Knighton issues denial PAC 5 draws report card for report card

By JANE ROBISON Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A conservative political action group known as PAC 5 is being blamed for a legislative report card that is causing gnashing of teeth among some Magic Valley legislators, but a Twin Falls resident said it was not a PAC 5 project. Orville Knighton, a member of PAC 5, said Friday he was one of several people responsible for handing out the "Legislative Report" listing the votes of all Magic Valley lawmakers on 17 bills that will raise an estimated $106 million in taxes and fees. The handout ignited a furor among some lawmakers who believed the report card was issued by Associated Taxpayers of Idaho, a watchdog group, because the material was attached to Associated Taxpayers information. But Russell Westerberg, president of the group, said Associated Taxpayers never issued a report on the voting records of state lawmakers. Westerberg said Thursday his group had no idea who used part of their information.

Knighton confirmed the material was handed out at a PAC 5 organizational meeting in Twin Falls. But Knighton insisted it was "not a PAC 5 project," and he said "he will apologize to Associated Taxpayers over any confusion or misrepresentation." "If I caused Associated Taxpayers any embarrassment, I will apologize," Knighton said. "I did hand out the two sheets together because they complemented one another, but I didn't mean to mislead anybody." Knighton declined to say who prepared the voting tally. But he said he will help distribute the information "far and wide." The information has turned out to be an embarrassment for conservative state Rep. Celia Folkings, R-Buhl, who was shown to have voted for bills raising an estimated $104 million in taxes and fees. Folkings said Thursday she thought the report card was "misleading and does not present a true picture" of her voting record. Knighton said the facts are accurate. See REPORT on Page A2

Supreme Court bars required creationism classes in school

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court on Friday barred states from requiring the teaching of creationism in public schools where evolution is taught, calling such a Louisiana law a thinly veiled attempt to promote religion. The court, by a 7-2 vote, said the state law violates the constitutionally required separation of church and state. The Supreme Court has just rejected the nation's public school students from narrow-minded fanatics," declared Albert Shanker of the American Federation of Teachers. Shanker said the decision could blunt the efforts of some parents in Tennessee and Alabama to eliminate public school textbooks they believe are anti-religious. Television evangelist Pat Robertson called the decision "an outrage to every single American who believes he or she was created by God." Robertson said the ruling "effectively repudiates the Declaration of Independence, which states our rights as citizens come from a creator." The justices rejected arguments that the Balanced Treatment for Creation-Science and Evolution-Science Act of 1981 was an attempt to assure that Louisiana schoolchildren learned about competing theories of mankind's origin. "The purpose of the Creationism Act was to restructure the science curriculum to conform with a particular religious viewpoint," Justice William J. Brennan wrote for the court.

Teacher Donald Aguilard of Scott, La., filed suit against creationism teaching law in 1981 really good to suffer because of this decision," Keith said. Michael Paulson of the Christian Legal Society said the decision was "disappointing but not disastrous." He noted that the court left teachers free to teach creationism if they choose to do so. The controversy is reminiscent of the famous 1925 "monkey law" trial in which teacher John Scopes was convicted and fined $100 for teaching evolution when Tennessee law made it a crime to teach anything but the biblical version of creation. Scopes' conviction later was overturned by the Tennessee Supreme Court on a procedural matter, and never reached the nation's highest court. "Somewhere in heaven, John Scopes is celebrating," said Ira Glasser, executive director of the American Civil Liberties Union after the decision. "The children across America a child does not have a right to attend a pretrial hearing held to determine the child's competency to testify. Provided new help for state efforts to combat motor-vehicle thefts by upholding, 6-3, a New York law that allows police to search automobile junkyards without court warrants. Arthur J. Kropp, executive director of People for the American Way, praised Friday's decision but predicted that legal battles over teaching creationism in public schools are not over. "Even if today's ruling only forces the religious right to dig deeper into their bag of creationism disguises, it is a major victory for American public education," Kropp said. The man who wrote the Louisiana law, former state Sen. Bill Keith, called the ruling unfortunate, saying the invalidated law "was not religion."

Syria demands U.S. journalist be set free

The Associated Press

BEIRUT, Lebanon — Syria demanded Friday that Iranian-backed Shiite Muslims free U.S. journalist Charles Glass and the defense minister's son, whose abductions were a major blow to its attempt to establish order in Beirut. No group claimed responsibility for the seizure Wednesday of Glass, 36, and Ali Osseiran, 40. Glass is the ninth American held captive after being kidnapped in Beirut. Kidnappers who seized Elie Srour, head of Lebanon's small Jewish community, more than two years ago said Friday they had killed him in retaliation for Israeli raids on Shiite villages in south Lebanon. The statement, delivered to the independent Beirut newspaper An-Naba, was handwritten in Arabic and signed by a group calling itself the Organization of the Oppressed on Earth. With it was a photograph of Srour, 70, an electrical engineer kidnapped March 28, 1985, in Moslem Beirut. There was no reference to an announcement by the same group Dec. 21, 1986, that Srour had been executed on that day together with another Lebanese Jewish hostage. Senior Syrian officers demanded the release of Glass and Osseiran in pre-dawn telephone talks with leaders of the fundamentalist Hezbollah, or Party of God, according to sources close to the command of the town's west Beirut. "No threats were made," said one of the sources, who spoke on condition of anonymity. "But it was clearly stated that the Syrian command would retaliate for any attempt to return to Syria's role in safeguarding west Beirut's security."

Navy relieves Stark's skipper, 2 others

CAPT. GLENN R. BRINDEL Court-martial recommended

WASHINGTON — The skipper of the USS Stark and two of its top officers were relieved from duty Friday, and Pentagon sources said an investigative report had recommended courts-martial for all three. The action came following the submission of the report to the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the chief of naval operations. The Pentagon, in announcing that the three officers had been relieved, said the "problem right now is that the military inquiry had recommended courts-martial. But Defense Department sources, speaking on condition of anonymity, said the investigative report assessed the May 17 attack on the ship had recommended courts-martial for all three officers. The other officers are Capt. Glenn R.

Brindel, the Stark's commanding officer; Lt. Cmdr. Raymond J. Gajjan, the executive officer, or second-in-command; and Lt. Basil E. Monerick Jr., the tactical action officer. The tactical action officer is responsible for directing the use of the ship's weaponry. In its statement, the Pentagon said the general in charge of the U.S. Central Command "has requested that these officers be detached (from duty) based on his lack of confidence in their performance." "Acting on this request, Adm. Carlisle A.H. Trost, the chief of naval operations, directed that these officers be relieved of their duties on board USS Stark." Navy sources later explained the three were "being relieved immediately because of what happened, not because they are being accused of being the cause."

The recommendation for courts-martial still must be reviewed, the sources said. According to the Pentagon statement, the decision to order the immediate relief of the three officers was made Friday afternoon. The Stark was attacked May 17 while on routine patrol in the Persian Gulf by an Iraqi warplane. Two Exocet missiles struck the ship, one of which detonated. Thirty-seven sailors died in the attack and another 21 were injured. The Pentagon has previously said the attack occurred without the Stark taking any defensive action. The Navy said Friday that Cmdr. John B. Noll, who had been selected well before the attack to relieve Brindel as the Stark's skipper in a routine change of command, was relieved of duty. Security pledge preceded any check on risks

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — President Reagan's public promise to protect Kuwaiti oil tankers in the Persian Gulf was made without formally asking any U.S. intelligence agencies if the plan would increase the risks of Iranian-backed terrorism, two key lawmakers said Friday. Instead, the "threat assessments" were sought only after the United States was publicly committed to protecting the 14 tankers in the volatile waterway, said Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, and Sen. William Cohen, R-Maine, vice chairman of the Senate Intelligence Committee. Speaking separately, the pair offered similar judgments after their committees met behind closed doors with officials of the CIA and Defense and State departments. "The problem right now is that the policy decision has been made and the intelligence analysis is coming after the decision," Cohen told reporters. "It should have been done the other way around." Aspin said "it is clear now that there was never any direct assessment asked of any of the intelligence agencies about this impact of this." He said the failure is "an indication that the policy was put together on the back of an envelope." The Reagan administration "leaped into this policy without consulting with the allies, without considering what the impact would be in Congress and now it turns out, without checking with the intelligence agencies," Aspin said. The statements by Cohen and Aspin were the latest criticism from Congress of Reagan's plan to put

American captains and flags aboard the Kuwaiti ships to use U.S. Navy ships to convoy the tankers through the gulf. Kuwait is an ally of Iraq, raising fears the United States may be dragged into the 6½-year-old Iran-Iraq war. The United States and Saudi Arabia are nearing agreement on a U.S. request to expand the scope of air surveillance patrols over the Persian Gulf, U.S. officials said Friday. The deal would involve broadening the existing patrols of surveillance planes known as AWACS.

Emergency services to return at Gooding

By JANENE BUCKWAY Times-News correspondent

GOODING — The emergency room at Gooding County Memorial Hospital will open again June 26, and county officials are hoping that this time it will pay for itself. The County Board of Commissioners accepted a proposal from Craig Sinkinson and Marilee Kuracina, a husband and wife physician team known as the Gooding County Physicians Medical Group, to operate the emergency room in conjunction with the other three Gooding doctors, Richard Short, Douglas Smith and surgeon May Ann McAfee.

Sinkinson said after the meeting the county will help with initial overhead costs, and he and his wife will share the weekday emergency room duties with the other three doctors, while covering the facility themselves on the weekend. "There will be no trauma surgery team available," Sinkinson said, but explained the staff surgeon would be able to decide if surgery was possible at Gooding or if the patient needs to be sent to another facility in the area. "There are a lot of services available at the Gooding facility. We need to be aware of the limitations, and patients will be transferred to other facilities when it is medically necessary," he said.

The commission accepted the pair's proposal, contingent on the medical group getting insurance coverage at a special meeting Friday afternoon. Terms of the proposal include guaranteed salary for the two doctors at about $27 an hour for weekend duty and county help in getting office space in Gooding. Commissioner Rod Hohnhorst told a large group of mostly senior citizens Friday the emergency room will be open seven days a week, 24 hours a day, starting in one week. The county had eliminated emergency room service as a cost-saving measure June 1.

Sinkinson said while the Gooding facility will not be able to present to offer a full range of medical services, it can provide a " lifesaving" service by offering immediate stabilization of emergency and trauma patients not otherwise available in the county. Sinkinson and his wife, Kuracina, also plan a family-oriented general medical practice in Gooding beginning Aug. 1. The practice will not include obstetrics, however, because of high insurance costs, they said. The proposal will be on a six-measure June 1. See HOSPITAL on Page A2

Car bomb kills 15 in Barcelona, caller says Basques responsible

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) — A car bomb exploded in a department store parking garage Friday, killing 15 people and injuring 39, the Barcelona civil governor's office said.

A telephone caller said the Basque separatist organization ETA was responsible, the Spanish news agency EFE reported.

If true, the bombing would be the deadliest by ETA since it launched its violent campaign for independence in 1968.

The explosion caused a ceiling to collapse in a shopping area of the Hipercor department store in central Barcelona and started a fire that filled several levels of the parking garage with a huge cloud of smoke, police said.

The civil governor's office said seven men, five women and three children were killed.

Before Friday, ETA, which means Homeland and Liberty in Basque, had claimed responsibility for killing nearly 600 people, mainly police, Civil Guard and military officers.

The office said the bomb-laden car, a Ford Escort, was parked on the first level of the department store's underground parking area.

The bodies of 12 victims were found in the parking area, police said. Three others died in hospitals.

An official who spoke on condition of anonymity said one of the victims was named several months pregnant.

now "en route" to Bahrain to relieve Brindell.

The Stark is currently tied up in Manama, Bahrain, where it is undergoing temporary repairs before sailing for home.

The Pentagon said Brindell had been ordered temporarily to report to the staff of the commander, U.S. Sixth Fleet, Atlantic Fleet, in Norfolk, Va.

Gagan and Moncrief have been ordered temporarily to the staff of the commander, Cruiser-Destroyer Group 12 in Mayport, Fla., the Stark's home port.

Brindell, 43, of Pittsburgh, Pa., was promoted to the rank of captain last January. He had commanded the Stark since Jan. 23, 1985.

Moncrief, 32, of Corpus Christi, Texas, and Gagan, 35, of Rockville, Md., recently received the Navy and Marine Corps Medal for heroism for their roles in directing fire-fighting efforts that saved the Stark in the wake of the Iraqi attack.

