged around pretty good," added Robinson, who was double- and triple-teamed throughout. "I knew I had to be more aggressive in the second half."

"I lost a lot of minutes to about five minutes left and it looked like we could lose this. We had a chance to take them out but didn't and were complacent in the second half."

Robinson made his game-winning from five feet out after an inbound pass from Kaylor Whitaker, who led the Middles with 23 points. Navy had been awarded possession on a jump-ball call with eight seconds remaining.

Robinson, a 62 percent free-throw shooter this season, made all six foul shots he attempted during the final 5:31.

Navy Coach Paul Evans said he spoke to Robinson with about nine minutes to go and told him that he hadn't picked up his fourth percentage foul yet and that he had to be more aggressive.

"I feel good about winning tonight," Evans said, "especially since we didn't play well."

Cleveland State coach Kevin Mackey said he expected Navy to foul Clinton Smith, whose shot from about 20 feet away at the buzzer bounced off the rim.

"I salute him," Mackey said of Robinson. "He's a great example to the youth of this country. That's a superb gentleman." Then he added, "we worked hard, but we could."

Cleveland State had its 14-game winning streak snapped and finished 29-4. Cleveland State had gone ahead 70-69 on Smith's steal and layup with 27 seconds remaining.

Navy held 11-point leads four times in the first half and led 39-30 at intermission. But the Vikings came out charged up in the second half, outscoring the Middles 8-2 at the start, eventually pulling ahead 56-55 on Ken "Mouse" McFadden's jumper with 8:40 remaining.

With McFadden and Smith leading the way, Cleveland State stayed in front but never by more than three points. Robinson's jump call the deficit to 68-67 with 1:25 remaining and Vernon Butler scored on a drive with 1:15 to give Navy a 69-68 lead.

Cleveland State led 16 points for Navy, while McFadden and Smith each finished with 16 for the Mid-Continent Conference champions, who were the 14th seed in the East.

With Robinson being double- and triple-teamed throughout, Whitaker and Butler picked up the scoring slack in the first half, combining for 26 points.

Duke 74 DePaul 67

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — All-American Johnny Dawkins scored 25 points and Mark Alarie added 21 to top-ranked Duke combined quickness and defense to post a 74-67 victory over DePaul in the NCAA East Regional semifinals Friday night.

The victory was the 19th straight for the Blue Devils, 35-2, and moved them into the regional final against Navy on Sunday. The Middles defeated Cleveland State 71-70 in the other game Friday night at the Meadowlands.

Duke battled the inconsistent Blue Demons much of the first half taking control with a 9-4 spurt in the final 2:48 before opening a 37-32 lead at intermission.

The champions of the Atlantic Coast Conference broke the game open early in the second half as Dawkins and Alarie took control.

Dawkins scored six points in the spurt on a 2-2 run. Duke that gave it a 45-34 lead. DePaul, 18-13, closed the gap to five points as Dallas Comegys hit two baskets during a 6-0 spurt.

But Duke outscored the Blue Demons 16-7 over the next eight minutes as Alarie scored eight points. DePaul, whose selection to the tournament was a surprise, made one final run, outscoring the Blue Devils 12-4 to close the gap to 63-59 with 4:06 to play on the third of three straight baskets by Terrence Greene.

However, that was as close as DePaul would get.

Jay Blas hit two free throws after a questionable foul call against Kevin Holmes. A minute later, he scrubed, after an offensive rebound made by Duke's Jeff Red Strickland led DePaul with 15 points, while Marty Embry added 12.

When we get together as a team, we'll have all we need to deal with Louisiana Tech," he said after the victory. "We really feel good about it. The kids are having fun playing. Tournament experience is really important."

Ohio State shot just 39 percent from the floor in the first half, but turnovers kept Brigham Young from catching the Buckeyes, who led 31-26 at halftime.

"To hold Ohio State to 39 percent shooting on their game court — that's playing well," said Cougar Coach Ladell Anderson. "We just didn't get it done on the other end."

NIT: OSU gets past Y, 79-68

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State basketball Coach Eldon Miller, whose team's play will determine when he leaves his current post, thinks the Buckeyes have what it takes to go all the way in next week's National Invitational Tournament championship game in New York.

The Buckeyes rolled past Brigham Young 79-68 Friday night to move into the NIT's final four. The Buckeyes will face Louisiana Tech Monday in a semifinal game at Madison Square Garden.

