Japanese terrorist sought in USO bombing

The Associated Press

About the Red Army — A5

NAPLES, Italy — Police said Friday they believe a Japanese terrorist accused of attacking Western embassies around the world parked a bomb-laden car outside the Naples USO club, killing an American servicewoman and four Italians.

Two Arab groups claimed responsibility for the explosion Thursday night in a narrow street that runs past the club, where a party was being held to welcome destroyer USS Paul to port. Seventeen people were wounded, including four U.S. sailors.

All five people killed were just outside the USO. They included Angela Santos, 21, of Ocala, Fla., who held the rank of radioman 3rd class and was based at the Naval Communications Area Master Station in Naples.

A man speaking accented English telephoned a French news agency office in Rome on Friday and said the bomb was planted by a group called Organization of Jihad Brigades. "The American imperialists must die today, two years after their barbarous attack against the Libyan Arab state," he said.

His reference was to the U.S. bombing of Libya on April 15, 1986, which was intended to punish the Arab nation for alleged sponsorship of international terrorism.

In Beirut, a statement signed by a group calling itself the Islamic Jihad Organization for the Support of the Oppressed on Earth said it "claims responsibility for the attack launched by our brethren holy warriors in Italy against American targets in the city of Naples in which several imperialist soldiers were killed or wounded."

The typewritten statement, in Arabic, was delivered to the Beirut bureau of the Italian news agency ANSA. Its language indicated the group was made up of pro-Iranian Shiite Moslems.

Libya's ambassador to Italy denied involvement in the bombing by Col. Moammar Gadhafi's government.

In Spain, meanwhile, a bomb exploded Friday at a U.S. Air Force radio relay station near an air base east of Madrid. It caused no injuries, a U.S. Embassy official said.

No group claimed responsibility. A Defense Ministry official was quoted by the Spanish news agency EFE as saying the attack could be related to the anniversary of the Libya raids.

Italian investigators said Friday that Junzo Okudaira of the Japanese Red Army, which has links to terrorists in Lebanon, was the prime suspect in the Naples attack. An international arrest warrant was issued for him Friday.

Inflation shows first jump of year

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The nation got its first big dose of inflation this year as wholesale prices rose at an annual rate of 7 percent in March, the government said Friday. The report sent new tremors through financial markets already shaken by a worsening U.S. trade deficit.

The Labor Department's producer price index rose 0.6 percent last month, marking the biggest increase since April 1987 and more than erasing a 0.2 percent decline in February.

Falling energy and food prices that had been keeping a lid on inflationary pressures shot upwards in March, as did wholesale prices for a wide market basket of other consumer goods and capital equipment.

The price data provided the follow-up blow in a one-two punch that government statisticians delivered on the state of the economy.

On Thursday, the Commerce Department reported that the nation's trade deficit expanded by $1.4 billion or 11 percent to $13.8 billion in February when all predictions had called for it to narrow.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average of 30 blue-chip stocks dropped 101 points on the news Thursday — its fifth-biggest decline in history — but the market stabilized Friday and the Dow closed up 8.29 points.

"I don't know that the markets are going to digest two doses of reality quite as well as they did the first," said Donald Straszheim, chief economist for Merrill Lynch brokerage.

"The trade number is easier to explain away because it bounces up and down, but not the price figures," Straszheim said. "The 2 percent and 3 percent inflation we have been enjoying — we probably will no longer."

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said the administration was disappointed by the increase in wholesale prices and the trade deficit.

"We think the market has overreacted to a one-time report, and we hope this thing will stabilize," he said.

But analysts said upward pressure on prices is "only going to worsen in the months ahead, stirring speculation that the Federal Reserve Board might tighten credit to both prevent the dollar from losing further value

Education board allocates budget

The Associated Press

POCATELLO — The state Board of Education has agreed on the allocation of higher education support for the new spending year but only after fending off an attempt to adjust the base budgets of Boise State University and Lewis-Clark State College.

The board voted 4-3 on Friday against the proposal to make up half of the $1.3 million its staff identifies as "inequities" in the two budgets.

"This opens up the entire argument again about what is equitable," member J. Ray Cox of Coeur d'Alene said in opposing the move. "It does not fit my concept of what we agreed to do in the past."

The plan, proposed by Finance Committee Chairman George Alvarez of Boise, would have taken a proportionate amount of money from the fiscal 1989 allocations to each of the state's four colleges and given back $52,000 to Boise State and $132,000 to Lewis-Clark.

The board decided in February that those schools had deficiencies in their base budgets because of inequities in the distribution of state aid in past years. But it said any adjustments would be made only when state aid to higher education exceeded the level needed to maintain current operations at the four schools.

The Legislature this year allotted $105.9 million for higher education — over $800,000 below the minimum the board said was needed to maintain current operations and almost $8 million less than the board's full budget request.

Still, state Schools Superintendent Jerry Evans argued in favor of Alvarez's proposal, calling it "at least a meager step in the right direction."

Since correcting the budget deficiencies was identified in February as a priority item in the board's allocation of money, Evans said "it seems to me we have some obligation."

But board members Charles Grant

Texts full of trivia, fads, group charges

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Most textbooks are lifeless and boring because state regulations force publishers to cram elementary and secondary books with "test-oriented trivia, pedagogical faddism and inconsistent social messages," an education group charged Friday.

The Council for Basic Education said states should stop issuing lengthy lists of what textbooks must cover, and publishers should have textbooks written by gifted writers instead of committee.

In a study called "A Conspiracy of Good Intentions: America's Textbook Fiasco," the non-profit Council said the textbook selection system "is perfectly designed to produce textbooks that confuse, mislead and profoundly bore students."

"Authors and editors do not willingly chop and flatten sentences, nor do they thoughtlessly mangle storylines," it said. "The source of the writing problem is not in the publishing house, but in the public agency. Legislators, educational policymakers and administrative regulators have unintentionally drained the life out of children's textbooks."

It cited one book that rendered the fable of "The Hare and the Tortoise" this way:

"Rabbit said: 'I can run. I can run fast. You can't run fast.'"

Turtle said, "Look Rabbit. See the park. You and I will run. We'll run to the park."

"Rabbit said, 'I want to stop. I'll stop here. I can run, but Turtle can't.'"

"I can get to the park fast," Turtle said, "I can't run fast. But I will not stop. Rabbit can't see me. I'll get to the park."

In another instance noted in a recent article in Atlantic Monthly magazine, a passage from Hans Christian Anderson's "The Emperor's New Clothes" was reduced from the original:

"Magnificent! Excellent! 'Prodigious' went from mouth to mouth, and everyone was exceedingly pleased."

It was:

"How marvelous," they echoed the emperor. "How beautiful!"

Speakes quits Lynch post

The Associated Press

NEW YORK — Former White House spokesman Larry Speakes quit as chief spokesman for Merrill Lynch & Co. on Friday, days after he created an uproar by admitting he twice concocted quotes for President Reagan.

Speakes said in a statement that his resignation was "the best course of action for Merrill Lynch and for me personally. Merrill Lynch is a great firm and the industry leader, and I've enjoyed being part of it."

The announcement had led to intense pressure on Speakes to resign as a result of communications at the Wall Street investment giant because of his disclosures in a book about his tenure as White House spokesman.

He said in the book that he had attributed to Reagan comments the president never made.

Merrill Lynch said in a statement: "We accept Larry Speakes' resignation with regret. Larry has made a significant contribution to our firm during his time here, and we wish him well in every regard."

However, a source familiar with Speakes' decision, who spoke on condition he not be identified, said senior Merrill Lynch management wanted him to quit because the phony-quote disclosures raised serious questions about his credibility and by extension the credibility of the company.

Speakes joined Merrill Lynch with much fanfare 14 months ago. Sources inside the firm said he earned between $200,000 and $250,000 a year, about triple his $77,000 salary at The White House.

He oversaw a staff of about 70 people with responsibility over Merrill Lynch's press relations, corporate advertising and in-house communications.

Frigate ran into mine field, authorities say

The Associated Press

MANAMA: Bahrain — An American sailor who was aboard the USS Samuel B. Roberts when it hit a mine in the Persian Gulf said Friday he heard a thunderous blast and feared he would drown as the sea rushed in around him.

A hole was blasted in the side of the missile frigate and it was being towed to Dubai for repairs. Ten sailors remained hospitalized after the Thursday incident, and two were in critical condition.

Defense Department officials in Washington said the frigate ran into a virtual mine field in the central gulf.

Department sources said the Navy had dispatched four mine-sweeping ships to the area to search for more explosives.

Department spokesman Lt. Col. Keith Schneider said later that two mines were spotted by the crew of a reconnaissance helicopter and the devices were destroyed by a Navy team.

He said the mines were moored by cables to the bottom of the gulf but were visible from the air.

Hijacking at a stalemate

The Washington Post

ALGIERS, Algeria — The 11-day-old hijacking of the Kuwait Airways jumbo jet Friday settled into routine with no end in sight for the 31 hostages aboard.

Two hostages announced over the Boeing 747 radio that the hijackers "will kill us" unless Kuwait freed 17 men convicted of terrorist attacks against oil installations and the French and U.S. embassies in December 1983.

Their short, midafternoon messages, including greetings to their families, were similar to one broadcast by a hostage Thursday.

"In the name of God the merciful... I ask the Kuwaiti authorities to free the 17 prisoners held in Kuwaiti prisons," said hostage Suleiman Mohammed Suleiman Mashari. "In the event of refusal, they are going to kill us."

Panama protests U.S. action

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — The Foreign Ministry sent a formal protest to the United Nations on Friday alleging U.S. violations of Panama's sovereignty during a firefight involving U.S. Marines this week.

The protest said U.S. troops closed a Panamanian highway just outside the capital for three hours Tuesday night after fighting broke out between "soldiers of the United States and an unknown group."

At a news conference called by the U.S. military, Marine Lt. Sp. Alexander J. Nevglowski Sr. said Friday that his company became engaged in a gunfight Tuesday night at a fuel depot with uniformed men "who were using us as training aids."

"They were highly professional," Nevglowski, who has served for 24 years in the Marine Corps.

Asian drug, arms ring busted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal investigators said Friday they have broken up a Chinese heroin-trafficking ring, arresting 11 people in Hong Kong and nine in the United States while seizing 137 pounds of heroin worth over $100 million.

Five of those arrested in New York were charged with conspiring to supply 1,000 M-16 military rifles to undercover federal agents and to provide false documents so the rifles could be shipped to Libya.

The breakup of the Asian ring was the culmination of a two-year investigation called Operation Bamboo Dragon that was launched when federal agents learned that a restaurant owner in the Chinatown section of Washington was buying stolen firearms and distributing cocaine.

The heroin came from Burma and China and was transported to San Francisco and New York City's Chinatown. It also was distributed to Newark, N.J., Alexandria, Va., and Washington.

Contras arrive for talks

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — Leaders of Nicaraguan rebels arrived Friday night to begin their first top-level talks with the leftist government in an effort to end a war that is more than six years old.

Adolfo Calero, head of the rebels' umbrella group, the Nicaraguan Resistance, led the delegation of more than 40 leaders that arrived on a commercial flight from San Jose, Costa Rica.