He hoped to raise a war chest of $200,000 to use in funding state candidates in 1988.

At the same time, former state legislator Donna Scott, who participated in a planning session with PAC 5, said she would work to defeat Rep. John Black, R-Twin Falls, and Rep. Doug Jones, R-Filer.

Folkings, Black, and Jones all said they had heard rumors that PAC 5 was responsible for distributing the report.

Black defeated Scott in the 1986 primary, and Jones, who managed Scott's first campaign, voted against a liability reform bill. She was a field coordinator for the liability reform group.

But Knighton said reports that the group is already targeting area lawmakers for political extinction are greatly exaggerated.

"We haven't targeted anybody," Knighton said. "We have not progressed to that point."

A PAC 5 brochure said the purpose of the group "is to demonstrate that government in Idaho is moving beyond its rightful functions, inhibiting our ability to produce and provide for ourselves, our families, and generations yet unborn."

Other goals and objectives include research and disclosure of information regarding the voting record of incumbent legislators, according to the PAC 5 brochure.

The brochure also said one of the main objectives of PAC 5 "is to elect legislators who have shown themselves to be fiscally responsible."

Knighton said one of the surprises of the legislative report card was how moderate Republican Sen. Dan Sen. John Peavey of Carey voted.

McRoberts voted for bills raising an estimated $36 million in taxes and fees, about $10 million lower than conservative Sen. Denton Drington, R-Declo.

Peavey was even lower, voting for an estimated $51 million in special use fees and taxes.

"That was a total surprise," Knighton said of McRoberts and Peavey.

month trial basis, Hohnhorst said Friday.

Sinkinson and Kuracina came to Idaho last year from California, where they had been practicing medicine. Kuracina said the family decided they did not want to raise their children in California, and they enjoy the rural life in Idaho. The couple and their two sons live in Hagerman.

"We will not have a full-fledged hospital, but we will have service to take care of our patients, especially the senior citizens," Hohnhorst said.

On June 8 the hospital cut back its staff to one full-time registered nurse, hospital Administrator Bonnie "Charlie" Cairns (also a registered nurse) and a half-time office clerk. The hospital is taking inpatient admissions when "medically appropriate," Hohnhorst said. A lab and X-ray technician and a licensed practical nurse will be on call.

He said the hospital has an operating contract with Hospital Corporation of America, which owns the Walter A. Aetion and Chemical Dependency Treatment Center, to provide the hospital with food service, laundry and housekeeping services. The two facilities are building each other, and also share bookkeeping services and a computer.

The ACT center functions under the county-owned GCMH acute care hospital license. The agreement for the center to provide the various support services is just the reverse of the original agreement when Walker center was built on state-owned land and joined to the hospital in 1980. Then GCMH provided the services, but Hohnhorst said the new arrangement makes it possible for the hospital to pay for the services as they are needed and thus cut operating costs.

At the meeting, a resident asked the commission if the financially embarrassed facility would have enough money to pay for the new emergency room service, and Hohnhorst said it is hoped the six-month trial period will prove the new service can pay its own way after it once gets going.

"We still have lots of old debts, but for the first time collections of accounts owed to the hospital will make the payroll payments this month," he told the group. "At least we're not still losing $20,000 a month."

Hohnhorst said after the meeting that the commission hopes to be able to pay the interest on a $150,000 bank loan made by First Security Bank to the hospital before Sept. 30.

The note is due in October, and Hohnhorst said the commission hopes to negotiate with the bank once the interest is paid. The commission assured the bank earlier this year the county would pay the loan regardless of the operating status of the hospital.

Court

learning of Friday's ruling.

He said the decision "recognizes that creationism statutes like Louisiana's represent nothing more than an effort to reintroduce religion into the public schools."

The court said the idea was clear that the Louisiana law "embodies the religious belief that a supernatural creator was responsible for the creation of humankind."

"It is not happenstance that the legislature required the teaching of a theory that coincided with this religious view," Brennan wrote.

He added that the law violates that portion of the Constitution's First Amendment banning a governmental "establishment of religion."

Chief Justice William H. Rehnquist and Justice Antonin Scalia dissented.

In an opinion for the two, Scalia said the Louisiana law should not have been invalidated before any trial was held. "The question of its constitutionality cannot rightly be disposed of on the gallop by impugning the motives of its supporters," he said.

At the meeting, a resident asked the commission if the financially embarrassed facility would have enough money to pay for the new emergency room service, and Hohnhorst said it is hoped the six-month trial period will prove the new service can pay its own way after it once gets going.

Tax collections running high

BOISE (AP) — With the end of the state's budget year less than two weeks away, collection of corporate and individual income taxes is running well above projections.

But with sales tax revenues still lagging significantly, Division of Financial Management analysts are being cautious about translating the revenue picture into a forecast for significant economic expansion in the state.

"In April and May we saw a substantial withholding surge in the range of 6 percent and yet employment increased by only about 1.5 percent," said chief economist Michael Ferguson.

That surge in the closing quarter of the fiscal year pushed income tax revenues to the point where they could total $1.1 billion over projections. But Ferguson believes the bulk of that increase has been the result of the new federal tax law and workers rejudging the amounts withheld for taxes from their paychecks.

Dog to join search on peak

MACKAY (AP) — A dog trained for avalanche work has been enlisted to help in the search for a Boise man presumed buried in a snowslide on Mount Borah last weekend.

David Probst, 38, was lost in Idaho's tallest peak last Saturday while descending with three companions, Jennifer Smith and Linda Clayborne, Boise, and Ben Childow, Ketchum. The party had climbed the 12,662-foot mountain earlier in the afternoon. Probst and Childow were considered experienced hikers.

Gale Lords, commander of the Ouster County Search and Rescue Organization's Mackay unit, said eight members of his unit and 10 members of the Idaho Mountain Rescue team, of which Probst was a member, would resume the search today. It was called off Monday due to adverse snow and weather conditions.

Paving scam warning issued

BOISE (AP) — Idaho homeowners, and especially the elderly, are being warned about unscrupulous contractors who sell poor quality, overpriced driveway paving and seal-coating jobs.

Attorney General Jim Jones said Friday several different groups of itinerant contractors have been reported in the state, probably unregistered and unlicensed. "We are putting out the warning early in hopes people can avoid being cheated," he said.

Jones said the pavers usually go door-to-door in areas with a large elderly population, telling homeowners they have asphalt left over from another job, and can repave driveways cheaply.

Pavers don't give written estimates in advance, and the final bill often is exorbitant, he said.

"Our best advice is not to deal with any home improvement contractor who approaches you at your door, who has out-of-state plates on his truck, and will not give a written estimate in advance," he said.

Weiser lawyer faces charges

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho attorney general's office has filed criminal charges accusing a Weiser lawyer of stealing more than $52,000.

The charges filed Wednesday follow the disbarment of Michael B. Sweet on April 30 for allegedly embezzling money from a trust account that he was managing for clients. He was disbarred by order of the Idaho Supreme Court.

On Wednesday, Deputy Attorney General David Minert filed a criminal complaint in 4th District Court charging Sweet with three counts of grand theft by unauthorized control. Sweet is accused of stealing more than $52,000.

Sweet, who is living in Sandy, Utah, is scheduled to appear in court June 29 for an arraignment.

Sweet faces a maximum 14-year prison sentence and a $5,000 fine for each of the three counts. Sweet also may be ordered to pay restitution, Minert said.

Ashton man dies in collision

By The Associated Press

A 25-year-old Ashton man was killed Thursday when his car was in a head-on collision with a logging truck about two miles south of Ashton.

Idaho State Police said Rodney John Gifford of Ashton was killed in Thursday's crash on U.S. Highway 20. Gifford was northbound about 7 a.m. when his car drifted over the center line and into the path of a southbound logging truck driven by Jim Thompson of Teton, said ISP Cpl. Arnold Young.

Senator assails tactics

IDAHO FALLS (AP) — Earth First!, the hard-line environmental group, is made up of "ecoterrorists" whose tactics are "no more noble than those of hostage-takers and kidnapers," says Sen. James McClure.

The Idaho Republican, in a speech Thursday on the Senate floor, charged the loosely knit organization with responsibility for the injury of a 23-year-old sawmill worker in California.

George Alexander of Hopland, Calif., suffered serious facial and neck injuries May 8 when he was struck by a jagged saw section after it ripped into a large nail hammered into a redwood log.

Some environmentalists who are opposed to logging drive spikes into trees to make milling them into lumber difficult. It was not known whether the spiking that injured Alexander was done by an Earth First! follower.

"People who condone and encourage this kind of so-called civil disobedience will continue to do so as long as our citizens and our government sit idly by and do nothing to stop it," McClure said. "Death resulting from an act such as this is no less final to an innocent victim than lost in a bombing or by a hijacker's bullet."

David Foreman, of Tucson, Ariz., a founder of the organization, said in a telephone interview that Earth First! is not a formal organization and does not have non-profit status. He personally publishes the Earth First! Journal as a part of his own private business.

McClure said Foreman's "cavalier manner" about human life is "despicable."

Foreman said McClure's speech shows that Earth First! is being effective.

"For someone like Jim McClure to acknowledge our existence and then condemn it, he couldn't give us a nicer compliment."

"If George won't, maybe Jonquill."

NRA members, Andrus exchange another salvo of accusations

BOISE (AP) — Members of the National Rifle Association continued their criticism of Gov. Cecil Andrus on Friday, saying the governor has made "utterly false and misleading" statements about the organization.

Andrus, saying, "I am not going to be intimidated" countered later in the day that the NRA leadership has gotten out of touch with the views of its Idaho members.

"Their national leaders have left the Idaho sportsmen," he said.

At a news conference here Friday, Idaho NRA leaders and Andrus continued to swap charges in a dispute which has been running for several weeks.

In a recent interview, Andrus depleted members of the NRA as "gun nuts" and said unpopular policy decisions were being forced on Idaho members by out-of-state leaders.

Later, Andrus told a Democratic Party gathering that the NRA endorsed his opponent, Republican David Leroy in the governor election last fall, and said there would be "retribution" because of that.

George Detweiler, Twin Falls lawyer who recently ended a six-year stint as a national director of NRA, called that statement "utterly false and misleading."

He said the NRA endorsed Leroy based on his response to a questionnaire sent all candidates before last year's election. Members graded Leroy's answers as an "A" grade, but Andrus' response earned him only a "D" later upgraded to "C-minus," he said.

Al Marlon, president of the Idaho Hunters Association, said Andrus was downgraded in large part because members felt he was soft on gun control.

Marlon said Andrus responded that in the instance of so-called "Saturday night specials" or cheap handguns, he would favor making the purchaser wait 72 hours before obtaining possession to allow police to make background checks for criminal records.

Later, Andrus distributed copies of the questionnaire, which he signed on Sept. 5, 1986, two months before the election.

In the first five questions, Andrus said he was flatly opposed to any form of gun control.

Customer ballots due on telephone carriers

By MARK PRATTER
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Telephone customers in the Twin Falls area have until Tuesday to select long-distance company for out-of-state calls.

The 16,000 customers in the area should have received ballots in the mail allowing them to select AT&T, Comnet, Inc. or MCI as their long-distance carrier, said Steve Guerber, Mountain Bell spokesman. Exchanges 734, 735, 736, 737 and 738 are affected, he said.

Balloting is required as part of the court-ordered breakup of the Bell System. The idea is to ensure equal access to long-distance service, he said.

Part of the court guidelines require Mountain Bell to handle the balloting in the region. Mountain Bell will receive a substantial portion of its revenue in the Twin Falls area from access charges paid by long-distance carriers who use Mountain Bell's network.

Volco, building supply company on Highland Avenue, learned of its choices two weeks ago and made a selection of a long-distance carrier, said Don Hammer, controller.

He declined to name the company selected but said Volco figures it will save a total of $2,700 at its Twin Falls and Jerome stores by its selection.

Hammer said the whole selection process was annoying and he was particularly irked by television advertisements months ago that told customers they have to make their choice momentarily.

People should make their choices just as if they were shopping for any other product, Guerber said. People should consider price and features offered by each company, he said.

Other factors to consider are the sound quality of the calls. One company may be cheaper for calls to Salt Lake City but more expensive for a call to Los Angeles. Each long-distance carrier will quote rates on sample calls.

