Season springs forth with equinox Sunday

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The spring equinox is near an event that, in centuries past, marked the new year for everyone and still does, in spirit, for many.

Sunday, according to astronomers at the U.S. Naval Observatory here.

That's the moment that the sun is directly above the equator and poised to begin bringing its direct rays to the Northern Hemisphere.

It's called the equinox because it is a time when the hours of daylight and darkness are nearly equal.

The amount of daylight has been growing longer since the winter solstice last December, and will keep doing so until June's summer solstice, when things start back the other way.

In Roman times this season marked the new year, and indeed many countries continued to celebrate new year in March until just a couple of hundred years ago.

The observance may well be logical at a time of rebirth, with winter's chill fading, early flowers coming forth and planting of new crops starting.

In fact, it is still new year for some folk: astronomers measure the length of the year from one vernal equinox to the next.

But today's popular calendars set forth this equinox as the start of spring, a widely-accepted, if not official, definition.

Indeed, the English weather historian Richard Inwards considered counting this date as the start of spring illogical.

Better, from his point of view, were either the medieval reckoning that spring began on Feb. 22, or the farmer's extension — still followed by meteorologists — that counts spring as beginning March 1.

Boise builder to begin jail on March 31

By CRAIG LINCOLN Times-News writer

But the county is planning to be conservative with its use of the money.

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls County Commissioners accepted a bid for a new jail that is $600,000 less than anticipated, and commissioners say taxpayers may reap the benefits from the move.

Russell Corporation, a Boise contractor, won the bidding with a $3.2-million bid on a project estimated to cost $3.8 million.

The county plans to break ground on March 31, less than two weeks away.

Architect Joe Conrad said he will probably start the construction period then and Russell Corporation will be required to complete the new structure in 365 days or pay a $1,500-a-day fine.

But this contractor will probably accelerate this project and complete it a couple of months early," Conrad said during a telephone conference with the commissioners Friday morning.

The commissioners already sold the $3.8 million in bonds approved by voters last May.

The $600,000 surplus has to be used on jail-related costs, said Judy Felton, county commission chairman.

"We just want to have some leeway," Felton said.

She said the county will probably hold onto the money to handle cost overruns during the construction.

It's possible the county's taxpayers, who approved the 10-year tax increase to finance the bonds by a 73 percent margin last May, could benefit in two ways from the low bid.

"What is left over, we can use it or hold it until the ninth payment and then pay it off," said County Commissioner Marvin Hempleman.

If that happens, taxpayers will only have to fork over a tax increase of about 18 cents per $10,000 value of taxable property for nine years, instead of the 10 years they voted for.

The extra money could also be used to install double bunks instead of single bunks in the cells for the proposed 90-bed jail, giving the jail a capacity of about 180. Russell Corporation bid $600 per bunk, which will be added onto the $3.2-million bid if the county decides to add the bunks.

Since the county's inmate population averaged 54 in 1987, the county may be able to go into the business of

Honduras asks for troop transport help

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Honduras asked for U.S. help Friday in ferrying Honduran troops to the scene of their battle with Sandinista forces, administration sources said, adding that the request was likely to be approved.

The sources, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said the government of Honduras asked the United States for helicopter support in moving some additional Honduran troops to an area within about 20 miles of the border of Nicaragua where the fighting has been going on.

"The cable came in to the State Department today. But no decision has been made as yet," said an official who asked not to be identified.

The sources said a response to Honduras would probably come over the weekend. They said Honduras were not planning to move a large number of troops, but they declined to give a number. They said the United States has sufficient transport helicopters in Honduras to do the job.

The sources said that they would be following the same type of rules as in

Protests lead to arrests

By The Associated Press

Oponents of U.S. policy in Central America staged demonstrations across the nation Friday to protest the deployment of Army units to Honduras, and more than 300 people were arrested for blocking traffic or disorderly conduct.

"I think it is a serious mistake. It's another example of where President Reagan is exaggerating the situation for his own purposes," former President Jimmy Carter said of the military action while addressing a meeting of Southern University Conference, a meeting of university presidents.

More than 200 people were arrested in San Francisco, up to 60 in Chicago and one in Boston on the second day of protests, police said. Twelve men and 12 women were arrested for blocking traffic in front of the White House.

About 50 protesters were arrested in those cities Thursday, the day 3,200 soldiers were sent to Honduras in what the White House called a "measured response" to Nicaraguan forces reportedly crossing the border package of new aid to Nicaragua's Contra rebels, including renewed authority for the CIA to deliver previously stockpiled weapons.

Assistant Secretary of State Elliott Abrams said earlier that additional assistance was being discussed with Honduran President Jose Azcona, in response to a reported Nicaraguan in-curtion.

White House chief of staff Howard Baker said President Reagan would give "most careful" consideration to any request from Honduras for troops to help repel Nicaraguan forces, although he reiterated that U.S. troops were not expected to be involved in any military operation in the region.

One of the Senate's leading peace advocates, Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, said the sending of U.S. troops amounted merely to "matching stupidity with stupidity" and introduced legislation barring the troops from a combat role without permission from Congress.

Sponsors of the new Contra aid proposal said they hoped it would revive negotiations in Congress and with the Reagan administration on an aid package that could be quickly enacted to replace supplies lost or expended during the past week's heavy fighting along the Nicaraguan-Honduran border.

As a "carrot," the bill also would promise long-term economic aid for the region once political stability is restored.

U.S. offers Noriega deal for departure

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — A U.S. envoy has gone to Panama at the request of strongman Manuel Antonio Noriega to discuss terms of his possible departure, and two Panamanian pilots who worked for Noriega have defected to the United States, an administration official said Friday night.

The official, who asked not to be identified, said Deputy Assistant Secretary of State William Walker, who went to Panama at Noriega's request, had inquiries to tell Noriega that the United States will not seek his extradition on drug trafficking charges if he flees to a third country.

The official said that Walker went to Panama with this offer in the hopes that it would facilitate Noriega's departure, thus sparing the country a period of prolonged political upheaval, including widespread suffering.

The two pilots arrived in the United States on Thursday and were given permission to remain in this country by the U.S. Immigration Service, the official said.

The pilots have told officials that Cuba has provided Noriega with up to 16 tons of military equipment since the crisis in that country erupted three weeks ago, the official said.

According to the official, the pilots also said that Libya has provided Noriega with an undisclosed amount of money in order to enable the defense chief to help Panama overcome its current cash crisis.

Panama has been virtually paralyzed economically for most of the past two weeks.

The government of Spain has said it would be willing to admit Noriega provided he requests political asylum and the United States agrees not to seek his extradition.

On Feb. 5, two federal grand juries in Florida indicted Noriega on charges of drug smuggling and money laundering. A U.S. treaty with Panama precludes the extradition of any Panamanian citizen to the United States.

Cuba has emerged as a strong supporter of Noriega, considering him to be a victim of American interventionist activities. U.S. actions this month effectively have cut off the flow of dollars to Panama and have left the country unable to meet much of its government payroll.

The official suggested that Cuban willingness to send weaponry to Noriega, including large numbers of AK-47 rifles, indicated that the strongman was willing to fight it out rather than go into exile peacefully.

But, the official added, at Noriega's invitation to meet with Walker suggested that he may be rethinking his position.

Initially, the Reagan administration had said that it was not interested in any deal that would spare Noriega the consequences of the indictments handed down by the federal grand juries in Florida.

House dodges public school budget, may decide Monday

The Associated Press

BOISE — The House sidestepped a showdown on the public school budget on Friday, and it appears the appropriation, perhaps the most important single bill of the 1988 session, will be decided Monday.

After a day of trying to round up enough votes to bring the $356 million appropriation up for a vote Friday, Republican leaders abandoned the effort and will aim for a decision on Monday.

