Authorities name suspect in slaying

TWIN-FALLS—Police-suspect Jesse Ray Jaggers of killing Virginia Westergren based upon a trail of clues that starts with a hand-drawn map linking Idaho and Mexico.

The map, drawn on the back of a piece of paper listing college prerequisite courses, was found by police in a kitchen trash can at the Westergren home.

Students scarce while strike continues

MOUNTAIN HOME — Only 37 percent of the students at five Mountain Home schools reopened Thursday returned to class as most of the district's 209 teachers continued their increasingly bitter strike into a seventh day.

"The hardest day that many of the teachers had was watching their students go into the classroom and they couldn't be there," said Neil Hillesland, president of the Mountain Home Education Association. "It's hard on everybody, and I'm not sure how much longer the community can go this way."

Substitute teachers, teachers aides and the 31 egular teachers that crossed picket lines Wednesay under a back-to-work order staffed classrooms a Thursday.

Classes would begin as regularly scheduled in the morning and last until 1,30 p.m., she said. Administrators said they realized classes would not be full at the five respende schools, but trustee David Humpherys said the turnout ranging from 17 percent at Air Base Primary to 47 percent at North Elementary was a "good sign."

"I hoped they'd all be back, but I think that probably tomorrow we'll see more coming back," then Humpherys said. "I think a lot of parents held said.

2,088 students enrolled at the five reopened schools reported for class. The district's total enrollment is about 3,500 students.

The school board on Wednesday decided to begin discharge proceedings against teachers who continue the walkout. Humpherys said the board would send out dismissal notices to teachers who did not show up for work, and hearings would be conducted May 31.

"There's a lot of disappointment there," Hille-sland, said. "A lot of us have spent many years in Mountain Home and there's just disappointment that the board would do something like this."

But despite the thrent of dismissal, he said he had not detected any further sign of teachers breaking ranks with the union.

The pinch has been felt most seri-ously at Idaho's border watering holes that had depended heavily on out-of-state business from young drinkers.

Although the impact on drinking establishments further inside idaho has been negligible, the Idaho Restau-rant—and—Beverage-Association—says some border-area taverns report busi-

Wilson said much of her business pefore the law was changed came rom Washington State University students crossing over the borderfrom Pullman to take advantage of Idaho's lower drinking age.

Now, besides the decline in business, she and other operators face the problem of Inding employees old enough to work in bars but young enough to be willing to accept pay not much better than minimum wage.

Then there is the confusion of figuring out which 19- and 20-year olds can drink legally under the grandfather clause, a task made more difficult by the proliferation of fake identification cards used by underage drinkers.

The latest method reportedly involves steaming apart the lamination on Idaho driver's licenses, carefully changing the birthdate and relaminating the cards.

They're very good at it, 'Wilson said. 'You have to be really sharp to pick them out.

Whether out of self-interest or areal sense of social injustice, most in-

They feel if they're able to make

They teel it they're able to make ife decisions, why can't they have a cocktail with their friends?" said Joan Weston, executive director of the Idaho Restaurant and Beverage Association.

There are others who, while applauding the intent of the law, question whether it has lived up to expectations.

"I'm not sure the legislation has ac-complished everything it was meant to accomplish," said Latah County Sheriff Kenneth Buxton. "I don't think it was a catch-all solution."

Buxton's officers patrol a border area that used to be crossed regularly by Washington State University stu-dents traveling the eight miles to 19-year-olds

Moscow when 18-year-olds could drink legally there.
Raising the drinking age may have stemmed the tide-of-WSU-students commuting over what some legislators called a floody corridor. But the sheriff says underage drinking has not been significantly reduced and the problem of alcohol-related highway deaths has not been solved. In fact, Buxton says drunken-driving fatalities have increased. He particularly remembers an accident last Hallowen that killed two University of Idaho students. They had not been drinking, but the adult driver of a car that hit them head-on had. He also died in the crash.

"The question comes back to who was the adult there?," Buxton said. "I

Prosecutors and government witnesses described Lehder as a one-time New York street hood who put together a vast cocaine-smuggling empire after he was deported to his bomeland, becoming a key figure in the Colombia-based Medellin cartel.

Mecham speech canceled

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Former Gov. Evan Mecham, barred from speaking at Brigham Young University because of a morality and honesty clause that limits public speakers, says he's unfazed by the decision.

"I don't get too upeet about any—thing." Mecham said Wednesday. "It was just a group of young Republicans—who wanted me to speak. If they have—a-policy—they—have—a-policy—and—I—won't speak."

"We haven't decided that Evan Mecham is guilky, but now is not the appropriate time for him to appear on campus, "said Brent Harker, a university-spokesman.
"We do not allow to speak on campus people who are not worthy examples," said Brad Hanesworth, a communications professor who is the Campus Republicans' faculty adviser. "I thought it was clear that he did not meet the criteria" on which speakers may appear at BYU.

Chisholm gets nod to take on Anderson

Ordinarily, a primary contest among Magic Val-ley Democrats can be likened to the drawing of straws among captured missionaries to see which one gets to be the guest of honor at a Republican

The analogy is an apt one in the case of Demo-crats Arlo Kent and Bill Chisholm, who are in a sense political missionaries in the strange and un-converted land of the GOP in Southern Idaho, which has not sent more than a handful of Demo-

Thus, it would be easy to see their contest for the Democratic nomination to the eight-county, District 25 Senate seat as one to see which will be the sacrifice for incument Republican Larrey

Anderson, R-Twin Falls.