Effective Aug. 29, Twin Falls telephone customers will be able to have their calls routed through their designated carrier simply by dialing 1 plus the area code and number, Guerber said. Presently this can only be done through AT&T. New Mountain Bell switching equipment will automatically route the call through the proper carrier.

For those who don't select a long-distance company by the deadline, Mountain Bell will pick one based on percentages for each company by those who voted: So if 10 percent of those who voted pick company X, 10 percent of those who didn't vote will be assigned to company X.

Even if a customer picks one long-distance company, he or she can still have access to the others to take advantage of better pricing on certain calls, said Guerber.

Dial 1-0-283 plus the area code and number to obtain AT&T access. Comnet access is 1-0-059 plus the area code and number and MCI access 1-0-222 plus the area code and number, Guerber said.

Boise, Ketchum-Sun Valley, Declo and Burley have already switched to 1-plus dialing and done their balloting.

Another option for Twin Falls telephone customers is using other companies such as Sprint in addition to the ones selected or assigned. The customer would have to dial an 800 number before dialing the area code and long-distance number.

Guerber refused to say which company was winning in the balloting at this point.

"Across the country eight out of 10 people have chosen AT&T. Your area is no exception," said Roger Frizell, AT&T public relations manager.

Nationally 10 to 12 percent of the residential customers and 15 to 20 percent of the commercial customers have selected MCI, said Gail Wallace, senior corporate communications spokesman.

Worksite policies limiting smoking spread locally

By CLAUDINE CHAMBERLAIN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Some policies are formal and others are just casual agreements between workers, but on-the-job segregation of smokers and non-smokers is increasing among local workplaces.

Even though a bill before the state Legislature to establish on-the-job smoking policies didn't make it out of committee in this year's session, the health hazards of secondary smoke inhalation have prompted employers to form policies on their own.

Encouraged by the success of the Idaho Clean Indoor Air Act in 1986, a coalition of health agencies campaigned this year to expand smoking restrictions to the workplace. The act made public smoking permissible only in designated areas.

Ron Black, R-Twin Falls, said a bill came through the House Health and Welfare committee but was kept from a floor vote by committee defeat its first year and a tie vote the second.

The bill mandated the establishment of smoking and non-smoking areas in the workplace to protect the employer's ability to employ as he or she desires, he said.

Black, who serves on the Health and Welfare committee, said he hopes to have the bill in committee again in 1988. "I think it will have a better chance next year. One or two votes have to change and I think they will," he said.

"I think we had enough votes to pass the bill in the House and Senate, but it just didn't get out of committee," he added.

Even without the bill, local employers have decided to protect the health of their non-smoking employees by establishing both formal and informal policies. In some cases, such policies will lower insurance rates, Black said.

Idaho Power employees will be subject to smoking restrictions starting July 1, said division manager Jack Miller. The company will ban smoking in conference rooms, classrooms, auditoriums and confined common use areas such as elevators, hallways, stairwells and waiting rooms.

"It's just a trend. People are becoming more aware that smoking is bad for your health," Miller said.

No comment from the employees has been received, but the policy is "pretty flexible" and complaints will be taken care of, he added.

In individual situations, employees can discuss the problem, and the policy may be changed to accommodate smokers, he said. Approximately 60 percent of Idaho Power employees don't smoke, he said.

The company's motivation for establishing an on-the-job smoking policy was the number of utility companies doing the same thing. "We're one of the last companies to do this. Most utility companies already have policies," Miller said.

Magic Valley Regional Medical Center is another employer with an established on-the-job smoking policy. The only area specifically designated for smoking is a section of tables in the cafeteria, said Mitch Bausman, assistant administrator for support services.

Smoking may be allowed in other areas, such as floor lounges, but special permission must first be obtained from the safety department, he said. Smoking is permitted but strongly discouraged in the patients' rooms, he added.

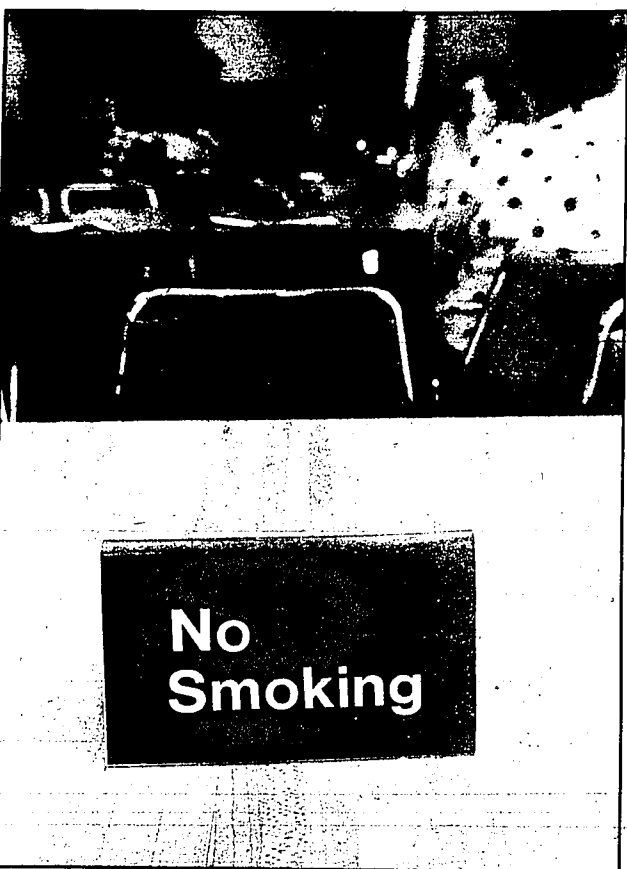

The MVRMC smoking policy is reviewed every year and was completely rewritten this year to comply with the Idaho Clean Indoor Air Act. "Stronger language" is included in the new policy, Bausman said.

The policy reads, "No employee that deals directly with patients or the public may smoke."

The hospital has looked at making the entire building a no-smoking zone, but too many people had "the infliction of smoking," he said.

"It seemed strange to be holding ourselves to wellness and let people smoke at the same time," Bausman said.

The smoking policies at the College of Southern Idaho only cover the restrictions of the clean air act, said public relations director Annette Jenkins.

Magic Valley Regional Medical Center's cafeteria has smoking and non-smoking areas.

When the bill was passed, CSI established smoking and non-smoking sections in the cafeteria and other public places, but decisions about offices and secretarial areas were left to the employees.

"There's nothing in writing. It's just generally understood that people don't eat, drink or smoke at their desks," she said.

Secretaries and receptionists have specified break times when they go to designated areas to smoke, she added. "There are so many people who smoke anymore that it's not really a problem," Jenkins said.

Fugitive wanted for questions on murder

By The Associated Press

LA GRANDE, Ore. — A man sought in the murder of one Washington woman and in the disappearance of another is wanted for questioning in the death of a Twin Falls woman whose nude body was found along an Eastern Oregon freeway, authorities said Friday.

Darren Dee O'Neill, a 27-year-old, self-styled mountain man from Edgewood, Wash., is "being looked at" by a number of agencies as a possible suspect in a number of other killings, said Oregon State Police Lt. Gerald Hays.

"We're not calling him a suspect, although we do definitely want to talk to him," Hays said.

O'Neill was seen in Mountain Home, Idaho, the day 22-year-old Lila Elizabeth Szubert disappeared after her car broke down near a truck stop, Hays said.

The Boise woman's body was found June 13 at the bottom of an embankment along Interstate 84 about 10 miles southeast of La Grande.

Szubert was driving from Twin Falls to Boise June 9 when her car broke down near a truck stop in Mountain Home. Idaho State Police found the car along I-84 with its emergency lights flashing.

Police said Szubert was reported missing Friday. She called to her fiancé, Duane Abbott, at a Boise airport later in the day. She had planned to move to San Diego with Abbott.

District Attorney Russell B. West of Union County, Ore., said O'Neill carries a .357 Magnum revolver and has a fascination with knives. Authorities who searched his Washington apartment found a large number of novels by Western author Louis L'Amour.

O'Neill has been charged with first-degree murder in the slaying of Robin Smith, 22, of Des Moines, Wash. Smith's skeletal remains were found in mid-May in a wooded area near Mount Rainier.

Pierce County Deputy Prosecutor Tom Felgado said a charge of second-degree possession of stolen property also has been filed against O'Neill in that case.

O'Neill's fingerprints also were found inside the car of Wendy Auhge, a 29-year-old Bellingham, Wash., woman who disappeared April 24, said Bellingham Police Chief Terry Mangum.

AIC conference airs development ideas

By PAT MARCANTONIO
Times-News writer

SUN VALLEY — Look to community assets for economic development, Boise Mayor Dirk Kempthorne told delegates to the 40th Annual Conference of the Association of Idaho Cities on Friday in Sun Valley.

T.L. "Les" Purce of Idaho State University said look to higher institutions.

State Rep. Jerry Decker of Eagle said look to private enterprise.

And, Sun Valley-Ketchum Chamber of Commerce Director Wendy Jaquet said look to tourism and in your own backyard.

Jaquet said tourism was the state's third biggest industry. While tourism is not the answer for all communities, it can be nurtured.

Comments should identify what they have to offer in terms of attractions and events, and then improve, develop and promote them, she said.

She and her family had a difficult time finding Balanced Rock near Castleford because of inadequate signage. When she did find it, there was garbage scattered around the rock, she said.

Yet, the attraction was on the map of Idaho's tourist attractions, she said.

The City of Rocks near Burley has dirt roads and no bathrooms, Jaquet said.

Andrus supports raid on water fund

The Associated Press

SUN VALLEY — Gov. Cecil Andrus told delegates to the Association of Idaho Cities convention here Friday he had a choice between depriving Idaho's cities and counties of an important source of revenue in the next state budget, or taking money from the Water Pollution Control Fund.

He said he decided to use money from the fund, which local government uses to cover some of the cost of water and sewage system improvements.

Andrus was the keynote speaker

Friday in the opening day of the AIC's 40th annual convention, which continues through Saturday. Rep. Larry Craig, R-Idaho, is featured speaker on Saturday.

Starting July 1, Idaho's sales tax rate will be 3 percent on a permanent basis. This year, the sales tax temporarily was set at 5 percent. But revenue from the fifth cent of the tax was not put through the distribution formula used for other sales tax revenue.

That cost local government more than $8 million.

Andrus said some members of the Operators of area museums should be providing interesting tours and aggressive advertisements, he said.

Jaquet suggested communities make plans for celebrating the state's centennial a celebration that will attract people.

"Sit down and plan, commit and then evaluate to see if it worked," Jaquet said.

The River Valley knows the value of tourism.

The Sun Valley-Ketchum Chamber has an annual budget of more than $300,000, led by dues, local-option tax and appropriations from the cities, she said.

Purce said the state's universities can provide technical assistance to economic development efforts of communities. University faculties and facilities are available tools to help solve economic problems, he said.

In smaller communities there is especially a burden on a handful of leaders to "do more and more in economic development," Purce said.

"The universities' duty of training and retraining people for jobs will be even more important in the future," he added.

But the university is only one of the key components in the effort to improve the Idaho economy, Purce said. The cities and state are the others.

Kempthorne said cities should take an inventory of their assets.

Idaho is often at the bottom of lists when it comes to education funding, he said. But two of the teachers chosen by NASA's teacher in space program were from Idaho.

The quality of life, an Idaho asset, is becoming more important to companies to help them attract and retain employees, he said.

Cities can make or break a deal when attracting new business, the mayor added. He urged department heads to sit down with potential new industries so there will be no surprises.

"You can make a project go or put the ax on it."

Yet, cities that make a "sweet deal" and give away everything, like free sewer connections to attract new business, may live to regret it when the companies take the sewer system to capacity.

Kempthorne said he didn't wait for the companies to come to Boise. He went to the companies.

On a trip to New York, he visited officials of large corporations with the message, "The welcome mat is out in Idaho."

From a legislative view, said Decker, the state wasn't in a position to create and improve the state's economy. Instead, it produced incentives and acts as a catalyst.

Blaine officials seek seized plane's return

By BART JANSEN

TWIN FALLS — Two Blaine County officials have asked for the return of their plane, seized May 20 by the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Blaine County Commissioner Robert Gardner and Planning and Zoning Commissioner Nick Purdy filed separate petitions in U.S. District Court in Boise for return of the plane. Both are represented by Hattley attorney Keith Roark.

"We believe the property should be restored," Roark said in an affidavit filed Friday.