The state-run Voice of Nicaragua, which carried details of the rebels' arrival, said the delegation included Joaquin Chamorro, Alfredo Cesar, Azucena Ferrey and her brother Roberto, and Aristides Sanchez.

Inflation

The Fed last raised the discount rate it charges for loans to banks in September 1987. A month later the stock market collapsed with the Dow Industrials dropping 518 points, partly in reaction to higher interest rates from the credit tightening.

Lawrence Hunter, an economist for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, expressed fears Friday that the Fed will "overreact to perceived inflationary pressures that some see in the recent data" and stymie economic growth.

"Oversteering in the face of monthly price swings can only feed fears of inflation," Hunter said, referring to figures that show the annual wholesale price increases of just 3.1 percent when averaged over the past three months.

However, Donald Ratajczak, a Georgia State University economist who specializes in wholesale price trends, said increases in April will match, if not exceed, those in March.

"This isn't a one-month aberration," Ratajczak said. "Strong increases in raw material prices that have been going on for six months are widening and spreading. It's not runaway inflation, but it's a little worrying."

Wholesale energy prices, which had dropped at an annual rate of 17 percent since last August, shot up 0.9 percent in March. Gasoline prices climbed 1.5 percent last month after dropping about 9 percent since November. And home heating oil prices jumped 2.6 percent.

Food prices, after dropping 1.1 percent in February, advanced by 0.7 percent in March. For the first three months of the year, beef and veal prices have climbed 43.6 percent.

Reflecting the broad nature of March's price gains, the Labor Department said its index of wholesale prices for consumer goods other than food and energy rose 0.3 percent, compared with a 0.3 percent increase in February.

For the first three months of 1988, those non-energy, non-food wholesale prices are up at an annual rate of 5.7 percent.

Books

The council said the entire market is hostage to the textbook adoption method that 22 states use to decide which books their public schools can buy. Most Southern and Western states, including Texas and California, have such adoption policies.

States churn out "undisciplined lists of particulars that publishers must include in the textbooks. Since publishers must sell in as many jurisdictions as possible in order to turn a profit, their books must incorporate this melange of test-oriented trivia, pedagogical faddism and inconsistent social messages," the study said.

"The harder they try to regulate the content of textbooks, the less useful textbooks become for their own students and students elsewhere in the United States," said the study.

The author, Harriet Tyson-Bernstein, said "readability" formulae used to judge whether a text is too far over children's heads are partly to blame for the poor prose.

The study recommended adoption states stop "issuing detailed, skill-oriented bid specifications to publishers," abandon the readability formulas and stop demanding a recent publication date, which "forces publishers into hasty revisions."

lumber region and lay mooring in his bed at Bahrain's Salmaniya Hospital.

"One minute I was sitting at the console, and the next, it was all dark and I was down below," he said.

Perez, 38, told The Associated Press that a lookout on duty had spotted what "looked like a mine, and the ship had already been on general quarters (alert) for about five minutes before there was a big sound."

"The ship jumped up about four feet and there was water coming in. The whole place just went dark," Perez remembered.

"It happened so quickly... I thought I was lost. It was all dark and all I could see was the fire from the burning engine," recalled Perez.

The incident, about 55 miles off Qatar, revived fears of the mine threat in the waterway where Iran and Iraq have been at war for 7 1/2 years. U.S. warships escort American-flagged Kuwait tankers through the waterway to protect them from Iranian attacks.

On July 21, during one of the escort convoys, the tanker Bridgeton hit a mine in the gulf.

Defense Department officials said the Samuel B. Roberts successfully maneuvered away from several mines and had come to nearly a complete stop when the explosion occurred.

The officials, speaking on condition of anonymity, said the field had "numerous" mines and that the seas were rough.

"At one point, there was 12 feet of water inside the engine room," said one official. "The crew just did a hell of a job. She (the ship) took a really bad hit."

It wasn't known who planted the mines, but one Defense Department source said they appeared to have been newly laid and added, "We certainly suspect the Iranians are behind it."

Salmaniya Hospital officials said two of the injured were in critical condition with second degree burns to 40 percent of their bodies. Another was suffering from second degree burns to 15 percent of his body.

Budget

of Rexburg and Diane Bilyeu of Pocatello agreed with Cox and President Robert Fields of New Meadows that the budget was just too tight to begin correcting inequities.

Instead, the board on a voice vote approved a distribution for the new spending that starts in July 4.4 percent higher than the current budgets for each of the schools, adjusted for enrollment variations from last year.

Under the allocation, the University of Idaho will receive $52.4 million, including $43.7 million in direct state aid, for an increase of 3.8 percent.

Boise State receives nearly $36.1 million, including $30.5 million from the state, for a 4.8 percent increase.

Idaho State University will get $31.8 million, of which about $27 million is state support. The increase amounts to 4.9 percent.

Lewis-Clark will receive $6.8 million — a little under $5 million in state aid — for an increase of 5 percent.

The presidents of the four schools all criticized the state support level approved by the Legislature's Republican majority last month. BSU President John Keiser and Lewis-Clark President Lee Vickers also said they would have liked to see some of their budget inequities addressed.

But all four agreed the allocation plan outlined by board budget officer Ed Cisek probably was the best that could be done with the money available.

"It's a very, very tight budget," University of Idaho President Richard Gibb said. But he said tampering with parts of the allocation could lead to bigger problems.

The budget distribution also recommends the schools provide a 3 percent payroll increase, following the pay raise directive state lawmakers gave to other state agencies.

Beside the distribution to each school, the $126.9 million budget — which includes student fees and endowment money in addition to direct state aid — also set aside $2 million for higher education research programs statewide.

The board voted to use $600,000 to underwrite "its" application for a matching research grant from the National Science Foundation.

If the grant is approved, the money would support a program of basic research in chemistry at the University of Idaho, with "outreach features designed to strengthen the chemistry departments" at BSU and JSU.

Commuter plane crashes at Seattle

SEATTLE (AP) — A twin-engine commuter plane carrying 37 passengers crashed into the main terminal at Seattle-Tacoma International Airport late Friday, and authorities said at least 18 people were injured.

The 18 were whisked by ambulance to a handful of Seattle hospitals while another 23 people were taken by bus to two central Seattle hospitals to be checked, said Tina Mankowski, a Harborview Medical Center spokeswoman.

There was no immediate indication that any of the injuries were critical, hospital officials said.

There was no immediate word on whether anyone on the ground was injured.

The plane, a de Havilland 8, off at 6:45 a.m. (PDT) and returned to the airport with a wing ablage, said Marlys St. Laurent of the Port of Seattle.

"They found the wing was on fire and came immediately back," she said.

Horizon Air officials said the plane had a capacity load of 37 passengers.

The plane crashed into a passenger gate at the main terminal. A wing slammed into a passenger ramp, while the nose poked into the gate area.

Fire trucks raced to the scene and sprayed the plane with fire retardant.

Filing period closes for Idaho primary

BOISE (AP) — There will be seven congressional candidates on the ballot in the Idaho primary election May 24, but neither of the state's incumbent congressmen faces a challenge.

State Rep. Jeanne Gives, D-Coeur d'Alene, was the last congressional candidate to file Friday afternoon, creating a three-way race for the Democratic nomination in the 1st Congressional District. Bruce Robinson, Bonners Ferry, and David Shepherd, Lewiston, also are seeking the nomination.

Incumbent Republican Rep. Larry Craig will be unopposed in the primary.

In the 2nd District, Democrat incumbent Rep. Richard Stallings also will have no primary election opposition. Janet Reid and Dana Watkins, both of Idaho Falls, will fight it out for the Republican nomination to face Stallings.

Among those who did not file, after announcing earlier they were considering the races, were former GOP congressman George Hansen; Hansen aide John Scoreby and Mike Duff, a former Paul resident now working for a Washington lobbying company.

The filing deadline for the primary election closed at 5 p.m. Friday. After a flurry of last-minute nominating petitions, the state wound up with 213 candidates, including 204 for the 126 seats in the Idaho Legislature.

Two judges received no opposition and automatically will win new terms. Robert Bakes, a 16-year veteran of the Idaho Supreme Court, will receive a new six-year term and Roger Swanson will have a new term on the Court of Appeals.

Both filed for re-election on the non-partisan judicial ballot.

Craig filed nominating petitions for his fifth term Friday morning. Craig, first elected from Idaho's 1st Congressional District in 1980, submitted the names of more than 3,000 registered voters on his nominating petitions, said campaign manager Christopher Rich.

Stallings submitted petitions with more than 1,500 signatures from the 2nd District, and said he was willing to run on the record of his first two terms.

State Rep. Chris Hooper, R-Boise, chairman of the Idaho House Health and Welfare Committee, announced he will not seek another term. Hooper, a law student at University of Idaho, said he has found he must take certain classes next spring to graduate next year, and thus will not be able to serve in the Legislature.

Emotional tape admitted as evidence in polygamist trial

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — In an emotional taped conversation entered as evidence Friday, polygamist matriarch Vickie Singer said a Mormon chapel near her farm was bombed because God wanted it destroyed.

A federal jury listened intently and several courtroom spectators wiped tears from their eyes as the 78-minute conversation between Mrs. Singer and FBI agent Cal Clegg was played during the federal trial of Mrs. Singer and three family members.

The defendant and Clegg spoke on Jan. 16, hours after an explosion ripped through the Kamas Stake Center in Marion and state and federal agents began surrounding the 2½-acre Singer farm a mile away.

Mrs. Singer, her son John Timothy Singer, clan leader Addam Swapp and his brother Jonathan are charged in the bombing and a subsequent 13-day standoff that ended in the death of a Utah corrections officer.

The church was bombed following a divine revelation. Mrs. Singer told Clegg, and was meant as a sign from God that "he's going to bring the collapse of church, state and nation...."

"We have given our lives to God and we have given this whole battle into his hands and he has promised us that he'll fight our battles for us, and that's good enough for me," Mrs. Singer said in the tape.

"It's just something that was revealed and it's actually a sign to these people that these things are beginning now. The Lord will come out of his hiding place against church, nation and state...."

"There is going to be only a high caliber of very faithful, strong and valiant people left when the Lord gets through...." she said.

A lighter moment surfaced when Clegg, an FBI hostage negotiator, asked if he would be taken captive if he went to the farm to talk to the clan.

"Well, are you a good cook?" Mrs. Singer asked. The statement drew laughter and smiles from the jury and spectators. Mrs. Singer, 44, covered her face with her hands and giggled.

The courtroom fell silent when she spoke of the pain the family endured at the hands of neighbors and officials, whom she blames for the 1979 slaying of her husband, polygamist John Singer, and for allegedly trying to drive the family away by diverting a stream from their farm.

Singer was shot to death in the driveway of his home by law officers serving arrest warrants stemming from his refusal to send his children to public schools and for harboring the child of his second wife's ex-husband.

"You can't imagine what I've gone through. You don't know the letters. You don't know the pains. You don't know the things we've gone through forever and to brick walls ... to people that can't hear," Mrs. Singer told Clegg.

The conversation with Mrs. Singer occurred an hour after a 19-minute telephone conversation between Clegg and Addam Swapp, 27, who accidentally contacted authorities at their command post in the bombed church's parking lot, Clegg testified.

4 arrested in deaths of Navajo policemen

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Four Navajo men were arrested in southern Utah on Friday in the December slayings of two Navajo tribal police officers believed to have been trying to break up a desert drinking party, authorities said.

