Idaho faces tax increase or spending cut

The Associated Press

BOISE — The euphoria over the state's first substantial budget surplus in years has camouflaged the spectre of a massive tax increase or severe spending cuts in the post-election 1989 legislative session.

Although the state treasury opened this month with an unexpected windfall of nearly $12 million, current demands will evaporate the extra cash before lawmakers even start making decisions on the new budget they will write this winter.

A feared $4 million shortage in financing for Medicaid and Medicare benefits, $2 million to open the new state prison and reimburse counties for holding state inmates until cell space is available and repayment of $2.5 million siphoned from other state accounts along with nearly $3 million just to put the current budget in balance will wipe out the surplus.

So even with the state's economic growth as robust as recent statistics show, new Legislative Budget Office projections for meeting just basic state spending needs in the 1990 budget year show revenue from the current tax structure falling $40 million short.

The gap would grow by tens of millions of dollars more if lawmakers approve new spending programs as they usually do and make the kind of financial commitment to schools that Senate President Pro Tem James Risch, R-Boise, has suggested.

With the sales tax already at what most believe is a maximum level and GOP leaders hanging firmly onto a $15 million investment credit business tax break, the revenue gap could become politically explosive, both during the fall campaign and the session after it.

It can create the kind of situation that could either paralyze the Legislature because lawmakers fear public retribution for another major tax increase or open the gates for major tax revisions like those contemplated by some legislators when a special interim committee on the state's tax structure went to work this summer.

When the prospect for a revenue surplus surfaced two months ago, a number of official, including Republican House Speaker Tom Boyd and Democratic Gov. Cecil Andrus, suggested caution before spending any windfall because of the budget crisis looming in 1990.

After more than a month of debate over whether the cash should be quickly given to education, an area Andrus and others believed was short-terminated last winter, the decision was effectively made to hold on to the surplus at least for a while to see how the economy develops.

Boost in sugar quota brings positive reaction

By The Associated Press and The Times-News

WASHINGTON — The government announced Friday that lower U.S. sugar production, partly due to the drought, has prompted a 40 percent increase in the quota of sugar it will buy from other countries this year.

The action brought immediate praise from sugar users who have been complaining about increased U.S. sugar prices and reduced supplies.

Sugarbeet growers and processors also saw the increase as positive — for keeping sugar program opponents at bay.

"It shows that the sugar program this administration says doesn't work, does work," said Alan Lipman, president of Amalgamated Sugar Co. in Salt Lake City.

The large boost in the 1988 sugar quota, which had been the lowest in 113 years, also re-allocates sugar that would have been bought from Panama before all trade with that country was cut off.

Agriculture Secretary Richard E. Lyng, who has advocated a scrapping of the program that keeps U.S. sugar prices higher than those on the world market, said the increase was necessary because of unexpected trims in U.S. production, including the likely effects of the drought on sugar beet yields.

The country will buy 300,000 short tons of sugar in addition to the previously announced quota of 757,887 short tons.

The low sugar quotas announced last December had brought criticism from U.S. sugar users who anticipated difficulty getting enough sugar. The Agriculture Department had said the lower quotas were justified because of decreased consumption with Americans using more artificial and other natural sweeteners.

The United States buys sugar under the quota system at the same price it pays U.S. producers, about 23 cents a pound, up from 18 cents earlier this year. The current world market price is approaching 15 cents a pound after dipping to around 6 cents.

"I really figured that they would increase the quota some," said Henry Sievers, president of the Twin Falls County Sugar

Stover enters pleas of guilty to 2nd degree murder charges

By The Times-News and Associated Press

BOISE — Former Twin Falls elementary school principal William Murray Stover pleaded guilty Friday to three counts of second-degree murder in the shotgun slayings of his wife and two daughters last fall.

The guilty pleas, entered before 4th District Judge Alan Schwartzman, were the result of an agreement with prosecutors, who dropped three counts of first-degree murder and additional charges of using a firearm in the commission of a felony.

Stover, looking thin and wan, read the three individual charges of murdering his wife and daughters, his voice seeming to waver as he quietly said, "Guilty," to each count.

He said he was taking anti-de-

Sentencing hearing in September. Stover, wearing a dark suit and glasses, is looking towards the camera. He is seated at a table with a microphone in front of him.

The pleas brought to a conclusion the first stage of what everybody involved called an emotionally wrenching case.

"I've been a prosecutor for 25 years and I've handled several homicide cases," said Deputy Prosecutor Jay Rosenthal. "From a human point of view, this has been awesomely difficult for me, because I've had to deal with the immediate needs of remaining family members. That's a balancing act which is tough."

"Murder cases traditionally are very easy when you have had people doing bad acts, but when you have a good person doing a bad act, it becomes incalculably difficult from a human standpoint," Rosenthal said.

"It's been an extremely difficult case from every perspective, legally, factually, emotionally."

Farm Belt drought has little effect on consumer prices in June

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Consumer prices rose at a moderate annual rate of 4.2 percent in June, with the effects of the Farm Belt drought showing up clearly only in poultry and egg prices.

The Labor Department said Friday retail prices overall rose just 0.5 percent last month, the same as in May. Food prices' rises held to a 0.6 percent gain despite the biggest surge in poultry and egg prices since August 1986, when the nation was in the midst of the another drought.

Offsetting increases on grocery shelves were a 0.2 percent decline in energy prices and a 0.3 percent drop in clothing costs.

"To say the report is good news, it clearly shows that inflation is not getting out of hand. It has accelerated over the last year or so, but very gradually and very unevenly," said Lawrence Chimering, chairman of the Wofa Group, a Bala Cynwyd, Pa., forecasting firm.

The 0.3 percent seasonally adjusted gain in the Consumer Price Index left the annualized inflation rate for the first half of 1988 at 4.3 percent, the same

Uncle Sam's red ink isn't as deep

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — A surge in quarterly income tax payments by businesses and individuals gave the federal government a rare $9.5 billion surplus in June, pushing the cumulative red ink for the first nine months of the fiscal year to below last year's levels, the government said Friday.

The Treasury Department said federal spending last month totaled $89.9 billion, a 7.7 percent increase over June 1987. However, receipts surged 19.8 percent above last year's level to $99.3 billion.

It was only the third surplus posted since the fiscal year began in October. There was a surplus in January because Social Security checks for the month were mailed at the end of December and another in April as individual income tax payments poured in.

For the first nine months, revenue totaled $68.1 billion, up 6.9 percent from last year, while spending was $79.1 billion, up a weaker 5.5 percent.

The deficit of $11.8 billion is running 2 percent behind the $12.4 billion in red ink for the comparable 1987 period.

more than a year ago.

Inflation worries have dogged financial markets in recent months, with particular concern focusing on rising factory operating rates and a tightening labor supply.

Since late March, the Federal Reserve has pushed short-term interest rates up by about a percentage point, and its chairman, Alan Greenspan, warned last week that the central bank stood ready to tighten again if inflation heats up.

In a separate report, the Labor Department said that Americans' average weekly earnings, after adjusting for inflation, were unchanged in June following a decline of 0.6 percent in May and an increase of 1.2 percent in April.

In June, the 0.3 percent increase in consumer prices was offset by an identical rise in average hours worked per week. The average hourly pay was unchanged.

The various adjustments left Americans' inflation-adjusted earnings 0.2 percent below a year ago.

Grocery prices in June were led by a 5.4 percent increase in poultry and an even steeper 6.6 percent gain in egg costs. Cereal and bakery prices, not yet showing the full effects of the drought, were up 0.4 percent.

Cooking oil prices were up 0.5 percent, while dairy products fell 0.2 percent and the price of fruits and vegetables edged down 0.1 percent.

Demos launch campaign in Texas

McALLEN, Texas (AP) — Democratic presidential nominee Michael Dukakis and running mate Lloyd Bentsen launched their general election campaign Friday with a trip to Bentsen's hometown and a promise that "We're going to make every American a shareholder in the American dream."

About 1,000 supporters endorsed Bentsen to greet the Democratic ticket on an airport tarmac, near Bentsen's family home. "I don't want to kid you," Dukakis said. "This is going to be a tough race."

A Mexican band played, and both Dukakis and Bentsen, perspiring in the July heat, addressed the crowd in English and Spanish. Dukakis' command of Spanish helped him win Texas in the Super Tuesday primary.

"You know how important Texas is going to be to us. And we need your help," Dukakis told residents of the state also claimed as home by the certain Republican nominee, George Bush. "I know what you did on Super Tuesday for Michael Dukakis. You can do it again."

Bentsen said "What we have seen on the part of Michael Dukakis is a reaching out, a bringing in," of all segments of society.

Dukakis and Bentsen then headed for Houston for another rally, after which they were bound for California.

Beet Growers Association. Growers are affected because they won't realize a further price increase now that the drought-induced shortage is being replaced by imports.

The program is designed to guarantee U.S. producers a high price for their sugar and is also favored by producers of artificial sweeteners because they too can receive higher prices. Sugar-producing countries benefit because they get well above world market prices for at least some of their sugar production.

Critics include manufacturers who use a lot of sugar in their products, because it keeps sugar prices high.