But from what we hear, Anderson is more vulnerable than some might think.

He rarely shows up at public meetings, sometimes sending family members in his place while he devotes his energies to trying to make it big as rock musician.

And when Anderson does show up, there is an unrealistic quality to his observations; he has a penchant for spouting off unintelligible philoso-phy. People are too kind to tell him he sometimes doesn't make much sense. pesn't make much sense.

You get the impression he doesn't take the job very seriously.

For his opponent, we prefer Chisholm, who ran against Anderson in a three-way contest several years ago.

Chisholm is something of an institution in the Magic Valley, an outspoken environmentalist to some and a vestige of the 1960s Peace Movement to others.

He is provocative, thoughtful and challenging in his ideas, although he sometimes has little sense of how they could be implemented in practice. He seems to want to stop the modern world of commerce, trade and sales and turn us all back to living in huts.

A contest between him and Anderson in the fall

A contest between him and Anderson in the fall would give Magic Valley voters a spirited race. Insuch a contest, you'd have to give the edge to Anderson but not by as much as one might think. Indeed, if Chisholm were to take his hair out of the pony tail, cut it some and leave his necklace of beads at home, he could give Anderson the scare of his political life.

Kent shares some of Chisholm's maverick quali-ty, but his energies have been mostly directed to-ward the legal arena, in which he has either threatened or actually brought lawsuits against multi-officiale public officials.

public officials.

His suit against the proposed Twin Falls County-jail didn't win him many friends, but it did raise a valid point about the incompetence with which County Clerk Dick Pence has handled county election matters.

But Kent has been essentially a gadfly. That is not the same as a viable candidate for public of-

-In-the-Democratic-Senate contest for floterial seat 25, we favor his opponent, Bill Chisholm.

Education needs our support

Education needs our support
This is an open letter to Jerry Callen, whom I consider to be an opponent of our public schools.
I recently read your remarks about your re-election and education funding. I had to chake, Either you were asleep during most of the legislative session, Jerry, or you are just totally unaware of what is happening in our schools.
You implied that education received adequate funding, is that adequate for today's students or the student of 30 years ago?
If you have read the articles about local schools in the last few weeks, you have noticed that districts are having to rely on the local property tax, and and they are having to cut more programs like nome economics, vocational agriculture, business courses and others.

As far as I am concerned, legislators like you are responsible for causing Idaho education to become less and less competitive with other states.

Idaho spends $1,500 less per student than do other states. Our students are still entering buildings built 40-50 years ago.

I want Idaho education to achieve excellence. To do so, it will need supportive and excellent legisla-tors. You are neither, Jerry, and my vote will go to Gary Robbins who has proven his support for excel-nt education.

Tourism may not help Idaho

Tourism may not help Idaho

I was greatly disappointed when I read your editorial Thesday, concerning the District 22 representative race. In that editorial you endorsed Jim Martin and stated that his emphasis on developing fourism in Idaho was a major reason for your endorsement. I would like to take this opportunity to disagree with both Mr. Martin's and your encourages. Anyone with a basic understanding of economics realizes that wealth is created in only two ways: through harvesting of the earth's resources such as farming, mining, timber, etc.) or through the manufacturing process which adds value to these natural resources. Any other-type of industry-or business simply redistributes this maney. Secondly, Martin states that "he really wants to push for more developments for tourists." Well, I believe that the majority of Idahanas don't went out-of-state people in, so that they can overcread, disfigure and otherwise ruin the scenie wonders that make this such a great place to live. Thesepeople already own most of the upper Wood River Valley. Try to go fishing up there if you don't mind getting chased off the river.

To sum it up, I believe a vote for Martin is a vote getting chased off the river.

To sum it up, I believe a vote for Martin is a vote against Idaho. Please vote on May 24th for Idaho! Vote for Emerson or Morrison. J.C. MILLER

The 1988 legislature appropriated $356 million for public schools. This amount was an increase that is less than inflation. Rep. Jerry Callen worked for an appropriation of $351 million while Rep. Gary Robbins worked for $358 to $360 million. The results of the appropriation has forced most school districts to ask for property tax override levys to balance the district school budgets!

itself in disastrous ways

Suppose you and your family are rafting down an unexplored river. Most of your attention is on steering the raft away from the rocksand keeping it off the banks so that it will not get damaged or stranded.

Several miles downstream, unknown to you, is a huge waterfall that will fing you and your family on the rocks below. It is easy to miss the significance of certain signals that are coming to you.

You have noticed a distant rumbling background sound. But what does it mean? You can guiding the raft and keeping it off the rocks that you don't want to think of anything else right now. Maybe the rumbling will go away...

For me, I first noticed the distant rumble

Callen, Anderson both show sense of fiscal responsibility.

