Flawed jury listing has drawn $5,000 from county funds

By CRAIG LINCOLN Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The flawed jury list drawn December 1986 has cost the county at least $5,000 in addition to the loss of 21 drug indictments from the first grand jury in Twin Falls County.

And if the indictments fail in another grand jury, more than six months of investigation by law enforcement agencies and close to $4,000 spent on buying drugs during those investigations may be lost as well.

From the time the list was drawn until the indictments were overthrown, costs have run as high as $5,000 for jury expenses, witness fees, transportation and time invested by prosecutors and public defenders.

Fifth District Judges Daniel Meehl and Daniel Hurlbutt threw out the grand jury indictments July 21 because of jury-selection procedure used by County Clerk Richard Pence was flawed.

"We are always concerned with the (financial) impact," said Meehl. "But that is irrelevant when a jury is impaneled illegally. The court's decision was made not on financial impact but on law."

Pence declined to comment on the estimated costs, except to say, "I've always been very, very frugal with the county's money."

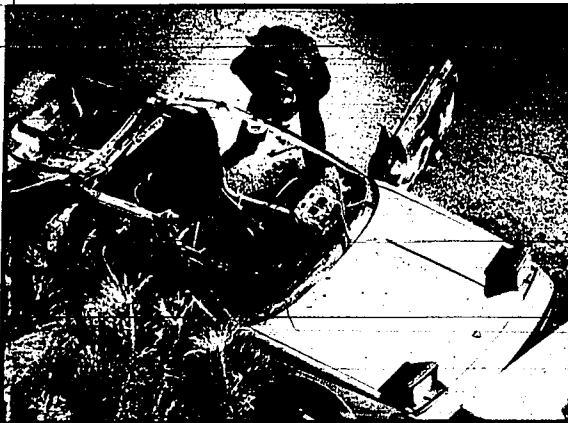

"The new system will cost a lot more, and over the years we've saved an awful lot of money," he said.

The grand jury handed down the indictments in June. But defense attorneys challenged the indictments, saying the jury-selection procedure used by the county was flawed because drivers license lists were not added to voter registration lists, no jury commissioner was appointed to help the clerk in jury selection and potential jurors were improperly dismissed from duty.

After two days of hearings July 7-8 and final arguments July 21, Hurlbutt and Meehl overthrew the jury list.

Hofmann papers released

Forger for profit says he felt remorse over bomb killings

By PEG MCENTEE The Associated Press

SALT LAKE CITY — Mark Hofmann says he forged historical documents for profit and the pleasure of rewriting Mormon history, but remorse over killing two people with bombs drove him to blow himself up.

Hofmann's first public detailing of what a prosecutor termed "the most complicated forgery scheme of all" were contained in transcripts of interviews with the confessed killer released Friday by the Salt Lake County attorney's office.

"He thought that he deserved death, and it would be the best thing for his family," prosecutors wrote in a 14-page summary of

Reactions — A6

Hofmann's comments about two fatal bombings and a third that seriously injured him in October 1985.

The summary, attached to 541 pages of verbatim interviews on Hofmann's five-year career as a master forger, also revealed that all the major Mormon documents he traded or sold were forgeries and that he chose pipe bombs for his murders because he couldn't face his victims with a gun.

"He didn't think he could pull the trigger on someone if he faced them, but he could do it if he didn't have to be around," wrote prosecutors Robert Stott and David Biggs.

But Hofmann's claim that the explosion which blew him from his sports car on Oct. 16, 1985, was a botched suicide is discounted by police investigators. They believe the coldly calculating Hofmann had another victim in mind as his documents deceptions began to unravel.

Salt Lake City Police Chief Bud Willoughby said he was not satisfied Hofmann had told all he knows about the bombings and believes the public won't either.

The interviews, conducted from January to May, were part of a controversial Jan. 23 plea agreement calling for Hofmann to detail the forgeries that brought him at least $1.5 million and the bombings that exposed him as a killer.

On Oct. 15, 1985, separate pipe bombs disguised as packages killed Steven Christensen, a 30-year-old Mormon bishop and document enthusiast, and Kathleen Sheets, 40, wife of former U.S. government business associate Gary Sheets. A third blast the next day critically injured Hofmann and police promptly named him their chief suspect.

Hofmann, 32, said he had tried to warn both his victims by telephone after placing the gunpowder-filled bombs just outside Christensen's office and in Sheets' driveway.

"He said that if someone had answered (at the Sheets home) he would have disguised his voice and told him there was a bomb in their driveway and not to touch it," the prosecutor wrote.

Soviet offer links deal to 'Star Wars'

By BRENDA WATSON The Associated Press

GENEVA — The Soviet Union on Friday presented a draft treaty calling for the two superpowers to cut their long-range nuclear arsenals in half, but it linked an accord to limits on "Star Wars."

In Washington, State Department spokesman Charles E. Redman said "this is a welcome step forward from the past Soviet approach of proposing highly generalized documents containing only basic principles."

But both he and U.S. arms control director Kenneth L. Adelman said the "Star Wars" link was unacceptable. Adelman said the proposal would not adequately limit large Soviet land-based missiles.

"Unless the Soviets change their position, it's dead in the water," he said in a Voice of America interview program.

The Kremlin set forth its formal position at a joint plenary meeting of the Geneva arms talks held at the U.S. mission. The Soviet draft calls for the 50 percent reduction to be achieved in five years.

The United States presented a treaty on 10-year, or strategic, arms in May that also called for 50 percent reductions, but over seven years. The two sides also disagree on how to implement the reductions.

"Now that we each have a treaty on the table we can begin the sustained effort necessary to put together a joint draft text and negotiate the remaining differences," said Redman.

Bridgeton reloading for a second cruise

By JOHN RICE The Associated Press

KUWAIT — The Kuwaiti supertanker Bridgeton loaded oil in its mine-damaged hull Friday for the trip south through the Persian Gulf. It will sail under the American flag with a U.S. Navy escort, possibly this weekend.

President Ali Khamenei of Iran warned the United States to remove its forces from the "dangerous whirlpool" of the Gulf, where Iran and Iraq have been at war for seven years, or "we will strike them so hard they will regret what they have done."

men missing in the crash Thursday of a U.S. Navy helicopter that was on a routine shore-to-shore ferry flight in the central gulf near Bahrain. One man was killed.

Britain said it has no plans to send minesweepers to the gulf now, but will maintain "close touch" with the United States.

U.S. Ambassador Charles H. Price II conveyed a message Thursday that news reports in both countries said was a request for British help in clearing mines.

Opinion attacks lawmaking by resolution

By QUANE KENYON The Associated Press

BOISE — In an opinion released Friday with far-reaching implications, Attorney General Jim Jones says the Idaho Legislature probably does not have constitutional authority to overrule minimum stream flow decisions by a state agency.

"Officials agreed the opinion could have a huge impact on the Legislature's attempt to repeal or modify state agency rules by the use of concurrent resolution. Such resolutions are not subject to veto by the governor, and the opinion released Friday said that appears to be a violation of the Idaho Constitution."

The opinion, with analysis provided by Deputy Attorney General Clive Strong, was prepared at the request of state Rep. Stan Hawkins, R-Ucon, who was involved in the Legislature's battles over minimum stream flows last session.

Jones said "legislative vetoes" were struck down by a 1983 U.S. Supreme Court, and using the same reasoning, the Idaho Legislature shouldn't try to change agency rules without going through the usual law-making process, including approval by the governor.

"I couldn't agree with him more," said Gov. Cecil Andrus. "It clarifies the separation of power between the legislative and executive branches of government."

Senate President Pro Tem James Risch, R-Boise, said legislative leaders have realized they had a problem with the use of concurrent resolutions since the U.S. Supreme Court ruled.

"We've been discussing this problem since the Supreme Court decision came down a few years back," Risch said. "It has been like a cloud hanging over us."

He said based on the U.S. Supreme Court's decision, Jones' opinion was well-reasoned. But Risch argued the Supreme Court's decision was not as well-reasoned.

He said it applied to a federal situation, and it's possible that a decision on state laws by the Idaho Supreme Court would go the other way.

Jones suggested filing an immediate legal action with the Idaho Supreme Court. Later, he said, the Legislature might propose a constitutional amendment giving it specific authority to overrule state agency rules and regulations by resolution.

Risch said he agreed with Jones. "It is an extremely important matter that ought to be cleared up one way or the other," he said.

But Andrus indicated he probably would not support any effort to amend the Idaho Constitution and in essence allow the Legislature to get around the usual process for adopting laws, including submitting them to the governor's office.

"That does not seem very attractive to me," he told an afternoon news conference.

Jones acknowledged that the decision would have far-reaching implications, strengthening the role of the governor and weakening that of the Legislature.

"I don't like the result of this opinion, but the law seems to be fairly clear that legislatures may not constitutionally overrule administrative decisions without going

Weinberger: I fought sales after Reagan chose to proceed

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger, the last public witness in the long Iran-Contra hearings, testified Friday that he stubbornly opposed selling arms to Iran even after President Reagan had decided to proceed.

But he said he complied with Reagan's wishes and made weapons available for the sales after National Security Adviser John Poindexter told him "there is no more room for argument."

"I have regret that I wasn't more persuasive" with the president, Weinberger said in the forthright and next-to-last day of public hearings. He will return Monday.

Just as Senate committee chairman Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii, was declaring the hearings in recess for the day, two women in the back of the room began shouting, "Contras kill families" and were hustled out by police.

The defense secretary, like other senior Reagan ad-

Regan says president 'shot down' pardons

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — President Reagan "shot down" the idea of Iran-Contra hearings near an end, pardoning aides Oliver North and "I haven't heard a single word that indicates, in any of the testimony, that a presidential pardon does not unfairly imply they had done something wrong, his former chief of staff," Donald T. Regan, testified Friday.

Regan himself said at the White House meanwhile, as the 11 weeks of Iran-Contra hearings neared an end, "I haven't heard a single word that indicates, in any of the testimony, that a presidential pardon does not unfairly imply they had done something wrong, his former chief of staff," Donald T. Regan, testified

Friday, saying as he has repeatedly stated that he planned to speak out when the hearings have ended.

At the congressional hearings on Friday, Regan said his recollection was that the idea was brought up by "somebody" — he didn't say by whom — at a meeting of Regan and top officials last Dec. 8, 9 or 10.

the National Security Council.

"I made it very clear to the defense agency involved that they took their instructions from us and they certainly under no circumstances ever were to accept an instruction that we were not to be on the distribution list for any."

At the White House, presidential spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said Regan does not plan to hold a news conference until sometime in the fall.

The back-to-back appearances of Weinberger and former White House Chief of Staff Donald T. Regan were the final public acts in the drama that has been playing before television audiences for 11 weeks — the House and Senate investigations into the diversion of profits from Iranian arms sales to the Nicaraguan Contras.

The congressional panels are expected to interrogate several CIA officials privately next week, and then spend August writing an official report on the affair that has dealt heavy political damage to Ronald Reagan's presidency.

Cancer taken from Reagan's nose

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan had a "very small" patch of skin cancer removed from his nose in microscopic surgery at Bethesda Naval Hospital on Friday, and the White House said the procedure went "very well."

After slicing away two thin layers of tissue with a scalpel, physicians found they had removed all of the cancer, said a White House spokesman. The president's spokesman, Marlion Fitzwater, said he said the determination was made on the basis of a microscopic examination performed immediately.

Reagan, returning to the White House after nearly four hours at the hospital, wore a flesh-colored bandage covering most of his nose. "I feel fine," he told reporters as he walked across the South Lawn from his helicopter, flashing a broad smile. He was accompanied by his wife, Nancy. Asked as he was leaving the hospital if he felt any pain, Reagan replied, "Not yet."

The surgery was performed with a local anesthetic that numbed the nose while allowing Reagan to remain conscious. Fitzwater said the wound caused by the excision was small enough to be closed with sutures, rather than with a skin-graft from plastic surgery. However, the closing was done by two plastic surgeons instead of the team of dermatologists that performed the surgery.

It was Reagan's third bout of skin cancer on his nose in two years. "The prognosis is good," said Dr. Perry Robins, president of the New York-based Skin Cancer Foundation, after being told about the White House report. Skin cancer, also known as basal cell carcinoma, is the most common form of cancer and the most readily cured.

Dr. Thomas Nigra, chief of the dermatology department at Washington Hospital-Center, said, "It sounds like a minor procedure. He has an excellent prognosis."

However, he predicted that Reagan — an avid outdoorsman who once was a lifeguard and had extensive exposure to the sun — will have problems with skin cancer the rest of his life. "He's going to be plagued with these problems — they are absolutely minor but, it is absolutely normal."

Fitzwater said the tissue was about one centimeter in size. "It appears the excision has gone very well. The opening is very small," Fitzwater said.

Reagan arrived at the hospital in suburban Maryland at 4:10 p.m. EDT and was back at the White House four hours later.

Edmonton, Alberta (AP) — A tornado tore through parts of this western Canadian provincial capital and its suburbs on Friday, killing at least 30 people and injuring more than 200, civil and rescue officials said.

One and perhaps more twisters hit about 3 p.m. (5 p.m. EDT), leaving a trail of destruction and debris. A trailer park and a small industrial park were flattened, people were trapped in buildings and cars being driven on a freeway were tossed in the air, injuring dozens of motorists.

Mayor Laurence Decore said 27 people died in the city, and Jocelyn Tonnison, spokesman for the County of Strathcona, just south and east of the city, said three were confirmed dead.

Decore said 24 of the victims died in the Evergreen trailer park in the city's northeast. Canadian Broadcasting Corp. reporters said an estimated 200 trailers in park had been flattened.

Summary: The National Weather Service in Boise says most of the air which remained to cover the extreme eastern section of Idaho Friday was to move to the east later in the day.

