Colombia given $65 million in drug war aid

The Associated Press

KENNEBUNKPORT, Maine — President Bush said Friday he will send $65 million worth of helicopters, weapons and other equipment to help Colombia in its "courageous" battle against drug barons who have proclaimed all-out war against the government.

The first shipment, a $20 million package of eight Huey transport helicopters; arms such as machine guns, mortars and ammunition; 4-wheel drive vehicles; ambulances; communications equipment and anti-tank guns, will be sent next week, said presidential spokesman Marlin Fitzwater.

Later shipments will include medical supplies, 12 more Huey helicopters, a Blackhawk medical evacuation helicopter, assault boats, trucks, medical supplies and airplanes, Fitzwater said.

Hours after the announcement, an official who requested anonymity said discussions were still going on with the Colombians about their specific needs.

Fitzwater said no U.S. combat troops will go to Colombia, but U.S. advisers will be sent to train the Colombians in operating the U.S. equipment.

"It's not anticipated they would be in a combat role," he told reporters accompanying Bush on his vacation here.

"Our only motivation is to do as much as we can as fast as we can," the president's spokesman said. "We have a war situation in America, let alone in Colombia."

Officials said Colombia is most in need of transportation to conduct raids and apprehend the drug cartel operatives.

The material to be taken from Pentagon stocks, will be paid for with unspent funds made available through the 1986 Foreign Assistance Act.

The act gives the president about $75 million in discretionary funds yearly; about $10 million has been spent this year, said an official in Washington.

Fitzwater also said that the United States has begun shipping a variety of military gear bought earlier by the Colombian government, including 20 Huey and five Blackhawk helicopters. The State Department was also lending Colombia two helicopters.

The administration's $65 million aid package does not include those helicopters.

Fitzwater said Bush would propose sending additional aid to Colombia in the Sept. 5 speech in which he will detail his administration's plan to battle drugs.

In Washington, Senate Majority Leader George J. Mitchell, D-Maine, said he supports the administration's decision and that the United States must be united with Colombia in the drug fight.

The $65 million package will be in addition to $2.5 million worth of U.S. security assistance to help protect Colombian judges, the primary targets of the drug cartels.

Ryan and Debby Andrews, Boise, ponder over the choices of school supplies during their visit to the Pay Less store

Kids, parents stock up on school supplies

By JENNIFER KAUTH
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Kids picked out heart pencils and neon folders Friday as parents checked items off their lists.

Shopping for school supplies is one of the first warning signs that school is just around the corner. Many Magic Valley schools start next week while several began late this week.

Kids polled said they didn't mind going back to school, although most contradicted themselves and also said their summer vacations were too short.

Five-year-old Dusty Arnout of Filer, for instance, nodded vigorously that he would have liked to have gone on more camping trips before school started, but also said he's glad to be back in school. Filer kids hit the books beginning Thursday.

Shelves of brightly colored and pastel binders and mod folders formed a formidable wall for Pay Less back-to-school shoppers. But for Ryan Andrews of Boise, it was easy to spot the glow-in-the-dark colors he was looking for. He did stray away from neon, however, for a special Batman folder.

Andrews, who will be in the sixth grade, said he usually goes with his mother because "she doesn't pick out the kind of stuff I like."

Parents said they usually bring their children with them when shopping for school supplies.

Voyager cameras uncover Triton's ice volcanoes

The Associated Press

PASADENA, Calif. — Voyager 2 brushed by Neptune's south pole and photographed volcanoes that oozed gushed ice lava on frosty, fault-cracked Triton, revealing "a world unlike any we've ever seen," NASA said Friday.

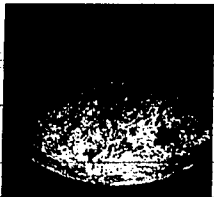

"All we can say now is, wow! — what a way to leave the solar system," said U.S. Geological Survey geologist Laurence Soderblom, deputy leader of Voyager's photographic imaging team.

The one-ton space probe capped its historic 4.43-billion mile, 12-year tour of four planets when it skimmed 3,048 miles over Neptune's north pole Thursday night, then dove past Triton, the planet's largest moon. It made its closest approach about 23,900 miles above the moon's surface at 2:10 a.m. EDT Friday.

During its approach to Neptune, Voyager discovered six moons in addition to Nereid and frost-covered Triton, which were first observed from Earth.