Miller's Ohio State career will end with the Buckeyes' season, after being dismissed by Athletic Director Rick Bay last month.

Miller is enthusiastic about the meeting with Louisiana Tech. "When we get together as a team, we'll have all we need to deal with Louisiana Tech," he said after the victory. "We really feel good about it. The kids are having fun playing. Tournament experience is really important."

Midwest: Short-handed Jayhawks top Michigan State in OT

By DOUG TUCKER
The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Calvin Thompson scored eight points in overtime Friday night as No. 2 Kansas, with its two best players pulled out of the game in regulation, beat Michigan State 96-86 in the semifinals of the NCAA Midwest Regional.

In the title game Sunday, the Jayhawks will meet North Carolina State, 21-2, a 70-66 winner over Iowa State in Friday's other semifinal game.

The Jayhawks, 34-3, forced the 89-80 deadlock at the end of regulation by recovering from an 8-7 deficit in the final 1:08. Baskets by Cedric Hunter and Thompson brought the Jayhawks to within 89-78 with 20 seconds remaining.

After Michigan State freshman

Mark Brown missed the front end of a one-and-one, Kansas got the rebound and Archie Marshall m/w a follow shot to make it 89-80 with seven seconds left.

Thompson's three-point play gave the Jayhawks an 87-84 lead in overtime that Michigan State's Larry Polec cut to 87-86 with a basket at the 2:01 mark. But back came Thompson to make it 89-86, and then Greg Drelling rebounded a miss by Polec and a basket by Thompson gave the Jayhawks a 91-86 lead with 55 seconds remaining.

There were two controversies in the final minutes involving the game clock.

The first time, with 2:20 left and Michigan State leading by four points, the clock didn't move while Kansas had the ball, starting only after Kellogg scored to cut the deficit to two. The second time, with 19 seconds left, it continued to run for Brown's foul, going down to one second while play was stopped.

The clock was reset the second time, but it was not reset the first time.

The Spartans had erased a nine-point Kansas lead at halftime and had their deficit faded to 22 when Vernon Carr hit a free throw during Danny Manning, Kansas' best player, fouled out with 2:21 left.

Ron Kellogg, the Jayhawks' second-leading scorer, fouled out in the 1:39 mark, and the Spartans seemed in control when Scott Skiles hit two free throws for a 78-74 lead after Kansas Coach Larry Brown was assessed a two-shot technical foul for arguing the call against Kellogg.

Michigan State, 23-8, was led by Skiles with 20 points, Carr with 17, Polec with 16 and Barry Fordham, with 15.

Thompson led all scorers with 26 points, while Manning had 17 and Kellogg 14.

N. Carolina St. 70 Iowa St. 66

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Chris Washburn and Charles Shackelford supplied North Carolina State with an unstoppable one-two punch inside and the Wolfpack used their size advantage in a 70-66 victory over Iowa State Friday night in the semifinals of the NCAA Midwest Regional.

Washburn, North Carolina State's 6-foot-11 sophomore, scored 20 points and Shackelford, a 6-10 freshman, had 22.

Washburn scored 16 points as the Wolfpack took a 40-30 halftime lead. Iowa State's Jeff Grayer and Sam Hill sparked a 14-4 cyclone run at the outset of the second half that sliced North Carolina State's lead to 44-43.

Iowa State pulled even briefly at 47-47 on a 20-foot jump shot by Jeff Hornslock. But Ernie Myers, with mostly 12- and 14-foot jump shots, helped North Carolina State break the Iowa State momentum and regain control midway through the second half.

A 15-foot jump shot by Hill brought the Cyclones to within 64-61. Then Shackelford, in succession, hit a jump shot, a three-point play and a free throw that gave the Wolfpack a 70-61 lead with 55 seconds remaining.

The Buckeyes rushed out to a 12-4 lead — but the Cougars scored 10 unanswered points to take their only lead of the game at 20-19 with 4:56 left in the first half. Junior guard Bob Capener scored 14 first-half points to lead Brigham Young's surge, but Ohio State came back to lead 31-26 at the intermission.

Curtis Wilson scored 15 points for the Buckeyes, who improved to 17-14, while Keith Wesson added 10. Senior guard Richie Webb paced Brigham-Young with 17 points and Capener finished with 15. The Cougars bowed out of the tournament with a 18-14 mark.