But sugar users were pleased with the new quotas.

"We applaud the secretary of agriculture," said Tom Hammer of the Sweetener Users Association, which represents companies that use large quantities of sugar.

"It will stop the inflationary spiral that was going on with domestic sugar prices. The need was immediate and urgent because my members ... believe that without it adequate supplies of sugar by late summer and fall were very much in doubt."

Except for the elimination of Panama, the percent of sugar purchases allocated to each country will not change, with the Dominican Republic, the Philippines and Brazil accounting for nearly half of the quota which covers 39 countries.

The new quota of 1,056,675 tons is about 56,000 tons higher than the 1987 quota but lower than the 1.7 million-ton quota of 1986. The 1988 quota had previously been the lowest since 1875, agriculture and trade officials said.

John J. Gallian, a sugar beet specialist with the University of Idaho Extension Service in Twin Falls, approved the increase for different reasons. He said a number of Northeastern congressmen have said they would stop supporting the sugar program if the import quota dropped below 1 million tons.

Now their continued support is more likely, Gallian said.

Long said the new quota includes a base import quota of 975,000 tons and 2,000 tons of specialty sugar.

The new allocations raised the minimum quota from 5,770 tons to 8,000.

"It was the first mid-year increase in the sugar quota since April 5, 1984, when there was a shortfall in U.S. sugar cane production."

Iran reports Mecca unrest

JIDDAI, Saudi Arabia (AP) — Iran's government-controlled radio said that hundreds of pilgrims demonstrated in Mecca Friday against the deaths last year of 402 people, and that police attacked some of the protesters.

But area residents contacted by The Associated Press early Saturday said they had heard no reports of violence.

Parts of the report by Tehran radio, monitored in London, were indistinct, but monitors said they did not hear any reference to injuries.

There was no immediate response to the Iranian claims from Saudi authorities, but a similar claim by Iran of demonstrations on Wednesday was later vigorously denied by the Saudi government.

Trimming said.

"This tragedy is of monumental proportions and horror," Schwartzman said at the end of the 30-minute hearing. "This is at least a merciful conclusion."

Rosenthal said he spent a lot of time in Twin Falls interviewing people about Stover. "I probably know more about Bill Stover than he knows about himself."

Rosenthal and fellow Ada County Deputy Prosecutor Julianne Meehan, who assisted in presenting the case, decided Friday to offer the plea bargain because "the public would be best served by the plea and the family would be best served by the plea."

The difference between first and second-degree murder from an elemental view is only premeditation, Rosenthal said. "The difference between sentence is only whether death is imposed or not. We determined that's a distinction without a difference."

Trimming said the plea bargain "is a reasonable resolution under the total facts and circumstances of the case."

Rosenthal said he spent Thursday in Twin Falls interviewing for the case.

Schwartzman set Sept. 15 and 16 for testimony on sentencing. Stover, 51, faces a maximum penalty of life in prison on each of the three second-degree murder charges. He could have been executed if convicted on the original first-degree murder counts.

"There is no agreement of any nature as to the sentencing," Rosenthal said.

Stover had been scheduled to go to trial Aug. 1 for the deaths of his wife, Jane, 50, and his daughters Kristina, 16, and Korinne, 13, during the early morning hours of Nov. 30 at the family's rented duplex in western Boise. He was found at the house with his own wrists slashed in an apparent suicide attempt and was hospitalized for about a week in Salt Lake City before being returned to Idaho.

Schwartzman said before the sentencing hearing he wanted to be provided at least a few pictures of the murder scene as well as the recording of the initial call to police by one of the daughters.

Trimming said he planned to call professional psychiatric witnesses to underscore mitigating circumstances surrounding the murders, and Rosenthal said he would call relatives of the Stover family.

Neither side said what sentence they plan to ask Schwartzman for.

"Success to say I will be asking court for leniency and will be presenting a great deal of mitigating evidence," Trimming said.

"I have one in mind, but would prefer that the court would hear it first," Rosenthal said. "I think Mr. Stover is going to be incarcerated for a very, very substantial period of time."

Stover, wearing an orange jail jump suit with the wrist chain still around his waist, sat quietly next to Trimming during the hearing, answering simply "Yes, sir" or "No, sir" as appropriate to the questions Schwartzman put to him.

Schwartzman said that based on three interviews with police, in which Stover effectively confessed to the slayings, along with other information in the record, "There is certainly a prima facie, factual basis for the entry of the pleas of guilty."

Trimming said there were some interpretations from those statements, two taken the day of the killings and one four days later, that he disputed, but Stover told the judge, "They are generally correct."

"That is my feeling ... he understands the consequences of the charges against him."

Stover said he was mentally competent to aid in his defense and to make the plea without the pressure of "promises, threats or inducements."

The plea-bargain headed off a courtroom battle over the validity of Idaho's law banning insanity as a criminal defense. Trimming had hoped to use a mental impairment defense against the state.

Stover was principal at Harrison Elementary School until resigning after the 1987 school year. He moved to Boise and began selling tax armoires to teachers but was apparently having financial difficulties.

Taxes

"Opinions are mixed as to whether the surplus reflects a stronger overall revenue trend or is simply the product of one-time anomalies," legislative budget analyst Jeff Youtz said in detailing the early budget outlook.

But the most recent job figures for employment look at the levels of the 1979 peak and the statistics showing Idaho personal income growing more rapidly than almost any other state suggest much more of the surplus may have been founded on economic expansion than on one-time surges.

Andrus administration economists have begun reworking their revenue estimates for the present budget year with an eye toward raising them because the expansion has been much stronger than they foresaw just six months ago. The current administration estimate for 1989 is $7.7 million below the unadjusted legislative projection of $673.3 million.

And some analysts now believe underlying revenue growth, which has run at 2 percent a year or less over the past few years, could actually reach a level of 4 percent during the 1990 spending year if the expansion continues.

Youtz used that hypothetical growth rate in putting together an initial budget outlook this month. But even at a growth rate that would have been considered laughable just a year ago, the current tax structure would generate less than $695 million.

That would only be about $9 million more than lawmakers will spend this year in a budget being financed by $16 million in one-time revenue surges. The loans from other government funds, temporary tax hikes, past surpluses and bookkeeping gimmicks that only accelerate tax payments, not increase them.

At the same time, this year's spending demands will not decline, and Youtz's analysis showed it will take $738 million just to keep government operating at present levels with a modest 3.5 percent inflation adjustment and 4 percent pay hikes for teachers and state workers.

"Concurrently several large spending issues will surface, including costs for the new prison facilities, the new state accounting system and several health and welfare issues," Youtz said.

At $738 million, the budget would provide a $24.5 million increase for public schools, boosting state aid to education to $377.5 million.

That would be nearly twice the increase in state aid that education got in the current budget.

Today's weather Still sunny but slightly cooler

Twin Falls, Burley, Rupert, Jerome and Gooding:
Sunny today except for isolated afternoon thundershowers. A little cooler with highs in the upper 80s to mid 90s. West winds from 10 to 15 mph. Fair tonight with lows in the upper 40s to lower 50s. Sunny Sunday with light to the mid 80s.
Camas Prairie and Wood River Valley:
Sunny today and a little cooler. Highs will be in the 80s. Clear at night with lows in the lower 40s. West winds from 5 to 16 mph on the prairie. Sunny Sunday and a little warmer. Highs near 90.

Northern Utah and Nevada:
Utah: Partly cloudy, but days and nights warm through Sunday. Widely scattered afternoon and early nighttime thundershowers most numerous over and near the mountains. Strong gusty winds likely near the thundershowers. Lows tonight mostly in the 60s. Highs today and Sunday from the mid 90s to 100.

Nevada: Continued hot today and Sunday with widely scattered thundershowers in the afternoons and evenings. Highs both days from the lower 90s to around 100. Clearing lows from the lower 50s to mid 60s.

Summary:
High pressure continued to dominate the weather over the western United States Friday, according to the National Weather Service in Boise. Idaho remained under the influence of a dry, stable and hot air mass. However, some clouds associated with the area of subtropical moisture to the south began to move into extreme southern Idaho on Friday afternoon. A light, slightly moist air mass should bring slightly higher temperatures to the state today.

Early afternoon high climbed into the 90s throughout the state. Even the higher elevations were on the warm side with McCall reporting 87 and Sun Valley 90.

Northwest winds were picking up in northern Idaho and in the southwestern valleys. Speeds of 10 to 15 mph were common. Southwest winds in Idaho had winds from the south to west and 10 to 20 mph.

The warmest temperature in the state Friday was 103 degrees at Emmett and Mountain Home. Starbuck reported the coldest at 34 degrees.

The yellow county in Twin Falls Friday was 40 particles per cubic meter of air.

The extended outlook for Southern Idaho shows some showers and rain for nights Monday through Wednesday. There is a chance of afternoon thundershowers over the mountains. Highs will be in the 90s with lows from 50 to 60.

Elsewhere in the nation Friday, the highest temperature was 115 degrees at Landon, Nev. The lowest was 34 degrees at Gunnison, Colo.