The spacecraft also discovered one complete ring of debris around the planet and a partial ring, or ring arc, scientists believe will also prove to be a complete ring.

Voyager's closest photos of Triton were recorded on tape for playback to earth this weekend, but those returned Friday astounded scientists. Soderblom said they showed at least three volcanoes, now inactive, that "once produced flows of viscous ice — perhaps frozen natural gas or nitrogen ice.

South polar area of Triton shows irregular topography

The images returned this morning revealed a world unlike any we've ever seen," said Voyager project scientist Edward Stone.

While icy volcanic flows without associated craters have been seen on Uranus' moon Ariel and some other moons, "it's the first time we've seen an icy volcano," Stone said, referring to one of the huge craters on Triton.

"This is a real volcano." But Stone noted that Triton's volcanoes are "filled with ice instead of rock. The lava flow is a flow of ice, not of rock."

NASA geologist Joseph Boyce said one of the ice volcanoes — which look like dry lakebeds filled with smooth material — measures several hundred miles across.

Other Triton photos showed long fault lines, ridges, low-lying cliffs and

Mushroom trial lawyers submit $3.8 million bill

By CRAIG LINCOLN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Several mushroom farmers who won a multi-million-dollar bad-faith verdict against Idaho First National Bank asked Friday for $3.8 million in attorneys' fees and costs.

"It certainly would have been cheaper," said Robert Erkins, the farm's president, if the bank would have agreed to the farm's settlement offers.

"But they didn't, so this is the result," Idaho First lawyer Peter Houtsuma declined comment, saying he hadn't seen the court documents.

Bliss Valley Foods Inc., a gourmet mushroom farm north of Bliss, two years ago was defending a $2.2-million lawsuit over a business action.

But when Bliss Valley President Robert Erkins hired Boston lawyer Ed McCabe to fight the bank's action, the lawsuit turned into a test of lender liability law — a budding legal specialty that strives to hold banks liable for improper lending actions. After a 12-week trial earlier this year, a jury awarded $5.6 million to the farm and forgave its

Poland's course encourages Baltic states

The Associated Press

VILNIUS, U.S.S.R. — Residents of the Soviet Baltic republics are encouraged by neighboring Poland's bold steps away from communism as they probe the limits of President Mikhail S. Gorbachev's reforms.

As more than a million Baltic residents formed a human chain this week to mourn the independence they lost to Stalin's tanks a half-century ago, a poster was displayed in Vilnius, the Lithuanian capital:

"Lithuanians and Poles: Let's Unite Against the Common Enemy."

It was not clear whether the message was directed at Poles living in their homeland or the Polish minority in Lithuania, but there was little doubt about the "common enemy": Soviet-style communism.

The message cuts across the border formed by Stalin's incorporation of the Baltics in 1940 to emphasize Lithuania's location twice as far from Moscow as from Warsaw, and five centuries of history when the two lands were united in one kingdom.

Poland's Solidarity trade union capped its nine-year reform battle with the election Thursday of one of its leaders as prime minister, the first non-Communist in that post in the East bloc. On the previous day in the Baltics, residents held hands to mark the 50th anniversary of a secret Nazi-Soviet agreement that gave Poland to Germany and the Baltics to the Soviet Union on the eve of World War II.

Although Baltic activists stress there are many

Living Earth's response could make greenhouse effect worse

The Associated Press

SUNDANCE, Utah — The good news: Many studies that direly predict global warming don't consider that rising temperatures could prompt the world's organic systems to respond with their own climate-shifting effects.

The bad news: Those responses may heat things up even more, scientists meeting here said Friday.

Until now, scientists have predicted global warming based largely on the rising levels of carbon dioxide and other atmospheric gases produced by human activities such as the burning of fossil fuels and logging of forests. Many say that such warming, left unchecked, could drastically alter worldwide weather patterns and increase polar-ice melting, thereby raising sea level and flooding coastal regions.

That's bad enough, but when natural response to warming are considered, the situation looks even more grim, said Daniel Lashof, a former Environmental Protection Agency scientist now working for the Natural Resources Defense Council, an environmental group.

"All the models are modeling a dead Earth," Lashof said. "When you look at a live Earth, you get a different answer."

Researchers are just starting to study how global warming may kill off forests and prompt the release of methane from ocean sediments, events that in turn could heat the Earth even more.

Lashof predicted that these responses and other natural "feedback" could up to double the amount of global warming, already forecast by current studies to range from 2 to 10 degrees over the next century.