U.S. Attorney Brent Ward said the four were residents of Monument Valley, a reservation town in southeastern Utah, near the Arizona border, where they were arrested.

Arrested first were Thomas Cly and Marques Atene, both 22. They were brought to Salt Lake City and arraigned late Friday before U.S. Magistrate Ronald Boyce on charges of first-degree murder on an Indian reservation and aiding and abetting.

Vinton Bedoni, 31, was arrested Friday afternoon and was being brought here late Friday. Assistant U.S. Attorney Stewart Walz said Ben Atene Jr., 24, a cousin of Marques Atene, was arrested still later Friday and also was being transported to Salt Lake City.

"We hope these arrests will lead to the resolution of this matter, which has been so much on the minds of the members of the Navajo tribe and the citizens of the state of Utah residing in San Juan County," Ward said.

He said the investigation was continuing, but he declined to say if other arrests were planned.

Cly and Marques Atene were manacled hand and foot as they appeared before Boyce, who read the charges, appointed them attorneys and ordered them to be held without bail in the Salt Lake County Jail.

The maximum penalty for the murder charge is life in prison. Boyce told the defendants, adding, "You should keep that penalty in mind in determining what action to take in this matter."

Boyce said Bedoni and Ben Atene Jr. would appear before him on Saturday and the four faced a Monday afternoon detention hearing.

FBI Agent Bob Lund said earlier that Cly and Marques Atene were arrested Friday morning by FBI and U.S. Bureau of Indian Affairs agents and Navajo police officers.

Bedoni was arrested Friday afternoon, some 24 hours after arrest warrants for the four had been issued.

The arrests stemmed from the slayings of Navajo tribal officers Andy Beagay, 35, of Halchita, and Roy Lee Stanley, 27, of Ojeto. Their bodies were found in a burned-out police van at a remote desert site near Monument Valley on Dec. 5. Police said they believed the two officers had tried to break up a large drinking party.

The arrests capped a difficult investigation in which FBI and Navajo authorities questioned more than 100 tribal members.

After initial efforts to attract eyewitnesses to the slayings failed, the FBI announced a $5,000 reward for information in the case.

Students interviewed said fear kept onlookers from trying to stop the beating, which began after the girl warned a friend she would be set up for a fight by the same group.

A school district panel will decide next week whether the suspensions of the seven students will be upheld.

Oregonian fights over 'petard' license plate

MEDFORD, Ore. (AP) — A southern Oregon man means to see the state of Oregon honored with its own petard for characterizing his vanity license plate as the French vulgarity.

"I think it's kind of silly," said Bill Brewster, a heavy equipment salesman from Shady Cove. "It's not offensive to anybody, and it's wasting a lot of time."

The dispute stems from a state law that prohibits license plates that carry "words or connotations that are sexual, vulgar or that relate to excretory functions or intimate body parts."

Last January, Brewster received a letter from the state Motor Vehicles Division demanding he return the license plate that has graced his silver 1978 Mercedes for the past five years.

The license plate carries the word PETARD.

"In the French language, PETARD has a connotation that falls into the description quoted above," said the letter from William Seely, a manager at the Motor Vehicles Division. "Had we been aware of the connotation at the time the plate was applied for, it would not have been approved for use."

Brewster refused, and appealed the case to a division referee. The case was heard Thursday.

"In some large, unabridged dictionary, one of the last definitions is to break wind," Brewster said.

But that meaning is so obscure that it wouldn't offend anyone, he said.

Webster's New World Dictionary defines petard as a metal cone filled with explosives used in ancient warfare to blow a hole in a wall or gate, or a firecracker. The reference notes the word's derivation from a French root meaning to break wind or bounce.

And it lists the idiom "hoist with one's own petard," meaning to be destroyed by the very devices meant to destroy others, was used by Shakespeare in Hamlet.

Brewster noted his Merriam-Webster paperback dictionary lists only the explosive definition and added that his Larousse's French-English dictionary assigns the vulgar definition to a French word spelled "petarde."

Rhoades pleads guilty

IDAHO FALLS (AP) — Convicted murderer Paul Ezra Rhoades has pleaded guilty to lesser charges of second-degree murder and robbery in the death of convenience store clerk Nolan Haddon.

Rhoades will make what may be his last appearance before 7th District Judge Larry Boyle Monday to be sentenced on conditional guilty pleas to the amended charges. He originally was charged with first-degree murder and robbery and faced two sentence extensions for using a firearm in commission of those crimes.

Rhoades retains his right to appeal all aspects of the proceedings held regarding Haddon's death.

If any of his appeals are successful, Rhoades will be able to withdraw his guilty plea.

Finance chiefs wrap up meeting

WASHINGTON (AP) — World finance leaders wrapped up a tumultuous meeting of the International Monetary Fund on Friday with more words of assurance to nervous financial markets and further efforts to rescue the U.S. dollar.

The semi-annual meeting of the 161-nation IMF was dominated by the dollar's steep plunge after four months of relative stability.

In an effort to brake the nosedive, the United States and its allies launched a multimillion-dollar intervention effort, selling off their reserves of Japanese yen, German marks and other currencies and buying dollars.

There were indications Friday that the intervention was having some success as the dollar stabilized in Europe and edged up slightly in early trading in New York amid reports of further dollar purchases by the United States, West Germany and Britain.

Still, the dollar's rout shattered the optimistic tone the finance ministers had hoped to impart in their first high-level discussions since the Oct. 19 stock market collapse.

The dollar's plunge came less than 18 hours after the world's seven largest industrial economies — the United States, Japan, West Germany, Britain, France, Canada and Italy — had issued a glowing appraisal of the world economy.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The former underboss of the Cleveland mob testified Friday that organized crime played a large role in Teamsters union affairs, including the elections of former president Roy L. Williams and current president Jackie Presser.

Angelo Lonardo, 77, told senators he was part of a 1981 effort to line up organized crime support for Williams' successful candidacy.

And when it became clear that an indictment against Williams would force him to step down, Lonardo said he traveled to Chicago to obtain organized crime's backing of Cleveland native Presser, who currently is under indictment, was the "protégé" of a man affiliated with the Cleveland mob, and it was felt his election "would increase the Cleveland family's prestige and respect," Lonardo said.

At Teamsters headquarters in Washington, there was no one immediately available to comment on Lonardo's testimony Friday.

Lonardo, a lifelong mobster, testified under congressional immunity from behind a screen, set up in a heavily guarded hearing room used by the Senate Permanent Investigations Subcommittee.

The panel is reviewing the state of organized crime 25 years after the subcommittee heard from ex-mobster

Joseph Valachi, whose spectacular testimony revealed the inner workings of La Cosa Nostra.

Although officially under a life sentence, Lonardo is currently in the federal witness protection program because he broke the La Cosa Nostra code of silence and is cooperating with authorities.

Lonardo said his knowledge of organized crime runs through 1984, when he was visited in prison by another mobster and brought up to date on organized crime activity.

Lonardo told senators not to believe everything they see on television about organized crime.

Nuclear test gear shipped to U.S.S.R.

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials shipped tons of equipment to the Soviet Union on Friday for an experiment that could speed Senate ratification of two nuclear threshold treaties and possibly lead to a ban on atomic testing, the State Department said.

A C-5B cargo airplane laden with gear was flying from Indian Springs air field, adjacent to the U.S. nuclear test site in Nevada, to the Soviet test site at Semipalatinsk, 2,000 miles southeast of Moscow, officials said.

The plane carried 12 scientists and engineers plus gear for measuring shafts being dug for Joint Verification Experiments, said Roger Harrison, an assistant secretary of state, and Troy Wade, acting assistant secretary of energy.

The experiments are designed to demonstrate the reliability of a technology the Reagan administration says is needed to verify the threshold treaties, which were reached in the 1970s but never ratified by the Senate.

Negotiations in Geneva are expected to produce an agreement, in time for the Moscow summit at the end of May, spelling out conditions for the experiments.

A more formal protocol might be signed after the tests are analyzed, and the administration would submit to the Senate the 1974 Threshold Test Ban Treaty and the 1976 Peaceful Nuclear Explosions Treaty, which limit the superpowers to nuclear tests with explosive yields of no more than 150 kilotons.

Both sides claim to have observed the pacts, although the Reagan administration has said the Soviets "likely" exceeded the ceiling on some tests.

Proposed sale to Saudis defended

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department, rejecting Senate criticism, said Friday a proposed $450 million military sale to Saudi Arabia is required to continue the close relationship the two countries have in operating AWACS radar aircraft.

Department spokesman Charles Redman made that comment in response to an appeal by 58 senators that the administration reconsider the proposed sale because of the secret Saudi purchase of Chinese missiles.

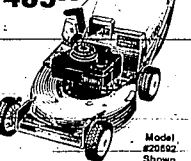

"This is not a sale of a new item or system or even spare parts," Redman said. "It is strictly a support program, an operations and maintenance contract for the previously approved and already delivered AWACS."

The support program is important in continuing the close cooperative working relationship we have in AWACS operations with the Saudis."

Bombing linked to Red Army

TOKYO (AP) — The Red Army, linked to a bomb attack in Italy and an explosives arrest in New Jersey, is a radical Japanese terrorist organization that has been relatively inactive in recent years.

The Red Army is a splinter faction of the leftist General Federation of Japanese Students, which claimed support from 850,000 college students in Japan in the 1960s.

The Red Army apparently has not been involved in many attacks recently, although Japanese police went on alert last November when Osamu Maruoka, 37, a long-sought army leader, was arrested in Tokyo and found to have a one-way ticket to Seoul. Police theorized he had planned to disrupt South Korea's presidential elections in December.

The Red Army was believed never to have grown beyond 300 members. Police action and internal feuding, culminating with the killing of 14 members at a mountain hideout in 1971, sapped its strength.

The group advocates "simultaneous world revolution" and is believed to have members allied with pro-Palestinian groups in Lebanon.

In Naples, Italy, police said Friday that a member of the group was the prime suspect in a car bombing, Thursday, outside a U.S. military club that killed an American servicewoman and four Italians. Seventeen people were injured.

Investigators said they were searching for Junzo Okudaira, 39, who also is suspected in bomb attacks on the U.S. and British embassies in Rome last June.

In New Jersey, authorities Tuesday arrested a Japanese man after he was found with three bombs in his car. Yu Kikumura, 35, is being held on federal charges of possessing a fraudulent visa and illegally possessing unregistered firearms, the explosives.

Soviets say United States is ruining Geneva accords

MOSCOW (AP) — Less than 24 hours after the signing of the Geneva accords on Afghanistan, Tass accused the United States on Friday of trying to ruin the agreement by continuing to supply weapons to the Moslem insurgents.

"Washington is confirming its policy of neoglobalism, a course of export of counter-revolution," the news agency said in the first official Soviet press commentary issued since the signing of the pact in the Swiss city.

Tass said private and public figures from various countries had hailed the agreement, which paves the way for the May 15 start of the withdrawal of the estimated 116,000 Soviet troops from Afghanistan.

"But," Tass said, "the U.S. government has been reacting 'in a typical Washington manner.'"

It said the U.S. government was interfering in Afghan-Soviet relations by insisting the Soviet Union stop its military aid to Afghanistan's Marxist government in Kabul.