PUC slates hearing in hydropower dispute

The Associated Press

BOISE — The Idaho Public Utilities Commission has tentatively set a July 24 hearing here on a contract dispute between a Twin Falls company and Idaho Power Co.

Cook Electric Inc., which operates a hydroelectric generating project at Magic Reservoir Dam, wants the PUC to force Idaho Power to sign a contract to purchase its electricity. The generator is scheduled to produce just under 10 megawatts. A contract to purchase its electricity from the PUC is scheduled to expire on July 24.

In a recent order, the PUC temporarily suspended the requirement, which it conducts at a public utility, into whether the policy needs to be changed.

"We're pre-hearing conference in Boise Friday afternoon, the PUC announced a pre-hearing of the issues have been resolved."

IRS gives church profits a once-over

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the eyes of the IRS, the business is used to finance church projects. As a result, a church can be covered a general rule, a church may not operate a restaurant, for example, without paying taxes on secular humanists or a more traditional collection of Baptists, Catholics or Jews.

The Internal Revenue Code defines the phrase on "small-order ministries," which is a church and nothing that gives the IRS authority to audit individuals as ministers and counsel them to question the beliefs of those claiming to be to avoid taxation by turning over all their assets to a church. In fact, a church does not even have to be a church to receive the tax exemption — if a church decides to apply for a tax exemption — if a church decides to apply for a tax exemption.

If you are thinking of creating your own church as a tax dodge, keep in mind:

- The IRS will revoke the exemption of a church's activities if they are used to provide a personal enrichment of any individual.
- There are limits on churches' ability to operate tax-exempt businesses. The business case from its Heritage USA theme park at Fort Mill, S.C., and rental of PTL's satellite-cable for being; it is not enough that earnings from the PTL is negotiating with IRS to retain its tax exemption, since losing it probably would doom the ministry. Even if it revoked the exemption, the IRS is not likely to try to collect back taxes from previous contributors who took tax deductions for their donations.

Churches historically have been free from federal income taxes because of their charitable nature and because the Constitution's First Amendment prohibits government interference in the free exercise of religion. Until 1969, the IRS could not even audit churches, and churches were free to operate every kind of business without paying taxes on the earnings.

"Federal law affecting churches is rational" but has not always been as carefully and systematically enforced as it ought to be," says the Rev. Dean Kelley of Long Island, N.Y., director of religious and civil liberties for the National Council of Churches.

Definition of 'church' not set for tax court

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although Congress has discipline, a distinct religious history; a most recently in a case involving the Foundation never defined "church" for purposes of tax law, membership not associated with any other of Humanism in Los Angeles.

The Internal Revenue Code defines a church; and an organization of ordained ministers. Also, a church must have: ministers who are selected after completing prescribed studies; a church does not have to file annual reports to the IRS; and the church must be established by its members.

The agency determining whether an organization fits: regular congregations; regular religious different standards for deductibility of contributions; Sunday schools for religious instruction (for the young); and schools for preparation of its ministers.

Several federal courts have relied on the guidelines to decide cases, while specifying that a distinct legal existence; a recognized creed and code of worship; a distinct ecclesiastical government; a formal code of doctrine and has in certain cases disagreed with the IRS, a church, the court concluded.

The IRS had recognized the foundation as a tax-exempt religious organization but had refused to grant preferential status as a church. (A church does not have to file annual reports to the IRS; and the church must be established by its members.)

Last month, a majority of the Tax Court disagreed. "Despite the breadth of... (the foundation's) broadcasting and publishing efforts, its essential character is that of a church," the court said.

The public is invited to attend.

SBC moderates continue fight

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Southern Baptists came to their 130th annual session hoping that conservative and moderate factions would make peace, but they ended the convention Thursday St. Louis divided as ever.

"Moderates will be back at the San Antonio meeting next year, we have battle will continue with more intensity," predicted Lynn P. Clayton, editor of the Baptist Messenger of Alexandria, La.

"The moderates will continue the fight but I don't see the pendulum swinging back the other way for two to three years," she said. "Not until (President) Reagan is out of office and Pat Robertson is out of the political scene."

The SBC is under the control of fundamentalists who insist on a Moore, of Amarillo, Texas, a fundamentalist who has led the United Methodist Church in the United States and consolidated their gains during the three-day meeting of about 25,000 delegates, or "messengers" from all 50 states, and several foreign countries.

The Rev. Adrian Rogers, a conservative from Memphis, Tenn., was elected to his second year as executive one-year term, permitting him to continue to appoint fundamentalists to important posts on boards, agencies and committees controlled by the 14.6 million-member denomination.

The struggle for such domination has been going on for the nine annual sessions hoping that conservative and moderate factions would make peace, but they ended the convention Thursday St. Louis divided as ever.

The primary accomplishment of the conservatives during the St. Louis meeting was the passage Tuesday of a report from a Peace Committee, which was created with the stated purpose of helping the feuding sides reconcile their differences.

The moderates bristled at what they see as fundamentalists' efforts to freeze them out of positions on SBC boards. The moderates are also unhappy that the Peace Committee granted three more years of accreditation to monitor compliance with its 10 recommendations.

The committee originally had 22 members. But one, Winfred Moore, of Amarillo, Texas, a fundamentalist who has led the United Methodist Church in the United States and consolidated their gains during the three-day meeting of about 25,000 delegates, or "messengers" from all 50 states, and several foreign countries.

The Rev. Adrian Rogers, a conservative from Memphis, Tenn., was elected to his second year as executive one-year term, permitting him to continue to appoint fundamentalists to important posts on boards, agencies and committees controlled by the 14.6 million-member denomination.

Rev. Herb Morris sets date for retirement from ministry

TWIN FALLS — Rev. Herb Morris, former pastor of the Twin Falls United Methodist Church, is retiring from the ministry at the end of June.

He and his wife, the former Betty McFarlane, will be honored June 28 in a luncheon at the Twin Falls United Methodist Church in Canby, Ore., where he has served the past seven years.

Morris, 64, is completing 37 years in the ministry. He served the Twin Falls church from 1970 to 1974. Betty Morris worked in the courthouse where they lived when in Canby. He has served churches in Washington, D.C.; Duluth, Minn.; New Jersey, Oregon and Idaho.

A new church facility was built in Canby, Ore., which will be replaced by Rev. Meredith Groves, also a former Idaho pastor.

One of the Morris' three children, Mary Elizabeth Jones, lives in Twin Falls.

Jackson says pilot to go free

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Rev. Jesse Jackson said Friday night that an American pilot held by the Angolan government since April 21 will be freed soon, "maybe by week's end."

The Democratic presidential hopeful said the Angolan government demanded that he go to the African nation to be on hand for the release of Joseph Longo of Greensburg, Pa.

"We talked to the vice minister of foreign affairs and they have agreed to release him," Jackson told the annual meeting of the Americans for Democratic Action.

State Department spokeswoman Deborah Carvin said Jackson told U.S. officials Friday morning of the Angolan statement.

"While we have no independent confirmation, we certainly hope it is true," she said.

Longo, 33, had been held by Pilot International in Wichita, Kan., to deliver a Beechcraft airplane to a South African firm. He apparently strayed over Angola and was forced down.

May deficit largest in year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government ran up a $35.7 billion deficit in May, the largest imbalance in a year, the Treasury Department reported Friday.

The deficit followed a record surplus of $38.7 billion in April, the one month each year when the government is in the black because of the big flow of tax payments.

The May deficit was the largest flow of red ink since a $39.4 billion deficit in May 1986.

For the first eight months of the current budget year, the deficit totals $119 billion, down 28 percent from the $165.8 billion deficit run up during the same period in the 1986 budget year.

The 1986 deficit hit a record $220.7 billion. The Reagan administration is forecasting that will decline to $173.2 billion this year.

Army grounds Apache ships

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army late Friday issued a safety message to its aviation units, directing a temporary grounding of Apache helicopter gunships pending inspection and replacement of certain parts.

The "safety of flight" message was issued following an investigation of two minor mishaps involving the advanced attack chopper at Fort Rucker, Ala., earlier this month, said Maj. Phil Soucy, an Army spokesman.

Army units are being told not to allow any Apache to fly until its "engine electrical wiring harness" is replaced and other related components inspected, Soucy said.

The work is expected to take only about four hours per helicopter and most should be returned to service quickly, the spokesman added.

Arms spending keeps rising

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite economic problems, the nations of the world stepped up their spending on arms to nearly $900 billion in 1985, an increase of 3.7 percent from the previous year, the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency estimated Friday.

The United States and the Soviet Union, which together account for more than half the weapons sales, continued to run neck-and-neck. Over the 1981-1985 period, the Soviets sold $55.7 billion worth of arms, or nearly 30 percent of weapons purchased by all nations.

The United States, meanwhile, sold $49.2 billion, or 25 percent, but was ahead of the Soviets in two of the years, 1983 and 1985.

The U.S. and Soviet-led alliances — the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Warsaw Pact — accounted for 77.3 percent of military spending in 1984, the last year for which detailed statistics were compiled.

Pay rules attacked by suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO sued Friday to prevent the Labor Department from setting wages for foreign farm laborers at rates it contends will cut the pay of many U.S. agricultural workers.

A motion for a temporary restraining order against the Labor Department's June 1 regulations for foreign farm workers was filed in U.S. District Court.

The lawsuit contends that the new method of calculating the so-called "adverse effect wage rate" for foreign migrant workers will reduce the pay of other agricultural workers.

The new regulations were promulgated to take effect with the new immigration law, which requires the Labor Department to ensure that foreign farm workers do not undercut the wages of domestic agricultural laborers.

Such wage protection was previously part of Labor Department regulations but was not codified in law, according to the lawsuit.

The suit comes as West Coast growers face one of the worst shortages of farm labor in 25 years. Confusion over the new immigration bill combined with an early crop of perishable fruit has contributed to the labor crisis.

The West Virginia Legal Services Plan of Martinsburg, W.Va., joined in the lawsuit on behalf of several farm laborers.

"Basic laws of supply and demand dictate that, absent adequate wage protections, the importation of a large supply of foreign workers will tend to depress average wages in the areas they are employed," the suit said.

"Plaintiffs who work long hours at low wages and are now barely able to feed their families can ill-afford such a drastic reduction in their earnings," said the lawsuit, in which the Migrant Legal Action Program took part.

To discourage the importation of cheap foreign labor, the adverse effect wage rate was traditionally set at higher than prevailing local farm wages.

Jury clears patrolman in shooting of fellow officer

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A jury on Friday found a patrolman innocent of murder in the slaying of a fellow officer who was accused of being a vigilante plotting to kill several top police officials.

Farrrell Tucker, who was standing in his chair and put his hands to his face when the panel pronounced him innocent in the death of his best friend, Stephen R. Smith.

Tucker's friends and relatives stood and cheered the verdict, reached after five hours of deliberations.

The slaying cost two police chiefs their jobs and sparked an $8 million lawsuit by 11 families who claimed they were victims of Smith's vigilante attacks.

In their final arguments, prosecutors said Tucker, 36, probably killed Smith, 31, to save his own job. Tucker said he shot Smith in self-defense.

ETIQUETTE
You know those "Keep Off The Grass" signs. First of same was a card — Walk here, but don't walk there — put out by the Scottish gardener of France's King Louis IV. The French word for card is "etiquette." Such French cards with instructions on how to behave gave us our use of the word "etiquette."

Daily Horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A wonderful day to enjoy some favorite activities, and possibly to get a new angle on them. If you're enthusiastic today, you could win a lot of support from friends.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): It's a good day to stick with what you know and to proceed in a familiar manner. New friends can make this a great day.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Keep your romantic nature on the surface today; your mate has seen far too little of it lately.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): You love to socialize, so get out and visit. Today is a good day for lively activities, friends, and fun.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): You can accomplish much today if you look for the chances. Ask for help or support if you need it.

LEO (July 22 to August 21): Be extra willing to make changes if they're beneficial, and finally arrange that trip you've put off for so long.

VIRGO (August 22 to September 22): If you get the help of a business expert, a scheme you dreamed up can become reality. Try to work with your mate.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22): Community prestige can be yours if you enlist the support of some well-known personalities and close friends.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21): If you think your ideas have a lot of merit, they probably do today. You may need extra rest tomorrow.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21): Some special thought for your mate can alleviate the tension which has been building up.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20): Start a home project that can be finished quickly. This will help the whole family feel a sense of accomplishment.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19): A good day to stay around people who please you, as long as you please them. These friends can help you.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20): Someone nearby is successful in your area of interest. Seeking out this person's help would be extremely prudent.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY: he, or she, will have an innate ability to recognize and understand developing trends. Your child's enthusiastic nature, however, may create a tendency to leave projects unfinished. Teach your progeny to be reliably early training in mathematics would help.