Taxes! How much is enough? We are being told by the media and returning Legislators that the recent legislative session was a hold the line session. The truth is there were new taxes, and surely, the largest bite will come when the Governor calls the special session to cover the revenue shortfall. Only then will we know the truth about new taxes for the 1988 legislative session. Some sources predict as much as a 30 million dollar shortfall. How is that for a hold the line legislature? #### Lotteries have a long history of raising money for societies

For those who are uninformed, the first pub-lic lottery on record was originated by the Dutch in 1434 as a means of raising revenue for the town of Sluis. Almost 80 years later, the first lottery game variation known today as lotto, was recorded when the citizens of Rome were asked to predict 12 finalist from the 99 cardinals that were eligible to be pope, in effect f playing a 1299 lotto game. Today, lotteries in esome form exist throughout the world.

In the United States, lottery proceeds helped to provide reasonate for the original 13-colonies and to found several universities such as Yale, Harvard, Brown and Princeton. The first modern state-operated lottery in North America started in 1964, when New Hampshire begard operating a lottery with quarterly drawings. New York followed, and then New Jersey, which in 1971 catablished the first highly successful lottery with inexpensive tickets, weekly drawings and high price payouts. The games were an immense success and generated $30 million of net revenues for the state in the first six months. Today, 28 states, the District of Counbia, and all the provinces of Canada operate lottery games for public benefit. During the fiscal year of 1986, lotteries generated $12 billion in sales and contributed $4.8 billion to the state treasuries.

Monies generated from a lottery today, would definitely relieve some of the burdens the school system is now facing without placing an extra burden on the public.

CSI pay hike gets new twist

By MARTA CLEAVELAND

TWIN FALLS — Employees of the College of Southern Idaho will get pay raises soon but their salaries won't go

The CSI board of trustees voted Monday to establish a cafeteria-style fringe benefit plan in lieu of salary hikes this year.

The program allows an employee to withhold from pre-tax earnings specified amounts for health care, de-pendent expenses, retirement savings and other items.

Depending on the employee's tax bracket and the amount of deductible expenses he incurs, the tax savings can be significant, said-Karl-Black;

CSI dean of finance.

You can give a pay raise without giving a pay raise essentially," said Rick Thompson, finance director for the city of Twin Falls, which started a similar program for its employees last year.

The voluntary program lets each employee tailor it to his own needs. Some of the tax deductible expenses include health and dental care costs, life insurance premiums, eye glasses, braces for the kids, day care, and retirement funds braces for the amon to the tirement funds.

Money to cover those payments are deducted from each paycheck. When the employee pays a bill, he brings in a voucher for the amount and gets reimbursed.

The employee pays no state or federal taxes on the money set aside, and neither he nor his employer pays Social Security on it. The Social Security savings alone is 7.5 percent, Black said.

Atlo Kent, of Twin Falls, is pledged to limiting and rescinding state laws, including the copious rules and regulations developed by agencies that carry the weight of law.

They are competing to challenge incumbent Sen. Larrey Anderson, RTwin Falls. But no harsh words are exchanged in their struggle to bring the first Democratic voice to the Legislature from Twin Falls County in 50 years.

While all three candidates from both parties live in Twin Falls County, the floterial seat they seek represents all eight counties of Magic Valley, The May. 24 primary spans the enter area, where another four Republican primaries will also be decided.

Chisholm and Kent share as their first priority a desire to rescind Idaho's call for a constitutional convention. They each fear the loss of individual freedom that rewriting the Constitution-might entail.

In Idaho, Chisholm's prime concern is the state's water, or life blood.

"We need to develop a strong policy with regard to the protec-tion of both the quality and the quantity—of—our—water," Ch-isholm said. "We have to see to it that all industrial and govern-mental installations, as well as agriculture, are operating in such a manner so as to ensure our rivers, streams, snowpacks and aquifers are not being poi-soned."

"I want laws with teeth in them," he added.

Bridon West, a cordage manufacturer scheduled to use two of the eight parcels of land at the proposed 31-acre park, hopes to start construction on a building pad May 23 and to begin production by Sept. 1, according to Jerome Public Works Supervisor Lanny Sloan, who is busy trying to make that schedule a reality.

The first hurdle was scaled last week, when Sloan received a call from the state Department of Commerce allowing him to request a transfer of funds from a city block grant to begin work on the county park. The request became necessary when complaints from other cities pre-special meeting.

That application, a request for money to build the park, will not be heard until the Association of Idaho Cities Conference June 21-22.

As a result, Sloan-suggested starting work on the indus-trial park by requesting the transfer of money from a $233,600 block grant awarded Jerome city for the con-struction of sewer lines and piping, mostly in the western area of the city.

A part of that money — $166,890 — could be used for the park, with the intention of paying back the fund when the industrial park grant is obtained, Sloan said. The remainder of the sewer grant money has already been allo-cated to contractors hired to do the sewer work, he said.

Jerome city councilmen agreed to adopt Sloan's idea,

If re-elected, Lee said he would continue to upgrade the Camas County Sheriff's Department.

TFHS senior endangers state records in 800, mile

TWIN FALLS — Even by the standards of a school that holds the current Idaho Class A-I records in six of the 17 girls track events, Jenny Hannah is a Twin Falls High School leg-

A lofty title indeed, but one well deserved.

This weekend at Boise's Bronco Stadium, Hannah will vie to repeat as the Idaho state A-1 800- and 1,600-meter champion and, as she did last year, lead the Bruin girls to a state team title.

year, lead the Bruin girls to a state team title.