The appropriation is a 3.8 percent increase over the current public school support budget, but is $6 million less than recommended by Gov. Cecil Andrus. Andrus claims his recom-

Idaho Legislature 1988

mentation is the least possible amount to prevent Idaho education from deteriorating.

The 20 House Democrats have announced they will vote against the budget, hoping for a higher appropriation.

Rep. Michael Simpson, R-Blackfoot, House majority caucus chairman, tried during the day to determine if there was enough support in his 64-member caucus to bring up and pass the education budget over Democrat objections.

After a couple of party caucuses, the bill was put off until Monday, and Simpson said it isn't clear whether the bill will pass. It cleared the Senate last week on a straight party-line vote, 26-16 with Republicans voting for it and the Democrats against.

"It will be close, perhaps within a couple of votes," whether the $356 million appropriation will pass, Simpson said.

The House, meanwhile, continued to postpone decisions on how to fund the budget. As of Friday, Simpson said including the public school appropriation, state spending starting

July 1 is $9.5 million more than the available revenues.

Simpson said a decision on how to balance the budget will not come until after the school appropriation is passed.

The House gave routine approval on Friday to a number of budget bills which now go to the governor. They included the $11.5 million appropriation for the Idaho Supreme Court to run the judicial system and $2.6 million for the public health districts.

Earlier in the day, Rep. Dean Haugenson, R-Coeur d'Alene, brought another proposal to the House Revenue and Taxation Committee to bring in additional revenue without a new tax.

He suggested more than $12 million could be raised by changing an exemption from the 5 percent state sales tax from an exemption granted at the point of sale to one allowable only through applications for refunds.

Haugenson said Idaho loses $145 million per year to that exemption, and could get a net of $12.5 million by changing the way the law is administered. That would avoid imposing a new tax or raising any tax rates, he said.

Rep. Steve Antone, R-Rupert, chairman of Revenue and Taxation, said he would allow the Haugenson proposal to come up for a hearing next week, but Simpson said it has no realistic chance for passage.

Briefly

Senate denies beef mandate

BOISE (AP) — In what amounted to another protest vote against federal mandates, the Idaho Senate has rejected legislation bringing the state's Beef Council assessment law in line with the federal law.

The bone of contention was the fact that the bill would have removed the provision of the state law that allows a cattleman to obtain a refund of his assessment to the Beef Council if he asked for it.

Panel shifts water rights

BOISE (AP) — On a straight party-line vote, the Senate Resources and Environment Committee has cleared the way for Senate floor action on legislation stripping Democratic Gov. Cecil Andrus of his water rights on Idaho's four major lakes.

"It is an unnecessary bill," Democrat John Peavey of Carey told his colleagues Friday. "It's going to meet an obvious fate."

The measure transfers the water rights on Payette, Coeur d'Alene, Pend Oreille and Priest lakes from the governor to the Water Resources Board.

Hodel, McClure get VP nod

IDAHO FALLS (AP) — Sen. James McClure, R-Idaho, is the second choice of the 14-state Republican Western States Political Caucus as a western nominee for vice president.

The caucus's first choice was Interior Secretary Donald Hodel, a former Energy secretary who is from Oregon.

Idaho Republican Party Chairman Frank Hall said he could support Hodel, but that he would be concerned about losing McClure from the state's congressional delegation.

McClure remains to become the GOP vice presidential nominee, Hall said. Democratic Gov. Cecil Andrus would be appointed a replacement for the remainder of McClure's term, which ends in 1990.

Parks assails Evans tenure

BOISE (AP) — Rep. Raymond Parks, R-Blackfoot, started some of the members of the House Friday by suggesting that state Schools Superintendent Jerry Evans resign.

And Parks went a step further, nominating a Democrat, Rep. James Stoicher, D-Sandpoint, to replace him.

Parks said he was unhappy about Evans' opposition to a bill shifting funding for schools from property taxes to income taxes.

The bill, Parks' chief legislation of the session, cleared the House last week. But the Senate Local Government and Taxation Committee voted Wednesday to hold the bill in committee, which usually is a killing motion.

Senate defeats review plan

BOISE (AP) — Senate Democrats have stood firm, defeating a proposed constitutional amendment guaranteeing the Legislature full review authority over administrative rules and regulations.

In a straight party-line vote Friday, Republicans pressing for passage of the amendment were denied the needed two-thirds majority to submit the House-passed proposition to voters this fall.

The GOP fell two votes short of the margin 28 on the issue whose outcome had been a foregone conclusion, Senate Republican President Pro-Tem James Riech of Boise announced the 26-16 outcome of the rollcall even before he received the official tally.

Senate Judiciary Chairman Roger Fairchild, R-Fruitland, warned that without the constitutional change, "we're going to destroy the balance of the constitution" because the governor and his administrative agencies will hold the upper hand on regulations.

Christensen barely gets OK

BOISE (AP) — Veteran Fish and Game Commissioner Fred Christensen has gotten a lukewarm endorsement for his reappointment to the commission from the Senate Resources and Environment Committee.

"I have received no encouragement to reconfirm," Sen. Herb Carlson, R-Eagle, said before the committee sent the nomination to the full Senate on a voice vote Friday.

Sen. Jim Christensen, D-Aberdeen, said he had never received so many comments against an individual, and Sen. William Ringert, R-Boise, called it the most difficult confirmation the committee has considered.

Carlson read off a litany of complaints filed against Christensen from the Idaho Hunters Association, which claims 1,000 members, and he said the feeling seems to be that Christensen "has done his job for 10 years and maybe it's time for a change."

Sen. Norris Hyde, R-Emmett, said his constituents feel the commissioner has not responded properly to the needs of sportsmen.

Idahonian confronts Jones

BOISE (AP) — The attorney for the Moscow Idahonian threatened state Attorney General Jim Jones with a damage suit today in his refusal to publicly retract statements he has made about the newspaper's coverage of a 1985 rape and assault case.

The demand for the retraction from attorney Charles Brown came a day after Idahonian publisher Jay Shelley and other newspaper executives protested legislative consideration of Jones' proposal to restrict release of the names of crime victims and witnesses. The bill was killed.

Jones had reinforced his fight for passage of the bill by maintaining that the Idahonian had irresponsibly reported the name of the victim of an attempted rape in March 1985.

Legislature OKs last of AIDS package

BOISE (AP) — The final pieces of the legislative package aimed at reining in the spread of deadly Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome in Idaho have been sent to Gov. Cecil Andrus.

By overwhelming votes Friday, the Senate gave final approval to the bills making it a felony with a 15-year prison term to knowingly infect another with the AIDS virus and requiring marriage license applicants to read a pamphlet on the disease.

"With these bills we have a comprehensive and complete set of statutes to protect the people of Idaho from this dreadful disease," said Sen. Ralph Lacy, D-Pocatello.

Andrus, who has endorsed the package, also signed another of the bills. The measure requires AIDS testing of all incoming and outgoing state prison inmates and county jail inmates accused of certain crimes. It also allows health officials to breach the confidentiality of AIDS test results if necessary to protect public health.

House passes contractor license bill

BOISE (AP) — The Idaho House has passed what could become the first contractor licensing law to go into effect in Idaho.

After a two-hour debate on Friday, the House approved the bill on a 48-34 vote, and sent it to the Senate.

Its prospects in that chamber were not clear, because legislative leaders want to wind up the 1988 session next week and there may not be time for the bill to win approval.

The bill was approved by 36 Republicans, with 26 opposing, and 12 of the 20 House Democrats voted for the bill.

Senate, it would be the second enacted by the Legislature, but the first to be placed into operation.

In the 1960s, the Legislature passed a contractor licensing law but it was blocked by a contractor lawsuit and was repealed by the Legislature in the next session.

"This is long overdue," said Rep. Ruby Stone, R-Boise. "Consumers need protection."

She said it was "just terrible" to listen to people testify they had been cheated out of money by unethical contractors.

