Guard to escort Georgia march

The Associated Press

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Gov. Joe Frank Harris on Friday called out 1,500 National Guardsmen to help protect a civil rights march in Forsyth County, planned for today to respond to a truck and bottle attack by the Ku Klux Klan on a march a week ago.

The guardsmen will precede and follow the marchers through Cumming on Saturday morning, and other officers will line the sides of the group, said Georgia State At-Large Representative Robert H. Hamrick, who announced the measures at a news conference.

The marchers also will be surrounded as they rally at the Forsyth County courthouse, and no one will be permitted to cross the police line at either event, Hamrick said.

He expects in excess of 1,500 (marchers), maybe much in excess, Hamrick said. March organizers have said as many as 10,000 people, led by a number of well-known national figures, may take part.

The number of marchers may be matched by counterdemonstrators from the Ku Klux Klan and other groups, Hamrick said. A rally, Hamrick said, will be held in Cumming on Friday morning. The march will begin arriving on the scene Friday, will take place on Saturday and Sunday.

The marchers will be escorted by police officers, Hamrick said. He said he will be in attendance, Hamrick said, will be William Bradford Reynolds, head of the U.S. Justice Department's Civil Rights Division. Reynolds is about 60 miles north of Atlanta, didn't appear on the map of the modern civil rights movement until last week when a small, 500-man "brotherhood" of marchers was pelted with rocks and bottles.

Hofmann enters guilty pleas

Bomb death murder charges reduced in bargain agreement

By MICHAEL WHITE
The Associated Press

SALT LAKE CITY — A documents dealer pleaded guilty Friday to reduced murder charges in the pipe-bomb slayings of two people, killings that prosecutors said he committed to escape detection as a trafficker in bogus historical papers.

Mark Hofmann was sentenced to five years to life in prison in the 1985 deaths of a customer who bought the fraudulent "White Salamander" letter and for a $130,000 loan he obtained for the purchase of the McLellan collection, a never-produced cache of early Mormon documents.

Hofmann, 32, also agreed to brief prosecutors on his involvement in the slayings—and the 28-related charges of fraud, theft by deception and bomb-making he faced prior to the agreement.

Hofmann, whose murder trial had been scheduled for March 2, was sentenced to five years to life for the murder of Steven Christensen, 31, and one to 15 years for the murder of Kathleen Sheets, 30, and for each of the theft charges.

In sentencing Hofmann, 3rd District Judge Kenneth A. Rigtrup said the length of Hofmann's stay in prison was up to the state Board of Pardons, but he recommended that Hofmann "remain incarcerated for life" because of the "indiscriminate" nature of the killings.

Rigtrup said evidence indicated Sheets was killed by a bomb intended for her husband, J. Gary Sheets, Christensen's former business partner and a fellow documents buff.

Hofmann, showing no emotion, declined to make a statement, but answered "guilty" when Rigtrup asked for his plea to each of the charges.

On his way into court Hofmann told KUTV he feels sorry for what happened. "Other than that, I wouldn't like to make any public comment," he said.

Asked about his family, Hofmann said: "I obviously feel the worst for my family, but I think we'll live through it all right."

"It was a fair compromise from both sides," Hofmann's attorney, Ron Yenglich, said of the agreement which took a month to complete.

Salt Lake County Attorney David Wood said the victims' families had concurred in the plea bargain and that prosecutors—and in-

Missing Waite still apparently seeking Americans' release

The Associated Press

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Kidnappers forced two foreigners into a car at gunpoint Friday while Anglican Church envoy Terry Waite and the West German ambassador were trying to win freedom for earlier kidnap victims.

Waite negotiated for a fourth day with captors of American hostages.

The Christian, radio station Voice of Lebanon said American captives Terry A. Anderson and Thomas Sutherland were expected to be turned over to Waite in east Lebanon's Bekaa Valley town of Baalbek.

The report could not be verified. The radio later said the captors were making "a few days" delay in the Americans' release appeared to be in doubt. It did not elaborate.

The radio account said Waite was meeting in Baalbek with representatives of Hezbollah and Islamic Jihad, two pro-Iranian Shiite Moslem groups. Hezbollah is the militant Shiite group in Lebanon. Islamic Jihad has claimed it kidnapped Anderson and Sutherland.

Germans could try TWA hijack suspect

The Associated Press

BONN, West Germany — In a bid to buy time in its Lebanon hostage crisis, Chancellor Helmut Kohl's government is considering putting an accused TWA hijacker on trial before extraditing him to the United States, officials said Friday.

Two West German businessmen, Rudolf Cordes, 53 and Alfred Schmidt, 47, were seized by kidnappers in Beirut in the past week.

Two more foreigners were kidnapped Friday, and police said witnesses reported the victims, seized at 9:30 a.m. in Moslem West Beirut, might have been German because they protested in a language the Arab-speaking witnesses did not understand.

Foreign Ministry spokesman Klaus Ringwald dismissed that account, saying "no more Germans" were missing in Lebanon except Cordes and Schmidt.

Hamadi, who was arrested in Frankfurt Jan. 13, is inaccurate reports on Moslem happenings in the past.

The station later reported receiving an anonymous telephone call from a man who claimed responsibility for Friday's abductions in the name of the Organization of the Op-wanted in the United States on air piracy and murder charges stemming from the 1985 hijacking in which a U.S. Navy diver was killed.

But Hamadi could be tried first in West Germany on explosives and forgery charges before a decision on extradition is made, officials told The Associated Press on condition they not be identified.

That would win time in which the West German government would hope to negotiate the freedom of the German hostages, they said.

"Naturally a trial here is possible. . . . But I emphasize, nothing is decided," said a high-ranking Bonn official.

The Hamburg-published Bild newspaper said federal prosecutor Kurt Rebmann recommended that Hamadi be extradited quickly.

It quoted him as saying "otherwise, an escalation with more kidnappings was to be feared. Now we are talking about two lives; in a week it may be 20."

A spokesman for Rebmann refused comment on the report.

groups in whose name they were made.

Anderson's sister, Peggy Say, said in Washington the State Department told her Friday there was no confirmation of the radio report about her brother and Sutherland.

"It's all speculation," she said.

"The highest hope, of course, is that the rumors are true, but I just don't know," said Mrs. Say after meeting with John Adams, a State Department official. "Nobody has any confirmation right now."

"I am encouraged at the length of time Terry Waite has been there," Mrs. Say told reporters at an impromptu news conference.

"But having been burned so many times over the past two years, I am not at the point of optimism."

Mrs. Say, who came to the nation's capital earlier in the week to await word of Waite's dealings, said she has not talked with the Anglican church official since early November, when hostage David Jacobson was freed.

The State Department apparently also is out of touch with Waite, she said.

"They have no idea, as far as I know, what Terry Waite is doing in there. They have no way to track anything other than through the media."

Mrs. Say also said she isn't privy to what if anything, the U.S. government is doing to secure the release of the hostages.

"Whatever they are doing, they are not sharing with me," she said.

IRS hopes to offer simplified instructions for W-4 forms

By JIM LUTHER
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Internal Revenue Service said Friday it hopes to offer some simplification in filling out the new W-4 withholding form that some taxpayers are finding too complex.

"We think that by next week, we'll have some decisions made," said Ellen Murphy, IRS public-affairs director. She would not speculate what those decisions would be.

But suggested any changes would be in the instructions—not in the form itself.

"The new form that's out there is accurate," Ms. Murphy said, meaning that it is designed to bring withholding more in line with actual tax liabilities.

But Congress ordered a sweeping tax overhaul. As part of that law, which boosts or eliminates several deductions, reduces the personal exemption and cuts tax rates, Congress required that the secretary of the treasury or his delegate (meaning the IRS) shall modify the withholding schedules and withholding exemption certificates to better approximate actual tax liability.

The law requires that every employee file a new W-4 form by Oct. 1. On that form, the employee claims any allowances and the employer uses that number to determine how much federal income tax to withhold from paychecks.

Except for the date, the new W-4 form is the same as in the past. But the instructions and the worksheet for determining how many withholding allowances should be claimed are different. Last year, they totaled 10 pages but the new version is only three pages.

Several members of Congress have complained that taxpayers are finding it difficult to understand the new form. One Thursday, calling the new form far too complex, Baker, whose department oversees the IRS, said he had directed the IRS to see David Pryor, D-Ark., a member of the Finance Committee, proposed in a Social Security hearing.

A spokesman said, in answering a question on the form about whether he is blind or over 65, he should check "yes" or "no" or "I'm not sure."

Baker said he is quickly going blind. He said he is not sure if he is going blind. He said he is not sure if he is going blind.

Church spokesman Richard P. Lindsay said in a prepared release that church leaders had not been consulted and were not involved in the plea bargain.