The remainder of the Gem State was under the influence of a westerly flow of dry and stable air. This westerly flow brought cooler air to Idaho.

Mid-afternoon skies were mostly fair with some stations reporting mostly cloudy skies in the northern third of the state. Highs across much of Idaho were in the 15 to 25 mph range.

Airmass temperatures were mostly in the 70s and 80s.

The warmest temperature in the state Friday was 94 degrees at Salmon, while Deadwood reported the low of 38.

The pollen count in Twin Falls Friday was 74 particles per cubic meter of air.

The agricultural outlook in Southern Idaho shows conditions for haying and combining of grains will be good today and excellent for the remainder of the period. Conditions will be drying out over southeast Idaho after several days of "wet" thunderstorms.

Thunder showers should be continuing at end of next week. Little if any rainfall during the period. Temperatures and irrigation demands near normal through the period. Winds for Sunday will be westerly 5 to 15 mph today and 5 to 10 mph Sunday afternoon.

indictments because jury-selection procedures in the county were in "substantial non-compliance" with Idaho law.

The district court changed those procedures July 10, hiring a jury commissioner to serve on a jury commission with Ponce. The jury commissioner is to draw up a new master list of jurors using drivers license lists and have new jury panels ready by Sept. 1.

Meanwhile, the wheels of magistrate court justice have ground to a halt in Twin Falls County. Since July 1, every magistrate jury trial — 59 trials in all — have been postponed until new jury panels are ready by September.

Although many invoices are not available on the costs for drawing the jury names and fight the indictments in court, estimated costs associated with the flawed jury procedure last December and the challenges of that jury include:

$1,498 to mail questionnaires to prospective jurors last December, based on $.22 cents for each questionnaire mailed and $.22 for each enclosed return envelope for the approximately 300 questionnaires.

$150 to print the questionnaires used last December, according to an invoice submitted by Twin Falls Printing.

$1,500 to the public defenders office for two students who listed the age, address and sex of each potential juror; a Boise State mathematics professor who testified at the hearings; and a plane ticket for a former clerk now living in Portland, Ore., according to an estimate by Twin Falls County Public Defender Michael Wood.

$540 for the jurors during the grand jury; $56 for the jurors who were called but did not serve and $150 for a bailiff from the Twin Falls County Sheriff's office.

An estimated 70 to 80 hours of work from Deputy Prosecutor Joel Horton. At his salary of $21,000, that works out to $700 to $800.

An estimated 60 hours of work from Deputy Prosecutor J. Scott James, on an estimate provided by Horton. At his salary of $19,200, that works out to about $450.

$180 for a new mailing to prospective jurors and a potential $200 for return postage, based on figures provided by jury Commissioner Kathleen Noh.

Wood said he did not have an estimate of the time he spent researching or fighting indictments. Thus, his time and costs are not included in the estimated $5,000 total.

The actual amount of money paid out by county taxpayers is much smaller, however, because the district court budget is paid in large part by court fees and fines.

"We don't levy anything for it at this time," said Commission Chairman Judy Felton. "Realistically, in the next year or two we will be using ad valorem (property) taxes for it."

Pence said he thought his jury-selection procedure may not have been at the heart of the challenges to the drug indictments.

"The problem with trying to annul the jury challenge is that, no matter how the jury system was set up, they might have challenged it," Pence said. "They are not really that enamored with grand juries around here."

Felton said that having the county provide property-tax revenue to the district court would require reductions in other areas. She did not say what those areas would be.

"Our job is to abide by the law and it is up to the public to decide if it is worth it by changing the law," Meahl said.

The new jury system will cost more money, at least on the surface.

Hurlburt said he has requested $4,000 for a jury commissioner, $9,600 for a new employee to handle jury selections and an additional $2,000 for new questionnaire forms and procedures for a total of $16,600.

"Those changes would have been made anyway," Hurlburt said. "The only extra cost is the panel fee, which is going to pull next Monday."

Fifth District Magistrate Judge Charles Brumbach says the court should be able to catch up with postponed jury trials before the end of the year.

"Obviously, we have hot and cold streaks," Brumbach said, and because many scheduled trials are acted before going before a jury, the court should be able to handle the backlog amply.

"It's going to be more of a cumulative stress, but it will be nice to be back in court again in front of a jury," Horton said.

North Wood and Baxter have said the postponing of trials will force the justices to play catch-up the latter part of the year.

Pence came under fire last November for opening and recording absentee ballots before election day, contrary to state law.

Democratic Central Committee Chairman Joe Gulick considered launching a recall attempt against Pence shortly after that, but never followed through.

Pence was also criticized for spending about $4,000, more than twice as much as any other county elected official, on travel expenses to state and national conventions for a two-year period ending Sept. 1986.

"At the time, he said if he had not attended the conventions, he would not have known what to do in his office."

through the normal law-making procedure. The attorney general said: "It is unfortunate that it will have the effect of giving the Legislature more power; and restrict the power of the Legislature," Jones said.

Andrus said the Legislature in recent years has occasionally crossed into what should be executive branch territory.

"It really hasn't been abused," he said. "It is a vehicle, but I don't think it has been abused."

A constitutional amendment couldn't go before voters until November of 1988, the next general election.

But proposed constitutional amendments require two-thirds majority of both chambers of the Legislature. Andrus is a Democrat and Republicans dominate both chambers. But the GOP does not have enough votes in the current Legislature to win a two-thirds majority to override the governor.

Albertson's mad at reversal of Continental ticket plan

BOISE (AP) — Continental Airlines has backed out of its popular program to sell discounted tickets through Albertson's Inc., leaving the Boise-based food and drug chain hopping mad.

"To say that we are upset is an understatement," Albertson's chief counsel and senior vice president Thomas Saldin said Thursday. "It's an embarrassment to us, and it's an inconvenience to our customers."

Saldin said Albertson's was considering filing a civil suit against the airline, but no decision has been made.

Albertson's began participating in Continental's year-old Certificate of Transportation program in June. If Albertson's customers in southern Idaho, Denver and Albuquerque bought $50-worth of groceries, they could buy two certificates for $89.95 each, redeemable for tickets to one of more than 100 U.S. cities served by Continental.

For an extra $50 each way, travelers could fly to one of eight cities in Mexico. The program was to expire Aug. 31.

Albertson's received a letter Tuesday from Continental that the program had been suspended, Saldin said. The letter, dated July 27, said the action was necessary because the airline did not demand enough seats to meet demand from certificate holders.

The letter said more sales of the certificates could put Albertson's "in the position of offering the public a service which we cannot deliver."

Saldin said "Albertson's contacted Continental for an explanation, but got little help."

"They said that they were re-evaluating their position and that they might reinstate the program with certain conditions," Saldin said. "But they really haven't explained to our satisfaction all the details."

Albertson's has posted large placards in its Boise, Denver and Albuquerque stores. The placards include a reproduction of Continental's letter and say the decision was made by the airline.

Convicted murderer Paradis has execution appeal denied

BOISE (AP) — Convicted slayer Donald Paradis has lost another round in his battle to escape execution for the 1980 strangulation killing of a young woman.

In a 99-page ruling, complete with a 24-page appendix, U.S. District Court Judge Harold Ryan rejected Paradis' appeal from his state court conviction, and subsequent death penalty ordered by District Judge Gary Haman.

—Paradis, 38, and another man, Thomas Henry Gibson, 36, have been under death sentence for more than five years in the case.

Ryan continued a stay of execution until Aug. 20 to allow defense attorneys time to prepare an appeal to the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. Gibson's appeal is proceeding separately.

In an unusually detailed decision, Ryan went over every piece of evidence and testimony in the case and ruled against a major part of Paradis' appeal, that the woman actually was killed in Spokane and he and Gibson shouldn't have been tried in Idaho.

Ryan concluded there was substantial evidence to uphold the prosecution claim the woman was carried to a Kootenai County area near Post Falls from Spokane and strangled there.

"We are really pleased with the ruling," said Attorney General Jim Jones. He said it appeared Ryan tried to explicitly cover every argument in the appeal in his final ruling, which could expedite Paradis' later appeals, including one to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Gibson and Paradis were tried and convicted separately for the slaying of Kimberly Palmer in 1980.

Plates give centennial budget boost

REXBURG (AP) — Bolstered by unprecedented demand for the Idaho Centennial license plate, the budget for the state's 100th birthday celebration has been more than doubled and a trust set up to preserve Idaho history and resources long after the centennial ends.

The state Centennial Commission, wrapping up its meeting in Rexburg on Friday, adopted a $4.2 million budget for the 1990 festivities.

Spending on the celebration was expected to be held at just $2 million until the unexpected success of the special license plate began pouring hundreds of thousands of dollars into the centennial fund.

"We were looking at very minimal funding, and now we're looking at adequate funding," Commission Chairman Martin Peterson said.

The special red-white-and-blue plates, costing an additional $25 initially and $10 a year for renewal, were originally expected to bring in about $100,000 a year over the next four years to help underwrite the centennial events.

But instead of selling just 2,000 of the plates during the first half of this year, the state sold nearly 30,000.

Judge threatens to close Bannock jail

FUCATELLO (AP) — A district judge is threatening to close the Bannock County jail if a plan isn't submitted within two weeks for compliance with court-ordered improvements, which include addition of a law library.

Sixth District Judge Boyd L. White ordered the improvements Thursday and told Sheriff S.R. Gameson to come up with a plan for exercise yard for inmates.

Grievances filed by Michael Green, a former inmate, led to the order. White said that if plans for improvements are not submitted within the specified time, he would proceed with the "distasteful alternative" of ordering the jail closed.

Gameson said he did not know if White's order would be appealed.

In addition to a law library, Gameson ordered construction of an exercise yard for inmates.

DOE OKs reactor conversion

IDAHO FALLS (AP) — A program to convert an idle reactor at the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory into a cancer treatment facility has received the commitment of the U.S. Department of Energy.

Department officials have decided to reallocate $9 million from its 1988 budget to fund the first-year of the Boron Neutron Capture Therapy program, said Sen. James McClure.

The INEL will use $5 million to convert the Power Burst Facility for use as a treatment facility for certain types of inoperable brain tumors. The remaining funds will be used for related clinical tests on dogs at Brookhaven National Laboratory in New York.

But before DOE can formally allocate the money, it must gain Congressional approval.

The therapy has been developed to combat a type of brain tumor that has tentacles, called glioblastomas.

Researchers say the idled power burst reactor is an ideal treatment because it can produce more high-energy neutrons than attack the tumor even after dangerous gamma radiation is filtered.

"There's no other reactor in the world that is better suited ... for use in this kind of research," McClure said.

Pence will use directive on absentee ballots

By The Associated Press and The Times-News

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls County Clerk Richard Pence has agreed to change the procedures used to count absentee ballots in the next election, including setting up a bipartisan panel to observe. Chief Deputy Secretary of State Ben Yursa said Friday Pence was sent a "directive" last week to change his election procedures, which apparently violated state law in the 1986 election. Pence said Friday he asked for the directive and he will follow its provisions. "I am glad we did it because the law is not clear," Pence said. "The only thing I did not do was check with the secretary of state office on this procedure (before the election)."

Because the law is not clear, Pence said, he does not feel his actions last election day were illegal. "Everything is OK until it is challenged," he said. In this chief change, a bipartisan panel will be on hand when the county clerk's office opens absentee ballots and enters them into the county's vote-counting machines, Yursa said. Earlier in the week, a bipartisan County Democrat leader sent a request to the secretary of state's office, urging the state to take over the next Twin Falls County election to assure "a fair and honest" election. "Donald McMurrian noted problems under Pence's administration. Officials said Pence acknowledged that he opened some 470 absentee ballots before last November's general election, and entered the results into the system, with no observers on hand. Election officials said absentee ballots are not supposed to be opened until the day of the election, and it is supposed to be done before a bipartisan election commission. McMurrian also alleged that Pence delayed the selection of registrars and other election officials, and appointed a proponent of Republicans. But Yursa said the secretary of state's office acted in the Twin Falls matter before receiving McMurrian's letter, which arrived on Thursday. In any event, Yursa said the election process does not desire to take over the election process of any county, something which he said should be under strict local control. McMurrian said Friday he considered the directive a "first step." But McMurrian said he would still like the secretary of state's office to be involved. "If they ignore us, and there are more violations, it puts the secretary of state as much in violation as the county clerk," McMurrian said. "The request for state supervision has been made." Secretary of State Fete Cenarrusa was quoted earlier in the week as saying he felt workshops and educational forums with Pence and his staff would clear up the problems. Cenarrusa said he was confident the election problems wouldn't recur. Yursa said he sent Pence a "draft directive" last week and will issue the final directive next week, something that Pence has agreed to the changes. The state sends directives on election procedures as a matter of routine, he said, usually to all the counties. If the directive is not obeyed, Yursa said the county prosecutor or "any citizen" can seek a court order. He said prosecution of any subsequent violation should be up to the county prosecutor. "We have every assurance from Mr. Pence that he will follow that directive," Yursa said. "It's something that I think will be handled properly from now on." Twin Falls County Prosecutor K. Ellen Baxter investigated the complaints against Pence but concluded, no criminal charges were warranted. "The key is bipartisan involvement in the county election and in observation of the election process," said Yursa.