U.S.'s Thomas supplants Witt as women's world champ

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — American Debi Thomas won the women's World Figure Skating Championship Friday night, using a colorful program in the free skate to beat defending champion Katarina Witt of East Germany.

The 18-year-old Thomas, of San Jose, Calif., was edged in the night's long program by Witt, who staged the night's most dramatic skating to the score from "West Side Story."

But Thomas' elegant and exciting performance was good enough for second in the long program. And that, coupled with her first-place showing in Wednesday night's short program, gave the United States winners in both men's and women's categories. Brian Bitoano of Sunnyvale, Calif., won the men's competition Thursday night.

Thomas, a pre-med student at Stanford University, also became the first black to win a world title.

American Tiffany Chin won the bronze medal.

"I don't believe it," the ecstatic Thomas said as she sat with her coach Alex Macdonald, her arms filled with flowers. "I even landed that double axel."

Wearing a sleek sequined black, silver and purple dress with a fringe ed skirt, Thomas came out skating hard to a combination of Duke Ellington and ballet music. She landed four triple jumps, including the tricky triple-double toe loop combination. Then came a beautiful double axel that seemed to float on air.

But Thomas, who knew that a first or second-place showing Friday would give her the championship, fell just shy of the fitness and panache that made Witt the star of the long program.

Thomas had the crowd's roaring approval, but Witt also brought the fans to their feet by unfolding the hopes and sorrows of a young woman to the Leonard Bernstein score.

Witt's skating displayed a wide range of emotions. Witt launched into the strains of "I Feel Pretty" with a big smile and a sparkling triple-double toe loop combination. She then played the tough street woman with some brass and electric footwork, followed by a dramatic flourish of despair, draping her body and black flowing dress down toward the ice.

The performance got her the night's only two perfect scores of 6 — from the West German and Soviet judges — along with six 5.5s and a 5.8 for composition and style.

Thomas finished with an overall factored placement total of 3.6, followed by Witt at 4.4 and Chin at 7.2.

Seniors Tim Woods and Marty Center will take over the mound duties and play the outfield when not called upon to pitch. Tim Pellett at first base and Jesse Beltran in right field are two more experienced contributors. The junior class contributes an experienced Kevin Condie a shortstop.

"The weather has been advantageous," says Bridges. "Last year we got outside a week before the game. This year we haven't been inside yet."

The favorable weather has provided Bridges an opportunity to get a good look at a number of up-and-coming prospects.

Junior's Dave Cosgrove and Eric Bingham are vying for the third spot in the outfield while David Popleton appears another candidate for a position there and James Frost will back up Branson at catcher.

Alfie Aragon will provide relief pitching.

Three sophomores have looked good in practice, according to Bridges. Kent Schow, Kevin Miller and Craig Anderson are all pressing the upperclassmen for the infield spots.

Bridges looks for improvement over last year's 6-8 GSC mark (15-18 overall) but sees a tight race for the conference crown.

Skating

"With two good pitchers and games now on Saturdays, Twin Falls would have to be right up there," predicted Bridges. "I've heard Skyline has quite a few back on their roster along with Pogy. Idaho Falls always has a good program going but they can't be overlooked. We don't have any one dominant pitcher but Carter and Woods are consistent and, if they're on, they can be tough. Our speed isn't exceptional but is adequate and we have some good quickness."

Burley

The Bobcats will get their start in the Mini-Cassia Easter Tournament on March 28-29. In addition to Burley and Minico, that field includes Twin Falls, Nampa, Meridian and Madson.

But Burley, which plays in a group with Class B schools from eastern Idaho, is used to competing against the larger schools.

"I think we play a tougher schedule," says Burley Coach Dean Satterfield. "There are no other A-2 teams in this area so we play a lot against Twin Falls, Burley, Blackfoot and some of the other Gem State Schools."

It seems to work for the Bobcats who have made it to the State Class B tournament in each of the last three years. While only three starters return from last year's 16-

13 contingent (7-3 in conference), Satterfield feels that some first-year players may help and that pitching is the question mark.

"We had several good pitchers last year, but lost two to graduation and Scott Aston, who won six games for us, moved to California. We have fair speed. The first part of the schedule is pretty tough. We're going to have to try and steal some bases, run and hit the ball — we may have to win some early with scores like 15-12 and 10-9."

Senior Perry Knopp is a letterman returning at short-pitch, but will be pushed by classmate Craig Fell and junior Jason Whitehead for the starting slot. Steve Rausch, a senior, started in the outfield last year as did Mark Orton. Orton has a tendency to hit the ball a long ways," according to Satterfield.