Anderson, 39, chief Middle East correspondent for The Associated Press, was kidnapped March 16, 1983. Sutherland, 55, of Fort Collins, Colo., acting head of agriculture at the American University of Beirut, was abducted June 9, 1985.

Waite was last seen Tuesday evening as he left his seaside Riviera Hotel in west Beirut's Ein Mreisseh district for talks with the hostage-holders.

Tax commissioners seek raise

BOISE (AP) — Last year, a proposed pay raise for members of the state Tax Commission passed the House, but was scuttled by the Senate.

This year, commissioners are asking for a pay raise $1,000 higher.

Commissioner Darwin Young asked the House State Affairs Committee to introduce legislation boosting salaries to $42,000 per year from the current $41,500.

Young said generally, salaries for Tax Commission members are about $3,000 lower than those for the state treasurer, auditor, secretary of state and superintendent of public instruction. Starting Jan. 1, those officials went to $45,000 per year.

The committee voted to print and introduce the bill.

Separate legislation pending in the Senate State Affairs Committee boosts salaries of the three members of the Public Utilities Commission from $36,500 to $50,000 per year.

Olympic checkoff will return

BOISE (AP) — On this year's tax forms, a tax checkoff for the U.S. Olympic Committee was eliminated in favor of one allowing Idahoans to donate part of their tax refund to pay for educational programs on the value of agriculture in Idaho.

Next year, the Olympic checkoff may be back — just in time for the 1988 Olympics.

Rep. Jack Kennevick, R-Boise, won approval from the House State Affairs Committee on Friday to reinstate the Olympic checkoff. The bill will be up for final House approval next week.

Kennevick reminded committee members that the U.S. Olympic team is funded entirely by donations, not by government money.

House passes its first bill

BOISE (AP) — At the end of the second week of the 1987 session, the Idaho House passed its first bill and sent the measure to the Senate.

By a 77-0 vote, the House on Friday approved a bill eliminating the authority of auditorium districts to levy property taxes. That was agreed when Ada County voters in November rejected a proposal to dissolve the Boise district, which is the only auditorium district in the state.

"This may be the only opportunity you have this session to rescind a tax," said Rep. Boyd Hill, R-Meridian.

Rep. Steve Antone, R-Rupert, noting that his Revenue and Taxation Committee has spent hours over many sessions working on taxing powers of auditorium districts, told members, "Even though this is a Boise bill, please vote for it."

Porn penalties toughened up

BOISE (AP) — "The penalties may get stiffer in Idaho for those who sexually exploit children."

Rep. Pam Bengtson, R-Boise, convinced the House Judiciary and Rules Committee on Friday to print and introduce legislation calling for a prison term up to 15 years and up to $15,000 in fines for those dealing in child pornography.

Another section of the bill, which is a felony, punishable by up to 5 years in prison and up to $5,000 in fines, to possess child pornography for other than a commercial purpose.

The committee also gave preliminary approval to legislation making it clear that when a police officer observes a traffic infraction, the officer may go beyond his jurisdictional boundary.

Another bill approved for printing makes it clear that a criminal can be prosecuted both for conspiracy to commit a crime, and the crime itself.

Symms proposes silver medal

BOISE (AP) — Sen. Steve Symms, R-Idaho, says minting a silver medallion to commemorate Idaho's centennial would better identify Idaho as one of the world's largest silver producers.

Symms on Thursday in a letter to Lt. Gov. Butch Otter suggested that Idaho mint a commemorative medallion.

"The design should reflect Idaho's history, its industry and its values," Symms said.

Symms said such a medallion would be an investment in an important Idaho industry, though it wouldn't be legal tender. He said one of Idaho's mining firms could mint it.

He recommended the medallion be an ounce of 99.99 percent fine silver, with an appropriate design on its face.

Sen. Terry Sverdsten, R-Caldwell, and Rep. Dean Haagenson, R-Coeur d'Alene, will introduce proposals to mint the medallion, Symms said.

Craig out against pay increase

BOISE (AP) — Rep. Larry Craig, R-Idaho, says if the proposed congressional pay raise were tied to effectiveness, there would be less talk in Congress about granting it.

"If it's based on performance, with a $200 billion deficit, I question whether that's performance," Craig said. He was interviewed for KTVB's "Viewpoint" program to be broadcast over the weekend.

A Craig spokesman said Friday his office has been swamped with protests over the proposed pay increase, all in opposition.

Craig said he cannot vote for the pay increase.

Craig said he expects relations will be smoother between his office and that of new governor Cecil Andrus than it was with Andrus' predecessor, John Evans.

"I sense this going up will be a good deal easier to work with than the other one because he (Andrus) can make up his mind and stick with it," Craig said.

House asks Congress to pass road bill

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho House of Representatives and two of the state's leading Republicans appear to be heading in opposite directions over the federal highway funding bill.

The House on Friday approved a resolution to Congress urging speedy enactment of the Federal Surface Transportation Act. At about the same time, the two Republicans issued statements criticizing Democrat Rep. Richard Stallings for not adding an amendment raising the nationwide 55 mph speed limit to 65 mph in rural areas.

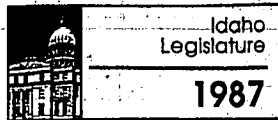

Stallings says that action could delay the highway funding bill for months — just as it led to the bill's demise last fall.

Sponsor Rep. John Sessions, R-Driggs, noted that last year, Congress was unable to agree on a highway funding bill, with the result that nothing was passed.

He said it's essential that Congress pass the bill, because unless action is taken, quickly, Idaho's road construction plans may be delayed, and the highway system already is in trouble because of underfunding.

About the same the House was sending the memorial to Congress for action, Sen. Steve Symms and Idaho GOP Party Chairman Blake Hall issued news releases criticizing Stallings' action on the House highway bill.

Stallings said he voted against amendments, because House leaders advised him they could bog down the highway funding bill and keep it from passing again.

Stallings said he tried to add the speed limit amendment to the highway funding bill, but was advised by the Rules Committee that amendments might bog the highway bill down for months.

"It was either a highway authorization bill soon, without the speed limit change, or it could be early summer if we had to fight about the speed limit," he said, in a telephone interview.

Symms said in a news release he was disappointed that the ouse refused to allow an amendment allowing states to set the speed limit at 65 mph on rural interstate highways.

"In the face of overwhelming public support for returning at least a portion of the speed-limit authority to the states, the House leadership ignored the will of the people for a good policy change," Symms said.

Hall said Republicans have "caught Stallings playing both sides of the fence," because when in Idaho, Stallings has promised to work for increasing the speed limit.

However, Stallings actually introduced his own bill on Thursday allowing states to increase the speed limit in rural areas.

Stallings said highway interests have pressed for a "clean" bill that can be approved quickly and restore highway funding.

Symms said he planned to introduce his own speed limit amendment in the Senate next week, when the Senate version of the highway reauthorization bill gets to the floor.

But he said because the House didn't add a similar amendment, "it will be a battle to keep it in during conference."

Stallings said it's possible Symms can add a speed limit amendment in the Senate, where rural interests carry more weight than in the urban-dominated House.

If Symms gets the amendment added, Stallings said the House might go along.

"We got 190 votes last time, which is awfully close to the votes needed. It is very do-able," Stallings said.

But he said many states feel the highway funding bill itself is the top priority, and it needs to be enacted as quickly as possible.

Travel review brings fast savings

BOISE (AP) — Gov. Cecil Andrus' order that travel plans be approved ahead of time trimmed as much as $5,000 from travel expenses during the first two weeks Andrus was in office, Budget Director Martin Peterson says.

He also contemplates us going in some other areas besides travel with some spot-audits, Peterson told the Joint Finance-Appropriations Committee on Friday.

He said the travel proposals blocked by his staff involved only a handful of trips for which agencies had more than one person scheduled to attend an event. In none of the cases, he said, was a trip completely canceled. Destinations of some of the trips for which a state agency contingent was reduced were Reno, Nev., New Mexico and Wenatchee, Wash.

Peterson estimated that the money saved during the first two weeks was less than 10 percent of the total agency out-of-state travel and did not involve any reviews of travel by higher education or Board of Education personnel. His office and the Board of Education plan to work out a program for review off those out-of-state travel plans next month, he said.

"We're going to try to get the best handle on it we can," Peterson told the committee. "We've tried to make it very clear that by and large travel by state agencies is legitimate travel... what we've probably done is forced these agencies to put a little more thought into their travel plans."

Peterson declined to say whether the $4,000 to $5,000 trimmed from travel expenses between Jan. 5 and last weekend would be maintained over an extended period.

Preston building left shell by fire

PRESTON (AP) — A spectacular fire gutted one of Preston's oldest buildings on Friday and threatened two other businesses.

There were no reported injuries.

A dispatcher for the Franklin County Sheriff's Department said the fire at Wanner's Bargain Barn was reported at 9:52 a.m. The business is in the Larsen Building, a two-story brick structure that originally housed the American Foods grocery store.

