Robbins ousts Callen in heated floterial race

Times News writer

TWIN FALLS — Rep. Gary Robbins nipped Rep. Jerry Callen Tuesday in the primary aimed at defining Republican politics in Magic Valley.

"I'm just glad I beat that SOB," Robbins said.
Unofficially, the moderate Robbins beat the jeonservative Callen by 206 votes out of 14,340 cast across the eight counties making up Callen's floating the season of the season of counties, just to challenge Callen valleywide. Those four base counties held for Robbins, and he also picked up his native Minidoka County.

"Yer. low turn-out." Robbins Said explaining his win in those counties. But he added, "I really think it came down to what we were talking about and knecking on doors to talk to people." Callendidn't win any county. He relied almost exclusively on advertising. Redman won Cassia County, where his favorite-son status as Albion native and president of Albion Telephone Co. was expected to draw conservative votes away from Callen. Redman Insided with 1,019 votes, to Callen $47 and Robbins' $24.

"Redman_nulled_enough_Callenvotes out of there, and that's what we wanted," Robbins said.

However, Robbins earlier predicted he'd need a 60-percent win in Twin Falls County, which finished a tossup. Robbins got 1,726 votes to Callen's

"Awful close," Robbins said. "I'm re-ially surprised that Twin Falls County went the way it did."

"Thad wonderful people working for me in Cassia, but I was a little concerned about my lack of time in Minidoka," she said. It is exciting. I was ready to lose, but I felt I had done all I could to win."

Bell garnered 3,279 votes to Marten's 2,133. No Democrats filed for the 24th District seat, so Bell will run unopposed in the general election.

Martens could not be reached for comment Tuesday night.

The two candidates did not differ significantly on issues, but Bell campaigned as a more aggressive voice in the Legislature. She is a longtime party worker, having served as precinct committeewoman, GOP women's chairman and county chairman for both Steve Symms and James McClure.

She has also worked many years for the Farm Bureau, including 11.

GOODING — Tom Morrison of Gooding has won the three-way race for the Republican title in District 22A.

Morrison outgunned his opponents by receiving not just a purality, but a slim 50.2 percent majority of the 4,017 votes cast:
He won 2,020 votes, while James G.

Martin of Hagerman received T,195 rotes and Billy Emerson of Gooding drew 802.

Martin had received the lion's share of area newspaper endorsement and appeared to be the one to beat, but Morrison finished first in all four-of the district's counties — Blaine, Cathas, Gooding and Lincoln.

"In just a novice at this," Morrison is aid Tuesday. But I, thought I had a good chance. It's very satisfying to have won all four counties.

Senate leaders join forces to limit debate on INF treaty

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — Senate leaders joined forces Tuesday to break a weeklong stall by conservative Republicants in order to lay the groundwork for Senate approval of the Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces (INF) Treaty before Sunday's opening of the superpower summit in Moscow.

In a rare and formidable display of unity, Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-WVa, and Minority Leader Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., met with President Reagan, then filed a debate-limiting cloture petition that could bring the treaty to a vote by Friday.

Givens wins right Watkins wins nomination in 2nd District to challenge Craig

BOISE (AP) — Despite her late entry into the race, Idaho state Rep. Jeanne Givens rolled up an impressive victory in Tuesday's three way Democratic congressional primary for the right to challenge four-tern Repablican Congressman Larry Craighths fall.

The two-term House member from Coeur d'Alene, who already was looking ahead to the fall campaign even before the polls opened for the lack-lister ballot, outpolled each of her challengers by almost three to one. With 81 percent of the 418 pre-cincts reporting, Mrs. Givens had 62 percent of the vote. Lewiston apartment manager David Shepherd had 22 percent and Bonners Perry attorney Bruce Robinson had 16 percent. Now the real work begins," Mrs. Givens said. "I'm going to take a few days off and rest my feet, and then I'm going to be working very, very Lard against Craig."

Craig, a staunch conservative who has won re-election the past two times by better than two-to-one margins, was unopposed on the Ropublican-liket.

Robinson pinned the campaign he began last fall on a proposal to construct an interstate highway through the rugged terrain between southwastern-idaho-and-Lewiston-in-thenorth. Mrs. Givens called that completely unrealistic, backing instead continued improvements to the current link of U.S. 95.

writer Lorayne Smith:

I would like the opportunity to address the problems of dealing with transients in the Twin Falls area. I transients in the I win Falls area. I think the Sunday morning article was an attempt by The Times-News to un-dermine the trust and confidence of Magic Valley residents in both church and volunteer organizations which ere falsely misrepresented. Lorsyne Smith stated in her article

"I started by calling my church for ad-vice etc. No one answered. The Salva-tion Army office was closed." It would be only natural for your readers to assume that: Lorayne a member of the Salvation Army That Lorayne called the Salvation

That Lorayne called the Salvation

The reality is quite different.
Lorayne is not a member of the Salvation Army. She did not call the Salvation Army. The Salvation Army was Lawren He is on call for emparancies. Lorayne. He is on call for emergencies through the Twin Falls Police departnent 24 hours a day.

Dealing with, and understanding not be accomplished by a writer in one week. There are a wide range of variables when dealing with the problems of transients. Each one of them is on the road because they have had problems somewhere else: Rather than face their problems at home, and work out solutions, they have chosen to run away. They soon are very dismayed to find that running away is not the lution. Twin Falls is just like the place they came from.

The problems, like a stray dog, keep coming back. The transient becomes bitter, homeless, destitute, and disillusioned.

Many hitchhikers or transients have criminal records for such things as rape, theft and battery. Some are mentally ill. Some have been abused.
Some are on drugs of some description. Ninety percent are habitual liars (my opinion). Let the public beware.

The transient comes into Twin Falls playing a lot of games. Some of them are murderers and robbers, as Usually, they want to get as much then move on. *

In order to do this, there is one very important ground rule. Pay attention.A transient must convince everyone that 'in one will help me,' I'went there and they turned me down."
Why, you ask, would they do this?
Simple. If they indicate to any one

rh that anoth

simple. If they indicate to any one agency or church that another place has helped them, they will get no further assistance. The transient wants to stockpile all the money, gas, etc. That he can get his hands on.

Because of the false information. That the can get his hands on. He can be suffered to the false information that transients always put out, churches get mad at other churches, pastors get mad at pastors, and organizations get mad at organizations, because they begin to feel that the others are not doing their job. This is a sad commentary. A little checking would turn up the truth very fast.

I wish the Salvation Army kept a log on all the excuses that they are told when dealing with transients. Bedon't ask far nay reasons, they just offer them. To hear their stories, they were very wealthy until a short period.

A Boise television station noted that married vets earning more than $26,389 would be cut.

Other news accounts included the threat that "those needing medical care may be cut, if those that can affort their own are are not cut."

VA officials do not deny sending out the information, but they insist that additional information provided the media would clarify the cuts and how the cuts were to be made. The additional material was not used.

the cuts were to be made. The additional material was not used.

To clarify the change in health care the Boise office of the Veterans Administration sent each veteran whose health care was to be terminated a letter that began: "Eligibility of veterans for VA treatment of a nonservice-connected disability is now determined by applicable income and net worth limits, under recently passed Public Law 99-272. Net worth indudes the net worth of the veteran, spouse and dependent children."

Two terms applicable income and net worth became the terms that determined who would be cut from health care.

VA officials explain it this way: "It is when your net income dose exceed your monthly expenses."