Kansas contractor to present plan to restore Bakker as leader at PTL

PORT MILL, S.C. (AP) — Plans to reorganize the PTL ministry will be challenged in bankruptcy court by its largest creditor, who said Friday that only Jim Bakker "can make this ministry work."

Rose Messner, a Wichita, Kan., building contractor who claims he is owed $14 million by PTL, met in secret with Bakker on Thursday night for more than two hours at a $1.5 million PTL-owned parsonage in Tega Cay where Bakker and his wife, Tammy Faye, are staying. Cable News Network reported.

Jews demand to meet pope

NEW YORK (AP) — Leaders of major Jewish groups said Friday they would refuse to share a stage with Pope John Paul II this September unless the first meets with them over his decision to receive Austrian President Kurt Waldheim, whom they called "an unrepentant Nazi."

struction at the Heritage Village hotel, Nims said.

PTL's business managers were given 120 days in which to present their reorganization plan to the bankruptcy court in Columbia.

PTL leaders last week blamed the ministry's $72 million in debts on Bakker's "chaotic mismanagement."

ment." Bakker resigned in disgrace and turned the ministry over to Falwell in March amid a sex and money scandal, and Falwell repeatedly has said Bakker's return would destroy PTL.

After leaving PTL, Bakker was defrocked by his denomination, the Assemblies of God.

Court documents filed so far in the case say PTL is $72 million in debt, with Messner the largest creditor.

Federal court jury finds Warner innocent of 18 charges

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Marvin Warner was found innocent Friday of 18 federal charges stemming from a savings and loan collapse in 1985 that triggered a statewide financial crisis in Ohio.

The former U.S. ambassador to Switzerland was acquitted of all charges in an 18-count indictment resulting from business dealings between Warner's Home State Savings Bank and a Florida securities firm. Warner's wife and daughters were named in the indictment.

Warner was charged with one count of conspiracy, 15 counts of wire fraud and two counts of interstate movement of fraudulently obtained funds. The maximum combined penalty on those counts was 30 years in prison. He was previously sentenced to 31 years in prison on state charges and ordered to pay $22 million restitution.

The indictment accused Warner of obtaining fraudulently generated money from ESM Government Securities Inc. of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Liberian tanker strikes mine

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) — A Liberian supertanker loaded with Kuwaiti oil struck a mine off Kuyali Friday but sustained only minor damage, Persian Gulf-based maritime salvage executives reported.

They said the 973,406-ton Stena Explorer struck the mine in Kuwait's main oil shipping channel about 30 miles from the Kuwait mainland.

The vessel was not severely damaged and probably would return to Kuwait, under its own power, said the executives.

Earlier Friday, the London-based Lloyd's Shipping Intelligence Unit reported that the U.S. Naval Hydrographic Office in Washington had issued an official warning to American mariners to "exercise extreme caution" in Kuwait's main oil shipping channel because of the presence of mines.

Soviets pushing 'Star Wars'

LONDON (AP) — There is growing evidence the Soviet Union has made greater advances in developing "Star Wars" technology than previously thought, Jane's Military Communications reports in its latest edition, published Friday.

The authoritative military guide says recent photographs taken near the Afghan border suggest the Soviets' laser capabilities may exceed anything developed by the United States and its allies. It did not elaborate.

Star Wars, formally known as the Strategic Defense Initiative, is a space-based defense system for the future that would use satellites and laser beams to knock out nuclear missiles.

Jane's also says a radar facility in the Caucasus Mountains of the Soviet Union may be large and sophisticated enough to provide anti-ballistic missile battle management capabilities that would breach treaty obligations of the late 1970s.

Plane thought to be Finnish

LONDON (AP) — When West German teen-ager Mathis Rust penetrated Soviet airspace in a small plane and headed for Moscow, a Soviet pilot sent to intercept him identified the aircraft as Finnish, Jane's Defense Weekly says.

In its June 29 issue, Jane's said a second Soviet fighter apparently scrambled at the same time, but it failed to make contact and Rust flew on to land in Red Square.

"The reports of the Soviet fighter pilots to their controller were monitored by Western intelligence-gathering sources and the wrong identification of Rust's aircraft evidently caused confusion and hesitation among Soviet regional air defense authorities," the authoritative defense weekly said.

West Germany's red-black-and-yellow flag was painted on Rust's single-engine Cessna. The Finnish flag is white with a blue cross.

Finland and the Soviet Union have close relations, and the Soviets might have been reluctant to shoot down a Finnish plane.

Chun's government threatens tough measures

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — The government threatened Friday to take tough action against protesters and reported the first death in 10 days of violence — a policeman killed when a protester rammed a stolen bus into a riot squad.

In the streets around a Seoul university, both students and riot policemen flung themselves to the pavement in exhaustion, watching each other warily, after a fight that had lasted hours.

National police said Park Dong-jin, 21, was killed and three members of his squad were injured by the bus in Taejon. A student hit by a tear gas canister — last week — remains hospitalized in Seoul, in a coma according to doctors but brain dead according to news reports.

The Korean news agency Yonhap said at least 35 policemen were injured when about 2,000 protesters overran their unit in the southern port of Pusan, stripped them of their weapons and equipment and made a bonfire of the riot gear.

At least seven police stations around the country in their campaign to bring down the government of President Chun Doo-hwan and force democratic elections.

Prime Minister Lee Han-kye said in the first major official statement since the trouble began June 10 that the government will not tolerate disorder and will take whatever steps necessary to restore stability.

"Should it become impossible to restore law and order... it would be inevitable for the government to make an extraordinary decision," he said, without giving details.

Newspapers have said the government is considering rule by emergency decree or even martial law, but officials have declined public comment on those reports.

Saturday editions said U.S. Ambassador James Lilley gave Chun a letter from President Reagan urging moderation and resumption of talks with the opposition on political reform.

Limited amnesty in USSR

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union decreed Friday a limited prison amnesty to mark the 70th anniversary of the Russian Revolution, but it did not say how many people were involved or whether political prisoners were included.

The government decree, published in the government's daily Izvestia newspaper, appeared to cover more prisoners than previous releases.

But dissidents and a government spokesman said they didn't know how many people would benefit and were not yet certain to whom it applied.

The complex decree was issued by the Supreme Soviet, the nominal parliament. It occupied a quarter-page in Izvestia and was signed by Soviet President Andrei A. Gromyko.

Like other amnesties proclaimed for state holidays over the years, the latest order listed numerous exceptions, such as prisoners convicted of "especially dangerous crimes against the state."

That exception includes the "anti-Soviet agitation and propaganda" law under which many dissidents and human rights activists have been sentenced to prison and labor camp.

Watson ties for U.S. Open lead; Nicklaus trails by 1 stroke

By MIKE DOWNEY
Los Angeles Times

SAN FRANCISCO— Never mind that Mark Wiebe went out there in his white, high-necked sweat shirt and took a hunk of the U.S. Open's second-round lead. Never mind that Jim Thorpe went out there with that mess-up hand of his, shot 68 and wound up one stroke behind. Never mind that Mister Masters, Larry Mize, shot 68 and kept a glimmer of two about a Grand Slam.

That's not what's interesting. This is what's interesting: Tom Watson is the co-leader.

And Jack Nicklaus is one stroke back.

Tom is back. Jack is back. Alert the pack. Somebody phone Arnie. Tell him anything is possible. Tell him Watson is a 5-under-par 65 Friday on the second day of the U.S. Open golf tournament at the Olympic Club. Tell him Nicklaus shot a 68. Tell Palmer to point his leg toward San Francisco, rent a car from O.J. Simpson and high-tail it over here.

"I don't think there's been any doubt that I would be back," said Watson, who hasn't won a tournament since the 1964 Western Open. "It's just been a matter of when."

"I knew the two of us would be laying somewhere on Saturday, I just didn't know where," said Nicklaus, who hasn't won anything except the 1986 Masters in three years. "I thought I was playing terrible and he was playing worse."

All the Greg Norman and Seve Ballesteroses the world seemed to be playing great. They were supposed to leave Watson and Nicklaus at play at 2 p.m. and Twin Falls and Powell at 6. The top four teams after the first three days of competition will advance to Sunday's final rounds, which means that the Cowboys will have to hope tonight in order to have a chance to hang around until Sunday.

Bagley retired the Pioneers in early third inning, in the sixth and ninth innings, but he did allow a run after the second. He put the leadoff batters on base in the first, third, fourth and fifth innings and allowed three hits, walked six and struck out two to pick up first victory in three decisions this year.

Minico, meanwhile, scored three unearned runs in the second and third innings, but he got the ninth when Craig Anderson singled home Scott Knapp, who had walked, and Bagley, who had singled. They made it 10-2 in the fifth on five successful singles by Scott Condie, Knapp, Bagley, Kent Schow and Anderson, two errors and Kevin Condie's fielder's choice ground ball.

For the day, the Sage hammered and Hillcrest unbeaten in the tournament with 20 records, while Minico and Powell are 1-1 and Twin Falls and Treasure Valley are 0-2.

Minico, now 7-6 for the season, will collide with Bonanza this morn-

Beyond that, they didn't make enough money this year to cover their valet parking.

So, go ahead, call Arnie. Palmer lost the 1968 U.S. Open at Olympic. Even though he led by seven shots with nine holes to play, if these two guys can make a comeback, so can he.

Watson now shares the Open lead with Wiebe at 137, 3-under par, as a couple of redheads from nearby colleges show that there might be something to home-course advantage. Watson went to Stanford, Wiebe to San Jose State. They know this layout better than most.

A five-way tie for second place includes Nicklaus, Thorpe, Bernhard Langer, Tommy Nakajima and John Cook. Right behind, at 139, are Ben Crenshaw, the first-round leader; Mike, the Masters champion; Simpson, not O.J. but Scott, both of whom went USC, and Eastwood, not Clint but Bob, another San Jose State man, whose 66 was one of Friday's 23 par-busting rounds.

The scores here are getting low, lower, lowest, Sub-70 rounds Friday came from sources far less likely than Watson and Nicklaus. They came from people like Russ Cochran, a left-hander from Paducah, Ky., and Duffy Waldorf, the UCLA man from Los Angeles, and even Ed Dougherty of Linwood, Pa., who finished his round so late, he practically needed a flashlight to find his ball. "Too bad there wasn't a candle stick in the whole park."

Although Watson and Nicklaus were fine and dandy, respectively, it wasn't exactly Old Timers week. Six former Open champions — Hubert Green, Hale Irwin, Larry Nelson, Payne Stewart, Lee Trevino and Fuzzy Zoeller — were among those who missed the 36-hole cut.

And just because a golfer was hot didn't mean he could handle the chilly weather here. Paul Azinger, the tour's leading money winner, also missed the cut, as did favorite of many to be the leading American, Olympic did-give some people trouble.

Not Watson, though. Not Friday, anyway. He made a putt of close to 50 feet on the third hole, and long ones at the ninth and 11th as well. He bogeyed the 17th and still got to 65, only one stroke off the course record of 64 set by Rives McBees during the 1966 Open.

How long had it been since he had putted such a zeeen? Could he even remember?

"The last time I shot 65? No, I don't," Watson said. "Must have been a long time ago."

Actually, he carded a 64 at last year's Colonial. But just to show how erratic his game has been, two days before that 64, Watson shot a 72. His putting had gone to heck, and his confidence was not what it used to be.

On Wednesday, he and Nicklaus played a misery-loves-company practice round together. Nicklaus, however, also missed the cut, as did Bruce Edwards, Watson's caddy, said. "A week? How about just for four days?"

Running into Watson after Friday's round, Nicklaus slapped him on the back and said, "We've got to practice together more often."

Watson certainly did not expect to shoot so well, considering the state of his game and the state of the course. "When we had that dry, windy weather, I thought the scores would be a lot higher," he said. "I misjudged the golf course. The winning score will be under par. I'd be surprised if it's any lower than four to five shots under, but it'll definitely be under."

