Senate approves emergency spending bill

By JIM DRINKARD
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Senate Friday passed a $3.9 billion emergency spending bill designed to head off financial crises at several federal agencies. The vote was 71 to 28.

Along the way, it voted to kill $80.6 million in defense research money for 11 universities its detractors dubbed "pork-barrel science," and adopted a number of spending items important to senators who are up for re-election this year in depressed farm states.

The catchall spending measure included $250 million for the Federal Emergency Management Agency, whose money for relief efforts had nearly dried up; $5.3 billion for the Commodity Credit Corp., where money for farm programs was exhausted earlier this week; and new lending room for the Federal Housing Administration, which ran out of mortgage loan authority Thursday.

Also included were $340 million to head off layoffs at the Internal Revenue Service; $150 million in economic and military aid for the Philippines; $526 million to help restore the space shuttle program to operation; and $16 million to restore college tuition grants.

Some of the new spending is offset in the bill by $4.7 billion in cuts of money previously appropriated, primarily in housing subsidies for the poor.

The final form of the money measure was far from clear, however. It was at sharp odds with a House-passed version, and negotiators expected to meet next week to work out the differences. The Reagan administration also objects strongly to several provisions in both bills, and has sent warnings of a possible veto.

Several influential senators, including Majority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., suffered a defeat as the Senate worked in the early hours Friday when research money targeted for universities in their states was cut out of the bill.

The designated schools were Cornell, Syracuse, Iowa State, Wichita State, Kansas, Nevada-Las Vegas, Northeastern, Oregon Graduate Center, Oklahoma State, Arizona State and the Rochester Institute of Technology.

Sen. John Danforth, R-Mo., who led the opposition, said earmarking of research money for particular schools had grown into a trend, with such funds climbing from $3 million in 1982 to $137.6 million last year. Dole later pushed through an amendment he said would strike $24 million in similar earmarked money for Northeastern and RIT that are in the House bill, but it appeared the move was intended to set the stage for restoration of the Senate's earmarked funds when the measure goes to conference.

As senators worked late on the bill Thursday, they waived the restrictions of the Gramm-Rudman deficit-reduction law to allow Sen. James Abdnor, R-S.D., to push through an amendment doing away with IRS recordkeeping rules on business deductions for vehicles.

The move was said to cost the government $200 million a year in lost tax revenue.

A 'moo-ving' experience

Normally in the world of display-building, it's hard to "milk" much excitement out of one's day. But setting up a dairy display was certainly a "moo-ving" experience for these two Triangle Young Supervisors, Karl Nelson, left, and Wes Bowman carry a large, painted cow face by the ears into the Blue Lakes Mall. The smiling cow is part of a display advertising June as national dairy month.

Shift hinders treaty hopes

By ROBERT PARRY
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration backtracked Friday on a key negotiating position taken by its Central American envoy, prompting Democratic charges that hope for a Nicaraguan peace treaty has been undercut.

Administration spokesmen said the revised U.S. position on a treaty to end the Nicaraguan fighting is that the United States will abide by an agreement upon its "implementation" — rather than on its signing — as special envoy Phillip Habib had said in a letter to Congress April 11.

Habib's letter was hailed by liberal and moderate lawmakers as a potential breakthrough on the "Contadora" treaty that is being negotiated by Central and South American nations. But conservatives attacked the letter as a sell-out of U.S.-backed rebels fighting Nicaragua's leftist Sandinista government.

State Department spokesman Charles Redman said Friday that Habib's letter had been "drafted by experts in the (State) department (and) widely cleared in the administration" but "should have said 'on implementation' instead of 'on signature.'"

"That is, we are willing to abide by an agreement that meets the criteria of the Habib letter when the Central American parties themselves take action to respect its provisions," he said.

The revised position represents the views of President Reagan and Vice President Bush, who personally assured Latin American leaders a month ago that the United States "does stand behind Ambassador Habib's letter," said Marlin Fitzwater, a spokesman for Bush.

Administration officials, insisting on anonymity, acknowledged that the wording "on implementation" represents less definite timing for U.S. compliance than "on signature." But they said it prevents the Sandinistas from simply signing a treaty they intend to ignore as a way to lock the United States

Senate votes down study of BPA sale

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Sens. Dan Evans and Slade Gorton were rebuffed by a 73-25 Senate vote against a proposal for further study of the potential sale of the Bonneville Power Administration and other federal power marketing agencies.

The amendment was sponsored by Sen. Gordon Humphrey, R-N.H., who tried to attach it to a supplemental appropriations bill Thursday.

Evans, R-Wash., said the sale of federal power marketing administrations to private owners could lead to higher electricity rates in the Pacific Northwest and other regions.

"This is a ludicrous proposition," Evans said. "Nothing would deal a stronger blow to the economy of the Pacific Northwest."

"We expect to see continued employment gains in the 200,000-300,000 range over the entire second half of this year," said White House spokesman Larry Speakes. "At the same time, we do not expect to see a net loss of 122,000 workers added to the labor force; work force increases should drop to a more normal level of about 150,000."

they are going to get more in terms of reward or rates than they get now."

Evans said "nothing deals a stronger body blow to the economy of the Pacific Northwest and to our future than the proposal to proceed with the study to privatize Bonneville."

Gorton, R-Wash., said the proposal to pursue "unwise and controversial studies to sell off" four of the five federal power marketing administrations would be a waste of taxpayers' money.

He called the amendment "mischievous," saying its passage would "lead directly to economic development" in the area.

"The federal power program is an integral part of the economy of 34 states," Gorton said. "Before any further action is taken to make a

President receives early look at shuttle report

Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON — President Reagan gets a first look this weekend at a 250-page report on the Challenger accident that is the product of months of investigation by the blue-ribbon commission headed by former Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

The report will be made public Monday, capping four months of unsettling disclosures about the flawed design and flawed decision-making process that led to the fateful launching of the space shuttle Challenger last January.

Reagan, in a Rose Garden ceremony, will thank commission members for their work and will "reaffirm his dedication to space exploration," an administration official said.

A commission source described the last 120 days as "intense, sometimes grim, sometimes bewildering" but said there was "never any thought given to clipping the wings of the space program."

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said that there is a consensus within the administration to build a fourth orbiter to replace the Challenger but that officials are still grappling with how to fund the expensive vehicle and what balance to strike between use of shuttles and expendable launchers. A decision is expected in the next week or so.

Another top official said the delay stems from White House concern that any decision affecting the space program be thoroughly examined. "Irrespective of the decision we make, we want to

American reports 80 hit hard by radiation

The Associated Press

MOSCOW — American bone marrow specialist Robert Gale said Friday that 80 people suffered serious radiation exposure at Chernobyl and that doctors will monitor the health of the roughly 100,000 evacuees for the rest of their lives.

Dr. Gale, who returned a day earlier from a visit to the nuclear disaster site in the Ukraine, said the only motion he saw in the once-thriving plant town of Pripyat was laundry flapping in the breeze. Pripyat was abandoned by its 25,000 residents nearly six weeks ago. The evacuation did not take place until about 36 hours after the disaster began.

The explosion and fire at the Chernobyl nuclear power plant April 26 spewed a huge cloud of radiation that spread over Europe and eventually reached around the globe. Journalists asked Gale what the health consequences might be for European countries.