The Bruin senior won her two events last year with 2-minute, 182-second time in the 800 and broke an A-1 state record in the 1,600 with a 5:11.19 performance.

b:11.19 performance.

Hannah has posted the season's best A-1 times in the 800 (2:19.3) and in the 1,600 (5:15.74). She has the state's second-best time in 3,200 at 11.00 g.

in the 1,600 (6:15.74). She has the state's second-best time in 3,200 at 11:09.6

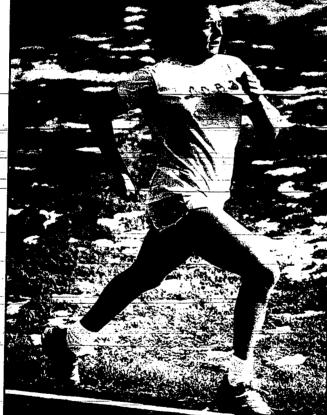

Should Hannah run particularly well this weekend, in both the 800 and 1,600, she stands to threaten the overall state mark in the half mile held by Kuna's Karen Packham (2:17.45) and the mile established by Bishop Kellyé Ellen Lyone (5:08.46).

Hannah will also compete in the 4x400-meter and medley relays at the state finals. She was a member of the TFHS quartets that won the 4x200-meter relay a year ago and set a state record in the medley in 1986.

Hannah may be the best female prep middle-distance runner in Idaho, but her work, at the state finals has been cut out for her by Borah's Michelle. Brown, Boiss'e Stephanie Reents and Coeur d'Alenc's Jenny Resse. Hannah and the latter three have all 'run 5:18 in the 1,600 and Hannah calls the race a tossup, although she adds that she is 'capable' of repeating as state champ.

TWIN FALIS — The Eagles soared and the Snow iell Thursday in the opening round of the Region 18 junior college bassball tournament.

The College of Southern Iden inship game by dumping Snow College
4-2 and belting Utah Valley 9-0.
Earlier Thursday, the Wolverines beat North Idaho 8-8. Snow dropped out of the tournament after suffering an 8-7 loss to the Cardinals.

This morning Utah Valley and North Idaho will play again, in a loseer-out context at 11 at Frontier Filed.
The winner of that game will take on CSI at 3 pm. If the Golden Eagles win that one, they'll earn their sixth consecutive regional tile and advance to the to meet Region 9 champion Otero Community College in Helper, Utahfor, a best-of-three series to determine which team makes the National Junior College Athletic Association World Series later this month in Grand Junction, Colo.

If CSI loses its contest today, the two once-beaten teams will play again Saturday at 11 a.m.

The Eagles won their games with timely hitting and the pitching of right-handers Don Emery and Bill Moeller.

"They threw their best games," said—Walker. "That's all you can eak for."

The Eagles will have either right-handers Kendal Bennett (42) or Corby Schroeder (6-1) this afternoon.

The CSI-Snow game was a classic with Snow pitcher Tim Oleen trying to keep his record perfect this season against the Eagles.

It looked as if Snow would take Emery to the showers early as the Bad-gers took his first two offerings to the outfield with a double and a single. Rob Beck grounded into a double play scoring Chris Hermansen, who dou-bled to lead off the game. CSI tied it in the bottom of the first when Jeff Warren walked, advanced on a single by Erro's Shirer. Warren scampered home on a Chris Hanks groundout.

Jerome boys, T.F. girls best area hopes at state

Indians fall to Vallivue

By STEVE CRUMP Times News sports editor

BOISE — The Jerome boys will begin what most people in Idaho A-2 track believe will be a walk in the sun toward a state championship this morning, but the Twin Falls girls will have a dicier route in their competi-tion with Capital for the A-1 girls' tition with Capital for the A-1 girls' title.

More than 400 high school athletes will gather in Bronco Stadium this morning for the beginning of the twoday Idaho High School Track and Field Championships. Most field events, the 3,200-meter run and the track preliminaries will be held today, while the bulk of the running event fi-nais and a smattering of figid event fi-nais will take place Saturday,. The A-3 running event finals will lead off the agenda at 10:30 a.m. Sat-urday, followed by the A-2 finals at 12:40 p.m. and the A-1 finals at 2:50

Twin Falls is the defending A-1 girls champ and, along with Capital and Highland, figures to be the team

"We'll beat Highland, but I'm not so sure about Capital," said Bruin Coach Duane Stands on Thursday. "Capital is good in so many events and in those events they're two or three deep: We're going to have to have a very strong performance to win."

Twin Falls — Hundreds of freckle-faced future Hemingways and pony-tailed hopeful Dickinsons forsook Saturday morning cartoons last weekend in order to gather and compare literary notes.

The talented youngsters attended a Young Authors conference at the College of Southern Idaho. They had already won first place for their grade level in their schools, and were judged and awarded medals on a regional basis during Saturday's test gives her students a reason towork hard on their writing.

Area kindergarten through high school teachers awa samples of their students writing all year long. In the early spring the children sort, through their stories and poems and decide which pieces they want to enter in the Young Authors contest.

"It gives the children something definite to write for," says Sampe.
Ties always more fun than just finishing an assignment and handing it in because the teacher wants it."
Sampe has seen an improvement in children's writing skills since Young Authors was introduced in "Win Falls stx years ago. Many students come into her third grade classroom now with some ability to express themselves on paper."