Wiebe, the co-leader, is a preppie with long red hair who, when in high school, would be told by his coaches to get a haircut, and would defy them by letting it grow longer. "I was sort of a semi-rebeller," he said. "Yes, my wife won't let me grow it any longer than this."

Wiebe, 23, also admits that he is "not a guy who wears golf clothes," which explains the trendy sweat shirt with the Australian Rules Football logo on the back.

Bagley goes the distance for Minico

T.F. drops second of toumey

By STEVE CRUMP
Times-News sports editor

TWIN FALLS— Jack Bagley, who has spent most of his brief American Legion and high school baseball career balling other pitchers, out of trouble, got to stick around for the duration Friday.

The 17-year-old Minico right-hander threw nine innings and 185 pitches in leading the Sage to a 10-2 victory over Powell, Wyo., in the second round of the Twin Falls American Legion Baseball Tournament at 6 p.m.

"I don't know if it's the first time he's pitched nine, but it's the first time he's pitched nine and gotten away with it," quipped assistant Sage Coach Russ Wright, who explained that Bagley got the start in part because Minico's No. 2 starter Dan Poulton hurt his arm. "He doesn't throw very hard, but he was throwing them far strikes today."

In other games Friday, Twin Falls' pitching troubles continued as the Cowboys blew an 8-1 lead and lost in Hillcrest of Sali Lake City, 15-8. In the third game, powerful Bonanza of Las Vegas, Nev., blanketed Treasure Valley of Ontario, Ore., 12-4.

That day's action left Bonanza and Hillcrest unbeaten in the tournament with 20 records, while Minico and Powell are 1-1 and Twin Falls and Treasure Valley are 0-2.

Minico, now 7-6 for the season, will collide with Bonanza this morn-

Twin Falls' Barry Smith slides into second, but Hillcrest's Darren Milne makes the force out in the sixth inning play ning at 10 at Frontier Field, while Treasure Valley and Hillcrest to play at 2 p.m. and Twin Falls and Powell at 6. bases loaded. Chatterton walked Brandon Hatfield to make it an 8-5 game, then gave up a two-run single to make it 8-7.

In in eighth, Chatterton walked three of first four batters in faced, leading the bases again for Hatfield, the cleanup batter. Hatfield hit Chatterton's 2-1, offering over Ames' head in center field for a double, driving in two runs to give Hillcrest a 9-8 lead. Cowboys' Coach Mike Federici went to the bullpen again for Jay Sheppard, who struck out the first batter he faced on three pitches. But he walked Todd Asay on four pitches, uncorked a wild pitch that scored McMorris from third with the Huskies' 10th run and walked Kimura on a 3-2 pitch to load the bases again. Swapp hit an ground ball that scooted under the glove of third baseman Boomer Walker for an infield single, driving in Hatfield from third with the 11th run and reloading the bases. Then Haywood hit a check-swing grounder to the left side of the infield which Sheppard fielded and threw over first baseman Barry Williams' head, scoring Asay. Kimura and McMorris from third with the 12th run. Haywood scored on a wild pitch before Sheppard got the last out of the inning.

The Cowboys had little trouble with Hillcrest right-hander Walt Bills, who was making his first start for the Huskies. They scored a run in the first on singles by

Jerome's Rediker takes Magic Valley Amateur by 4 strokes

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS— The moment had been anticipated since a little Jerome County farm girl used to cross the road in front of her house, climb through a barbed wire fence and bum cart rides with adults around the Jerome Country Club.

That's how Julie Rediker learned to play—and she wasn't even a member of the club, at the old line goes.

It all culminated Friday when she won the Times-News Magic Valley Women's Golf Amateur championship and for a lot of reasons it will be a moment she will treasure.

Rediker shook off a sudden bogey plague midway through the second round of the five-day tournament at Canyon Springs Golf Course to win by four shots over Shauna Robinson of Twin Falls, and Sergene Sorenson of Burley and five over first-day co-leader Shirlee Straight-Twin Falls.

She carded an 83 and simply zipped past everyone after entering the day at 89 and four strokes off the pace. Rediker proved one of the few to improve on Thursday's opening round. Kelly Howa, who gave Canyon Springs some big hopes for a resident champion with an 85 Thursday, saw her hopes disappear in a 96.

"This definitely is my biggest win," said Rediker. "I've won some club championships, women's invitations and other things but this one was important to me for two reasons. One is because it is the first tournament for this area."

The other was in memory of her late California golf coach, who died of cancer Monday after helping refine her game for two years.

"I spent April playing the mini-tour (in California) as an amateur with him helping me," Rediker said.

The news that her coach had died of cancer led her to focus on this tournament to see "if I could put together all the things he taught me the last two years at least once. I'd always hear his voice in my mind telling me to slow down my swinging and the other things he helped me with. I felt it was all helping here."

Rediker, who fears work could spoil her hopes to participate in the state women's amateur in Burley in three weeks, said although she felt she was playing well most of the time, the victory "was totally unexpected. I kept watching behind our course (at the other contenders) and it looked to me like they were all hitting good shots. I finally decided to stop worrying about what was going on behind me, play the best I could and hope it would happen," she said with a smile.

She said the par four No. 2 hole probably provided the biggest swing in the net for her.

"Yesterday and today, both times on the second round, I hit my approach shot within a foot of the cup for easy birdies," she said. "Today I birdied No. 10 and 11. I was one under par through six holes but wheels started coming off. I went double bogey, bogey, bogey, bogey and I thought I had blown myself out of any chance. But I played the rest of the way in pretty respectably."

With Rediker winning gross at 174, Robinson and Sorenson had 176. In championship flight net, Straight's 145 was followed by Jackie Gasser, Twin Falls, 149, and Kelly Howa 150.

Jackie Schell led the home team with the first flight gross title at 185, followed by Justice Messersmith, Jerome, 197, and Cheri Webster, Twin Falls, 118, Clo Davis, Twin Falls, was the net champ at 141, seven strokes ahead of Roberta Robertson, Twin Falls, and Jewelene Toomey, Gooding, at 151.

In the second flight, Janet Cummings won gross at 197 with America Broden, Twin Falls, and Grace Bennett, Twin Falls, at 206 and 217, respectively. Tammie Darling, Burley, beat Karen Pae, Twin Falls, 185-147 in the net race with Norma Richan at 152.

Denise Mays claimed third flight gross at 222 with Barbara Carney at 224 and Linda Fennend 238. Barbara Bacon, twin with Mays in gross, took the net top prize at 152, followed by Messersmith, Jerome, 197, and Cheri Webster, Twin Falls, 118, Clo Davis, Werner 171.

Johnson goes 7-1 to break TACIM mark in high jump

By THE TIMES-NEWS

TUCSON, Ariz.— When is a national record disappointing?

For ex-college of Southern Idaho high jumper Joey Johnson it's when its about five inches below your best.

Coming in the all-new intermediate age group of The Athletic Congress track meet here Friday, Johnson won the title at 7 feet, 1 inch. The plan was to then get the stadium record of 7-4 1/2 and progress on up to 7-6.

But he couldn't get the 7-4 1/2.

"It just wasn't quite there," said CSI Coach Rick Neill. "Joey jumped most of the last four weeks with his brother (Boston Celtic guard Dennis Johnson) and while that probably was a great experience, Joey, you didn't do high jumping any good." Neill said with a smile.

"There were some things he was going to do to try to keep his jumping condition and technique but if he did them, he didn't do a lot of them. But not many people get to watch all the NBA playoffs either," Neill continued with a laugh.

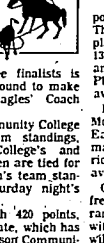

Eagles out of running for CNER championship

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Times-News

BOZEMAN, Mont.— The College of Southern Idaho appears to be out of the running for the men's team championship at the College National Finals Rodeo despite putting all three of its saddle bronc riders into today's final round.

Defending national collegiate saddle bronc champion Frank Norcutt of CSI qualified for the finals in the last performance of the second round Friday night, joining his brother Wayne and teammate Joe Elsner in the finals to be held tonight in the Montana State University Rodeo Arena.

But the Eagles rank 19th in the team standings here in the finals, College of Glendive, Mont., with 210 points, was in third place.

Frank Norcutt moved into his position his brother held after Thursday's performance—fourth place in the average standings, with 137 points. Wayne is fifth with 137 and Elsner sixth with 136. Rex Phillips of Montana State is the average leader with 136.

Former CSI cowboy Glynn Montero, who now competes for Eastern Oregon State College, also made the finals in saddle bronc riding with 132 points, eighth-best in average.

Castleford's Stacey Hill, a freshman at Idaho State University, ranks third in time in goat tying with a 7.4-second performance and will go into the final-seventh in average with a score of 15.6. That's against leader DeAnna Willard of West Hills Community College, who has a 12.7.

Twin Falls Tim Van Ostran, who attends Blue Mountain, also made the finals, ranking eighth in average in calf roping with a time of 21.2 seconds. The leader, Johnny Hutson of Western Texas, has an average time of 18.9.

Blue Mountain got a boost Friday night—the men's team standings from steer wrestler Bradley Goodrich. He turned in a time of 3.3 seconds to take the lead in the average, and vault in the top of the men's all-around standings.

Besides Goodrich, three other teams emerged as leaders in the average following Friday's performance.

Greyhound moves to buy out Trailways

WASHINGTON (AP) — Greyhound Lines Inc. announced agreement Friday to buy Trailways Corp. for $90 million in a deal that, if approved by the government, would make it the country's only national intercity bus company.

Greyhound Chairman Fred Curry said his company would continue to serve the cities and towns now served exclusively by Trailways, its much smaller competitor, and in some cases increase the frequency of service.

"Without intervention, the collapse of Trailways is imminent," Curry told a news conference. He predicted its quick approval of the deal by the Interstate Commerce Commission despite possible concerns about the merger's effect on competition.

Curry rejected as "nonsense" suggestions that the deal might spell the end to competition in the bus industry. He argued that the industry's chief competitors remain the private automobile as well as Amtrak and airlines offering discounted tickets.

"The Greyhound acquisition of Trailways will guarantee continuance of bus service to the cities and towns served by Trailways. It will save jobs and it will improve bus service," said Curry, who headed Trailways Corp. from 1975-79. The agreement to buy Trailways came three months after a Dallas investment group headed by Curry purchased Greyhound Lines Inc. from its Phoenix-based parent, Greyhound Corp., for $350 million. Since then, the new management team has cut fares and sought to expand service.

Greyhound, the country's largest bus company, operates in the 48 contiguous states. Trailways serves 38 states, largely across the South. In 17 states, Trailways provides the only bus service to some communities.

Under the agreement, Greyhound will pay $80 million to buy 450 of Trailways' 1,200 buses, some of its terminals and some communities. It also disclosed other assets, according to Curry. Some of the remaining Trailways buses will be operated under leasing agreements.

The deal also includes purchase of Trailways subsidiaries: Eagle International Inc., a bus manufacturing company in Brownsville, Texas; Trailways Food Service Inc., which operates restaurants in its terminals; and Trailways Commuter Transit Inc., which operates more than 300 commuter and transit buses in Texas.

The purchase involves only Trailways Corp., and does not affect dozens of local or regional bus companies that have used the Trailways name but are not part of the deal.

Curry did not rule out the possibility of some workforce reductions as a result of the merger, but he said the cutbacks are not expected to include drivers, middle managers or supervisors, all of whom will be in demand. Greyhound has about 8,500 employees and Trailways 4,000.

Greyhound after the merger plans to continue to operate Trailways buses under the Trailways name because of its widespread recognition especially across much of the South, Curry said. "You would see a terminal that has both a Trailways and a Greyhound terminal."

Since buying Greyhound in March, Curry has pledged himself to improving and expanding bus service. Bus ridership has declined by 48 percent since 1980 and in recent years Greyhound has abandoned about 2,000 communities.

Curry said Greyhound plans to withdraw all pending applications for abandonment of service on file by Trailways and plans to begin van services to many small communities that have lost bus service.

In recent years, Greyhound has cut the number of communities it served from 14,000 to 12,000 and Trailways has abandoned all service in seven states and much of its service in three other states.

Curry, urging quick action by the Interstate Commerce Commission, said that without intervention Trailways is expected to be forced out of business after the summer's peak travel season.

