Reagan says U.S., Soviets moving ahead

The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — President Reagan said Friday there is "no great cause for alarm" despite the superpower spying furor and challenged the Soviets to join the United States in working harder for nuclear arms reduction.

Reagan's address, in which he offered a sober assessment of East-West relations, came on the same day that Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev announced a Kremlin willingness to discuss reducing short-range nuclear weapons from Europe.

In a speech to about 2,000 members and guests of the Los Angeles World Affairs Council, Reagan said he was determined to stick with his arms-control agenda despite the spying scandal that has hit both the current and new U.S. Embassy buildings in Moscow.

"There's no excuse for what the Soviets did not for the way security was handled in Moscow," Reagan said.

A White House official, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said Reagan's comment about the handling of security was a complaint that U.S. officials failed to protect the security of the embassy in Moscow.

Gorbachev makes double-barrelled arms offer

The Associated Press

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia — Mikhail S. Gorbachev proposed Friday that talks be held on short-range nuclear weapons, a major Western concern in arms negotiations, and suggested a 35-nation conference on conventional forces.

The Soviet leader also said his country has stopped making chemical weapons.

Gorbachev set forth his ideas three days before Secretary of State George P. Shultz is due in Moscow for further discussions on an agreement to ban medium-range missiles from Europe, which both countries seek.

His proposals for negotiations in short-range weapons and conventional forces seemed designed as an appeal to Western Europe. Washington's NATO allies have expressed concern about their vulnerability to Soviet superiority in both areas — after longer-range nuclear weapons were removed.

If talks begin on short-range weapons, he said, the Soviet Union will maintain its current levels on condition NATO does the same.

President Reagan was asked about Gorbachev's comments after he had delivered a speech in Los Angeles.

"I'm pleased to hear him say that," Reagan replied, but added that the Soviet Union has a "preponderant advantage" in short-range weapons in Europe.

In an hour-long speech, the Soviet leader holding talks on reducing short-range tactical nuclear weapons with ranges of 300 to 600 miles — separately — from U.S. Soviet negotiations on removing medium-range nuclear weapons from Europe.

A meeting of foreign ministers of the 35 nations that signed the 1975 Helsinki agreements on European security and cooperation to speed negotiations on cuts in conventional forces. The United States and Soviet Union are among the signers.

Gorbachev said the Soviet Union has stopped producing chemical weapons, has none stored outside its boundaries and is building a plant to destroy the stockpiles.

seriously believe the Soviets are charging us with immorality in light of what has happened."

Reagan said he couldn't explain the alleged espionage by some Marines, but said he laid blame to the failure of American schools to stress values of "right and wrong."

But he quickly added that anyone with a realistic view of the Soviet Union "understands that such Soviet actions comes as no surprise" and said there should be no interruption in superpower dealings so long as U.S. leaders base policy and decisions on "realism rather than illusion."

"If I had to characterize U.S.-Soviet relations in one word, it would be this — proceeding," Reagan said. "No great cause for excitement, no great cause for alarm."

In fact, the president said, "the welcome mat is still out" if Gorbachev accepts his invitation to come to the United States.

Reagan recited his U.S.-Soviet agenda for the audience, saying among other things that "the bleeding wound of Afghanistan must be healed."

"I challenge the U.S.S.R. to set a date this calendar year when it will begin the withdrawal of Soviet troops on a speedy schedule. . . . This bleeding wound of Afghanistan must be healed."

During a question-and-answer session following the speech, Reagan said the arrests of U.S. Marines on espionage charges invading the embassy in Moscow "has been a severe blow to many of us."

The president said that despite higher levels of intelligence among service personnel, "suddenly we see this violation of orders against fraternization. . . ."

Reagan said that amounted to "outright selling . . . out of our country. And it's hard to explain."

Of the Soviet charges that the United States has bugged many of their facilities in this country, the president said, "I can't explain."

Tighter security blocked?

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Senate Republican leader Bob Dole said Friday there were indications the American ambassador to Moscow, blocked security improvements at the U.S. Embassy three years ago on grounds that might damage U.S.-Soviet relations.

Dole, R-Kan., demanded that Secretary of State George P. Shultz, before leaving today on a trip to Moscow for arms talks, deliver to the Senate leadership a classified cable sent in 1984 by then-Ambassador Arthur Hartman that "may have succeeded in blocking the proposed new and tougher security measures."

The senator said he had received unconfirmed, but reliable, information of the "harshly worded" cable's existence and that it "strongly resisted badly needed improvements in security procedures at the embassy — on the rather extraordinary grounds — that such improvements would somehow damage U.S.-Soviet relations."

Hartman, who stepped down as ambassador last week, headed the mission when two Marine guards allegedly were enticed by female Soviet employees of the embassy in to allowing Kremlin agents into the embassy's most secret areas.

The State Department had no public response to Dole's demand.

There were other developments Friday in the spying furor:

- The State and Defense departments announced they are recalling and replacing six Marine guards posted at the U.S. consulate in the Soviet city of Leningrad, following the espionage arrest of a Marine guard who worked there several years ago.
- The Soviet Union stepped up its efforts to portray itself as a victim, not a perpetrator, of spying by throwing open the gates of its heavily guarded embassy compound in Leningrad to show reporters electronic ear-allegedly-planted by U.S. intelligence agents.
- In Los Angeles, President Reagan said the arrests of Marine guards on espionage charges "has been a severe blow to many of us." During a question-and-answer session following a speech, Reagan responded to

Centenarians rely on experience in new bid for apple pie baking title

The Associated Press

WEST BROOKFIELD, Mass. — Two undaunted centenarians are rolling up their sleeves for another shot at the title of best apple pie bakers in New England.

The team from the Quabog Nursing Home — one 105 and the other 101 — said they just are young at heart, run by the historic Salem Cross Inn, because TV cameras confused them and they both added sugar to make the final.

But they wasted no time preparing their comeback, and they've made the finals again.