Navy reactor to be decommissioned

IDAHO FALLS (AP) — The reactor that gave birth to the Nuclear Navy a third of a century ago will be decommissioned in about two years when its current lifespan is over, Energy Department officials have acknowledged.

The S1W, the prototype reactor for the Navy's Nautilus submarine, will be shutdown "due to age and the high cost of continued operations," said officials of the Naval Reactors Facility at the Idaho National Engineering Laboratory.

The confirmation of reports the reactor would be decommissioned came in response to written inquiries from the Idaho State Journal.

Murderer found guilty in prison assault

BOISE (AP) — Convicted murderer Sean Matthews has been found guilty of assaulting prison guard with a homemade "zip gun."

A jury of six men and six women returned the verdict on a charge of aggravated battery late Thursday after a two-day trial before 4th District Judge George Carey.

Matthews, 23, was accused of firing the weapon in the face of Sgt. Steve Shane in the main prison's maximum-security cell-block last fall. Shane suffered injuries to his right eye and arm.

Man faces hearing for manslaughter

IDAHO FALLS (AP) — An Idaho Falls man faces a preliminary hearing Aug. 3 on two felony counts of vehicular manslaughter from the head-on collision that killed two teenagers.

James Steven Black, 25, was charged Friday in the Thursday night deaths of Charles Leslie Martin, 18, and Emmett William Clemens, 19, both of Idaho Falls.

They were killed just before midnight when the motorcycle they were on collided head-on with a Jeep driven by Black, police said.

Black was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs. If convicted, he faces a maximum penalty of seven years imprisonment and a $7,000 fine on each count. He was being held in the Bonneville County Jail.

State, federal health officials move to resolution

BOISE (AP) — A meeting between state and federal officials may have resolved a running battle over allegedly lax state inspections of health-care facilities.

State Health and Welfare Department Director Rich Donovan met Wednesday with Wayne

Smith of the Health Care Financing Administration, in Washington, D.C. The gathering was arranged by Sen. Jim McClure, R-Idaho.

Smith, director of the national office of survey and certification, agreed to allow a third party to intervene in the dispute that threatened to curtail state inspections of 253 Idaho health-care providers, such as nursing homes, hospitals and laboratories.

Tom Wullner, Smith's counterpart for the HCFA in Seattle, wrote in February that Idaho may decide to stop the inspections if it could not or would not apply federal standards.

State, local investigators look for answers in weekend slaying

FIRTH (AP) — State investigators have joined local authorities in trying to unravel what residents are calling the bizarre slayings of two teenage brothers last weekend.

Bingham County Sheriff Roy Nelson said officers are running down hundreds of leads and interviewing witnesses in search of the answer to deaths of Aaron Annett, 16, and his brother Kevin, 13.

The boys, both shot, were found dead in the Snake River last Saturday night and Sunday morning after failing to return home from work on a nearby farm.

"We're checking out every possible angle," Nelson said. "I thought we would have it solved by Sunday night, but it's going more slowly than I expected. The officers are being very thorough."

"It's bizarre and totally unexpected in a small town like this to have two people killed at once, and even more so when they're members of the same family and so young," City Councilman Sam Collet said.

What's what

Drive-in movies

Q. I'm 40 years old. How old was I when drive-in movies were most popular?
A. You were an infant, sir. Two thousand of them were built between 1947 and 1950, their peak. Note, also: You were born the same year NFL officials started blowing whistles instead of horns.

Number of Japanese who commit suicide atop Mt. Fuji averages out to more than one a week.

Q. What country first passed laws to require the wearing of car seat belts?
A. Australia.

Q. Our argument is whether a man's snoring is more annoying than a woman's or vice versa...?
A. A man's tends to be louder. Woman's, pitched higher. Annoyance is in the ear of the beholder, or however you say it.

Q. In Japan, Sony has a telephone keyboard with two extra buttons - to deal with obscene callers. Push one button and a man's voice yells, "What in the &@! do you want?" Push the other and a 100 decibel screech goes out.

Q. Many an old Burma-Shave jingle was written, but not all were approved for the roadside sign. This one didn't make it: "After 4 drinks /

The British sing / God Shave / The King!"

SWEETEST
Q. What's the sweetest natural substance known?
A. Stevioside - 300 times sweeter than cane sugar. Comes from the dried leaves of the Paraguayan shrub.

Q. That great racehorse Man O' War would eat too much, if he could. Worrisome. You don't fatten a racehorse. So his trainer fed him with the bit in his mouth. The horse's.

Q. The Soviet Union every year grants over a half times as many patents as the United States.

Q. You are certain just how to gain your wishes, but later you will get a flash of inspiration. Then full speed ahead!

Q. Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Long talks with advisers and fellow workers can show you what to do to gain more success. Ideas from your mate can be helpful.

Q. Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You may be confused today, so be sure to study all facts and figures to avoid unfortunate mistakes. Good friends can help you succeed.

Daily Horoscope

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Use your experiences from the past as the best means for unraveling some puzzle in your life. Do whatever you can to eliminate your personal and professional lives.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19): Get busy and bundle those duties you haven't completed. Listen to what your mate suggests for a better picture of the days ahead.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20): Discuss with an expert partner what should be done to make your affairs work out more successfully in the days ahead.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Make an improved schedule for handling your daily activities. Listen to what a co-worker has to say which can help you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Make sure you understand every angle of a personal alliance before you pursue it any further. Be more exact in handling special talents.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): One in the outside world has given you good advice about how to have a more harmonious condition established in your sphere.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): It's a good day to garner data so that you comprehend what is going on in the world at-large and also within your community.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): It's a good day to make fine arrangements for handling business affairs. Put aside some meony to improve your property, also.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): You are not certain just how to gain your wishes, but later you will get a flash of inspiration. Then full speed ahead!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Study the moods of family members and outsiders before you ask for any favors. Do nothing to spoil your reputation.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20): You can express yourself very well today. Study into hobbies which appeal to you. Be careful in motion.

If Your Child Is Born Today: He or she should be allowed every opportunity to participate in sports, since the energy here is overwhelming. Teach this one to listen to experienced people since they are trying to help your progeny get ahead. A good education is a must in early life.

Scientists against germ warfare

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Nobel Prize-winning biologist and three other scientists said Friday that the Department of Defense is embarking on germ warfare research that could lead to weapons fatal to both soldiers and civilians in a war that nobody could win.

The scientists, representing a group called the Committee for Responsible Genetics, said the Pentagon is asking for $300 million to conduct research into biological warfare techniques. The committee members said they are circulating a petition to encourage all American biological scientists not to aid the Pentagon germ weapons research.

Army Lt. Col. John Chapla, a Pentagon spokesman, confirmed that the military is seeking funds to conduct biological research, but he said the effort is aimed at developing a defense against germ weapons, not at making the weapons themselves.

Christian Anfinsen, a Nobel Prize-winning biologist at Johns Hopkins University, said at the news conference that "the production of biological weapons is relatively simple" to scientists now.

"We could develop warheads to spread anthrax (disease) within six months and so could the Soviets," he said.

But, Anfinsen said, "no war could be won this way" because a counterattack would be swift and deadly.

The scientist said that with the advances in biology in recent decades, scientists in many countries now could use genetic engineering techniques to develop viruses or bacteria against which there could be no defense.

Chapla said a hearing will be held on Monday on the environmental impact of a planned $5.4 million biological aerosol test facility at the Dagway Proving Ground in Utah.

In a telephone interview, he said the Army has let more than 100 biological research contracts to private research groups. The Army, he said, plans to research defensive measures, such as protective clothing, and detection and decontamination equipment. He said Army researchers also will attempt to develop vaccines that would protect against germ warfare agents.

Chapla also said that for germs to be used as an offensive weapon, the Army would have to develop a way to deliver the germs, a way to manufacture the germs and a doctrine for the use of such weapons.

NASA delays Discovery's test-firing

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — NASA said Friday it is delaying the launch pad test-firing of space shuttle Discovery's main engines two days until July 30.

The decision was made after shuttle managers reviewed preparations and concluded that all elements were not ready, including a hazardous gas detection system that is not completely checked out.

The 20-second firing of the main engines is considered critical to certifying Discovery for the first shuttle flight since the Challenger explosion killed seven astronauts on Jan. 28, 1986.

It will test modifications made in the engines and provide countdown experience for the launch team.

NASA officials said the delay in the test-firing could postpone for a day or two the launch, now scheduled for early September.

However, the status of the launch does not mean engineers are puzzling over how to fix a small gas leak.

$5 million goes to vets in Australia

NEW YORK (AP) — Diplomats from Australia and New Zealand on Friday accepted checks totaling $5 million, earmarked for their military personnel who were exposed to the herbicide Agent Orange during the Vietnam War.

The money was part of a $240 million settlement of a suit against the chemical's makers.

The checks, $4.5 million for Australian veterans and $500,000 for New Zealand, were presented by U.S. District Judge Jack B. Weinstein of Brooklyn.

According to figures from 1985, 48,000 troops from Australia and 3,842 troops from New Zealand served with the U.S. during the Vietnam War.