Panel blocks local tax option measure

BOISE (AP) — House-passed legislation giving school districts the option of a local income tax surcharge as an alternative to property tax overrides has been bottled up in a Senate committee.

On the votes Friday, the Senate Local Government and Taxation Committee refused to send the bill to the full Senate for action or to formally kill it.

Earlier this week, the committee held a bill imposing a mandatory income tax surcharge statewide, replacing property tax levies as a key element of education support.

Rep. Chris Hooper, R-Boise, sponsor of the measure, said it could offer some relief to districts that have had trouble convincing property owners to raise their taxes when extra money is needed to maintain school operations.

The bill would allow enactment of up to a 10 percent state income tax surcharge on a vote of 60 percent of the patrons. If approved, the tax would be in effect for five years. The first vote by any district would have come next November, meaning any surcharge approved would not have produced money until the 1990-1991 school year.

"A community, if it so chooses, has the right to improve itself, and it doesn't bother me to add another vehicle to accomplish that," Hooper said. "If the people decide not to use that tool, that's their business."

But critics of the bill called it too significant a change to be passed in the final days of the 1988 legislative session. "This is a major tax policy shift,"

Bill could protect the jobs of AIDS patients

By BART JANSEN
Times-News writer

BOISE — Add one more bill to the 1988 package of AIDS legislation. A bill quietly rolling through the statehouse would prohibit discrimination in Idaho based on a handicap, such as denying a job to a person simply because he uses a wheelchair.

The measure aims at tearing down barriers — both attitudinal and physical — separating Idaho's 27,000 handicapped residents from jobs, said John Watta, executive director of the state Council on Developmental Disabilities, which drafted the bill.

But in addition, jobs for AIDS patients in two dozen other states already fall under similar umbrellas of "handicapped" protection. This bill could extend the same benefit to AIDS patients in Idaho.

The bill passed the Senate without opposition, and full House consideration is pending.

A package of more prominent AIDS bills was drafted by Republican Rep. Russ Newcomb, a Twin Falls surgeon. Four of those seven bills are already law, and the other three are speeding toward that distinction.

Among Newcomb's package are bills calling for education and testing to limit exposure to the fatal disease that is transmitted through blood or semen. But his bills, including one leveling felony sanctions against people intentionally spreading the disease, all protect the uninfected population.

This handicap bill would for the first time extend protection to the people suffering from AIDS.

Dr. Charles Brokopp, state epidemiologist, more than a year ago during an AIDS conference that several Idahoans already lost their jobs because of AIDS.

"We don't have any authority to look at any of those cases right now," Leslie Goddard, deputy attorney general for the Human Rights Commission, said Friday. "What we would say now is that it is not illegal."

Currently, there is no job protection for the handicapped in Idaho. While discrimination based on race or religion is illegal, discrimination based on a handicap is not prohibited.

The Supreme Court has defined AIDS as a handicap. But it is still often left to state courts to decide whether state laws extend that protection to AIDS patients, said David Barr, of New York's Lambda Legal Defense and Education Fund, which tracks AIDS is-ssues nationwide.

"So far as I know, every jurisdiction that has dealt with the issue, that if the state has a handicap or anti-discrimination law, that that law has been applied to people with AIDS," said Barr.

Two dozen states either have court decisions or their comparable office for Human Rights Commissions have issued administrative orders to that effect, he said.

Goddard said Idaho's Human Rights Commission does not have the authority to issue administrative orders.

So Barr and Goddard said the issue would probably have to be decided in court in Idaho. So long as the person could do the job, it would be protected, Barr said.

"It lies entirely in the ability to do the job," said Barr, noting the similarity of arguments from a person using a wheelchair fighting for his job.

He said the New York City Human Rights Commission has received 1,000 phone calls from people fired because of the disease that ravages a person's immune system, leaving them open to fatal complications.

Of course, there is no dispute that an employee suffering the contagious diseases that often accompany AIDS, such as tuberculosis, could be fired.

AIDS is transmitted almost entirely by intimate sexual contact or sharing intravenous needles.

While one of Newcomb's bills requires distribution of education pamphlets on AIDS to accompany marriage licenses, Barr said this legislation could go much further toward inviting people to ask for AIDS education.

"Only when an atmosphere of tolerance exists do people ask about it and that's what stops the spread of it," Barr said. "Education is the only thing that stops the spread of it."

Landing access disputed

By BARBARA NEIWERT
Times-News correspondent

HAILEY — Blaine County and resident Norman Fuller have opposite views on who has rights to a half-mile stretch of road between Highway 20 and the Hot Springs Landing on the northern shores of Magic Reservoir.

The county says it does, but Fuller says he may soon own the road and may close it.

Fuller, owner of the unfinished Alpenrose Hotel in Ketchum, has an option to buy a 200-acre parcel of land through which the landing access road crosses. He contends the title search revealed there were no easements for the roadway and therefore he should be allowed to close the road to the public.

Blaine County Prosecuting Attorney Ned Williamson told the county commissioners this week

The half-mile road from Highway 20 to Hot Springs Landing has long been used by recreationists for access to the north shore of Magic Reservoir.

Drug bust leads to a guilty plea

By CRAIG LINCOLN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Prosecutors obtained a guilty plea this week from one of three defendants in what police called one of the biggest drug busts in Twin Falls history.

The other two defendants waived preliminary hearings and will enter pleas soon.

Guadalupe Solis, the 44-year-old woman whose house was raided March 1, pleaded guilty to possession of cocaine with the intent to deliver earlier this week.

Solis faces a maximum sentence of life in prison and a fine of $25,000, although Deputy Prosecutor Joel Horton said he agreed to recommend a three- to 10-year sentence.

In exchange for the plea, the Twin Falls County prosecutor's office agreed to dismiss Solis' other charge, possession of more than three ounces of marijuana.

The prosecutor's office also agreed to reduce Solis' bond from $30,000 to a $15,000 surety bond.

Another defendant, Israel Guzman of Dinuba, Calif., waived his right to a preliminary hearing Friday in return for plea negotiations and sentencing recommendations from the prosecutor's office.

Horton declined to say what he offered the 32-year-old Guzman, saying the deal will be revealed in district court. Guzman's bond is set at $100,000.

—Guzman is charged with possession of cocaine with intent to deliver. The next step in the judicial process for Guzman is the entry of a plea before a district judge.

Ruben Garza also waived his preliminary hearing Friday and was bound over to district court on a charge of growing marijuana. Garza's bail is set at $5,000.

In a preliminary hearing, a magistrate judge determines if there is sufficient evidence to justify a district court trial.

All three cases stem from a March 1 raid of the Solis house at 960 Del Mar Drive. Police seized about $20,000 in cash and $30,000 in cocaine during the raid.

Director of the Twin Falls Department of Public Safety Tim Qualls said the raid and subsequent arrests were "one of the biggest we've had in a long time."

Destructive spree will draw complaint

TWIN FALLS — Todd Embretson apparently doesn't like garbage cans any more than he likes Christmas wreaths.

Twin Falls County Prosecutor K. Ellen Baxter, while fingering a pile of damage reports an inch thick, said she plans to file a multi-count complaint charging a collection of young Twin Falls adults with the destruction last week of garbage cans — lots and lots of garbage cans.

Embretson, 19, confessed to destroying those cans last week.

The police department currently has 19 incident reports on file detailing the damage done during a two-hour, one-vehicle demolition derby early Sunday morning. Those records show that between 1 a.m. and 3 a.m., a vehicle pinballed through the alleys of Fifth, Eighth and Ninth Avenues North, Monroe Street, and other presidential streets.

The targets of the onslaught included fences, garbage-can wrecks, a street sign and at least 39 garbage cans, records show. The estimated damage — all told — stands at roughly $1,500.