They know, how to write a sen-

express themselves on paper.

They know, how to write a sentence," she says. "In this day and age, writing is one of the most valuable achille a child can start to cultivate. There are very few professions ow that a child would go into that they don't have to know how to write."

they don't have to know how to write."

To prime the pump, Sampe's studenta keep a journal, which they write in for 10-12 minutes a day.

"We just write," she says. "If they have a story started they can do this. They can write poems. They can write about what happened on the playground. But they have to write."

Connie Woebke, an American literature, creative writing and college prep writing teacher at Twin Falls High School, says the creative students ahe has in her classes see things a little differently from their peers.

things a index uncountry follow the rules," she says. "You know, lote of them are real good at writing expository stuff, but they go outside the conventional rules."

tory stuff, but they go outside the conventional rules.

At the beginning of the year Woebke gives her 11th and 12th grade creative writing students a list of words and asks them to weave them into short narratives. They are not graded on grammar or punctuation.

I don't understand why it works, but it does, she says. They don't have to worry about all those kinds of things that they have to worry about in a regular composition class. They're free to just explore what's inside them. Then once they can get themselves out on the paper I show them the rules or different forms. But until they can release themselves to write, then form doesn't do any good, I don't think."

Woebke's students usually lossen up by the end of the first quarter.

real good students in composition and regular expository writing take longer because they have too many rules internalized that they can't let go of. They kind of have to forget those for a while, "she says.

Both Woebke and Sampe have definite ideas about how parents can encourage their children to write.

"Always value everything the kids write, even if it doesn't follow any rules or anything," says Woebke.

Sampe says it's important to read to children and talk about the stories they hear.

they hear.
"They heed to know the flow of the language," she says.

Sampe also feels that parents can help their children's writing skills by encouraging them to use complete sentences and express complete thoughts when writing thank you notes or letters to out-of-town relatives and friends.

tives and friends.

"Anything like this to encourage that hid to get his thoughts down on paper," she says. "Quite often a child has a good vocabulary and he can express himself very well verbally, but he just has trouble getting those same thoughts down on paper through lack of experience."

Betty Conover, a reading teacher from Buhl who helped coordinate the Young Authors contest, says she thinks its a good idea for children to keep a journal.

"They need to write about their personal experiences, because those are the things they know most about," she says.

She would also like to see children meet more adult authors like the ones students are introduced to every year at the Young Authors conference.

ference.
"Either let them write letters to authors or have them meet authors when they can," says Conover. "And write. I think that the more you write, the better you write."

mountains of monstrously good reading."

The theme of the reading series,— Therary Friends Devour Books," will be woren throughout the program, as puppet shows, craft times, and even a "monster grin bin" will set the stage for reading enjoyment.

Two separate reading programs are planned, says Ellen Neff, assistant children; bitherian. The first program will feature activities for preschoolers and the other for older children; through grade six. The younger group will meet Fridays from 1:30 to 2 p.m., June 10 through July 15. The older group will meet Tuesdays, from 1:30 to 2 p.m., June 7 through July 12.

Preschoolers will read five books, as part of a "read with me" activity, while the grade school children will plan their reading schedules in 15-mi-nute-intervals, for a total-of-two-hours-

A "monster machine" will help chil-dren from both groups select their reading categories — adventure, mys-tery, poetry, etc. Both groups-of-chil-dren will also receive stickers as they reach their reading goals. When a child has received the correct number of tickers here as he will be allement to of stickers, he or she will be allowed to visit the monster grin bin grab bag and pull out a prize

'Willow' is a jewel of an adventure, but will it wow?

By BOB THOMAS
The Associated Press

LOS ANCELES — One of the world's most successful filmmakers and a legendary film' company release a $55 million cinematic gamble on Priday with the opening of the medieval fantasy Willow.

Both George Lucas, whose "Star Wars" and "Indiana Jones" movies have grossed $1 billion, and MGM, which once was Hollywood's greatest studio, need a hit. The movie is directed by Ron Howard, who won acclaim with "Splash", and "Occoon."

Lucasfilm Lid: has produced two expensive —flops, "Labyrinth" and "floward the Duck." MGM, meanwhile, is struggling to regain momentum after several reorganizations. As a further complication, financier Kirk Kerkorian, who owns $2.4 percent of the parent MGMUA Communications, is seeking a buyer for the company. A "Willow" hit would enhance, the price.

Despite some early negative reviews for the movie, which goes into 1,000 'theaters' nationwide Friday, MGM and Lucas can be proud of their achievement. Willow" is movie story-telling in the grand tradition. No, it into a landmark film such as the "Star Wars" trilogy — the kind of achievement that happens once a decade. Much of "Willow" may seem familiar to audiences exposed to special effects movies of recent years or to animated classics from Disney.

But "Willow" stands on its own merits, as high adventure excuted with superior imagination.

Theater owner and reviewer screenings drew mixed responses. Daily Variety called the film "a medieval mishansah' but predicted "Rids will probably love it." Time magazine said: "For now, (Lucas") wonder wand is broken." Newweek's headline was: "The Raider of Lost Art."

Facing blockbuatter competition from "Rambo III" and "Crocodile Dundes II" on May 22, MGM prudently released "Willow" five days earlier.

the child will destroy her power. The hero, Willow, finds allies in an over-the-hill knight and a pair of mischie-yous "brownies" — creatures 9 inches tall.