Christic Institute plans to appeal suit dismissal

MIAMI (AP) — An attorney for the Christic Institute filed formal notice Friday that he will appeal the dismissal of a $24 million lawsuit against some Iran-Contra figures alleging guns-for-drugs deals and a 1984 terrorist bombing.

The Christic Institute will appeal to the 11th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals a June 23 ruling by Chief U.S. District Judge James Lawrence King that the plaintiffs, journalists Tony Avirgan and Martha Honey had failed to prove their allegations, said attorney Daniel Sheehan.

The group is representing the journalists, who filed suit against 29 people, including Richard Secord and Albert Hakim, Contra leader Adolfo Calero, former CIA deputy director of operations Theodore Shackley, and retired major general and anti-communist crusader John K. Singlaub.

The bottom line is that something in excess of 90 percent of summary judgments by trial judges are reversed, said Sheehan. "The major purpose of the appeal is to get the case reinstated and expand the scope of the trial."

The suit was filed in May 1986, six months before the Iran-Contra affair became public. Many of the people it brought to light have been indicted or forced to appear before congressional committees investigating that case.

Koop predicts retribution laws against AIDS

WASHINGTON (AP) — A wave of "retribution" against smokers, drunken drivers and others whose actions are seen as a public health threat could spread to AIDS victims by the next decade, Surgeon General C. Everett Koop said Friday.

"Such a response would be tragic, but not unexpected to the health profession," Koop said.

He cited the recent passing of laws to segregate smokers and public retribution against drunk drivers, teen-agers who become pregnant, drug addicts and wife beaters.

"The anti-smoking attitude, he said, is being expressed in the adoption of laws setting up no-smoking areas in restaurants and banning smoking from entire office buildings and work places.

"These are examples of public retribution exercised against smokers," he said, also telling his audience, "Most Americans would like to see all smokers stop."

Koop said it is possible that the American people, "already traveling the road of retribution," will extend that retribution against AIDS victims in the 1990s.

Blaine County adds child-abuse investigator

By BART JANSEN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Blaine County Prosecutor Ned Williamson's persuasive lobbying will return a child-abuse investigator to his area.

Willard Abbott, regional director of the state Department of Health and Welfare, said Friday the department will shave about $13,000 from elsewhere in its budget statewide to provide the half-time investigator.

Blaine County has been without any child-abuse social workers since January, when the former caseworker, who handled both investigations and treatment, moved away. Abbott and Williamson agreed that the same person should not both investigate child abuse and then help treat the family.

To rein in regional spending, Abbott left the position open until the new budget year began July 1.

H&W then planned to hire a treatment worker and a four-fifths time para-professional in Blaine County, but not another investigator. Investigators would continue to be dispatched from Twin Falls or Jerome.

But Williamson blasted that plan, arguing that abusive situations are sometimes explosive and must be handled immediately. The delay of a two-hour commute could further endanger certain situations.

"Unfortunately, there have been several cases which have not been properly investigated in the last few months," Williamson wrote state and regional H&W officials. "Even worse, the department is proposing to continue this temporary situation on a permanent basis."

Williamson and other county officials met July 7 with H&W officials to discuss the situation. With no immediate decision made in the meeting, Williamson withheld judgment on it.

"I was waiting for results," he said.

Abbott said he took it up with his boss and that boss spoke to his boss. Ultimately, they decided they could scrimp the money from elsewhere in the budget already underway.

"I'm happy we got the position," Williamson said. "The next concern is the quality of the person we get."

He said two people have expressed interest in the position, but that it might be difficult to find a qualified person interested in a half-time position.

Abbott said he hopes to have the positions filled by mid-September. Meanwhile, temporary workers may fill in.

Neighbors dispute water use

By DENISE TURNER
Times-News correspondent

JEROME — Tom Holliday, of 605 E. Ave. D, is unhappy with his neighbor, Mario Dalry, of 521 E. Ave. D. Dalry, Holliday says, is hogging water.

"The gentleman who lives four houses away from me believes he should have the water for eight hours, although there is only 24 hours worth of water for the whole block of about 15 houses," Holliday told the city council this week.

"I just need water for 30 minutes," Holliday said. "I pay for the water, too, and I should be able to get it once in a while."

Dalry, who was not at the council meeting, later said he had talked with Jerome Chief of Police Greg Will about the conflict but declined any further comment on the matter.

"The water in question is irrigation water diverted into the city for lawns and gardens. The average annual cost to residents is about $33, Public Works Director Lanny Sloan said.

To try to resolve the problem, the council directed Sloan to assign to each resident on the 500 block of East Avenue D a period of time for water. A letter outlining the watering times was sent Wednesday, Sloan said.

2 people stabbed in Rupert Thursday

By KEN ARMSTRONG
Times-News writer

RUPERT — Police aren't sure just what happened in Rupert late Thursday night, other than the fact that two people were stabbed and a police officer slightly injured.

Eusebio Prieto, 40, was charged Friday with two counts of aggravated battery, and police were looking for a second man who allegedly injured city police officer Stan Clark.

Court records allege that Prieto stabbed Hector Reyes around 11 p.m. at Gypsy's, a downtown Rupert bar.

"It was crazy," said Tina McAlister, a Gypsy's bartender. "He just took a sip of beer, turned around and started slashing."

McAlister said Prieto had been sitting on a bar stool, drinking a beer. Then, without provocation, he turned and attacked three men playing pool, she said.

"They were taking full beers and throwing them — also pool sticks. There was no reason for it," McAlister said.

Court records also allege that Prieto stabbed Sylvia Simon at the bar, but that is disputed by both McAlister and the victim herself.

"We've got a couple of conflicting stories on that," Rupert-Police Chief Paul Fries said. "We're still doing some investigation on that."

Simon told police that she was walking downtown when someone driving by called her name. She stopped, then someone got out of the car and stabbed her.

"She said she didn't even realize she'd been stabbed until she got home and felt blood running down her arm," Fries said.

The police chief said one witness claimed to have seen Simon get stabbed at Gypsy's. However, McAlister said Simon wasn't even in the bar at the time.

Both stabbing victims were taken to Minidoka Memorial Hospital. Reyes was listed in stable condition Friday, but Simon was treated and released.

Prieto and a friend ran from the bar immediately after the stabbing, McAlister said. Bar employees and customers saw the two men get into a car and drive away.

Clark, a patrolman, arrested Prieto after he saw a blue Dodge Colt matching the fleeing car's description speed through a downtown stop sign.

Clark pulled the car over, and the driver, Prieto's friend, laughed at the police officer and then struck him, according to court records. The driver then ran away. Clark arrested Prieto, the passenger.

Clark, who pulled some lower-back muscles during the scuffle, was treated and released at Minidoka Memorial Hospital, Fries said.

As for the missing man, Fries said police are still tracking down leads as to his identity. Prieto said the driver was Joel Prieto, his brother.

"He was in an intoxicated state when he told us that, and I'm not sure he knew who was driving," Fries said.

Joel Prieto came down to the police station Friday, and they determined he wasn't the driver, Fries said.

Prieto is being held in the Minidoka County Jail. Magistrate Judge Donald Workman set bail Friday at $10,000.

Convention mirrors 1960, Evans says

The Associated Press

ATLANTA — When Michael Dukakis and Lloyd Bentsen clasped hands on the stage of the Democratic National Convention, former Gov. John Evans couldn't help but think back to the 1960 convention and the nomination of John F. Kennedy.

"It was so much the same circumstances," said Evans, co-chairman of the Dukakis campaign in Idaho. "It was very much like it in that we had the Massachusetts-Texas connection in John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson and it tied together the South and the Northeast."

As the Idaho delegation prepared to depart Atlanta on Friday, Evans said the Dukakis-Bentsen ticket, with that same geo-political axis, will also play well in Idaho.

He wasn't willing to predict a Dukakis victory in the state that was second only to Utah in the percentage of voters who chose Ronald Reagan four years ago; but Evans said the four-day convention here should demonstrate to Idahoans that a Dukakis-Bentsen administration would provide solid, competent and moderate leadership.

"The nomination of Dukakis and Bentsen is going to gain strong support in Idaho. This election of Lloyd Bentsen as vice president not only will play well in the South, but in the West. Lloyd Bentsen is a moderate conservative," Evans said.

Evans, now a veteran of four Democratic conventions, identified three highlights of the Atlanta gathering.

First, he said, was the Monday morning breakfast meeting between Dukakis and the Rev. Jesse Jackson. At the meeting, the two candidates hammered out compromises on the last of their disagreements and set the stage for the first truly harmonious convention Democrats have had in more than two decades.

"They resolved their differences and found a place for Jesse Jackson. That session smoothed out their relationship and established strong support for the team of Dukakis and Bentsen," Evans said.

The second highlight was Jackson's Tuesday night speech. The impassioned plea for equality and compassion was one of the finest speeches America has heard in years, Evans said.

"He's been noted as the finest political speaker of the decade, possibly of the century," Evans said.

The third highlight and perhaps best moment, was Dukakis' speech, Evans said.

Like most of the more than 4,100 delegates packed into the Omni Thursday night, Evans was wondering if Dukakis would be a letdown after Jackson's.