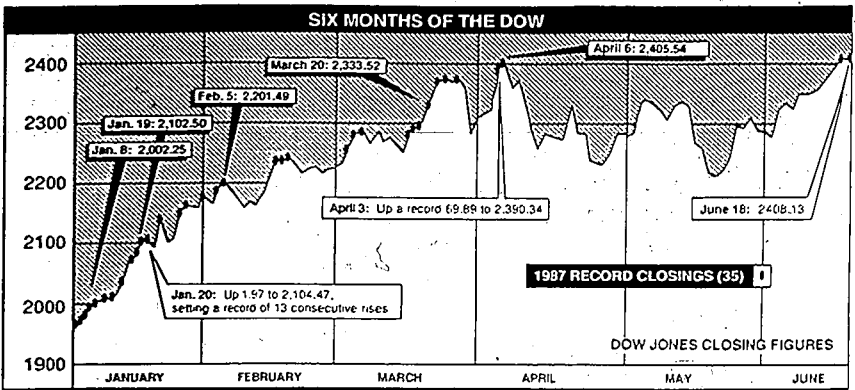

"It has been a public transportation will be disrupted in parts of 17 states where Trailways has the only bus service to some communities and several thousand people will be out of work," he said.

"We had two choices. To sit back and wait for Trailways to go bankrupt or to step in and save as many jobs and as much service as possible."

Trailways in recent years has struggled to keep operating. Four years ago the privately held company sought to sell stock to the public, but was unable to attract investors. It also failed to attract union support for a employee stock ownership plan to attract a buyer.

Both Greyhound and Trailways have been hurt by the decline in bus passengers.

The percentage of intercity travel going by bus has been declining for more than 30 years, and amounted to only 1.3 percent of such travel in 1986.

Dow rises as Wall Street experiments

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market forged ahead Friday, extending its advance to record highs as Wall Street experimented with new procedures designed to smooth out the quarterly "triple witching hour."

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 12.72 to 2,420.85, bringing its gain for the week to 43.2 points.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange reached 220.49 million shares, up from 188.58 million Thursday.

There was a burst of activity at the outset as positions were settled by traders in stocks covered by the June futures contract on Standard & Poor's 500-stock composite index.

It was the first time that contract and a few other stock-index futures and options were settled as of the opening on expiration Friday, rather than the close.

The new procedure appeared to go smoothly, with no dramatic price swings in the market. However, some analysts said many professional traders who might otherwise be active had stayed clear of the market because of uncertainty about how things would go.

A second settlement period at the close for several other stock-index contracts went just as uneventfully, enabling the market to close its fourth straight week of gains on a strong note.

Thus, the storms that some observers feared might accompany the first "double triple witching hour" didn't materialize. As one observation that made the rounds of the Big Board put it: "Double, double, toil and trouble."

Merck was the biggest contributor to the Dow Jones Industrial average's gain, rising 3% to 165 1/2, on interest in a cholesterol-reducing drug being developed by the company.

Among the other big chips, International Business Machines rose 1 1/2 to 161 1/2; International Paper 1 1/2 to 45 1/2; Exxon 1 to 90 1/2; Coca-Cola 3/4 to 45 1/2; American Telephone & Telegraph, unchanged at 28 1/2; led the active list on turnover of more than 5 million shares.

ElectroSpace Systems dropped 3 1/2 to 26 1/2; following word that Chrysler agreed to acquire the company for $27 a share, a lower price than some traders had been looking for. Chrysler was up 1/4 to 35 1/2.

Augit Inc., which said it retained an investment banking firm to study ways to "maximize shareholder value," jumped 3 1/2 to 27 1/2.

National Semiconductor rose 3/4 to 42 1/2. The company reported operating earnings of $3.9 million for the quarter ended May 31, against an operating loss in the comparable period a year earlier.

Advancing issues outnumbered declines by more than 3 to 2 on the NYSE, with 970 up, 610 down and 380 unchanged. The exchange's composite index gained 73 to 175.57.

National turnover in NYSE-listed issues, including trades in those stocks on regional exchanges and in the over-the-counter market, totaled 246,385 million shares.

Standard & Poor's index of 400 Industrials rose 1.57 to 355.79, and S&P's 500-stock composite index was up 1.28 at 395.97.

The NASDAQ composite index for the over-the-counter market edged up 11 to 429.08. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index closed at 339.90, a 1.26-

SEC to propose own insider trading bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission told Congress Friday it opposes a bill introduced this week to define insider trading but will propose its own alternative within six weeks.

Commissioner Charles C. Cox told a Senate Banking subcommittee that the commission sees no real need to tinker with the federal law on insider trading.

"A statutory definition is not required for the success of the enforcement program," Cox said. "We can continue our successful enforcement program" without a new law.

But he told the securities subcommittee the SEC views a new law as "desirable" as a matter of commission policy.

Cox said he proposed this week if approved by the commission because it lacks needed flexibility and could impair enforcement. But Cox added that the SEC staff is preparing a substitute that will be submitted to Congress by Aug. 3.

The bill introduced this week by Sens. Don Riegle, D-Mich., the subcommittee's chairman, and Alfonse D'Amato, R-N.Y., would prohibit trading on information wrongfully obtained, and it attempts to define the terms.

Present law prohibits trading on material, non-public information, but those terms are not defined in statute. Critics have contended that the terms are vague enough that Wall Street traders may not know if they are trading illegally.

Cox conceded that if the court overturns Winans' conviction, it could deal a fatal blow to the SEC's current legal theory that "misappropriation" of information is sufficient grounds to prosecute. If that happens, Cox said, a statutory definition would be essential.

Twin Falls all-star girls' softball club looking to improve

By RON GATES Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — This won't be the first year that Twin Falls has fielded a girls' all-star sloppitch softball team, but it's likely to be the season which will mark the beginning of better results for the city's representatives.

"What we're pointing toward is the state tournament," said Steve Thomas, who coaches the 14- and 15-year-old girls. "We went to state last year, but wound up facing some pretty strong competition out of the Boise and Couer d'Alene areas."

Thomas went on to explain the all-star tryouts in those areas usually draw more than 100 aspirants while Twin Falls, which saw a group of 30 girls vie for a spot on the traveling squad, is still somewhat in the formative stages.

Although most of those selected hail from Twin Falls proper, two are Kimberly residents who, "represent the top athletic talent among girls their age from that community," according to their mentor.

The oldest of 15 softballers on the roster will be a high school junior in the coming school year. The balance of the club comes from the sophomore and freshman-to-be classes.

"There are so many other things that kids are involved in these days that take up their time that to compete at all takes a lot of dedication on the girls' part," Thomas said. "Several of the girls are giving up family vacations this summer in order to play. That gives you a pretty good idea as to just how devoted a bunch they really are."

In addition to many hours on the practice field, travel and time spent in actual competition team members have been called on to assist in fundraisers helping defray costs associated with travel, meals and lodging.

A contribution by First Federal Savings and Loan explains the firm's logo emblazoned on the team's red, white and grey uniforms, but there's a lot more to it than that according to the coach.

"When we play in a tournament we enter as First Federal," said Thomas. "(But) There are quite a number of other sponsors. Each of the girls was asked to find two sponsors who would each donate $50. All of them have gone out and accomplished that."

Despite the fact that all of this year's elite compete on other teams in the various leagues, the girls have found time to hold car washes and like projects in order to increase the team's coffers.

Their first venture into tournament play during the 1987 season resulted in a single win against two losses. Still, owing to the caliber of the opposition, Thomas was pleased with what he saw.

"We played only one team legitimately in our age division," he said. "We won that one easily. The losses came against older more experienced players. You could see our girls looking around — we might have been a little bit intimidated."

"But even in the losses the girls fielded the ball well and kept their composure for the most part," he continued. "We had a few throwing errors and the like, but we hit the ball hard and, for the most part, gave a good accounting of ourselves."

The ultimate goal, a high finish in the state event, will be decided in Idaho Falls July 17 through 19. By that time Thomas and assistant coach Erin Gaines — quite a ballplayer in her own right — hope to have their charges primed to take on Idaho's best.

"By tourney time we plan to have about 30 games under our belts," says Thomas. "We will have become more accustomed to playing together as a team, more confident and should be at our best physically and mentally."

NL: Astros outlast Dodgers, reduce Reds' lead

HOUSTON (AP) — Bill Doran knew there was going to be a collision at the plate with catcher Mickey Soltesia if he was going to score the winning run in the Houston Astros' 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers on Friday night.

"Nobody blocks the plate better than Mike. I knew the play was going to be close and there was no use sliding," Doran explained after he crashed into Soltesia before the ball arrived and scored the winning run in the 11th inning on Kevin Bass' sacrifice fly. "It's a big, strong guy. It's like running into a brick wall."

The victory enabled Houston to climb within 1/2 games of first-place Cincinnati in the National League West.

Doran also collided with Soltesia in the sixth inning when he scored on his second inside-the-park homer of the season.

"He's playing super defense, swinging the bat good and getting on base," Manager Hal Lanier said of Doran. "He's playing his brand of baseball."

Orel Hershey, 7-7, was the loser, despite tying the National League season high with a career-best 14 strikeouts.

"It would have been great to win, but it's just another five-day, three-throw 14 strikeouts very often," Hershey said.

Doran opened the 11th with a single, his third hit of the game, and went to third on a single by Craig Reynolds, the seventh hit off Hershey. Ken Howell relieved and struck out Glenn Davis but Bass hit a lazy fly ball to right off Matt Young to score Doran.

"I was trying to drive the ball and fortunately I got it out there far enough," Bass explained. "I know Matt Young and I know he would be trying to throw strikes, so I just waited for my pitch."

Dave Meads, 5-1, the third Houston pitcher, was the winner with one inning of scoreless relief.

Atlanta 16 Cincinnati 5 ATLANTA (AP) — Ozzie Virgil drove in four runs and Gerald Perry, Ken Oberkell and Andres Thomas each had three RBIs as the Atlanta Braves beat the Cincinnati Reds 16-5 Friday night.

Perry had a run-scoring triple to ignite a four-run inning, an RBI in the fourth and a run-scoring double in the sixth when the Braves sent 11 batters to the plate and scored six times to turn a 7-5 game into a rout.

San Francisco 7 San Diego 6 SAN DIEGO (AP) — Will Clark, who struck out in his three previous at-bats, doubled home two runs to cap a four-run eighth inning Friday night as the San Francisco Giants rallied from a five-run deficit and defeated the San Diego Padres 7-6.

Two streaks came to an end — the Padres had won six in a row and the Giants dropped six straight.

The Giants entered the eighth trailing 5-3 but Jeffrey Leonard hit a one-out single off reliever Lance McCullers, 3-4, and scored on Candy Maldonado's double. Chili Davis doubled to tie the game 5-5 and, after Bob Brenly, Craig Lefterr relieved McCullers.

Montreal 8 St. Louis 7 ST. LOUIS (AP) — Casey Candalele and Tim Lincecum hit RBIs in the 11th inning Friday night, giving the Montreal Expos an 8-7 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Andres Galarraga started the inning with the game's only extra-base hit, an opposite-field double off Bill Dawley, 4-5, that hit the right-field foul line. Dawley struck out Herm Williamson and Mike Fitzgerald but walked pinch hitter Vance Law. After Candalele singled up the middle to break a 6-6 tie, Mitch Webster walked to load the bases and Law scored on Raines' single over the third-base bag.

It was Montreal's third victory in as many games against St. Louis this year. Winning pitcher Bob McClure, 4-1, worked two scoreless innings and Larry Sorensen pitched the bottom of the 11th for his first save. St. Louis got an unearned run in the 11th on a double error by shortstop Hubie Brooks and left fielder Raines.

Pittsburgh 4 Chicago 0 CHICAGO (AP) — Brian Fisher pitched a six-hitter for his first major-league shutout and Sid Bream hit a two-run homer to help the Pittsburgh Pirates defeat the Chicago Cubs 4-0 Friday.

Fisher, 3-4, walked two and struck out six as he snapped a personal three-game losing streak. In his five previous appearances, Fisher was 1-3 with a 7.3 earned run average.

New York 8 Philadelphia 1 NEW YORK (AP) — John Mitchell pitched a five-hitter for his first major-league victory and Howard Johnson started the scoring with the first of a record-tying four New York home runs as the Mets beat the Philadelphia Phillies 8-1 Friday night.

Mitchell, 1-1, struck out three and walked three in his eighth major-league start and blanked the Phillies until Glenn Williams' RBI single in the ninth. The 21-year-old right hander also doubled in the seventh for his first major-league hit.