Proposed pool site draws protest from neighbors

By BART JANSEN Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — About 30 residents, faced with having a city swimming pool "literally in our backyards," told Twin Falls officials Friday that the traffic accompanying the proposed high school site would be intolerable. Locust Street "has one of the highest rates of speeding in the city," said Ferd Scherbinske, who lives near the site of the proposed pool. He echoed others in the group, recalling that cars have run into his house — twice. Residents recounted how cars pass by their homes going 60 mph or 70 mph. And under proposed plans, Stadium Boulevard would be closed, forcing even more traffic into the roadway. "What about the congestion on Lynwood Boulevard?" asked Mrs. Neal Garrison, who characterized cars zooming around the corner of her street "at 50 mph on two wheels." These comments came during a 45-minute meeting at the high school tennis courts Friday afternoon that was organized by neighboring residents seeking an explanation of the pool plans. City Manager Tom Courtney and Mayor

Doug Vollmer brought diagrams of pool proposals that would place Lynwood Street just to the north of the high school tennis courts. But residents across Locust Street or living along Princeton Drive, which borders the district land to the north, feared increased traffic congestion. Complaints focused on leaving Locust Street the sole access to the pool parking lot. Suggested alternatives ranged from the previous pool location in Harmon Park to other district land at Robert Stuart Junior High School to different sites at the high school. But Courtney and Vollmer ticked off problems with each suggestion and even batted down an idea residents did not bring up. The loudest chorus heralded placing the pool at Harmon Park, site of the former city pool that was closed in 1983. But Courtney said there is no more room at that busy park, where the actual pool site was filled in and became a parking lot. Former school superintendent Gary Piller, who lives along Locust Street, suggested that if district land must be used, Robert Stuart has open acreage on the other side of town. While Vollmer said the high school was picked as a population center for people using the pool, Piller said he didn't buy that argument. Piller said I.B. Perrine Elementary school was built next to Robert Stuart because of expected growth there. "They anticipated that that time (when Perrine was built in 1985) that that would be where the growth will be," Piller said. In addition to population, city officials cite the advantage of hot water from the district's geothermal well at the high school to help heat the pool. Courtney put another site to shame before it was suggested. He said building a pool next to the College of Southern Idaho gym was discussed, but that because of rocky ground at the site, the price tag would have shot up $2 million. "It would be very expensive to build the pool there — you would have to blast it out," Courtney said. Still, the high school site raised the ire of neighboring residents. And a condition the school district attached to the site, calling for a closure of Stadium Boulevard, added fuel to the fire. "I think only exits and entrances with Locust being open — I think that's a mistake," Piller said. Referring to Courtney's discussions with CSI and the school district, Princeton Drive resident Jeff Ruprecht added, "We are the third group to be asked to discuss this because it is right in our backyards." The condition was always to meet with you, but we should have done it before it hit the newspaper," Vollmer told the crowd. If the pool must be at the high school site, residents suggested other locations including a nearby spot along Stadium Boulevard between the tennis courts and Sawtooth Elementary or across Stadium, next to Twin Falls High School. Courtney said these alternatives were not on the table during preliminary discussions with Superintendent Carl Snow. But Courtney and Vollmer said they would try to set up a special school board meeting next week to discuss the alternatives. Voters defeated a $2.7 million bond proposal in 1984 for a pool that would have featured a roof and been adjacent to the high school. The current proposal calls for an estimated $1 million pool without a roof, Courtney said, a roof could be put on in three to five years, perhaps from the city saving up the money as it did for $770,000 of this proposal.

Dance club offers teens new social alternative

By CLAUDINE CHAMBERLAIN Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Movies get old. Bars are illegal. Cruising can be dangerous. A short list of alternatives faces the youth of Magic Valley in search of "something to do." As of Thursday night, a new alternative has been added to the list. Future of America, a non-alcoholic dance club, has moved in at 1115 Blue Lakes Blvd. North, the former location of Claude Sports. The combined effort of owner Al Lee and manager Sid Vanderpool over the past two months has turned the former sporting goods store into a dance club like those that have gained popularity in cities such as Salt Lake City and Seattle. Lee, president of KARTZ103 radio station in Jerome, said the idea was suggested by his daughter, a student at Ricks College in Rexburg. "She went to the Galleria, a dance club there, and said I should put one in Twin Falls," Vanderpool, owner and proprietor of Music Magic mobile systems, said he had always wanted to manage a club, but had only ideas and no funds. Lee's financial support, remodeling of the building began two months ago. The club now contains over $20,000 worth of audio/video equipment, a new black and white checkered floor, and the latest in dance club lighting. Decor follows a pink, blue and black color theme, designed by inspirations of Burley. Major changes to the building include covering a large window and constructing a raised dance floor. Dance floor special effects include spinning colored lights, a strobe light and a fog machine. "No expense was spared," Lee said, adding that the equipment represents the latest in technology. The club will be open Wednesday nights from 7-10 p.m., Fridays from 8 p.m. to midnight and Saturday nights from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. Wednesday will probably be "Junior High Night," he said. A door charge of $3 will be collected. ♦ See CLUB on Page A5

TFHS seniors learn how to be enterprising during Business Week

By CLAUDINE CHAMBERLAIN Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Few high school students had the opportunity to manage a company of their own, but the 17 seniors attending Business Week in Boise recently did just that. For two one-week sessions, high school seniors from all over the state occupied dorms and classrooms at Boise State University, learning about the free enterprise system and what a future in business may hold for them. The 17 students from Twin Falls High School say the seminar was an educational and rewarding experience. Among other activities, the students organized and managed their own businesses by working with a special computer program. Companies consisting of five firms and three students for each firm were established. The students were able to plug in information such as the type of product, the amount they wanted to sell, a marketing plan and a budget. Results of their decisions were calculated by the computer and printed out for the students to see. ♦ See BUSINESS on Page A5

Expands on 4-H format with rodeo, jamboree, and 'something for everybody' Minidoka plans 'best ever' fair

By ADELL HARVEY Times-News correspondent

RUPERT — A number of innovations will make this year's Minidoka County Fair "the best ever," according to fair board member Wade Zollinger. "Everything is new this year," Zollinger said. "We've completely redone the grounds, painted the buildings, and added a number of new events." He said the county fair has been basically a 4-H event in recent years, but this year's fair board is attempting to make it into "a traditional county fair, with something for everybody." Activities begin Monday at 8 p.m. with an Eastern Idaho Rodeo Association-sanctioned rodeo. Special features of the rodeo will be a "kiss-mutton-bustin'" contest and a grandmothers' rodeo queen contest. Zollinger said eight grandmothers are vying for the title "Queen of the Minidoka County Fair and Rodeo," with the oldest horseback-riding grandmas 81 years old. Sponsored by the Minidoka Wranglers, the rodeo will continue on Tuesday at 8 p.m. Wednesday is Family Jamboree Night at the fair, with Raintree and the Ray Stockton Band featured. Thursday will feature a cheerleader show and gymkhana, while Friday's special feature a stock horse and mule show. This will include stock cutting and mule pleasure classes, and team penning on a draw-plazer basis. A draft-horse exhibition will begin Saturday at 1 p.m., followed by the Intermountain Horse Fair at 6 p.m.

"We hope to capitalize on draft horses, since very little is done with them in this area," Zollinger said. Cost for the rodeo is $3.50 for adults and $2 for children. The draft horse pull will cost $1 for adults and $2 for children. All other activities are free. Zollinger emphasized that 4-H and Future Farmer of America activities will still be very much a part of the fair, as will traditional exhibits and judging. The fat stock sale will be held Saturday morning. The Minidoka County Board of Commissioners recently appointed an entirely new fair board consisting of Judy Wright, Ron Kinship, Judy Parkins, Judy Weeks, Marvin Bingham, Nick Derrington and Wade Zollinger, Wright is chairman. Joanna Smith was appointed secretary. ♦ See QUEEN on Page A1

Grandmothers vie for rodeo queen crown

By ADELL HARVEY Times-News correspondent

RUPERT — The woman who reigns over the Minidoka County Fair as rodeo queen this year may look a little older than the traditional rodeo queen.

menton, of course, that she must be able to ride a horse. "Despite the requirements, there has been no lack of entrants. Seven women have entered the contest. All of the progeny of these women show up to 'watch Grandma run,'" the grandstands will be full. Among descendants of all seven contestants are 40 children, 116 grandchildren and 400 great-grandchildren.

Linda Zollinger, president of the Minidoka Wranglers, who are sponsoring the unusual queen contest, said, "We wanted to honor some of the great ladies who laid the foundation of rodeo here at the fair. This seemed a real good way to do it." The oldest contestant, Verne Hawkins Paul is 81 years old and holds many firsts. She was the first to ride an American Quarter horse. ♦ See QUEEN on Page A1

Zimmerman wins Miss Northside title

JEROME — Sjann Zimmerman, the 17-year-old daughter of Wayne and Barbara Zimmerman of Jerome, won the Miss Northside title Friday night.

She will now compete in the Miss Idaho pageant in Boise next week.

BARBARA ZIMMERMAN
Eligible for state title

The swimsuit competition, and Zimmerman won both the talent and evening gown competitions, Becker said.

Simmerman is a 1987 Jerome High School graduate. She was student director for several plays, choreographer for the drill team and Chorallars and has had several roles in Dilettantes of Magic Valley JUMP Camp and Northside Playhouse productions.

A member of the 1987 All-Northwest choir, she was scheduled to sing a selection from the musical "Oliver" for Friday's talent competition.

Supercollider project could mean millions to state, debt to county

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — The panel, and one more meeting is scheduled for mid-August. Washington could make hundreds of millions of dollars in the long run if the Supercollider is built in Lincoln County, but the state, must submit its proposal to the U.S. Department of Energy by July 31. For Washington's bid were told Fri. Sept. 2.

Members of the state panel helping prepare Washington's proposal to build the giant $4 billion atom smasher — "lose" money, advisers to technical revisions, revenue impact and state and local proposed enhancements.

It was the third such meeting for the panel, and one more meeting is scheduled for mid-August. Washington could make hundreds of millions of dollars in the long run if the Supercollider is built in Lincoln County, but the state, must submit its proposal to the U.S. Department of Energy by July 31. For Washington's bid were told Fri. Sept. 2.

Chase said estimates show Washington could wind up with a net surplus of nearly $373 million in that period; Spokane County, where most of the support services would be located, $83 million.

But Lincoln County could wind up with a $31 million deficit, Chase said.

The economist stressed that the figures are preliminary, and will change dramatically before final estimates are released Aug. 7.

The preliminary analysis is based on the assumption that about a third of the population involved in supercollider work will live in Lincoln site development costs and operation and maintenance fees from the Water quality meeting location moved

The public meeting is to discuss a plan to classify all 7,600 miles of Idaho's streams and rivers to protect water quality. It is sponsored by the state Department of Health and Welfare and the Idaho Department of Lands.

Residents will receive maps of proposed classifications. Officials will discuss what the plan means to future development in the state.

Folkings file for divorce

TWIN FALLS — State Rep. Colla Gould Folkling, R-Buhl, and her husband, Jim, have filed for a divorce court records show.

Folkling, 29, and her husband were married on July 17, 1979 in Buhl. They have a 2½-year-old son, James Dale. Mrs. Folkling is asking for $200 a month in child support, and the couple is asking for joint custody of the son.

The couple cited "irreconcilable differences" as the reason for the divorce, records show.

Folkling, who was elected last year to the seat vacated by House Speaker T. W. Stivers, said Friday it was a hard decision.

"It is painful, and a hard thing to do, but we felt it was best for both of us," she said. "He is on the road with his job, and it was not working out any longer."

Bliss man faces assault charges

GOODING — A man wanted on armed robbery charges in Boise is being held in the Gooding County Jail awaiting a preliminary hearing on aggravated assault charges.

The Gooding County sheriff said Friday, Richard Jack Mills, 28, of Bliss, was arrested early Wednesday morning after a fight in Bliss, said Sheriff Robert Aja. A bystander who cut in the hand during the fight with a knife, Aja said.

A preliminary hearing is scheduled Monday on the assault charges, and then Ada County officials will be advised of the status, Aja said.

Queen

In Idaho, way back in 1938. She was also an original member of the Mindoka Wranglers Association.

The final three contestants, all 53 years old, belle the myth that grandmothers sit in rocking chairs and spoil grandchildren, Shirley Reynolds, owner and operator of the Drift Inn of Rupert, also helps on the farm, and plays darts and pool.

Mary Russell of Rupert owns and operates the Blue Room. Also a dart thrower, she enjoys fishing and flower arranging. She is a member of the Minto Soroptimists.

Tough to beat in the horsemanship contests will be Beth Franks of Rupert, who is a professional barrel racer. She is considered a pro in the hot sport of pole bending, and an actively designing for grandmothers. She rides in the rodeo circuit with her daughter, and also enjoys boating and snowmobiling.

The contestants were interviewed for the opportunity to give a portion of the contest at a luncheon July 25. Today at 7:30 p.m. they will compete in a riding pattern and game events at the fairgrounds. Monday they will be officially presented at the rodeo, where each will ride a buck and give the traditional "queen's salute."

"The judges will have a tough time, as all of the contestants are terrific ladies and great horsewomen," Zollinger said. She said that among the women is the grandmother queen contest an annual event.

Jogging case ruling overturned

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho Court of Appeals says there is a reasonable doubt as to who was at fault when a juror jogger was struck and injured by a passing vehicle.

The court on Friday overturned a decision by acting 5th District Judge John Varin and ordered the case sent back to district court for a decision whether a new trial should be ordered.

Richard Smith, the jogger, sued Joyce Praegeritz, driver of the vehicle, after he was struck by a car on a trial of the jury found each party 50 percent at fault for the accident. But the judge granted Smith's motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict, and ruled Mrs. Praegeritz was 100 percent at fault for the accident.

On appeal, the Court of Appeals said testimony indicated there was substantial basis for the jury's award.

"The very nature of the jury process allows jurors to resolve the factual issue upon evidence presented in light of the jurors' general life experiences and with a sense of what is reasonable and what is not," the court said.