However, Evans said Dukakis more than matched Jackson's performance.

"It was a different kind of style than Jackson, a different kind of address, but he stimulated the convention. Now we're together," Evans said.

Board revises plan for addition at elementary

By DENISE TURNER
Times-News correspondent

JEROME — The addition to Jefferson Elementary School under construction will have new changes when it is completed this fall.

The Jerome School Board this week approved $55,308 in alterations, including a new room approaching the school and a sixth classroom.

In other action, the board bought land for future elementary schools and raised school lunch prices.

Concerning the five-room Jefferson addition, district architect Ivan Stone told the board about the change requests and said the construction, being done by Woodstone Incorporated of Burley, is on schedule and should be completed by the Sept. 9 target date.

The board approved $31,597 to be spent to build a road, with parking lots and driveway, that will connect East Fourth Avenue and Filmore Street and can be used to load and unload children.

Trustees decided to pave the street in concrete, instead of using less expensive blacktop, because concrete is essentially maintenance free. Stone said the blacktop would have cost $26,671 but would probably need about $3,500 worth of work every five years.

Another $5,701 in change orders were approved to construct a folding partition to divide one of the new classrooms into two units. And $6,871 will be spent to build a wall, required to meet fire codes.

Change orders totaling $9,140 were approved to air condition a lounge and install four emergency lights and two exit signs.

Stone also explained the need for an additional $1,000 for door locks, $2,000 for breakers to go in old panels, and $2,000 for a fire plug.

Superintendent Richard Kugler told trustees that the money for these change orders is available, since $376,000 was originally budgeted for the classroom project, and the bid accepted for construction came in at $303,158.

In other action, the board decided to buy from St. Benedict's Hospital Corp. 23 acres of land north of Forsyth Park for $46,000 to be used for future elementary schools. Kugler called this decision good planning because the board is looking to the future and because the site is an ideal place for an elementary school.

The board also discussed a problem of bits of lava rock in the cold-water system coming into Jerome's junior high and administration buildings. Engineers began studying the problem this week.

"After an analysis has been made, we will know where this is coming from," District Maintenance Supervisor Veri Rawson said, referring to the gravel-like substance which is plugging up toilet valves. "I don't know whether this will require some sort of filtering system or whether we might

South Hills fire escapes control, burns 1,000 acres

By KEN ARMSTRONG
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A South Hills fire that started late Thursday afternoon escaped control Friday and consumed about 1,000 acres of juniper, sagebrush and grass.

That meant little reprieve for National Forest Service firefighters, who earlier in the week beat back a smaller, 10-acre blaze.

The latest fire started around 4:50 p.m. Thursday in the Big Cottonwood Creek area of the Twin Falls Ranger District. Fire Information Officer Barbara Todd said the fire burned through the night, and, by 2 p.m. Friday, had swept over roughly 350 acres.

But that's when the fire took off, dashing initial hopes of having it controlled by Saturday evening.

"It escaped the control area this afternoon, aided by problem winds in the area," Todd said.

The National Forest Service on Friday evening requested additional crews and equipment. Earlier in the day, about 60 firefighters and two helicopters attempted to tackle the blaze.

Don Oman, the Twin Falls District Ranger, asked people to stay out of the Cedar Canyon and Big Cottonwood Creek areas until the fire is under control. Officials could not provide an estimate Friday evening of when that might be.

The fire's cause is still under investigation, Todd said.

The fire site is 24 miles southeast of Twin Falls and six miles northeast of the Bostetter Guard Station. Officials said the terrain is extremely rugged and presents problems with access.

The Oakley-Ragerson road was still open Friday afternoon, unaffected by the fire.

The fire marked the third time this week that area officials have had to scramble to tackle a range fire. About 175 firefighters, most with the Bureau of Land Management, worked Tuesday and Wednesday to control a 2,250-acre blaze northeast of Fairfield. That fire consumed brushland and some quaking aspens.

Meanwhile about 25 firefighters tackled the smaller South Hills fire, which consumed about 100 acres of land in a personal firewood-cutting area. Officials started calling crews off that blaze Wednesday night, less than a day before the latest fire ignited.

IHC contributes to 7 programs training nurses

TWIN FALLS — Intermountain Health Care, a Salt Lake City-based, not-for-profit system, has contributed $185,000 to help train nurses at seven Idaho and Utah schools.

The scholarships will be available at the College of Southern Idaho, Ricks College, Idaho State University, Westminster College in Salt Lake City, Brigham Young University, the University of Utah and Weber State College.

The funds were donated in an attempt to relieve the nursing shortage, which IHC attributes largely to the high cost of training.

Parks board selects top 3 finalists

TWIN FALLS (AP) — Five area sites were on the list of 10 finalists recommended to the state Parks and Recreation Board to be named Idaho's Centennial State Park.

But when the board trimmed the list to three Friday, no area attractions remained in the running.

The board, meeting in Boise, decided to recommend the town of Day horse, the town of Chesterfield and Upper and Lower Mesa Falls, in that order, to the Idaho Centennial Commission's Lasting Legacy Committee.

Bayhorse is an old mining town 15 miles south of Challis. The site was prospected as early as 1864 and features charcoal kilns, two graveyards and about 10 largely unaltered buildings. Chesterfield is another ghost town, this one 26 miles northeast of Lava Hot Springs. Upper and Lower Mesa Falls are 15 miles north of Ashton.

The committee will choose the final park site from the three recommendations on Monday.

More than 150 sites were evaluated for the new park. Area sites included the City of Rocks, the Thousand Springs area, the Albion Normal School site, Salmon Falls Creek Reservoir and the Custer-Bonanza area near Stanley. The other two sites were the Clearwater Recreation area and the St. Anthony Sand Dunes.

The state Legislature will consider the committee's decision next year.

"There is a possibility one or more of those sites may be impossible to build on," Parks and Recreation spokesman Rick Just said. The recommendations in order of preference were made with that in mind, he said.

"Our goal is to get something going by the Centennial year so people have something to come and visit," Just said.

Money was not an issue in narrowing down the field of possible park locations, officials said. The evaluations were based on size, significance, condition, rarity, scenic and activity variety, interpretive value and accessibility to the public.

"The dispute didn't surprise Jerome Councilman Rocky Jackson. "In Idaho's history, there have been more fights over water than anything else," Jackson said.

Water

Sloan said anyone violating the schedule can be fined $50. "We have laws on the book to cover situations where people take water out of turn," he said. "If such problems cannot be settled among neighbors, the police then have to get involved."

This is not the first time a group of neighbors have been unable to figure out a way to share irrigation water on their own, but Sloan said problems are rare.

"We haven't had to do that very much at all in the past," Sloan said. "Usually the neighbors get along and they work it out."

The Avenue D dispute, however, may be the longest domestic water problem on record in Jerome. Neighbors have had problems with Dairy for nearly 30 years, Holliday said. "I just want everyone to get a fair shake," he said. "And I don't think there is a person on the block who doesn't have a problem with the situation today."

Russ Blight, 509 E. Ave. D, agrees. "I went through this with them last year," he said, referring to conversations with Dairy. "The rest of us on the block are along fine and can work out ways to share the water."

The dispute didn't surprise Jerome Councilman Rocky Jackson. "In Idaho's history, there have been more fights over water than anything else," Jackson said.

School

The board accepted a loan proposal from First Security Bank, which offered the lowest interest rate among the three banks offering proposals. First Security, Kugler said, offered the school a $500,000 loan at 0.66 percent of their prime rate, which he said now stands at about 9.5 percent, making the interest rate on the loan about 6.27 percent.

Kugler said he will borrow the money for 365 days and re-invest it as the bank suggested. During the initial investment period, the school will receive about 7 percent interest on the money, he said. He added that he expects the district to spend about $400,000 of the money during the 365-day loan period.

Newly elected school board members Steve Marshall, Zone 4, and Robert Bingham, Zone 2, were seated, and 1988-89 school district officers were elected. Officers are: Alvin Chojnacky, board chairman; Ben Neff, vice chairman; Kugler, treasurer; Charles Correll, clerk; Nancy Bragg, deputy clerk; Rob Williams, attorney. The board decided to keep its meeting date and time the same as last year. Meetings will be at 8 p.m. the second Monday of each month in the school board room.

GOODING — The King's Witnesses from Norway will perform in concert Sunday at 11 a.m. at Gooding Assembly of God Church.

Swaggart prepares first crusade outside Louisiana since defrocking

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Evangelist Jimmy Swaggart prepared Friday for his first crusade outside his home state of Louisiana since he was defrocked by the Assemblies of God amid reports he had hired a prostitute. The three days of revival meetings were not supported by the national or local offices of the Assemblies of God, Swaggart's former denomination. An Assembly of God pastors were told "not to be supportive or cooperative with Jimmy Swaggart Ministries any longer," said the Rev. Charles Shank, district superintendent of the denomination. "He has been disciplined by the church and isn't part of our fellowship."