U.S. officials have said they will continue aiding the guerrillas as long as Soviet military supplies to the regime of President Najib continue.

Similar American interference continues in other regional conflicts in the Middle East, Central America and Africa, where the United States is using "illegal, unclean practices" to bring about a situation favorable to itself, Tass said.

However, a separate Tass commentary expressed concern about Pakistan's position as stated by President Mohammed Zia Ul-Haq.

Deng wants ranks restored

BEIJING (AP) — Deng Xiaoping has urged the People's Liberation Army to reinstate the use of military ranks abolished by Mao Tse-tung more than 20 years ago, it was reported Friday.

Deng also proposed awarding medals of honor to retired veterans of the PLA and confirming military ranks conferred between 1955 and 1965.

The reintroduction of ranks has been discussed for several years, but it was believed to be the first time Deng has stated his support for the idea.

Mao abolished ranks and medals in the early 1960s to further his concept of an egalitarian, proletarian military force.

Deng has worked to create a leaner, more efficient and modernized fighting force.

Palestinians disagree on tactics

JERUSALEM (AP) — Cracks are appearing in the underground-Palestinian leadership over how to wage a campaign of resistance against Israeli occupation of the West Bank and Gaza Strip.

The divisions are emerging at a time when the frequency and size of street clashes is diminishing, and the nature of the confrontation is changing into more of an economic test of wills.

There are two basic splits in Palestinian ranks:

- The Islamic Resistance Movement is at odds with the mainstream Palestine Liberation Organization factions on the issue of convening an international conference to negotiate peace.

— The Communists, in a dispute over tactics, have pulled out of the PLO-affiliated United National Leadership of the Uprising.

The underground has announced weekly action programs in a series of leaflets. But starting in early March, there have been multiple versions, some making conflicting demands on the 1.5 million residents of the occu-pled West Bank and Gaza Strip.

"There are differences on how to act, on tactics," conceded Mohammed Manasra, a journalist with the daily Communist newspaper Al Tanin.

"If Israel is putting economic pressure on people, and we also put pressure on people, then we are doing what Israel wants," said Manasra, who added workers would ignore strike calls if they became excessive.

— Instead of general strikes that hurt low-income Palestinians, Manasra said the Communists supported a boycott of Israeli products.

Israelis re-enact fatal hike

JERUSALEM (AP) — Dozens of Israeli settlers, guarded by as many soldiers, marched Friday near the Arab town where 15-year-old settler Tuvia Porat and two Palestinians were killed in an exchange of gunfire and rocks last week.

Their purpose was to demonstrate that Jews could walk freely in the occupied West Bank. Army radio said they objected to the large army guard for the mass re-enactment of the hike by Miss Porat and a group of friends.

Israeli troops wounded two Palestinians in scattered violence Friday after midday prayers on the Muslim sabbath; hospital officials reported. The army deployed hundreds of soldiers and surrounded major mosques to keep order in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip.

Greeks blame U.S.

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — The government on Friday blamed the United States for lack of progress in negotiations for a new U.S. bases agreement to replace an accord that expires in December.

"There has been no particular progress as the American side does not seem disposed to accept certain principles in relation to the Cyprus problem and Greek-Turkish relations," said government spokesman Yiannis Roubatis.

Negotiations for a new U.S. bases agreement to replace the existing five-year accord began in November. Officials have held four rounds of monthly three-day sessions to try to hammer out a new agreement.

Four American bases have operated in Greece since the 1950s — two near Athens and two on the southern island of Crete.

Ghetto memorial outlawed

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Polish authorities on Friday warned organizers of an unsanctioned ceremony to mark the 45th anniversary of the Warsaw Jewish Ghetto Uprising that the gathering would be considered illegal, an organizer said.

The warning came on the second day of a weeklong official anniversary to honor the victims of the Nazi Holocaust during World War II. It is the largest such event ever organized in Poland.

On Friday, meanwhile, a Polish scholar told a scientific conference that she is ashamed of anti-Semitic behavior in Poland in 1968 and asked why more Polish officials, including some conference organizers, have not come forward to accept responsibility.

About 4,500 people from around the world, including 6,000 from Israel, including Israeli Deputy Prime Minister Itzhak Navon, have come to Poland for the Ghetto Uprising Anniversary, honoring the fighters who resisted the final Nazi onslaught against the ghetto for three weeks in April and May of 1943.

"Where Quality and Helpfulness Really Matter"

Seattle comic will replace Joan Rivers as 'Late Show' host

SEATTLE (AP) — Seattle TV-radio comic Ross Shafer says he has accepted an offer to become the permanent host of "The Late Show" since Joan Rivers was fired from the late-night television talk show in May.

Shafer said Thursday that "Late Show" producer Ron Vander offered him the permanent position minutes before the show opened Wednesday night, and Shafer said he accepted immediately.

"I floated through the monologue," Shafer said in a telephone interview from Fox Studios in Los Angeles. Wednesday was only the fourth night of Shafer's seven-week stint as an alternating guest host of the program.

Shafer, who has been the host of KING-TV's Sunday night show "Almost Live" and a daily radio show on KJR in Seattle, said his style with guests is kinder than that of David Letterman and softer than that of Ms. Rivers.

"I think Genghis Khan's style is softer than Joan's," he said.

Jailed heir John Dodge ordered to pay alimony

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Imprisoned auto heir John Francis

Dodge must pay his ex-wife more than $50,000 in alimony and attorney fees and $1,200 a month in child support, a judge has ruled.

Palm Beach Circuit Judge John D. Wessel on Thursday ordered Dodge to begin making the monthly payments to Karen Christine Dodge on June 1. They were married in September 1979, and he filed for divorce in December 1984.

"I think it's very fair except it's going to be a problem trying to collect it," said Joseph Farish, attorney for Ms. Dodge.

Dodge, grandson of auto tycoon Horace Dodge Sr., began serving a one-year prison term April 1 for violating probation in a 1985 drug case.

Dodge told attorneys he will inherit $1.1 million from a trust on his 35th birthday, March 14, 1989. The child support payments for his 6-year-old son and "any arrears" accumulated by that date will be deducted from the trust fund, the judge said.

Billy Graham pays visit to Great Wall of China

BEIJING (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham visited China's Great Wall northeast of Beijing on Friday on his first sightseeing trip since arriving in the capital earlier this week.

Graham said he found it extraordinary to imagine all the generals, battles, emperors and common laborers connected with its 2,200-year history.

Troops of elementary school students enjoying a school trip at the Great Wall serenaded Graham with patriotic Chinese songs.

Graham and other members of his group responded with "Jesus Loves Me," and the children joined in a spirited rendition of the same Sunday school song, in Chinese.

Carlton was shot in the neck April 6. Police have said the shooting may have been an aborted robbery attempt.

"Carlton" will not be able to work for quite a while, but they are saying he will have full recovery within about two years," his manager, Charlie Lico, said Thursday. "At present he is in considerable pain."

City Councilman Robert Farrell said Thursday he and Councilman Michael Wolf will propose the reward because the case has baffled police.

Speakes cancels plans to attend press dinner

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former presidential spokesman Larry Speakes has canceled plans to attend the White House Correspondents' Association dinner here next week as a guest of The Washington Post, an editor of the newspaper said Friday.

Mary Hadad, the assistant managing editor in charge of the Post's Style section, said Speakes was invited several weeks ago to attend the dinner as a guest of the Style staff.

This was before publication of a book in which Speakes admits that he told reporters President Reagan had said things that the president did not say.

After the book appeared and controversy arose over Speakes' assertions, Ms. Hadad said she and others at the

Clues needed in attack on jazz guitarist Carlton

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two City Council members say they plan to introduce a motion establishing a $10,000 reward for leads in the shooting in which Grammy Award-winning jazz guitarist Larry Carlton was wounded last week.

Carlton was shot in the neck April 6. Police have said the shooting may have been an aborted robbery attempt.

"Carlton" will not be able to work for quite a while, but they are saying he will have full recovery within about two years," his manager, Charlie Lico, said Thursday. "At present he is in considerable pain."

City Councilman Robert Farrell said Thursday he and Councilman Michael Wolf will propose the reward because the case has baffled police.

Naked jogger shocks driver

WEST VALLEY CITY, Utah (AP) — A young motorist said she backed into another car because a jogger ran from the waist down was running toward her, police said.

The 17-year-old motorist was leaving a girlfriend's home late Wednesday when she saw the jogger, said Sgt. Tom McLachlan.

"When she honked her horn at the man, he ran toward her car. While trying to back away from the man, she collided with a parked car, McLachlan said.

The jogger put on his shorts and fled.

"It's the best story I ever heard to explain an accident," McLachlan said, adding that the driver's girlfriend also saw the jogger and witnessed the accident.

'Computer potato' gets help

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Teen-ager Charles Patterson has his way of life back—in a bigger and better way.

The 17-year-old, who was born with gross motor impairment that limits his physical activity, couldn't afford to replace his Commodore 64 computer and disk drive when they were stolen from his home, but got several replacement offers after a story appeared in a local newspaper.

On Thursday, Patterson's computer equipment was replaced by a Ridge-

Disc Jockey Ron Chapman did not expect 12,156 checks

Radio request draws more than $234,000

DALLAS (AP) — With $234,000 already in hand, a "flabbergasted" radio station staff on Thursday continued counting loot that poured in after a disc jockey asked listeners to send $20 checks without saying what he would do with the money.

"We never promised anybody anything," said Ron Chapman, a KVIL-FM disc jockey. "That's the joy of this. We just said send the money. We've got a back room full of people (counting money)."

"We're absolutely stunned. We're flabbergasted," Chapman said he asked his audience to send him money on March 31 as an experiment.

After his first request, 4,000 checks for $20 each arrived in the mail the next day. On the following Monday, an additional 5,000 checks arrived, a flood so heavy that Chapman went on the air to say, "OK, folks: that's it. Don't send any more checks after today."

The station hasn't decided yet what to do. Chapman said it initially planned to return the checks, possibly with $2 interest and a T-shirt, but now is thinking about using it for a special event.

The station is keeping contributors' names in a computer file, Chapman said.

"You've got to be careful. You've got to be real up front with them, especially with their money," he said. "People have been angry that we won't let them send in more."

Ralph Blumberg, supervisor of investigations in the mass media division of the Federal Communications Commission in Washington, said there is nothing illegal about such a solicitation.

Dismissal inflames Hazelton residents into recall measures

By KEN ARMSTRONG
Times-News writer

HAZELTON—Residents inflamed over the firing of Hazelton's supervisor-marshal have begun taking measures to recall the city's mayor and four city-council members.

"We're going to start with Ervid Van Sickle," said Lonnie Brutke, who is spearheading the recall movement. "He's the one who is the most boisterous and seems to be the one who is saying the most with the least experience."

Van Sickle, elected to the city council last year, would not comment.

Residents began talking recall when the city council on Monday unanimously reaffirmed its decision to fire Clinton Watson, the city's supervisor-marshal. The council fired the 49-year-old Watson on Feb. 15.

Brutke, himself a former member of the city council, voiced optimism that the five public officials will be removed from office.

"I think we stand a real good chance," he said. "There's a lot of people who were in opposition to what went on the other night."