When Louise Wald was asked the pie-baking secret last year, her younger teammate, Tilly Bothwell, warned: "Don't you dare give away my secret. We'll be back next year and win it."

The two face nine other finalists Sunday, out of the original 490 entrants from all six New England states.

Their competition includes Marlene Dougherty, a police officer from Merrimack, N.H., and Kent Faerber, the alumni director of Amherst College and the first man to make the finals.

"God help him," said Mrs. Bothwell of the prospect of cooking against a man one-third her age.

The back-to-back champion in 1985 and 1986, 80-year-old Clara Chalmers of Bedford, N.H., chose not to enter this year but will be on hand to present the prize, contest organizers said.

The finalists will bake their pies in the inn's beehive oven, built in 1829. Both the inn and the nursing home are in West Brookfield.

The Quabog team members credit experience for their success in making the finals.

"When you think we started baking apple pies when we were 15 and 16 years old, that comes out to a lot of pies," said Mrs. Wald.

Nursing home administrator Jim Moran said the home has received calls for the team's recipe, including one from an 80-year-old who said she was a new bride and didn't know how to cook.

Food prices spark wholesale index rise

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Wholesale prices rose 0.3 percent in March, the largest gain in a year, as the first rise in food costs in five months offset a leveling-off in energy.

The 24 percent increase in the labor department's Producer Price Index for February was "a real surprise," said a government spokesman.

The price index for all urban consumers rose 0.5 percent in March, the largest gain in a year, as the first rise in food costs in five months offset a leveling-off in energy.

Idaho drinking age becomes 21; some difficulty expected

By QUANE KENYON

The Associated Press

BOISE — Idaho officials expected some confusion when the state raised its legal drinking age from 19 to 21 at 12:01 a.m. today, but they say the full impact of the law won't come for two years.

Under a bill passed by the state Legislature and signed March 31 by Gov. Department Director Mack Richardson as Cecil Andrus, Idaho's tightest drinking age of 19 became 21 with little fanfare.

Those at least age 19 on Friday, can continue to drink legally, he said.

Mark Dunn, director of the Idaho Restaurant and Beverage Association, predicts some confusion over who can be served and "it's going to require some educational effort on our part, and on the part of the state alcohol control agency," Dunn said Friday.

Because the Legislature battled for five years over the issue, a lot of tavern and restaurant owners didn't believe the law would be changed this year, Dunn said.

"We told them that this probably would be the last year they could serve that age group, but many of the operators felt the Legislature wouldn't take away that right," he said.

The Legislature for years resisted a federal mandate to raise the drinking age. Idaho found itself among a handful of states, mostly in the West, which refused to go along.

Finally, faced with certain loss of $4.1 million in federal funds this year, the Legislature surrendered and passed a drinking-age bill.

The change almost came six weeks earlier On Feb. 25, setting Gov. G. L. "Butch" Otter vetoed the original bill in the absence of an drus, and the House couldn't muster enough votes to override.

Ben Biggs, chief of vital statistics, said 13,101 people were born in Idaho in 1968. Figuring a roughly equal number per day, and comparable in and out migration, that indicates about 38 people will turn 19 Friday and Saturday, he said.

Precise computer records, showing the number born each day, weren't started until 1984.

Dave Hand, director of the Idaho Inkeeper's Association, said there will be little trouble.

Andrus wants Hanford hearing

LEWISTON (AP) — Gov. Cecil Andrus is asking the federal government to expand plans for public hearings on reopening the site. Some members at Hanford, Wash., to include a site in northern Idaho.

The prevailing wind trajectory makes Lewiston and northern Idaho Department of the Hanford facility. Andrus said in a letter and Thursday to Energy Secretary J. J. Pickens. "It is only reasonable we should have a say in that which affects us," Andrus wrote.

The Energy Department has scheduled hearings on the potential siting of the reactor for Portland, Ore., and the Washington cities of Richland and Spokane.

The reactor, the only one remaining in the U.S. that produces plutonium for nuclear weapons, was shut down in January to allow for installation of $50 million in safety equipment. Officials hope to restart the reactor by July, but some critics contend safety measures still will be inadequate.

Salt Lake pumps start work

HOGUE RIDGE, Utah (AP) — Gov. Norm Bangerter capped Utah's $70 million Great Salt Lake pumping project Friday by switching on the first of three massive pumps which will siphon excess water into the state's western desert.

"This is great. It looks like a lot of water," Bangerter joked after flipping on the output valve that sent brine gushing into a five-mile-long canal. A crowd of 100 attending the ceremony at the pump house applauded.

"I am just pleased to have the pumps on, even though they are 45 days behind schedule," the governor said. "The main question is, 'Can you control the lake?' Of course no one knows that, but we think we are on the right track."

The salt-filled, 25-mile-wide inland sea, at its highest level in recorded history, has caused some $200 million in flooding damage to lakeshore property over the past four years.

Suit seeks worker benefits

PROVO, Utah (AP) — A class-action lawsuit was filed against USX Corp. on Friday, seeking more than $1 billion on behalf of 2,200 workers who will lose their jobs permanently when the company closes its Geneva Works this summer.

"This morning a lawsuit against USX has been filed on behalf of all the employees at the Geneva Works" and workers from companies which supply the plant in nearby Orem, attorney Allen Young said in a charging complaint filed in federal court.

The suit, filed by 4th District Court member $24 million in lost wages from August, 1986, to October, 1989; $230 million in lost benefits and pensions and $320 million in punitive damages for wrongful termination.

"We hope it will never go to court. We hope this will convince USX to give jobs back," Young said. "If not, then all we want is a billion dollars of their money."

USX spokesman Jack Bollow declined to comment on the lawsuit.

Wilberg mine hearing April 21

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Labor Committee has set an April 21 date for a hearing on Utah's Wilberg Mine fire, which claimed 27 lives in 1984.

The panel has scheduled sessions on the disaster three times, but each time postponing the proceedings.

The hearing had been scheduled for April 7, but the illness of an accident investigator with the United Mine Workers union caused another delay.