JIMMY SWAGGART Holds independent revival

Nevertheless, organizers planned for 8,000 followers, including Assembly of God members, to attend the crusade each night. "We set up for 8,000. We can go to 15," said the Rev. Mike Baldock, an independent minister who is local chairman of the crusade.

In February, Swaggart tearfully confessed on television that he had committed an unspecified sin against God and his family. The "crusade" was followed by allegations that he had hired a prostitute to perform lewd acts while he watched.

Swaggart returned to the pulpit May 22, but was defrocked by the Assemblies of God for refusing to abstain from preaching for a year while undergoing professional counseling. Swaggart, 52, said his multimillion-dollar global ministry could not survive such an absence.

Jozette Ausbury, a spokeswoman for the Assemblies of God in its Springfield, Mo., headquarters said members could not be persuaded by attending the crusade.

"They can go if they want to. That's fine," she said. "The church had not decided whether ministers who attend the crusade could be punished. The church has not ruled what sanctions it would apply to local ministers—who might help the crusade—but it has given ministers at Jimmy Swaggart Ministries until Oct. 1 to leave or be defrocked.

No local Assembly of God ministers are known to be assisting the crusade.

Baldock, who heads the Compassion Center, Mission on Wheels and Ark of the New Covenant Church, recruited about 300 volunteers to serve as ushers, security guards and support staff.

"I preach just like most of my brothers preach — forgiveness, love and mercy, restoration," Baldock said.

"I'm not only with Reverend Swaggart. That's with anyone accepting the message of Jesus Christ that has a problem. And because I'm forgiven."

Christian books sell

NEW YORK (AP) — Because either they're more appealing or more recently needed, Christian books these days are commanding a swelling audience that's looking for help in living.

WILLIAM R. ANDERSON Perceives upward trend

That's the assessment of William R. Anderson, president of the Christian Bookellers Association, whose international convention in Dallas this week staged one of the nation's biggest trade shows.

It involves a $2 billion annually retail industry, doubled since 1980.

"The volume is growing steadily," Anderson said in a telephone interview. "The market has expanded beyond the pew, partly because the product appeal is broader and also because of sociological trends."

There's a renewed interest in religion in general, an acute awareness of the spiritual side of life, a return to Judeo-Christian values.

Spiders beat the parson

SPARTA, Tenn. (AP) — The brown recluse spiders in the parsonage of the First United Methodist Church have become far too gregarious, and the congregation has decided to surrender.

The Rev. Neal Glass moved his family out last week after finding the aggressive spiders crawling on curtains, laundry and bathroom towels.

"Most everybody we talked to had a relative or friend who had been bitten with serious repercussions," Glass said. However, he said the spiders left his family alone.

The congregation voted to sell the house just after it paid an exterminator $4,725 to seal the house in plastic and fumigate it. Glass said the spiders survived 16 previous treatments.

"We feel like we definitely could get more for the parsonage after it was treated and we could sell it positively was free of the spiders," Glass said. "It would be a fire sale otherwise."

Pest control company officials said three mild winters and this year's dry, hot summer have favored the spider population.

Briefly

4 teens injured in accident

TWIN FALLS — Four teenagers were injured in a three-car accident Thursday night at the intersection of Falls Avenue East and Lost Street North. One of the injured, Adam Mitchell, 17, of Murtaugh, was cited for inattentive driving. Mitchell and two passengers in his car, Jennifer Robertson, 15, of Twin Falls, and Jennifer Akin, 16, of Twin Falls, were taken to the Magic Valley Regional Medical Center where they were treated and released. A third passenger, Kimberly Simon, 16, of Twin Falls, was taken to the Twin Falls Clinic & Hospital.

Hospital officials said Simon was still under observation Friday but apparently doing well. The accident occurred around 7:30 p.m. and blocked traffic until two wreckers arrived at the scene. The other drivers involved in the accident, Kenneth Bingham, 30, of Twin Falls, and Dennis E. Becker, 28, of Twin Falls, were not injured, according to reports.

Damage to Bingham's vehicle, a 1988 Dodge pickup truck, was estimated at $3,000. Mitchell's car, a 1971 Plymouth four-door, sustained an estimated $2,000 worth of damage.

Attorney seeks exam for Jaggers

TWIN FALLS — The attorney for accused 18-year-old murderer Jesse Ray Jaggers has asked for a second state-financed psychiatrist for his client.

If granted, this will be the second state-financed psychological examination of Jaggers, accused of several felonies, including the first-degree murder of Virginia Westergren, 79, James Meservy, Jaggers attorney, filed the motion Friday.

While the case was still in magistrate court, 5th District Magistrate Judge Melvin C. Edwards allowed Meservy to hire a psychologist to examine Jaggers.

Meservy also asked 5th District Judge Daniel Meehl, who is now handling the case, for more time to file pre-trial motions.

Meservy said he wanted to see psychological reports before filing the pre-trial motions.

Jaggers faces trial on 10 felony counts. In addition to the first-degree murder charge, he faces attempted rape, second-degree burglary, robbery and three counts of grand theft.

Prosecutors say in court records that Jaggers killed Westergren in her Twin Falls home in May by slushing her throat with a 16-inch knife.

Meehl will hear oral arguments on Meservy's latest motions Aug. 15.

Dog attacks slow-moving car

TWIN FALLS — A mighty big Golden Labrador retriever bit a slow-moving Mazda RX-7 Thursday evening, scratching the car's bumper and tearing its bra.

"The dog is as big as the car," said Dan Hall, the investigating Twin Falls County sheriff's deputy. The car's driver, Lynn Withers-Barnesberger, was cruising down County Road 3400 southwest of Twin Falls when the dog attacked around 5 p.m., Hall said. The dog got a mouthful of bumper and ripped the car's bra, a wrapping that protects the area around a car's headlights.

Hall later found both the dog and the dog's owners. "He kind of tried to attack my car when I pulled into the driveway," said Hall, referring to the dog. "But after the initial shock wore off he didn't seem to be too bad."

The deputy gave the dog's owner a warning, but no citation.

As for the dog's name, Hall said he didn't know. "But it's a big dog, I can tell you that."

UFF schedules lay-off phase

TWIN FALLS — The last phase of Universal Frozen Foods Co.'s annual summer lay offs is scheduled for July 30 when 350 people will take their leave.

The lay offs this year were planned in three phases. Usually the summer shutdown happens all at once.

"We wanted to build up our inventories in certain areas," said Gene Hoskins, director of human resources. The workers on the products with the lowest inventories are being the last to get laid off.

On June 29, 80 people left in the first phase. The second phase ended July 15 with 180 people leaving. About 200 people will stay on during the shutdown to conduct maintenance.

Regular production is tentatively scheduled to resume Aug. 22, Hoskins said.

Citizens' group sets meeting

TWIN FALLS — Citizens Against a Radioactive Environmental will hold a meeting in Courtroom 4 of the Judicial Building Annex in Twin Falls Wednesday.

Plans for a tour of INEL will be discussed, and a video, "Idaho's Nuclear Dilemma," will be shown. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m.

For further information, please call 731-5955.

Black establishes reward fund

TWIN FALLS — State Rep. Ron Black has put up $100 to establish a reward fund for information leading to the arrest and conviction of vandals damaging the skateboard ramp at Frontier Field.

He has also scheduled a meeting at the ramp today at 2 p.m. to discuss repairing it. The representative warns that the structure must be repaired within 10 days or it will be torn down by the city.

Anyone interested in contributing to the fund is encouraged to attend the meeting or call Black at 734-9035.

Mr. Mac store Owner of marina responds to lawsuit to open soon

TWIN FALLS — The J.C. Penney building downtown is getting a new tenant.

Mr. Mac, a clothing store chain based in Salt Lake City, will open some time in the next month.

The building has been vacant since J.C. Penney moved to the Magic Valley Mall. Price Development Corp., which owns the mall, bought the building at that time and has been seeking a buyer.

Mr. Mac has leased the building for only six months. The lease expires in January 1989.

However, Mr. Mac's chairman of the board, Joe Anderson, said, "If the market is as good as all you people say it is, we'll be there."

The store will offer a full line of men's apparel, plus some boys' and women's clothing. The entire building space will be used.

Nine stores currently comprise the chain including outlets in Pocatello, Boise and Rexburg. The company is owned by Mac Christianson.

Mr. Mac has stores in several malls owned by Price Development elsewhere.

The building will remain on the market subject to the Mr. Mac lease, according to L. James Koutnik, president of Coldwell Banker Western Realty, the listing agent.

TWIN FALLS — The owner of a marina that burned down in January says he isn't responsible for the destruction of a Hazelton resident's boat in the blaze.

In fact, the owner wants the Hazelton resident to pay him for repairs made on the boat before the fire. State fire investigators said they could find no evidence of arson.

Joe DiPietro, the owner of Magic Valley Marina, claims in court records that the fire was the result of somebody else's negligence, although he doesn't say who was negligent. DiPietro made his claim while responding to a lawsuit filed by a Hazelton resident, whose boat was destroyed in the fire.

The Hazelton resident, James C. Johnson, wants $25,000 from DiPietro.