"It would be a mistake to try to come up with numbers concerning Western Europe or even the rest of the Soviet Union," he said. "The projections we can make are extremely imprecise. I would urge everyone to remain calm and not make alarming statements."

Gale added, however, that even low levels of radiation exposure eventually can eventually cause cancer, so the health of the evacuees will be followed.

WASHINGTON — The nation's unemployment rate jumped back up to 7.3 percent last month, the government said Friday, with 45,000 more layoffs in the auto and oil industries offsetting new low-paying fast food jobs.

The number of jobless rose by 210,000 in May to nearly 8.6 million with all of the increase occurring among adult men, raising unemployment among them to 6.4 percent, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said. That rate had remained at roughly 6 percent since mid-1985, officials noted.

With overall civilian joblessness rising 0.2 of a percentage point from April's rate, economists said the May figures were an indication of continuing sluggishness in the American economy.

Largely because lower mortgage rates triggered a housing boom and

Jobless rate surges

106,000 new construction jobs — adjusted for seasonal variations — were lost in March and April from February's rate of 7.3 percent.

But construction hiring leveled off with just 21,000 new jobs last month as the market for office space, new hotels and commercial building showed signs of beginning to dwindle.

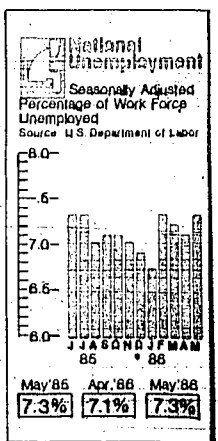

"The office boom is coming to an end; stores and other commercial construction like hotels are overbuilt," said Lawrence Chimerine, president of Chase Econometrics, an economic forecasting firm based at Bala Cynwyd, Pa. "While interest rates are helping housing starts, the rest of the construction market just isn't there."

Chimerine said the May employment figures are weaker than most economists had expected.

"It's just not tolerable for unemployment to continue at 7 percent or higher," he said. "But this economy is not very robust. Under the circumstances, we've been lucky that unemployment has not gone any higher."

The Reagan administration, which had predicted that civilian unemployment for all of 1986 would average 6.7 percent, focused its reaction on the report's disclosure that 200,000 new service jobs were created last month.

"We expect to see continued employment gains in the 200,000-300,000 range over the entire second half of this year," said White House spokesman Larry Speakes. "At the same time, we do not expect to see a net loss of 122,000 workers added to the labor force; work force increases should drop to a more normal level of about 150,000."

Innocent, says Hofmann

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Documents dealer Mark Hofmann pleaded innocent to two counts of first-degree murder and 28 related charges during arraignment in 3rd District Court Friday.

The arraignment was held on Friday rather than Monday as scheduled because of a mistake in the court calendar, said defense attorney Brad Rich.

Rich said he had been told by the court originally that the arraignment would be on Friday, and showed up with Hofmann. The arraignment was listed for Monday on the court calendar. Hofmann is accused of murder in the Oct. 15 bombing deaths of Steven Christensen, 31, and Kathleen Sheets, 50. He also is charged with 28 counts of fraud, theft by deception and bomb making.

Hofmann, injured when a third bomb blew him from his sports car in downtown Salt Lake City on Oct. 16, appeared on crutches during the arraignment before Judge Kenneth Rigrup.

Salt Lake County Attorney Ted Cannon, who said his office had expected the arraignment to be held on Monday, termed the impromptu arraignment a "swifty" staged by the defense.

Federal agents seize 100 machine guns in plant raids in Utah, Denver

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Federal authorities seized 100 machine guns and parts for 2,400 others in raids Friday in Utah and Colorado that netted $3 million in firearms, investigators said.

Some of the weapons had been ordered by Halt's former president-for-life, Jean-Claude Duvalier, before he fled into exile Feb. 7, said a law enforcement source who spoke on condition of anonymity.

Federal firearms charges were being drawn up for filing Monday against a Salt Lake man and his son following the raids, which capped a week-long investigation, said Jerry Miller, resident agent in charge of the federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.

Charles William Goff Sr., president of American Research and Development Co., and William Goff Jr., vice president of the Utah-based firearms firm, are suspected of having altered serial numbers on the weapons to make it appear they had been manufactured before a new federal law was signed May 19 by President Reagan, Miller said.

The law makes it illegal to manufacture machine guns after that date for sale to the public. Any machine gun made before then must also be registered with the ATF.

Miller declined to confirm or deny a Haitian connection, but said the possibility was being investigated.

The weapons were identified as AM 199-M2 machine guns manufactured under a federal license by American Research and Development. Early versions of the .22-caliber weapon were first marketed by the Goffs to law enforcement agencies, together with an insert-beamscope.

Models displayed during a news conference included a gold-plated AM 199-M2 valued at $24,000, and a folding-stock version that could be fired from inside a briefcase, which was fitted with a laser-beam sight.

Magic Valley

Area's unemployment rate shades upward

The Associated Press and The Times-News

TWIN FALLS — Idaho's unemployment rate rose significantly during May to 6.5 percent, as major layoffs in mining and food processing industries closed off jobs for many workers.

In the Magic Valley, the rate also turned upward, but hovered below the statewide level because of continued job opportunities in construction and in agriculture, the Idaho Department of Employment announced Friday.

The seasonally adjusted rate for Twin Falls, Jerome and Gooding counties was 5.9 percent during the month, said Lon McDonald, job force analyst based in Twin Falls.

Although that was 2 of a percentage point higher than April's 5.7 percent, the raw numbers of people employed actually rose 1,496 from April, he said. Those estimates place 24,876 on job rolls and 1,958 of the job.

"A lot of construction activity is going on. Agriculture is going on with a lot of employment coming in there," he said.

The Magic Valley's 5.9 percent "is still a pretty good number" compared to the nation's 7.3 percent and Idaho's 6.5 percent, McDonald said.

The Idaho figure climbed 3 of a percentage point from April. The state recorded only a slight expansion in the labor force, while layoffs trimmed the numbers of people employed, department figures showed.

May marked the second month in a row in which the numbers of people employed dropped below 400,000. They haven't been that low since June 1984.

"The closure of the Sunshine and Lucky Friday mines resulted in about 750 layoffs in the mining industry, state Employment Director Scott McDonald (no relation) said in a statement. "Temporary shutdowns at Lamb-Weston (in Pocatello), the J.R. Simplot Heyburn plant and Ore-Ida (in Burley) left several hundred more workers jobless.

The Simplot and Ore-Ida layoffs are not reflected in Magic Valley figures because the agency's initial statistics cover only Twin Falls, Jerome and Gooding counties.