I then put it this way to the VA official: "If, for example, we had this vet who earned $12,000 a year from Social Security and some bank interest, lived in a shack, ate fat-back and beans, savel a few bucks at the end of the month, would he lyse his medical help?

Because of the publicity generated by the news media, the number of veterans seeking health care at the Boise facility is down. VA officials feel the publicity has scared many who would be eligible. It is suggested that veterans who have used the VA care facilities still keep appointments, and those seeking medical care inquire as to their individual standing. Category C veterans will have to pay $25 for each outpatient visit. While doing research on this recent VA benefit cut, I was provided information that showed many in the medical community and others would like to abolish Veterans Administration hospitals.

the best way to fulfill that commitment?

If we were really serious about it, we would see that each veteran would be provided with a health insurance policy that would allow him or her access to excellent medical cores: en expenditures of 150% over current VA hospital costs. If the commitment to veterans is there, the present system with an increase of about $3 billion would provide this uniformily excellent health care.

While doing research on this article I found many veterans who distrustant only the Veterane-Administration, but their own veterans organizations.

Administration, but their own veterans are appointed by a political process, much like the Idaho county service officers. This appointment process extends upwards from the county level to state and federal VA positions.

All owe their jobs to the politician in power and must reflect that position, and the veterans and veterans groups are left out of the decision-makin process.

The veterans groups according to some veterans are not blameless. One veteran pointed out that the national officers of the veterans groups are right-wing conservatives. He pointed out an article in a recent veterans magazine that devoted three pages to the vote on Contra aid, including a list of congressmen and senators who voted against the nid.

The veteran then reminded me that this same megazine did not list the senators and congressmen who voted to cut medical help for veterans. Another veteran who is a farmer noted that the veterans groups were much like the farm groups. They are more interested in selling insurance than helping!"

Support City of Rocks bill

After years of frustrated attempts to secure protective legislation for City of Rocks, there now exists a proposal which is satisfactory to all parties. Senate Bill 1335 provides this much needed protection through the creation of a National Reserve. Everyone involved -U.S. Forest Service, Bureau of Land Management, State of Idaho, Cassia County, private owners and Idaho citizens — voiced unanimous approval for the concept at a public hear-ing held by Senator McClure last year in Bur-

As a result, Senator McClure and Senator Symms co-sponsored the legislation and se-cured its passage in the Senate. The bill, how-ever, is now stalled in the House Subcommittee on National Parks and Recreation.

Some members of this subcommittee find the water right language in the bill unaccept-able. The questionable language does not in-sure an appropriated water right upon pas-sage, but rather states that the government sage, but rather states that the governmen will have to secure such rights through the proper state agency proper state agency.

Consequently, the forecast for the bill make ing it out of the subcommittee is less than fa vorable. Apparently, opposition stems from a fear of creating a precedent if allowed to pass.

The same water right language is also in-cluded in Senate Bill 1675 which would create a National Monument at the Hagerman Fossil Beds, and the same fate is predicted for this legislation.

Everyone knows that water is not the real issue at either of these areas. For all practica issue at either of these areas. For all practic ble purposes, there is nt any. Yet due to the perceived fears of creating a dangerous precedent, Idaho and the Nation is now confronted with the possibility of losing perhaps the list opportunity to preserve these National Treesures.

In addition to the tremendous cultural loss, failure will also have a profound potential economic effect on Idaho communities situated nearby. Passage would insure national recognition and most certainly generate much needed tourist dollars not only for towns in the immediate vicinity, but also for communities situated throughout Southern Idaho.

Read water meters monthly

I'm squalling like a mashed cat because I'm getting 'ripped off' by our Twin Falls City Water Department.

How Eng has It been since they have read your water meter? Mine has not been read for six months proroc unless the meter readers have x-ray eyes. The cover on my meter has had a pille-up of leaves and grass clippings on it since last summer, until I recently cleaned it out so that they could find it for the new summer coming up.

ut so that they could have to the new so-ner coming up.

Last November first, I was informed by a erson in the water office that it was necesperson in the water once that it was neces-sary to raise the amount of my water bill to cover an overuse of water through the 1987-summer months, due to the dry season. I was also told that this raise would only be for three months until the overuse was paid off, and to this I agreed. Evidently, this overcharge was plugged into months until the overuse was paid off, and to this I agreed.

Evidently, this overcharge was plugged into their computer, and apparently without any intention of changing it at the end of the three month period.

My water bill was increased from $24.57, the previous charge, to $40.93, which I have paid all through this past winter. The three assessed months passed by, followed by the fourth, fifth, sixth to the time of $242.88.

Consequently, I protested both April and May bills, first at the payment counter, then by a letter to both the water office and mayor's office, then in a phone conservation with the city water supervisor, with the resultant answer that I had been placed on "average" pay basis, and that they could not change my bill until next November first, when re-adjustments would be made.

When questioned as to the meaning of "average," I was told that it means the same as level pay, estimated on average use over a period of one year, and ohy est, my meter had been read for all of the months, except the three winter mioritis.

So, I am on "level pay" without my signature of authorization and without any assurance to ther than their meter reading sheet figures; that my meter which I also have to pay for the use of its being read, or on what basis my water bill is being computed. On top of that, I am now paying this ridiculous and exorbitant "average" rate on the basis of last full's overcharge, for the whole year of 1988, which is most unfair.

This has to be some kind of "scam" arrangement to gouge the citizens of Twin Falls in order, to compensate for the mismanagement of moneys for building a new swimming facility—for which our kids have been mixing for the three years since their pool in Harmon Park was demolished and the probability of another year still to wait. I do have a legitimate complaint in this regard as a result of the fact that I have friends and family members, two of whem have told me that they were on a winter rate of $4 plus per month with large yards, and at least four other families with dependent children who are paying from $17 to $18 for their water.

My wife and I are the only members of our household, (not even a dog), senior citizens on Social Security, and in no way, is it possible for us to use water in that amount.

us to use water in Inat amount.
Citizens of Twin Falls, let's have our meters read month by month and pay for our water as we use it so that we have some idea where our oney is going.

Issues seat-belt challenge ---

On May 38, 29, 30 our country will be ob-serving the All-American Buckle-Up. I would like to issue a challenge to the citizens of Twin-Falls to buckle up their safety belts, for one week, every time they ride in a car. As an insurance professional, I would like to see the residents of this community develop a likelang like-aging habit life-long, life-saving habit.

Since 1983 at least 7,500 lives have been saved as a result of increased use of seat belts saved as a result of increased use of seat belts and child seats. Wearing seat belts can indirectly save tax dollars, as a drop in traffic accident fatalities means less emergency medical service, less highway and road repair and ultimately, less taxes. Many insurance companies look at the overall number of traffic accident ook at the overall number of traine accident Intalities when setting auto insurance rates. By wearing seat belts and reducing fatalities, people can have an impact on those rates. Heveryanci in Twin Falls ware to accept the challenge offered by the All-American Buckle-Up, we could save even more lives. There is really no excuse for not wearing seat belts. If you think seat belts are uncomfortable, think of how uncomfortable you'll be going head-first through the windshield. If you think you're a careful driver and don't need a seat belt, think about the driver coming toward you. Do you trust that he or she is a careful driver, too? So, residents of Twin Falls, let's buckle-up. GRANT E. STARLEY

The bill, sponsored by Reps. Richard Stallings, D-Idaho, and Richard Cheney, R-Wyo., still must go to the Senate for consideration. 270 acres of forest land at the base of the ski hill in western ming.