With only a week into practice due to the success of the Bobcats' basketball team, it's a bit early to name a starting lineup but that group will likely include Jared Skaggs, a junior, playing sparingly at first base last year, junior Jeff Gray and freshman Trevor Usoin content for a berth as the second sacker. J.J. Gonzales, a junior, is a probably first starter at third base while sophomore Pete Rodriguez will handle the catching. A second freshman,

Brett Graham, looks good as a utility infielder.

Rigby, with a lot of players returning and good pitching in the team to be skated to Satterfield while Snake River may also contend. South Fremont and Shelley, along with the Bobcats, comprise the rest of the league.

T.F. sweeps season-opening four-way meet

By RON GATES - Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — On about as nice a day as might be expected for a season-opener, the Twin Falls Bruins swept both the boys and girls segments of their first 1986 track and field meet — a non-conference affair.

"I'm quite impressed," commented Twin Falls Coach Duane Stands. "The weather might have helped, but they (the Bruins) were ready to compete. One thing that I really felt gave us a boost was the performance of the weight people. Dan Rich picked up a first in the discus and a third in the shot and Pat Clark got us points with a second in the shot put. Our jumpers picked up points in all three events and we went one-two in the long jump."

Stands was especially pleased with the showing of senior Tom McLinn. McLinn, relegated to second in the 800 meters by Jerome's sophomore sensation Paul Hancock, posted a 20-foot, 9-inch leap to win the long jump and came back to anchor the winning 1,600-meter relay. That might have been the premier event of the day as McLinn took the best handoff 15 yards behind a Joanne runner, got that ground back in the first 200 yards, then hung on to win by less than a foot.

But the sprinters didn't escape Stands' notice.

"(Bob) Bain and (Matt) Childichime had a good day, I thought, and a good lot of promise — along with Hancock they made the sprints interesting."

Outstanding performances were the order of the day for the Twin Falls girls as well. Eva Talamantes flashed to easy victories in all three sprints and picked up her fourth first of the day in anchoring the mile relay to a 4 minutes, 22.45 seconds. Jenny Hannah ranged in the 800 and 1600 and Jamie Narpiger, Chris Ingram and Randi Moser ran on all four winning Twin Falls relays.

"Jenny was just outstanding." Stands added. "And Eva — I don't know what the limits of her abilities are."

Tim Dunne, Jerome's highly successful coach, was far from disappointed with his charges. "I thought we looked pretty good on the track. If we just had some jumpers we'd be a really strong aggregation."

Twin Falls High is starting their spring break, but it's business as usual for the tracksters as the Bruins host Bonneville and Idaho Falls in their Gem State Conference opener next Wednesday.

NIT: OSU gets past Y, 79-68

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State basketball Coach Eldon Miller, whose team's play will determine when he leaves his current post...

The Buckeyes rolled past Brigham Young 79-68 Friday night to move into the NIT's final four. The Buckeyes will face Louisiana Tech Monday in a semifinal game at Madison Square Garden.

Miller is enthusiastic about the meeting with Louisiana Tech. "When we get together as a team, we'll have all we need to deal with Louisiana Tech," he said after the victory.

Ohio State shot just 39 percent from the floor in the first half, but turnovers kept Brigham Young from catching the Buckeyes, who led 31-26 at halftime.

"To hold Ohio State to 39 percent shooting on their game court — that's playing well," said Cougar Coach Leland Anderson. "We just didn't get it done on the other end."

The Buckeyes rushed out to a 12-4 lead, but the Cougars scored 10 unanswered points to take their only lead of the game at 20-19 with 4:56 left in the first half.

Curtis Wilson scored 15 points for the Buckeyes, who improved to 17-14, while Keith Wesson added 10. Senior guard Richie Webb paced Brigham Young with 17 points and Capener finished with 15.

East: Robinson's last-minute bucket puts Navy in region finals

By DICK JOYCE The Associated Press

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. — "With about five minutes to go I said somebody had better take charge," Navy center David Robinson said. "That's when I turned it on."

Robinson, a 6-foot-11 junior, scored 12 points over the last 5:30 including the winning basket with six seconds left to earn No. 17 Navy a 71-70 victory over surprising Cleveland State Friday night.