His predictions were supported by others at a U.S.-Soviet conference on global warming concluding this weekend at actorfilmmaker Robert Redford's Sundance resort here in central Utah.

Studies supporting Lashof's conclusions "are accumulating on an almost day-by-day basis," said George Woodwell, director of the Woods Hole Research Center in Massachusetts.

"If the biotic effects that appear to be materializing are real, they have the potential for speeding the process of

Federal wiretapping trial in recess

MOSCOW (AP) — Judge Harold Ryan has recessed the federal wiretapping trial of Idaho County Sheriff Randy Baldwin until Monday in the midst of a legal argument over whether jurors should hear a tape in which Baldwin allegedly admits tapping one of his department telephones.

Ryan had earlier rejected Assistant U.S. Attorney Ron Howen's request to play the entire two-hour taped interview on grounds that much of the information contained on the tape was irrelevant to the case and might unfairly prejudice the jury against Baldwin.

But Ryan did not rule immediately on Howen's revised request on Friday that he be allowed to red the jury the relevant portions of a transcript of the interview and then play those parts of the tape for the jury.

2 grants for wastewater treatment

BOISE (AP) — Two Idaho communities will receive state grant money to finance wastewater treatment projects, Gov. Cecil Andrus has announced.

Lakey's Cooperative Sewage Co., a non-profit association in the Caldwell area, was awarded $105,000 to design and install sewage facilities in its service area.

The city of Blackfoot received $37,500 to construct improvements at its plant. Total cost is $50,000, with the city paying $12,500.

The money is from the Water Pollution Control Account managed by the Department of Health and Welfare.

New member on advisory panel

BOISE (AP) — A Franklin County commissioner has been appointed a new member of the State Advisory Council on Aging, Gov. Cecil Andrus has announced.

Stewart Butters of Weston will represent Area 5 until next July 1, filling a vacancy caused by the resignation of Doris Irving of Soda Springs.

Bannock County Treasurer Shelley Shannon of Pocatello and Dr. Glenn Weyrich of Boise have been reappointed to the Health Facilities Authority that oversees health care in the state. The new terms run until July 1, 1994.

Grant money goes for care center

BOISE (AP) — A day care center for the aged in southeastern Idaho is one of the first expenditures of new federal grant money, Gov. Cecil Andrus has announced.

The $200,000 federal grant for the Idaho Office on Aging is one of four awarded nationwide. The state will commit an additional $75,000 and community councils will be set up to develop better services for older Idahoans.

The first major project will be the establishment of an adult day care center.

"Improving the quality of life of our senior citizens must be a top goal of our society," the governor said Friday.

Idaho given grant to combat drugs

BOISE (AP) — Education is a key element to stop drug and alcohol abuse, says Gov. Cecil Andrus, who has announced a $425,000 federal grant to aid drug control efforts.

The funds come to the state from the U.S. Department of Education under the Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act.

New game in lottery Sept. 7

BOISE (AP) — Lottery fever continues in Idaho unabated as state officials have announced the third instant-scratch ticket game originally scheduled for October begins on Sept. 7.

"We continue to be amazed," said Lottery Director Wally Hedrick on Friday. "We keep expecting sales to slow, but they're keeping pretty constant."

Meanwhile, three people charged with altering a lottery ticket to produce a $10 winner pleaded innocent Friday in 4th District Court in Boise.

Idaho may have the second highest per capita ticket sales in the United States with $2 per person per week, Lottery spokesman Bob Cooper said.

While the lottery was expected to produce about $25 million the first year, it brought in $8.5 million in the month after the gaming opened June 19 and $10.1 million thus far, Hedrick said.

La Tienda in Franklin County on the Utah border led the state in sales with 222,750 tickets by Aug. 18, followed by the Kwik Stop in Oneida County with 116,250. The counties combined have 13,000 residents, enforcing the idea that Utahans are traveling north in healthy numbers to play Idaho's Lottery.

More than 8 million "Instant Doubler" tickets will be distributed, while some of the first "Idaho Match 3" and second "Idaho Instant Scratch" tickets remain in some stores. The profit the state realizes goes to the Permanent Building Fund and the Public School Improvement Fund.

Participants scratch off the latex covering on the tickets to uncover six numbers. If two like dollar amounts are found and the word "double," the player wins twice the numbered figure. So, two $5,000s and a double would net the winner $10,000, the same amount as the highest figure on the Instant Scratch game.