The city council, whose members do not get paid, was subjected to intense, biting criticism at Monday night's meeting.

"It's a very thankless job, but somebody's got to do it," said Jeffrey Johnson, a council member whose term expires next year.

The mayor of Hazelton, Roy Crumrine, gets paid $25 a month.

Members of the city council said they fired Watson because he allegedly failed to execute an assortment of assigned duties.

"I don't feel we were wrong," Johnson said. "I feel we did right. I have the greatest amount of confidence in that."

Brutke said that while the recall movement is directed at Crumrine and every city council member, Van Sickle will be the first to draw fire because he is perceived as the primary force behind Watson's firing.

"He just doesn't have the experience to be the leader of the town," Brutke said.

Van Sickle had been in office only 34 days when the decision to fire Watson was reached in February, Brutke said.

"You don't change the set of the sail in the first 30 minutes of the watch," Brutke said. "You just don't do something like this."

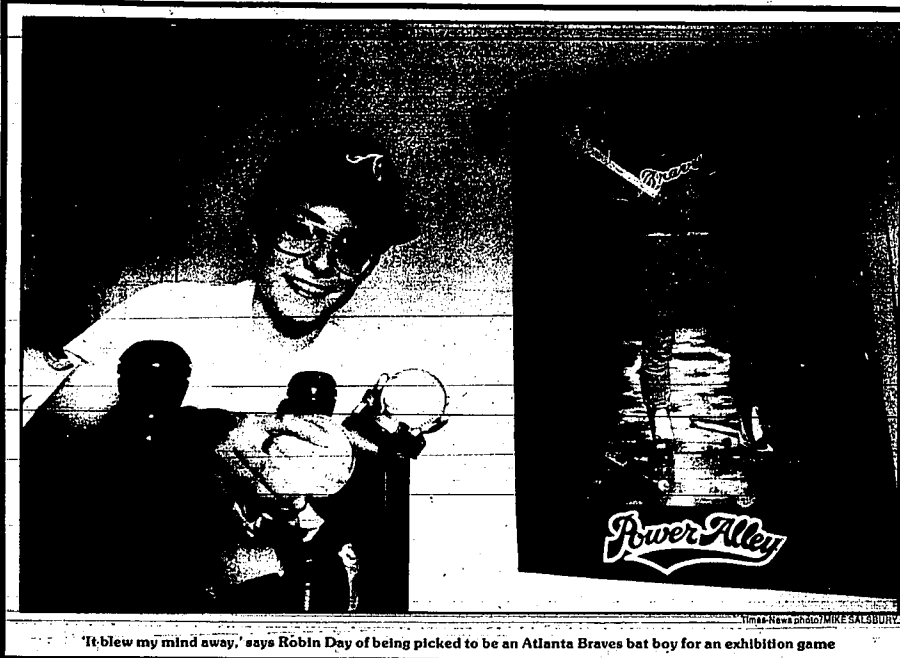

State law provides that a recall election cannot be scheduled until a petition supporting it is signed by 20 percent of those electors registered to vote in the last city election. Jo Ann

Wolf, Hazelton city clerk, said 136 people were registered to vote in the city's last election, so 27 residents would need to sign a recall petition.

Residents circulated a petition calling for Watson's reinstatement after he was fired in February. Brutke said it was signed by 120 people, including 90 Hazelton residents.

Hazelton last recalled a public official 14 years ago. In a dispute over the city's proposed sewer project, residents in 1974 recalled two city council members, Leonard Hamilton and Ellsworth Hensley.

Brutke was appointed to serve the unexpired term of one of the two ousted officials.

"It blew my mind away," says Robin Day of being picked to be an Atlanta Braves bat boy for an exhibition game

10-year-old enjoys '1 in a billion thing'

By KIRK MITCHELL
Special to the Times-News

TWIN FALLS — Here's Robin scoping in a stray foul ball. Here's Robin retrieving a bat and running it to the dugout. And here he is shaking hands with Atlanta Braves great Dale Murphy. That's Robin Day, the envy of Sawtooth Elementary, who while visiting Florida became the Atlanta Braves Bat Boy for a day.

Ten-year-old Robin was on vacation watching an exhibition game in Palm Beach when he saw the opportunity to sneak over to the Braves dugout and get an autograph from the team's general manager Chuck Tanner.

Tanner took a liking to the boy, who hangs a poster of Murphy in his bedroom and has idolized the team through lean years, and gave the boy a chance at the big leagues.

"It blew my mind away. This doesn't happen to many. It was a one in a billion thing," Robin said.

Robin was invited to serve as the bat boy on March 29, chasing down balls that went behind the backstop and retrieving bats left near the batter's box by the likes of Willie Stargell and Rick Mahler.

He also got to wear an Atlanta Braves batting helmet and keep three balls signed by team members.

It didn't matter to Robin that the Braves lost the game to the Montreal Expos 4-0, or that Murphy, his idol, struck out twice and dropped a fly ball.

"No one else would have been able to reach the ball in right field. The ball just nicked his glove," Robin said.

Robin says Atlanta's star relief pitcher Bruce Sutter's own sons were in the dugout and agreed his was an "unusual experience. Indeed, they had never been bat boys themselves."

Since the trip to Florida, also filled with a relatively minor visit to Disney World, Robin has spread the news of his day with the big leaguers to "practically everyone I know. Everyone at school knows."

He says he will remain faithful to the Braves — "No matter what." He added — while reminiscing through a scrapbook full of pictures of him standing beside his baseball heroes — that maybe some day Robin Day will don the hat of a major leaguer and sign autographs for admiring batboys.

FERC demands Idaho Power check oxygen below dams

By MARK PRATTER
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The federal government is getting pressure from the public to do a better job protecting fish and plant life below dams: it licenses on the nation's rivers including the Snake.

Idaho Power Co. is seeking a federal license to expand its Twin Falls power plant on the river from 10 to 40 megawatts.

For the first time the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission is telling the utility to set up a monitoring station to check the oxygen content of the water below the dam.

FERC is making this one of the conditions of approving the license, said spokesman Sharon Hyland. This step is supported by the state Division of Environmental Quality, said Mike McMasters, DEQ source control officer in Twin Falls.

"There seems to be more public interest in environmental issues than there was previously. There are more things spelled out in the license that previously were assumed or understood," said Hyland, the FERC spokesman.

But there is no provision in the proposed license for anyone other than Idaho Power to check whether the oxygen requirements are being met during the term of the license, Hyland said. The only exception is FERC would check the monitoring station when the dam is relicensed, she said.

There are also no requirements for state and local authorities to check this, she said.

And the state Division of Environmental Quality office says it doesn't have the manpower to determine what the oxygen content below the dam is, said Bob Braun, acting manager, source control, state Water Quality Bureau.

IPC thinks the monitoring is a waste of time and money. "There isn't any evidence to collect to show it is necessary," said Allan Ansell, IPC environmental studies coordinator.

The monitoring requirement is in the proposed license because the state and federal agency officials were concerned that there would be an oxygen problem. But there isn't any data to support their concern, Ansell said.

IPC's studies show the oxygen in the water below Twin Falls dam is well above state standards, said Ansell.

Fish and aquatic plants need a minimum amount of oxygen to survive.

The figure for trout is 5 parts per million. "Once you get below that number, you run into real problems," said Scott Grunder, a state regional fishery biologist.

Another part of the proposed license IPC objects to are the flows FERC wants at Twin Falls.

IPC is calling them excessive. The utility would dewater the falls

Filing deadline passes; MV legislative races get underway

By BART JANSEN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Each of the four Magic Valley legislative districts features at least one primary race, after the filing deadline passed Friday for the 18 legislative seats in the eight-county region.

There are four Republican primary contests, including two for seats held by Republicans who are not seeking reelection. Democrats left more than half of the 17 incumbent Republican seats uncontested, but nevertheless created a primary contest in one race.

- District 25, the flatorial seats representing all of

Magic Valley, features the hottest primary contest so far.

A three-way Republican race for Jerome Rep. Jerry Callen's seat pits Callen against fellow Rep. Gary Robbins, of Dietrich, and ODeen Redman, of Albion. The winner will cruise to the general election unopposed.

Meanwhile, two Democrats will square off for the right to challenge the incumbent Republican Sen. Larry Anderson, of Twin Falls. William Chisholm faces Arlo Kent in the Democratic primary.

Rep. Ralph Peters, R-Jerome, is the only flatorial lawmaker running unopposed.

- District 22, of Blaine, Camas, Gooding and Lincoln counties, features a primary contest for the seat being vacated by Republican Rep. Gary Robbins. The three-way Republican race features James G. Martin, of Hagerman; Billy Emerson, of rural Gooding County; and Tom Morrison, of Gooding.

The three are fighting for the right to oppose in this year's general election Democrat Gene Sullivan, of Fairfield, who narrowly lost to incumbent Robbins in 1986.

Democratic Sen. John Pavey, of Carey, will face Republican John Sandy, a Hagerman rancher, for the second time in as many general elections. But neither must overcome a primary hurdle. Sandy had earlier considered running for Robbins' House seat.

Rep. Mack Neibaur, R-Paul, will receive his seventh term without incident.

- District 23, Twin Falls County, features two primary contests, in the House and Senate, for seats being vacated by their Republican occupants.

A three-way Republican contest is underway to replace Rep. Russ Newcomb, R-Twin Falls. Lee Barnes, of Buhl, Don Siplon, of Twin Falls, and Wanda Lee Anderson, of Kimberly, are each seeking the Republican nomination.

Buhl's Virginia Ash is running for the seat as a Democrat.

Dane Watkins challenges Stallings

By BART JANSEN
Times-News writer

BURLEY — The seeds of agricultural issues are being planted in Magic Valley, as Republican Dane Watkins cultivates support to challenge Democratic Congressman Richard Stallings.

Watkins was warned, after speaking Friday to 15 people at a Cassia County Republican Central Committee luncheon, that he should develop his positions now, as the election season begins.

"I'll tell you to begin with, it's not going to be easy," said state Sen. Denton Darrington, R-Declo. "Sugar growers have endorsed your opponent through and through."

While Watkins credits Magic Valley with holding the key to his campaign, agricultural issues are likely to form the lock. Stallings is considered particularly strong in the Minidoka-Cassia county area because of his protection of the federal sugar beet program.

In announcing his intentions recently to seek a third term, Stallings cited his majority-party membership and seniority on the House Agriculture Committee as advantages to keeping him in office.

"What's it going to take to convince the farmers south of town that Dane Watkins is going to be better than Washington's boy Richard Stallings?" asked Mark Peterson, Cassia County GOP chairman.

Watkins responded that it would take campaigning at the precinct level, meeting with people one-on-one. But that begged the question — what would he tell them.

Darrington warned Watkins that the difficulty will lie in culling the perceptions of Stallings' success from his possible weaknesses.

"It may not be so much what is, as what is perceived to be," Darrington said.

Watkins' press secretary, Dave Pearson, said the candidate is studying farm issues to propose alternatives to Stallings' positions.

"We're forming an agriculture committee to put our policies together," Pearson said.

Also, since the filing deadline to run for Congress, only passed Friday, Pearson said few other Magic Valley stops are currently planned for Watkins. He is criss-crossing southern Idaho and the Second Congressional District to muster support for his campaign.