The ruling is a subject well-suited for resolution by a jury. It is for the jury to decide what a reasonably careful person would do under circumstances shown by the evidence."

In another decision announced on Friday the court upheld a one-year jail term ordered in a Nez Perce County drug case. Theresa Kay Roy was ordered to jail by Judge John Maynard for violating probation on a previous drug charge. The court rejected the woman's claim that drugs and paraphernalia seized by officers belonged to her son.

The court also upheld the conviction and two-year prison term ordered for Conrad Cline in an Ada County burglary case.

Business

During the two weeks, 500 students and more than 75 business people participated in the program. Business Week is sponsored jointly by the Idaho Association of Commerce and Industry, the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and Boise State University.

Local students who attended the program agreed that the time was well spent. Tracee Carlson, a TWES senior, said that Business Week is a real benefit to students. It is a decision to pursue a career in law.

"New I know exactly how corporations work and the laws they have to follow. It helped me decide to go into law," she said.

Business is a popular career choice for high school students, said advisor Jerry Olson. "It's one of the major fields students are looking at now. What else is there, really?" he said.

The program is a benefit to students. It is a decision to pursue a career in law. "New I know exactly how corporations work and the laws they have to follow. It helped me decide to go into law," she said.

Each student is sponsored by a local business or club, which covers the cost of meals, dormitory living and all course materials.

Tom Ashenbrenner, president of the Twin Falls Rotary Club, said the organization sponsored two students this year to help them receive the only business education available before college.

"It's important to learn about free enterprise. Business is a practical, realistic field. They (the students) realize they have a better-than-normal chance of making a living at it when they get out of college," he said.

Les Hazen, president of Cain's Furniture, agreed that students need the supplementary education of Business Week to give them what high school fails to provide.

"The schools do a good job, but it's not the same as going there and having a one-on-one experience in realistic field. They (the students) realize they have a better-than-normal chance of making a living at it when they get out of college," he said.

Meeting businesspeople and learning about their experiences in the field was also beneficial, the students said. "It shows you the kind of person you need to be, the kind of attitude you need to have," Allen said. Through many students expressed an interest in marketing, the purpose of Business Week is to educate students on the market economy, Little said. "Whether they end up in business or at the blue-collar job, the program is designed just to teach them how the marketplace works," he said.

Students usually arrive at Business Week with "pre-conceived notions" of how businesses work; he added. A questionnaire given at the beginning and end of the week shows a significant change, he said.

When asked how much profit per dollar supermarkets make, the students answered 15 cents at the beginning of the week. By the end of the program, they knew the correct answer, which is one to one and a half cents, he said.

Out of approximately 1,500 students who applied, only 500 were accepted to the program. "The high school students were exciting to be around. Their interest and questions continually challenged the speakers and business leaders," Little said.

Club

The Wednesday night crowd will probably be between the ages of 14 and 17, he said. Weekend dancers will represent the 16-20 age group, he added. The club has a capacity of 600 people.

Lee said he is expecting a "pretty good turn-out." Vanderpool sent a survey to local high schools in the fall, to which 80 percent of the 1,500 students surveyed responded favorably on the question of a dance club.

"All the kids say there's nothing to do. This is just another alternative," he said.

The lack of youth-oriented activities in the area has not changed since the 1940s, Lee said. "Even when I was in high school, we used to come to Twin Falls looking for something to do. Twin Falls is a melting pot," he said.

Vanderpool said he can also relate to the plight of youth in a small town. "I know what it is like to have nothing to do. When I was in high school, we went to the Disco Dock, but that is not there anymore," he said.

The main purpose of the club is to serve as a meeting place for local teens, Lee said. "It will be a gathering place, a place to go and have fun," he said.

The type of fun offered by Vanderpool will be non-alcoholic and free of cigarettes and chewing tobacco, he said. "If we think a person may have been drinking, they cannot come in," he said.

A bar in the corner of the dance floor will offer various soft drinks, as well as seltzer water and fruit drinks. While dancing to the sounds of their favorite artists, Fastrax customers will be able to sip Bananarama, the Cure, Coladas and Madonna's Mista.

Mike Babcock, a Fastrax D.J., said the music format will focus on DOR — dance-oriented rock. "It (the club) will expose people to new and different types of music," he said.

Customers, though, will determine the music choices, Vanderpool said. "We are playing for the kids that come through the door. We are not playing for ourselves," he said.

Dances will be played on a monitor in the front room and on a large section of the wall in the main room. Graphics, provided by Video Pool, will be shown for songs lacking videos.

Dancing is a popular, but limited, activity for local youth, Lee said. "I think they are ready for it. LDS stake dances have 'been' a big success, but a lot of (non-Mormon) kids do not want to go to them," he said.

He hopes the club attracts a variety of people. "They might cruise, one night and come here the next or go to a movie one night and come here the next," Lee said.

"We are shooting for everybody," Vanderpool said.

The location of the club on Blue Lake might attract "cruisers," but it should not be seen as a cure to the problems associated with cruising, he added. "This will be an alternative to cruising, but it will not take care of the problems," Vanderpool said.

Selective Service System

Young men born on or after January 1, 1960 are required to register with Selective Service within a month of their 18th birthday.

The registration process takes less than five minutes at the post office. A young man fills out a simple form asking only for his name, date of birth, address, telephone number and Social Security number.

Registration helps keep our country prepared with a pool of names to draw from in case of a national emergency... without interfering with people's lives. When you think about it... that's not a lot to ask for a country as great as ours.

It's quick. It's easy. And it's the Law.

Hofmann's revelations should bolster beliefs of the faithful

By ROBERT MIMS The Associated Press

SALT LAKE CITY — Mark W. Hofmann's revelations of how he bilked the Mormon Church and others out of small fortunes for bogus historical documents should bolster the beliefs of the faithful, church officials say.

In detailed accounts of his illicit trade contained in 560 pages of prison interviews released Friday, Hofmann said a desperate need for money and pressure to produce a non-existent collection of papers led to his planting of bombs that killed Steven Christensen and Kathleen Sheets, wife of Christensen associate Gary Sheets, on Oct. 15, 1985.

At an afternoon news conference, church spokesman Richard Lindsey expressed sympathy for the families of Hofmann's victims, but said "The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, to feel sorry for the families of the victims is to..."

document scandals rocked the foundations of the church. "As some violations have transpired. Of course they have not," Lindsey said. "Now we know the truth about these documents, the events of the last two years have in no way undermined the traditional history of the church."

He said the church's acquisitions of Hofmann documents was in keeping with a "divine mandate" to effect since the faith's 1830 founding calling for collection of artifacts important to church history.

Lindsey denied the church acquired the documents to cover up potentially embarrassing revelations about Mormon history. He said the church's publication of even controversial items it had obtained disproves such allegations.

Lindsey also denied that the church — which he said was briefed on the transcripts' contents Thursday — had "misused" information's office — had pushed prosecutors into offering Hofmann the plea bargain so some of the faith's leadership could avoid testifying in court.

dealer, bolstered the reason for Hofmann's criminal success may have been due more to luck than his finesse as a forger.

Tanner said Hofmann's revelations in the transcripts Friday supported her earlier claims that Hofmann's unmaking of a fraud likely would buy the faith of most members.

"They'll just dismiss all problems (with the veracity of traditional church history) as resulting from forgers. They'll just say, 'Oh, that's all probably a result of Mark Hofmann's stuff,' said Tanner, whose Utah Lighthouse Ministries publishes works challenging Mormon history and doctrine.

However, Tanner insists that church historians now are questioning the faith's foundations, partly because of research spawned by Hofmann's now-discredited discoveries — including the so-called "White Salamander" letter, which linked Smith to folk magic.

Martin Harris in 1830, he failed to spot it as a forgery.

The letter, sold to Christensen and Sheetz in 1984 for $40,000, describes how a magical white salamander — rather than the angel Immanuel — foretold accounts — initially prevented Smith from getting the gold plates from which the Book of Mormon was purportedly translated.

In the prison interviews, Hofmann said forgers the Harris letter was a challenge because only examples of Harris' signatures were available. Rendell said lack of handwriting samples complicated his assessment of the document.

"I couldn't find any evidence it was a forgery. There was no handwriting to compare it to. But I found there was no evidence it was genuine, either," he recalled.

Later, church historians declared the Harris letter authentic, and it wasn't until Hofmann himself said so — as part of a plea bargain allowing him to plead guilty to second-degree murder and two counts of theft by deception — that it became clear the document was bogus.

Mutiny charges filed on crew

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Two shrimp boat crewmen accused of beating the captain and firing mate and forcing them overboard into shark-infested waters were charged Friday with mutiny and two counts each of intent to commit murder.

The charges are definitely considering murder as a possible additional charge. If the captain is not found alive, said chief prosecutor Walter Postula.

The Coast Guard said it has suspended the search off Cape Canaveral for the master of the 55-foot shrimp, Phillip Roush, 28. The first mate, Willie Charpentier, was rescued after being in the water about 12 hours.

Billy Gossett Jr., 22, and William Leroy Rector, 21, were brought before U.S. Magistrate Donald Dietrich in Orlando Friday. They were shoeless, handcuffed and shackled at the ankles and wore the T-shirts and blue shorts they were wearing when arrested by the FBI on the shrimp boat Thursday.

A piracy charge originally lodged by the FBI was stricken and replaced with the piracy and attempted murder counts.

As they were entering the courtroom, the short, baby-faced Rector turned and curtly told reporters: "I didn't do it."

Nelb's defendant spoke as FBI agent John E. Decker presented an affidavit to Dietrich saying that "Big Bill" Gossett hit Roush three times over the head with a hammer into Wednesday and that "Little Bill" Rector attacked Charpentier with a pry bar.

The agent quoted Charpentier as saying he dove overboard and as he swam away from the 65-foot shrimp, "He saw the captain's body being hoisted over the side and dropped in the ocean by Little Bill and Big Bill."

Lonetree's lawyers accuse government

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — Lawyers for Sgt. Clayton Lonetree sought unsuccessfully Friday to obtain certain intelligence cables, arguing the government has lied and improperly withheld the documents in the Marine's espionage court-martial.

"Quite frankly, we think this is outrageous," defense attorney Michael Stuhff told the military judge, Navy Capt. Philip F. Roberts. "The government has been hiding information."

Stuhff's remarks came as the defense prepared to call to the stand its investigator, Lake Headley, who was said to have learned of the alleged government lies.

The chief prosecutor, Marine Maj. David L. Beck, said the defense had been given documents it asked for and could not show there was anything pertinent in the additional intelligence cables, which were transmitted from several European cities.

Some of the cables are believed to be CIA documents, but lawyers have been forbidden in open court from mentioning the agency affiliation of certain materials and witnesses.

After several rounds of argument with Stuhff, Beck agreed to bring the documents to court for Roberts' review.

After examining the documents, Roberts said they would not be admitted because they did not seem relevant to the case against Lonetree.

Charleston mayor named in indictment

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Michael Carey, Mayor Mike Roark, dogged by allegations of drug use since his days as the county prosecutor, was indicted Friday on charges he distributed cocaine and interfered with investigators.

The indictment alleges Roark distributed cocaine in his office, in a high school parking lot, and before a concert in Charleston.

The Republican mayor, who was re-elected in landslide in April, has long maintained that allegations of his drug use were false. There was no answer at his home telephone, and a secretary said he was out of the office and not available.

The indictment includes 33 felony charges and 17 misdemeanor charges, said U.S. Attorney Michael Carey. "Roark is charged with obstructing justice by causing a witness to provide false information to the FBI, inducing the witness to commit perjury and conspiring to obstruct justice and commit perjury," Carey said.

Drug rumors first hit the newspapers in 1983, as Roark waged a successful campaign to unseat Mayor Joe Smith, a Democrat.

According to those rumors, the FBI had investigated the disappearance of a small vial of cocaine that was confiscated by police in 1982 drug raid.

At the time, Roark was Kanawha County prosecutor, and the rumors said he, two police officers and a deputy sheriff were the only people to handle the vial after it was seized.

Adelman: Soviet arms offer overlooks large land missiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Arms control director Kenneth L. Adelman said Friday that the new Soviet proposal on reducing long-range nuclear weapons was unacceptable because it would not limit large Soviet land-based missiles.

He also accused the Soviets of "stonewalling" by insisting on significant reductions in the Strategic Defense Initiative, or SDI, as part of an agreement on long-range weapons.

"Unless the Soviets change their position, it's dead in the water," Adelman said in a Voice of America interview program. The Soviet treaty text was presented earlier to U.S. negotiators in Geneva. State Department spokesman Charles E. Redman welcomed the move but said the draft "incorporates the same unacceptable linkage that would hold hostage strategic offensive arms reductions to measures that would, in effect, kill the SDI program."

Adelman, going further, called the draft "a filing out of an unacceptable approach in many ways."

Mostly, he said, the Soviet stand was "unacceptable because they are not concentrating on the worst problem — fixed land-based missiles." The United States aims to sharply reduce the 300 SS-18 heavy Soviet missiles that can reach U.S. targets by imposing sub-limits in a treaty that would reduce overall U.S. and Soviet strategic arsenals by 50 percent.

President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev tentatively agreed on a 50 percent cutback in long-range bombers, missiles and submarines at their summit last October in Reykjavik, Iceland.

But Adelman said the Soviets "have really done nothing" to accelerate a treaty since then. Referring to their renewed effort this week to link cutbacks to restraints on a U.S. anti-missile defense.

What's what

Speak of reindeer

One out of every four words in the language of the Lapps, I'm told, has something to do with reindeer.

"Why do city dogs live longer, statistically, than country dogs?" I asked. "Simple," writes a savvy client. "Small dogs live longer than large dogs, and city dogs tend to be of the smaller variety."