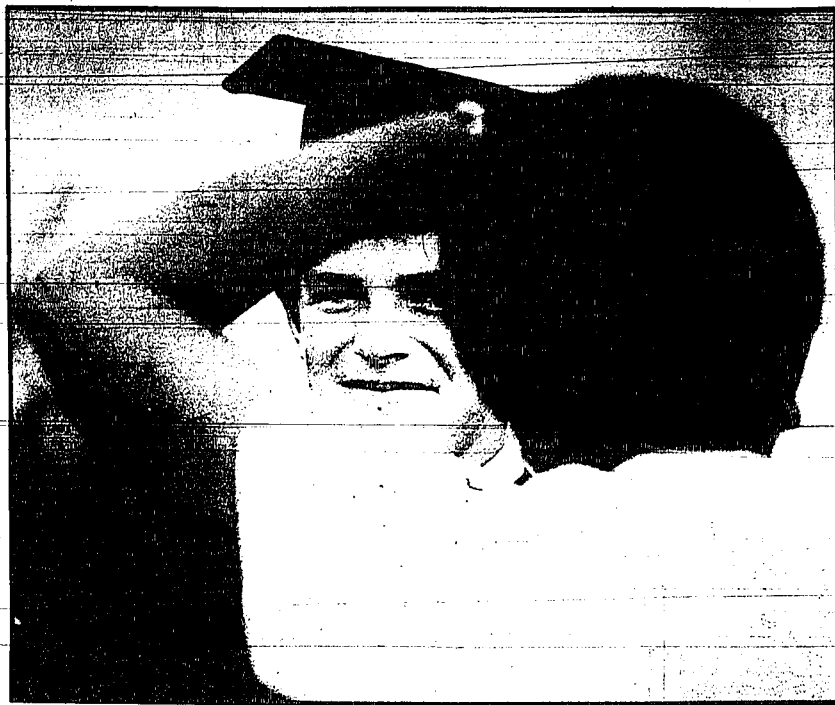

Offsetting some of the job losses statewide were expansions in government, construction, agriculture and logging.

But, "The outlook for the summer is mixed, as many of Idaho's firms are experiencing layoffs and economic hardships. The unemployment rate will probably not vary more than five-tenths (of a percentage point) over the summer months," McDonald forecast.

Overall, 27,800 Idahoans were out of work in May, up 1,300 from the previous month, in May, up 1,300 from the previous month, while total employment in the state dropped to 298,700 workers, 400 less than in April. All seven regions in the state recorded increases in unemployment rates. Their rates and the change from April were:

- * Magic Valley — 5.9 percent, up .2 percent.
- * Ada County — 4.1 percent, up .1 percent.
- * Canyon County — 6.8 percent, up .4 percent.
- * Lewisville area — 6.4 percent, up .1 percent.
- * Panhandle — 9.6 percent, up .4 percent.
- * Pocatello area — 8.3 percent, up .3 percent.
- * Idaho Falls area — 4.3 percent, up .4 percent.

Seniors urged not to lose 'common touch'

By MICHAEL VANAUDELN
Times-News correspondent

TWIN FALLS — It was "a night of honors" said Student Body President Brad Bowlin as a capacity crowd at the College of Southern Idaho gymnasium paid tribute Friday night to the Twin Falls High School class of 1986.

More than 300 TFHS students graduated from their high school careers into to whom commencement speaker Curtis T. Eaton called "the opportunity to use what you've learned from the education system for your goals."

After being introduced by graduating senior

Jaime Barlow, Eaton said he was honored by Barlow's flattering comments and felt like the man who rose from his grave, read his epitaph and said, "Either someone is a liar or I'm in the wrong hole."

Eaton, the chairman of the board of the Twin Falls Bank & Trust, addressed the audience — full of parents, friends and graduating seniors dressed in light- and dark-blue gowns — and spoke of the direction education will lead the graduates.

The Stanford University and TFHS graduate told the graduating class to "never lose the sight to walk with kings or lose the common touch." He said that despite the large number of students graduating this year, "it is the individual who, ultimately, contributes to society."

Eaton said it is "the responsibility of the educational system, including families, to provide an example for young people, and you will now realize that that has happened."

Bowlin echoed Eaton's comments and added that TFHS has "provided its students with a strong educational program." Bowlin reported that TFHS received the 50-year award from the Northwest Accreditation Association for "having one of the best records of (high schools) in the Northwest."

McClure, Symms side with majority on BPA decision

Stivers appoints state House committee to study sale despite U.S. Senate vote

TWIN FALLS — Idaho Senators Jim McClure and Steve Symms joined the majority in the Senate this week when they threw back to the Reagan administration a political hot potato dropped in their lap in the name of privatization.

In a 73-25 vote, the Senate stripped funding for further study of the sale or privatization of the Bonneville Power Administration (BPA), a major source of the cheap electrical power the Pacific Northwest is noted for.

Sale of the BPA is one of the major privatization proposals of the administration this year. Debate over the proposal has split those who say a sale to private companies would cause power rates to rise in the Northwest and those who say it would not.

McClure and Symms both voted with the majority to table the amendment offered by Sen. Gordon Humphrey, R-New Hampshire, to further study the sale of the BPA and other federal power marketing systems.

Meanwhile, Idaho House Speaker Tom Stivers said Friday that he has appointed a committee of House members to study the sale and that the committee will continue its work in spite of the Senate vote. "I don't think that's going to deter us from discussing it at all... the only way it is going to be kept alive is by somebody doing something. If you don't ever start, it never will happen," said Stivers.

He said he appointed Reps. Mack Neibaur, R-Paul; Robert Geddes, R-Boise; and Gary Montgomery, R-Boise, to the committee. Geddes was chairman of Stivers' special committee on privatization last winter.

Sen. Laird Noh, R-Kimberly, who set up a study committee last winter when the plan first surfaced, said Friday night that Western governors have studied the plan and determined it would raise power rates. He said his committee will continue to study the proposal to see whether selling or keeping the BPA makes more sense. Noh said the only group he knows of that has been openly in favor of the sale is Idaho Power Co.

Idaho Power spokesman Larry Taylor said Friday night that Idaho Power has not been a strong advocate either way, but that if the government does decide to sell, they have said they would like to be part of a group of private buyers.

The BPA is a federal system of dams and transmission lines that provides power to nearly half the Pacific Northwest and to eight municipal and 15 cooperative utility companies in Idaho, which in turn supply about 200,000 Idahoans as well as a number of irrigation and industrial customers.

Symms press aide Rusty Butler said Symms voted with the majority to kill further study because there is a chance rates would increase if the system is sold to private interests. He said that while Symms supports the concept of privatization, he could not support an increase in power rates.

He said Symms has given "extremely cautious" support to plans to study Reagan's plan to sell the BPA.

McClure aide Rita Scott said the idea could be brought up again this year, but said she doubted it will go far. "When Sen. (Mark) Hatfield (R-Oregon) said it would be over his dead body we take it fairly seriously... it's getting a tremendous lot of flak," she said.

Pat Sullivan, a staffer for McClure on the Energy and Natural Resources Committee, said the proposed sale offers many complications. "It's the basis of our socio-economic system; the basic industries depend on the BPA, it keeps jobs," he said.

Sullivan said the staff at the Department of Energy has examined the proposal and has found that the intertwined questions of federal water rights, Indian water rights, soon to be adjudicated private water rights and the questions about how to sell the system and to whom are overwhelming.

Judge waives jail term for convicted mother

JEROME — A Hazelton woman convicted of a misdemeanor in connection with the starvation death of her infant daughter last year will not go to jail, a 5th District Magistrate Judge decided Thursday.

After a two-hour hearing, Judge Nathan Higer of Burley suspended the six-month jail sentence of 30-year-old Rosemarie Staten and placed her on a two-year probation.