"They just went down alleys and trampled everything," said Yvonne Marie Rackham, who had five garbage cans and a garbage-can-wreck destroyed. "It was just a mess — garbage all over the place."

Embretson confessed to police officers late Sunday afternoon that he had caused the damage with a 1973 Chevrolet pickup truck. Police also collected statements from four other individuals, three adults and one juvenile, who were allegedly in the truck when the damage occurred.

Embretson also confessed to police in December of 1986 that he had played a part in the heist of approximately $1,500 worth of Christmas decorations used to decorate "the rock" at Twin Falls High School. More than 50 Christmas wreaths were stolen during that spree, which fell on the evening of Dec. 13.

Baxter said police are still investigating the damages caused in the latest fit of vandalism. "From what I hear, there are more than 30 victims," she said.

Separate convictions and sentences could result from each of the individual acts of destruction even if a multi-count complaint is used, Baxter said. The reports were submitted to the prosecutor's office as acts of malicious destruction to property, a misdemeanor.

Domowitz plans to retire as Castleford principal

By DIANE SCHORZMAN
Times-News correspondent

CASTLEFORD — Julius Domowitz notified the Castleford School Board at its meeting this week that he will retire from his position as principal at the end of this school year.

Domowitz will continue teaching two French classes at the school on a part-time contract that will not affect his retirement.

The board offered the principal position to Castleford teacher Kelly Murphy, who accepted the offer at the meeting. Murphy will continue to teach two classes a day. His salary has not yet been negotiated, said Superintendent Ron Erickson.

The School Board hired Valley Research and Consulting, a Hagerman environmental engineering firm, to do the asbestos inspections and write the asbestos control plans required by the state's new asbestos law.

"The company requested a walk-through inspection of the school," said Superintendent Ron Erickson, "and they can do the job substantially cheaper than we can."

The board previously had decided to hire someone from the community to receive the training required to do the inspections.

Fluid Roofing of Twin Falls submitted an $8,256 bid, with a five-year guarantee to the board to fix the gym roof. The board tabled the matter until more information is available on next year's school funding.

Coaches Sam Wiseman and Laurie Gandiaga volunteered their time to coach a track team if the district would provide the finances for the team to attend track meets. The board authorized $300 for track expenses.

In other business:

- The board modified the substitute teacher salaries. Effective the fall of 1988, certified substitutes will receive $35 per day, and uncertified substitutes will receive $30 per day.
- The board authorized the leasing out of five shares of its city irrigation water. Sealed bids will be opened at 7 p.m. at the next board meeting.
- The board had its first reading on the new skateboard policy banning skateboards at the school.
- The board decided to ban skateboards because of student injuries. The second reading of the policy will be at the board's April meeting.

Rocks, fossils bill runs into problem over water rights

By MARK PRATTER
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The bill to make the Hagerman fossil beds a national monument and the City of Rocks a national reserve may be in trouble because of a dispute over water rights language, said a spokesman for Sen. James McClure.

At issue is a clause that says the federal water rights at the sites are not greater than what currently exists there.

"We don't want to give away the store on state water rights," said H.D. Palmer, McClure's spokesman.

The Sierra Club is opposing the bill over the water issue, but McClure won't budge on the point.

"It would cast pall on the bill, if that were not in there," said Palmer.

But Debbie Sease, a representative of the Sierra Club in Washington, D.C., said it is a well established judicial principle that when Congress sets aside land, it also sets aside sufficient water.

"It's a management tool that we believe the National Park Service should have for each of the units it manages," she said.

"You are creating a park and giving them less than a full bag of tools," she said if the language is left in the bill.

There could be a greater federal water right asserted at Hagerman or the City of Rocks in Cassia County, but it may or may not be used, she said.

But Paul Matthews, president of the Burley Area Chamber of Commerce, said local support for the bill would crumble if water rights were rearranged.

"Water is scarce out there already," he said.

McClure and western water interests have been making an issue of federal reserved water rights, fearing that those rights could interfere with development efforts within a state.

A federal district court in Colorado ruled such a right exists in wilderness areas, but the case only applies to Colorado. McClure has inserted language similar to what is in the City of Rocks-Hagerman bill into Idaho Forest Management Act, the so-called wilderness bill now pending in Congress.

The City of Rocks-Hagerman bill passed the Senate with unanimous consent Dec. 12, but is bottled up in the House Subcommittee on National Parks and Public Lands, Sease said. A spokesman for the committee could not be reached for comment.

Rep. Richard Stallings, D-Idaho, had a meeting in Idaho Falls on the issue on March 11.

The bill calls for a 14,320 acre City of Rocks national reserve, a measure which would provide increased protection for the area which has suffered from the combined effects of litter, graffiti and erosion of trails.

The City of Rocks contains eroded rock shapes — some 60 stories high — which have fascinated visitors since the pioneer days of the 1840s.

It is presently managed under a cooperative arrangement involving the U.S. Forest Service, U.S. Bureau of Land Management, state Department of Fish & Game, state parks and Cassia County.

Designation as a national reserve would allow for a management arrangement between the National Parks Service and state and lo-

Man arrested after allegedly firing shot

TWIN FALLS — A 41-year-old man was arrested late Thursday night on a charge of aggravated assault after he allegedly fired a shot in a Twin Falls bar when asked for the establishment's owner to leave.

Richard Narajo, a Twin Falls resident, was arrested shortly after 11 p.m. in the South Park Lounge, police records show. He was charged with aggravated assault and carrying a concealed weapon.

Nolan Schorzman, owner of the bar located at 107 South Park Ave., was the alleged victim of the assault. Police records show Narajo allegedly fired a shot from a .45 caliber pistol into the bar's ceiling and threatened to kill Schorzman, 62, and members of Schorzman's family.

Police were notified of the incident by a customer who left the lounge immediately after the shooting. Narajo was arrested while still in the bar.

What's what

ARARE CRIME
In the village of Concepcion near Lima, Peru, a farm worker was accused of stealing chickens on New Year's Eve. What makes it noteworthy is it was the first reported crime there in more than 200 years.

FISHING PLUG
Q. Who invented the fishing plug?
A. A Michigan fisherman named James Heddon. In 1888, Carved it out of a piece of wood. It worked so well he started a company in 1902 to manufacture more of same.

Daily Horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Consult with some progressive, creative friends about how you can best improve the efficiency of your workplace. Maintain a positive attitude today, and you could make some valuable new contacts.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Spend some time discussing with your mate how you will proceed with your plans for the future. Get plenty of rest this evening.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): You can make your mate extremely happy this evening with just a smile and a hug. Use your energy in only positive directions.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Listen to the ideas given to you by a clever friend; these are really very good ones. Go out with your family this evening.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): If you handle your work in a very competent manner, you will come to the attention of a superior who can help you advance.

LEO (July 22 to August 21): You can finish up a project you have been working on for a long time with a little help from a friend. Use the creative side of your nature.

VIRGO (August 22 to September 22): A family friend can help you get your home in better running order. Be sure to drive very carefully all day, and especially during the evening.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22): A partner may seem to be acting too hastily, but this person will still get the right results, so don't do anything which could interfere.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21): A new co-worker will be very helpful to you, so accept this person gratefully. Take time for recreation when your work is finished.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21): Get into some new types of recreation which will make your spare time more enjoyable. Don't take any silly risks tonight.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20): Invite some guests into your home tonight, and entertain them low tide, even if such a crab is taken far inland. And though far inland, some specialists can tell you what beach that crab is from, just by watching it for awhile.

Q. Which dog - the male or the female - is more likely to bite?
A. The female. Half again more likely. The research that revealed this dates back a number of years, but there's no reason to believe the pattern has changed.

CRAB
A fiddler crab turns its darkest at

The words "heart attack" almost never appear on medical charts. What shows up not so infrequently are the initials "MI" short for "myocardial infarction."