The federal Mine Safety and Health Administration issued a brief of a report saying the fire was caused by an unattended compressor which had been rigged to operate with its heat sensor and on-off switches disconnected.

MSHA also cited the mine's owner, Utah Power & Light Co., and former operator Emery Mining Corp., with 34 violations and said nine of these constituted directly to the blaze.

An investigation into possible criminal violations are now under way, according to the Labor Department.

State agency fuss nets $50,000 claim

BOISE (AP) — The Department of Corrections has filed a $50,000 tort claim against another state agency, an unusual development in a long-running dispute.

"As far as we're concerned, one state agency can't sue another under the state insurance policy," said Wayne Mittleider, insurance risk manager for the state. "They're all the same agency. It would be like moving money from one pocket to another."

It's a battle that started five years ago. Last year, Robert C. Montierth won a 4th District Court judgment that will reach $50,000 with interest and attorney fees. Attorney General Jim Jones says his office suggested that Corrections settle beforehand for $20,000.

Last month, the Department of Corrections filed a tort claim for the money went to Corrections and be filed suit five years ago.

A tort claim prepared by Timothy McNeese, administrative assistant to Corrections Director Al Murphy, alleges that risk manager Ed Friedenstein decided the dispute was "contractual in nature" and thus not covered by the state's insurance policy.

The new claim alleges that he may try to negotiate some sort of settlement from the insurance carrier. Complicating the matter is that the state's insurance carrier at the time, Compass Insurance Co., is bankrupt, Mittleider said, although Friedenstein failed to recognize settlement from the insurance carrier. "It's a legal matter," Mittleider said. "It's not covered by the state's insurance policy."

In any event, Corrections has six months from the date of the Sept. 8, 1986, judgment to file a tort claim, and met the deadline.

The whole matter started over a crop-of-hay-Montierth alleged that the department to defend a lawsuit he should have been paid for it, but without insurance coverage.

Officials involved say that eventually, someone will have to rule whether Montierth's original claim was a "tort" or improper act, or a contract dispute.

Complicating the matter is that the state's insurance carrier at the time, Compass Insurance Co., is bankrupt, Mittleider said, although Friedenstein failed to recognize settlement from the insurance carrier. "It's a legal matter," Mittleider said. "It's not covered by the state's insurance policy."

West Idaho farmers worried about water

By The Associated Press

Farmers across southern Idaho are becoming increasingly concerned about an impending irrigation water shortage and officials are trying to find ways to blunt possible panic, particularly in the western and south central parts of the state.

"Panic is the main reaction," said Larry Silver, Canyon County project manager for the U.S. Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service. "Most farmers were led to believe all winter long that water wouldn't be that short."

But snowpacks in the Boise River drainage last week were reported at 47 percent of normal, and farmers already have been advised they will be rationed.

"In eastern Idaho, irrigation officials said water supplies will be tight but producers should be able to make it through the growing season if they manage the resource efficiently," District 1 Watermaster Ron Carlson said storage in the eastern Idaho reservoirs is adequate to meet needs, but will mean many canal companies that rely on natural stream flows will probably have to buy surplus water from those with storage.

"I'm confident there's adequate water," said Max Van Den Berg, supervisor of the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation's Minidoka Project, but "we will see a substantial draft on the reservoirs."

But in the western part of the state, the Boise Project Board of Control announced Wednesday that the farmers it serves through five canal companies will get only about one-third their normal allotment of water this season.

That prompted all too many producers to panic, Silver said. As many as 40 people had called his office and another 35 to 40 came in person to see what could be done to save their crops.

Plea of innocent entered to charge

PRESTON (AP) — A former Preston man has pleaded innocent to a charge of voluntary manslaughter in the Feb. 28 beating death of a Whitely, Idaho, woman.

Anthony Fish, 23, now of Caldwell, entered the plea in 4th District Court Friday. He is charged in the death of 24-year-old Penny Merrill Fisher.

Fisher was bound over for trial after a two-day preliminary hearing last month.

Judge Wallace Trenstrum denied a motion by Franklin County Attorney Jay McKenzie to raise Fish's bail from $5,000 to $10,000 and said he would schedule a trial date within the next couple of weeks.

Conviction upheld

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho Court of Appeals has upheld the conviction and prison terms ordered for white supremacist Keith Gilbert.

Gilbert was convicted in 1st District Court Jan. 31 on counts of obscene libel and one count of state income tax evasion.

He argued that the 35 counts should have been combined into one.

But the Court of Appeals noted Gilbert failed to file out a new application before accepting each of the checks, and that meant a separate charge could be filed each time.

Report: Hanford security has been lax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite arrests for drunken driving and marijuana possession, and filing for bankruptcy, an operator at a Hanford nuclear plant was allowed to keep his security clearance while under investigation, says a General Accounting Office study.

The report, released Thursday, says the U.S. Department of Energy began investigating the process operator, whose job was to control the flow and chemical composition of radioactive water, in February 1985, after the plant had a security breach until October 1985.

It was one of several scathing findings on security at federal nuclear weapons facilities released Thursday by the congressional watchdog agency at a House Government Operations Committee hearing.

Ken Jackson, director of security at the Hanford reservation in southeastern Washington, said such a delay in acting on a problem employee wouldn't happen now. He said Hanford has been able to revoke security clearances without permission from Washington since 1985.

The GAO examined the DOE's headquarters as well as field offices at Hanford, Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Albuquerque, N.M.

The (Soviet) KGB training school could use this (Hanford) employee as a case study for its youngest spies on the type of employee who is susceptible to bribes or blackmail," said Rep. Mike Synar, D-Oklahoma, chairman of the energy and environment subcommittee.

The GAO report also cited examples of two Hanford security inspectors who used drugs on and off the job. The inspectors were to have been in the security clearance review in 1985 but weren't reassigned to unsecured areas until last May.

Additionally, the report said a Hanford truck driver whose job was to transport plutonium and enriched uranium had a nine-year alcohol abuse history and had used heroin since 1979. The driver had his clearance suspended in August 1984 and revoked in December 1985.