The action was in response to defense testimony that jailing her and her 31-year-old husband Gary would be detrimental to the couple's five other children, Jerome County Prosecutor Mark Gause said.

Higer did not lift the six-month jail sentence of Gary Staten, who must start serving his term June 16 in the Jerome County Jail, Gause said.

The Statens were convicted of injury to a child in connection with the death of their 11-month-old daughter, Tanya Lynne, on Feb. 3, 1985. The child died as a result of bronchial pneumonia caused by malnutrition and lack of medical treatment.

The couple's belief in the use of a natural-food diet to treat the baby caused the death, Gause previously said.

On April 17 the Statens were sentenced to six months in jail, the maximum on the charge.

A request to reconsider the sentence was made May 8 by Randy Stoker, acting as the county's public defender.

At the hearing, Stoker called Gary Staten, Twin Falls psychologist Richard Smith and a friend of one of the Staten children, Gause said. The witnesses testified that jailing the couple would be detrimental to the other children.

Gause said he didn't oppose Stoker's motion to reconsider the sentence, because he stood by his original sentencing recommendation of probation for the couple.

As part of her probation, Mrs. Staten will be required to obtain psychiatric help. The state Department of Health and Welfare also will make regular checks on the couple's home and on their other children.

The terms of probation were recommended by Gause.

Stoker could not be reached for comment Friday.

The Statens originally had been charged with felony involuntary manslaughter. Shortly before the case was scheduled to go to trial Feb. 25, the charge was reduced to a misdemeanor after plea negotiations.

Gause was severely criticized by law-enforcement personnel for the plea agreement. His actions in the Staten case also sparked an unsuccessful recall attempt by a group of Jerome County residents.

BURLEY — Here, where a group of men issued swift commands to control rampaging waters released by a break in the Teton Dam, Leo Busch still works for the Bureau of Reclamation and thinks about that Saturday 10 years ago.

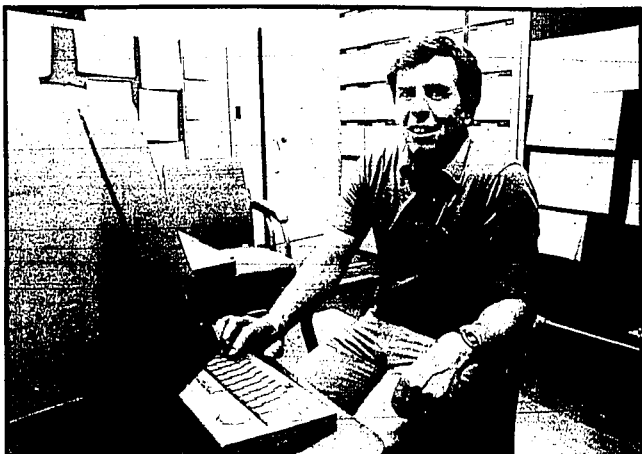

"If we could do it over, there wouldn't be any difference in operation, because he stood by the lines, but maybe there should have been better communications with the general public — getting the news out," said Busch, chief of operations and maintenance at the BR headquarters here.

"We have worked on that aspect (communications) since then," he said. "It's important to reassure the public with the facts."

Busch was chief of water operations when the office received word that the dam had failed. "I'll never forget that day. We were in constant contact with the Washington (D.C.) office, and Carlos Randolph (Busch's boss in Burley, who has since retired) had to take a very forceful stand with a top bureau official in the capital."

"He wanted us to shut down the Pallsades Dam power plant completely and was questioning our operation, and Carlos let him know that we were in control and would remain in control," Busch recalled. "He really took the bull by the horns, and I'll always respect him for that."

One of the first decisions made after bureau workers learned of the dam failure was to cut the release of water from Pallsades, a reservoir upstream from the main Snake River's confluence with the north fork of the Snake, which is dammed by the Teton.

But workers decided not to cut water flowing to the Pallsades power plant, Busch said, in order to maintain the flow of power to southeastern Idaho residents. So the manager in Washington, an assistant commissioner of the bureau, was basically ignored.

Other choices also had to be made which, if wrong, could have proved disastrous.

District court

The following civil cases were filed recently in 5th District Court in Twin Falls:

Marie Griggs vs. City of Caldwell. Plaintiff alleges that the defendant was negligent in the maintenance of a water meter cover that was not locked down, causing injuries to the plaintiff when she stepped on the cover and it twisted and gave way. Therefore, the plaintiff seeks general damages in the amount of $95,700; special damages in the amount of $35,820; damages for loss of ability to care for herself in the amount of $90,480 plus cost of the suit and attorney's fees.

Arlo R. Kent and Thomas C. Kent vs. City of Twin Falls. The plaintiffs allege that police officer Kevin Davis committed wrongful and arbitrary acts that deprived the plaintiffs of personal property without due process of law. The plaintiffs allege that officer Davis responded to a call that reported two boys were in a localizer and in possession of a stolen bicycle. Plaintiff Thomas Kent was in legal possession of the bicycle when arrested by the use of verbal compulsion and the display of force by officer Davis. Therefore, the plaintiffs seek special damages in the sum of $57, general damages in the sum of $100,000, punitive damages, the sum of $2,000 if this action be uncontentious plus cost of the suit and attorney's fees.

Robert J. Reld vs. Sheri L. Schmitter. The plaintiff alleges that the defendant negligently operated a motor vehicle, resulting in an accident and causing injuries to the plaintiff. Therefore, the plaintiff seeks past and future medical expenses, general damages in the sum of $100,000 plus cost of the suit and attorney's fees.

The following criminal cases were heard recently in 5th District Court in Twin Falls:

Kenneth Glen Baker, 42. Twin Falls, was sentenced to 15 years at the Idaho State Penitentiary for the crime of lewd and lascivious conduct. However, 5th District Court Judge Daniel Mechl suspended the sentence and placed the defendant on five years probation. The defendant was ordered to have sex counseling, not to be in the company of female minors, have no contact with the victim without written permission of his probation officer or the Department of Health and Welfare, pay for therapy for the victim and pay $30 a month supervision fee.

Jim Sam Kay, 19. Twin Falls, was given a without judgment for the crime of rape and was placed on three years probation. The defendant was ordered to obtain a GED, gain full-time employment, stay drug and alcohol free, be supervised when with girls under 18, pay $30 a month supervision fee, pay $95 restitution to the father of the victim and pay the medical bills of the victim.

James Harral, 25. Twin Falls, following a violation of probation for the crimes of aggravated assault and battery, was allowed to remain on probation but to be transferred to intensive supervision.

Billie K. Draper, 29. Quincy, Twin Falls, was sentenced to the Idaho State Penitentiary for a period not to exceed four years for the crime of aggravated assault. However, 5th District Judge Daniel Mechl suspended the sentence and placed the defendant on four years probation. The court ordered the defendant to not consume any alcohol or any illegal drugs, continue with counseling at Port of Hope and on probation but to be transferred to intensive supervision.

George Pullman, 46. age and address unknown, entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of lewd and lascivious conduct with a minor. This matter will be set for trial and the defendant was released on his personal recognizance.