"I feel good about winning tonight," Evans said, "especially since we didn't play well." Evans said that Coach Kevin Mackey said he expected Navy to foul Clinton Smith, whose shot from about 20 feet away at the buzzer bounced off the rim.

College basketball

Robinson made his game-winning from five feet out after an inbound pass from Kaylor Whitaker, who led the Middies with 23 points. Navy had been awarded possession on a jump-ball call with eight seconds remaining.

Robinson, a 62 percent free-throw shooter this season, made all six foul shots he attempted during the final 5:31.

Navy Coach Paul Evans said he spoke to Robinson with about nine minutes to go and told him that he hadn't picked up his fourth personal foul yet and that he had to be more aggressive.

"I feel good about winning tonight," Evans said, "especially since we didn't play well." Evans said that Coach Kevin Mackey said he expected Navy to foul Clinton Smith, whose shot from about 20 feet away at the buzzer bounced off the rim.

"I salute him," Mackey said of Robinson. "He's a great example to the youth of this country. That's a superb gentleman." Then he added, "We work as hard as we could."

Cleveland State had its 14-game winning streak snapped and finished 29-4. Cleveland State had gone ahead 70-69 on Smith's steal and layup with 27 seconds remaining.

Butler held 11-point leads four times in the first half and led 39-30 at intermission. But the Vikings came out charged up in the second half, outscoring the Middies 8-2 at the start, eventually pulling ahead 56-55 on Ken "Mouse" McFadden's jumper with 4:40 remaining.

With McFadden and Smith leading the way, Cleveland State stayed in front but never by more than three points. Robinson's jump cut the deficit to 68-67 with 2:25 remaining and Vernon Butler scored on a drive with 1:15 to give Navy a 69-68 lead.

With Robinson being double- and triple-teamed throughout, Whitaker and Butler picked up the scoring slack in the first half, combining for 26 points.

Duke 74 DePaul 67

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — All-American Johnny Dawkins scored 25 points and Mark Alarie added 21 as top-ranked Duke combined quickness and defense to post a 74-67 victory over DePaul in the NCAA East Regional semifinals Friday night.

The victory was the 19th straight for the Blue Devils, 35-2, and moved them into the regional final against Navy on Sunday. The Middies defeated Cleveland State 71-69 in the other game Friday night at the Meadowlands.

Duke battled the inconsistent Blue Demons much of the first half but gained control with a 9-4 spurt in the final 2:48 before opening a 37-32 lead at intermission. The champions of the Atlantic Coast Conference broke tonight open early in the second half as Dawkins and Alarie took control. Dawkins scored six points in the first 2:43 of the second half to spark an 8-2 run by Duke that gave it a 45-34 lead. DePaul, 18-13, closed the gap to five points as Dallas Combs hit two baskets during a 6-9 spurt.

But Duke outscored the Blue Demons 16-7 over the next eight minutes as Alarie scored eight points. DePaul, whose selection to the tournament was a surprise, made one final run, outscoring the Blue Devils 12-4 to close the gap to 65-59 with 4:06 to play on the third of three straight baskets by Terence Greene.

However, that was as close as DePaul would get. Jay Bias hit two free throws after a questionable foul call against Kevin Holmes. A minute later, he scored, after an offensive rebound, to make it 69-59.

Rod Strickland led DePaul with 15 points, while Marty Embry added 12.

Midwest: Short-handed Jayhawks top Michigan State in OT

By DOUG TUCKER The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Calvin Thompson scored eight points in overtime Friday night as No. 2 Kansas, with its two best players fouled out in the regular game, beat Michigan State 96-86 in the semifinals of the NCAA Midwest Regional.

In the title game Sunday, the Jayhawks will meet North Carolina State 21-12, a 70-66 winner over Iowa State in Friday's other semifinal game.

The Jayhawks, 34-3, forced the 80-80 deadlock at the end of regulation by recovering from an 80-74 deficit in the final 1:08. Baskets by Cedric Hunter and Thompson brought the Jayhawks to within 80-78 with 20 seconds remaining. After Michigan State freshman

Mark Brown missed the front end of a "one-and-one" Kansas got the rebound and Archie Marshall m/w a follow shot to make it 80-80 with seven seconds left.

Thompson's three-point play gave the Jayhawks an 87-84 lead in overtime that Michigan State's Larry Polce cut to 87-86 with a basket at the 2:01 mark. But back came Thompson to make it 89-86, and then Greg Drelling rebounded a miss by Polce, and a basket by Thompson gave the Jayhawks a 91-86 lead with 55 seconds remaining.