In another incident at an unidentified site, the report said a senior laboratory technician maintained security clearance despite selling marijuana and cocaine, carrying a concealed weapon, using a nuclear plant, committing arson, raping juvenile girls and selling classified documents and uranium to the Palestine Liberation Organization.

The employee's crimes were reported to the department last April but his security clearance wasn't revoked until July.

Jackson said he couldn't comment on the case because "it is in adjudication at this point."

Jackson also declined to discuss a former Hanford employee with nine drunken-driving arrests. The Aid cuts may alter concept of college

COEUR D'ALENE (AP) — Continuing cutbacks in financial aid to students, a policy supported by the Reagan administration, could change the traditional concept of college education, say college employment administrators.

Less federal money available to fund education is hurting enrollment at four-year institutions but probably will cause community colleges to grow, said Katherine Nagel, employment officer and administrator for Washington State University.

Ms. Nagel and 70 other college employment administrators from 13 Western states shared ideas this week on how to combat decreasing dollars for student workers and a shortage of jobs in communities.

"What's going to happen is that receiving a college education will be a lifetime process," said Gwen Baker of Gonzaga University in Spokane.

"People will find a steady income before entering college."

then, they will probably enter a community college for a retraining program. While they attend school, they'll work part time, which will leave them less time for classes. Pretty soon, we won't be seeing the students who finish college in four years."

WSU, as the largest employer in the Pullman area, employs 4,000 students. During the first four months of 1987, the school paid $3 million in wages to student workers. Part of that amount, however, is in federal funds allocated to provide students with jobs to enable them to pay for college.

"Without those funds, we'll see less students able to go to college," Ms. Nagel said Thursday.

"Eventually that will mean fewer college-educated people in the Car crashes into store window

TWIN FALLS — A car allegedly driven by a drunken driver crashed through the front of a 7-Eleven Store early Friday morning. No one was injured.

Police said the car was driven by David Franklin, Ray, 20, of 1217 7th Ave. E.

Ray was arrested and charged with driving under the influence, reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident, police said. He was released later Friday.

Police said Ray allegedly drove through the 7-Eleven store window at 1509 Kimberly Rd. about 1:30 a.m., causing about $1,500 in damage. The driver then left the scene.

Equipment, dirt bike stolen

TWIN FALLS — Camera equipment, a dirt bike and stereo equipment were stolen in three separate incidents, Twin Falls police reported.

Police said $450 worth of cameras and equipment was stolen on Thursday from the residence of Richard Graham, 1036 Blue Lakes Blvd. Police have four suspects.

Also on Thursday, Marvin A. Stevens of 1928 Aspen Dr. reported the theft of $700 in stereo equipment and other items from his unlocked Volkswagen. The theft occurred between April 3 and April 9, police said.

And a $1,800 Kawasaki dirt bike was stolen from 2218 Kingsdale Road Tuesday morning. The bike belonged to Alan D. Roby, police said.

Morton Thiolok denies it lied in testimony

BRIGHAM CITY, Utah (AP) — Morton Thiolok Inc. Friday denied recent allegations by a former state legislator that the company and a presidential commission probing the 1986 space shuttle Challenger disaster.

Roger Bolsjoly, who pleaded with the House subcommittee and NASA officials to scrub the fatal launch of the Challenger, filed a $4 billion suit against Morton Thiolok under the federal False Claims Act in January.

In a statement issued by spokesman Thomas Russell, the company vowed to use its "full resources to defend against these unfounded charges, and will explore all legal means to redress any damage to its reputation resulting from them."

Failure of a joint-on the Morton Thiolok-produced right booster rocket has been blamed for the Jan. 28 explosion that destroyed the Challenger and killed its seven-member crew.

The FBI is conducting a criminal investigation of Morton Thiolok, and a developed informant among the company's employees, according to a document in file in U.S. District Court in Washington.

The document, a private communication to a federal judge by the Justice Department, revealed last week, did not otherwise detail the nature of the probe.

The FBI has declined to comment on the document, which was released after its disclosure was reported and Morton Thiolok officials said Friday they had no information on the investigation.

"As a government contractor, the company's affairs are under continuous review by various agencies of the government," Russell said. "The company is confident that additional investigations will confirm that the Bolsjoly allegations are without foundation."

Attorneys for the Harrises blamed the accident on Toro's failure to print warnings on the mower and said warnings in the instruction booklet were too vague. The lawsuit also alleged a number of design defects, including lack of an automatic blade-braking device.

But Kansas City attorney Don Vassos, who represented Toro, said the accident occurred because Aman was giving the Harris boy rides on the mower.

"I says never allow children to operate the mower... keep children away," Vassos said. "You don't let kids operate it, and you don't let kids operate it with other kids riding on it."

Vassos said 5 million to 6 million lawn mowers are manufactured each year and only 6 percent have blade-brake clutches to disengage the blade. He said the clutches were not utilized until about 1982. The lawn

USU students approve extra fees for intramurals

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — Utah State University students have overwhelmingly approved additional fees to save the school's intramural program and help the gymnastics team improve its practice facilities.

Both issues were included on the same ballot where Chris Avery was elected student body president and other officers chosen for the coming year.

A 1-61 one-time fee to go to the gymnastics program passed on a vote of 2,160 to 450, while a $3 per quarter fee for the intramural program was approved on a vote of 1,539 to 664.

Oregon savings and loan fails

ALBANY, Ore. (AP) — Future Savings & Loan Association of Albany has failed due to unsound banking practices. The exact amount of the uninsured funds can be determined. Those with uninsured funds will eventually share with the FSILC in the proceeds arising from the liquidation of the assets of Future Savings & Loan.

Ms. Plater said officials haven't determined how much of the thrift's $66.4 million in assets were insured.

"The bank board closed Future Savings because it was insolvent in that the assets of the association were less than its obligations to creditors," Ms. Plater said.