The praying mantis is Greek for "prophet." Did I tell you the old Turks used to insist the praying mantis always perched to face Mecca?

CRAB

well. Don't do anything which could damage your reputation.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19): This is a good day for communicating with others, whether for business or personal reasons. Tend to your financial situation.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20): Finances are vital to you right now, so find a way to increase your income and set up a better budget. Enjoy your good friends tonight.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY
He or she will be a born optimist, always looking toward the future and never dwelling on past mistakes, so teach your child to learn from experience and to finish one project at a time. Give your bright progeny a very modern education, and encourage curiosity.

Panel recommends extensive privatization

WASHINGTON (AP) — A White House commission on Friday said the government should turn over to private businesses the operation of prisons, air traffic control facilities, mail delivery and scores of other services.

Agencies now providing those services "have become muscle-bound to the point of paralysis," the panel's chairman, David F. Linowes, told reporters after presenting President Reagan with what he called the first "independent, exhaustive analysis" of the privatization issue.

Linowes, however, acknowledged that the bulk of the 78 recommendations in the 276-page report by the President's Commission on Privatization are unlikely to be enacted before Reagan's term ends next January.

"We didn't take on this job with the expectation that it would stay with just one administration," he said. "For the most part we set for an incremental approach. We know Americans don't take kindly to sudden change. They like them, to evolve."

The recommendations include repealing laws that created the U.S. Postal Service's monopoly, putting the Federal Aviation Administration's flight service facilities and control towers out for private bids and selling the naval petroleum reserves in California and Wyoming.

The panel also called for the use of vouchers or direct subsidies to individuals for housing, education and elderly care rather than pouring any more money into public housing projects or federal aid for public schools.

And the commission would sell to private banks and other financial institutions the government's $250 billion portfolio of housing, business, agriculture and education loans.

"Government should not be in the business of business," Linowes said. "The well-developed banking industry can take over those loans ... freeing up billions of dollars for the federal treasury."

Many of the recommendations, such as selling the petroleum reserves and government loans, have been proposed in the past by Reagan and rejected soundly in Congress each time.

Oliver North wants to leave Marines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Col. Oliver North, the fired national security aide facing trial in the Iran-Contra affair, announced Friday he has asked to retire from the Marine Corps and said he may subpoena "the highest-ranking officials in our government" as part of his defense.

North submitted his request on Thursday, asking that he be allowed to retire effective May 1 when he will have completed 20 years of active military service, Pentagon sources said.

That is the minimum amount of service required to retire with a pension. With 20 years of service, North is entitled to a pension totaling 50 percent of his base monthly pay, or slightly over $22,000 a year.

In a statement read in the office of his attorney, Brendan Sullivan, North said the lawyer "has informed me that the defense against these charges may require him to issue subpoenas for the testimony and records of the highest ranking officials in our government."

"That strikes me as a course of action incompatible with my continued service as a Marine officer," he continued. "Accordingly, with great sadness, I have tendered my request to retire from the Marine Corps."

North, who wore a civilian business suit in place of his usual ribbon-decked Marine uniform, refused to answer questions after reading the statement.

North said he has "silently endured a torrent of media speculation" during 16 months of Iran-Contra investigations. He said he had not responded "except when required by law" and that "further silence is a disservice."

"While on active duty, I am not fully free to speak out or to take other actions which may be necessary," North said.

A man, apparently a private security guard, controlled the access of reporters and photographers to the room where North read his statement. Before North entered, the guard told the press to "keep your hands out of your pockets" and to make no "quick moves."

According to one official, who agreed to discuss the matter only if not identified, North has available a substantial amount of accumulated leave and probably will stop working as a staff officer at Marine Corps headquarters pending his retirement.

North was reassigned to headquarters in November 1986 after President Reagan fired him as an aide to the National Security Council.

Lt. Col. Oliver North talks to reporters Wednesday.

Committee approves 'taxpayer bill of rights'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee approved a "taxpayer bill of rights" Friday that would require the Internal Revenue Service to waive any penalty that resulted from erroneous written advice from the IRS.

The watered-down bill is designed to respond to what Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, called "a bully mentality" among some IRS officials. "The bill is not an attempt to bash the IRS ... but to protect taxpayers from heavy-handed abuse," Bentsen said.

The future of the legislation, sponsored chiefly by Sen. David Pryor, D-Ark., is uncertain. The Reagan administration opposes several parts of it, as do some members of the House Ways and Means Committee.

The amended bill, Pryor said, "is as near as reasonable as we could draft."

Key provisions of the committee-approved bill would:

- Require the IRS to waive any penalty that was imposed because of underpayment of tax if the underpayment was caused by erroneous written IRS advice.
- The IRS generally follows such a rule already if the taxpayer can prove the agency was at fault.
- This change would not affect a taxpayer who asks IRS for advice by telephone; neither would it allow the waiver of interest charges on any late payment.
- Increase from 10 days to 30 days the advance written notice the IRS generally must give a taxpayer before seizing property.

Report indicates illegal workers depress wages

WASHINGTON (AP) — Illegal aliens are driving down wages and job conditions for low-income native Americans and legal immigrants, but also are indirectly enhancing job opportunities for some higher-skilled workers, congressional investigators say in a new report.

Hurt most by the tide of illegal workers sweeping border, farm and some metropolitan areas are native and legally documented immigrant crop pickers, janitors and food processors, workers, the General Accounting Office says.

Wage and benefit increases won by largely legal Mexican migrants and native black workers under union organizing campaigns in those industries in the 1970s have disappeared as they have been displaced by illegal immigrants working at often-below minimum wages, the GAO said in a 70-page report.

For example, janitors in downtown Los Angeles office buildings — most of them black or legal Hispanic immigrants — had won wage and benefits reaching a peak of $12 an hour by 1983 under union contracts, according to the report.

However, a group of aggressive non-union janitorial services hired predominantly illegal immigrants have since wrested away the best building contracts, driving the union scale back down to $4 an hour and below.

Of 2,500 black janitors working under high-wage contracts in 1977, only 100 still enjoyed comparative wages by 1985, the GAO said. The union still had 600 working members but 500 of them had suffered large pay cuts.

Missiles concern State Department

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration is assured that nuclear warheads will not be placed on Chinese intermediate-range missiles sold to Saudi Arabia, but the sale is still a "disturbing regional trend," the State Department said Friday.

The department confirmed that Saudi Arabia had acquired Chinese missiles with a range of 2,200 miles — capable of hitting all areas of the Middle East, including Israel.

With Iran and Iraq engaged in a so-called "war of the cities" — the lobbing of missiles against major population centers — the introduction of more rockets into the region has raised concerns in Washington, spokesmen said.

"It is another part of a disturbing regional trend in surface-to-surface missile proliferation," said Rudolph Boone, a State Department press officer. "The sum total of the proliferation is a degradation of the security of all states in the region."

The missiles were described as Chinese CSS-2 rockets, similar to those used in China's limited space program in the early 1970s and capable of being outfitted with nuclear warheads.

"Such a system is not in the interests of peace and stability in the region," Boone said.

Secretary of State George P. Shultz expressed U.S. concern about the sales when he talked last week with Chinese Foreign Minister Qiao Qun, spokesman Charles E. Redman said.

Mecham claims official hatched plot against him

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Gov. Evan Mecham, facing senators' hostile questions at his impeachment trial, said Friday he believes the state's top lawmaker is guilty of hatching a plot against him.

Mecham said he wishes he had fired Department of Public Safety Director Ralph Miltstead, who has accused Mecham of obstructing justice.

"I wish I had done that because we wouldn't be sitting in this body today," he said. "I have highly repented that."

"Do you feel Director Miltstead is guilty of mutinous service, yes or no?" asked Sen. Tony West, a Republican-like Mecham.

"Yes, I do, sir," said Mecham who had previously hedged on answering the question.