There were two controversies in the final minutes involving the game's clock.

The first time, with 2:20 left and Michigan State leading by four points, the clock didn't move while Kansas had the ball, starting only after Kelllogg scored to cut the deficit to two. The second time, with seconds left, it continued to run after Brown was fouled, going down to one while play was stopped.

The Spartans had erased a nine-point Kansas lead at halftime and had their Brown fouled, going down to one while play was stopped.

The Spartans had erased a nine-point Kansas lead at halftime and had their Brown fouled, going down to one while play was stopped.

Ron Kelllogg, the Jayhawks' second-leading scorer, fouled out on the 1:39 mark, and the Spartans seemed in control when Scott Skiles hit two free throws for a 78-74 lead after Kansas Coach Larry Brown was assessed a two-shot technical foul for arguing the call against Kelllogg.

Michigan State, 23-8, was led by Stiles with 20 points, Carr with 17, Polce with 16 and Barry Forcham, with 15.

Thompson led all scorers with 26 points, while Manning had 17 and Kellogg 14.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Chris Washburn and Charles Shackelford supplied North Carolina State with an unstoppable one-two punch inside and the Wolfpack used their size advantage in a 70-66 victory over Iowa State Friday night in the semifinals of the NCAA Midwest Regional.

Washburn, North Carolina State's 6-foot-11 sophomore, scored 20 points and Shackelford, a 6-10

freshman, had 22. Washburn scored 16 points as the Wolfpack took a 40-29 halftime lead. Iowa State's Jeff Grayson and Sam Hill sparked a 14-4 cyclone run at the outset of the second half that sliced North Carolina State's lead to 44-43.

Iowa State pulled even briefly at 47-47 on a 20-foot jump shot by Jeff Hornacek. But Ernie Myers, with mostly 12- and 14-foot jump shots, helped North Carolina State break the Iowa State momentum and regain control midway through the second half.

A 15-foot jump shot by Hill brought the Cyclones to within 64-61. Then Shackelford, in succession, hit a jump shot, a three-point play and a free throw that gave the Wolfpack a 70-61 lead with 55 seconds remaining.

U.S.'s Thomas supplants Witt as women's world champ

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — American Debi Thomas won the women's World Figure Skating Championship Friday night, using a colorful program in the finale to beat defending champion Katarina Witt of East Germany.

The 18-year-old Thomas, of San Jose, Calif., was edged in the night's long program by Witt, who staged the night's most dramatic skating to the score from "West Side Story."

But Thomas' elegant and exciting performance was good enough for second in the long program. And that, coupled with her first-place showing in Wednesday night's short program, gave the United States winners in both men's and women's categories.

Brian Bolkano of Sun Valley, Calif., won the men's competition Thursday night.

Seniors Tim Woods and Marty Carter will take over the mound duties and play the outfield when not called upon to pitch. Tim Pettit at first base and Jesse Beltran in right field are two more experienced seniors. The junior class contributes to the offense. Kevon Condie a shortstop.

"The weather has been advantageous," says Bridges. "Last year we got outside a week before the first game. This year we haven't been inside yet."

The favorable weather has provided Bridges an opportunity to get a good look at a number of up-and-coming prospects.

Seniors Dave Cosgrove and Eric Bingham are vying for the third spot in the outfield while David Popleton appears another candidate for a position there and James Frost will back up Branson at catcher.

Alfie Aragon will provide relief pitching.

Three sophomores have looked good in practice, according to Bridges. Kent Schow, Kevin Miller and Craig Anderson are all pressing for the upperclassmen for the infield spots.

Bridges looks for improvement over last year's 6-6 GSC mark (15-16 overall) but forces a tight race for the conference crown.

T.F. sweeps season-opening four-way meet

By RON GATES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — On about as nice a day as might be expected for a season-opener, the Twin Falls boys swept both the boys and girls segments of their first 1986 track and field meet — a non-conference affair.

"I'm quite impressed," commented Twin Falls Coach Duane Stands. "The weather might have helped, but they (the Bruins) were ready to compete. One thing that I really felt gave us a boost was the performance of the weight-people. Dan Rich picked up a first in the discus and a third in the shot and Pat Clark got us points with a second in the shot put. Our jumpers swept both points in all three events and we went one-two in the long jump."