Hinckley wrote of escape try

WASHINGTON (AP) — John W. Hinckley Jr. wrote a letter outlining plans to escape from the mental hospital where he has been held since 1982 for shooting President Reagan, a prosecutor said Friday.

The letter, "involving discussions Mr. Hinckley had with people regarding escaping from St. Elizabeths Hospital," will be introduced Monday at a hearing on Hinckley's request to make an unescorted Easter visit to his family, Assistant U.S. Attorney John O. Birch told a federal judge at an impromptu hearing on the case.

MAC suspends Southern Air

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Military Airlift Command on Friday temporarily suspended Southern Air Transport Inc. as a cargo hauler for the Pentagon pending a safety investigation of a fatal crash earlier this week.

The move against Southern Air, which was once owned by the CIA and in recent months linked to the Contra aid effort, was prompted by the crash Wednesday of a Lockheed Hercules L-100 cargo plane at Travis Air Force Base, Calif.

Five Southern Air crewmen died in the accident, which occurred during a routine pilot-crew training flight, the Pentagon said.

The cause of the crash is under investigation by the Federal Aviation Administration and the National Transportation Safety Board.

Private plane checks ordered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Transportation Safety Board called Friday for immediate inspection of one of the most popular private planes being flown because of concern about cracking that could cause the wing to separate.

The warning covers the widely used Piper PA-28 series of single-engine propeller planes, of which more than 35,000 are used in everything from pleasure flying and pilot training to pipeline inspections.

It was not immediately known how many of the planes might be subject to the unusual fatigue cracking cited by the NTSB, but a board spokesman said the warning is aimed at generally planes that have a record of high use.

Gore launches nomination bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Albert Gore Jr. of Tennessee announced Friday he will become the first Southerner to enter the race for the 1988 Democratic presidential nomination later this spring, saying the nation is ready "to turn to youth, to vigor and to intellectual capacity."

At 39, the freshman senator is the youngest man to join the 1988 race for the White House. Gore said he is setting up a presidential committee to prepare for his formal announcement, declaring he is "ready for the challenge."

The second-generation Tennessee politician made his announcement in the Mike Mansfield Room of the Capitol, where Illinois Sen. Paul Simon made a similar announcement the day before.

Dozen more brain grafts due

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The surgeon who led the team that performed the nation's first brain-graft to combat Parkinson's disease said Friday he plans at least a dozen more operations in the next several months.

Dr. George S. Allen said Thursday's five-hour operation to implant adrenal gland cells in the brain of a 42-year-old Parkinson's victim went well, but more study was needed before he could proceed with other grafts.

Allen's patient, Dicky Baggett, was removed from the hospital's neurological intensive care unit Friday afternoon, and her condition was upgraded from critical to fair and stable.

Surrogate mom regains rights to visit

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — The New Jersey Supreme Court on Friday reinstated surrogate mother Mary Beth Whitehead's right to visit the daughter she bore under a $10,000 contract, saying she can spend two hours a week with the baby.

The 6-1 ruling came 19 days after a lower court judge had stripped the 30-year-old homemaker of her parental rights and granted custody of the year-old girl to William Stern, the biological father.

The Supreme Court refused to stay Superior Court Judge Harvey R. Barbieri's March 31 decision upholding the surrogate contract, but said Mrs. Whitehead could visit her baby pending a decision on her appeal, said court spokeswoman Beatrice Keilman.

"It's a really good feeling to know they're giving me a chance," Mrs. Whitehead said outside her Brick Township home. "I'm just so happy she would be allowed to see her back. It's reinstated and I'm very very happy."

Mrs. Whitehead will be able to see the child two hours less than she had been allowed before the lower court decision. The visits at a Bergen County center for youths will start next week with attorneys meeting Monday to decide on a schedule.

"She will be home, I feel it in my heart," Mrs. Whitehead said of the girl she calls Sara. "I just want to see her."

"I had all the confidence," she added when asked whether she doubted Monday to decide on a schedule.

Condom distributors may advertise AIDS guard role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Condom distributors have been given a government green light to advertise that latex condoms can help prevent the spread of AIDS.

They had been barred from making that assertion on their own until this week — even though Surgeon General C. Everett Koop and other government officials have been saying it for them for months.

The permission to include anti-AIDS benefits in advertising and labeling comes with Food and Drug Administration guidelines dated Tuesday and made public Friday.

Although condom labeling typically has said condoms are intended to prevent the spread of disease, manufacturers had not been allowed to make specific claims about their effectiveness in preventing AIDS or other diseases.

FDA spokesman David Duarte said the guidelines were in response to applications from several manufacturers seeking permission to mention AIDS in their labeling and advertising.

In its letter, the FDA said condoms made with natural membranes may have a different permeability than latex and not lend themselves to the same degree of quality control.

In the interest of prudence, therefore, FDA is requesting that they not label natural membrane condoms for protection against STDs, the letter said.

"We recently ran three ads in The Times-News that were very successful for us. The first ad we advertised was a 6 bedroom home that sits on 35 acres of land. The home sold in a month. We sold another home in Buhl, 3 bedrooms, in less than a month after the ad ran. The biggest success of the three ads, an 80 acre farm, which ran the first week in February, sold within a week.

"We received many interested callers on the ads and on several others included in our ad block. Some calls resulted in the showing of these properties and others that we had not yet advertised.

"The way we have chosen to advertise in our 'block' has caught the eye of our clients because we separate the acreages from farms and farms from city homes. It helps them find what they are looking for.

Ukrainians ask pope to visit homeland

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Immigrants from the Ukraine on Friday urged Pope John Paul II to go to their Soviet homeland to "sweep away the darkness of atheism."

The pope, nearing the end of a fast-paced, two-week visit to Uruguay, Chile and Argentina, took from his chair in front of the altar of the Ukrainian cathedral in Buenos Aires and embraced Monsignor Andres Sapelak, who made the plea on behalf of Argentina's 200,000 Ukrainians.