To date, 7.7 million Idaho Match 3 and 2.4 million Instant Scratch tickets have been sold.

$100,000 grant to help Lowman

BOISE (AP) — A $100,000 grant has been issued by the state to Boise County to help finance the recovery of the small community of Lowman that was burned out a month ago by Idaho's most destructive wildfire of the season.

The forest fires have caused a devastating loss for many people and it's imperative that we attempt to help them get back on their feet," Gov. Cecil Andrus said Friday, in making the state Commerce Department grant available.

The economic aid came three days after fire crews contained the Lowman fire that spread over more than 46,000 acres after it was sparked by lightning on July 26. It was the last of scores of fires that storm spawned to be reined in.

The grant, from a special fund to provide assistance to communities facing "imminent threat" as a result of natural disasters, will help pay part of the costs of cleaning up the fire damage and protecting domestic water supplies from contamination.

4 whites charged with black's death

NEW YORK (AP) — Four young white men were charged Friday as members of the gang that killed a black teenager in a rage against interracial dating.

But the man who shot Yusef Hawkins remained at large; police said. Authorities know the identity of the gunman, who was believed to still be in the city, police sources said.

Hawkins, 16, and three friends came to a predominantly white section of Brooklyn known as Bensonhurst Wednesday night to try to buy a used car.

Among those charged Friday was Keith Mondello, 18, who police said was the youth whose troubles with a girlfriend led to the attack on the four blacks by up to 30 young men, many wielding baseball bats.

President congratulates Mazowiecki

KENNEBUNKPORT, Maine (AP) — President Bush sent congratulatory messages to Poland's new non-communist prime minister, Tadeusz Mazowiecki, and to communist President Wojciech Jaruzelski, whom he praised for "leading Poland through a very difficult period," a Bush spokesman said Friday.

Presidential press secretary Marlin Fitzwater said Bush had sent the personal messages to Warsaw on Thursday by diplomatic cable, and that they were hand-delivered to the two leaders by the U.S. ambassador.

Bush's "personal message" to Mazowiecki, the Soviet Bloc's first non-communist leader, conveyed "warmest congratulations," Fitzwater said.

Space lab workers cheer Quayle

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Employees at NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory cheered Friday as Vice President Dan Quayle repeated his support for a strong American space program.

"We are seeing a beginning of a new era where we'll see a commitment to space," Quayle said, echoing comments he has made in recent months as he works hard to adopt the space program as his major issue.

The crowd cheered as Quayle said that unmanned missions — the Jet Propulsion Laboratory's specialty — will continue to be an important part of the U.S. space program.

Hurricane Erin to blow itself out

MIAMI (AP) — Hurricane Erin's winds strengthened to 100 mph Friday, but forecasters said the storm was expected to remain well out in the Atlantic and lose strength as it continues its northeast track.

"It's only a threat to marine interests," said National Hurricane Center forecaster Todd Kimberlain. "Our forecast track is between Greenland and Ireland."

The storm will probably lose what forecasters call its tropical characteristics over the North Atlantic, but that doesn't mean it will be harmless, Kimberlain said. A similar storm lashed Great Britain two years ago, causing substantial damage.

12 railroad workers sue Amtrak

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Twelve railroad workers have sued Amtrak, alleging that passenger trains have dumped raw sewage on them while they repaired a bridge.

The workers claim in the lawsuit, filed in Circuit Court this week, that they have been sprayed repeatedly by raw sewage since 1987 while working on a Portland-area railroad bridge over the Willamette River.

They say they have suffered flu-like symptoms from exposure to human waste and have "extreme concern" about working at that site. The lawsuit alleges that Amtrak has continued the practice despite workers' complaints.

Bush cancels boating excursion

KENNEBUNKPORT, Maine (AP) — President Bush and his wife, Barbara, called off a boating excursion Friday after he ran his 28-foot power craft over a submerged object and damaged the housing of one of the vessel's two propellers.

Bush was returning with his boat, Fidelity, after a fishing trip with two reporters when it hit either a board or a lobster pot. The boat was taken to a nearby marina for repairs.

Congressman admits hiring prostitute

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — U.S. Rep. Barney Frank said Friday he was trying to change the life of a male prostitute he had once patronized when he hired him as a personal aide, and later fell duped when he suspected the man was selling sex from Frank's Washington apartment.