Richard Janis, 22. Salt Lake City, Utah, was denied a withheld judgment and was sentenced to the Twin Falls City Jail for seven months with credit for time spent for the crime of attempted grand theft. The defendant was fined $400 but $300 of the fine was suspended and the defendant was placed on unsupervised probation for a period of one year. The defendant was ordered to pay $15.50 in court costs and reimburse Twin Falls County in the sum of $100 for public defender fees.

Robert Todd Bellish, 18. Filer, pleaded guilty to the charge of first degree burglary. A pre-sentence report was ordered and the defendant was released on bond.

Franklin Qualls, 22. (address unknown), pleaded guilty to the charge of battery. The court sentenced the defendant to 35 days in jail with credit for 35 days already served and suspended court costs, fine and restitution also.

Jimmy Michael Martinez, 22. Twin Falls, entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of delivery of a controlled substance. The matter will be set for trial and the defendant was released on $15,000 bond.

Jerry Alan Carle, 25. Buhl, entered a plea of guilty to the charge of grand theft. The court ordered a pre-sentence report and the defendant was released on bond.

George Pullman, 46. age and address unknown, entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of lewd and lascivious conduct with a minor. This matter will be set for trial and the defendant was released on his personal recognizance.

Briefly

Teachers vote down first offer

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls teachers voted unanimously on Thursday to reject the School Board's first contract offer, after only a 30-minute meeting.

In a show of hands, the 145 teachers said "no, thanks" to the board's $405-a-year offer, including increments. Teachers are requesting a $700-a-year raise.

"Everyone was in a reasonable mood, they just don't like what's happening," said Nick Nicholson, chairman negotiator for the teachers.

The teachers are seeking an increase in the base salary, from $13,500 to $13,750.

"We're still waiting for the board to respond to our last offer," Nicholson said.

The district says the $243,707 in override money approved by voters only covers an increase in increments and extra-duty pay.

Both sides will meet again on June 16.

2 women hurt in I-84 accident

SUBLETT — Two women were injured Thursday afternoon in a rollover accident on Interstate 84, Idaho State Police reported.

A passenger, Lynette Lacy, 34, of Moxee, Wash., was in fair condition at Magic Valley Regional Medical Center in Twin Falls Friday after being transferred from Cassia Memorial Hospital on Thursday. The driver, Lillian Sullivan, 52, of West Richland, Wash., was treated for a broken ankle at Cassia Memorial and released, police said.

Details were sketchy on Friday. However, state police did report the driver apparently fell asleep, and when she awoke, overcorrected in steering. The car rolled over an unspecified number of times.

Lacy was ejected from the car in the crash. No citations were noted and no information was available on use of seat belts.

Fire Department to set blaze

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls City Fire Department in cooperation with the Federal Emergency Management Agency, will set fire Monday to demonstrate the effectiveness of residential sprinklers.

The federal agency is providing a trailer furnished to resemble a living room with a huge window to allow spectators to watch the sprinklers in action.

Firefighters will light a fire in a wastebasket and ignite other combustibles. The fire should produce enough heat to activate a residential fire sprinkler to extinguish the fire before substantial damage is done.

Mayor Doug Volmer and building contractor Bob Wills, of Wills Inc., have volunteered to stand inside the trailer.

The public is invited. The event is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. to noon, just outside the Fire Department headquarters on the 200 block of 4th Street East.

Beginning typing course set

TWIN FALLS — Beginning Typing will be offered at the College of Southern Idaho beginning June 11.

There will be instruction on the keyboard layout, format, report formats and writing skills to benefit both typewriter and computer users. The class meets from 6-8 p.m. Wednesdays, for eight sessions, in Shields 214.

The fee is $50 and students can preregister in the Taylor Administration Building. For more information call 733-9534, ext. 364.

British bishops agree on doctrine; reject hunts for heresy

LONDON (AP) — Church of England bishops, including the one who started the argument, have answered controversy over the virgin birth and the resurrection of Christ by reaffirming traditional faith and renouncing hunts for heresy.

"There must always be a place in the life of the church for both tradition and inquiry," they said Thursday in a 39-page statement titled "The Nature of Christian Belief."

Christians must develop "words and thoughts accessible to the contemporary world," and bishops must "defend the legitimate variety and breadth of Christian teaching," it said.

No mention was made of the Rev. David Jenkins, whose publicly expressed doubts that Jesus was born of a virgin and physically rose from the dead after crucifixion aroused controversy nationally in April 1981.

Jenkins was consecrated bishop of Durham on July 6, 1981, in the great medieval church, York Minster. Lightning set it ablaze three days later and some critics asserted that God was venting his wrath.

Archbishop of Canterbury Robert Runcie, spiritual head of the church and leader of 70 million Anglicans worldwide, including 3 million Episcopalians in the United States, told a news conference the statement was a "document of seriousness and pastoral sensitivity and, frankly, I am proud of it."

Jenkins, who took part with Runcie and 41 other bishops in arguing the tenets of the faith and agreeing on the statement, said in a comment from Durham that he accepted it because it made clear that the resurrection and divinity of Jesus are "of course, at the basis of faith and life in the Church of

He added his regrets, however, that the statement was not "more open, relaxed and creative about faith as exploration . . ."

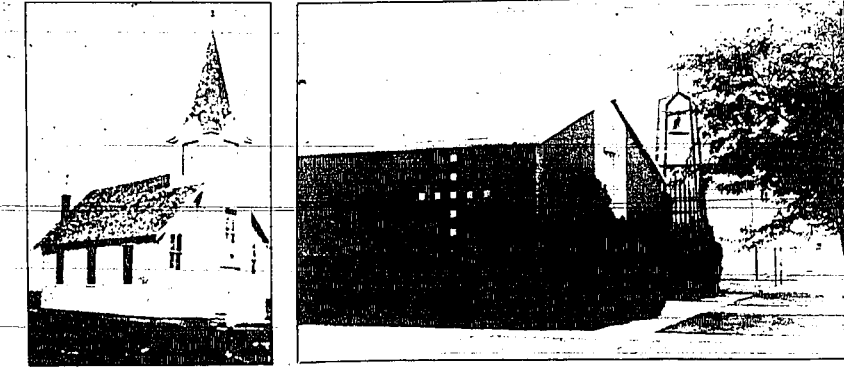

Now we must get on with showing what the faith means in application and practice."

Jenkins, 61, is the state church's fourth-ranking prelate and a professor of theology, whose diocese is a heartland of militant coal miners. He heightened controversy over his initial comments by criticizing the Conservative government's handling of the year-long miners' strike that was going on at the time.

The trouble started when Jenkins said during a television program that he "very much doubted" the biblical account of the virgin birth was factual. Later, he questioned the historical accuracy of the Resurrection story, and spoke of a "conjuring trick with bones."

The bishops spent most of a year privately debating belief and their role in teaching and upholding the faith at the request of the general synod, the church's policy-making body.

The old Trinity Lutheran Church building in Eden, left, and its successor. The church marks its 70th anniversary Sunday.

70 years later, a small mission has matured

EDEN — Trinity Lutheran Church will celebrate its 70th anniversary Sunday.

The church began as a small mission congregation in 1915, started by a group of 13 adults and children from Illinois. Services were held in the home of Ed Bruhn, 1047 1/2 from the current church site. The Rev. F.E. Traub, a Lutheran minister from Paul, conducted services in the Bruhn home.