There are no major stars in the film, which-features Val Kilmer ("Top-Gun", Joanne Whalley ("Dance With a Stranger"), Jean Marah ("Upstairs, Downstairs") and 19-year-old Warwick Davis as Willow. The 3-foot-d Davis was discovered by Lucas a few years ago and cast as an Ewok in 'Return of the Jedi."

The producers count on a box-office success to help-their massive morthandising campaign. More than 30 companies have been licensed to manufacture such items as "Willow" underwear, bed sheets, lunch boxes, meal promotion at Wendy's, coloring sets, toy action figures, computer and board games, magic tricks, records, Tages and compact discs.

"Willow" resulted from a friendship three and the promotion of the strength of the s board games, magic tricks, records, Tupes and compact dises.

Willow' resulted from a friendship between Lucas and Howard, who met 15 years ago when Lucas directed "American Grafitti," with Howard as one of the principal actors.

Lucas was just out of USC Film School, directing his first major film under the sponsorship of his friend, Francis Coppola. Howard had been an actor from the age of 5, working mostly in TV series suich as "The Courtship of Eddie's Father," The Andy Griffith Show" and "Happy Days."

They met again a few years ago. Howard realled their conversation in a recent interview.

The violent 'Colors' is disappointingly superficial

The following are capsule reviews of some of the films playing locally in the Magic Valley. Ratings are by the Motion-Picture Association of America and opinions are by Los Angeles Times reviewers.

COLORS (R). With its violent drive-by shootings and its daytime shots of grede-schoolers dealing crack, "Colors" may feel like a bloody slice of the 11 o'clock news. But make no mistake, it is a movie and — for all its swirling motion and authentic look — a disappointingly superficial one at that. A superb performance by Robert Duvall as the older of a pair of cops who try to courted the gang chaos — is whittled down to soap-opers size, undertuiting everything. Also stars—Sean Penn.

— and, as filmed by director Mike.

Nichols, the movie has marvelous momenta and thoroughly engaging performances by Matthew Broderick and company. Nichols seems to have perfect pitch when he's working with Simion. He does not punch the jokes the way other directors do; he picks up the laughs on the way to something-else – and he also gives the story a baroque visual style: mixing Norman Rockwell with Orson Welles and George Stovens. It becomes a darkly nostalgic, wisecracking male bonding comedy, with moments of honest pain and eerie romanticism.

SHAKEDOWN (R). Mindlessly en-joyable, great-looking escapist fare in which a courtroom drame is enlivened by some wholly improbable but spec-tacular stunts. Peter Weller stars as a

Women wonders whether to write off loan to bum ex-fiance

DEAR ABBY: Back in 1960, "Tom" and I were engaged. He needed money to finish college, so I gave him $2,000. (I was a nurse living at home.

After Tom graduated, we broke up, by mutual agreement. He said he'd repay the money when he could afford it.

it. Ten years later, he sent me a money order for $1,000, saying he had to be 'careful" about sending me money because he didn't want his wile to know about what she would assume was an "affair."

Since then, Toin has become very. wealth, While my husband and I are not destitute, I resent the fact that he has never really thanked me properly for helping him out when he needed it.

Now my question: Since it was a gift, should I forget it — as he obvi-ously has done? If not, how can I remind him that he still has a moral ob-ligation to repay me? I haven't talked to him in 15 years, and I don't want to jeopardize his marriage over money.

— BARB IN BOSTON

DEAR BARB: Do you really be-lieve Tom's marriage would be jeopar dized if his wife found out that 24 years ago his former fiancee had given him $2,000 to finish college?

Tom has a character deficiency. Write the balance off as a bad debt, and be glad he's not your husband. DEAR ABBY: My husband and I recently received a wedding gift from a co-worker I'll call "Andy." Andy loves to paint, so he gave us one of his paintings. This painting is definitely not our taste. Andy must have shown it in an art show because the price tag was still on the back of it.

'Desperado: Avalanche at Devil's Ridge' marks Rod Steiger return

By PAUL ELIE

Desperado: Avalanche at Devil's Ridge," an NBC movie airing Tuesday, May 24, is an unlikely setting for the return of Rod Steiger.

Like its predecessors, "Desperado". and "The Return of Desperado," the two-hour Western is a vehicle for would-be heartthrob Alex McArthur. who stars as cowboy Duell McCall, But for Steiger, one of the country's finest dramatic actors and an Oscar winner in 1967, it is a genre film -

"The film is an entertainment in the form of a straight ahead Western, with the standard hero and heroine. he says. "I play a man named Slaten, who's the 'dictator' of the territory he owns the mines. It's nice, a role I could do something with, and on the main network. And the money wasn't bad." Steiger, 63, was a star by age 30, after roles in "On the Waterfront" (1954), "The Court-Martial of Billy Mitchell" (1955) and "The Harder They Fall" (1956) established him as a practitioner of the intense style associated with "Waterfront" star Marlon Brando and director Elia Kazan. He played the title role in "Al Capone" (1959) and a supporting role in the World War II epic "The Longest Day" (1962), before making several films in Italy.