Earlier this month, Osgood farmer Dick Hays received final approval from the Bonneville County Commission for his development, about four years after the proposal was first considered by the county's Planning and Zoning Commission.

Hays wants to build 66 summer homes and a nine-hole golf course on the riverside property near Heise. But South Fork Coalition spokesman Dennis Bitton said Tuesday he was confident the group's appeal would block the development.

An earlier district court ruling on the coalition's initial appeal, which said that the county gave preliminary approval to the Hays Ranch development in error, still applies, according to the coalition.

"We felt that the ruling of the district court was very specific," Bit-ton said.

The district court ruling said a planned unit development, such as Hays Ranch, could not be built on land zoned for agricultural grazing; South Fork Coalition attorney Tim Hopkins said.

That issue was not addressed by a later Idaho Supreme Court decision which allowed preliminary approval of Hays Ranch. Instead, the Supreme Court said only that it was premature for the South Fork Coalition to file an appeal in district court.

Public/private ethics at odds

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — When it comes to moral and ethical issues, Americans often — and incorrectly — invoke separate standards for private and public life, Seattle Archbishop Raymond Hunthausen said Monday night. Society's moral sense seems to fail "when we leave the sphere of private life and enter the social realm," he'told more than 500 people at the University of Montana, Hunthausen-was the third end final speaker on the opening day of the 1988 Mansfield Conference on ethics in government. He also said people should get involved in public life to oppose what they see as wrong.

"We mugt. Lully participate in public life," he said. "It is one thing to affirm human rights in action.

Hunthausen has withheld a portion of his federal income taxes to protest military spending, and his outspoken positions on such issues as the role of women and homosexuals in the Catholic Church prompted the Vatican to strip him of part of his authority in 1986.

His full authority over his diocese was restored last spring. Thomas Murphy of Montana was named co-adjutor archbishop to assist Hunthausen and eventually to succeed him.

Veto marks setback for labor

WASHINGTON (AT) — resident Reagan's trade bill veto Tuesday marks a setback in a 15-year cam-paign by labor unions to compel busi-ness to give employees notice of up-coming plant closings and large-scale

Like supporters of the measure, Reagan says plant-closings notification amounts to "the humane thing to do."

Jet engines quit; lands OK on grass

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A Taca International Airliner making an approach in nasty weather Tuesday lost power in both engines and made an emergency landing at an abandoned World War II airstrip six miles short of the airport, authorities said.

The plane was on its way from San Salvador and had made a stop at Belize. All 36 passengers and nine crew members acrambled unharmed from the plane to a nearby levee in a driving rainstorm.

The plane appeared undamaged.

Bourg could not say if weather was a factor in the plane's trouble. The plane landed behind the U.S. Department of Agriculture offices at the NASA complex.

Kathy Fernandez, a USDA employee, said she had stepped outside and saw the plane come down about 400 yards away.

"It was clean landing," she said. "It came down nice. Just fine. As soon as it landed, the door opened, the chute came down and the people came out and ran away from the plane."

"As soon as they got out, they just ran up the levee in the back. It started raining about five minutes after that. It really started to pour."

Coast Guard modifies 'zero tolerance'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legal questions have prompted the U.S. Coast. Guard to abandon efforts to seize expensive yachts in international waters after finding only small amounts of drugs, but officials insisted Tuesday that their enforcement has not softened inside U.S. territorial waters.

"The way the law is written, posses-sion of a controlled substance such as marijuana inside the 12-mile limit is against the law. However, if you're outside the 12-mile limit, there has to-be evidence that there's intent to import or export, "Peterson said.

Murphy said, "however, that if a small amount of an illegal drug is observed on a vessel on the high seas—the boat may be ordered within U.S. territorial waters for further search.

If it can be determined that the vessel was bound for the United Statese and bringin illegal drugs into the country—no matter what amount—the vssel may still be confiscated, the spokesmen indicated.

"What matters is where they've been, where they say they're going, what's written on the charats indicating where they're going... a wide variety of things, "Peterson said. Colleen Oceanor, a spokeswoman for the American Civil Liberties Union, said the new guidelines reflect a softening of administration, policy and likely stems from sharp critism of the zero tolerance program.

"The idea of seizing million-dollar yachts for small quantities of marijuana had nothing to do with what the administration intended for its war on crime," said Ms. O'Connor. "What this says to me is they have been, burned by their own publicity."

Officials take over schools

TRENTON N.J. (AP) - State offi-TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — State officials, began efforts Tuesday to take control of the troubled Jersey City schools, citing rampant political patronage, mismanaged schools and a chanic failure to educate the district's 32,000 students.

It is believed it would be the first time a state has taken over such a large urban district. Education Commissioner Saul Cooperman said his decision to seek control of the district, New Jersey's second-largest, is based on results of separate, yearlong investigations by independent auditors, and state officials.

"Political patronage, union pressure and cronyism is a consistent motivation, at all levels, in the hiring, firing and promoting of staff," Cooperman said in his formal notice of takeover plans.

The auditor's report cites "s state of managerial bankruptey" in the district and a "disorganized and dysfunctional" administration. Both reports were highly critical of the school district, from the local board of education and top level administrators to school principals.

Assistant Education Cordinissioner Walter McCarroll said the probes revealed an "overwhelming failure" by the district to provide an education to its largely poor, inner-city student population.

Cooperman concluded that district administrators were incapable of properly running the schools or fixing widespread problems.
If Cooperman's seizure of the district is successful; it would mark-the-first such takeover of such a large urban district, according to the National Governor's Association. Teachers weren't optimistic that state control would spell an end to the district's problems.

"We can't come back, but I guess we've got to try," Bogart said,
The investigator's findings have been referred to the state Division of Criminal Justice to determine if there have been any criminal actions.

Cooperman went to court Monday for an emergency order giving, him veto power over personnel and fiscal matters in the district. McCarroll said the action was taken to maintain the "status quo" as the takewer dispute is resolved. A hearing on the state's request for veto power is scheduled for June 7.

Cooperman's action, signed Monday, gives the district 10 days to accept the decision or reply.

Sailors capture man who hijacked Colombian jet with toy grenade

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Sailors searching a swamp near the airport in the seaside city of Cartagena on Tuesday captured shijacker who commandeered a jet across the Americas and demanded $100,000 and an audience with Mother Teresa.

The navy said Gonzalo Carreno Nietō was found hiding in mangroverobts about 300 yards from a Cartagena airport runway, still clutching the toy grenade he had used to hijack an Avianca airlines Boeing 727 on Monday morning while on a domestic flight from the drug capital of Medelin to Bogota.

Such is not the case with the president's summit advisers. He and they will confer in new or beefed-up "secure rooms" at the U.S. Embassy.

You should always assume that you're being watched and listened to, says almas I. Hooley, head of White. House advance arrangements when the president travels.

Precautions also are being taken at Spass House to protect the Reagans privacy. As part of that, "the president will be advised that there is a good chance he and the first lady will be overheard in their private rooms," Hooley says.