DiPietro says Johnson waived his right to collect damages caused by somebody else. Since the fire was beyond his control, DiPietro says he's not responsible for the destruction of Johnson's boat.

DiPietro's business, which was located on U.S. Highway 30 between Twin Falls and Filer, burned down in the early morning hours of Jan. 5. State fire investigators said the building was destroyed to an extent that it was impossible to determine an exact cause of the fire.

But DiPietro didn't stop at responding to Johnson's claims. He says Johnson didn't pay for repairs to his boat completed by DiPietro, although DiPietro repeatedly tried to collect money for the repairs.

DiPietro wants $944 from Johnson. Johnson says DiPietro didn't repair the boat in a "workmanlike and proper manner."

THE ACES ON BRIDGE

BOB BY-WOLF

The chains of habit are too weak to be felt until they are too strong to be broken.

— Samuel Johnson

It is generally accepted practice to lead a low card in partner's suit when you are leading from K-x-x or K-x-x-x. Not as generally recognized is the need to deviate from this practice when the bidding so demands.

If West follows custom, he chooses a low spade on opening lead and South's sacrifice pays off. East wins the first spade and is unable to attack in hearts. If East continues spades (no other play is better), declarer ruffs in dummy, and dummy's club queen is led to East's king. East shifts to trumps and South wins his ace. South reaches dummy via another spade ruff and leads a club to ruff out East's ace. Then he concedes his trump loser, and the defense is held to only three tricks (South's hearts going on dummy's clubs). A 100-point penalty is good compensation for the lost vulnerable spade game.

It's another matter if West breaks with tradition and leads his spade king at trick one. He wins the trick instead of East, and more important, he can lead through dummy at trick two.

He chooses the obvious heart shift with good results. Dummy's hearts come under attack before the clubs are established, and instead of down one and 100 points, it's down two and 200 points, a reasonable compensation for the vulnerable game.

Cowboys split with Idaho Falls in 'A' Legion

By BRAD BRELAND
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Cowboys stayed alive in their quest for a shot at the Southern Region "A" American Legion baseball championship after splitting a twinbill with Idaho Falls Friday night.

The first-place Russets, needing a sweep to clinch the title, won the first game 9-4, but the Cowboys surprised Idaho Falls 3-0 in the nightcap.

The split by the two teams throws the regional standings into turmoil. Pocatello sits atop the standings with an 8-4 record and Idaho Falls and Twin Falls are tied with identical 6-4 records.

Twin Falls and Idaho Falls will play a rematch doubleheader Sunday in Idaho Falls' Me-dermott Field at 2 p.m. If the teams split, the regular-season title will go the Russets. If either the Russets or the Cowboys sweep Sunday, they will tie with Pocatello for the championship.

At stake is the top seed in the regional tournament, which starts in Pocatello next Thursday. The surprise Friday night came from the arm of 16-year-old Chris Smith, 3-7, who twirled a two-hitter at the Russets.

Greg Ehardt, the ace of the Idaho Falls staff, also threw a two-hitter, but two costly errors cost the Russets a victory.

In the nightcap, Torry Bollinger walked, stole second and advanced to third on a sacrifice by Boomer Walker. With two outs, Twin Falls had a rally going as Matt Rasmussen walked and stole second base. Mike Buster stepped up and Ehardt blew a third strike passed him, but on the play, the catcher dropped the ball and hit Buster on the throw to first base. Both Bollinger and Rasmussen scored on the error and the Cowboys led 2-0.

The Cowboys added an insurance run in the fifth inning. Bob Jenco led off with a walk, stole second base, advanced to third base on a sacrifice by Walker and came home on a Rasmussen ground-out.

"That last run was executed great," said Cowboys coach Mike Federico, finding a bright side of the doubleheader. "Our last two wins (Friday and Thursday against Mini-Cassia) were execution wins."

Smith walked a pair of batters and struck out eight. "I can't say enough about Chris," said Federico. "He did a great job." Smith allowed only two hits, both doubles and both by Gary Jones.

Idaho Falls held off the pesky Cowboys in the opener.

After leading 5-2, the Cowboys cut the lead to a single run in the fifth inning. Jenco reached on an error and Walker was hit by a pitch. Jenco scored on a single by Buster and a Rasmussen fielders choice scored Walker. With Buster and Rasmussen aboard, the Cowboys couldn't push either runner across the plate.

Idaho Falls put the game away in the seventh scoring four runs, capped by a two-run homer by Cody Gosman.

Pocatello, Buhl teams advance in 'B' Legion

By RON GATES
Times-News writer

SHOSHONE — Friday's offerings from the Southern Region "B" American Legion baseball tournament failed to match the airtight contests of a day earlier.

The Pocatello Rebels and Buhl Indians — seeded first and second, respectively — earned their way into a 3 p.m. meeting this afternoon with the winner advancing to Sunday's final with a berth in the next week's state tourney at St. Maries already in hand.

Pocatello whitewashed Twin Falls 13-0 in the initial winners' bracket game and Buhl followed with a six-inning 18-8 run-rule decision over Idaho Falls in the nightcap.

Morning loser-out contests saw Jerome out Wood-River from the tournament 9-3 and the Mini-Cassia Sage sideline host Shoshone 11-3.

In Friday's late game, the Indians staked starter Brian Hansen to a seven-run lead in their first at bat, driving Reds' hurler Jason Whitney from the mound after retiring only one batter.

Derrick Brinkman and Hansen started the Buhl spree with back-to-back singles—Gasey-Boyer-doubled-scoring both and another one-bagger, this time by Mike Brady sent Boyer across: Two walks each off Whitney and reliever Jason Cherry did most of the rest of the damage.

But Hansen struck every bit as wild surrendering just one hit, but issuing three passes and hitting two batters before himself being lifted in favor of eventual-winner Jason Allred with his team ahead 7-4 and two out.

Buhl extended its margin to 11-6 after four innings, then erupted for another seven-run frame in the sixth to pull out a ranch.

"We've played better," said Idaho Falls Co-coach Mike Bennett. "It's hard to pinpoint it so many things went wrong today. It wasn't so much our hitting. We had eight runs and that's usually enough to win, but we committed nine errors."

"We didn't do any of the things you have to do to beat a good team," he continued. "And it's all good clubs from now on. You don't get this far in this tournament if you're not."

Brady's paved the way going three for three at the plate, including a triple, scored four times and knocked in two runs. Brinkman

Swede maintains share of lead in U.S. Women's Open

By BOB GREEN
The Associated Press

BALTIMORE — Swedish rookie Liselotte Neumann said fear of failure was very much on her mind heading into Friday's second round of the 43rd U.S. Women's Open Golf Championship.

"I wanted to keep my lead," said the 22-year-old, who set a first-round tournament record with a 67.

"I was very nervous. I guess I was scared I might do what I did in Sarasota (earlier this season). I had a big first round lead, maybe five shots, and lost it all on the second day," she said.

She got off to a shaky start, but managed a 1-over-par 72 and retained a share of the lead at 3-under-par 139, matching the Women's Open record for 36 holes.

She was tied with Juli Inkster and Dottie Pepper-Mochrie, another rookie on the LPGA Tour.

Mochrie, daughter of former Detroit Tiger player Don Pepper, was alone in first place until she hit a tree limb with her second shot on the 18th hole and the ball kicked straight back.

Her third shot made it to the fringe and she had to get it up and down, making a 3-foot putt, to save bogey and a share of the top spot.

"A very good bogey," she said after shooting a 69.

Inkster, a three-time women's amateur champion who admits to a fascination with this tournament, had her

Sommer, Welty land in high jump final

By The Times-News

INDIANAPOLIS — Amber Welty of Twin Falls and Coleen Rienstra Sommer, a former Buhl resident now living in Chandler, Ariz., qualified Friday for today's finals of the women's high jump at the U.S. Olympic Track and Field Trials.

Lisa Bernhagen, a Stanford University senior from Hailey, failed to qualify for the finals when she went out of the competition at 5 feet, 10 inches.

Nineteen women will compete for the three spots on the U.S. Olympic team in the finals, scheduled for 1 p.m. MDT at the Indiana University Track and Field Stadium today. ABC-TV will televise the finals on a tape-delay basis on "Wide World of Sports," beginning at 2 p.m.

Sommer, a 28-year-old former Arizona State University high jumper, led a group of 11 qualifiers at 6 feet, 1 1/4 inches. That group includes American record-holder Louise Ritter and 1988 TAC (The Athletics Congress) outdoor champion Jan Wolschlag.

Welty, a 21-year-old Idaho State University senior who is the defending NCAA outdoor high jump champion, led a list of eight qualifiers at 6-0.

"She made it by the skin of her teeth," said ISU Sports Information Director Glenn Allard. "Only 11 women, not including Amber, cleared 6-1 1/4, but the meet officials decided they wanted 12 in the finals."

"We'll have to change a few things," said ISU track coach Dave Neilson, who said Welty will add a step or two to her approach for the finals today. "We made a wrong adjustment in her approach step and she couldn't seem to get off the ground."