No official damage estimate was immediately available.

Tax commissioners seek raise

BOISE (AP) — Last year, a proposed pay raise for members of the state Tax Commission passed the House, but was scuttled by the Senate. This year, commissioners are asking for a pay raise $1,000 higher. Commissioner Darwin Young asked the House State Affairs Committee to introduce legislation boosting salaries to $42,000 per year from the current $34,500. Young said generally, salaries for Tax Commission members are about $3,000 lower than those for the state treasurer, auditor, secretary of state and superintendent of public instruction. Starting Jan. 1, those officials went to $45,000 per year. The committee voted to print and introduce the bill. Separate legislation pending in the Senate State Affairs Committee boosts salaries of the three members of the Public Utilities Commission from $36,500 to $50,000 per year.

Olympic checkoff will return

BOISE (AP) — On this year's tax forms, a tax checkoff for the U.S. Olympic Committee was eliminated in favor of one allowing Idahoans to donate part of their tax refund to pay for educational programs on the value of agriculture in Idaho. Next year, the Olympic checkoff will be back — just in time for the 1988 Olympics. Rep. Jack Kennelick, R-Boise, won approval from the House State Affairs Committee on Friday to restate the Olympic checkoff. The bill will be up for final House approval next week. Kennelick reminded committee members that the U.S. Olympic team is funded entirely by donations, not by government money.

House passes its first bill

BOISE (AP) — At the end of the second week of the 1987 session, the Idaho House passed its first bill and sent the measure to the Senate. By a 7-0 vote, the House on Friday approved a bill eliminating the authority of auditorium districts to levy property taxes. That was agreed when Add County voters in November rejected a proposal to dissolve the Boise district, which is the only auditorium district in the state. "This may be the only opportunity you have this session to rescind a tax," said Rep. Boyd Hill, R-Meridian. Rep. Steve Antone, R-Rupert, noting that his Revenue and Taxation Committee has spent hours over many sessions working on taxing powers of auditorium districts, told members, "Even though this is a Boise bill, please vote for it."

Porn penalties toughened up

BOISE (AP) — The penalties may get stiffer in Idaho for those who sexually exploit children. Rep. Pam Bengson, R-Boise, convinced the House Judiciary and Rules Committee on Friday to print and introduce legislation calling for a prison term up to 15 years and up to $15,000 in fines for those dealing in child pornography. Another section of the bill makes it a felony, punishable by up to 5 years in prison and up to $5,000 in fines, to possess child pornography for other than a commercial purpose. The committee also gave preliminary approval to legislation making it clear that when a police officer observes a traffic infraction, the officer may go beyond his jurisdictional boundary. Another bill approved for printing makes it clear that a criminal can be prosecuted both for conspiracy to commit a crime, and the crime itself.

Symms proposes silver medal

BOISE (AP) — Sen. Steve Symms, R-Idaho, says minting a silver medallion to commemorate Idaho's centennial would better identify Idaho as one of the world's largest silver producers. Symms on Thursday in a letter to Lt. Gov. Butch Otter suggested that Idaho mint a commemorative medallion. "The design should reflect Idaho's history, its industry and its values," Symms said. Symms said such a medallion would be an investment in an important Idaho industry, though it wouldn't be a legal tender. He said one of Idaho's mining firms could mint it. He recommended the medallion be an ounce of 99.99 per cent fine silver, with an appropriate design on its face. Sen. Terry Sversten, R-Caldado, and Rep. Dean Haugenson, R-Coeur d'Alene, will introduce proposals to mint the medallion, Symms said.

Craig out against pay increase

BOISE (AP) — Rep. Larry Craig, R-Idaho, says if the proposed congressional pay raise were tied to effectiveness, there would be less talk in Congress about granting it. "If it's based on performance, with a $200 billion deficit, I question whether that's performance," Craig said. He was interviewed for KTVB's "Viewpoint" program to be broadcast over the weekend. A Craig spokesman said Friday his office has been swamped with protests over the proposed pay increase, all in opposition. Craig said he cannot vote for the pay increase. Craig said he expects relations will be smoother between his office and that of new governor Cecil Andrus than it was with Andrus' predecessor, John Evans. "I do sense this governor will be a good deal easier to work with than the other one because he (Andrus) can make up his mind and stick with it," Craig said.

House asks Congress to pass road bill

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho House of Representatives and two of the state's leading Republicans appear to be heading in opposite directions over the federal highway funding bill. The House on Friday approved a resolution to Congress urging speedy enactment of the Federal Surface Transportation Act. At about the same time, the two Republicans issued statements criticizing Democrat Rep. Richard Stallings for not adding an amendment raising the nationwide 55 mph speed limit to 65 mph in rural areas. PUC: Area judge is treating materials violators too lightly

By JANE ROBISON
Times-News writer

BOISE — Truckers and trucking companies cited for hazardous materials violations receive little or no fines in Twin Falls courts, a Public Utilities Commission investigator charged this week.

"We see some serious violations, but if we can't get them fined, we can't get them to change," said David W. Haderlie, a PUC investigator based in Idaho Falls. Haderlie was critical of Twin Falls Magistrate Judge Charles Brumbach, but Brumbach defended his court's handling of such cases on the basis of insufficient guidelines and a lack of prosecution. In one case, a Simplot Soilbuilders truck was leaking phosphoric acid. The driver pleaded guilty and was fined $39.50. The maximum fine under Idaho code is $300. Haderlie charged that, because the case was improperly handled in the Twin Falls Magistrate Court, the Federal Highway Administration stepped in. After an investigation, the FWA fined the company that made the steel cargo tanks, B&K Fabricators in Boise, $12,000. On Jan. 22, 1988, the PUC issued a warning ticket against Gem Fuel

Company in Twin Falls for not having shipping papers to ship materials waste. Four months later, the same company was issued a citation for the same offense, Haderlie said. The case was dismissed in Twin Falls Magistrate Court, with no reason given. Those cases are just two examples of trucking firms getting off easy, Haderlie said. He offered 15 cases from Brumbach's court, six had been dismissed with no reason given and the others received light fines. Brumbach said he could not recall specific cases. Part of Haderlie's frustration was also with the system. If the cases had remained in Idaho Falls, where he issued the citations, the fines might have been greater, he said. But under Idaho law, known as mutual consent, if a person pleads guilty and both the individual and the officer agree, the person can appear in a court closer to home. So Haderlie's cases wound up in Twin Falls Magistrate Court. Not until the paperwork was returned did he realize the cases had been dismissed for no reason, even though the trucker pleaded guilty. "He doesn't want to give fines for hazardous materials," Haderlie said. Brumbach denied that he routinely dismissed hazardous materials violations, or levied small fines against truckers. From his perspective, the burden of proof falls on the prosecutor or the PUC. "I can tell you that I have never had a prosecutor in court on a PUC citation, and I've never had a representative from the PUC recommend a stiffer sentence," Brumbach said. Brumbach argued that if he had no background on the case, he would

'I've never had a representative from the PUC recommend a stiffer sentence.'
— Judge C. Brumbach
Twin Falls Magistrate Court

have no way of judging how serious the offense was, or whether the person was a repeat offender. Haderlie said he does not appear in court because he has no way of knowing when the case comes up. He also would not appear when the person had pleaded guilty. Another problem is that the county does not have a hazardous waste and materials regulations book. So Brumbach and other judges have no rules to follow when deciding cases. So, judges don't know how serious the offense is because they don't have access to the rule book that officers use to write the citations. And the officer isn't there to advise the judge because he doesn't know which case goes up. If an officer has a problem, Brumbach said, he can talk to him at any time. But several officials inside the Department of Transportation and the PUC said it is a touchy issue to approach a judge and question his reasons for a decision. In the meantime, truckers are rolling down Idaho's highways, carrying dangerous and potentially lethal cargo if improperly handled, and getting by with it, Haderlie said. "If we don't get enforcement, there's no way to improve their performance," Haderlie said.