The White House decided not to swap the twin beds in the Reagans room for the king-sized one in the bed-room of Ambassador Jack Matleck and his wife, perhaps to put to rest, as it were, any opportunity for presidential bedtime stories. (Another king-sized bed slept in the Reagans' previous European trips made headlines last year when the White House shipped it all the way from Portugal

Almost three years later, 35 of these 36 couples have been reunited in a series of presummit gestures by the Soviets. Only one founding member of the coalition still awaits her spouse. Dr. Galina Vileshina, a neurologist who had to leave her husband behind-when-she-emigrated in-July 1980, is hoping the fourth Reagan-Gorbachev summit, starting Sunday, will bring an end to their separation. Almost immediately after the explosion was seen, physicists reported detecting the first pulses, of neutrinos (small particles that have no 'mass or charge and that can pass through the Earth unimpeded) ever seen from a supernova. The flow of neutrinos through the scientists' detectors provided confirmation of their theories about what eccurs when a massive star collapses into itself and dies.

Unfortunately, the supernova amost events that follow it can only be seen from the Southern Hemisphere,

According to astronomer Arlin Crotts of the University of Texas' Mc-Donald Observatory, the rings of lexas McDonald Observatory, the rings of light, seen as expanding ares, are brightest on one side of the supernova, probably because there is more material there to reflect the light. Crotts predicted that "the easternthe rings of ortion of the outer arc may fade in several months as it passes into re gions of lower density," regions where

INS plans to seek broader amnesty rules for families

WASHINGTON — Immigration officials, in a key shift in policy, Tuesday proposed issuing special visas to grant legal status to the spouses and children of illegal immigrants who applied for amnesty before the May 4 deadline. In draft legislation being circulated on Capitol Hill, the Immigration—and -Naturalization. Service-says it plans to ask Congress to broaden immigration rules to permit the legalization of family members who did not qualify for amnesty themselves under the one-year immigration program.

The new plan would reverse a policy, announced in October, that relatives of qualifying aliens could be deported with no special protection" despite their family ties. INS said at that time that children would be protected only if both their parents had received amnes-y.

INS spokesman Verne Jervis said the proposal does not mean the agency suddenly has gotten "a However, Rep. Howard L. Berman, D-Calliff, a member of the House Judiciary Committee's submomittee on immigration, called the proposal—'an excellent idea" that he believed Congress would accept in some form or another.

"I only wish our immigration of ficials had come forward with this during the period of applications for annesty. Berman said. 'I fear that some eligible applicants never came forward because of their concerns their families might be divided."

Contra peace plan includes U.S. aide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nicaragua's Contra rebels will offer to Iny down their arms on Sept. 1 as part of a comprehensive peace accord to be presented to the Nicaraguan government Wednesday, a congressional aide said Tuesday. Members of the rebels', political directorate, in meetings on Capitol Hill and at the State Department, also said they would not be the first to break a two-month cease-fire after it expires May 30, even if no new truce agreement is in effect.

An aide-to-House-Speaker Jim Wright, D-Texas, who was briefed on the Contra proposal, said Wright hoped the move was sincere and constructive. The aide, Wilson Morris, said the setting of a date for the rebels to lay down their arms, in particular, "appears to be progress."

The proposal will go beyond the cease-fire agreement reached two, $17.7 million in U.S. humanitarian months ago in Sapoa, Nicaragua, and include a timetable for specific political cardinages and the specific political peace agreement, Ceas said.

Few surprises result from Magic Valley primary vote

Jerome

JEROME - For Larry Gold, the second time proved to

JEROME — For Larry Gold, the second time proved to be the charm.

Bouncing back from an unsuccessful attempt to unseat longtime Jerome County Sheriff Elza Hall four years ago. Gold has won the Republican sheriff's nomination this time around. There are no Democrats running in November, making Gold a shoo-in as Jerome sheriff.

In Tuesday's primary election, Gold received 1,669 votes for the Republican nomination, while Hall received 864. With no one running on the Democratic ticket, Jerome now has a new sheriff.

In 1984, the battle between Gold and Hall was fought amid heated discussions and controversy. In a quieter conset this year, Gold, a former California detective, mounted a campaign to bring more "professionalism" to Jerome County-law enforcement. Hall, who has been sheriff since 1972, ran on his past record.

Other candidates on Tuesday's ballot in Jerome were uncontested. These include Prosecutor John Horgan, who received 1,877 votes; District 1 Commissioner John Spantauer Jr., a Democrat, who received 279 votes; District 1 Commissioner Verpnica Lierman, a Republican, who received 1,812 votes; and District 3 Commissioner Carl Montgomery, also a Republican, who received 1,884 votes.

Gooding

GOODING — Jim Finch challenged incumbent Robert Aja in the Gooding County sheriffs race with charges that the department could be run more efficiently. But that strategy didn't pay off as Aja defeated Finch 1461 votes to 987.

During the campaign Finch said Hagerman should have a resident deputy. Finch received his strongest support in that town, with 85 votes, but it still wasn't enough to beat Aja, who received 98 votes in Hagerman.

'In the county commissioners races, Republican Don Morrow received 1656 votes. He will face Democrat Dorrell Hansen for the District 1 seat during the November general-election. Hanson received .298 votes. during lastnight's primary.

'In District 3, Republican challenger Robert Muffley defeated incumbent Robert Thackeray for the commissioner's seat. Muffley received 1025 votes, Thackeray 744 votes and a third candidate, Mary Wofford, received 488 votes. That race was decided Tuesday as no Democrat had filed to challenge the Republican winner.

Prosecuting attorney Lynn Nelson ran uncontested and received 1641 votes.

A voter opinion survey regarding a Gooding city recreation district was not completed on Tuesday as previously planned. The county clerk was advised by the state attorney general's office that it was improper procedure to run an unofficial survey with the official ballet process, said im Museat, who oversees Gooding's Parks and Recreation Department.

Jim Muscat, who oversees Gooding's Parks and Recre-ation Department.

The survey, requested by the Gooding City Council, asks residents if they would be willing to form a new tax-ing district to support operation of a gymnasium and swimming pool on the Idaho State School for the Deaf and Blind campus.

Muscat said the survey would be conducted by mail dur-ing the first part of June.

Blaine

HAILEY - Blaine County will have a new assessor

next year.

In the race for county assessor, incumbent Jerry Elrod lost his position by a close margin to challenger and coworker Ted Uhrig. Uhrig received 454 votes while Elrod received 379 on the Democratic ticket. With no Republican challengers, Uhrig will likely win the November election as well.

Uhrig promised better customer service if elected.
In the race for county sheriff on the Republican ticket, incumbent Jerry "Walt" Femling received 960 votes to challenger Dan, Norton's 362-votes. In November Femling-will run against Democratic contender W. Eugene Farnworth, who pulled in 382 votes in this primary.

Femling, 31, has served as Blains County sheriff for the past 14 months and campaigned on his accomplishments in office.

In the Democratic race for the District 1 commissioner's sent, candidate Tom Blanchard of Bellevue received 389 votes, beating his two challengers from Carey Lee Eidenge came in second behind Blanchard with 253 votes, while Dennis A. Patterson received 172 votes.

Blanchard, a "publicy active person" who works in construction management and teaches history courses, said during his campaign he is willing to "speak out" on important issues which effect the county.

In November Blanchard will face incumbent Robert Gardner of Bellevue, who received 889 votes on the Republican ticket.

Cassia

BURLEY — Incumbent Cassia County Commissioner. Norman Dayley easily retained his post Tuesday, garnering over 71 percent of the votes.

With a light voter turnout, Dayley overcame fellow Republican challenger Gordon Edwards, a county weed supervisor.