A Camas County stop is planned for May 3 and a Blaine County visit is set for May 6.

3 Gooding men seek Robbins' seat

By BART JANSEN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — In the wake of Rep. Gary Robbins' vacating his House seat, three Gooding County men are competing to save that position for the Grand Old Party.

Billy Emerson, 60, of rural Gooding County; James G. Martin, 64, of Hagerman; and Tom Morrison, of Gooding, will face off in the Republican primary May 24.

"I'm sure each of us has some strengths," said Emerson, in kicking off the campaign that features enthusiasm more than debate at its beginning. "I feel like I'm a good candidate for the job, I want it and I'm going to knock on doors to get it."

"I'm going to run and I've got lots of experience," said Martin, a former lawmaker seeking to re-enter state politics.

Instead of settling for his own seat for a third term, Robbins decided to challenge Rep. Jerry Callen, R-Jerome, for his eight-county flatorial seat. That primary race is splintered a third-time-by-ODeen Redman, an Albion businessman.

But unlike the Callen race, which features no Democratic opposition, whoever wins the Republican primary for Robbins' seat must still face a formidable opponent in the November general election.

Gene Sullivan, a Fairfield teacher and restaurateur, just as a Democrat to Robbins in the 1986 by one of a handful of votes out of the thousands cast.

Emerson is a farmer and former Jerome junior high school principal. He taught and administered schools throughout Magic Valley for 33 years beginning in 1952.

In addition, for the past 18 years he has been a farmer, which has now become his sole profession.

Martin is a former state lawmaker, who served three terms in the House during the 1960s. The current farmer and cattle feeder was elected both from Jerome County and from Cassia County. He now resides in Hagerman, where he has lived for four years.

He served on the Appropriations, Agriculture and Health and Welfare committees, and was chairman of the Transportation and Defense Committee.

His basic campaign theme now is to monitor state finances more closely.

"So many people think you can throw money at problems and solve them, but I think we need to know more about where the money is going," Martin said. "I would like to see all institutions audited."

Morrison could not be reached for comment Friday.

FERC reports Risch, Idaho Power link

BOISE (AP) — Idaho Power Co. has paid nearly $600,000 in legal fees over the last two years to the Boise law firm headed by the Idaho Senate's chief officer, Senate President Pro Tem James Risch, federal records show.

But Risch said Friday he does not receive a retainer from Idaho Power. His company provides legal services to Idaho Power, including the defending of lawsuits, and bills on a per-hour basis, Risch said.

A report filed with the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission and provided to the Idaho Public Utilities Commission shows that Risch's law firm of Risch, Goss, Insigner and Salladay received $155,822 from Idaho Power in 1986 and $440,789 last year.

Larry Taylor, spokesman for Idaho Power, said the payments were for a number of lawsuits in which Risch's firm defended the utility.

Risch is the largest of the cases, the utility may be reimbursed for most of its expense.

Risch's law firm successfully defended Idaho Power against a lawsuit filed over a 1983 fire at the Giacobbi Square shopping center in Ketchum. The center was extensively damaged by fire. Many of the tenants joined in a lawsuit alleging the fire was caused by Idaho Power's faulty installations. It asked for more than $4 million in damages.

In October, a 6th District Court jury ruled for Idaho Power. Later, the utility was granted a judgment of $465,000 in legal fees and other expense in defending the case. It is believed to be the largest award ever made in the state for legal fees. The matter is on appeal to the Idaho Supreme Court.

Risch said the expense of defending Idaho Power included about $100,000 in expert witness fees, which are billed to his company and included in the bill sent to Idaho Power.

Risch's company also defended

Idaho Power in a collision case in which the utility was absolved of blame, also a claim seeking more than $1 million in damages. In that case, LaRossa and Hunter versus Idaho Power, the jury ruled for Idaho Power, Risch said.

Risch said there was nothing unusual in his law firm defending a company in lawsuits.

"That's what we do; that's the sort of litigation we work on. We have many, many clients with the same sort of work," he said.

Risch said his partner, Lance Salladay, did most of the work preparing the Ketchum shopping center case, but he takes part in the actual trials.

In each case, he said, his company submits bills based on an hourly charge for services to Idaho Power.

Risch said normally he would not talk about the affairs of his clients, but the payments from Idaho Power are a matter of public record because it is a regulated utility.

Risch was a leader in the drive the last two legislative sessions to reject a recommendation from Gov. Cecil Andrus to repeal the investment tax credit. Andrus contended the state could have generated an extra $15 million this year through repaying the state credit for investments.

In testimony before legislative committees, the Division of Financial Management contended only a handful of large corporations and utilities received most of the benefit of the tax credit.

The DFM said between 1983 when the credit was started and 1986, $30.8 million was claimed on state tax returns. Of that amount, $8.4 million, or more than 27 percent, was given to the state's regulated utilities.

Records on file at the Public Utilities Commission said between 1983 and the end of 1987, Idaho Power received $2,650,227 in investment tax credits.

Hailey man waives rights

HAILLEY (AP) — A local photographer who says he is Walter C. Bogan or Wesley Turner has waived extradition to Washington and was expected to return to Clarkston Thursday.

Law officials believe the man, who has been living in Ketchum and working as an outdoor photographer, is Duane Miller, 49, of Colville, Wash.

Miller's car was found in the Snake River last May 9, but no body was recovered. Blaine County Sheriff Walt Fleming said that a $110,000 insurance policy has been collected on Miller's life.

Texan receives probation

BOISE (AP) — A Harlingen, Texas, man was placed on 18 months probation here Friday for taking part in a scheme to help alien farm workers obtain work permit under a new federal program.

U.S. District Judge Marion Callister on Friday ordered probation for Apolonio Martinez but directed him to perform 50 hours of community service. The judge also recommended that Martinez be allowed to continue working as a farm labor contractor.

A federal grand jury last year indicted Martinez and three others in a 58-count indictment in which they were accused of helping alien farm workers, mostly from Mexico, fill out false applications for work permits in southern Idaho.

Panel rejects development

COEUR D'ALENE (AP) — The Kootenai County Commission has tentatively rejected the plan of a southern Idaho developer for a $6 million resort at Blue Lake.

Commissioner Evelyn Adams said the commission unanimously agreed to direct its staff to draft an order denying the project of Neimpa developer Howard Mylander because of concerns over how it would be marketed.

"Their marketing plan did not guarantee that the sponsor would carry through with the technical plans," Adams said.

Andrus pursues repeal of investment tax credit

COEUR D'ALENE (AP) — Democratic Gov. Cecil Andrus is trying to fire up support for an initiative to repeal the state's investment tax credit after Republican lawmakers have twice rejected his attacks on the multimillion-dollar tax break for business.

"We have a history in this state of the public acting when the Legislature refuses to act," Andrus told the Idaho Education Association convention in Coeur d'Alene Friday.

"The people are more intelligent than many of their elected representatives give them credit for," the governor said in his prepared remarks assailing the $16 million credit that he says could be better used to finance improved education instead of the profit margins of a handful of big corporations.

Andrus urged members of the teachers' association to support the initiative as a means of providing adequate state aid to schools.

He said the people have launched initiatives on government reorganization, Sunshine laws and property taxes, in each case because the Legislature refused to act, "and they will repeat the need for proper educational funding in 1988."

"The public knows, just as Hewlett-Packard and Albertson's and Mountain Bell know, that our future and the future of our economy depends on the quality of our educational system," the governor said. "And the public will respond."

Andrus said there was a simple solution to the Legislature's money problems this session, repeal of the investment tax credit. It would have generated an estimated $15 million per year.

"But for some reason, maybe because it was my idea, the leadership of the Legislature wouldn't do it. La-

Andrus said he was able to stand before the IEA last year and praise the 1987 Legislature. "I told you a year ago that we had made what amounted to a down payment on the future," he said.

during the winter, said Ansell. But it is expected a 140 cubic feet per second flow over the falls on weekends and holidays. Twin Falls is a popular tourist spot on summer weekends.

FERC wants a 500 cfs flow from May to September and 1,700 cfs flow from October to April during daylight hours.

The falls is, in effect, a bypass flow that benefits the fish and aquatic life. "Water that doesn't go over the falls spins IFC's hydro turbines to make electricity."

IFC says it could lose up to $2.74 million per year in electrical generation potential if the flow requirements PERC wants are followed.

But there are no provisions in the proposed license for monitoring the volume of the bypass flows, said PERC's Hyland.

"This is a loophole in the whole process," said the state's McMaisters.

Ansell said bypass flow could be easily calculated using the company's generation records and a U.S. Geological Gauge located below the falls.

"There would be a clear record if there was a violation. That (measurement) could be done very easily," Ansell said.

The comment period on FERC's draft environmental impact statement on the Twin Falls expansion was originally to end in August but was extended to October, FERC's Hyland said.

The final environmental statement will be out in the early fall, she said. Then FERC will proceed on the pending application for expansion.

Judge extends PTL reorganization time

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — PTL will not make a $5.7 million payment owed creditors next month and will lay off an additional 125 employees, the court-appointed trustee for the television ministry said today.

Federal bankruptcy Judge Rufus Reynolds also granted PTL another month to make revisions in its court-approved bankruptcy reorganization plan.

Possible revisions to the plan include the sale of $3 million to $4 million of undeveloped land this year, PTL trustee David Clark said. Other assets, including the Heritage Grand Hotel, could be sold as a last resort, he said.

PTL must try to keep the television show on the air even without other "non-essential assets" such as the theme park, he said.

Reynolds gave PTL the additional month after a hearing on a government motion to delay the May 2 implementation of PTL's court-approved plan.

In the motion filed in federal bankruptcy court in Columbia, S.C., Justice Department attorneys argued that PTL remains on shaky ground with the Internal Revenue Service, which is seeking more than $55 million in back taxes.

PTL's reorganization calls for the television ministry to repay more than $60 million in debts accumulated by former PTL leaders Jim and Tammy Bakkeites that PTL will qualify for an exemption. But so far, the IRS hasn't agreed to PTL's request and has warned that PTL may lose its tax-exempt status.

Violent stabbings claim 4

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) - A boy and his three teen-age sisters found mutilated in their home Friday were stabbed so hard with steak knives that the blades broke, said police who sought to question the girls' boyfriends.

"We figure he either surprised them in their sleep or there's a possibility that more than one person was involved, which would have kept them from running out or anything like that. We can't tell for sure," said homicide Lt. Albert Ortiz.

Ortiz said a girl called the 911 emergency number about 3:27 a.m. and said "One of my sister's boyfriends is beating us up and has killed my sister."

Police were able to trace the call and found the bodies at 3:55 a.m., Ortiz said.

Police said at least five steak knives were used in the slayings and that more could have been carried off from the five-bedroom mobile home.

"It's unbelievable. All of them were savagely stabbed. There are knives broken off in their necks," said Sgt. George Wilson, a 28-year member of the department. "It's a slaughterhouse."

Ortiz said police wanted to question the three girls' current or former boyfriends, especially one who was named in two complaints filed by their father.

Ortiz identified the victims as Jennifer Mann, 19; Shannan Mann, 17; Martha Mann, 14; and Ernest Mann, 13.

Mary Miralen, who lives across from the trailer park, said there have been numerous robberies there and that she heard a commotion early Friday, and thought she heard gunshots.