West noted that in the military, mutiny is punishable by death.

"I wouldn't propose we take Director Miltstead out and shoot him," said the governor. "I would protect him against that."

But Mecham angrily blamed Miltstead and others for his current predicament.

Pressed on why he didn't fire Miltstead, he said, "I had a war going on with the attorney general and I didn't need any others." Miltstead had been been appointed by Mecham's Democratic predecessor, Bruce Babbitt, and under state law could be removed by Mecham only for good cause.

Miltstead, who is out of the country, previously testified during the trial that Mecham told him not to cooperate with Attorney General Bob Corbin's investigation of an alleged death threat against former Mecham aide Donna Carlson. She was a grand jury witness in an investigation of Mecham's campaign finances.

1 man acquitted in sedition trial

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — One of 10 men accused of plotting to overthrow the government was acquitted Friday on a directed verdict by the trial judge.

Judge Morris Arnold of U.S. District Court ruled that the evidence did not show that Robert Smalley of Fort Smith knew anything about the alleged conspiracy.

Arnold said that the only testimony about Smalley came from Randall Rader, former paramilitary trainer for the Order, which was a militant right-wing white-supremacist group.

Rader testified last week that he bought illegal weapons from Smalley and that he only told Smalley that the weapons were for a right-wing group.

Smalley smiled broadly after being acquitted.

Other motions for directed verdicts for acquittal are expected to be heard Monday. The government is expected to rest its case then.

USSR set to borrow reforms

DUBROVNIK, Yugoslavia (AP) — The Soviet Union announced Friday it will borrow political and economic reforms from Yugoslavia and reiterated that it won't impose its policies on other communist nations.

Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev pledged as he ended a trip to Yugoslavia that Eastern European countries are free to follow "any path to socialism" without Soviet interference.

The declaration, also signed by Yugoslav President Lazar Mojsov, brings the Soviet Union one step closer to abandoning, at least on paper, the so-called Brezhnev Doctrine that tolerates no alternative to Moscow's brand of communism.

Asians mark solar eclipse

GENERAL SANTOS CITY, Philippines (AP) — Millions of Asians prayed, pounded drums, and danced in the streets Friday to greet total eclipse of the sun that drew a curtain of darkness across land and sea.

Young Filipinos shot rifles and tossed firecrackers at the blackened sky. In northern India, thousands of naked men and women jostled their way into huge, sacred pools to cleanse their souls in a massive Hindu ritual.

The eclipse was the most spectacular along a 108-mile swath that moved from the Indian Ocean across Indonesia and the southern Philippine island of Mindanao during the morning hours.

Palestinians, troops clash

JERUSALEM (AP) — Hundreds of Palestinian refugees clashed with Israeli soldiers after Moslem prayers Friday in the Gaza Strip, and one Arab was killed, the army said.

Another 25 were wounded throughout the occupied territories as violence broke out following the noon prayers, officials said.

Two Israeli civilians were detained for allegedly stockpiling an arsenal of weapons intended for anti-Arab attacks, police said.

Police warn strike backers

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Police on Friday threatened strict action against organizers of a national strike set for Monday, the anniversary of the 1960 Sharpeville massacre.

Anti-apartheid organizations have called for a "national day of protest" to mark the anniversary and to protest the recent crackdown on major black opposition groups.

The strike also had been intended to protest the scheduled execution Friday of six blacks from Sharpeville convicted of complicity in the 1984 mob killing of a black town councilor during anti-apartheid riots.

Soviets push shuttle flight

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet scientists are working around the clock to prepare the first launch of their space shuttle on an unmanned test flight expected by June, officials said Friday.

Alexander I. Dunayev, the head of the space agency Glavkosmos, also said that the agency plans to use the actual shuttle, not a dummy, in the test flight and that more than one of the craft will be built.

The Soviets are believed to have been developing their own winged reusable spacecraft since at least 1982, but Soviet officials did not confirm the project until December 1984 and have released little information about it.

Dunayev said the first flight of the shuttle was imminent.

Honduras moves forces to border area

TEGUICIGALPA, Honduras (AP) — The army on Friday began moving 2,000 soldiers to border jungles, it says. Nicaraguan troops have penetrated, and President Jose Acevedo Hoyo said he was depending on U.S. support to fend off aggression from Nicaragua.

Reagan administration sources said Friday that Honduras had asked for U.S. help in transporting the troops to the border area. The sources, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said the request for helicopter support would probably be approved.

Honduras said the Nicaraguans crossed the border in pursuit of U.S.-backed Contra rebels, and a ranking officer said Friday that about 1,000 of the soldiers remained on Honduran territory.

At a news conference Friday, Azcona said the U.S. deployment of more than 3,000 troops in Honduras was a warning and he would ask for more U.S. help if the leftist Nicaraguan government didn't withdraw its troops.

The U.S. Embassy said about 890 American paratroopers, the last of the 3,200 troops sent to Honduras, were dropped onto Palmarola air base Friday. The Defense Department says the troops will be in Central America about 10 days.

Azcona said his own troops "will keep bombing Sandinista positions if the Nicaraguans do not withdraw. We are preparing an operation to bomb inside Honduran territory," he said the day after an air raid in the Bocay region.

Azcona said he decided to ask for U.S. troops because their arrival would be "spectacular." He said he expected the "simple presence and immediate response" of U.S. troops would scare the Sandinista troops into withdrawing.

The United States helped Honduras move troops to the border in December 1986, after Nicaraguan forces attacked Contra rebel camps in Honduras. Forty U.S. helicopters transported 700 Honduran soldiers to the front. No Americans were involved in combat.

The Reagan administration sources said that if the request for helicopter support was granted, U.S. personnel would stay away from any fighting.

Nicaragua has denied its troops entered Honduras, but a Nicaraguan military source indicated Friday that they had.

The 60-year-old Azcona said Honduran infantry was moving into the mountainous Bocay region and should be in position by Saturday.

"We're acting with complete calm. The Sandinistas only have to leave our territory," Azcona told a news conference.

The Honduran officer, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said two infantry battalions totaling from 1,600 to 2,000 soldiers were moving in from a base at Juticalpa, about 90 miles west of Bocay. He said warplanes were on call from Tamara air base 15 miles north of Tegucigalpa.

The officer said soldiers had orders to expel "invading troops" by whatever means necessary, adding that about half the original force had fled back to Nicaragua and about 1,000 remained.

He said the remaining Sandinista troops were spread over an area about 40 miles square.

Pentagon officials said privately the four U.S. battalions from the 82nd Airborne and 7th Light Infantry would spend eight or nine days training with Hondurans in different parts of the country.

One battalion of the 82nd Airborne will be at Juticalpa, one official said, "but anyone who knows the country" would realize the 90 miles "might as well be 4,000. There's nothing but mountains and jungle in between."

The Contras have had secret bases in Honduras from which to attack across the border in their 6-year-old battle with the Sandinistas.

Guerrillas try to disrupt Salvador voting

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Leftist guerrillas on Friday burned buses, taxis and other vehicles that defied their nationwide ban on transport, and they threatened more sabotage to disrupt weekend elections.

The Farabundo Marti National Liberation Front, an alliance of five guerrilla groups, claimed its fighters attacked three soldiers guarding a gas station outside this capital.

The armed forces press office said it could not confirm or deny the report, made on the guerrilla radio station. The radio said three soldiers were killed or wounded, but it didn't give details.

The guerrilla Radio Venceremos said "our demolition squads will carry out new actions in repudiation of the elections." It also said "urban commando cells are carrying out actions to ensure the transport ban's success."

Salvadorans on Sunday elect all 80 members of the Legislative National Assembly and mayors and municipal councils nationwide. The guerrillas, who have been fighting the U.S.-backed government since 1979, call the elections a farce. They say free and fair balloting is impossible in wartime.