Then, the story goes, he refused unchallenging parts for 18 months before taking the demanding role of Holocaust survivor Sol Nazerman in Sidney - Lumet's - "The - Pawnbroker" (1965). Now, though, he is happy just to be working.

"It was a step I took to solve psychological problems I had about acting," he says of the "Desperado" role. "I was at a point in my life when I was refusing everything. I was afraid to act. So I was happy I'd got a job. I wish I'd snapped out of it earlier - I would have saved a lot of money."

It is strange to see Steiger billed alongside actors who hadn't been born when he was nominated for an Oscar for "On the Waterfront": McArthur. who is best known as Madonna's boyPreach," Lise Cutter, who played Susan Campbell on "Perfect Strangers. and Alice Adair.

They were respectful, kind and considerate, very polite to me," he says. "And after a couple of days, when we got to be friends, they started to talk about Waterfront, or In the Heat of the Night.' It was flat-

The series version of "In the Heat of the Night," with Carroll-O'Connor in the sheriff role that brought Steiger a hit for NBC - and a sore point for

"I-was-upset-that-they-didn't-even give me a phone call to tell me they were doing it," he says. "I would have liked the courtesy of a call. But that's my childish imagination, mind you, a wishful fantasy."

"Desperado" finished filming in early November, and Steiger is now playing the mayor of New York in friend in the video for "Papa Don't Kline. But because of his age, roles are hard to come by.

> The trouble these days is that, by and large, the scripts sent around are for much younger actors," he explains "You go from being the first-billed role to being the third-billed role. The best way to explain it is the way it's done in the world of sports - brutally."

"It is easier to hold on in acting though," he admits. "They always need some older actors to fill roles.

He adds: "I have to adjust to being in older actor. It requires an adjust-Best Actor Oscar, has been a surprise ment of ego in which you say, It's their turn.' You've just got to say, That's the way it is.

He feels that his work, at least, has not aged.

"Society's style of living changes, and doesn't match the style of living of say. The Ox bow Incident."

Priscilla Presley stars in film

Q: What's this about Elvis Presley's widow, Priscilla, starring in a movie satire about the late rock 'n' roll king. What can she be thinking off — HJ.

A Priscilla is indeed co-starring in a satirical comedy, but the flick inn't in any way about Elvis. The movie is titled 'The Naked Gun,' and it's from those same whacky folks who gare us the 'Airplane' takeoffs. This is President in TV melodrams and series. Under not circumstances, would she participate in any project that would mock Elvis, says Priscilla flatly.

Q: Is Sean Penn's hothead-educes due to a terrible relation-with his father, who's also an actor? - K.P.

A: Penn can be an aggressive fellow but only if sufficiently provoked.
People tend to forget that most of his outbursts are brought on rather than self-induced. Seans father is Leo

Penn, a movie writer and director. who also acts on occasion. The senior Penn was recently surprised to find that Sean was anxious to appear in his dad's movie, "Judgment in Berlin." The flick wound up being tailormade by the senior Penn for the ju-nior. "He's damn marvelous in it." says Sean's proud father.

Q: Now that he's old and fat. hasn't Marlon Brando finally brought a halt to his hugely promising movie career? _ I.P.

A: Now nudging the 65-year-old mark, Marlon is trying to lick that girth problem. He seems, I'm told, to be making some progress. Don't by any means count out his film career. After an eight-year layoff, Brando is throat surgery last year, Elton gearing up for two movies. One, a political thriller, is called "Jeriche." The second is a drama titled "A Dry. White Season," in which Brando nortrays an anti-apartheid lawver in South Africa. The ever high-minded Marlon will, I'm told; donate his salary to the anti-apartheid movement.

Q: Is it my imagination, or are all our major movie stars getting shorter and shorter? - H.Y.

A: You may have something there. Many of the screen giants of yesteryear were tall - Gary Cooper, James Stewart, Clark Gable, etc. - but there was Alan Ladd to prove there's an exception to every rule. But ever since the successes of Dustin Hoffman and Richard Dreyfuss, it does seem that good things come in small packages — and right now there's 5-foot-4 Michael J. Fox, 5-foot-3 Dudley Moore, and 5-foot-2 Danny DeVito. who's busy prepping a new pic with Arnold Schwarzenegger.

Q: Tell us, isn't it true that Vanna White is having an affair with Sylvester Stallone? - M.R.

A: Vanna and Sly are good friends. period. Hollywood's rumor mill got buzzing when the two were spotted dining at a posh restaurant and then were seen shortly thereafter at a correspondents' dinner at the White House, of all places. The kicker is they were seated separately.

Q: I heard that ever since his 4 Times-News, Twin Falls, Idaho

ELTON JOHN Career still on move

SEAN PENN Not always hotheaded

John's voice hasn't been the same. Is his career finished? -

A: There's been a fair amount of speculation on that subject in Hollywood's music circles. After all, John born 41 years ago as Reginald Dwight - is no youngster by rock performer standards. Also, we haven't heard much since Elton's throat operation. One insider, who got a hush-hush advance hearing of John's latest album, assures me that all is OK. John's voice is described as sounding much younger, and stronger.

Q: We hear that veteran actress Shelley Winters seriously injured herself while trying to perform a stunt in her latest movie. What's gotten into her? - P.W.