The victims' father had recently filed two complaints against an ex-boyfriend of one of his daughters, Ortiz said. One complaint alleged a terroristic threat.

The victims' parents, Ernest and Becky Mann, are separated. Mrs. Mann was living with the children but was not home at the time of the attack, police said.

Venus joins moon in sky show Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP) - The queen of the sky will nestle near a sparkling crescent Moon in the next few days, offering skywatchers a special sight.

The dazzling white point of light that marks the planet Venus will shine near the emerging Moon, astronomers report.

"It'll be a particularly nice scene, and folks will notice it," said Yail Cleere of the U.S. Naval Observatory here.

The peak will come on Tuesday night, just at dawn, but the celestial couple will also shine together on Sunday and Monday nights, reports Sky & Telescope magazine.

The Moon will be just three days old on Tuesday, so it will be a pretty crescent, Cleere said. "We get hundreds of calls" when instances like this occur.

The New Moon occurs on Saturday, meaning that the Earth's natural satellite will be invisible. But on the following days light will begin to brighten the edge, creating the familiar crescent Moon.

Venus, meanwhile, will be located in almost the same part of the sky and will be the brightest object visible other than the Moon.

While Venus and the Moon will appear close together in the sky, that's only because they are located along the same line of sight.

Sub launch set April 23

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Navy's newest Trident nuclear submarine will be launched later this month in Groton, Conn., the service said Friday.

The ballistic missile submarine Pennsylvania will slide into the water during ceremonies April 23 at the General Dynamic Corp.'s Electric Boat Division shipyards, the Navy said.

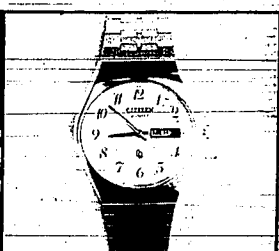

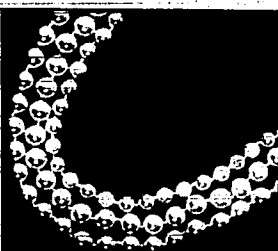

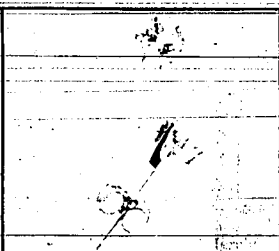

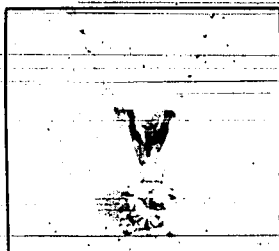

Rep. Joseph McDade, R-Pa., will be principal speaker during the ceremony. The nuclear-powered sub will be the fourth U.S. Navy warship to be named for the state of Pennsylvania.

The Pennsylvania is 360 feet long, 42 feet wide and will displace about 18,700 tons when submerged.

THE ACES ON BRIDGE BOBBY WOLFF

No reason makes it right
To shun accepted ways from stubborn spilt.

And you may better join the foolish crew
Than cling to wisdom, lonely though unloved."

—Molier.

Give today's North-South hands a good one of your non-favorite friends and ask him to make four hearts. Don't bet too much, but chances are he'll muf the challenge.

After winning both top hearts in dummy, South must find the safest way to draw the remaining trumps without losing control.

It plays the spade ace and ruffs a spade, a 5-3 break in trumps will trump the game. In today's layout, trumps are 4-2, so that naive line leads to two down with the defender taking three spades, a club and a diamond.

An alternative line is to lead dummy's ace at trick three: However, West will lead to win, and if South continues clubs, West will lead and leads a third round of East to ruff. The defense then scores a club, a club ruff and two diamonds for one down.

The best line is difficult to spot. After leading dummy's top trumps, South should exit with a spade from dummy. South next enters his hand with a low spade ruff to draw the trumps, leaving the spade ace in dummy. The club "ace" is then knocked out, but thanks to dummy's spade ace, there are no more spade tricks for the defense. South can score one trick in each minor, scoring a most challenging game.

DEALER ADJUSTED PRICE SALE!!!

Have you noticed how most dealers adjust the price of their automobiles so it makes it difficult to trade?
Mike prices his cars honestly and fairly so when you make a trade you actually get equity out of your car rather than just giving it away. Are you also tired of waiting in a small room while the salesman makes 20 trips back and forth to the manager's office. In the meantime after you make a deal you are so confused you don't know what is going on. Well, at Hamilton Motors you deal with one salesman in a pleasant atmosphere with the figures right on the table; so when you drive away in one of Mike's used cars you are confident that the deal you have made was fair and honest. So come to Gooding and shop where you are treated like an intelligent human being, rather than like just another number.

Jerome displays end-of-season form at its golf invitational

By STEVE CRUMP
Times-News sports editor

JEROME — Dale Mowrer and his Jerome High School golf team spent their spring vacations last week playing in northern Idaho, where the Idaho Class B prep golf tournament will be held next month.

By the time they returned to their home course Friday, it looked as if the Tigers were in championship form already.

Jerome shot 308 at the Jerome Country Club to breeze to the B-division team championship of the Jerome Invitational Tournament by 10 strokes over runnerup Middleton.

"I feel pretty good about it," said

Mowrer, whose tournament is the largest high school golf event in the state outside of the state finals. "The weather was great and the kids played well. I'm encouraged we could come up with a score like this at this stage in the season."

Capital won the A division with 302, followed by Borah at 304. Twin Falls finished third at 308.

Capital's Rick Winn was the medalist in a A division with a two-under-par 70. Middleton's Kory Mereness won the B medalist honors, beating Jerome's Jeff Van Orman on the first hole of a sudden-death playoff after the two ended regulation at even-par 72.

In the A division, Minico finished sixth at 323, while Burley was 12th at 340.

In Class B, Filer finished fourth at 385, while Buhl tied with Bishop Kelly for fifth at 386.

"This gives us a pretty good idea of where we stand in comparison with the rest of the state," said Mowrer. "The stronger B teams and the defending state champion come from the Boise Valley, and they were all here along with the teams from this end of the state. The only teams we haven't seen are the four or five B teams from the north, who'll be playing at home at the state tournament."

Van Orman, a senior, played Mereness even for 18 holes — in fact both golfers bogeyed their final hole. Mereness parred the first playoff hole, however, Van Orman had a bogey.

"We have four guys who've played together for awhile, but the nice thing is that we have some young golfers who are playing well too," said Mowrer. "We have a real battle for our fourth and fifth spots. Our JV's have been playing in the (three-team) District (4) matches, and they've been competitive with Buhl and Filer."

Middleton's Greg Brown finished third at 74, followed by Jerome's Luke Rowland, Bishop Kelly's Adam Krueger and Vallivue's Bryan Roberts, all tied at 76. Jerome's Jacques Zahn and Vallivue's Jeff Robbins were six strokes back at 78.

In the A division, Winn finished three shots ahead of Bonneville's Tom Jenkins and four ahead of Twin Falls' Brett Barry and Winn's teammate Mark Rhodes. Borah's Jon Herendeen and his teammate Jason Meag were tied for fifth at 75. Twin Falls' Bart Veis and Borah's Mike Hormacher were six strokes back at 76.

Despite the Bruins' third-place team finish, Twin Falls beat the nearest Gem-State Conference team, Bonneville, by 10 strokes and the closest Region III team—Minico—by 15.

Wells, Andrew scale Classic prep heights

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

JEROME — It wasn't too surprising to find that Hagerman's Frank Temple is the Magic Valley's fastest boy on that Twin Falls-Leannier Hamah is the track queen probably from the quarter-mile on up.

All that was pretty well established in the final session of the Magic Valley Classic on the Jerome High School track Friday. What the two-day event did provide in the way of highlights came in the high jump where Oakley senior John Wells hit a personal best of 6 feet, 7 inches. Thursday, Minico's Allison Andrew did the same thing in the girls' division at 5-7/4.

Still, there was a lot of anticipation of the sprints as Jerome's John Courley offered a challenge in the shorter distances and teammate Paul Hancock in the quarter.

It was simply a matter of Temple's withering kick, that ability that real sprinters have to explode the final yards of any race. Courley looked awfully good early in the 100 but in the final 30 yards there were few who could believe Temple could make up that much distance and burst into such a lead as he did. That made the 200 practically a non-event since the theory around long has been that if you can't beat Temple in a short race, you're in trouble in a longer one.

Just before the showdown with Hancock, Temple said the strategy was to "run behind him and seem what happens at the end."

Revision gives Declo victory in Filer meet

By The Times-News

TWIN FALLS — Due to an error in the point totals from Thursday's Filer Invitational track meet, Declo emerged the winner in the girls' division of the eight-team invitational.

The revised totals have Declo with 169 points to 119 for Glenns Ferry. Thursday's totals had Glenns Ferry with 191 points to Declo's 151.

It was the second consecutive victory for the Declo girls over Glenns Ferry. The Hornets beat the Pilots last week in the Kimberly Invitational.

At the end it was a very comfortable Temple victory although Hancock made a big effort in the first 200 meters to hopefully blunt some of Temple's kick.

In the girls division, Stephanie Stevens of Minico won the 100 but the field couldn't get under 13.15 seconds.

For Wells, the 6-7 jump came surprisingly easily after he lost all competition at a lackluster 5-10.

"It was the confidence factor," he grinned after each successful jump.

CSI begins its Region 18 season today

By STEVE CRUMP
Times-News sports editor

TWIN FALLS — The College of Southern Idaho baseball team opens its second season here today with Coach Jim Walker offering both a promise and a caveat.

"I'd have to say on the basis of our pitching and the way we've been hitting the ball in situations lately, I'm encouraged about the CSI skipper, who's 25-9 ballclub is scheduled to host Ricks College in its Region 18 opening double-header at 1 p.m. at Frontier Field. "But our regional schedule is against us this year, and this is not the kind of ballclub that can afford to let up for a minute."

The task at hand over the next three weeks will be securing one of the two berths from the northern division of Region 18 in the playoffs — and if possible to host the four-team tournament. CSI has won the last six Region 18 titles.

But unlike years past, the Eagles will play their first six intra-divisional games — three double-headers — at

Eagles run-rule TVCC crew

By The Times-News

TWIN FALLS — The College of Southern Idaho tuned up for its Region-18 baseball opener today by routing Treasure Valley Community College in a non-league contest here Friday, 13-2.

Although TVCC is a regional home, leaving CSI with very little margin for error on the road.

"I don't like it," said Walker. "Before, we'd play here, then go up to North Idaho and Treasure Valley, and then come back here for four games. This year, we're in a position of pretty much having to win all six here, then sweeping TVCC and Ricks on the road. I'd say we can't afford to lose any more than two (to assure a spot in the playoffs)."

The opponent today will be a Ricks team CSI beat 17-2 here two weeks ago in the CSI-TVCC tournament and member, Friday's game didn't count in the standings. The Chukars are scheduled to return to Twin Falls for a conference double-header next Friday.

The Eagles struck for five runs in the second inning, sending 10 batters to the plate, to settle the is-team struggling with a 9-19 record. "Ricks always plays tough against us," said Walker. "I have a lot of respect for the Jensen kid (Ricks sophomore left-hander Rob Jensen. In the Eagles' preseason schedule) last fall, he was tough on us."