They decreed an indefinite nationwide transport ban beginning Friday to protest and disrupt the elections.

A poll published Friday by San Salvador's Central American University indicated more than 80 percent of prospective voters intend to cast ballots despite the guerrilla call for a boycott. But the same poll indicated about half the electorate either rejects all the candidates or remains undecided.

The poll of 914 people in 11 of the country's 14 provinces gave the rightist National Republican Alliance, or Arena, an edge over the governing Christian Democrats in the Assembly vote.

The centrist Christian Democrats have 33 deputies but are expected to lose that majority. No leftist party is participating in the elections.

The privately owned radio station YSU, with correspondents in almost all 14 provinces, said guerrillas burned eight vehicles in the eastern province of Usulután. The radio, citing police and armed forces officials, said the vehicles destroyed were two buses, two tractor-trailers, two pickups, one jeep and one taxi. No injuries were reported in the destruction of the vehicles.

Spiders knock Indiana out of NCAA

By GEORGE SMITH
The Harford Courant

HARTFORD, Conn. — Underdog Richmond produced the first upset of the National Collegiate Athletic Association East Regional Friday, knocking-off defending-national champion Indiana, 72-69, in a first-round game at the Civic Center.

The Spiders, champions of the Colonial Athletic Conference, got a big basket from senior Rodney Rice with 54 seconds remaining for a 70-69 lead. Rice then rebounded a miss by Indiana's Keith Smart at the other end, passing up court for a layup by Ken Atkinson for the final points.

A three-point attempt by Indiana's Joe Hillman bounced high off the rim

NCAA Tournament
The East

at the buzzer, creating the earliest exit of a defending-national champion since 1981, when Louisville was upset by Arkansas, 74-73, in its first game.

Richmond Coach Dick Tarrant, who was 0-2 against Indiana's Bobby Knight in postseason appearances, was thinking overtime in the final seconds.

"I didn't know if we'd have any juice left," Tarrant said. "We were tiring. I didn't know if the kids had five minutes left in their bodies."

The Spiders (25-6) advance to the second round Sunday at the Civic Center against Georgia Tech, which beat Iowa State, 90-78, earlier Friday. Tech has lost to Richmond the last two years.

The loss ended Indiana's season at 19-10.

Indiana Coach Bobby Knight appeared at the post-game interview without any of his players and took an I-told-you-so posture.

"I mentioned yesterday that I thought the game would be evenly matched, and that's exactly what it was," he said. "Is anybody here surprised we lost? There must be a few people smart enough here to know it was going to be a tough basketball game. I'm not surprised we lost."

Richmond had four players in double figures, led by Rice's 21. Senior Peter Woolfolk had 16 points, while Atkinson and senior center Steve Kratzer also had a game-high 12 rebounds and held Indiana center Dean Garrett to nine points.

"I know we had a chance to win," Woolfolk said. "We were a 10-point underdog, and everybody was looking up on us, blowing us off. But we thought we could win, so I'm not surprised. But I guess we surprised a lot of you guys."

The Spiders led, 44-38, at halftime and got the lead to 10 points, 64-44, with 13:42 left before the Hoosiers began to show any sign of life. A basket by Smart, who finished with a game-high 23 points, and a pair of three-pointers by freshman Jay Edwards brought Indiana back into the game at 64-62.

Richmond jumped back to a six-point lead, 58-52, on two baskets by Woolfolk and Atkinson before the Hoosiers came on again. A jumper by Smart in the paint put Indiana in front, 65-62, with 6:44 remaining, but Richmond refused to fold.

Indiana couldn't reach down and put the Spiders away, falling on two trips down the floor to increase the advantage.

"We've been the kind of a team all season that has had trouble against a team that plays patiently and very smart, and they did," Knight said. "Dick Tarrant was a good coach before I even started coaching."

Richmond slowed the pace, and Woolfolk, a 6-5, 235-pounder, scored twice underneath to reverse the momentum.

"When they broke every huddle, they said 'We're not going to lose it, we're not going to lose it,'" Tarrant said of the game's last two minutes. The teams swapped leads three times in the last five minutes.

And with 54 seconds left and time running down on the 45-second shot clock, Ritter squared up at the top of the key with Smart right in his face and buried an 18-footer to put the Spiders ahead to stay, 70-69.

"I looked at the (shot) clock and there were only eight seconds left," Rice said. "I knew somebody had to see INDIANA on Page B2."

Poulton, Bagley earn first-team all-GSC

By The Times-News

POCATELLO — Minico High School guard Jack Bagley and forward Dan Poulton have been named to the first unit of the all-Gem State Conference boys' basketball team.

Bagley, a 6-foot, 2-inch senior, finished fifth in the Gem State Conference in scoring this season with a 15.2-point average, while Poulton, a 6-4 junior, finished eighth (13.6 points).

Minico Coach Craig Dexter, who led his Spartans to the league championship, a No. 1 rating in the final Associated Press Class A-1 prep poll and a fourth-place finish in the state tournament, was selected coach of the year.

The all-conference teams were chosen at the meeting of the league's 10 girls' and 10 boys' coaches here Wednesday.

Twin Falls High School junior guard Swede Trenkle and sophomore guard Jason Astorquia and Minico senior forward Robert Greener were honorable mention selections.

On the girls' side, TFFS senior forward Rachael Carter was chosen second-team all-conference, while senior forward Kris Horner of Twin Falls and senior guard Michelle Lowry of Minico were honorable mention selections.

On the boys' side in addition to Bagley and Poulton, the first unit included Bill Billman, a 6-5 senior forward from Rigby; Bryan Hart, a 6-0 senior guard from state A-1 champion Idaho Falls; Mark Coram, a 6-0 senior guard from Pocatello, and Chris Hope, a 6-3 senior forward from Highland.

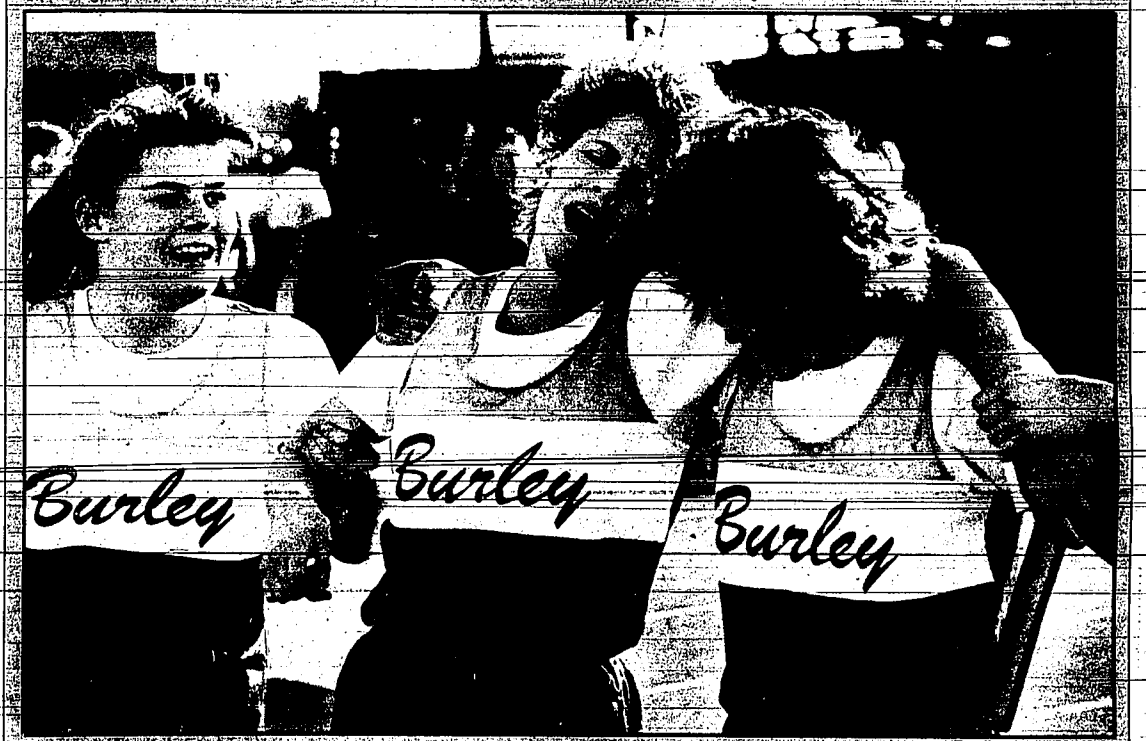

Billman was selected as the boys' player of the year.