Slain officer's art may boost reward funds Pogue drew mountain man; prints may aid Dallas capture

By BONNIE BAIRD JONES
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Prints of a pen-and-ink drawing made by one of the two Idaho Department of Fish and Game officers killed on Jan. 5, 1981, by Claude Dallas are being sold to help speed the fugitive's capture. Jerry Baltazor, of Shoshone, and Lee Frost, of Halley, both conservation officers with F & G, say the prints are made from the drawing of a mountain man — but not Dallas — which was done by William Pogue. Pogue and Conroy Elms were shot to death by Dallas at a winter camp near the Idaho-Nevada state line when the two went to check on game violations allegedly committed by Dallas. Their bodies were taken by Dallas from his camp in Owyhee County and hidden in a rugged area along the Idaho-Nevada border. After the shootings, Dallas fled the area and was captured 16 months later on a tip from an informer, who then collected a $22,500 reward. Dallas was convicted of manslaughter and had served 5 years of his 30-year prison sentence when he cut his way out of the Idaho State Prison yard on Easter Sunday 1986. Although reported sightings of Dallas have been received from across the country, he remains at large. Frost said law enforcement officers believe he was last seen in Wyoming and Montana. When captured the first time, he was said to have been preparing to go to Canada. Baltazor and Frost knew both officers personally and, like many other Idaho conservation officers, are donating their time to help raise reward money for the capture of Dallas. Baltazor describes Pogue as a talented artist, who for a number of years had been selling his artwork through a gallery in Boise. Frost said Pogue painted for relaxation and enjoyment, adding that his work was good Western-type art and he sold much of it. "Of course, he gave a lot of his best work away to friends. But this is art that can never be replaced. Since his death, his work has been in demand in the Boise area," Baltazor said. Baltazor, who is president of the Idaho Conservation Association, said the group is working with members of the Pogue and Elms families to raise reward money which, they hope will help recapture Dallas. "Last time it took $22,500 in reward money before the tip came that led to his capture," Frost said. "We think there are some people out there who know where Dallas is, and if we get enough money, someone will be willing to contact the authorities." Frost is secretary of the ICA. He said families of the victims and the conservation organization hope to raise at least another $22,000 for the reward. There is also a standing reward of about $3,000 from a state law enforcement program known as Officers Protection Fund for information leading to the arrest of anyone wanted for the killing of a law enforcement officer. Campaign eyes boost in funding for schools

By BART JANSEN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Organizers planning a grassroots lobbying campaign hope to cultivate in legislators during the next 3 weeks the need for more education funding, as legislators consider Idaho's next budget. "You're going to have to fight this as brush fires in pockets," said Superintendent Carl Snow, of the Twin Falls School District. "At this point, I think we're fighting for our survival," he said in arguing for a community lobbying effort to aid education. Area representatives including school administrators and representatives of the Idaho Education Association and a Parent-Teacher Association gathered here on Thursday to map out strategy with area chambers of commerce and influential community members. The diverse participants at the Region IV Education Coalition luncheon agreed their common goal is to increase public school funding. "We have a much-changed environment" from last year's Legislature, said Terry Gilbert, IEA Region IV director. "We have legislators who are favorable to education." But Gilbert added that people still need to be aggressive about asking for more state money, a point echoed by Snow. "We need to still reiterate our need for $22 million; I don't think we need to back off that," Snow said of the increase suggested by Superintendent of Public Instruction Jerry Evans. Snow and Gilbert noted that other state officials appeared less enamored with public education. Gov. Cecil Andrus asked for a $28 million education increase in his budget proposal. Rep. Tom Boyd, R-Genesee, the new speaker of the House, said in Twin Falls on Wednesday emphatically should be directed toward higher education, because public education was the focus of attention the past few years. CSI, MVRMC succeed with fledgling foundations

By BART JANSEN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Despite an Idaho economy that has been sluggish during the last few years, two toddler foundations in Twin Falls have made strides to increase their community recognition and income. Joan Edwards, executive director of the College of Southern Idaho Foundation, credited her early fund-raising success to people's charitable nature shining through during stormy economic times. "Those who have want to reach out to those who don't," Edwards said. Another recipient of the community's good will was the Magic Valley Regional Medical Center Foundation. Executive Director Larry Baxter said people channel their generosity to areas of interest.

"It's a way to support health care in the community," Baxter said. "While each foundation has been aggressively seeking donations only during the last 3 years, both have reaped early benefits in programs designed for the long term. Just the past year, CSI received potential gifts when the foundation was formed for an estimated $3 million. Additionally, Edwards said, the foundation currently holds assets of about $545,000 that were built up from the college's $200,000 in charitable assets when the foundation was established in March 1984. And in April 1984, Baxter was hired to run the MVRMC foundation. Though a soft approach was taken when the foundation was formed in 1978, that was put aside as Baxter raced to make up the 6 years of lost ground in community recognition. With revenues of about $50,000 in 1986, the hospital foundation now weighs in with nearly $70,000. Foundation earnings through the years have been spent on medical equipment for the hospital and patients. Lifeline, a beeper system allowing patients to signal for an ambulance from their homes, has served more than 150 people since the program was initiated in September 1984, Baxter said. The directors agree that individual contributions must be pursued as the foundations work to become more familiar. Once people are used to occasionally giving to a foundation, more lucrative donations begin flowing in, as people contribute in their wills. "You try to build-up a bigger and bigger donor base," Baxter said. "You're slowly building over a period of time." Edwards noted that many people associated education donations with universities, so it became her task to introduce the idea of contributing to the community college as well. Benefits from the donations can be shared through CSI and MVRMC. Edwards said audio-visual materials in the library are available for all students. Scholarships are another large area in which the donations are reinvested in the community, she said. In addition to Lifeline, the MVRMC foundation bought a fetal monitor and sponsors a health fair and seminars. The community events also contribute to familiarity with the foundation. "You try to show how it's benefiting the foundation and the community," Baxter said. The directors don't see themselves competing for donors. Instead they strive, at times in cooperative efforts, for enhanced community recognition and to educate people on the alternatives for giving. A daylong seminar was co-sponsored by CSI and MVRMC. The Estate Planning Council was organized last March to educate lawyers and accountants on the alternatives for donations. "We tried to circle the soldiers around us, because these people more often than us, have the chance to develop these resources," Edwards said. The event, which drew more than 70 people, also allows the foundations to keep their names familiar to people who manage estates. Speakers have already been lined up for a second seminar set for May 1. "It gives you an identity in the community — that's more opportunity to be recognized in memorial gifts," Baxter said.

Ex-chamber official Dolton lands on feet in western Nebraska

By BOB FREUND
Times-News writer

SCOTTSDALE, Neb. — Mike Dolton, former executive vice president for the Greater Twin Falls Area Chamber of Commerce, has landed on his feet in western Nebraska, and once again he'll be in a race to recruit business and industry as long as it creates jobs and is basically good for the area. Dolton has been named executive director for Twin Cities Development Foundation Inc., a private economic development group for combined population of 25,000, are located along the North Platte River, at the far western end of the state. Like the Twin Falls area, agriculture is the focus and Scottsbluff is the regional center for such activity. The area is the seventh-largest in Nebraska. "Before brainstorming, Dolton first made long lists of companies, industries that already have been contacted by the former director, who resigned to enter private business in Denver. "You get everything from a local inventor, who wants to market something, clear up to larger companies that want to expand here," Dolton said. He was picked for the post from 250 applicants, three of whom were interviewed by a six-member panel. "I think they liked my aggressive attitude," Dolton said. Dolton left the Twin Falls Chamber after a falling-out with Chamber member Jim May and other Board members. The details of the disagreements have not been released, although they were serious enough to have lawyers actively involved. The circumstances of the resignation did not discourage the foundation's leadership, Dolton said. "I wasn't bashful about telling them about his difficulties in Twin Falls," he said. In retrospect, "I have no ill feelings," he said. "There's a lot of great people that supported me."

At the Twin Cities Foundation, Dolton will administer a $300,000-annual budget. The 200-member non-profit organization has a mixture of private and public funding, with both cities contributing.

BURLEY — A Cassia County jury awarded $12,500 on Thursday to current police officer, Chief Carl Harkness, who filed suit that his rights were violated when he was fired from his position as sergeant on the Burley city police department in October 1981. Fifth District Judge George Granata Jr. presided over a 12-member jury which ruled against the city of Burley and former Burley police chief Leman Measley in deciding that Harkness should be compensated $12,500 for loss of wages. In the lawsuit, filed in 1983, Harkness' attorney, W. Craig James of Boise, requested the plaintiff receive $42,000 in compensation for general losses and $21,000 in compensation for wages lost due to the firing. When the case was originally brought before the court in October 1984, Granata dismissed a six-member jury and ruled against Harkness' claim. However, Harkness quickly appealed that decision to the Idaho Supreme Court. In February 1986, the Idaho Supreme Court found that the city • See LAWSUIT on Page A5

Arizona draws $510,000 fine for having speeding drivers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Transportation Department levied a $510,000 fine Friday against Arizona for having too many of its motorists exceeded the 55-mile-an-hour speed limit. It let four other states off the hook after their motorists slowed down last year.

The department informed Arizona Secretary Elizabeth Dole last year officials that 1 percent of the state's federal highway funds because too many of its motorists were traveling more than 55 mph. At the time, 10 percent of the non-interstate subsidies for enforcement standards. Maryland, Vermont, Rhode Island and New Hampshire — met the federal standards during 1986 after falling in at least one previous year and free for Arizona officials to use. All department officials said.

Under the law, Arizona could have been fined as much as 10 percent of its highway money, or about $5.1 million, because of its speeding motorists.