County Clerk Frank Kearns said only 28 percent of registered voters participated in the election.
Dayley received 1,361 votes to Edwards 542.
Dayley: a lifelong Cassin County resident, served as president of the Idaho Association of Commissioners and Clerks for one year.
He was a member of the Idaho Association of Counties for two years and of the National Association of Counties for six.

Dayley also served on the Burley City Council for four

He is currently the manager for Descret Industries in Burley and Twin Falls.

In uncontested races, District 1 Commissioner Weldon
Beck received 1,805 votes; Sheriff Billy Crystal received
1,305 votes; and Prosecutor Stephen Bywater received 1,750 votes. All are Republicans.

Cassia approves 911 phone service

By BRAD BOWLIN Times News correspondent

BURLEY - Emergency help

BURLEY — Emergency help-will soon be only a telephone call away for Cassia County re-sidents.

With a 1,830 to 644 vote, Cas-sia voters approved the installa-tion of 911 service to provide quick access to emergency ser-tion of 911 service to provice quick access to emergency services.

The special election will allow county commissioners to add-a maximum $1 fee per month on telephone subscribers bills to pay for the system.

The county has long considered implementing a 911 system, but the $50,000 price tag for installation was too steep, according to County Sheriff Billy Crystal.

Hearings set on Idaho bill

WASHINGTON (AP) - The first congressional hearing has been scheduled on the Idaho wilderness legislation drafted by Republican Sen. James Mc-Clure and Democratic Gov. Ce-cil Andrus.

The Senate Energy Subcommittee on Public Lands, National Parks and Forests will take up the bill June 21, McClure, R-Idaho, announced Clure, R-Idaho, announced Tuesday. The committee is chaired by Sen. Dale Bumpers,

More than 400 witnesses testified in March at three Idaho field hearings on the McCluvel-Andrus proposal, which would set aside about 1.4 million acres as wilderness and designate about 600,000 more as special management areas.

"This hearing is the next step in the legislative process for our wilderness bill," McClure said Tuesday. "I hope that members of the subcommittee this legislation for what it is — an honest attempt by Gov. And drus and me to strike a compromise between the extremes on this important issue."

Idaho currently has more than 4 million acres of federally designated wilderness.

Pumping excess water was a joint decision

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Gov. Norm Bangerter says the decision to spend

Bangerter says the decision to spend $60 million to pump excess water from the swollen Great Salt Lake wasn't his decision alone, but he's willing to "stand up and be counted."

"I recommended it," Bangerter said in an interview published Tuesday in the Standard-Examiner. 'Al lot of people don't like to accept responsibilities for the decisions they make, but Norman Bangerter isn't one of those people."

Bangerter said that when the pro-ject was pushed through the Legisla-ture in 1986, it enjoyed wide political support. Lately, the governor has been criticized by his political foes for level of the lake, at the time its highest on record.

Damming the Bear River, which flows into the northeastern part of the Creat-Salt-Lake,—would—have cost-more than $100 million, he said.

The governor also dismissed the concept of inter-island diking, an idea favored by a number of Weber and Thavis County legislators.

"Inter-island diking was a multi-million-dollar program and it didn't do one thing to help the level of the Great Salt Lake," Bangerter said. They (supporters) used that as their excuse not to vote for it (pumping). The fact is, that was not an option. Inter-island diking does not control the level of the Great Salt Lake." Despite a year's pumping, the lake still overflows. Recently winds threw water over lanes of Interstate 80. The lake at 44,209.35 feet above sea level is still higher than it was in 1983. Bird refuges are still flooded. The Antelope Island causeway is still under water. "The problem hasn't prope awar.

"The problem hasn't gone away.
We've made good progress. Had we not pumped, the lake would be a foot higher," Bangerter said.

The project also has ensured safety to shoreline industries. AMAX Magnesium Corp. and the Southern Pacific Railroad would be out of business if the Great Salt Lake hadn't been pumped, he said.

But the decision to turn on the engines wasn't made to please indus-tries, he said.

NesSmith was joined in the homer derby by Bill Satterfield, whose tworun shot in the bottom of the first inning highlighted a four-run outburst that had the Eagles ahead all day. The third round-tripper came from shortstop Lance Leitner and ended a six-run seventh inning that put everyone at ease.

Because of the power display Otero staged Monday, no Eagles felt com-fortable until late. And CSI had a bit of luck to hold the Rattlers at bay.

In the second inning, Robb Arthur led off with a single against starter Kendal Bennett, who then threw three straight into the dirt against the dangerous Kevin Walker.

Probably because of the motel con-

CHICAGO (AP) — Greg Swindell became the major leagues' first ninegame winner Tuesday night, scattering seven hits in 8% innings as the Cleveland Indians defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-3.

cago White Sox 4-3.

Swindell, 9-1, who shut the White Sox out on two hits last Thursday, struck out eight and did not yield an earned run until Fred Manrique's two-run triple in the eighth inning.
Doug Jones came on for his ninth save after pinch hitter Harold Baines singled with one out in the ninth.

It was the Indians' 11th victory in their last 14 games while the White Sox lost for the eighth time in nine comes.

Chicago needed three Cleveland ergrors-to-score its first run in the first inning. Shortstop Jay Bell and second baseman Julio Franco committed throwing errors, putting runners at first and third with one out. Jwan Calderon popped out but Dave Gallagher scored when third baseman Brook Jacoby booted Russ Morman's grounder.

Cleveland tied—the game in the third when Franco extended his hitting streak to 13 games with a single off Dave Lafenin, 4-3; took second on a groundout and scored on Joe Carter's single.

Barbecue sensation

Outdoor feast includes fish steaks, almond torte

Than's something exciting about eating outdoors. Perhaps it's the change of somery — the break in our indoor eating routine that whels our appetite. Or maybe it's the change in our cooking routine, and the wonderful aromas and llavors that result when food is cooked over hot coals. It could even be the change of pace that happens when family and triends gather to enjoy a meal in the relaxed atmosphere of the bekeying table.

The main dish for this benbecue feast is grilled fish; steaks. The cook can choose from three different kinds of fish steaks. The cook can choose from three different kinds of fish steaks. ## Cool treats relieve sweltering days

Try homemade ice cream

TWIN FALLS - Verna Marie Ray-TWIN FALLS — Verna Marie Kay:
mond is not sure yet what she and her husband, Roy, and their 8-year-old daughter, Emily, will be doing on Memorial Day. In the past, the long weekend has meant festive backyard picnies that almost always included an old-fashioned treat — homemade ive green.

The recipe Raymond uses is a family favorite, from her childhood days spent on a farm in the mountains of western Montana. She says they used to make it in the early spring, while there was still ice on the creek that ran by their home.

ran by their home. "Dad would go down and get the ice and put it in if gunny sack, and with the flat side of an ax, he'd chop it all up real fine, and we'd add salt, and everybody would take a turn cranking the ice cream maker. I'm sure the adults didn't feel that way, but the iddidn't in the flat to way fur to turn that crank, and see who would be turning it when it was ready," she says.