Stands was especially pleased with the showing of senior Tom McLinn. McLinn, relegated to second in the 600 meters by Jerome's sophomore sensation Paul Hancock, posted a 20-foot, 9-inch leap to win the long jump and came back to anchor the winning 1,600-meter relay. That might have been the premier event of the day as McLinn took the last half of 15 yards behind a Jerome runner. Jerome, then hung on to win by less than a foot.

But the sprinters didn't escape Stands' notice.

"(Bob) Bain and (Matt) Chidichimo had a good day. I thought, and showed a lot of promise — along with Hancock they, made the sprinks interesting."

Outstanding performances were the order of the day for the Twin Falls girls as well. Eva Talamantes flashed to easy victories in all three sprints and picked up her fourth first of the day in anchoring the mile relay to 2.4 minutes, 22.45 seconds. Jenny Hannah romped in the 800 and 1600 and Jamie Nafziger, Chris Ingram and Ranae Moser ran on all four winning Twin Falls relays.

"Jenny was just outstanding," Stands added. "And Eva — I don't know what the limits of her abilities are."

Tim Dunne, Jerome's highly successful coach, was far from disappointed with his charges. "I thought we looked pretty good on the track. If we just had some jumpers, we'd be a really strong aggregation."

Twin Falls High is starting their spring break, but it's business as usual for the trackers. The Bruins host Bonneville and Idaho Falls in their Gem State Conference opener next Wednesday.

Minico brings home a second, third from Idaho Falls meet

By The Times-News

IDAHO FALLS — Minico kicked off its track season on a cold and eastern Idaho Friday, and as Spartan Coach Wes Patterson predicted earlier, had some good individual performances in a Gem State Conference triangular meet.

Pat Pocatello's Indians took first in both the boys and girls 100-meter sprints. Despite doubles by senior Scott Halvorsen in the 300-meter hurdles and the long jump and sophomore Jason Duncan in the weights, Minico finished six points behind runner up

Idaho Falls in the boys competition. The Spartans won all four relays. Christy Hood captured both long-distance events and Idalia Casiano grabbed first in the 400 open and finished second in the 200 meters for the Spartan girls as they came away with a second place.

Patterson takes his squad east again on Wednesday to resume GSC action in a dual meet with the Highland Rams at Pocatello.

Denver closes to half game of Houston

DENVER (AP) — Alex English scored 30 points and Danny Schayes added 25 and a season-high 14 rebounds to lead the Denver Nuggets to a 115-107 victory over the Los Angeles Clippers in an NBA game Friday night.

The victory moved the Nuggets within one-half game of first-place Houston in the Midwest Division. Denver never trailed in the game to a quick 10-0 advantage behind the shooting of Wayne Cooper, English, and T.R. Dunn.

The Nuggets increased their lead to 16 points as English scored 14 points and Cooper 11 in the first period. In the second period, largely on the scoring of Schayes, Denver padded its lead to 25-47.

Los Angeles rallied in the third period led by rookie center Benoit Benjamin, who scored 20 points, and Marques Johnson, who finished with 22. The Clippers twice trimmed Denver's margin to three points, the last time at 62-73 with 2:15 left in the third period.

But the Nuggets pulled away to a 15-point lead in the fourth quarter as Bill Hanzlik scored nine of his 13 points and Pat Lever hit nine of his 17. Lever had 15 assists and Cooper pulled down a season-high 17 rebounds.

Seattle 115 Portland 108
PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Kiki Vandeweghe scored 36 points and Terry Carr had 26 points and pulled down 18 rebounds Friday night as the Portland Trail Blazers defeated the Seattle SuperSonics 115-108 for their sixth straight NBA home-court victory.

Terry Porter put the Trail Blazers ahead for good 102-100 by sinking a 15-foot jumper with 4 1/2 minutes left. Carr scored six of Portland's final 11 points.

Pro basketball

Seattle trailed only 110-106 on Al Wood's layup with 40 seconds remaining. Vandeweghe sank one of two free throws. Porter made a pair and Clyde Drexler, who had 15 points and 11 assists, stole Seattle's final inbounds pass and sank a layup at the buzzer.

Philadelphia 112 Chicago 105
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Charles Barkley scored 27 points and pulled down 18 rebounds Friday night in the Philadelphia 76ers defeated Washington 112-105, handing the Bullets their fifth straight NBA loss.

The game was the first for new Bullets Coach Kevin Loughery, who replaced the fired Gene Shue on Wednesday.