Frank, a Democrat who disclosed his homosexuality in May 1987, said he became friends with the man after their first paid encounter, and was trying to wean him from a life of drugs and prostitution. He fired the man in August 1987 when it appeared his effort had failed.

The incident was disclosed in Friday's editions of The Washington Times. Frank, 49, said he had no intention of resigning or dropping plans to run for re-election next year. But the state Republican Party said he should quit.

"Thinking I was going to be Henry Higgins and trying to turn him into Pygmalion was the biggest mistake I ever made," Frank said during a news conference at his office in this Boston suburb. He referred to the character in the play "Pygmalion" and the musical based on it. "My

REP. BARNEY FRANK Felt duped, fired worker.

Fair Lady," a professor who tries to turn a poor London woman into a lady.

"I don't think I'm going to be heavily penalized by the voters for being suckered by a guy I was trying to help," he said.

The only other member of Congress to publicly acknowledge being a homosexual, Rep. Gerry Studds, easily won re-election after being censured by the House in 1983 for an affair 10 years earlier with a 17-year-old male House page. Like Frank, Studds is a Democrat from Massachusetts.

The Washington newspaper said the man was named Greg Davis, but Frank said his real name was Steve Gobie. There was no telephone listing for a "Steve Gobie" in Washington or its suburbs.

Frank said he met the man in 1985, and estimated his age at 26 or 27. The congressman admitted paying for sex with the man once, but said the relationship quickly became one of friendship.

He said he paid Gobie to do household chores, driving and other errands from his own money, not congressional or campaign funds. The total compensation, including cash and payment of lawyer and other bills, amounted to about $20,000, he said.

The newspaper said "Davis" indicated that Frank was aware that sex was being sold from his Capitol Hill apartment and was concerned that it might be discovered. Frank called the man's allegations that he was aware of the activity "absolutely untrue."

When asked if the revelation might force him to resign from Congress, Frank replied: "Of course not. Why should I?"

But Alexander Tennant, executive director of the state GOP, said he should resign not because there are laws against patronizing prostitutes.

"This is simply a question of a congressman who had the public's trust and violated this trust by engaging in illegal activity," Tennant said. "Frank revealed today that he paid for sex."

House Speaker Tom Foley, a Democrat, said Friday that Frank "has provided outstanding service to his constituency and the nation, and I am absolutely confident he will continue to do so long after this matter has been forgotten."

Frank said he fired Gobie in August 1987 after his landlord and landlady told him for the second time that Gobie and an unidentified woman may have been arranging liaisons, mostly heterosexual, at the apartment in Frank's absence.

Protesters clash with riot police

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Riot police using tear gas and shotguns clashed with anti-apartheid protesters Friday in townships near Cape Town.

Police wounded three youths and rioters reportedly killed two black men.

The unrest is linked to a nationwide campaign to defy apartheid laws. As part of the campaign, dozens of blacks successfully sought treatment Friday at a whites-only hospital wing in East London and clergymen announced plans to defy bus segregation laws in the capital city, Pretoria.

In black and mixed-race townships near Cape Town, police and anti-apartheid militants have clashed almost daily for more than three weeks.

On Friday, police fired birdshot to break up a protest at Mitchell's Plain township, wounding three mixed-race high school students. Another police contingent set up roadblocks outside the University of the Western Cape and fired tear gas at mixed-race and black students who had erected barricades on the campus.

Police officials said two officers were wounded by a gunman in Mitchell's Plain, and reported that two black men were killed by rioters in separate incidents elsewhere after their vehicles were attacked, one by people hurling stones and one by a firebomb.

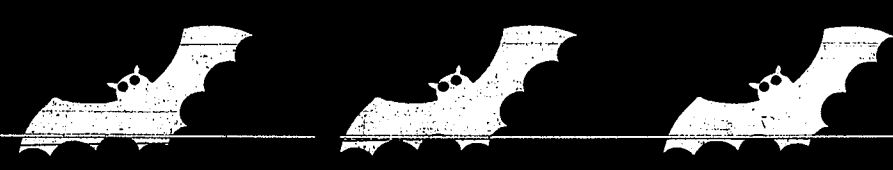

Police banned rallies planned Friday night and today to protest a rugby match in Cape Town on today between South Africa's national team and a squad of Australian, French and British players. The international team's visit has been denounced by activists as a violation of a sports-boycott imposed to protest apartheid.