VANILLA ICE CREAM
Makes about ½ gallon
The day before the ice cream is made, combine in a saucepan:
5 eggs

Raymond makes this ice cream ahead of time for picnics, and also

34 cup sugar a pinch of salt 2 tablespoons cornstarch. 4 cups milk Cool until somewhat thickened. Refrigerate overnight. The next day, put mixture into blender and blend until it is nice and smooth. Then addi: 134 quaries of half and half 1 pint of whipping cream 1-ounce or 2 tablespoons pure vanilla (be sure it's pure vanilla). Put mixture into ice cream freezer and make according to your machine's directions. Mix until the motor sounds like it is working hard and is getting hard to turn—a sign that the ice cream is getting hard. If using a hand cranked ice cream maker, just keep turning until it gets very hard to turn. This will melt quicker than the commercial varieties, so it should not be left out of the refrigerator for long. It will keep for about a month in the freezer. CHOCOLATE CAKE

Cake for birthday lightens the party

It must be terribly hard to explain the events of this past week in Winnetka, Ill. to those little chit, dren that survived the ordeal. It's hard enough to explain to a college student. Our youngest daughter was a "mother's helper" in that very neighborhood last summer, but we have of the tragedy as we were getting her ready for this summer's job on Long Island. Later that night she called her former boss. The family was devastated. The boy that had been killed was the best friend of one of her former charges.

Yes, she knew him.

She's going ahead with her plans as we want her to, but she's so much more aware now of that fragile tie—the one that parents everywhere know.

Now she knows why parents al-ways say, "be careful" and "wear your coat" and why we cross our lingers for them and say prayers as they start school, learn to drive— and fimally leave home. It's been a long, long weekend. I had forgotten how frantic life could be with the house full of kids.

Nancy Joy Jones Valley cooking

How on earth did I ever do it all the time?

Our eldest son graduated from college, eldest daughter left for a few months job in England, youngest son was home briefly so he could have all his wisdom teeth pulled. Then he flew off to a summer job on the East Coast. Now youngest daughter is off for a summer in the Hamptons on Long Island as a "summer girl."

In between times we managed to have a family birthday dinner.

Of course the honored one was the one who had had dental surgery, so we all ate for him.

One great tradition my mominalw started years ago was our family's birthday cake.

It's different enough to be distinctive, but not too difficult to make. It tastes great and can be

Pierogi filling

This filling for Bob Sojk's pierogi recipe was left out of the May 11 food section. The Times-News regrets the inconvience we may have caused to Magic Valley cooks.

PIRROGI RILLING

To one (16-ounce) container of dry cottage cheese (smaller curd is preferable) add:

1 egg ¼ teaspoon of vanilla flavoring 1/4 teaspoon salt 1/4 teaspoon lemon pepper

2 heaping tablespoons brown sugar.

Mix and then taste, to see if it needs a little more of one or more of the ingredients.

After removing the pierogi from the boiling water, and draining them, fry briefly in butter or margarine for 1-2 minutes, ustil they take on a glaze.

To soak up excess butter, prink the bread crumbs, as a cassetold dish and place the pierogi on the drumbs, are they are removed from the frying-pan, and, cover them with more crumbs.

• Grill fish steaks or fillets over a moderately hot fire, about 4- to 6inches above heat. Oil the grill well before cooking fish.

• For fragile fish, use a hinged fish basket or place fish on aluminum foil which has been greased or coated with a non-stick spray; poke a few holes in the foil to allow the flavor to penetrate.

• Do not overcook seafood; cook about 10 minutes per inch of thickness. Baste frequently; turn halfway

Avocado information

Avocados are available all year.
Winter varieties are available from November to March, Hass from January to November. Winter avocados have a smooth, thin skin; Hass avocados have a thick pebbly skin.

When purchasing avocados, select either ripe fruit (which yields to gentle-pressure when squeezed), or fruit that is firm, and let it ripen in a fruit bowl at room temperature. In addition to getting soft, Hass avocados show their ripness by changing color from green to purple-black.

Two-Bean Rice Salad boasts lively, full flavors with an eye toward nutrition

Week's salads on light side

The Times-News will feature a salad of the week throughout the summer. If you have a cool salad recipe you would like to share for the warm days ahead, send that recipe to: The Times-News, "Salad of the Week," Box 548, Twin Falls, Idaho 83303.

5-48, I win Falls, idaho 83303.

There are no limits to the number or kinds of salads you may submit, just be, sure to include your name and address with each recipe. (Photos are not needed.) This is not a contest, recipes will be selected for variety and used as space permits.

This week, here are two salads recipes we received from Quaker

Two-Bean Rice Salad teams rice and crunchy vegetables with conve-nient canned kidney beans and pork and beans. High in fiber and protein, the beans provide satisfy-ing flavor and texture. Toss the col-orful salad with Italian dressing and chill thoroughly to allow flavors to blend. Curried Barley Chicken Salad combines traditional curry condi-ments — peanuts, apple, green on-ions and raisins — with barley and chicken for a refreshing warm-weather entree. The tangy dress-ing blends yogurt, curry powder honey and lime juice for a bright, fresh flavor.

USDA tells us we are eating differently

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mix of foods consumed by Americans has changed dramatically since 1970, but some of those changes have been inconsistent, an Agriculture Department report said last week.

Of all the meat consumed in 1986, two-thirds was red meat, mostly beef, pork and lamb, compared with three-fourths in the early 1970s.

"Instead, we ate more poultry, fish

"Instead, we ate more poultry, fish grains and cereal products," the report said. "We also cut back on whole milk, while consuming more lew-fatmilk and yourt. Fresh fruit and vegetable consumption rose as well."

But the report added: "While there was a general shift toward foods perceived as low in fat or calories, our cheese consumption increased during the period. In addition, consumption rose for fats and oils, frozen potatoes, and corm sweeteners and soft drinks."

And families ate fewer eggs and fresh potatoes and drank less coffee during the 16-year period.

Overall, the changes in consumer habits were attributed to higher incomes, new food production and marketing techniques, and changes in lifestyles.

The report was prepared by a team in the department's Economic Research Service and was included in the agency's quarterly National Food Review.

Review.

In the early 1970s, the report said, Americans ate an average of 151 pounds of red meat annually on a percapita-basis, and about 49-pounds of poultry. In 1985, red meat dropped to 140 pounds while poultry averaged 72 pounds.

"Poultry's rise—stemmed—largely-from retail prices that remained well below those for red meats, primarily because of savings passed on from the farm and processing levels," the report said.

Soooo, they've finally done it

The Washington Post

First came the diet, then came the microwave. Now there's "Microwave Diet," by Marcia Cone and Thelma Snyder, pairing two of the faster-growing obsessions to hit prime time.

Laced throughout "Microwave Diet," is the usual magazine-type diet newe that dieters, no matter if they know the exact number of calories—that-hide-in-a-half-clove-of-garlic,-still—love to examine.

Hot tips include: Drink lots of water, exercise, start your meal with a soup. Also included are calorie-burning charts and pep talks. The book's real forte, however, lies in its 72 menus, which take an average of 20 to 30 minutes to prepare, and the almost four times as many recipes they comprise.

30 minutes to prepare, and the almost four times as many recipes they comprise.

Microwaves, says Snyder, do what dieters crave: Cook with less fat and in less time, allowing the dieter to get out of the kitchen faster and, out of temptation's reach. And while the menus are designed to make four servings, most also have been pared down to one or two for that typical dieter, the single cook.

The key, says Snyder, is to get the meal from oven to table in a short time "so you're not tempted to eat a candy bar while waiting."

"I work long hours, too, and I know that when I get home, I don't want to wait. All I want is paste and I want it quick. It's the only thing that's going to make me happy." Using just a bit of pasts smothered with vegetables from the microwave satisfies her hunger quickly and healthfully.