AL: Laudner's home run lifts Twins to 3-game lead in West

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Tim Laudner said he didn't know what to expect when he stepped up to bat in the game against Chicago pitcher Jim Witt with the score tied 6-6 in the bottom of the ninth. It took him one pitch to find out.

"I'd never seen him before," said Laudner after he hit the first pitch from Witt, 2-3, for his seventh homer of the year. "I guess he's got a little bit of a pop."

Twins' 7-6 victory over the White Sox Friday night.

The victory, combined with Oakland's 4-2 loss to Texas, increased the Twins' lead in the American League West to three games.

"I watched him pitch in the bullpen in Chicago, but I'd never faced him before."

Laudner's homer gave Minnesota its 11th victory in their last 13 games and Chicago its fifth straight loss.

"The biggest question mark before the season wasn't if they could play baseball," Chicago catcher Carlton Fisk said of the Twins. "The question was their pitching."

Jeff Reardon, 4-4, earned the victory after entering with one out in the eighth.

Laudner, who entered the game in the seventh inning as a defensive replacement, said everybody has contributed during the Twins recent success.

"As it stands, we're going to use 24 guys to win games," Laudner said. "I know you might not get penciled in the lineup, but you're going to get a chance."

Texas 4 Oakland 2 OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Charlie Hough pitched six hitless innings and settled for a two-hitter over 7 1/2 innings Friday night, giving the Texas Rangers a 4-2 victory over the Oakland Athletics.

Dale Marbolec pitched hitless relief over the final 1 1/2 innings for his ninth save.

Hough, 7-2, who beat Oakland for the second time in a week, surrendered a leadoff double to Reggie Jackson in the seventh to end his no-hitter. Jackson moved to third on Cey's grounder and scored on Tony Phillips' grounder to shortstop.

Kansas City 2 California 0 ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Danny Jackson pitched four-hitter and Danny Fentall and Frank White hit run-scoring singles Friday night, leading the Kansas City Royals to their third straight victory, 2-0 over the California Angels.

Jackson, 2-0, snapped a personal three-game losing streak, walking four and striking out three for his third complete game.

Jackson, who last week changed his uniform number and locker in hopes of changing his luck, won his first game since May 26 at Chicago.

Toronto 15 Milwaukee 6 TORONTO (AP) — Lloyd Moseby hit a two-run triple and Tony Fernandez hit a two-run single to highlight a nine-run seventh inning Friday night, lifting the Toronto Blue Jays to a come-from-behind 15-6 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers.

Toronto broke a 6-6 tie in the seventh off reliever Mark Cleary, who started the inning. Fernandez and Moseby walked to lead off and two outs later, Cleary walked Cecil Fielder and Kelly Gruber to make it 7-6.

New York 10 Boston 5 BOSTON (AP) — Mike Pagliarulo's lead off home run sparked a five-run 13th inning Friday night, pacing New York to a 10-5 victory over the Boston Red Sox and extending the Yankees' winning streak to five games.

Pagliarulo's ninth homer came off Joe Sambito, 1-2, who entered in the 10th inning.

Seattle 7 Cleveland 4 CLEVELAND (AP) — Rey Quinones drove in three runs with a homer and a bases-loaded single and Mark Langston pitched a seven-hitter Friday night, pacing the Seattle Mariners over the Cleveland Indians 7-4.

The victory extended the Mariners' winning streak to a season-high five games. Seattle had lost five straight in Cleveland Stadium.

Langston, 8-6, struck out seven and walked two for his seventh complete game. The seven strikeouts of Cleveland Langston's major league leading total to 123.

Detroit 5 Baltimore 3 BALTIMORE (AP) — Alan Trammell, who earlier had hit three Detroit homers, hit a run-scoring ground ball in the eighth inning Friday night, lifting the Tigers to a 5-3 victory over the Orioles, the Orioles' fifth consecutive defeat.

It was the Tigers' sixth victory in the first four games and the Orioles' 19th loss in their last 21.

Jack Morris, 10-2, won his ninth straight and joined Kansas City's Bret Saberhagen as the only 10-game winners in the major leagues. Saberhagen is 12-1. Morris allowed six hits, including a solo homer by Fred Lynn, and struck out six — all in the first four innings. Willie Hernandez pitched the ninth for his eighth save.

Houston trades veteran gamer HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Astros traded third baseman Phil Garner to the Los Angeles Dodgers for an unnamed player, the club announced Friday.

Garner, 28, who came to Houston from Pittsburgh in August 1981, was hitting 223 in 43 games for the Astros.

The Elks, now 3-4 for the season and 1-3 in conference, will host Pocatello this afternoon.

Greyhound moves to buy out Trailways

WASHINGTON (AP) — Greyhound Lines Inc. announced agreement Friday to buy Trailways Corp. for $50 million in a deal that, if approved by the government, would make it the country's only national intercity bus company.

Greyhound Chairman Fred Currey said his company would continue to serve the cities and towns now served exclusively by Trailways. Its much smaller competitor, and in some cases increase the frequency of service.

"Without intervention, the collapse of Trailways is imminent," Currey told a news conference. He predicted quick approval of the deal by the Interstate Commerce Commission despite possible concerns about the merger's effect on competition.

Currey rejected as "nonsense" suggestions that the deal might spell the end to competition in the bus industry. He argued that the industry's chief competitors remain the private automobile as well as Amtrak and airlines offering discounted tickets.

"The Greyhound acquisition of Trailways will guarantee continuation of bus service to the cities and towns served by Trailways. It will save jobs and it will improve bus service," said Currey, who headed Trailways Corp. from 1975-79.

The agreement to buy Trailways came three months after a Dallas investment group headed by Currey purchased Greyhound Lines Inc. from its Phoenix-based parent, Greyhound Corp., for $350 million. Since then, the new management team has cut fares and sought to expand service.

Greyhound, the country's largest bus company, operates in the 46 contiguous states. Trailways serves 38 states, largely across the South. In 17 states, Trailways provides the only bus service to some communities.

Under the agreement, Greyhound will pay $80 million to buy 450 of Trailways' 1,200 buses, some of its terminals and garages and 110 discarded other assets, according to Currey. Some of the remaining Trailways buses will be operated under leasing agreements. The deal also includes purchase of three Trailways subsidiaries. Eagle International Inc., a bus manufacturing company in Brownsville, Texas; Trailways Food Service Inc., which operates restaurants in its terminals; and Trailways Commuter Transit Inc., which operates more than 300 commuter and transit buses in Texas.

The purchase involves only Trailways Corp. and does not affect dozens of local or regional bus companies that have used the Trailways name but are not part of the Dallas-based corporation.

Currey did not rule out the possibility of some workforce reductions as a result of the merger, but he said the cutbacks are not expected to include drivers, middle managers or supervisors, all of whom will be in demand. Greyhound has about 8,500 employees and Trailways 4,000.

Greyhound after the merger plans to continue to operate Trailways routes under the Trailways name because of its widespread recognition especially across much of the South, Currey said. "You would see a service to many small communities," Trailways and a Greyhound terminal.

Since buying Greyhound in March, Currey has pledged himself to improving and expanding bus service. Bus ridership has declined by 46 percent since 1980 and in recent years Greyhound has abandoned about 2,000 communities.

Currey said Greyhound plans to withdraw all pending applications for abandonment of service on file by Trailways and plans to begin vanishing routes to many small communities that have lost bus service.

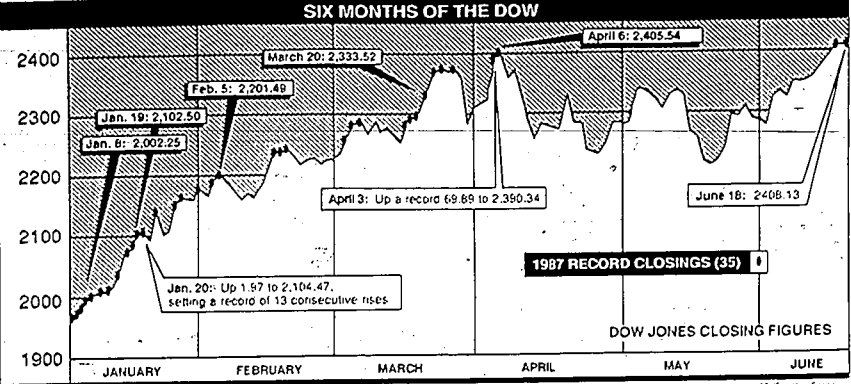

In recent years, Greyhound had cut the number of communities it served from 14,000 to 12,000. Trailways has abandoned all service in seven states and much of its service in three other states.

Currey, urging quick action by the Interstate Commerce Commission, said that without intervention Trailways is expected to be forced out of business after the summer's peak travel season. "If that happens, public transportation will be disrupted in parts of 17 states where Trailways has the only bus service," Currey said. "We had two choices. To sit back and wait for Trailways to go bankrupt or to step in and save the bus line as well as possible."

Trailways in recent years has struggled to keep operating. Four years ago the privately held company sought to sell stock to the public, but was unable to attract investors. It also failed to attract union support for a employee stock ownership plan or attract a buyer last year.

Both Greyhound and Trailways have been hurt by the decline in bus passengers.

The percentage of intercity travelers going by bus has been declining for more than 30 years, and amounted to only 1.3 percent of such travel in 1986.

Dow rises as Wall Street experiments

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market forged ahead Friday, extending its advance to record highs as Wall Street experimented with new procedures designed to smooth out the quarterly "triple witching hour."

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 12.72 to 2,420.85, bringing its gain for the week to 43.12 points.

Volume on the New York Stock Exchange reached 220.48 million shares, up from 168.58 million Thursday.

There was a burst of activity at the outset as positions were settled by traders in stocks covered by the June futures contract on Standard & Poor's 500-stock composite index.

It was the first time that contract and a few other stock-index futures and options were settled as of the opening on expiration Friday, rather than the close.

The new procedure appeared to go smoothly, with no dramatic price swings in the market. However, some analysts said many professional traders who might otherwise be active had stayed clear of the market because of uncertainty about how things would go.

A second settlement period at the close for several other stock-index contracts went just as uneventfully, enabling the market to close out its fourth straight week of gains on a strong note.

The storms that some observers feared might accompany the first "double triple witching hour" didn't materialize. As one observation that made the rounds of the Big Board put it: "Double, double, toil, no trouble."

Mercer was the biggest contributor to the Dow Jones Industrial average's gain, rising 3 1/2 to 165 1/2 on interest in a cholesterol-reducing drug being developed by the company.

Among the other blue chips, International Business Machines rose 1/4 to 161 1/2; International Paper 1 1/4 to 49 1/2; Exxon 1 1/4 to 90 1/2; Coca-Cola 1/2 to 45 1/2; American Telephone & Telegraph, unchanged at 25 1/2.

Electronics Systems dropped 3 1/4 to 26 1/2, following word that Chrysler agreed to acquire the company for $27 a share, a lower price than some traders had been looking for. Chrysler was up 1 1/4 at 35 1/2.

Angat Inc., which said it retained an investment banking firm to study ways to "maximize shareholder value," jumped 3 1/2 to 27 1/2.

National Semiconductor rose 1/2 to 13 1/2. The company reported operating earnings of $3.9 million for the quarter ended May 31, against an operating loss in the comparable period a year earlier.

Advancing issues outnumbered declines by more than 3 to 2 on the NYSE, with 970 up, 610 down and 380 unchanged. The exchange's composite index gained 73 to 172.57.

Nationwide turnover in NYSE-listed issues, including trades in those stocks on regional exchanges and in the over-the-counter market, totaled 246.36 million shares.

Standard & Poor's index of 400 industrials rose 1.57 to 355.79, and S&P's 500-stock composite index was up 1.28 at 306.37.

The NASDAQ composite index for the over-the-counter market edged up 1 1/2 to 425.08. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index closed at 339.90, up 1.26.

SEC to propose own insider trading bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission told Congress Friday it opposes a bill introduced this week to define illegal insider trading, but will propose its own alternative within six weeks.

Commissioner Charles C. Cox told a Senate Banking subcommittee that the commission sees no real need to tinker with the federal law on insider trading.

"A statutory definition is not required for the success of the enforcement program," Cox said. "We can continue our successful enforcement program" without a new law.

But he told the securities subcommittee the SEC views a new law as "desirable" as a matter of commission policy.

Present law prohibits trading on material, non-public information, but those terms are not defined in statute. Critics have contended that the terms are vague enough that Wall Street traders may not know if they are trading illegally.