John Paul, whose native Poland borders the Ukraine, spoke in Ukrainian to the estimated 1,000 people crowded in the church after he sprinkled holy water and blessed a mosaic picture of the Virgin Mary and Christ child on the wall behind altar.

The pope said the Roman Catholic Church sympathizes with Ukrainians "suffering and eccumenical vocation marked by the stigma of the Latin rite of Rome," the pope said. "We search with renewed energy for the paths to reach un-

Such guarantees so far haven't been announced.

Many in the crowd were elderly people who were born in the Ukraine and emigrated to Argentina as children. Many of their grandchildren came to the appearance wearing Ukrainian costumes — short skirts, fur-trimmed boleros and sash ribbons, trailing from their hair.

Speeches delivered, the pontiff and Sapelak stepped into the bright noon sunshine in a courtyard behind the church and watched a performance of Ukrainian songs and folk dances.

Clash leaves Israeli vote a possibility

JERUSALEM (AP) — Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir and Foreign Minister Shimon Peres clashed sharply Friday over the merits of an international conference on Middle-East peace and openly raised the possibility of new elections.

Shamir, leader of the right-wing Likud Bloc that opposes territorial concessions to the Arabs, labeled the conference idea a trap set by the Soviet Union and Israel's Arab enemies.

"It is an insane and monstrous idea, tantamount to fighting for our national suicide," Shamir told a party youth group Thursday night. The transcript of his speech was distributed Friday.

Shamir said if Peres was committed to "a peace of surrender," he should submit his ideas to the voters. This would mean calling elections before their scheduled 1988 date.

Peres, leader of the left-leaning Labor Party that shares power with Likud, said Shamir's criticisms could lead to the dismantling of the multiparty coalition formed after slated elections in 1984.

"I think that what was said (by Shamir) are indeed remarks of a dismantling nature," Peres said during a visit to a book fair in Jerusalem.

Politicians of both major political blocs questioned whether the 2½-year-old coalition could survive the current crisis.

A series of crises have rocked the coalition since it was formed, but the current one appeared particularly serious because the leaders of the two blocs were attacking each other directly and because the government has lost popularity in recent polls.

Strikes stall Spain traffic

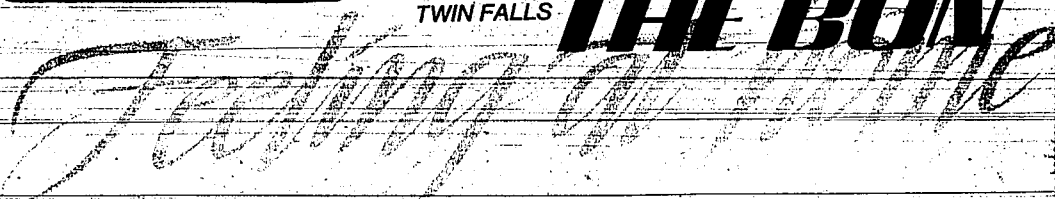

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Strikes by transport workers paralyzed traffic in and out of cities Friday, complicating the pilgrimage to ancestral villages for Easter Week that many Spaniards cherish.

Labor leaders promised more strikes next week in the labor campaign that began months ago against a government austerity program that includes pushing for a 5 percent ceiling on pay increases.

A brief clash between riot police and several thousand strikers, who marched to the Economy Ministry was the only incident reported. Officials said two policemen and a worker were slightly injured.

The Workers' Commissions, communist-oriented group and Spain's second-largest union, organized the action by transport workers. Union chief Marcelino Camacho said strikes would spread if the Socialist government of Prime Minister Felipe Gonzalez sticks to its position on wage limits.

Highland puts down Bobcats

By MICHAEL VANAUDELEN
Times-News writer

BURLEY — If only Keith Whalen hadn't found his pitching stroke in the fifth inning, whereupon he struck out five out of the next seven batters, the Burley Bobcats might have beaten the Highland Hawks.

As it was, Burley lost 7-2.

But with the score tied at two going into the bottom of the fifth, the Bobcats sensed a victory over the team that had sidestepped them earlier in the season in Pocatello 10-5.

walked to load the bases, a wild pitch scored Rodriguez. Rudy Ramirez walked to load the bases and a passed ball by catcher Steve Jesler scored Watkinson for Burley's only runs of the game.

Highland came right back in the fifth with two runs to tie the game as Obray and Jerry Coffman each knocked in a run. The Rams picked up the winning run in the sixth as Ryan Astin hit a soft one to center to bring in Ryan Hall.

Bees win match

JEROME — The Bunnville Bees won all the key points and posted a 9-3 decision over Jerome in a dual tennis match Thursday.

"It's called losing all the close ones," Jerome Coach Ken Wright said. "There were several matches that could have gone either way and they got all but one of them. It could have been very close."

Jerome remains home Tuesday to entertain the Wood River Wolverines.

Tryouts set for Babe Ruth

TWIN FALLS — The Magic Valley Babe Ruth League will hold tryouts today at Harrison Park.

The schedule calls for 15-year-olds to try out at 9 a.m. and 14 and 15-year-olds at 11 a.m.

Boys must be aged 13 by Aug. 1 and no older than 16 by that date. They must furnish copies of their birth certificates and a parent must sign a release form. Each boy must have one parent living in School District #111.

Registration fee is $25.

Softball meeting scheduled

TWIN FALLS — A meeting of the Magic Valley Church League in preparation for the coming slowpitch men's softball season has been called for Tuesday.

The meeting will begin at 7 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church, at Fourth Avenue and Shoshone Street, said Paul DeWitt, league president.

He said that representatives of any church interested in attending the meeting or call him at 733-4011. League play will probably start early in May.

ISU signs Oregon player

POCATELLO — Idaho State University has signed an Oregon junior college basketball player to a national letter of intent.

He is Mark Stuck, a 6-foot, 9-inch center at Chemeketa Community College in Salem, Ore. Stuck will be a sophomore next year.

The Portland, Ore., native averaged 13 points and eight rebounds as a freshman at Chemeketa, leading his team to the Oregon community college championship.