Because nothing sticks in the pan in a microwave, says Snyder, you can use less fat. "Instead you add what's in season to enhance the flavors. Either fresh herbs, hot peppers (which she says raise your metabolism by 25 percent) or lemon juice."

When using lemon juice, for example, she slices off the rinds and adds them to a dessert for extra flavor without extra sugar. A bit of strong olive oil is useful, she notes, to impart a rich flavor.

When Snyder makes pasta primavare a dish that can be laden with butive oil is useful, she notes, to impart a rich flavor.

When Snyder makes pasta primavera, a dish that can be laden with butter and cream, she substitutes skim milk and a teaspoon of olive oil. "When I serve it to friends, they don't know that they're not eating the higher calorie pasta."

Each menu is paired with a plan of action-to-lep the reader prepare the stages of cooking. "We found that with our other book (Mastering Microwave Cooking"), they still wanted to know the steps to how to make a meal, "saya Snyder.

So the authors added notes on how to get the whole meal on the table not toget the whole meal on the table not toget the whole meal on the table not toget the whole meal on the table not

Snyder says. "Or we might start a recipie with the microwave and end with grilling. We're teaching how to use the oven to get the most out of it."

Snyder, "who's-been-cooking with a microwave for '16 years, is a home economist whose first job was with Litton Microwaves. Ideas for the first book came out of the classes they taught about microwave cooking. "We found the biggest problem was underconfidence."

"We wrote 'Microwave Diet' because after tasting all those recipes for the first book we wanted to keep the ease of cooking and the second problem was underconfidence."

Try this barbecue variation

The long but days of summer are fast approaching. What better time to break out the grill, call up some friends and celebrate the season with a barbecue.

For a new twist to everyone's favorite steak, try Savory Grilled Tournedos. Just prepare the sauce — a blend of steak sauce, ketchup, marmalade, lemon juice and seasonings — and brush on the bacon wrapped steaks as you're grilling.

Grilled Onion-Cheese Bread is the perfect accompaniment. Spread Italian bread with a mixture of cheese, steak sauce, scallions, margarine and basil. Place foil wrapped bread on the grill for 20 minutes or until heated. Toss a salad and let the party begin.

What a mess! I bought a German electric coffee grinder and ground my own beans. I bought one of those single-cup filter things and dripped the boiling water through drop by drop; Chinese water-torure style. I bought Spanish beans, Mexican jumping beans, Hawaiian beans, French roast. But nothing came close to the humblest, stand-up cafes of Key West, Madrid or Paris. Then a year ago I spent some times.

Then a year ago I spent some time in Australia, fully expecting the people there to have all the culinary sophistication of their forebears from Great Britain. You know, mushy greypeas, corn flakes with dehydrated milk...

But it turns out the little town of

From githoed days on, most brides dream of a multi-tiered wedding cake with ethereal grandeur. However, for the novice home baker who generously offers to execute the ambitious project of baking such a cake, perfection is often elusive.

True, they asy, doi:typurself is chicnowadays — but, to bake a wedding might well quickly be dismissed at the sight of a traditional creation in abakery showcase. But, they also say that today anything goes in weddingcakes. Aha, does that mean that classic rules can be broken? If so, that would make life easier and more rewarding for the preparer.

Let's start with the cake itself. In carrot-nut cake, whatever the brace or groom desires.

How about a black and white cake? Zella Junkin, consumer affairs manager of Wilton Enterprises, seys that this is no longer a shocking request for the cake decorntors at the Wilton Bakeries in Chicago. We get orders to make black and white cakes decorated with black roses and baby's breath, eshe-said.—Althoughthe general frosting preference is still white, white icing is being accented with mauve or rose, peach, lavender or whatever colors they (brides) want in their dresses, Junkin continued.

Wishes are being fulfilled in table tops adorned with decorations ranging in from iridescent glitz to nostalgic lace. The ultimate wedding cake will have a cascade of Inowers — either butter-cream drop icing Inowers or sugar pastillages of orthos and orange blossoms. By far, the most beautiful cover-ups (this, really makes life easier for the cake baker) are clusters of fresh, fresh flowers or silk flowers (only those with an aura of class, please), enhanced with sain ribbon loops, poufs of fine nylon tulle or lace. Fresh roses are often chosen, from casual older blooms to perfect buds, from pastells to bright red, all seem-

Plan ahead to cater

your own wedding

When Heather Augustine decided to cater her own wedding, it was a matter of dollars and cents.

The 21-year-old bride-to-be had trimmed her guest list to 500 and, allowing $20 per person (an estimated cost of a hotel reception for dinner and room rental only), she figured her expenses would be an amount usually reserved for a down payment on a home. There was no one she could eliminate from the list. She would just have to hope everyone invited wouldn't attend.

What now! she thought.

She had, on occasion, helped out as a waitress at a friend's catering business. And, there were those lavish parties she used to give for friends and relatives on Christmas and the Fourth of July. But carrying around trays of hors d'oeuvres and Champagne or making nibbles to serve party-gene could not compare to the massive wedding reception undertaking she had committed to on this occasion. How did she finally manage to feed 1,000 hungry wedding reception guests? Well, she was, in fact, so successful that she started herown catering business, the Rolling Gourmet, which accommodates overything from intimate Champagne dinners for two children's parties in the park, major sporting events in Los Angeles.

In talking about her own reception, she disclosed a few of the problems in catering your own wedding, including: professional servers vs. friends and relatives; the costs – having to pay retail prices for ingredients because food companies often refuse to sell wholesale to persons without a license; rental vs. home equipment – trying to accommodate a large number of péople with borrowed dishes; and taste vs. time – making foods so far in advance to save time that they—have a frest-bitten taste.

In addition, she offered the following suggestions for those who do want to propare the food for their own wedding reception.

In addition, she offered the following suggestions for those who do want to prepare the food for their own wedding reception.

—Avoid hors d'oeuvres and finger sandwich foods because they are too tedious; Opt for bulky things that will satisfy.

—Always have a buffet with servers to control portions. Never have passed hors d'œuvres, French service or a sit-down dinner, not with that many people.

—Bervers can be friends or relatives but only if they are reliable. Professional servers are salaried so their job is to serve the portions you request. This is more economical because portion control saves money.

Rather than becoming a stressful project, preparing a modern wedding cake could turn into pleasure for bakers. "They should allow themselves plenty of time to bake the cake ahead, plenty of time to bake the cake ahead, or even freeze the cake itself," Junkin advised. Instead of freezing, the cake layers could be be prepared about two days in advance, put together with butter-cream icing or other nonspoil filling and covered with a crumb-sealing coating of warmed jelly or buttercream frosting.
"Planning is the big thing, so they (home bakers) have everything they need. Beginners should choose a simple design and practice using the pastry bag on an upside down pan," Junkin said.

ple design and present pastry bag on an upside down pan," Junkin said.

Making the layers stable in a tiered cake-is a structural engineering feat-in itself. Although there are pillars and dowel kita available, the brightest new solution from Wilton is the Floating Tiers Cake Stand Set ($59.99) The contemporary stand consists of a sturdy metal rod that fits at the edge of the cakes rather than through the center and fiolds tree round racks for the smooth-edged separator plates. It gives you a lot of flexibility in the type of cake, in transporting, assembly of the layers, as well as in cutting the serving pieces. Here are some more tips on preparing a successful tiered wedding cake: When using fresh flowers, it is a good idea to talk with the bride florist to find out what kind of flowers you want to use on the cake that would either match or provide pleasing contrast to the bridal bouquets or centerpieces. Aside from roses, other beautiful examples include orchids, stephanotis, passies, hyacinths, stephanotis, passies, hyacinths, lemon or orange biossoms and leaves, white or lavender lilacs, tiny tulps, fresias, baby's breath. In any case, al-ways check to be sure none is poisonous. Clusters of flowers and greens must be chosen as carefully as possible, eliminating dead petals. Soaking in ice water overnight can also prolong floral freshness. The drained sprigs should be added at the very last minute at the reception:

—The table-used-to-hold-the-wedding-cake could have a table-leith with the same tones or type of materials used in the bridal gown or veil. Ribbon metifs can be carried through the cake as well as the cake table.