That impresario of yesteryear, Flo Ziegfeld, once tried to stage a show called "The Dancing Ducks of Denmark." He put the ducks on a raised platform of steel plates, heated by kerosene - burns - conceals underneath. Did those ducks ever dance! The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals closed him down.

Q. That custom of playing "Hail to the Chief" whenever the U.S. president walks in - who started it?

A. Mrs. James K. Polk. It had irritated her that people sometimes failed to pay prompt attention to President Polk.

That zoo with more birds, mammals and reptiles than any other is West Berlin's.

Ask your family scientist how you'd do on Venus where the atmosphere is 96 percent carbon dioxide.

Q. Only one vegetable grows both in the desert and 14,000 feet up the mountains. Name it.

A. Potato.

Just the insects eaten by spiders every year outweigh all the people alive.

Daily Horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning presents the possibility of support from an unusual person which you hadn't expected. Trust this individual and follow the advice given if it seems sound.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): After much accomplishment in the business world, be careful that you do nothing foolish to ruin your day.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Avoid an individual who consistently tries to influence your opinions. You don't need the aggravation.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): An unexpected invitation should be accepted early. Schedule time to relax with your mate and a good friend.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Don't get involved in an argument between a family friend and an outsider - it'll work itself out.

LEO (July 22 to August 21): Don't try to push any new ideas you may have in mind; either they work or they don't. Be cooperative with co-workers.

VIRGO (August 22 to September 21): If you are getting advice from January '80, you may be mistaken; don't make an immediate decision - sleep on it first and then choose.

LIBRA (September 22 to October 21): Be extremely cautious in any kind of movement today. Don't let anyone sway your opinions in the business world.

SCORPIO (October 22 to November 21): Your thinking is a bit confused, so work on getting your head clear. Don't make any decisions about your job.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19): Be alert - make sure a newcomer isn't trying to pull one over on you. Be cautious in making financial decisions.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20): Study a new business venture, thoroughly from every angle. Be very cautious in motion - especially driving.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he, or she, will be very tuned in to current trends, and would do quite well in advertising or marketing. Your progeny may have a tendency to act too quickly, so teach him or her to think first. Some training in psychology would be a big help in understanding self and others.

Investigators sift wreckage in aftermath of plane crash

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Investigators on Friday examined the charred wreckage of a 35-year-old cargo plane loaded with competition horses that crashed into rush-hour traffic and exploded, killing at least 39 people.

Twenty-five people were hospitalized after Thursday's crash, said Felipe Flores, spokesman for the Attorney General's office. Nearly all the victims were on the ground.

Those hospitalized included the four-member American crew of the Boeing 777 and five of the eight Mexican passengers who were aboard, officials at the American-British-Cowdray Hospital said.

Two of the passengers were listed among the dead, including one who died at hospital Friday.

The condition of the other passenger was not immediately known.

At least 26 cars were destroyed or damaged at the site, 13 miles from Mexico City's International Airport.

Sixteen of the 18 finely-bred jumping horses from the Mexican Equestrian Federation died immediately. One horse was so badly burned a police officer at the site had to destroy it. Another horse, badly injured, was later found among smoldering grass in an embankment and was also destroyed.

A charred, crate-size horse stall bearing the words "Animal Air Service" lay upturned in a muddy field farther up the road from the crash site.

The horses were bound for equestrian events in Culpeper, Va., and Hamilton, Mass., and the passengers included their handlers.

The plane was flying to Miami from circuiting in rain Thursday afternoon on a highway southwest of Mexico City less than 10 minutes after takeoff from the airport.

Airport officials said the plane was operated by Belize Air International, a charter cargo service.

Airport Director Carlos Padilla said the cause of the crash would not be known until the investigation is complete. But he said authorities have pieced together a version of what happened from Guatemala Pina, one of the surviving passengers.

Padilla said the plane had problems from the time it took off and lost contact with the control tower. Witnesses said the plane's tail was on fire as it went down, while other accounts place the fire in the forward part of the craft.

"It seems a short circuit in the plane caused the fire," Padilla told reporters at the crash site Friday.

"The pilot, as they tried to make an emergency landing that produced the crash."

The area where the plane crashed is mountainous.

Helicopter mishap survivor claims approach was too low

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) — A survivor of the U.S. helicopter crash in the Persian Gulf was quoted Friday as saying the chopper's landing approach to the USS LaSalle was too low and it crashed into the side of the command ship.

Rescuers continued searching for three men still missing in Thursday's crash. Another crewman was killed, and five were rescued, one hospitalized in serious condition.

Pentagon spokesmen in Washington said the chopper was on a routine flight ferrying equipment and personnel from a land base to the LaSalle. The base was not identified but appeared to be Bahrain, where the Navy has berthing facilities.

Radio operators on the LaSalle, command ship of the U.S. Midwest Task Force, were reached by The Associated Press in a ship-to-shore telephone call but refused to give details of the rescue operation.

Hospital officials quoted one of the survivors, Lt. Cmdr. Walter F. Fitzpatrick III, 35, of Ventura, Calif., as saying the SH-3D Sea King came in too low. They said he reported seeing flames and being dumped into the water.

Doctors treating Fitzpatrick said he was in good condition, but hospital officials would not let journalists speak to him. Doctors and hospital personnel spoke on condition of anonymity.

The American officer suffered a dislocated shoulder and minor burns. He was flown to this central Persian Gulf emirate during the night along with another crash victim.

Fitzpatrick was at a Bahrain military hospital and Army Staff Sgt. Arthur W. Garrison, 33, Robinson, Ala., was taken to the Salmaniya Hospital and put on a respirator. He was listed in serious but stable condition with undisclosed injuries.

CBS News said the helicopter's rear rotor hit the LaSalle, causing the crash. Pentagon officials in Washington said they could not confirm that.

Diplomatic sources said the helicopter lost power, hit the ship, and plunged into the water upside down.

A U.S. Navy investigation has begun.

Iranian pilgrims killed in clash with police

MECCA, Saudi Arabia (AP) — Thousands of Iranian pilgrims demonstrated and fought with riot police near the Grand Mosque in this holy city Friday. Officials said several people were killed in a stampede.

The official Saudi Press Agency, monitored in Bahrain, reported security forces managed to contain the rioters and restore order in the city, the birthplace of the Islamic faith. It did not have casualty figures.

Iran's Islamic Republic News Agency reported it wants to attain the status of "innocent Iranian pilgrims" were killed when Saudi police opened fire on what it called a peaceful rally.

The agency, monitored in Nicosia, Cyprus, said the pilgrims were slain at the orders of the United States through its "Saudi mercenaries."

The riot began when the Iranians took to the streets around the vast mosque in a demonstration. An estimated 2.1 million Moslems from 64 countries are currently in Mecca for the pilgrimage.

Witnesses told an Associated Press stringer in Mecca that the demonstrators overturned and burned cars, blocked a number of intersections and burned offices of U.S. President Ronald Reagan.

They also barred local residents from entering near the Kaaba, Islam's holiest shrine, the witnesses said.

"A number of men and women, pilgrims as well as local residents, were killed as a result of the damage," it stated.

The Saudi Press Agency quoted an unidentified Interior Ministry official as saying in a statement. "Many others were injured, forcing security forces to intervene."

The Iranians, fresh from the afternoon congregational prayer, assembled outside the Grand Mosque and began chanting anti-American slogans.

"The throngs increased," their angry shouts building toward a crescendo, as they echoed slogans blared by a number of men, witnesses said.

"Death to America, Death to the Soviet Union, Death to Israel," the pilgrims shouted as they surged through streets and alleyways.

A group at a road intersection produced offices of the American province and burned them, witnesses said.

Tehran radio, also monitored in Nicosia, claimed the huge demonstration was attended by 155,000 Iranians making the pilgrimage to Mecca or Hajj, one of the pillars of the Islamic faith, required of all Moslems at least once if they can afford it.

The demonstration was staged at the urging of Iranian revolutionary patriarch Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini who in daily messages broadcast to the pilgrims has called on them to stage marches dubbed "Disavowal of the Pagans."

"The Disavowal of the Pagans should be carried out with as much ceremony as possible during the hajj period, in the form of demonstrations and marches," said one of Khomeini's messages, beamed by Tehran radio.

Soviet Tatars continue to protest

MOSCOW (AP) — Hundreds of Tatars vowed Friday to continue pressing their demand to return to their Crimean homeland after Soviet authorities dispersed their leaders from Moscow.

U.S. Ambassador Jack Matlock, responding to Soviet charges that American diplomats incited some of the Tatars who demonstrated in the capital to commit illegal acts, said his officers were only doing their jobs by gathering information.

A Moscow resident in regular contact with the Tatars said new leaders will be chosen from those who stay in Moscow. The Tatars, who once ruled Russia, were deported from their homeland on the Crimean peninsula in 1944 after being accused of collaborating with the Nazis.

The initiative group was detained — 18 to 20 people. Every body was sent to their places of residence," said the resident, who spoke on condition he not be identified.

The Muscovite's report was confirmed by other Tatars who have gathered in the Soviet capital in recent weeks to seek the right to return to the Crimea from the Urals, Uzbekistan and Kazakhstan.

The Moscow resident said the group of Tatars in Moscow had grown from the estimated 600 who protested in Red Square last week to about 1,100.

Those participating in next week's demonstration were asked to wear white, which has become a symbol of the anti-government protests.

The crusade is made up of 107 business, professional, labor and political groups opposed to Delvalle's government and to Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega.

Panamanians plan democracy demonstration

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — Government opponents announced plans Thursday for a major demonstration for democracy next week, and the retired colonel who sparked the protests seven weeks ago said he is being treated well in custody.

The National Civic Crusade announced that the demonstrations would begin at 2 p.m. Aug. 6 at El Carmen church in the city's modern banking district.

On July 10, dozens of soldiers and riot police fired shots and tear gas grenades into the crowd to break up a major demonstration held at the same site in defiance of President Eric Arturo Delvalle's ban on public assembly.

Villain's role is OK with Baker

The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — Joe Don Baker likes playing the villain in "The Living Daylights," but he was enthused with just the idea of being in a James Bond movie.

"It's a nice role," Baker said of the ruthless international arms dealer Brad Whitaker. "He's a crazy guy, he's got weird ideas."

"But mostly I wanted to be in a Bond movie. It's like Disneyland, and when someone says, 'Do you want to go to Disneyland?' you say yes. It's like going to a family reunion; they have it every two years, and it's first class."

Baker, who played Sheriff Buford T. Pusser in "Walking Tall," said he doesn't get many prime roles in Hollywood and his career was "saved" by going to England.

American filmmakers "don't make movies about human beings anymore," he said during a recent publicity tour. "Producers don't understand human beings. Producers now want to get rich fast, they only want to make one movie and get rich off it."

Sting's wife Styler stars in 'Fair Game'

ROME — Trudie Styler, wife of British rock singer Sting, and American actor Gregg Henry star in "Fair Game," an Italian production filmed in English and aimed at the U.S. market.

The movie is set in Los Angeles, where the film was shot on location for one week, and in the Mojave Desert, where the crew spent another week, but all interior scenes were shot in the Cinecittà film studios on the outskirts of Rome.

"It is the first time that an Italian director shoots a movie directly in English, especially for the American audience," director Mario Orfini said recently.

The $4.6 million movie is to be released in the United States before the end of this year and in Italy in 1988.

Baker said the film to meet the challenge of the U.S. market first, before it comes to Italy," Orfini said.

Baryshnikov skips part of ballet routine

ATLANTA — Dance superstar Mikhail Baryshnikov, who aggravated an old ankle injury during the first of two shows in Atlanta, was forced to skip part of a performance on his summer tour.

Baryshnikov danced all three numbers Wednesday and was left with fluid and soreness around his ankle. He withdrew Thursday from the demanding pas de deux in "Don Quixote," but danced two other works as planned.

A capacity Fox Theatre crowd of 4,600 — some of whom paid $100 for their seats — murmured in disappointment when the injury was announced, but applauded warmly for Atlanta Ballet dancers Mariya Barredo and Nicolai Pacani, who replaced Baryshnikov and partner Cheryl Yeager.

Baryshnikov came on stage after their performance and congratulated his "new dancers."

Atlanta was the fifth stop on the 27-city tour. Officials said plans remain unchanged for Saturday's performance in Savannah.

"Injuries like this occur all the time with dancers," said producer Bernie Lawrence. "Baryshnikov has never missed a performance, though occasionally he does not do certain things."

'Good Morning' host bears her third child

NEW YORK — Joan Lunden, host of ABC-TV's "Good Morning America," and her husband, television producer Michael Krass, have a third daughter, 9-pound, 8-ounce Sarah Emily.

Alyce Serrano, a GMA spokeswoman, said Ms. Lunden gave birth Thursday. She is to return to work in October. Kathleen Sullivan is filling in during her absence.

Tyson goes for it No. 1

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
The Associated Press

LAS-VEGAS, Nev. — Mike Tyson, only one month past his 21st birthday, will try to become the first undisputed heavyweight champion in nine years tonight.

A legal hurdle that threatened to block the fight against unbeaten Tony Tucker at the Las Vegas Hilton was cleared late Friday afternoon. Dennis Rappaport, who purchased a 21-percent stake in a contract for $50,000, went to Clark County Court and filed an attachment for $50,000 on Tucker's purse. Tucker is to get $1.1 million, and Tyson's purse is $2.5 million.

Rappaport contends he is owed money from Tucker's four previous fights. Clark County District Judge Carl Christensen ordered that the money had to be turned over to the Nevada State Athletic Commission before the fight in order for it to be held.

However, another district court judge, Addeilar D. Guy, ruled Friday afternoon that Tucker must put up the money within 24 hours of receiving it. Since he won't receive the money in the form of a letter of credit, until after the fight, the way was cleared for the match.