In 1916 the group decided to form its own, permanent congregation, and was accepted for membership in what is now the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod. The congregation also decided to establish a parochial school, which was held in the C.H.

Meyerhoff home and taught by Rev. Traub.

Rev. Traub was called to be the first resident minister at Trinity. He filed on a 40-acre tract of land on which a parsonage was built, five acres of which he donated to the church. Services were held in this house until a typical white, wooden country church with belfry was built in 1920.

Due to the growth of the congregation, a new structure was built to seat 300 people in the sanctuary and school rooms in an extension to the east in 1923. There is also a large parish hall, a kitchen and pastor's study.

The church is located three miles south of Eden on the Eden road.

In 1977 another addition was added to the church facilities, a large combination gymnasium and recreation hall.

In the fall of 1982 an early education center was begun, with Ruth Olson teaching pre-school and kindergarten classes throughout the school year. This school is open to all children of the community, regardless of faith.

From the starting missionary congregation, which comprised three families, the church has grown through the years to an estimated 95 families. Fifteen ministers have served the congregation during its 70 years. The current minister is the Rev. Dale Heinlein, who came to the congregation in July 1981, soon after finishing his seminary training. Rev. Heinlein, his wife Dianne and children, Becky, Matthew and Peter, came to Eden from Glidden, Wis.

A special worship service will be held at 10:30 a.m. on June 15. The guest speaker will be the Rev. Richard Zigel of Spokane, son of the Rev. M. Zigel, who was one of the earlier ministers (1923) of the church. The Rev. Arthur Lewis, also an early Eden minister (now retired), will assist with the service. There will be a potluck dinner at noon in the recreation hall.

Church news

EDEN — Vacation Bible school will be held from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. June 16-20 at the Trinity Lutheran Church, 3 miles south of Eden. Children three years old through sixth grade will participate in activities including crafts, music, Bible stories and recreation.

For more information, call 625-5277 or 625-5510.

CALDWELL — Members of the Twin Falls and Buhl Seventh-day Adventist Church will meet with an estimated 2,000 other worshippers on the campus of Gem State Academy June 6-14 for the 88th annual camp meeting of the church for Southern Idaho and southeastern Oregon.

The featured speaker will be Roland Hegstad of Washington, D.C., editor of Liberty magazine. Hegstad will view world conditions and the church's perspective for the future. His talks will be from 8-9 p.m. each night from June 8-12.

Also being offered are "college-style" classes at 9:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m., June 8-13, on: "Grief Recovery," "Writing to be Read," "Marriage Enrichment," and "Better Health in Today's World."

For more information, phone the camp meeting's central office at 459-4481.

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP) — Members of the United Methodist Conference have passed a resolution denouncing the resurgence of the Ku Klux Klan.

The nearly 2,000 delegates to the annual state conference also passed a resolution Wednesday calling for the Confederate flag that has flown atop the Capitol since 1961 to be removed to the State Museum in Columbia.

"I think (the conference) is more activist than it's been since the end of the Vietnam War and I'm not sure why that is, except the conference Board of Church and Society was more willing to bring these issues before the annual conference," said spokesman Marion Crooks.

The resolution came in response to recruiting marches this year by a small group of Klan members in several towns.

OGDEN, Utah — A series of 130 district conventions of Jehovah's Witnesses has been scheduled in the United States during the summer of 1986.

Stanley Weigle, spokesman for the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society in New York, said 1,200 delegates are expected to attend the "Divine Peace" conventions, scheduled in 65 different cities.

Weigle said the four-day conventions will begin June 12-15 and continue through Aug. 14-17. The program will be presented in nine languages with a record 11 Spanish language meetings this year.

In Ogden, N.F. Capson, convention spokesman, said two conventions are scheduled for the Dee Events Center.

"Divine education promotes peace," Capson said. "The program will stress that a better understanding of the principles contained in the Bible is vital if genuine peace is to be achieved."

"Jehovah's Witnesses believe we are living in the last days," Capson continued. "The dramatic events we have witnessed in the world during this generation illustrate that God's kingdom by Christ will soon exercise its authority over all nations of the earth. It alone will bring a permanent peace," he said.

Daily Horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES: do not get into any altercation between a partner and a bigwig. Go quietly about your business and accomplish much.

MOON (CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): A co-worker could quarrel with one you do not know, but don't take any sides. Romance is favored this evening.

LEO (July 22 to August 21): You want to have a good time, but just recalled a promise you made. Fulfill that first and then have fun tonight.

VIRGO (August 22 to September 21): Do not argue with anyone at home or in the business world. The ARIES (March 21 to April 19): During the daytime, you have secret anxieties that could keep you from handling your work well. Resist dwelling on them.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): A friend and a new contact might not be agreeable and spoil plans you had made, but stall for time until the evening.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Try

Gunmen kill 3 in bank office

NORTHAMPTON, Pa. (AP) — Two men wearing white painter's caps stormed into a rural bank with guns blazing Friday, killing three female employees and wounding the manager and a customer before fleeing in a car, authorities said.

Two men, stopped about two miles north of the scene in a car fitting witnesses' description, were arrested and charged with murder, said state police Lt. Robert Werts.

Stanley Joseph Hertzog, 29, of Allentown, and Martin Daniel Appel, 28, of Northampton, were charged with murder, attempted murder, aggravated assault, bank robbery and conspiracy.

Police had set up roadblocks and used a helicopter to scan the area near Bethlehem in eastern Pennsylvania about 60 miles north of Philadelphia, and stopped the car near Kriedersville, state police Capt. Benjamin Brooks said.

Police and FBI agents interviewed the men.

Doctors seek heart for baby

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Doctors sought a donor heart for a dying baby Friday as his unwed parents expressed joy at a hospital's decision to reverse its refusal to list him as a transplant candidate.

"It's a lot easier to wake up in the morning with a little hope," Jesse Sepulveda, 26, told reporters after he and the mother, Deana Binkley, 17, signed over custody of their 12-day-old son, Jesse Dean Sepulveda, to Sepulveda's parents in Los Angeles County Superior Court.

The grandparents, whose names were not disclosed, took formal custody Friday when Judge Robert Olsen signed the guardianship order, which stipulated that the parents would not attempt to regain custody "without the prior written consent of Loma Linda hospital."

Release assets, judge orders

HONOLULU (AP) — A federal judge Friday ordered the U.S. Customs Service to release to former Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos $7 million in money, jewelry and other belongings he brought with him to Hawaii.

U.S. District Judge Harold Fong ruled that the Customs Service had no authority to hold the items from the exiled Marcos.

Court documents filed by the Customs Service in March 1983 said Marcos and members of his entourage brought the equivalent of $1.46 million in Philippine pesos into exile with them.

"The agency 'has not seized the goods pursuant to any investigation into potential violations of United States law,'" the judge said.

Attorney wants letter pulled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Attorney General's Commission on Pornography must be ordered to retract a letter which intimates dated chain stores into withdrawing Playboy magazine from sale, a federal judge has ruled Friday.

Bruce J. Ennis, an attorney for Playboy, made the request during a hearing on suits brought against the commission by Playhouse, Penthouse and the Magazine Publishers Association.