Bernhagen, the 1987 NCAA indoor champion, was one of only six jumpers who failed to clear 6-0 on Friday, missing three attempts at that height. Among the others was Angie Bradburn of the University of Texas, the 1988-NCAA indoor champion who went only 5-9 1/4 Friday.

Bernhagen finished seventh in the 1984 Olympic high jump trials.

Sommer, who set the Idaho state high school high jump record at Buhl High School in 1976 that Bernhagen broke seven years later at Wood River, made all of her jumps Friday. Her personal best is 6-5 1/4, which is also the American indoor record. Her 6-5 1/4 is the second-best high jump by an American woman this year.

Welty's person best 6-3 1/4, which won her the NCAA outdoor title. Bernhagen jumped 6-5 1/4 last year.

Griffith Joyner sets U.S. record in 200

By BERT ROSENTHAL
The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS — Florence Griffith Joyner shattered the American record in the women's 200-meter dash and Greg Foster, competing for the first time since suffering a broken-left forearm, advanced through his first two heats in the men's 110-meter high hurdles at the U.S. Olympic Trials.

Griffith Joyner, who set the world record of 10.49 in the 100-meter dash last Saturday, won her second-round heat in 21.77 seconds. That erased the U.S. record of 21.81, set by Olympic gold medalist Valerie Brisco at the 1984 Los Angeles Games.

Foster competed with his arm heavily wrapped after having received a light, plastic brace just before each of his races.

Appearing nervous before the first heat, Foster was called for one false start before the gun went off. He also appeared to have great difficulty setting his injured arm in the blocks.

But once he got going, Foster ran relatively well.

He led all the way and was timed in 13.58, edged Andre Phillips, second in 13.60.

In the second round, Foster got out of the blocks slowly, never led and finished a tired third in 13.69.

After the race, he sat on the track, put his arms over his head and lay down on the track for a short time before being helped up by track attendants. He did not appear hurt, just exhausted.

The hurdles semifinals and final will be run Saturday.

Foster, the 1983 and 1987 world champion and 1984 Olympic silver medalist, suffered the broken arm July 4 during a drill. He underwent surgery that night and was hospitalized for three days.

This week, he had 54 surgical staples removed from the arm, which was broken in two places. The arm now has four plates in it, held together with 12 screws.

He knew he was taking a big risk by running with the injury, but he said, "I'm a hurdler and I want to hurdle."

Brisco was in the same second-round heat as Griffith Joyner, but was no match for the new American record-holder, who was wearing a fluorescent golden yellow, full-length outfit. Brisco finished second in 22.35.

Griffith Joyner's time was the eighth-fastest in history and was only .06 of a second off the world record of 21.71, shared by East German Marita Koch and Heike Drechsler, who each have done it twice.

Only two other runners, East Germans Marlies Gohr and Silke Gladisch-Moller, have run faster than Griffith Joyner.

"Valerie was in the race," said Griffith Joyner, who will run the semifinals and final Saturday. "She was the women's 100-meter high hurdles in 12.88 and Brian Abshire won the men's 3,000-meter steeplechase in 8:23.64, the fastest time by an American this year."

Humphrey, from Eastern Kentucky University, finished just ahead of Gail Devers-Roberts, the co-American record-holder, second in 12.90, and LaYonna Martin third in 12.93.

Bonnie Fitzgerald-Brown, the 1984 Olympic gold medalist, barely missed

Sometime coach, sometime umpire, sometime player

By CHARLOTTE HOWARD
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — At 9:30 Thursday morning Shayn Wallace was off — first to catch a softball game, then off to play a golf game in the afternoon.

That is a typical busy day for him. Wallace, 17, is going to be a senior at the Twin Falls High School. Not only does he coach, but he also plays baseball and softball.

This year, Wallace played for the Twin Falls Bruins. He pitched at the championship game of the state Class A baseball tournament, which Twin Falls won. Besides being a pitcher, he also plays left field and shortstop.

This summer he is playing in a church softball league. But you won't find him in the field. At these games, you will find him at shortstop. He began playing this summer and describes himself as a "rookie". Wallace is not a "rookie" by any means. He has been playing organized baseball for more than 12 years. He started in the Pee Wee League and moved through Babe Ruth and to high school.

He played for the Wilson-Bates team during his Babe Ruth career. He was named leading pitcher and leading hitter for two years during his eighth and ninth grade years. Wallace umpired the Babe Ruth League and the B Legion games this summer.

"I wasn't really an umpire. I was just a baseball player trying to be one," he says.

He also says that he "loves to see the kids give their best effort," but adds that some of the coaches and fans are hard to deal with.

Wallace feels that to be an umpire you have to be willing to be fair and honest along with knowing the rules. He says he has made a few "terrible" calls but to get past, but he feels that he couldn't do anything but "try to correct it next time."

Wallace coaches the Paris team of the International League, which plays twice a week and is going to play in the championship game in August. He really enjoys it, he says, and has coached before. He previously coached a fourth-grade girls' softball team and has also coached a boys' baseball and basketball team.

Besides being a baseball player, he is also a golfer, tennis player, and a basketball player. But for this athlete, sports isn't everything. Wallace is a member of the National Honor

Coach Shayn Wallace advises player Kristi Flavel

Society and has to maintain a 3.5 or higher grade average during the school year. To Wallace, "playing college baseball seems a little far-fetched." He says that he would like to go to college on an athletic scholarship instead of an academic scholarship.

In the steeplechase, American record-holder Henry Marsh finished second in 8:24.21, earning his fourth Olympic berth, and Brian Diemer was third in 8:24.30.

Earlier, Jackie Joyner-Kersey continued her outstanding long jumping and long-time rivals John Powell and Mac Wilkins extended their feud.

Joyner-Kersey, who set the world record in the heptathlon last week with 7,216 points, broke the meet record in the women's long jump of 22-11 3/4, set by Jodi Anderson in 1980.

Joyner-Kersey, who set the world heptathlon record a week ago, sailed into Saturday's women's long jump final with a meet-record qualifying leap of 23 feet, 8 3/4 inches.

Wilkins and Powell, two of track and field's "old guard," finished 1-2 in the men's discus qualifying — and re-newed their perennial verbal battle.

Griffith Joyner had spent an easy victory in her first-round heat in the 200. Her time of 21.96 was the fastest by an American this year — until she bettered it in the second round — and broke the meet record of 22:16 set in 1984 by Brisco.

"She wasn't going for a record," said her husband, Al Joyner, the 1984 Olympic gold medalist in the triple jump. "She knew she was going to advance."

Also qualifying for Saturday's long jump final was Carol Lewis, the younger sister of Carl Lewis, who already has made the men's team in the 100, 200 and long jump — the three events he won at the 1984 Los Angeles Games, along with a gold for running on the 400-meter relay team.

Carol Lewis long-jumped 21-8 1/4 in the qualifying, fourth-best behind Joyner-Kersey, Jennifer Inniss (21-11 3/4) and Claire Connor (21-9).

Powell, 41, trying to become the first American man to make five Olympic teams, hurled the discus 205-2 during qualifying for Saturday's final.

Long jumper Willye White is the only American woman to make five Olympic teams, competing in the 1956, 1960, 1964, 1968 and 1972 Games.

One woman, discus thrower Lia Manoliu of Romania, was on six Olympic track and field teams.

Wilkins, 37, the 1976 Olympic gold medalist — and 1984 silver medalist, tossed the discus 209-6. He is seeking his third Olympic berth.

"There is no reason to put our differences aside during the Olympics," Wilkins said. "It is not a team sport, so working together wouldn't help either of us."

"We have to do anything possible to spur on our own individual performance. We have a personality clash and we each use that to make ourselves better throwers."

Powell never has won an Olympic gold — but earned bronze medals in 1976 and 1984 and finished fourth in 1972. He finished second in the 1987 World Championships and was ranked No. 1 in the United States for the fifth time in his career.

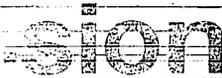

He is taking his achievements lightly. Asked about making his fifth Olympic team, he said, "I decided there would be life after this if I don't make it," he said. "There weren't bells when I made the team for the fourth time."

"It's probably significant to me," he said. "But in the large scheme of things, it might be a small note in a trivia book."

In the men's 1,500 semifinals, Joe Falcon took the first heat in 3:42.24, and Jeff Atkinson won the second heat in 3:40.77. Among the other advancing were Steve Scott, Jim Spivey and Chuck Aragon.

REPORT TO ADVERTISERS WHO WANT AUDITED ZIP CODE CIRCULATION INFORMATION:

(pri-'sizz-n) n. the quality of detail included in a stated measurement.

Precision is the standard at our newspaper. We have chosen to have our circulation audited and reported by ZIP code for advertisers who require this precision. Our circulation reports now offer the data you want in the detail you need. The information is still verified by the world's oldest and largest not-for-profit circulation auditing organization—the Audit Bureau of Circulations. ABC's nearly 5,100 members represent all facets of the publishing and advertising industries. Periodically, ABC conducts an independent audit of our circulation practices and publishes its findings in an easy-to-read report of fact, not opinion. Before you make a media buying decision based on ZIP codes, ask us for a copy of our audited ZIP code results. We'd be pleased to give them to you.