Washington led by 10 points twice in the first half and built its biggest lead at 58-47 on a slam-dunk by Monte Bol early in the third period. The 76ers came back to take their first lead of the game 70-68 on a jump shot by Julius Erving with 3:36 remaining in the third quarter.

Philadelphia trailed 81-79 at the start of the fourth quarter before going ahead 96-87 on a spurt capped by Sedate Threat's jumper with 7:22 to play. The Bullets closed to 106-103 with 35 seconds left on a jumper by Jeff Malone, but two free throws each by Moses Malone and Erving secured the victory.

Boston 126 Chicago 105
BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics took control early, rolled to a 22-point halftime lead behind Larry Bird's 24 points and Kevin McHale's

Pro basketball

22 and blasted the Chicago Bulls 126-105 Friday night to clinch the Atlantic Division title.

Bird finished with 32 points and McHale with 25. The Celtics consisted of their seventh straight victory and extended their club record for consecutive triumphs at home to 23. It was the 20th time the Celtics have won a division championship.

Phoenix 105 Detroit 103
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Walter Davis scored 11 of his 25 points in the fourth quarter, including a decisive 14-foot jump shot with 33 seconds remaining, as the Phoenix Suns beat the Detroit Pistons 105-103 in an NBA game Friday night.

Detroit, down 88-72 entering the final period, used spurts of 13-2 and 10-4 to take a 96-94 lead on Kelly Tripuck's 15-foot 3-point shot. The lead exchanged hands six times until Davis' two free throws with 1:26 to go forced a 103-103 tie.

After Davis' game-winning jumper, the Pistons had a chance to tie but Isiah Thomas' jumper bounced off the rim with three seconds left and Bill Laimbeer missed on four tap-in attempts. The setback dropped Detroit four games behind Atlanta in the race for second place in the Central Division.

Dallas 107 Atlanta 103
DALLAS (AP) — Dominique Wilkins scored 29 points, including a 22-foot jump shot with 20 seconds remaining, to lead the Atlanta Hawks past the Dallas Mavericks 107-103 Friday night in an NBA game.

The Hawks trailed by four points with seven minutes to play but outscored Dallas 17-9 the rest of quarter, but after Atlanta caught up neither team led thereafter by more than four points. Dallas led 94-90 when the Hawks began their decisive run.

Pro basketball

Trey Rollins' hook shot at 4:45 tied the game 94-91.

L.A. Lakers 117 San Antonio 109
SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — James Worthy in foul trouble came off the first three quarters, came off the bench to lead a last-period rally as the Los Angeles Lakers defeated the San Antonio Spurs 117-109 Friday night in an NBA game.

Worthy scored nine of his 13 points in the early part of the fourth period as the Lakers stretched a four-point lead into a 110-99 advantage. Los Angeles was paced by Magic Johnson's 27 points. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar added 26.

Erickson to speak to coaches today

JACKPOT — New University of Wyoming football Coach Dennis Erickson, who won a Big Sky Conference football championship at the University of Idaho last season, heads the list of clinicians at this weekend's ninth annual Monte Anderson Memorial Coaches Clinic, sponsored by the Fourth District Coaches Association.

Erickson will conduct a 3 p.m. session today on the Wyoming passing attack.

Registration is still open for the clinic, which is being held in the Caspus Felt's Convention Center. Sign-ups will be taken today and again Sunday morning.

Other clinicians include Arizona State University basketball Coach Keith Hughes, who will speak at 9 this morning on program development, at 11:30 a.m. on player-coach relations and again at 9 a.m. Sunday on defense.

Others speakers will include coaches of three current Idaho state championship teams, Jerome High football Coach Jon Jund, Boise High boys' basketball Coach Greg Hordemann and Highland girls' basketball Coach Randy Rehner. Jund will talk at 9 on trap-run offense and Hordemann at 10:15 this morning and again at 4 p.m. on the Boise High basketball program. Rehner will speak at 10:15 a.m. Sunday on defensive pressures.

Other clinicians include former Idaho assistant coach Ray Groth, now head coach at Skyline High School in Salt Lake City; Vallivue High football Coach Kelly Kneez; Jerome High boys' basketball Coach Ben Allen; Jerome High assistant football Coach Joe Mattie; former Bull High and Idaho assistant Coach Gregg Smith, now an assistant at the University of Wyoming, as well as assistants Del White and John Smith; Parma wrestling Coach