The boys' coaches also chosen an all-defensive unit, to which Bagley and Minico; senior forward Robert Davis were honorable mention selections.

On the girls' side, the first-team selections were Linda White, a 5-9 senior forward from Skyline; Linda Byington, a 6-0 senior center from Bonneville; Carina Hoffman, a 6-1 senior center from Highland; Nikki Sue Baldwin, a 5-9 senior guard from state A-1 champion Madison; and Mikki Kone, a 5-11 junior forward from Idaho Falls.

White was named player of the year while Norm Kane of Idaho Falls and Randy Rehner, Highland, whose team tied for the conference championship, shared coach of the year honors.

Twin Falls girls, Jerome boys open season by dominating six-team track meet

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News Staff Writer

TWIN FALLS — The boys' and girls' track teams of Twin Falls and Jerome boys and girls track teams opened their season by dominating a six-team track meet at the Twin Falls Municipal Golf Course Friday afternoon and ran away from their competition.

Jerome, leading only one event on the track, crushed the boys' division, 202 points against 1184 for Twin Falls and 105 for Madison. The girls' division had Twin Falls with 148 points while Timmerup-Jerome had 107. Both the Twin Falls girls' and boys' teams had a 200-meter sprint relay, and senior Paul Hancock who ran off with the quarter, and pair won of perhaps a 38-year tradition is that the Twin Falls boys didn't get a first place all day. Besides that, he said, it's not like that might have happened.

When you're sitting with three schools, record holders, you have a pretty good nucleus to build around," said Jerome Coach Tim Dunne. "And one of them (pole vaulter Kevin Thompson) raised his flag today."

The other two are junior John Gourley, who won his two short sprint sprints and on two winning relays, and senior Paul Hancock who ran off with the quarter, where he reigns as Jerome's mile runner. The only track event that wasn't won by the Tigers was the 100-meter dash, which was won by Jerome's Kevin Thompson.

"We need a little more on the high," Dunne had opened the post meet autopsy — without a smile.

The record holders aren't Jerome's only power.

"I was very excited with our distance people today," Dunne understated. "More than (senior Glenn) Leavitt winning the 1600, 1600, 3200, and Stan Ness was second and Matt Dixon third in both events and that's a junior and sophomore. And our halfmiler, Brett Allen. He battled his way through the ranks for the last three years. I don't think he won a race until today. But it makes you feel good to see someone like that win because he's paid his dues."

"Things weren't so good for us in the field events — other than Thompson in the pole vault," he concluded.

"That's because Minico's Justin Bair and Jason Jordan dominated the weights."

In the girls' division, Twin Falls' many Hannah, Dana Robertson and Holly Feckenpaugh piled up most of the points in the 800, 1600 and 3200 events. Lisa Poock won both hurdles and Molly Wallace ran off with the quartermile.

But the Twin Falls girls proved just about positive in the sprinting.

Twin Falls Coach Duane Skanda said perhaps the only bright spot was "the spark seemed to be coming from our sophomores. They seem to be competitors."

"We have a lot of chances we can make now, solid thing we know now but couldn't know until we saw the team in actual competition," he said.

"If we don't make changes in events, certainly who is running in the No. 1 position will be different in some cases."

Twin Falls golf team favored in region, Gem State races

By COLIN MULLOON
Times-News correspondent

TWIN FALLS — The general consensus is that Twin Falls High School's is the golf team to beat.

So far, the consensus is right.

Twin Falls, coming off of its first Region III tournament victory Friday at Twin Falls Municipal Golf Course, is clear favorite to take not only the region championship, but the Bruins also have a good shot at the Gem State Conference crown.

Bruin golf coach Phil Stover cites numbers as the most important aspect of this year's Bruin squad.

"The strength of our team is depth," Stover said. "We won the region and the conference championship last year. I think we should win it again this year. I would be disappointed if we don't."

Stover will be looking towards seniors Dan Ross and Brian Reed, but the re-emergence of Bart Veis could make the difference between a good Bruin squad and a great one.

Veis played well as a freshman, but slumped in his sophomore year. This year, however, Stover said the junior is resembling his old form.

Veis shot a 70 in Friday's Region III opener to take home medalist's honors with Minico's Scott Erling who also turned in a two-over-par 70.

Still, Ross is who Stover is looking towards for leadership.

"This is his third year playing var-

TWIN FALLS — Junior Bart Veis shot a two-over-par 70 to help the Twin Falls High golfers to a Region III tournament victory here at the Twin Falls Municipal Golf Course Friday.

Twin Falls scored a combined 303 while Minico trailed by six shots, scoring a 309. Pocatello finished 319 overall for third place, Burley tallied 325 for fourth and Highland finished with 334 strokes for fifth.

Minico took first place in the girls' division with a 190 combined score.

Barry Smith led off the first with a walk and Boomer Walker singled. Matt Rasmussen reached base on an error, scoring Smith, then Jody Bryant, Wallace and Shane Quessnell followed with successive singles, scoring three more runs.

In the fourth, Tony Hughes and Smith got aboard on back-to-back errors and Walker advanced them with a sacrifice bunt. Hughes scored when Rasmussen got on base on another error.

In the fifth, Wallace and Quessnell opened with singles and Joel Jund grounded into a double play, scoring Wallace. Hughes followed with a double and scored on an error, giving the Bruins a commanding 7-0 lead.

Twin Falls took advantage of five Blackfoot errors in the game to score five unearned runs.

door on the Broncos in relief.

In the second game, Twin Falls scored a single run in the first inning when Rasmussen reached base on an error and Bryant and Wallace followed with singles, but Blackfoot took the lead back quickly by scoring three runs in the bottom of that frame. Smith tied it up in the top of the second with a home run, which drove in Jund, who had reached base on an error. But Blackfoot took it back with three runs in the bottom of the second and put it away with four more in the sixth, backing junior left-hander James Vogley's five-hit pitching.

For Twin Falls, Wallace finished the day 4-for-6 at the plate.

The Bruins will play their home opening next Saturday at 11 a.m., another Gem State Conference matchup.

THERE'S ONLY ONE THING MISSING FROM OUR CAR REPAIR GUARANTEE...

AN EXPIRATION DATE.

Next time you're at our dealership ask us for a copy of our free Lifetime Service Guarantee. Then examine it closely. You'll find that it covers thousands of customer-paid parts and repairs. And you'll learn that if any of these parts ever fails or wears out, we'll fix it - free. Free parts and free labor. You'll also discover that with our Lifetime Service Guarantee it doesn't matter where you bought your Ford, Lincoln or Mercury vehicle or whether you bought it new or used. So even if you don't know us yet, you can get the Lifetime Service Guarantee on your next covered repair. And if you're more than 50 miles away, thousands of participating Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealers will honor our guarantee. That's reassuring to know when you're out of town on business or vacation. But no matter how closely you look at the Lifetime Service

Guarantee, there's one thing you won't find - an expiration date. Because our guarantee is good for as long as you own your vehicle. So you'll never pay more than once for a covered repair. That's what makes it a Lifetime Guarantee.

Quality Care for Quality Cars.