Once the money is put up, court action then will determine whether Rappaport will receive any.

Frontier Don King had earlier expressed confidence the fight would be held.

"It's only money," King said.

In another development Friday, representatives of the World Boxing Council, the World Boxing Association and the International Boxing Federation agreed to change the fight's limit from 15 rounds to 12 rounds. It would start about 8 p.m. EDT and be televised live by HBO.

Tyson is recognized as champion by the WBC and WBA. The 23-year-old Tucker holds the IBF title.

The last undisputed champion was Leon Spinks, who as an 8-1 underdog scored a 15-round split decision over Muhammad Ali here Feb. 15, 1978. The WBC then stripped Spinks for signing for a rematch against Ali instead of making a defense against Ken Norton. Ali, incidentally, won that rematch with Spinks.

While Saturday night's fight would produce an undisputed champion in the eyes of the three world sanctioning bodies, some people feel the champion is Michael Spinks.

It appeared the HBO heavyweight title unification series would end May 30 with a fight between Tyson and Spinks, who had won the IBF title by upsetting Larry Holmes.

Indians blow away Idaho Falls' Reds, 23-3, at state 'B'

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

MERIDIAN — Buhl's state tournament hex ended emphatically here Friday as the Indians scored 11 runs in a 47-minute first inning and ran the Idaho Falls Reds out of the Idaho State "B" American Legion Baseball Tournament.

The 23-3 romp by the Indians set up a loser-out battle with the Lewis-Clark Cubs of Lewiston at 10 a.m. today at Storey Park. The winners will advance to the tournament's consolation final tonight at 8.

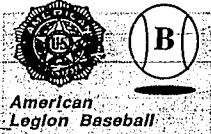

Pocatello, scoring all its runs in the bottom of the sixth inning, trimmed Lewiston 4-0 earlier Friday.

The victory was the first for Buhl at a state tournament in five years. The Indians have lost the first two games in the last three state tournaments in which they have played.

The top of the first inning was Christmas in July for Buhl as it scored its first three runs without benefit of a hit. The inning might still be going on had Buhl run bases better; Mike Brady was picked off third base and Jeremy Seabald was tagged out after overrunning second to account for two of the Indians' outs in the frame.

In between time, Buhl picked up six hits and benefited from seven wild pitches — four of which allowed runs to score. All as for four Idaho Falls errors and seven bases on balls.

That opening inning made it easy for right-hander Cornelio Hernandez, who coasted behind his big curveball to a two-hitter and just one earned run.

American Legion Baseball

Fleming was also pleased that Hernandez was able to secure the victory in five innings, noting that tournament rules prohibit one man from pitching more than 12 innings in the three days. Fleming said he would start right-hander Brian Hanson against Lewiston this morning, noting, "I think Cory can come back because he only threw 60 or 70 pitches today. If we can beat Lewiston tomorrow morning, I think our pitching will be pretty solid."

Brady, Derek Brinkman and Billy Irving had started the big first inning by drawing walks. After Brady was picked off third, Casey Boyer singled to load the bases and wild pitches breg in the first two runs.

An errant pickoff throw let Boyer score as Kelly Atkinson walked and Hernandez was credited with the first RBI when he singled in Atkinson.

A walk and another error kept the inning going before Brady and Brinkman, up for the second time in the inning, came up with RBI singles.

The victory improved Buhl's season record to 17-20, while Idaho Falls ended its season at 15-17 after losing its final six games.

Early returns

Maura Selin, left, and Tom Baird lost to Kathy Martin, right, and Ken Reagan in first-round 4.5 mixed doubles action Friday.

Late FG lifts West football stars to 19-16 victory over East

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

BOISE — The third field goal of the night by Boise's Phil Schade, an 18-yarder with 11 seconds remaining, capped a late fourth-quarter comeback and allowed the West to nip the East 19-16 in the Idaho State Coaches' Association All-Star Football Game here Friday.

The West appeared out of it when East ended a 47-yard field goal from Randy Tate of Blackfoot to establish a 16-8 advantage. But Matt Martinez of Boise's Borah High School blocked a Nate punt with 4 minutes and 57 seconds left to set up the West's comeback on the East's 42-yard line.

At that point, five major penalty calls against the East weighed perhaps more importantly on the final minutes than the action. The first penalty gave the West a first down at the East 13, and after being held three downs the East was hit with a piling-on penalty against Gooding's Todd Kimmes that gave the West a first down by no more

In spite of 10 points by Twin Falls' Kaba, West's volleyball stars beat East, 3-2

BOISE (AP) — Substitutes Sherry Sharp of Post Falls and Gloria Sexton of St. Maries were the catalysts who engineered a 3-2 victory for the West in the Idaho State Coaches' Association All-Star Volleyball Game here Friday.

Sharp, attending an Idaho Coaches Clinic in basketball at Boise State University, took the place of another, only to provide 20 points and 29 assists against the East at Boise State Friday.

Sexton also came in unexpectedly to produce 30 kills and her serves in the final game put the West ahead to stay. Shawn Kaba of Twin Falls was high-point player for the East with 10 points.

Intercepted a pass at the West 37. That led to nothing, however, as Belita threw three straight incompletions. But immediately after the possession exchange, Wendell's Ken Branson recovered a fumble. The East rolled to a first down inside the 10, but was held.

A fumble midway through the second quarter set up a 41-yard East drive that ended when Skyline's Vince Bateman plunged in from the 3 and Nate kicked the point-after.

Immediately thereafter, the West drove to Schade's second field goal, a 44-yarder with 37 seconds left in the half.

Belita was caught in the end zone for a safety as the West regained the lead 8-7 three plays into the second half. Schade then missed field goal attempts of 47 and 57 yards on the next two possessions before Palmer started making his presence felt.

He completed four passes and Bateman picked up some running yardage to highlight an 80-yard drive. Bateman scored from the 6, but the East's attempt at a two-point conversion resulted in an incomplete pass.

Early in the fourth quarter, the East took a West punt at midfield and moved down for its final points. At one point, it had a first down at the 11, but two penalties and a sack later — one of the penalties nullifying an apparent touchdown pass — Nate dropped back to kick his 48-yard field goal.

Cowboys start district with 18-1 rout of Minico

By STEVE CRUMP
Times-News sports editor

POCATELLO — Like Minico Coach Cory Bridges, Twin Falls' Mike Federico looked a little dazed after the opening game of the Southern Region "A" American Legion Baseball Tournament here Friday.

"We did everything right in this one — everybody hit the ball, we didn't commit any errors and Kevin (Ames) kept his breaking pitches down," said Federico after his Cowboys pummeled Minico 18-1. "It's a great way to start a district tournament."

That onslaught, combined with Pocatello's subsequent 4-0 blanketing of Blackfoot, set a rocking tone for today's serious business of trimming the five-team field to three. That process will begin at 10 this morning in Pocatello's — Halliwell

American Legion Baseball

Park when Minico and Blackfoot get together for a loser-out game, followed by a loser-out matchup at 5 p.m. with the tournament's championship semifinal game between Pocatello and the winner of the Idaho Falls-Twin Falls game scheduled for 8 p.m.

The winner of tonight's late game will qualify for one spot in the state "A" Legion tournament in Lewiston next week, while the two teams remaining in this tournament will lose each will collide at 10 a.m. Sunday.

The winner of that game will also go to state, then play in the district championship game at 1 p.m.

It was an eye-opening performance by the Cowboys, a team with just three players hitting over 300 for the season. Twin Falls hammered out 17 hits, eight of them for extra bases. Shortstop Barry Smith was 4-for-5 with a double, a triple and four runs batted in. Boomer Walker got 2-for-5 with three RBIs and Matt Rasmussen went 2-for-3 with an RBI. And they were the Cowboys' No. 7, No. 8 and No. 9 hitters, respectively.

"One of the nice things about winning this way is that Kevin only pitched five innings and he can pitch again," said Federico, who can still get seven more innings out of his ace right-hander in this tourney. "If we lose tomorrow (to Idaho Falls), he'll be available when we need him."

Federico said Friday's blowout bolsters Twin Falls' goal of getting to the state tournament as the champion or runner-up of the southern district, something that hasn't happened in a decade. The Cowboys went to state last year and in 1985 as the third-place team in a three-berth district.

"We have no excuses against Idaho Falls," he said. "If we play hard, get the hits, play defense and get a good 'pitching game' from (right-hander) Tommy (Fratzer), we know we can beat them."

To be fair, two of Bridges' everyday pitchers — Jack Bagley and Dan

...limited to Idaho residents, will continue through Sunday at sites throughout Twin Falls.

Detweiler quartet ekes out 1-shot Blue Lakes victory

By The Times-News

TWIN FALLS — Rita Detweiler, Charlotte Brunell, Phyllis Taylor and Jan Hatch combined for a two-day total of 239 Friday to win the championship of the Blue Lakes Invitational women's golf tournament at the Blue Lakes Country Club.

The foursome finished just a stroke ahead of Jane Slickers, Rene Falkowski, Denise Mayes and Nikki Barlow, at 240, while Kay Koch, Pat Marvis, Mary Watson and Sue Smales were third at 243.

Lap winners were Susan Show, Fern Barnes, Elizabeth Lovell and Vi Harrison for Thursday and Wilma Driscoll, Yvonne Hoeffort, Donna Fairchild and Rosa Proctor for Friday. Both days' scores were 118.

Hatch and Tammy Darling won the long-drive contests, while Jo Irwin and Glenda McGreer took the closest-to-the-pin honors.

Ninety-six golfers participated in the two-day event.

AL: Division-pacing Twins, N.Y. aid themselves

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The Minnesota Twins came from behind on Kent Hrbek's run-scoring single and Gary Gaetti's three-run homer in the sixth inning to beat the Oakland Athletics 5-3 Friday night.

Bert Blyleven, 10-8, gave up seven hits in 7 1/2 innings before getting relief help from Jeff Beardon, who retired all five batters he faced for his 22nd save.

The hits off Blyleven included Jose Canseco's 22nd homer in the fourth and an RBI single by Canseco in the sixth.

The Minnesota right-hander struck out five and walked one as the Twins expanded their lead in the American League West to 2 1/2 games over second-place California.

The Athletics, who went into the game in second place, suffered a third straight defeat and fell three games behind.

Los Angeles Lamp, 1-2, allowed only two hits before the sixth. Tim Lincecum walked to open the third and went to third on a one-out single by Greg Gagne.

Laudner was thrown out at home when he tried to score on Kirby Puckett's grounder to third. But Gagne scored from second on Hrbek's single to right field and Gaetti hit a home run into the seats in left on his 21st homer.

An RBI single by Luis Polonia chased Blyleven in the eighth.

Oakland rookie sensation Mark McGwire went 0-for-4 and had an 11-game hitting streak snapped.

Cleveland ships veteran Carlton-off to Minnesota

CLEVELAND (AP) — The starter, Carlton, 42, was 5-6 with a 5.37 earned run average and three complete games.

The Indians planned to fill Carlton's spot on the roster Saturday.

Carlton, a four-time Cy Young Award winner, signed with the Indians as a free agent on April 3 and appeared in 23 games, 14 as a starter. Carlton, 42, was 5-6 with a 5.37 earned run average and three complete games.

The Indians planned to fill Carlton's spot on the roster Saturday.

Carlton, a four-time Cy Young Award winner, signed with the Indians as a free agent on April 3 and appeared in 23 games, 14 as a

Cy Young four times, said this spring that he signed with the Indians because "I've got two or three more years, absolutely."

He was released by the Philadelphia Phillies on March 21 after surrendering 13 hits and seven earned runs in 14 innings of spring training action.

New York 6 Detroit 5

NEW YORK (AP) — Gary Ward hit a two-run homer with one out in the ninth inning Friday night as the New York Yankees rallied past the Detroit Tigers 6-5 for their fifth straight victory.

The Yankees won the opener of the three-game series before 50,214 fans and increased their American East lead to three games over Detroit. Toronto beat Cleveland 8-3 and moved into second place, 2 1/2 games behind.

Pinch-hitter Henry Cotto drew a leadoff walk in the ninth from Willie Hernandez and took second on Mike Pagliarulo's sacrifice. Rookie Mike Heneman relieved Hernandez, and Ward sent a 4-1 pitch into the right field seats just beyond the reach of leaping Pat Sheridan.

Ward's 12th home run gave Heneman, 8-1, his first major league loss.

California 8 Seattle 2

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Utility shortstop Gus Polidor went 3-for-3 and drove in two runs Friday night as the California Angels beat the Seattle Mariners 8-2.

Jack Lazorak, 4-5, taking over after starter Jerry Reuss departed in the second inning with a pulled leg muscle, held the Mariners to one run for 4 1/2 innings for the victory.

The win moved the Angels into second place in the American League West, 2 1/2 games behind Minnesota.

EWU coach is dismissed after telling of violations

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Eastern Washington University basketball Coach Joe Folda was fired Friday, hours after, after admitting to school officials that additional allegations of recruiting violations were accurate.

Folda admitted improperly supplying airfares for Troy Mackey, a starting guard who left the team last season after only two games following the death of his father, university President George Fredrickson said.

He also admitted careless handling of money given to athletes who host potential recruits on campus, Fredrickson said.

Folda, entering the final year of a two-year contract, will remain at EWU until Aug. 31 to finish conducting a summer basketball camp.

NL: Cardinals put a stop to 7-game losing streak

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Vince Coleman departed from his game plan and found it to be a winning one Friday night for the St. Louis Cardinals.

"It was a fastball and I first pitch," Coleman said after hitting a run-scoring double with two out in the ninth inning to give St. Louis a 4-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. "Every (other) at bat tonight (on) the first pitching I was taking."