A: Shelley, who'll be 66 this year, isn't a Method actress for nothing. She threw herself so hard into her role in "The Order in Things," she wound up with a fairly serious back injury. Winters confessed she hurt herself in a fall - "I don't know how I. finished the picture." She did, and she pronounces the flick "the best movie I've ever done."

Q: I saw some revealing pictures of Jacqueline Bisset, and can't help wondering how she keeps her well-proportioned figure in such great shape. Does she do a lot of weightlifting? - A.R.

A: Weightlifting adds muscular Friday, May 20, 1988

bulk, and Jacqueline tells me that's not her scene. Slender femininity is the image she projects. Bisset's "secret" is actually quite simple, She diets a lot. At one fancy Hollywood dinner, Jackie confessed that she was on a juice diet - "I haven't had any solid food for a week." During the dinner, she didn't eat, she said, but "sucked the tomato sauce off the penne noodles," a delightful Italian dish.

Q: An article about unlikely singing combinations cited Julio Iglesias and Willie Nelson's recording of "To All-the Girls I've Loved Before" as one of the best - and oddest over. How did this disparate duo ever get together in the first place? - F.A.

A: Albert Hammond, the composer/ producer who conceived that hit, prides himself on his ability to "marry" diverse performers. When he paired the sexy Latin crooner with the charismatic country superstar for this chart-topping hit in 1984, it was the result of a five-year effort, a concerted push (no pun intended). "Julio and Willie had initially sung together in-Austin, Texas, the year before," Hammond told me, "and it was singing love at first sight. ... Though from different worlds, the one ingredient they shared was that each sang from the

Scott Bryce resumes Craig Montgomery role on 'World'

By JOHN N. GOUDAS

A year ago, "As the World Turns" lost one of its major characters when Scott Bryce decided he'd had enough of playing Craig Montgomery and wanted to test the waters in other areas, such as prime-time. Douglas Marland, the chief writer on the soap, knew that the fans would be devastated by Craig's leaving, so he con-cocted a plotline in which Craig disappeared somewhere in the Greek Is-Now, a year later, Craig Montgomery is back and Scott Bryce is playing him once again,

- Actually, Scott's return to the soan had been negotiated before he left. "Before I made the decision to leave." Scott said. "the producers worked out a deal which left it open for me to return to the show. We decided that a year would be the ideal time for me to do other things and see what the story was. I was very fortunate that this deal was made, because I knew that I was leaving a good role behind. It was hard for me to think that I would never put on Craig's shoes again."

Another major factor in Scott's decision to go to Hollywood was the concrete offer to play Jo's (Nancy McKeon) love interest in the popular prime-time sitcom "The Facts of Life."

"It was very interesting how that came about," Scott revealed. "Nancy McKeon evidently was a hig fan of As the World Turns' and spent her lunch hour watching the show almost every day. When she found out that she was going to have a boyfriend whom she would marry in the show's final weeks, she told the producers that I was the one to play the part.

The "Pacts" casting people got in touch with Scott and he was flown to Hollywood to test for the part, which he won, of course.

"Instinctively," he said, "I know not to go to Hollywood without a guarantee of work. There are too many actors who do that and end up lost in the shuffle. Casting agents in Hollywood don't know much about daytime.

Scott Bruce profits from hlatus from 'As the World Turns

When I was asked about my experience, I would mention my years on World - which earned me two Emmy Award nominations - and they would ask for something else. Then I would tell them about my current 'Facts' role and that would spark some interest "-

Scott said that the first day he came-back-to-"As-the-World Turns." he had perhaps half an bour of the a newcomer. That feeling disappeared, of course, as soon as the cast and crew started shouting "welcome

Scott is also excited about the plot possibilities involving Craig. Without divulging any big secrets, Scott said' Lindsay Frost, who plays Betsy in he will no longer be the nicest guy in "As The World Turns," is doing double the world. He hinted that Craig won't be neither all good nor all bad. The many traumas suffered by Craig will come home to roost in the next few weeks on the fine CBS soap,

When asked how long he is going to stay on the show, Scott merely smiled and said he didn't know. One thing he does know is that he would like to try his hand at filmmaking. His first venture in that area is a short film titled "TV Dad," which he produced and starred in with Annabelle Guritch. Scott also would like to find time to do more stage work. He last trod the boards with his dad, Ed Bryce (fans will remember him as Bill Bauer in "Guiding Light"), in a summer theater production of "Mass Appeal."

Scott Bryce's return to the role of Craig Montgomery in "As the World type of anxiety usually experienced by - Turns" will please a great number of viewers who have been anxiously waiting for a year to find out whether Craig was dead or alive.

Kid-TV watchdog group turns 20

NEW YORK (AP) - Jay Leno, Garrison Keillor, Jane Pauley and Shelley Duvall joined congressmen, network executives, Mickey Mouse and Mr. Rogers on Monday to celebrate the 20th anniversary of Action for Children's Television

The Massachusetts-based advocacy group was founded by Peggy Charren, a frequent visitor to Capitol Hill, where she testifies against commercialism and violence in children's programming.

"When we started in 1968, our goal was really to put ourselves out of business," said Charren. "We thought we'd make children's television so great, there would be no need for an advocacy group for children's-television. I actually thought we'd do it in two years."

Rep. Edward Markey, D-Mass., one of the participants in Monday's program, suggested that if Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis wins the