In Phoenix, Arizona officials said they're happy that more money was withheld against Arizona. "We're all quite delighted that they're not going to hold up very much of our funds," said Gov. Evan Mecham.

Both Arizona and Vermont had been advised by Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole last year that they stood a chance of losing federal highway funds because too many of their motorists were traveling more than 55 mph. At the time, 10 percent of the non-interstate subsidies for enforcement standards. Maryland, Vermont, Rhode Island and New Hampshire — met the federal standards during 1986 after falling in at least one previous year and free for Arizona officials to use. All department officials said.

Arizona, noting that Congress had close late last year to rescind the national 55 mph speed limit and is likely to take up the matter again this year, asked the Federal Highway Administration to defer action on the fine for one year. But the request was denied.

"We must enforce the law unless and until it is changed," said a letter to Mecham, outlining the enforcement action. The letter was signed by Diane Sleser, head of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, and Ray Barnhart, head of the Federal Highway Administration.

Federal law requires states to report to the Transportation Department the percentage of motorists that are exceeding the 55 mph speed limit each year. If the percentage of speeders after adjustments are made, is greater than 50 percent, the department may withhold a portion of the state's highway funds.

A state may avoid having funds withheld, however, if it lowers the number of speeders below 50 percent during the two years after it is found in violation.

Secretary of State George Shultz remains at center of Iran-Contra furor

Pentagon admits CIA given bargain on arms for Iranians

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon acknowledged Friday that it undercharged the CIA nearly $2.6 billion for arms sold to Iran, while House Republican leader Robert Michel said he doubts that President Reagan's State of the Union address will quiet the Iran-Contra uproar.

As Reagan's top spokesman depicted the president as "licked off" that "White House aides" had been quoted anonymously as criticizing Secretary of State George P. Shultz, Michel, in an interview with The Associated Press, said he is concerned that it may be too late for Reagan to repair the damage when he appears Tuesday before a joint session of Congress.

"The most pressing problem, from the standpoint of the American people, as far as the president is concerned, is what is it with this Iranian thing?" he said. "And they're not going to get (that) from him. I don't think, well I just know. The only thing, frankly, that's going to satisfy the American people is (to) lay out everything cold turkey for them and then let's get on with it."

Defense Department officials said the Army charged the Central Intelligence Agency a cut-rate price for the anti-tank missiles that were sold to Iran last year, undervaluing the weapons by almost $2.6 billion.

An internal investigation of the affair also concluded, however, that the mistake — by the Army — was inadvertent, and that there is no evidence to support allegations the Pentagon and CIA conspired to undervalue the weapons to produce bigger profits upon resale to Iran, the officials said.

Moreover, the Defense Department intends to approach the CIA soon for an additional payment to cover the full value of the TOW anti-tank missiles, said Robert Slms, the Pentagon's chief spokesman.

The internal audit found that the Army charged the CIA roughly $11.7 million — $7,374,163 for 2,908 TOW anti-tank missiles and $4,325,837 for spare parts for Hawk air-defense missiles.

Instead, the Pentagon should have assessed the CIA $14,257,392, the audit found. The difference of $2,883,229 resulted from a failure to assess standard packing, crating and handling fees and the use of a single, common fee for different vintage missiles, the audit found.

Also on Friday, ABC and CBS reported that special prosecutor Lawrence Walsh has sent a letter and legal memorandum to Capitol Hill urging congressional committees not to grant immunity to former national security adviser John Poindexter and fired National Security Council aide Oliver North. ABC quoted Walsh as saying that to do so would "create serious and perhaps insurmountable barriers to the prosecution of the witnesses."

Earlier, White House deputy press secretary Larry Speakes said that Reagan "believes" strongly in Secretary Shultz and he has the utmost confidence in Secretary Shultz.

Reagan's statement of support was made after the New York Times quoted unnamed officials as saying that White House aides were unhappy with Shultz's testimony before a House committee, in which he revealed that the administration had continued making secret contacts with Iranian representatives as late as December, he recently said.

"There are some people over here who don't like him," said one person quoted by the newspaper. One of them was quoted as saying Shultz was trying to shirk responsibility for the arms-sales affair.

Shultz, meanwhile, sought to deflect reports of discord between the State Department and the CIA.

"The two agencies are working cooperatively and closely together on how we deal with Iran," Charles E. Redman, the department spokesman, said in a statement Friday night.

Shultz is pleased with the relationship between the State Department and the CIA "and believes the policy is being conducted in a coherent and fully satisfactory manner," the statement said. Redman said the statement was issued because of erroneous news reports of Shultz's testimony.

Speakes said he talked with White House chief of staff Donald Regan and national security adviser Frank Carlucci about the report, and was told that "neither of them made those remarks."

"Neither of them believe them or condone them or subscribe to them," Speakes said. "So, those are two people, people in the White House, other than the president, that would be most likely to deal with Shultz and be familiar with the president's thinking and represent the White House thinking, and they disagree."

He said White House officials "do not have any problem" with Secretary Shultz testifying. "It's his job to go up there and be responsive to questions and he was responsive to questions."

In another development, Herbert Heto, a spokesman for the Tower Commission, said the panel spoke with former President Richard M. Nixon for more than an hour Friday in Washington. He declined to say specifically where the meeting took place or reveal what Nixon said. On Wednesday, the panel interviewed several hours in Plains, Ga.

Shultz, testifying during a closed session of a House panel on Wednesday, divulged that U.S. officials continued making contacts with representatives of Iran in December, he recently said.

after the Iran-Contra affair became public the month before.

That revelation left some members of Congress stunned, Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, chairman of a special Senate investigative committee on the Iran-Contra affair, promised that his reports of discord between the State Department and the CIA.

Sentencing set March 3

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Friday's sentencing of former Peoples Temple member Larry Layton for aiding in the 1978 murder of a congressman was postponed until March 3 after Layton claimed misinformation about his potential sentence persuaded him to offer no defense.

Chief U.S. District Judge Robert Peckham postponed the proceedings over the objections of Layton, who said the "strain on my family and myself" would be eased by immediate sentencing.

A life term is mandatory for Layton's conviction of aiding and abetting other followers of the Rev. Jim Jones in the murder of Rep. Leo Ryan, who had just completed a fact-finding visit to Jones' headquarters in Guyana and was about to leave the country with dissenting Peoples Temple members.

The government sought an additional 60-year sentence that would make Layton 41, ineligible for parole for 20 years.

Cases of Taiwan flu still plaguing U.S.

ATLANTA (AP) — Twenty-eight states reported influenza outbreaks last week as the Taiwan flu continued to plague the United States, but the national Centers for Disease Control said Friday this flu season does not seem particularly devastating.

The CDC said Friday that Colorado, Connecticut, Minnesota, Oregon, Texas, Washington and Wyoming reported "widespread" outbreaks of flu or flu-like illness last week. Twenty-one other states and the District of Columbia reported smaller "regional" outbreaks.

"Forty-four states have reported continued transmission of this season's predominant flu strain, the Taiwan flu. Only Louisiana, North Dakota, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota and Wyoming have yet to report flu virus to the CDC this winter."

Despite the spread of the Taiwan flu, two CDC indicators show influenza's effect has not been unusually harsh.

A group of doctors surveyed by the Atlanta-based CDC saw an average of nine cases of flu-like illness in the first week of 1987, compared with 11 or 12 during heavy flu seasons in the past.

Also, deaths from this flu season continue to be low because the Taiwan flu, unlike some other strains, most often strikes younger, healthier people. Last week, about 5.8 percent of the deaths in 121 U.S. cities were blamed on flu or pneumonia, which was within expected levels, the CDC said.

Two flu vaccines are available in the United States this winter: the conventional three-component vaccine and a supplemental vaccine to guard against Taiwan flu.

Fraternity issues apology

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — A Louisiana State University fraternity that flew four Confederate flags on the day people celebrated the birthday of Martin Luther King Jr. has apologized, but said the display was misinterpreted.

Anthony DeLee, a member of the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, said members flew the flags to mark Confederate general Robert E. Lee's birthday, which is Jan. 19, and they did not intend to offend anyone.

"I intended a remembrance of the pain of the Civil War, the trouble it caused, the lives it ruined," he said Thursday.

"The first phone call we got where we found out that people were misinterpreting it, everything went down," he said.

Ben Bryant, secretary of the Progressive Student Network at LSU, said he was involved in a march honoring King's birthday on Monday when he saw the flags hanging from the fraternity house.

Bryant said he talked with DeLee Thursday about the incident and accepted DeLee's explanation and the fraternity's apology.

Quint improving

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The lungs of the only surviving Hawkins quintuplet have gained enough strength to require lower oxygen doses, but it is unprecedented for such a baby to survive, a hospital spokesman said Friday.