The 11-member commission, Ennis argued, "fueled a blaze of censorship across the land... and that blaze is still spreading."

Ennis was allowing to a Feb. 21 letter sent to 23 large corporations commission stationery and signed by commission executive director Alan Sears.

Prize winner says poetry is for all

CHICAGO (AP) — Poet Adrienne Rich on Friday received a $25,000 prize, said to be the largest-ever poetry award for an American, and declared that poetry was not the private preserve of academics but was for everyone.

"I think it's a myth that there are only a few people who care about and understand poetry," she said Rich, who was awarded the Ruth Lilly Poetry Prize by the American Council for the Arts and the Modern Poetry Association.

"It's not just something for scholars to write about. It is for people," said Rich, 57, a professor of English and feminist studies at Stanford University.

Ohio senator attacks special exemptions in tax reform bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — A supporter of the Senate Finance Committee's tax-overhaul plan said Friday the bill is so larded with cleverly disguised special-interest provisions that passage should be delayed until they can be identified and justified.

"There is blatant concealment in this bill... an effort to hide special provisions," Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, told reporters. "We're still trying to find all the provisions that are hidden in those 2,847 pages."

But he listed 16 specific provisions, including those for General Motors, Phillips Petroleum Co., Union Oil Co. of California and Control Data Corp., that warrant further study.

Later in the day, Sen. Bob Packwood, R-Ore., chairman of the Finance Committee, gave Metzenbaum a list of more than 170 special provisions, identified only by a page number in the bill and by the briefest description of the beneficiary, such as "cellular telephones," "Strawberry Square" and "Chanel."

At a second news conference, a member of the Finance Committee, Sen. William Roth, R-Del., proposed that two special tax breaks, benefiting defense contractors and the steel industry, be wiped out to help pay for a partial deduction for all workers who want to add to an individual Retirement Account.

When the Senate debates the bill next week, Roth vowed, he will offer as many amendments as are necessary to preserve IRAs for all workers. The bill is a major improvement over current tax law, he said, except that it falls short in encouraging saving.

"It will be very difficult to explain to the taxpayers that they have to give up their IRA deduction while the tax breaks for defense contractors and steel companies remain intact," Roth said.

The bill would allow all workers who are not eligible for a company pension to continue depositing up to $2,000 a year into an IRA with the deposit and the interest it earns remaining tax-free until withdrawn. But millions of workers who are eligible for company pensions would not be allowed the $2,000 deduction, even though they could still make the deposit and benefit to some extent by deferring taxes on the interest it earns.

Under Roth's proposal, all workers could have an IRA but the deduction would be replaced by a 15 percent tax credit that would be worth the same to all people regardless of income. For example, a person who contributed the full $2,000 would get a $300 tax credit, which would be subtracted from taxes owed.

Under present law, a $2,000 deduction saves $1,000 in taxes for a person in the top tax bracket but only $220 for someone who pays the lowest tax rate.

Compared to the committee's bill, Roth's amendment would hurt people who are not covered by a company pension. Although the bill would permit them a full $2,000 deduction — and thus a maximum tax saving of $40 under the new rates elsewhere in the bill — the Roth amendment would allow a $300 top tax saving for all.

David Raboy, a Roth aide, said the senator's goal is to get the Senate to accept the amendment and then leave it to a Senate-House conference committee to restore the fully deductible IRA for all workers.

Roth has prepared a list of options for raising the $14.7 billion that would be required to finance his IRA amendment.

Among items on that list: eliminate special "transition rules" benefiting defense contractors and the steel industry; wipe out the proposed liberalization of tax-exempt bonds; ensure that taxpayers not be allowed to deduct interest on non-equity loans used for consumer purposes; and allow deduction of unreimbursed employee business expenses only after they exceed 3 percent of income, rather than the 1 percent threshold in the bill.

"Before the Senate completes action on this bill, we are going to know" whether the special breaks are justified, Metzenbaum said.

Helicopter crash kills 4 men aboard

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — One of four Sikorsky helicopters scheduled to carry King Hussein of Jordan and his entourage crashed in the rain Friday, killing all four company employees aboard, authorities said.

Hussein decided Thursday to drive instead of fly from Boston to his daughter's graduation at a Connecticut prep school when heavy rain was forecast Friday, said Secret Service spokesman William Corbett in Washington. The Sikorsky Aircraft division of United Technologies of Stratford, Conn., had provided the helicopters as a courtesy.

Tax collections top estimates

BOISE (AP) — Idaho tax collections are running about $240,000 ahead of earlier estimates, the state Board of Examiners has been advised.

Mike Ferguson of the Division of Financial Management said Friday that less than four weeks before the end of the state budget year, it appears the state will receive about $571,330,000 in general tax revenue.

That's up $240,000 from the May estimate, Ferguson said. The new estimate is based on tax collections through May and estimates for June.

Sales taxes are running slightly below predictions, he said, but the shortage has been more than made up by increases in corporate and individual incomes taxes.

The Legislature earlier this year boosted the state sales tax from 4 to 5 percent to help offset a projected deficit in the state budget.

State Auditor Joe Williams told the board that he's holding state bills this month until it can be determined if some of them will have to be carried over into July, start of the state's new budget year.

So far, he has about $1.1 million in unpaid bills, Williams said.

Evans quiet about Hanford

MOSCOW (AP) — Political considerations are preventing Idaho Gov. John Evans from making stronger statements against the possible nuclear waste repository on the Hanford nuclear reservation, nuclear opponents agreed.

The Pelouse-Clearwater Hazard Watch organization agreed the issue is a touchy political question.

Carl Melina of Moscow said Evans' U.S. Senate campaign staff has told him that the governor will not be making a strong "black or white" statement about Hanford.

Melina said Kathy Rogers, Evans' campaign manager, told him residents of eastern Idaho want to get rid of small nuclear waste dumps in their part of the state. Consequently, the governor can't openly call for keeping Hanford from becoming a waste alternative, Melina said.

Board considers fund claim

BOISE (AP) — The state Land Board will try to determine how much money is involved in an Idaho Supreme Court decision this week before deciding whether to make a claim for it.

The Supreme Court on Monday ruled 4-1 that state Treasurer Marjorie Ruth Moon shouldn't be putting interest from various state endowment funds into the general fund.

The legal battle hinged on whether the Legislature acted properly in 1959 when it authorized the Land Board to use money earned from state lands to manage those lands. The Supreme Court approved the process as allowable under a constitutional requirement that money earned by public school endowment lands could go only into the Public School Endowment Fund.

Lands Director Stan Hamilton was asked Friday to determine how much interest might have been diverted from endowment funds and into the general fund since 1959.

Convict admits 3 robberies

BOISE (AP) — A convicted bank robber, already serving a 10-year prison term in Utah, has admitted holding up three other banks last summer, two in southwestern Idaho and one in southern Nevada.

Walter Britton, 31, faces up to 60 more years in prison and $50,000 in fines as a result of his guilty pleas, made in exchange for the government agreeing to drop two additional charges of using a firearm during the holdups.

U.S. District Judge Marlon Callister set Aug. 25 for sentencing. Britton admitted robbing the First Security Bank branch in Garden City last July 19, and the Benjamin Franklin Federal Savings and Loan Association office in Nampa two weeks later.