Coleman's double into the gap in right-center scored Jose Oquendo from first base to snap the Cardinals' losing streak at seven games.

"We kicked the ball. That's part of baseball," Pittsburgh Manager Jim Leyland said of an earlier Pirates error that helped St. Louis get back into the game. "I don't have any problem with that, as long as we're hustling."

Cardinals Manager Whitey Herzog said the game reminded him, until the late innings, of every other contest St. Louis had lost since winning July 23.

"Every night we go out and try to win. I'm glad we were able to win it tonight," Coleman said. "We never were giving up. We never ever thought that we weren't going to win again."

Giants obtain veteran Robinson from Pittsburgh

CINCINNATI (AP) — The San Francisco Giants acquired right-handed pitcher Don Robinson from the Pittsburgh Pirates Friday for minor-league catcher Mackey Sasser and $50,000.

The Giants, in Cincinnati to play the Reds, announced that Robinson would join the team Saturday.

Robinson, 30, is 6-6 with a 3.86 earned run average and 12 saves in 42 relief appearances this season with the Pirates.

Sasser, who turns 25 Monday, played briefly for the Giants this season, going hitless in five at-bats before being returned to the Giants' Phoenix farm club in the Class AAA Pacific Coast League.

He was hitting .329 at Phoenix with one home run and 42 RBI.

He will be optioned to the Pirates' AAA Vancouver club, Pittsburgh spokesman Greg Johnson said.

The officers are scheduled to compete beginning at 10 a.m., but the public is invited to participate in a bowling-pin shoot for both men and women in the afternoon.

O'Maley, Quigley in running

PUEBLO, Colo. — Shoshone's Patti O'Maley stood in 14th place in the average standings for pole bending and Castleford's Sherry Quigley was ranked 18th in breakaway roping at the conclusion of Thursday's second go-round at the National High School Rodeo.

O'Maley's 21.5-second time in her event and Quigley's 4.177-second mark in hers kept the two competitors in the running for Sunday's final go-round.

15-year-old sets record

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Janet Evans broke her second world record in five days at the U.S. Swimming Long Course National Swimming Championships Friday, shattering the mark in the 1,500-meter freestyle.

Evans, 15, finished far ahead of the competition with a time of 16 minutes, 0.73 seconds. That was nearly four seconds better than the previous mark of 16:04.84 set by Kim Lincham in 1979.

On Monday, the meet's opening day, Evans broke the oldest record on the books with a mark of 8:22.44 in the 800-meter freestyle, a mark that had stood since 1978.

Youth baseball enters its postseason phase

By RON GATES
Times-News writer

Three months of competition in boys' baseball and girls' softball will wind down next week with the completion of postseason tournaments in the Magic Valley.

While the Jerome and Magic Valley departments have already concluded action, Twin Falls Knobhole League teams are down to the final two in each of a dozen separate divisions. Ruch, which decides its league champions based on the regular-season finish, has just a few games remaining on the schedule, but a number of rainouts yet to be made up which could affect present standings.

Among the finalists in 13 season-ending tournaments are five third-place teams and two clubs one step further on down the ladder.

In both the Twin Falls Babe Ruth and Knobhole PUNK League champi-

Federal, 7-5. While all six finals in the girls portion of the Twin Falls Recreation Knobhole leagues feature clashes of the top two regular-season finishers, the third-place Moser Machine/Layne-Pumps and Snake River team, fourth in the PUNK League, overcame their underdog roles to unseat previously unbeaten Evans, Condit and Wearhouse 2-2, respectively, 7:07 p.m. at that crown Diamond No. 4 at Harmon Park will be the site for that clash at 8 p.m. next Wednesday.

Article Circle of the Midget League, the Donut League representative Spinners and Twin Falls Police Athletic Association of the Pony League are the other three third-seeded clubs to notch upsets of top-ranked ballclubs and move into the finals.

The Magic Valley Babe Ruth league announcement Wednesday that Valley claimed its postseason league tournament with the Jerome Lions second and Jerome Tupperware following in third place.

As was the case with their neighbors to the south, upsets were prevalent in the Jerome recreational leagues' finals.

Yet another third-place nine, the Cougars of the Junior circuit, prevailed in that tournament with the number four Pirates claiming the title.

Girls' softball concluded in Jerome this week as well and the women provided a few surprises of their own.

The league champion Stars and Cardinals managed to hold on to their titles in the Little and Pee Wee leagues, respectively, but the Robins - you guessed it, a third-place finisher edged the league-leading Hornets for first in postseason play.

The Scorpions took runnerup honors in Little League while the Roadrunners earned both the consolation and sportsmanship trophies in that division. Consolation in the Junior League went to the 2-4 Phillies. The Wrens were voted the sportsmanship award for that division. That same prize went to the Smurfs in the Pee Wee category.

Rupert still has a trio of Midget League games on Monday's schedule and -finals-standings are not yet complete pending makeup games on for next week to decide the final 1987 standings. But it's tourney time across the river in Burley this weekend.

The diamonds quieted temporarily after Wednesday's Burley's Bambino tournament. Cableview came out of the losers bracket there to upset the favored Dairy Queen 6-5 and 3-0 for the bragging rights of the year.

With league competition out of the way, the third annual Bambino Invitational got underway Friday with 13 teams representing Idaho and Utah comprising a strong field of 11- and 12-year-olds.

In addition to homesteading Burley and nearby Paul, Boise, Rexburg, Halley and Twin Falls, the latter with three clubs, are taking part as a pair out of Ogden, Utah.

Games will run through until 4 p.m. today followed by a barbecue and swimming for the players. The top two from each of two divisions over the first two days of round-robin, double-elimination, playoff on Sunday for the title. Special awards in both batting and fielding categories have been donated by local merchants according to league secretary Janet Tilley.

Bored with baseball cards? Then contact The Collector

ELIZABETH, N.J. - Looking for a look of Babe Ruth's hair? Barry Halper has one: Joe DiMaggio's uniform? Halper has it. A copy of the first baseball card? Halper's got that, too.

In fact, the New Jersey businessman and part-owner of the New York Yankees has a million other baseball cards and 922 historic uniforms - all part of one of the world's largest collections of baseball memorabilia.

Halper's museum had of diamond delights fills his suburban home, where the doorbell plays the first seven notes of "Take Me Out To The Ballgame." The overflow covers the office walls of his paper distributing company in Elizabethtown, N.J.

Halper's collection contains 3,000 autographed baseballs, including 477 signed by Babe Ruth, eight with the signatures of Joe DiMaggio's uniform, a Chicago Black Sox and a ball originally signed by Cy Young - that Halper later filled with autographs from all but two Cy Young Award winners since the prize was established by the National Baseball Hall of Fame.

Halper has Ty Cobb's contract with Detroit for 1914-15, the glove John Vander Meer wore when he pitched consecutive no-hitters in 1938 and a 1910 season's card of Honus Wagner worth $35,000.

Perhaps the centerpiece is a collection of Babe Ruth mementos that chronicle just about every detail of the Bambino's life.

The items include: the bats Ruth used to hit a homer in the first All-Star game in 1933 and one from his last appearance at Yankee Stadium in 1948; six Ruth contracts, eight uniforms and a cap; Babe Ruth's famous camel hair coat, a monogrammed bath robe and his leather travel bag; a pair of Babe Ruth-brand boxer shorts; a 1912 report card; his rookie uniform from two years later; a letter between team owners that led to Ruth's sale from the Red Sox to New York, and the Bambino's will and the contract for his coffin.

"I had a penchant for collecting baseball cards. It just grew and grew," Halper said in an interview at the offices of Halper Bros. Inc., of which he is president.

A life-size plastic statue of Joe DiMaggio's whom Halper bought from the corner, did in DiMaggio's last uniform. It's signed, of course.

Halper, 47, began collecting in grade school when he would wait for the players and pick up autographs. He later bought a letter between Newark's Ruppert Stadium, where the old minor-league Newark Bears played.

"I'd hang around and get the autographs of the ballplayers. Some of the players said, 'I keep signing programs - what do you do with them?'"

To get Halper to quit asking for signatures, the players began giving him old uniforms, many brought to the museum by retired big-leaguers.

By high school, he had 5 uniforms. Prosperity at Halper Bros., founded by his grandfather, helped fuel his passion.

Poulton - were in Arizona playing in the Basketball Congress International tournament and a third, Eric Miller, was nursing a sore right arm.

After Twin Falls' starter David Poppleton for seven runs in 2 1/2 innings, the Minico coach had little choice but to go with Craig and save his remaining starter, Staff Anderson, for today.

Ames, meanwhile, gave the Sage note to nothing in picking up his first victory in more than two weeks. He allowed two hits in his five innings on the mound, struck out five and didn't permit a baserunner to get past second. The Sage scored its only run with two out in the seventh inning off Smith, the third Twin Falls pitcher. Kent Schow singled home Scott Condit, who had reached base on a fielder's choice and had gone to second on a wild pitch.

After Prater singled to lead off the Twin Falls first, Eric Ochsner slapped a wild-pitch fly ball over the right field fence to give the Cougars a quick 2-0 lead. They scored another in the second when Smith led off with a triple and scored on Walker's sacrifice fly.

The dikes burst in the third when Mike Borer opened with a single and, with one out, Shane Clark followed suit. Barry Williams then singled to drive in Buster and put Clark on second. Smith in turn pitched to drive in Clark, and Poppleton gave way to Kevin Condit. Walker cleared the bases with a triple and scored on a passed ball to make it 8-0 Cougars.

Twin Falls pushed across six runs in the fourth and four more in the sixth.

"This tournament means a lot to our 10-year-olds," said Federico. "This is Kevin's and Tommy's last year, and they want to get into the state tournament by beating Idaho Falls and Pocatello to get there."

The victory brought the Cougars with a game of the .500 mark at 21-22, while Minico fell to 14-26 with its fifth straight loss.

AL: Division-pacing Twins, N.Y. aid themselves

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — The Minnesota Twins came from behind on Kent Hrbek's run-scoring single and Gary Gaetti's three-run homer in the sixth inning to beat the Oakland Athletics 5-3 Friday night.

Bert Blyleven, 10-8, gave up seven hits in 7 1/2 innings before getting relief help from Jeff Reardon, who retired all five batters he faced for his 22nd save.

The hits off Blyleven included Jose Canseco's 22nd homer in the fourth and an RBI single by Canseco in the sixth.

The Minnesota right-hander struck out five and walked one as the Twins expanded their lead in the American League West to 2 1/2 games over second-place California.

The Athletics, who went into the game in second place, suffered a third straight defeat and fell three games behind.

Loser Dennis Lump, 1-2, allowed only two hits before the sixth. Tim Lincecum walked to open the sixth and went to third on a one-out single by Greg Gagne.

Lauder was thrown out at home when he tried to score on Kirby Puckett's grounder to third. But Gagne scored from second on Hrbek's single to give the Twins a 4-3 lead in the sixth.

Gaetti hit the next pitch into the seats in left for his 21st homer.

An RBI single by Luis Polonia chased Blyleven in the eighth.

Oakland rookie sensation Mark McGwire went 0-for-4 and had an 11-game hitting streak snapped.

Cleveland ships veteran Carlton off to Minnesota

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians traded left-handed pitcher Steve Carlton to the Minnesota Twins Friday for a player to be named later.

Carlton, a four-time Cy Young Award winner, signed with the Indians as a free agent on April 3 and appeared in 23 games, 14 as a starter. Carlton, 42, was 5-9 with a 5.37 earned run average and three complete games.

The Indians planned to fill Carlton's spot on the roster Saturday.

Sheets was hitless in his previous 22 at-bats when he hit Charlie Hough's first pitch in the eighth for his 17th home run of the season, giving the Orioles a 5-4 lead.

Chicago 8 Milwaukee 6

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Jerry Royster and Ivan Calderon each knocked in three runs as the Chicago White Sox beat the Milwaukee Brewers 8-6 Friday night.

In his first outing since going 7 1/2 perfect innings in last losing effort against the New York Yankees last Sunday, Richard Dotson, 8-7, gave up seven hits before leaving with none out in the ninth.

One of the hits off Dotson was a run-scoring single by Paul Molitor in the second that tied the score, 2-2, and extended the infielder's current hitting streak to 15 games.

But the White Sox put together three singles and two doubles to score three runs for a 5-2 lead in the third inning. Royster's one-out single scored two runs. Royster advanced to second on Jerry Halston's single and scored on Calderon's double.

New York 6 Detroit 5

NEW YORK (AP) — Gary Ward hit a two-run homer with one out in the ninth inning Friday night as the New York Yankees rallied past the Detroit Tigers 6-5 for their fifth straight victory.

The Yankees went the opener of the three-game series before 50,214 fans and increased their American East lead to three games over Detroit. Toronto beat Cleveland 8-3 and moved into second place, 2 1/2 games behind.

Pitcher Henry Cotto drew a leadoff walk in the ninth from Willie Hernandez and took second on Mike Pagliarulo's sacrifice. Rookie Mike Henneman relieved Hernandez and Ward sent a 1-1 pitch into the right field seats just beyond the reach of leaping Pat Sheridan.

Ward's 12th home run gave Henneman, 8-1, his first major league loss.

California 8 Seattle 2

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Uility shortstop Gus Follieri went 3-for-3 and drove in two runs Friday night as the California Angels beat the Seattle Mariners 8-2.

Jack Lazorko, 4-5, taking over after starter Jerry Reuss departed in the second inning with a pulled leg muscle, held the Mariners to one run for 4 1/2 innings for the victory.

The win moved the Angels into second place in the American League West, 2 1/2 games behind Minnesota.

Boston 4 Kansas City 0

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Roger Clemens and the Boston Red Sox blanked the struggling Kansas City Royals 4-0 on March 21.