Stephen Daniel Hawkins will need mechanical help to breathe for weeks and probably will remain in the hospital for several months, said Dr. Joseph Ross, associate vice chancellor for health affairs at Vanderbilt University Medical Center.

Start a clean page

Whether it's in family life, career, or spiritually, sometimes we need to start a clean page. Not necessarily through quitting, divorce, or running away, but through the forgiveness possible in Christ. That's not easy.

BROOMS

More than two out of three household brooms sold hereabouts still are hand-fashioned of the original broom corn. The plastic flaks have not been as swift in winning the entire market as they thought they'd be. The broom that sells best now is hardly any different than the broom invented by Shaker Borth Theodore Bates at Watervliet, N.Y., in 1793.

Top catch bagged in New Yorker issue

Typo hunter finds glitches everywhere

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Typo hunter Joe Applegate gets his kicks tracking those sneaky grammatical glitches and misspellings that creep into books, newspapers and magazines.

"It's not out of spite," said Applegate, who works in a law office. "I've never written to an editor pointing one out."

The 35-year-old former reporter has spent five years hunting down typo. His all-time favorite quarry turned up on page 110 of the April 15, 1985 issue of New Yorker magazine. "About halfway down the third column on the right is a string of sentences with quotation marks at the end, but none at the beginning," Applegate said in a recent interview.

"At the top of the hierarchy of blunders, some errors are worth more than others. Newspaper and magazine typos 'can be funny but they don't really count,'" he said. "They're just everyday glitches."

"Just up from there is the paperback novel. Paperbacks are so riddled with mistakes, you can usually find one every 10 pages or so. Hard-back typos I find more pleasurable because recent editions are approved by the author."

At the top of the heap are reference books, including dictionaries and anthologies, plus the New Yorker, a weekly famed for careful editing.

Applegate has bagged several favorite trophies.

"Here's one I swapped with an editor at the Los Angeles Times," he said. "It's in the 9th New Collegiate Dictionary by Merriam-Webster, 1964 edition. On page 448, 'familiarize' is spelled 'familiarize' with two 'i's and no 'l'."

"That, to me, is a real find," Applegate said. "We've corrected it already," said Fredrick Mish, editorial director of Merriam-Webster Inc., in Springfield, Mass. "We were making changes on that page and all of a sudden there was a typo there."

When landing a typo, Applegate said, he usually circles the page number and corrects the mistake with a pencil. If it's in a reference book, a note goes in his file.

One of the dangers in stalking the elusive typo is losing a fresh find with the flick of a page.

"I lost one recently, I think it was a misspelled word in one of my favorite reference books, The New Columbia Encyclopedia, 1975 edition, a really fine book," Applegate said.

Although the book has 3,052 pages, he's sure he'll run across the typo again.

Another problem occurs when the correct spelling of an uncommon word is camouflaged as an apparent error.

"I once came across a word in a New Yorker article about China where the author was describing a kind of soil. 'Loess,' I thought he had misspelled 'loose,'" Applegate said. "But the joke was on me."

Applegate admits having made typos himself while working as a reporter in San Diego.

Van Gogh's piece may set record price

LONDON (AP) — Vincent van Gogh's masterpiece "Sunflowers" will be sold in London in March and is expected to fetch a record price of well above $11 million, Christie's auction house said Friday.

"The painting is one of the most important we have ever had to sell. It is popular throughout the world and is a glamorous image of modern art," said James Roundell, director of Christie's Impressionist Paintings Department.

"When people think of van Gogh they think of sunflowers, and when they think of sunflowers they think of van Gogh," he said.

Roundell said the auction would take place March 30.

The predominantly yellow still life hangs in the British National Gallery in London since 1959, on loan from the family of mining magnate Sir Chester Beatty, who bought it in Paris in 1934 for an undisclosed sum.

It is being sold by executors of its last owner, the late Helen Beatty, widow of Alfred Beatty, the magnate's son. She died in 1983.

The record price for any painting sold at auction is $11,088,000 paid Dec. 1 in London for Edouard Manet's oil of workmen in Paris, "La Rue Mosnier aux Paveurs" (Mosnier Street with Road Workers).

Van Gogh was born in the Netherlands in 1853. He died in 1890.

"Jet the Lab apparently spent 32 days in a locked boxcar"

Labrador survives trip across country in train

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — A black Labrador retriever named Jet was recuperating in an animal hospital today after surviving an estimated 32 days locked in a boxcar on transcontinental train trip.

The dog apparently got into the city when it was being unloaded near Shelby, N.C., in mid-December and was overlooked when the doors were shut.

The weakened dog, its ribs showing beneath its short, curly hair, wobbled from the boxcar Thursday when an employee of the Linton Plywood Association opened the car on a railroad siding.

The dog was identified by a tag on its collar, and company employees called Jet's owner, Melinda Stroup, who lives in Waco, N.C., with her husband and three children.

Ms. Stroup said Jet vanished about four weeks ago.

"He's a very lucky, lucky dog," Ms. Stroup said. "Three years ago, he got some poison, and we thought he was going to be dead then because he slept three days. Our veterinarian didn't give us any hope of being able to pull him out of it. But he got well and he's healthy, or he couldn't still be alive after this."

Jack Finnell, sales manager for Linton Plywood, said Jet ate a sandwich and half a can of dog food and drank about 1 1/2 quarts of water after being found.

Veterinarian Deborah Winterrowd said she believed the dog would recover.

Finnell said the boxcar had arrived Dec. 19 in North Carolina with a load from Oregon. Four days later, a computer report showed it passed through Spartanburg, S.C., on its way back to Oregon.

"As I figure it, that dog had to be in that car a minimum of 32 days, and he could have been there longer," Finnell said.

The boxcar had been in Portland since Jan. 6 without being opened, he said.

"If he (Jet) made any noise, no one heard him," Finnell said.

Model Jerry Hall calls pot arrest a 'mistake'

NEW YORK (AP) — Model Jerry Hall, the girlfriend of rocker Mick Jagger, said Friday her arrest in Barbados for marijuana possession was a "horrible, freak mistake" that occurred when she picked up a package at the airport that wasn't hers.

"I'm sure that it will all be straightened out and the charges dropped," Ms. Hall said in a telephone interview from a villa on the island.

The Texas native was arrested Wednesday at Grantley Adams International Airport outside Bridgetown and charged with possession of 20 pounds of marijuana.

She said she went to the airport after an airline called her to tell her they had found a parcel of her belongings that had been misplaced.

"They showed me a box with a label 'G. Hall' that did not fit the description of the bag. I was expecting an interview from a villa on the island."

Inside, she said, "were these plastic packages. One was open and it had plant leaves and stems sticking out. I said, 'This is not mine.'"

Ms. Hall, 30, said she was arrested and kept in custody for 21 hours. She pleaded innocent at her arraignment and was released on $10,000 bail.

"I spent the worst night of my life in jail," she said. "It was horrible being away from my two darling children."

She and Jagger, the lead singer of the Rolling Stones, own a vacation home on the nearby island of Mustique. They were renting a villa on Barbados because Jagger was recording at a studio in Bridgetown.

Parole card ID's robber

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A man who wrote a holdup message on the back of his probation-parole card and then left it behind was arrested as he prepared to board a bus next to the police station, officials said.

"He wasn't real sharp," police investigator Dave Griffin said of Terry Wilson. The note on the back of Wilson's probation-parole card identified him. In Thursday's incident, a man stepped up to a Sun Bank teller with a holdup note. According to police officer Rick Epperson, it read: "Give me all your money or else I'll shoot you Bang!"

The teller handed over some cash and the man fled. Wilson, 30, was caught minutes later at a bus station a few blocks from the bank, next to the police station.

Wilson, whom police described as a transient, was buying a bus ticket to Fayetteville, N.C., when police found him.

Bank spokesman Ted Rybicki said there were no injuries and only "a nominal amount" taken in the robbery was recovered.

Los Angeles Times

MANILA, Philippines — Candles flickered in the chilly Friday where Philippine soldiers had gunned down peasant demonstrators 24 hours earlier, and the leaders of both the left and right insisted that President Corason Aquino must take full responsibility for one of the bloodiest political actions in Philippine history.

Mrs. Aquino, who said she was "deeply saddened" by the killing of at least 15 unarmed protesters, canceled all engagements and official appointments Friday. She met with military commanders to analyze intelligence reports that demonstrators' violence may be planned in the days ahead in an effort to disrupt the scheduled Feb. 2 referendum on a proposed new constitution.

Mrs. Aquino's military chief of staff, Gen. Fidel V. Ramos, acknowledged Friday that some of his soldiers had overreacted in firing into a crowd of 10,000 peasants demanding land reform.

A special non-governmental investigating commission appointed by Mrs. Aquino began gathering videotapes, photographs and eyewitness accounts of the shooting. Most of those said the protesters were unarmed and were lying down or retreating when they were fired on.