Idaho Falls schools to close

IDAHO FALLS (AP) — When seventh and eight-grade classes ended here Friday at the Holy Rosary and Hope Lutheran schools, it was the end of an era.

About 14 students who would have attended seventh and eighth grades next fall won't have the benefit of the school's low student-teacher ratio and Christian education at Holy Rosary, At Hope Lutheran, at least 13 will be enrolled at the closures.

Those students will have to attend at either Idaho Falls School District 91 or Bonneville School District 93 schools. Lack of space and a lack of interest are the reasons for the moves.

Land board purchases Priest Lake site

BOISE (AP) — Acting quickly at a Land Board meeting Friday, the state of Idaho agreed to pay $500,000 to purchase prime recreation land and beach at the north end of Priest Lake.

The Land Board unanimously voted to match a private offer of $300,000 for 275 acres of land and beachfront property described as perhaps the best sandy beach on Priest Lake.

Diamond Land Corp. owned the land, which is adjacent to the existing Lions Head State Park. Officials said the new property will be used to double the state park and add a half mile of prime sandy beach for public use.

As part of an earlier land trade at Priest Lake between Diamond Lands and the state, the state received "first right of refusal" to the Squaw Bay property.

Boise attorney Morgan W. Richards Jr. notified the Land Board that Diamond Lands had a valid offer of $500,000 from Sieya Ropp. He gave the state until June 11, or next Wednesday, to match it.

It didn't take that long. In contrast to earlier state-Diamond land deals at Priest Lake, which took months of discussion and produced a 3-2 vote in favor, Friday's negotiation took only minutes. Each of the five Land Board members praised the deal as a good one for the state.

The Department of Parks and Recreation will put up $700,000 it has received in donations and grants. The Fish and Game Commission, meeting at Jerome, voted Friday to provide the other $200,000, from money set aside for wildlife habitat.

State Schools Superintendent Jerry Evans said he thought the public school endowment fund should get something out of the trade, since the "first right of refusal" was part of the earlier Priest Lake land trade involving school endowment land.

State sets aside funds for 'hopper war

BOISE (AP) — With the 1996 grasshopper hatch under way in force in Idaho, the state Board of Examiners has released $200,000 to cover at least the initial state expenses in another aerial war on the marauding pests.

Preventive spraying on the high desert of Blaine County in southwestern Idaho was set to begin on Monday after state Agriculture Director Dick Rush declared an area near Bruneau Dunes State Park a "zone of infestation" as hopper counts reached 25 per square yard.

But, Rush told the board on Friday, "It appears the grasshopper problem is a lot less than it was last year at this time," especially in eastern Idaho. "I'm hoping the cost (to the state for spraying) will be well below $500,000."

Relatively favorable weather this spring coupled with the massive spraying program of a year ago was being credited for what appeared to be a reduced pest problem this summer.

"I'd like to think we did some good last year, but the weather sure is going to help," said Roger Pollard, who heads USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service plant protection division in Idaho.

Davison's Air Service of Caldwell will handle the initial aerial assault on 2,000 acres of Bureau of Land Management range and over 600 acres of state land in the area of the state park.

Pollard said a special task force has been set up to notify beekeepers of spraying operations so their bees can be protected from the often fatal pesticides, a serious problem during last year's battle against the invading pests.

A year ago in what was the worst grasshopper invasion in Idaho in three decades, the federal government spent over $12 million dollars to rain pesticide over some 6.5 million acres of southern Idaho grass and cropland. The state's share of that program was nearly $500,000, and while the spraying effort was declared a success, losses from the pests were placed in excess of $11 million.

Since that infestation, however, state and federal officials along with ranchers and farmers throughout the southern part of the state have been meeting in anticipation of a repeat this summer and are much better prepared to deal with any problems.

The federal government, which started off the 1985 season with no money allocated to pest control throughout the West and finally spent $35 million, has already earmarked $15.5 million for pest control this season, and the state has increased its commitment from $50,000 a year ago to $50,000 this year.

Revising income tax system could turn home into a bank

John Cunniff

NEW YORK — Designers and dreamers during the past decade have proposed that the family residence become an entertainment center, a computer shopping center and a work center, among other things.

Their designs and dreams have received varying degrees of acceptance.

Developments in high fidelity and video cassette players have indeed turned some homes into entertainment centers, and some people do use computers to buy goods and pay bills. But those developments still have a long way to go.

The home as a working place is probably more advanced, with many thousands of people now able to operate their production in a central station rather than transporting themselves there physically.

But none of these developments is likely to have the sudden impact that could result from one restriction by the Congress of the United States, which is now considering vast revisions in the federal income tax system.

That decision could turn the home into a bank.

While anything in the future is uncertain, the home bank could quickly become a reality if Congress does as expected, which is eliminate the tax deduction for most consumer borrowing while continuing it for home mortgages.

Faced with such a situation, it might not take long for homeowners to renounce credit-card loans and instead tap the equity in their homes by means of second mortgages.

To do so would provide at least two benefits:

1. Interest on the loan would be tax-deductible.
2. Interest costs — with the exception of loans on which points are charged — would be lower than on many installment and credit-card loans, some of which carry rates in excess of 20 percent, plus annual fees.

Possibilities for such usage of home equity are enhanced by the relative ease with which funds can be made available, a consequence of deregulation and the revolution that has occurred in bankers' thinking over the past decade.

Whereas home equity once was considered almost unobtainable, even by the well-heeled, it is now offered by some lenders as a line of credit to be used or not used. Often, the amounts are substantially larger than other lines.

Adding to the appeal of home equity loans is the great appreciation in the market value of existing housing that has occurred over the past four years, and especially since mid-1985, sometimes reaching rates of 2 percent a month.

The possibilities could be frustrated by Congress or lenders, the former by legislation, the latter by the simple expedient of changing their individual regulations. But as of now, there seems to be no impediment to the home-bank.

If the way remains clear, it seems likely that a family preparing to purchase a $10,000 automobile might consider the interest-deductible loan from its home equity rather than another form of credit offering no tax benefit.

THE ACES

BOBBY WOLFF

"There is no need to fasten a bell to a fool."
 — Danish proverb.

Today's South played for East to be a fool. But when the hand was over, it was South who was wearing the telltale bell.

At the recent Houston Regional Tournament, South called for dummy's diamond queen, at trick one. Had East covered foolishly, South would have easily made his game. One spade would have gone on dummy's diamond jack, and with the aid of a club guess, South would have lost only two spades and a club to make four hearts.

East was Betty Ann Kennedy of Shreveport, La., winner of numerous national and world championships, and she rightly refused to cover the diamond queen. After South had captured nothing with his ace, he was forced to lose three spades and a club for one down.

It would have been a different story had South not wasted the diamond queen at trick one. The diamond ace wins and South leads a heart to dummy's ace to push the diamond queen through. East covers, South ruffs and a heart to dummy's queen allows a spade discard on dummy's jack. When declarer guesses clubs correctly, the defenders get only three tricks and South ends a touchy game.

What if West had held the diamond king instead of East? No difference. West gets his king of diamonds while South discards a spade, and the defenders get only one spade, one diamond and one club.