See CSI on Page D4

Jensen (4-1, 4.06 ERA) will square off in the opener against CSI sophomore right-hander Don Emery (5-1, 1.29 ERA). Ricks' sophomore right-hander Doug Reid (3-5, 2.80 ERA) will face CSI sophomore right-hander Corby Schroeder (4-0, 1.29 ERA) in the second game.

"This is the best bunch of pitchers we've had since '80 and '81, when we had all those kids drafted," said Walker. "We're in a lot better shape than we were a year ago."

Heading into the conference schedule, CSI's sophomore designated hitter Chris Hanks leads the Eagles at the plate with a .430 batting average and 10 home runs. Left-fielder Errol Shirer is hitting .410 and sophomore center-fielder Billy Satterfield, who relocated his kneecap on Monday, is batting .368. Satterfield is expected to return to the lineup today.

Ricks is paced by freshman shortstop Glenn Dunyan, who is batting .407; sophomore left-fielder Jop Sheppard, hitting .373, and freshman center-fielder John Brown, batting .373.

Rupert's Greg Schow, a Ricks sophomore who played as a freshman at CSI three years ago before his LDS mission, will come into the game carrying a .364 batting average from his designated hitter position. Twin Falls' Nate Burke, a sophomore left-handed pitcher, has an 8-0 record and a 7.95 ERA working out of Ricks' bullpen.

Tim Floyd among 3 finalists for UNO job

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Idaho head coach Tim Floyd, Auburn assistant Ned Fowler and former professional coach Tom Nissalke were chosen Friday night as finalists for vacant head basketball coach's job at the University of New Orleans.

Floyd, Fowler and Nissalke will return to New Orleans next week for a second round of interviews, said Dave Sherman, chairman of UNO's seven-member search committee.

Though he set no deadline Friday for naming a successor to Art Tolis, Sherman had said earlier he hoped a decision could be made soon because high school recruits began signing last Wednesday.

Bruins face Region III showdown with Rams

By STEVE CRUMP
Times-News sports editor

TWIN FALLS — The acid test comes today for Twin Falls High School's young baseball team.

Undefeated Highland, the team Twin Falls beat for last year's Region III championship, comes calling for a Gem State Conference double-header.

"These are big games, but we're treating them like conference games," said Twin Falls Coach Bill Ingram. "They'll have a bearing on the seedings for the regional tournament, but we still have a lot of games to play between now and then."

The Bruins are 10-4 and have won six out of their last nine games; the Rams are 10-0. The winner today will get a leg up on assuring itself of a home-field berth in the postseason regional tournament next month.

Bruin senior right-hander John Hayes (4-2) will square off against Highland senior right-hander Paul Murphy (4-0) in the 11 a.m. opener at Harmon Park. Hayes beat Murphy in the Region III title game last spring.

"I have a lot of respect for Twin Falls," said Highland Coach Zane Simmons, whose ballclub is 3-0 so far this season against Region III foes. "They're a young team, and yet they've won a lot of games with young kids."

The Rams definitely have the edge in experience, with several of their players in their third seasons on the Highland varsity.

"They're very solid," said Ingram. "They hit the ball well and, obviously, they have good pitching. And at 10-0, they're playing with a lot of confidence."

The Rams are led by first baseman Ralph Obry, who doubles as Highland's No. 2 starter on the mound, with a .498 average. Murphy is batting .450.

Junior Jody Bryant, who with Twin Falls' second-game starter, leads the Bruins at the plate with a .420 average, while sophomore catcher Shane Quesnell is batting .400.

Obry is 4-0 on the mound; Bryant is 3-2.

"For us to win, we're going to have to play error-free baseball and hope our pitchers can control their hitters," said Ingram, whose Bruins are 2-0 in Region III competition.

NL: Gooden beats Cardinals on brief 2-hitter

NEW YORK (AP) — Dwight Gooden pitched a two-hitter as New York beat the St. Louis Cardinals 3-0 in a rain-shortened game Friday night for the Mets' third consecutive shut-out.

With none out in the top of the seventh, Tommy Herr was batting with a 2-1 count when the rain started. The umpires waited 1 hour, 45 minutes before calling it.

Gooden, 3-0, struck out seven and walked none en route to his fourth career two-hitter and 17th shutout. He did not allow a Cardinal to reach base until Herr's infield hit to deep short with two outs in the fourth. Ozzie Smith singled to right center in the sixth for the Cards' second hit.

The shutouts, thrown by Ron Darling on Tuesday, Bob Ojeda on Thursday against Montreal and Gooden, marked the second time in club history the Mets had three consecutive complete-game shutouts.

Gary Gentry, Jerry Kosman and Tom Seaver threw shutouts on Sept. 24-27, 1969. The club record is four straight shutouts, but they were not all complete games.

Baseball
New York has not allowed a run in 27 innings.

Gary Carter gave the Mets a 1-0 lead in the second inning when he hit his fourth homer off starter Greg Mathews, 1-1. The Mets have homered in seven straight games and have 16 in nine games.

Following Carter's homer, Howard Johnson walked, stole second and moved to third on catcher Tony Pena's throwing error. After Kevin Elster grounded out, Gooden lined a single to left to make it 2-0.

The Mets made it 3-0 in the fifth when Mookie Wilson singled to left, moved to third on two grounders and scored on a wild pitch.

On Friday nights in his career, Gooden is 15-4. He improved his career record in night games overall to 54-11.

In retiring the first nine Cardinals, Gooden struck out five and fanned left fielder Curt Ford three straight times.

Montreal 6 Philadelphia 4

MONTREAL (AP) — Luis Rivera's first major league homer snapped a sixth-inning tie and the Montreal Expos beat Philadelphia 6-4 Friday night, sending the Phillies to their fifth straight defeat.

Rivera, who broke an 0-for-10 slump with a run-scoring single in the second, homered off reliever Todd Frewirth, 0-1, to snap a 4-4 tie. Singles by Casey Candaele and Herm Winingham and a sacrifice fly by Tim Raines produced another run as the Expos ended a three-game losing streak.

Andy McGaffigan, 1-0, pitched 2-2-3 innings in relief of starter Floyd Youmans to get the victory. After McGaffigan walked Phil Bradley leading off the ninth, Tim Burke came on to get his first save.

Cincinnati 4 Houston 2

HOUSTON (AP) — Paul O'Neill's two-run double with two outs in the 10th inning lifted the Cincinnati Reds over Houston 4-2 Friday night, snapping the Astros' four-game winning streak.

Kal Daniels singled with two down, stole second and moved to third on an infield single by Eric Davis. O'Neill then lined a double down the right field line off Larry Andersen, 1-1, to score both runners.

Jose Rijo, 2-1, pitched two innings in relief for the victory and John Franco got the final three outs for his second save.

Houston starter Mike Scott took a 2-0 lead into the eighth but Chris Sabo led off with a double, pinch-hitter Dave Collins was hit by a pitch and Barry Larkin singled to lead the bases.

Chicago 6 Pittsburgh 0

CHICAGO (AP) — Andre Dawson hit a two-run homer and Shawn Dunston drove in two runs with a homer and a single to back the six-hit pitching of Rick Sutcliffe as the Chicago Cubs won their home opener 6-0 over the Pittsburgh Pirates Friday.

It was the 14th shutout of Sutcliffe's career and his first since April 1987. The victory also ended his personal six-game losing streak against the Pirates.

Sutcliffe, 1-0, walked one and struck out four. Starter John Smiley, 0-1, took the loss for Pittsburgh, which had its four-game winning streak snapped.

Los Angeles 3 Atlanta 2

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rick Dempsey's run-scoring single snapped a seventh-inning tie as the Los Angeles Dodgers beat Atlanta 3-2 Friday night, sending the winless Braves to a National League-tying ninth straight loss from the start of the season.

Atlanta equaled the mark set by four clubs, including the 1916 Boston Braves and the 1962 New York Mets. The major league record is 13 straight by the Washington Senators in 1904 and the Detroit Tigers in 1920. The franchise record for consecutive losses is 19, set in 1905.

Orel Hershiser, 3-0, allowed six hits en route to his second complete game.

San Francisco 8 San Diego 3

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Candy Maldonado hit a two-run homer and Jeffrey Leonard went 3-for-3 and drove in two runs as the San Francisco Giants defeated the San Diego Padres 8-3 Friday night.

The Giants have won 20 of their last 27 games against San Diego. Rick Reuschel pitched six innings and allowed four hits including a fourth-inning homer by Randy Ready.

Reuschel, 2-0, has earned both of his victories this season against San Diego and is 16-7 lifetime against the Padres. He has allowed two earned runs in 14 1/3 innings. Altee Hammaker pitched the final three innings for his first save.

The Giants took a 2-0 lead in the first against Mark Grant, 0-2, on Maldonado's homer. The Giants made it 3-0 in the third on Leonard's RBI single.

AL: Clark comes off DL, leads Yankees to another victory

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Jack Clark's first American League hit ignited a five-run first inning Friday as the New York Yankees continued their early season tear by routing Milwaukee, 7-1, and sending the Brewers to their seventh straight loss.

New York's ninth win in 10 games and fourth straight spoiled the Brewers' home opener before 55,887 at County Stadium, Milwaukee's largest regular-season crowd ever and the biggest opening-day crowd in the majors this season.

The Yankees, off to their best start ever, have scored 18 runs in the first inning of their last five games.

Tommy John, 1-0, picked up the win for New York. The 44-year-old pitcher gave up four hits, including a solo homer by Glenn Braggs in the second, before being replaced by Ceciliano Guante in the seventh inning.

Clark, activated Friday after operating the season on the disabled list with a torn tendon in his left calf, singled to center in the first to drive in the first run off Milwaukee loser Mike Birkbeck, 0-1.

Birkbeck, who had not pitched since March 31 in spring training, committed three balks, walked three and gave up five hits in his 1-1-9 innings on a windy 40-degree day.

Rickey Henderson opened the Yankees first with a bunt single, extending his hitting streak to 10 games, and moved to second on Birkbeck's first balk. Willie Randolph walked and was forced at second on Don Mattingly's grounder.

Clark, who played for San Francisco and St. Louis before signing with the Yankees as a free agent, singled in the first run and another hit by Mike Pagliarulo loaded the bases.

Dave Winfield walked to force in the second run and Claudell Washington's single made it 3-0. With the bases still loaded, Birkbeck balked Pagliarulo home with the fourth run. The fifth scored on Don Slaught's squeeze bunt.

Cleveland 3 Baltimore 2

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles lost their 10th straight game Friday night as Joe Carter homered and Brook Jacoby hit an RBI single in the eighth inning and the Cleveland Indians rallied for a 3-2 victory.

The Orioles tied the third-longest season-opening losing streak in history. The 1904 Washington Senators and the 1920 Detroit Tigers lost their first 13 games and the 1968 Chicago White Sox lost their first 10.

Texas 3 Boston 2

BOSTON (AP) — Steve Buchholz hit a solo home run in the 10th inning, his second of the game, and Charlie Hough pitched a three-hitter to give the Texas Rangers a 3-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox Friday. The Red Sox almost tied the game with two outs in the bottom of the 10th when Ellis Burks singled with men on first and second. But left fielder Pete Incaviglia threw out Marty Barrett at the plate to end the game.