Reliable sources told reporters that, according to ballistic tests, handguns as well as rifles were fired at the crowd, indicating that military personnel other than the marines in the palace guard were involved.

Mrs. Aquino's press secretary announced that the marines, who are issued M-16 rifles, had been removed from the palace detail.

Leaders of half a dozen leftist groups held press conferences and issued a flurry of statements condemning Mrs. Aquino and her government. Several political analysts said Friday's developments reflected a sharply increased polarization of the political extremes here, an alienation of Mrs. Aquino's centrist forces from both the left and the right.

A statement by the Movement of Filipino Farmers, the group that sponsored the march on the palace that led to Thursday's killings, declared: "We cannot but hold the Aquino government responsible for this distasteful massacre. . . . She has not shown any sympathetic gesture to the Filipino peasantry."

she chose to answer our demands with arms and bullets."

The movement, along with several other highly organized leftist groups, has scheduled a "massive indignation rally" for Monday to protest the killings.

An American minister, Nell Richards of the United Church of Christ in New Jersey, who led a group of 13 visiting American clergymen accompanying the peasants Thursday, told reporters that five members of the group "observed from five different vantage points that the farmers were not armed" when the shooting began.

The leftist People's Party, which was organized last year by former members of the Communist Party of the Philippines to take part in future elections, also condemned Mrs. Aquino personally for what it called "the brutal massacre."

Dispute to benefit charity

LONDON (AP) — A newspaper Michael Shea, the queen's press secretary, immediately called the "flagrant breach of copyright" in publication "deplorable," and on publishing a private letter written Friday afternoon announced that by Prince Philip, and has agreed to make a contribution to charity to settle its dispute with the royal family.

British copyright law covers private correspondence.

The Sun reported the letter from newspaper printed a letter it said Prince Philip, the Duke of Edinburgh, from the husband of Queen Elizabeth II to Lt. Gen. Sir Michael help Edward see the consequences of his action but that the final decision was Edward's alone. It said Prince Philip expressed disappointment about the Philip had hoped up to the last decision of his youngest son Prince minute that Edward would remain Edward to resign from the marines. . . in the marines.

Weekend efforts set to head off trade war

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Top U.S. and European trade officials planned to make a last-ditch effort this weekend to resolve a bitter dispute that could result in the slapping of steep tariffs on an array of European products by the end of next week.

The talks, which were to have begun on Friday, were delayed when the top trade negotiator of the European Community, Willy de Clercq, was unable to arrange a flight to Washington because of a snowstorm.

In advance of the meeting, de Clercq had expressed doubts of reaching agreement with U.S. Trade Representative Clayton Yeutter, saying the two sides were still "so far apart."

A U.S. trade official, who spoke only on the condition of anonymity, said it was too early to tell whether the negotiations "rescheduled" to begin this morning would produce an agreement to end the escalating trans-Atlantic trade war.

"The ball is in the Europeans' court. We want to see what they have to offer," the official said.

At issue are duties that President Reagan has ordered to take effect on Jan. 30 on selected European products. The new U.S. tariffs would be as high as 200 percent on imported European gin, brandy, white wine, assorted varieties of cheese, canned ham, endives, carrots and olives.

Reagan announced the tariffs last month, saying they were in retaliation for what the administration contends is $400 million in lost grain exports to Spain.

Spain had been obliged to adopt a higher grain tariff when it joined the European Community, also known as the Common Market, last year.

The Common Market has vowed to counter with new duties on American food grains and rice if the new Reagan-ordered tariffs take effect.

The beginning of the talks was postponed after de Clercq's plane was rerouted on Thursday to Montreal because of Washington airports, like those in other major cities in the Northeast, were closed by a snowstorm.

De Clercq was having difficulty on Friday arranging a flight from Montreal to Washington, said European Community spokeswoman Ella Krucif.

She said that the one-day delay will present a tighter time schedule for the talks than first expected since de Clercq is scheduled to be back in Brussels on Monday to meet with other community officials.

No. 3 Eagles take 20-0 record against No. 2 Dixie Rebels

ST. GEORGE, Utah (AP) — College of Southern Idaho Coach Fred Trenkle will take his No. 3 squad to Dixie to play the No. 2 Rebels tonight, but he's keeping the game in perspective.

Southern Idaho is 20-0, 6-0 in the National Junior College Athletic Association's Region 18 and Dixie is 20-0, 7-0 in the region.

"Obviously, it's a big game with us at Dixie," Trenkle said. "But I told my kids it doesn't matter who wins now. It's what happens a month from now. They're going to have to come this way."

Dixie is ranked third in the current NJCAA basketball poll, while CSI is fourth.

Barring the unforeseen, both teams will be top seeds in the regional tournament at Twin Falls next month.

The region, which includes Northern Idaho, CSI, Idaho's Ricks College and Oregon's Treasure Valley in the north, and Utah's Snow College, Dixie, Eastern Utah, Orem's Utah Tech and Colorado Northwestern in the south, alternates each year's playoff site between a northern and southern community.

With 4-4 Northern Idaho the closest challenger, it appears CSI will host the post-season tournament for the right to compete in the 16-team national playoffs.

"Dixie Coach Ken Wagner said he's not too concerned about playing SCI in Twin Falls when the tournament opens in early March, but a victory Saturday would help give the Rebels better seeding in the tournament."

"We need to beat them here if we want to win our league, just for the seeding for the tournament," he said. "We're well prepared to play on the road."

The Rebels have played on the road in 13 of their 19 games this season.

"I think it is a factor, but I don't think it'll be as big a factor," he said. "Obviously, it's a lot better to play at home, but we've played enough road games that it should help us out."

CSI, which finished 34-3 and No. 4 in the nation last year, has been plagued with injuries this season, but Trenkle has the depth to keep the team winning. His lineup includes sophomore Erick Newman, averaging 21 points and 10 rebounds a game, and Joey Johnson, a 6-4 guard averaging 18.5 a game. His brother Dennis Jonsson plays for the Boston Celtics and Joey Johnson also leads the league in steals and blocked shots.

"He's touted as the highest jumper to have ever played the game. Ever," Trenkle said. "He can put his chin on the rim. There's nobody capable of outjumping him."

If that's not enough, CSI's Mauro Gomez, a 6-foot, 7-inch, 210-pound guard from Brazil, averages 19 points a game and is shooting nearly 70 percent from three-point range. Another Brazilian, 6-8 Eduardo Drenwick, transferred to CSI from Lamar University.

"My best athlete on the team is another kid, Keith Reynolds, a freshman chosen athlete of the year in Oregon last year over more than 800 applicants," he said. Reynolds broad jumped 24-feet-8 at a senior track meet in Oregon last year. "My track coach tells me that would have won the joco championship."

Injuries have been the big problem. Gomez will play with a sore foot, Gerald Collins is just returning to the lineup after missing a month with a broken leg, Reynolds has a sprained ankle and Shawn Lasher has a broken foot.

"Depth has been a key," Trenkle said. "I think in the long run that's going to carry it. We've got several kids banged up. It's a good thing we've got a month to go before the regional tournament."

Wagner also rotates his starters, although he has two players who account for most of the offense.

Six-foot-3 guard Clint Rossum averages 19 points a game.

Poky romps to 74-41 win over Bruins

By BRAD BRELAND
Times-News writer

POCATELLO — Pocatello High School won't have to pay an electric bill on its gymnasium this month.

That's mainly because the school's boys' basketball team shot the lights out Friday out in a 74-41 Region III and Gem State Conference romp over Twin Falls.

It was Pocatello's eighth win in a row. The defending GSC champion Indians, who opened the season with a 69-55 victory over the Bruins in Twin Falls, are now 10-2 for the year and haven't lost since Dec. 17.

The setback by the 3-8 Bruins didn't necessarily knock them out of a homecourt berth in the first round of the post-season regional tournament, but they'll have to beat Highland in Twin Falls on Jan. 30 or Minico in Rupert on Feb. 4 to secure it. As a result of Friday's loss, Twin Falls currently is in third place in Region III with a 2-4 record, and will need to finish in the top three in the five-team region to host in the first round.

Pocatello, meanwhile, saw its Region III record improve to 6-1, 1½ games ahead of second-place Minico.

Twin Falls Coach John Astorquia said it was just a case of the Bruins running into a good team.

"I believe they are the best of any team in our conference," he said. "They're doing two things better than any other team: they are playing better defense and they are shooting unbelievably."

Pocatello's Matt House and Don Pine scored all of the Indians' 16 first-quarter points en route to a 16-7 first period lead.

A Devil of a shot
Dietrich's Nattie Hubert (43) shoots during tournament action in Richfield Friday night.

On the other side of the court, Twin Falls' Gabe Ostyn had six of the Bruins' seven total points.