"Mark has great potential and is Mr. Intensity personified," said ISU Coach Jim Boutin. "He works hard and plays the game hard, and we think he can be a really good Big Sky (Conference) center. He's a good post-up player inside. He's strong and can power the ball inside. He has a 15-foot shooting range with a good touch. Mark is a wide-bodied player who will be very physical on the defensive boards and is quick enough to play our kind of defense."

Midweek site of new bowl

POCATELLO (AP) — The Idaho State University Midweek Bowl will be the site Nov. 21 of the Centennial Bowl, the nation's newest junior college bowl.

"We're going after two top teams and put on a first-class event," Ray Rikari, manager of the 12,000-seat indoor stadium, said Thursday.

The Midweek Bowl Association and the Idaho State Association agreed in sanction the inaugural Centennial Bowl during its convention in Dallas last week.

"I think it has the potential of being the best junior college bowl game in the nation," Rikari said. "The facilities are ideal and southeastern Idaho has shown its support to postseason football (games) in the past."

While the bowl game would not be affiliated with any particular region or conference, Rikari indicated the Centennial Bowl executive committee would "aggressively pursue" the Ricks College team "if they have a successful season." Ricks is located 75 miles away in Rexburg.

Team roping slated at Jackpot

JACKPOT — A team roping has been scheduled for Jackpot's Cactus Pete's Desert Arena Sunday.

Ropings will be two steers for $5, three steers for $8 draw pot and three steers for $4, one over 40.

The roping will begin at 1 p.m.

Locals take first in archery

TWIN FALLS — Brian Jones, Jim Sharp, Sam Bell and Galen Stimpson of Twin Falls took first-place honors in the State Indoor 300 Bowmen archery tournament held recently in Mountain Home, Pocatello and Lewiston.

Jones finished first in the young adult freestyle limited class, while Bell was the winner in C division men's bowhunter.

Sharp was the winner in men's bowhunter freestyle B division, while Stimpson took a first place in men's freestyle limited.

Bell was the runnerup in men's barebow, while Jana Heiberg finished second in women's bowhunter freestyle.

Eagles sweep doubleheader at Utah Valley

By The Times-News

The Wolverines battled back in the nightcap and twice headed the Eagles in the early innings. After falling behind 4-3 in the top half of the sixth, Utah Valley fashioneed a sweeping both ends of a doubleheader from Utah Valley Community College Friday, 22-5 and 8-4.

The twin victory in the non-conference matchups improves the Eagles to 21-12. This afternoon they play a two-game affair at 1 p.m. against Snow College at Ephraim.

The long ball paved the way for CSI in an easy first game victory.

Steve Bivens blasted a grand slam, his fifth homerun of the season, Shawn Whalen drove in six runs on a pair of shots and Chris Hanks drove in three more with his twelfth homerun of 1987.

The Wolverines battled back in the nightcap and twice headed the Eagles in the early innings. After falling behind 4-3 in the top half of the sixth, Utah Valley fashioneed a sweeping both ends of a doubleheader from Utah Valley Community College Friday, 22-5 and 8-4.

Chris Hanks' pinch hit single started the CSI seventh off on the right foot and he took second on a wild pitch. Anthony Negrette followed with a walk and Eric Hanks singled to centerfield to score Hanks with the winning run.

Steve Bivens walked to fill the bases against Utah Valley. Steve Nelson and Dave McQuibbey laced a three-run double to end the suspense.

"We had them until Whalen got hot," said Burley coach Dean Satterfield. "He started mixing up his pitches and came on tough."

Whalen — who opened the game with some impressive stats: a 1-1 record and an ballooned ERA of 9.00 — gave up only three hits in the first four innings, then bore down and threw three innings of no-hit ball to close out the win. All told, Whalen struck out 10 and walked only two.

And with the Bobcats thoroughly stymied by the Highland lefthander, the rest of the Rams picked up the game-winning run in the sixth and blew things open with a four-run seventh, highlighted by Ryan Hall's home run.

Whalen's brilliant effort overshadowed a solid performance by Burley righthander Tom Messinbrink, who struck out five, scattered 11 hits "and kept the ball down all day," said Satterfield. "Heck, Hall's homer was down by the ankles. He (Hall) pulled it out."

With Whalen's outstanding performance, though, Messinbrink didn't get the support he needed. The Bobcats scored their only runs in the fourth when both Pete Rodriguez and Shay Watkinson reached and scored on errors.

Highland first baseman Ralph Obray watched Rodriguez's grounder go through his legs to put the Burley catcher on. Then, center-fielder John Bullock dropped Watkinson's pop fly. After Mike Dudley

Dollar's slide alarms Japan

TOKYO (AP)—A wild selloff in the dollar triggered foreign exchange markets Friday, knitting it to a record low against the yen and alarming Japanese industrialists who demanded steps to stabilize the weak U.S. currency.

The dollar panic aggravated political tensions in the Japanese government and reportedly compelled at least five big industrial companies to buy massive amounts of dollars in a vain attempt to halt its depreciation.

Traders and monetary officials blamed the dollar's demise on what they called the failure of a Washington financial summit earlier this week to demonstrate a solid program that would stop the dollar from falling further.

They also blamed U.S. Treasury Secretary James A. Baker, who described the dollar's 13-year-old decline as orderly and helpful in eventually reducing the staggering American trade deficit. Traders saw the statement as an indication that the United States is not seriously interested in supporting the dollar.

Massive sell orders for dollars swamped the Tokyo-foreign-exchange market as trading began, pushing the dollar down 20 yen to 142.50, its lowest close against the yen since currency exchange rates were set in the late 1940s.

A $1 billion order for dollars believed to be from the Bank of Japan could stem the slide.

The dollar failed to rebound later in London, although banking sources there said the central banks of Britain, France and West Germany were jointly intervening in the foreign-exchange market to buy large amounts of dollars. Some said the U.S. Federal Reserve also was involved.

In accordance with government policies, some of the banks would comment on their market activities.