Clemens, 11-7, got all the offensive support he needed in the first inning when rookie Ellis Burks hit his 16th home run of the season off Saberhagen.

Los Angeles 9 Atlanta 5

ATLANTA (AP) — Franklin Stubbs hit a three-run homer and Pedro Guerrero added a solo shot to pace the Los Angeles Dodgers and Fernando Valenzuela to a 9-5 victory over the Atlanta Braves Friday last 10 starts.

The Dodgers, who have won six of seven games against Atlanta this season, scored three runs in the first three games winning streak.

Dennis Martinez, 6-1, gave up seven hits over seven innings and Andy McGaffigan and Jeff Parrett pitched the seventh time in his last eight decisions.

EWU coach is dismissed after telling of violations

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Eastern Washington University basketball coach Joe Folda was fired Friday, hours after admitting to school officials that additional allegations of recruiting violations were accurate.

College basketball

Folda admitted improperly supplying airfare for Troy Mackey, a starting guard who left the team last season after only two games following the death of his father, university President H. George Frederickson said.

Folda, entering the final year of a two-year contract, will remain at EWU until Aug. 31 to finish conducting a summer basketball camp, Frederickson said.

The Cheney school, entering its first season in the Big Sky Conference, will immediately launch a search for a new coach, officials said.

Frederickson had announced Monday that Folda and assistant coach John Woods admitted to Athletic Director Ron Raver that they provided illegal help to junior college transfer Orville Butler last summer. Included were one-way airfare from Los Angeles to Spokane, summer quarter junior college tuition, bus fares and free meals.

NL: Cardinals put a stop to 7-game losing streak

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Vince Coleman departed from his game plan and found it to be a winning one Friday night for the St. Louis Cardinals.

"It was a fastball (and) first pitch," Coleman said after hitting a run-scoring double with two out in the ninth inning to give St. Louis a 4-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. "Every (other) at bat tonight (on) the first pitch I was taking."

Coleman's double into the gap in right-center scored Jose Oquendo from first base to snap the Cardinals' losing streak at seven games.

"We kicked the ball. That's part of baseball," Pittsburgh Manager Jim Leyland said of an earlier error that helped St. Louis get back into the game. "I don't have any problem with that as long as we're hustling."

Cardinals Manager White Herzog said the game reminded him of the late innings of every other contest St. Louis had lost since winning July 23.

"Every night we go out and try to win. I'm glad we were able to win it tonight," Coleman said. "We never were giving up. We never thought that we weren't going to win again."

Giants obtain veteran Robinson from Pittsburgh

CINCINNATI (AP) — The San Francisco Giants acquired right-handed pitcher Don Robinson from the Pittsburgh Pirates Friday for minor-league catcher Mackey Sasser and $50,000.

The Giants, in Cincinnati to play the Reds, announced that Robinson would join the team Saturday.

Robinson, 30, is 6-6 with a 3.86 earned run average and 12 saves in 42 relief appearances this season with the Pirates.

Sasser, who turns 25 Monday, played briefly for the Giants this season, going hitless in five at-bats before being returned to the Class AAA Pacific Coast League. He was hitting .329 at Phoenix with one home run and 42 RBI.

He will be optioned to the Pirates' AAA Vancouver club, Pittsburgh spokesman Greg Johnson said.

Los Angeles 9 Atlanta 5

ATLANTA (AP) — Franklin Stubbs hit a three-run homer and Pedro Guerrero added a solo shot to pace the Los Angeles Dodgers and Fernando Valenzuela to a 9-5 victory over the Atlanta Braves Friday last 10 starts.

The Dodgers, who have won six of seven games against Atlanta this season, scored three runs in the first three games winning streak.

Dennis Martinez, 6-1, gave up seven hits over seven innings and Andy McGaffigan and Jeff Parrett pitched the seventh time in his last eight decisions.

Montreal 13 New York 3

MONTREAL (AP) — Mitch Webster hit five runs in one of a grand slam and single and Tim Wallach drove-in four more, leading the Montreal Expos to a 13-3 victory over the New York Mets Friday night.

The victory was the third straight for Montreal and the 14th in their over-the-hill season.

Webster had four hits in five at-bats, scored three runs and stole a base in the first inning. The Mets' season score was 10-13.

Dennis Martinez, 6-1, gave up seven hits over seven innings and Andy McGaffigan and Jeff Parrett pitched the seventh time in his last eight decisions.

Cincinnati 9 San Francisco 2

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bo Diaz singled home the tying run in the sixth inning, and reliever Cliff Robinson walked in two runs with bases loaded, sending the Cincinnati Reds to a 9-2 victory over the San Francisco Giants Friday night.

The victory moved the Reds three games ahead of second-place San Francisco in the National League West.

San Diego 6 Houston 2

HOUSTON (AP) — Ed Whitson won his 11th game and hit a two-run

Chicago 5 Philadelphia 8

CHICAGO (AP) — Rick Schu hit a two-run triple to break an eighth-inning tie and Steve Bedrosian set a club record for saves as Philadelphia beat the Chicago Cubs 8-5 Friday for the Phillies' fifth straight victory.

Schu also had a two-run single in the fifth and Chris James hit two home runs and had four hits as the Phillies took advantage of sloppy

Los Angeles 9 Atlanta 5

Briefly in Sports

Pistol shoot at Hollister

HOLLISTER — A peace officers' pistol shoot will be held today at the port of entry here.

The officers are scheduled to compete beginning at 10 a.m., but the public is invited to participate in a bowling-pin shoot for both men and women in the afternoon.

Further information can be obtained by phoning Keith Christensen at 734-6823.

O'Maley, Quigley in running

PUEBLO, Colo. — Shoshone's Patti O'Maley stood in 14th place in the average standings for pole bending and Castleford's Sherril Quigley was ranked 18th in breakaway roping at the conclusion of Thursday's second go-round at the National High School Rodeo.

O'Maley's 21.5-second time in her event and Quigley's 4.177-second mark in hers kept the two competitors in the running for Sunday's final go-round. They were the highest Magic Valley finishers through the first two rounds.

Johnson leads Denver LPGA

ENGLEWOOD, Colo. (AP) — Chris Johnson overcame consecutive bogey on the back nine to lead in a 1-under-par 71 Friday and take the second-round lead at the Columbia Savings LPGA National Pro-Am tournament.

Johnson, who started her round on the 10th hole at the Long Tree Country Club, one of two courses used for the tournament, made a birdie on the 13th hole and was coasting until she made her first bogey of the tournament on the 368-yard par-4 3rd hole.

15-year-old sets record

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Janet Evans broke her second world record in five days at the U.S. Swimming Long Course National Swimming Championships Friday, shattering the mark in the 1,500-meter freestyle.

Evans, 15, finished far ahead of the competition with a time of 16 minutes, 07.3 seconds. That was nearly four seconds better than the previous mark of 16:49 set by Kim Lincecum in 1976.

On Monday's meet's opening day, Evans broke the oldest record on the books with an 8:24.4 in the 800-meter freestyle, a mark that had stood since 1978.

Arene Football final tonight

PITTSBURGH (AP) — It's been ridiculed as being a trash sport or a gimmick-sport, but Pittsburgh Gladiators quarterback Mike Honessaid said Saturday's first Arene Football championship game against the Denver Dynamite will be as competitive as any game he's ever played.

The Gladiators and the Dynamite, both 4-2, split decisions during the four-team indoor professional league's experimental first season. They play at 7 p.m. MDT at Pittsburgh's Civic Arena.

Dodds tops St. Jude's by 1

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Trevor Dodds shot a 5-under-par 67 Friday to take a one-shot lead after the second round of the $600,000 Federal Express-St. Jude Classic.

Dodds, a first-year PGA Tour member, overcame an early bogey with six birdies and was at 9-under-par 125 after 36 holes. That was one shot better than Andy Dillard, who had a steady 3-under-par 69 for a 136 total.

Fuzzy Zoeller turned in a 6-under 66 to move within two shots of the lead at 137 along with Don Pooley, winner of this year's Memorial Tournament.

EWU coach is dismissed after telling of violations

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Eastern Washington University basketball coach Joe Folda was fired Friday, hours after admitting to school officials that additional allegations of recruiting violations were accurate.

Folda, entering the final year of a two-year contract, will remain at EWU until Aug. 31 to finish conducting a summer basketball camp, Frederickson said.

The Cheney school, entering its first season in the Big Sky Conference, will immediately launch a search for a new coach, officials said.

Frederickson had announced Monday that Folda and assistant coach John Woods admitted to Athletic Director Ron Raver that they provided illegal help to junior college transfer Orville Butler last summer. Included were one-way airfare from Los Angeles to Spokane, summer quarter junior college tuition, bus fares and free meals.

Youth baseball ends its postseason phase

By RON GATES
Times-News Staff

Three months of competition in boys' baseball and girls' softball will wrap down next week with the completion of postseason-tournaments in the Magic Valley.

While the Jerome and Magic Valley departments have already concluded action, Twin Falls League teams are down to the final two in each of a dozen separate divisions. Rupert, which decides league champions based on the regular-season finish, has just a few games remaining on the schedule, but a number of rainouts yet to be made up which could affect present standings.

Among the finalists in 13 season-ending tournaments are five third-place teams and two clubs one step further down the ladder.

In both the Twin Falls Babe Ruth and Knothole PUNK League championships it came down to third against fourth for all the marbles. Volco/Culligan knocked off Babe Ruth co-champ First Federal, while King Video came out of fourth to upend Wilson-Bates. King Video, only 6-6 prior to the playoffs, thus ends Wilson-Bates' bid for an unprecedented fourth consecutive postseason crown in the 13-year-old division.

In the finals, Casey Bartholomew's Volco-Culligan squad pounded out an 8-3 victory over King Video for the title. The third-place game, the rubber match between the league co-champs, went to First Federal 15. While all six finals in the girls portion of the Twin Falls Recreation Knothole leagues feature clashes of the top two regular-season finishers, not so with the boys.

Third-place Moser Machine/Lay, Pumps and Snake River Babe, fourth in the PUNK League, overcame their underdog roles to upset previously unbeaten Evans, Condie and Wearhouse 22, respectively, to earn a spot at that crown. Diamond 10 at Harmon Park will be the site for that clash at 8 p.m. next Wednesday.

Artie Circle of the Midget League, the Donut League representative Spotters and Twin Falls Police Athletic Association of the Pony League are the other three third-seeded clubs to notch upsets of top-ranked ballclubs and move into the finals.

The Magic Valley Babe Ruth organization announced Wednesday

that Valley claimed its postseason league tournament with the Jerome Lions second and Jerome Tupperware following in third place.

As was the case with their neighbors to the south, upsets were prevalent in Jerome recreational leagues finals.

Yet another third-place finish, the Cougars of the Junior circuit, prevailed in that tournament with the number four Pirates claiming runner-up spot. The Air wings through ninth regular-season contests, came out of nowhere to grab consolation honors in the team alignment.

Girls' softball concluded in Jerome this week as well and the women provided a few surprises of their own.

The league champion Stars and Cardinals managed to hold on to their No. 1 spots in the Little and Pee Wee leagues, respectively, but the Robins — you guessed it, a third-place finisher — edged the league-leading Hornets for first in postseason play.

The Scorpions took runner-up honors in Little League while the Roundrunners garnered both the consolation and sportsmanship trophies in that division. Consolation in the Junior League went to the Green Juniors. The Wrens were voted the sportsmanship award for that division. That same prize went to the Smurfs in the Pee Wee category.

Hupter still has a trio of Midget League games on Monday's schedule and finals standings are not yet complete pending makeup games on tap for next week to decide the final 1987 standings. But it's tourney time across the river in Burley this weekend.

The diamonds quieted temporarily after Wednesday's Burley's Bambino tournament. Cleveland came out of the losers bracket there to upset favored Dairy Queen 6-5 and 3-0 for the bragging rights of the area.

With league competition out of the way, the third annual Bambino Invitational got underway Friday with 13 teams representing Idaho and Utah comprising a strong field of 11- and 12-year-olds.

In addition to homesteading Burley and nearby Paul, Boise, Rexburg, Halley and Twin Falls, the latter with three clubs, are taking part as a pair out of Ogden, Utah.

Games will run through until 4 p.m. today followed by a barbecue and swimming for the players. The top two from each of two divisions over the first two days of round robin, double-elimination, playoff on Sunday for the title. Special awards in both batting and fielding categories have been donated by local merchants according to league secretary Janet Tilly.

Stock market extends rally to 8th day

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market extended its rally to eight straight sessions Friday, sending the Dow Jones Industrial-average to its fourth highest in a row. The closely watched index closed at 2,612.07, up 4.63 points from Thursday, 86.74 points for the week and 104.12 points since the rally started, after the July 21 close.

Other indexes also wound out the week at record highs.

Friday's session was calm, compared with the activity earlier. Volume on the New York Stock Exchange totaled 181.87 million shares; close to the week's average of 182.14 million, but about 57 million shares less than Thursday's session.

Analysts said profit-taking dominated most of the session, restraining the overall balance of advancing shares to losses to moderate gains in the morning and pushing the ratio into the minus column by mid-afternoon.

But, as happened most of the week, that selling only served to draw more buyers into the market toward the end of the day — many

THE ACES ON BRIDGE
"THE greatest assassin of life is haste, the desire to reach things before the right time, which means overreaching them."
Juan Ramon Jimenez.

East saw his chance for three quick tricks and he took it. Had he not been in such a hurry, he could have taken the fourth.

West did return a club, but South put up dummy's ace, drew trumps and discarded dummy's losing club card. South then took the diamond trick.

It may be exhilarating to win the first five tricks on this deal, but it can be more profitable to first think about the setting trick instead.