Things went from bad to worse in the first two minutes of the second quarter for Twin Falls when House scored Poky's first four points and the Indians took a 20-0 lead. Over the next three minutes, Pocatello outscored the Bruins 17-4 to take a 33-11 advantage.

Poky led by 24 points at the break.

Three-point field goals by Twin Falls' Swede, Trenkle and Jay Dee Yergensen couldn't keep Poky at bay.

The Indians' John Murrillo and Mark Coram scored six points apiece in the third quarter as Pocatello stretched its lead to as much as 30 points lead.

Pocatello turned the game into a rout just two minutes into the fourth quarter, outscoring Twin Falls 10-3 to blow the game wide open.

House led a trio of Indians in double figures with 19 points, while Pine clipped in a dozen.

Ostyn had 17 for the Bruins, while Trenkle, a sophomore, impressed Astorquia with 14 points.

"He played great tonight. He finally got his confidence back," he said.

The Bruins, now 1-8 in the Gem State Conference, entertain Blackfoot tonight at 8 p.m. in the Twin Falls Gymnasium.

The victory improved Poky's league record to 8-2 and left the Indians tied with Rigby and Bonneville for first place in the league.

Minico capitalizes on Rams's fouls for 61-55 win

DAVE McNEES
Times-News writer

RUPERT — Even though the outside thermometer at Minico High School registered below freezing Friday night, temperatures inside of a home-court advantage in the topped the boiling point in a Gem State Conference and Region III regional playoffs match.

Highland's aggressive defense sent Spartans to the foul line 40 times, accounting for 21 of the Highland fouls in defeating the team's total.

This is not to say that Minico did not have it's share, 15 including two technical. Jack Bagley started the Minico show early, as usual, but this time counting more fouls than points in the first quarter (3 to 2). Center Kaylenn McKenzie dominated the first quarter by scoring six of Minico's 12 first period points.

The intensity of both teams kept the tempo fast. In the second quarter, Highland picked up many of Minico's missed shots, but the Spartans stopped the Rams from taking advantage of them through a combination of a tight defense throughout the first half.

During this period, the score seasawed without any noticeable spurts. But after hitting four of five free throws, the Rams found themselves in front of Minico 21-16, their biggest lead of the game. The Spartans regained the lead by halftime, 32-28.

Gooden pleads no contest, placed on probation

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — New York Mets pitching ace Dwight Gooden was placed on probation and ordered to perform community service with the police department after pleading no contest to violating curfew and driving on a police officer's license.

The charges grew out of a Dec. 13 confrontation with police after Gooden, 23, was stopped for an alleged traffic infraction and asked for his driver's license.

He faced a maximum sentence of 30 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

"I'm happy with the way things worked out," the 1985 National League Cy Young award winner said.

The judge and prosecutor both stressed the plea was "an open plea" and not a plea bargain, meaning there was no promise made beforehand about the sentence.

The judge withheld adjudication, which means there will be no record of the third-degree felony charges if he successfully completes probation.

In addition, the judge said if conditions of probation were met, he would be willing to end it after two years.

Three codefendants, each charged with a single count of resisting arrest with violence, also pleaded no contest and were sentenced to two years probation with adjudication withheld.

Eagles' hot offense burns Snow College

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

EPHRAIM, Utah — There was no doubt that Snow College's men's basketball team considered itself ready for the fourth-ranked College of Southern Idaho here Friday night.

In fact, CSI's players found a computer printout that contained the Badgers' scouting for this Region 18 encounter.

A cursory look would indicate Snow had the plan right. But perhaps its biggest fault was describing several CSI players as "average" in speed.

For the first six minutes of this game, Joey Johnson and Dale Krack deflected the CSI offense with some clutch points and the Eagles coasted into a 9-6-63 victory.

The win was the 20th of the season without a loss for CSI, which faces its moment of truth against third-ranked Dixie College, also 20-0, tonight in St. George, Utah. CSI is now 6-0 in regional competition, while Snow fell to 4-3 in region games and 11-6 for the season.

So dominating was CSI Friday — following Thursday night's disappointing two-point win over the Brigham Young University junior varsity in Provo — that Coach Fred Trenkle could only state, "we did all the things right tonight that we were doing wrong last night."

Points came in the form of CSI's return to team defense. The Eagles scored the first eight points, saw Snow come back to within two and then blew away as Krack hit three consecutive three-point goals to open up a 22-12 advantage.

CSI women lose — B2

A short time later, Jonsson went on a six-point binge with a slam dunk and Bill Wirsky added a field goal as CSI made it 32-13 in 6 minutes and 56 seconds left in the first half. After that, there was nothing but the waiting for the final horn, although Snow fell behind by a 21 points later in the first half. If it harbored hopes of a comeback, those quickly evaporated when the second half began as CSI's Johnson, Erick Newman and Eduardo Drenwick opened it with two points each.

Idaho hopes to escape Montana with one win

By STEVE CRUMP
Times-News sports editor

BOZEMAN, Mont. — First-year University of Idaho Coach Tim Floyd was bloodied but not unbowed in Missoula Thursday night after his Vandals lost their first Big Sky Conference game of the season, 74-57, to Montana.

Or maybe it was just the thought of trying to recoup here tonight against defending league champion Montana State at 5-6 in the only unbeaten team in the Big Sky and the leader in almost every offensive category.

"Montana played great defense all night," said Floyd, whose ballclub fell to 12-4 for the season and 3-1 in conference with the loss. "Because we couldn't get the ball inside, we were forced to take a lot of shots from the perimeter. We were trying to be patient and get the ball inside, but they wouldn't let us. They used a zone defense for the majority of the game and they shut us down."

The work "quarterback" isn't a welcome one for a number of reasons for the Vandals. With the exception of Idaho State, Idaho is the shortest team in the league, ranks eighth in scoring offense, fourth in field goal percentage and fourth in rebounding. It will be facing a MSU team tonight that ranks first in the Big Sky in team offense and second in field goal shooting and one which is averaging 87.2 points a game.

"I watched them on film the other day and they hit out of their first 14 shots from the field in the game I was watching," said Floyd of the Bobcats, now 13-4 overall and unbeaten at home this season.

"Montana State is as good a shooting team as I've seen and they're leading the league in turnover rate. The things that helped their program toward the end of last season are helping them now. They're taking care of the basketball and they're got people playing very well."

Despite Idaho's loss Thursday night at Missoula, this game still looms large for both teams for the rest of the season. If the Vandals can get out of Montana with a 4-1 league record, they would be in excellent shape with the toughest road trip in the Big Sky behind them: Converseville, a loss by Montana State to a Big Sky contender would hurt the Bobcats, who must beat the Vandals in Moscow on Feb. 19 and Boise State in Boise two nights later.

For Idaho to accomplish that, it must do several things better than it did against the Grizzlies. The Vandals shot 27 percent from the field Thursday night, got outrebounded 38-26, turned the ball over 10 times and got two points from their leading scorer, sophomore forward Andrew Jackson. About the only relief in sight is that Montana State doesn't have the size inside that its cross-state rival enjoys. Starting center Mike Fellows is 6-8, the same size as Idaho's biggest player, Tom Stilleck.

"If Montana's guards aren't the

THE ACES

BOBBY WOLFF

Who has enough credit in this world to pay for his mistakes? - Edward Dahlberg.

South had to pay up for tossing away today's game. And worse yet, he never did realize where he went astray.

West cashed his three high clubs and shifted to hearts after East had encouraged by playing his heart seven followed by the heart deuce.

South went up with dummy's ace, led a diamond to his king and led his trump queen for a finesse. West covered performance, and dummy's ace won. A spade was returned from dummy to South's Jack. West's discard spitting the show. South had time to discard his losing heart on dummy's high diamond, but he could not avoid the loss of a trump trick to East. Where did South go wrong?

Instead of starting his trumps by leading his queen, South should have led his trump 10. When West covers the 10 with his king, South has good reason to suspect a singleton king. West would be a fool to cover with his ace, and it's not very likely that he holds, specifically, K-Q.

After dummy's spade ace captures West's king, declarer leads dummy's trump five back to his eight and now picks up the trumps without loss.

WEST: ♠ K 9 8 5, ♥ 10 9, ♦ A K Q 9 8, ♣ 8 4 3

EAST: ♠ 9 7 3 2, ♥ K 7 3 2, ♦ A J 4 3, ♣ J

South holds: ♠ 9 7 3 2, ♥ K 7 3 2, ♦ A J 4 3, ♣ J

North East South West: 1 North Pass 1 Pass 2 Pass 3 Pass 4 Pass

Opening lead: Club king.

BID WITH THE ACES: South holds: ♠ 9 7 3 2, ♥ K 7 3 2, ♦ A J 4 3, ♣ J

North South: 1 North 2 South 3 Pass

ANSWER: Three hearts. Not enough strength to justify a leap to four hearts over opener's game-try.