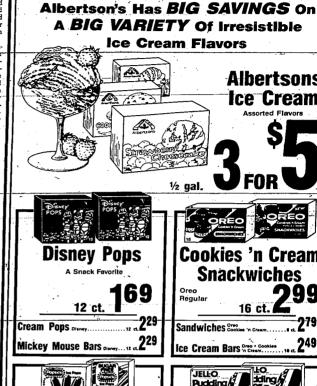

The wedding cake is sometimes placed at the center of a bridal table, but generally it is placed on its own separate little table that is away from the banquet food (if served buffet style).

Avoid brown paper bags for turkeys By JOAN DRAKE The Los Angeles Times

Q: Would you please set me straight? I have heard so much negauve-information-on-cooking turkeys in brown paper bags. Is there anything wrong with doing this? I've done so for many years.

A: Although once a very popular method, we no longer recommend cooking turkeys in brown paper bags. Many brown paper bags today are made from recycled paper and may contain chemicals that could be toxic. Also, this method of cooking was determined to be a fire hazard.

Bulbs may be out of sight, but now's the time to check 'em

Did your tulips, daffodils and other pring bulbs bloom well this year? Or asybe the shrubs have grown over hem. Now is a good time to dig and

After three or four years in the same location, flower bulbs multiply until they are too crowded. Then they produce fewer and fewer flowers. If they are planted where shrubs and trees shade them heavily, they also do not bloom well.

Spring blooming bulbs can be moved as soon as the leaves become mostly brown. The green leaves are producing next year's bulbs. However, as soon as they are more than half brown, they can be dug. Simply dig them up, cut the tops off and replant-tor if you prefer, they can be stored in a cool place for awhile before replant-

When replanting bulbs, leave a space equal to or greater then the bulb diameter between bulbs. Greater spacing will give them growing room. If you do not need to move your bulbs, but would simply like something coloriful in their place, plant annual flowers right on top of them, just wait until the leaves are more than half brown, then pull them out. Annual flowers have shallow enough roots that they will be above the bulbs.

There are several summer flowering bulbs which can be planted now. The two best dapted to our climate are gladiolus and lily. Lilies can also be planted in the fall. ## Remodeling means planning

By DOU DOLNAM
Newsday
I still don't have a perfect definition of what I, let alone the normal homeowner, can handle successfully. I know people who are all thumbs when it comes to screwing in a lightbulb. I know others who have hung doors, from scratch, the first time out.

Time isn't a major factor. It can take forever to strip paint from a staircase and banister, but there is very little that can go wrong. On the other hand, I stay away from jobs that require hands-on training for success.

It goes without saying that major jobs should be filed with the local building department and inspected. Building departments are accustomed to coping with the heavy-duty home-improvement buff.

Electrical work

There is little that can go wrong if you are changing or modifying anything that can be turned off from a single circuit breaker or fuse. (Provided, of course, that you turn off the circuit. If you don't know what a circuit breaker is, you shouldn't be changing anything.)

This includes replacing light fixtures, switches, and outlets, and mi-nor modifications of existing circuits, adding, for example, a new ceiling box a few feet from the old one.

Adding a branch circuit to an existing service panel is somewhat dicier. Fre done it; I know lots of others who have done it, but most people should leave this to an electrician.

Plumbing

As with wiring, the key here is shether you can isolate the job so that the rest of your-plumbing-will continue to function even if you make mistake. In other words, if you have turn off the house main, or intertut all sewage service, you'd be advised to call a plumber.

rised to call a plumber.

Thus, easy stuff consists of replacing faucets, sinks or toilets, adding faucets, sinks or toilets, adding fautdoor spigots, moving or adding supply lines. In fact, rebuilding an endire bathroom is not out of the question, provided you don't alter the location of fixtures. On the other hand, poving the toilet six inches to the left takes us into a new realm of omplexity, to whit, drain lines.

Alterations to drain lines about a bathroom of the complexity is the control of the complexity of the complexity of the complexity is the control of the complexity of the complexity is the control of the complexity of t

Alterations to drain lines should be anterations to drain lines should be approached gingerly. Sizes, locations and venting requirements are not self-evident, and you can set yourself up for long-term problems by putting in a drain incorrectly. For example, if you merely extend an exisiting kitchen sink drain by, say, 10 feet, you'll probably develop chronic clogs after a couple of months.

The type of drain line also influences the ease of the work. Plastic drain lines are the simplest to work with, followed closely by copper. Cast iron, required by code in many municipalities, is distinctly difficult to work with a wear of the control of the con ipalities, is distinctly difficult to work with, even if you rent the specialized cutting equipment needed.

Rough carpentry

Broadly speaking, you can divide rough carpentry into two paris: structural, which you probably should ayoid, and cosmetic. This is analogous to our plumbing and wiring recompandations: Structural alterations, incorrectly performed, can destroy a jouse; cosmetic ones that seem similar can't go too far wrong.

ar can't go too far wrong.

A couple of examples: Some interior walls are load bearing, i.e. they support the upper floors or roof of a bouse; others (partition walls) merely divide space and support no weight. The latter can be ripped out with imfunity; the former must be temporarily braced, and permanent reinforcement must be added after they are removed. A good rule of thumb is a paraphrase of the old saw about the price of yachts: If you have to ask what a bearing wall is, you can't afford to tear it down.

Similler considerations, persin to Similar considerations pertain to windows and doors. These openings in the outside walls of houses must be reinforced at the top with lead-bear-ing headers. By using the existing header, you can make a window precautions. If you plan to enlarge a smaller, you can make a window tall-window, or more it, or put a door er, (adding to the bottom, not the top) where none now exist, you'd better or even add a door without special

THE ACES ON BRIDGE® BOBBY WOLFF

In literature as in love, we are as-onished at what is chosen by - Andre Maurois.

In today's slam, declarer can take a heart finesse first or a club finesse, and if one finesse fails, he may have to fall back on the other. Which finesse should come first? Durmry's diamond ace wins, the trump king drops the outstanding trumps and South contemplates a finesse in either hearts or clubs. Is there any advantage to choosing one finesse over the other?—South-should choose the finesse—that gives him any additional chance, however small. If he_chooses the heart finesse first, West wins and exits safely with a heart. South has no recourse but to try the club finesse, and the net result is one down.

South has no recourse out to try unclub finesse, and the net result is one down.

Where's the additional chance in clubs? When the club finesse loses, West exits safely in diamonds and dummy's king wins. Declarer leads a club back to his ace and enters dummy with a trump to ruff a club in his hand. Luck is with, South as West's club jack drops, and there is no longer any need for the heart finesse. The heart queen goes on dummy's good to of clubs.

The satisfies of the complete of the club in easily south the satisfies of the club in the satisfies of the complete of the club in the satisfies of the club.