Japanese export business expressed deep dismay over the dollar's slide. They claim their profits have been devastated from the resulting appreciation of the yen, which has made Japan's exports more expensive abroad.

Nissan Motor Corp. President Yutaka Kume exhorted the Japanese government to immediately order steps to stabilize exchange rates, saying it should "take serious" the desperate cries of the export industries.

In what appeared to be awkward timing, however, the Finance Ministry reported Friday that Japan achieved a record trade surplus of $87.77 billion in the fiscal year ended March 31, up 41 percent from the previous record of $52.692 billion a year earlier.

Overall, exports climbed 17.8 percent to $419.99 billion in fiscal 1981 up from $318.83 billion the previous fiscal year. Imports slipped 3.9 percent to $125.318 billion.

Some of the surplus was caused by the yen's inflated value, but the report was bound to be used as widespread Japanese resentment over the outcome of the financial summit in Washington, where ministers from Britain, Canada, France, Italy, Japan, the United States and West Germany asserted that current exchange rates were "broadly consistent with economic fundamentals."

Japanese news accounts from Washington said Japan found itself isolated at the meeting, a lone supporter of dollar stabilization. Some reports called the meeting a forum for "Japan bashing."

Hajime Tamura, Japan's minister of International Trade and Industry, was quoted as complaining to a Cabinet meeting that he had "trouble understanding the outcome" of the Washington meeting.

Stocks continue steady retreat

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock prices, which spent much of the week following the direction of the dollar and the Treasury bond market—continued in that vein Friday and closed lower.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks fell 0.42 point to 2,338.78.

Declining issues outpaced advances by a margin of about 3-to-1, with 1,072 stocks down, 514 up and 401 unchanged on the New York Stock Exchange.

Big Board volume totaled 169.53 million shares, against 180.25 million in the previous session.

The dollar reached another low against the Japanese yen Friday, and it also slipped against other major currencies.

The market responded by falling sharply.

Wall Street analysts said the stock market followed the bond market closely, as it had Friday in previous sessions.

The course of the DJIA Friday reflected the developments on the foreign exchange markets.

After opening lower, the average recovered on reports that several central banks, including the Federal Reserve and the West German Bundesbank, were buying dollars to support the U.S. currency.

The closely watched barometer fluctuated throughout the session, but the broader market was consistently downward.

Topping the NYSE most active list Friday were shares of Hospital Corp. of America, which said Thursday it had received a $47.3-a-share bid, shot up 3% to 41 1/4.

The price of gold soared to its highest price in six months today, and gave mining stocks a boost. Hecla Mining rose 1 1/4 to 24 1/4, and Dome Mines was up 1/4 to 14 1/4.

Technology stocks also performed well on news that the semiconductor industry's book-to-bill ratio in March reached its highest level since 1980. Digital Equipment Corp. was up 1/4 to close at 165 1/4, and Texas Instruments was up 3/4 to 195 1/4.

IBM was up 1/4 to 145.

Among other gainers was General Motors, which rose 2 1/4 to 86. GM executives told Wall Street analysts they expect the automaker to maintain about a 40 percent share of the auto market.

Among the decliners were UAL, which fell 1/4 to 72 1/4, Eastman Kodak, which fell 1/4 to 72 1/4, and Western Union, which fell 1/4 to 108.

Nationwide turnover in NYSE-listed issues, including trades in those stocks on regional exchanges and the total over-the-counter market, totaled 94.37 million shares.

The NYSE's composite index fell 0.37 to 165.72.

There's no place like home to be hurt

Shocker: If you suffer a serious injury, the odds are it will be in your home.

There's no place like home. The most common site for injuries is not the streets, highways or industrial workplaces. It's your home.

What's more, this injury probably would have been avoided in the home.

As injury control gains recognition across the country, it's your time to become involved.

Over one-third of all injuries that disable a person beyond the day of the incident occur in the home.

reports the National Safety Council (NSC). Another way to look at it: One disabling injury occurs every 10 seconds in the home.

Estimated costs of home "accidents" in 1981: $14 billion. The breakdown for this huge loss: medical expenses, $5.7 billion; loss of wages, $4.3 billion; and insurance administration, $100 million.

The word accident is a misnomer and should not be used when discussing injury, according to the Division of Injury, Epidemiology and Control (IDEC), under the Department of Health and Human Services. An accident suggests something that's unpredictable and random, and little can be done to prevent it. The fact is, injuries are manageable and preventable.

Prime candidates for home injuries are the young and the elderly. But considering the number of sick days that result in missing work, it's clear that injuries affect people of all ages.

Most employers understand that a worker's safety leads to cost savings and increased productivity. As a result, strategies in the workplace have been developed to combat occupational injuries.

But in 1981, three out of four deaths and more than half the injuries suffered by workers occurred off the job, says the NSC. In order to help on-the-job performance, more emphasis must be placed on preventing off-the-job injuries.

The home is a good place to start. Keep in mind the following:

- Falls are the leading cause of death due to injury in the home.
- Adequate lighting, non-slip surfaces and handrails are vital at the bathtub for the elderly, and appropriate stairway design and upkeep are essential. For small children, window guards are crucial and in some places required by law.

- Fires, burns and deaths associated with fires are next on the list of deaths due to home injuries. At least 24 states require smoke detectors in all new residential construction, and 22 states require existing houses to have smoke detectors, reports the "Mid-Course Review Report for the 1990 Injury Prevention Objectives," put out by the IDEC.
- One key point: Hot water is the leading cause of scalds and of all hospital admissions for burns. Lowering your water heater thermostat to 120 degrees Fahrenheit in most cases eliminates the problem. It also results in lower energy bills for you.
- Poisoning by solids or liquids and gases or vapors are Nos. 3 and 4. The American Association of Poison Control Centers (AAPCC) estimates that 2.5 million people had some type of poisoning in 1981. Learn the telephone number of the nearest poison control center, and have it handy in an emergency.
- While national data give general information, a specific home—and better yet, a specific home-must examine its own needs.