Plane search
in Pakistan
suspended

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — Rain and darkness forced rescuers to postpone their search Friday for a passenger plane that disappeared over the country's rugged northern mountains.

Pakistan International Airlines Flight 27 took off early Friday on what should have been a 45-minute flight from the Korakoram Mountain city of Gilgit to Islamabad.

The pilot of the missing plane made a routine call seven minutes after takeoff. There was nothing after that, nothing at all to indicate the plane was in trouble, Ms. Sultan said.

The airline's chief pilot, who uses the single name Khizar, said the twin-engine plane carried 49 passengers, including five infants, and five crew members.

Most of the passengers were Pakistanis, but Ms. Sultan said the list included an American, Paul McGorrian, a freelance journalist believed to be from St. Petersburg, Fla.

Two Pakistan Air Force C-130 aircraft, helicopters and a small airline search plane scanned the Himalaya and Korakoram mountains for signs of the plane until darkness and bad weather forced them to wait until Saturday.

Baker to sit out
talks on Cambodia

WASHINGTON (AP) Secretary of State James A. Baker III will sit out next week's close of the Paris peace conference on Cambodia because of the lack of progress on a truce and power-sharing arrangement, the State Department said Friday.

Accusing Vietnam and its surrogate government in Cambodia of inflexibility, State Department spokesman Richard Boucher said "Secretary Baker does not plan at this time to return to Paris for the August 28th to 30th ministerial session."

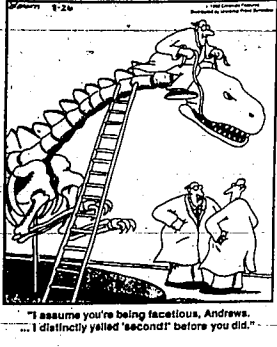

Baker took part in the opening round of the talks that seek an agreement between the Cambodian government and a rebel coalition backed by Prince Norodom Sihanouk once Vietnam withdraws the last of its troops next month.

SYDNEY OMARR

ASTROLOGICAL FORECASTS

IF AUGUST 26 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY it is all or nothing where you are concerned. Ultimatum was laid down in connection with family affairs who were sad, depressed, confused. Strangely, however, your function will undergo. Cancer, Capricorn persons play important roles in your life. By October, you'll be on your feet financially, in control of emotions, capable of meeting deadlines. You are sentimental, intense, romantic, capable of fulfilling obligations. New start in December.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You might be saying, "It is true after all, time does heal all wounds!" Beliefs are verified, relationship is back on track. You'll get the money and feel more secure. Deadline exists regarding home.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Although you have more now, conditions may feel at "loose ends." Relaxed, although not asked, apparently feels free to spout opinions. You're free of obligation. Long distance call might turn joyous.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): New approach brings desired financial results. Focus on independence, greater awareness of spiritual values. Impart your own style. Love affair requires nurturing. Leo, Aquarius persons play roles.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Lunar position emphasizes personality, appearance, sex appeal. Some will say you are acting in "languid manner." Actually these people are jealous because you are remaining calm, contented.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Obtain hint from Cancer message. Threats by those who were "left behind" are empty. You'll be reassured tonight at social affair. Emphasis on

World
Woman
cabinet

TOKYO (AP) — Prime Minister Toshiki Kaifu chose a woman to replace a Cabinet minister who resigned Friday in the second sex scandal of a disastrous year for the governing party.

The appointment of Mayumi Moriyama, 61, as chief Cabinet secretary was seen as an attempt to limit the damage caused by Tokuo Yamashita's resignation from a government formed just 16 days earlier to cleanse the party's scandal-ridden image.

She is the first woman to be chief Cabinet secretary, and it is the highest government post ever held by a woman in this male-dominated society. Ms. Moriyama formerly was director of the Environment Agency, also a Cabinet position.

The chief secretary presides over twice-weekly Cabinet meetings, speaks for the government and coordinates policy discussions among ministers.

Yamashita, 69, stepped down after acknowledging a three-year affair with a bar hostess nearly 45 years his junior.

He became the sixth Cabinet member, including Prime Ministers Noboru Takeshita and Sosuke Uno, to resign in less than a year because of an influence-peddling scandal, publicity over illicit sexual liaisons and an election defeat.

A major factor in the election loss last month, which cost the Liberal Democrats their majority in Parliament's upper house, was outrage by housewives at a 3 percent sales tax the party forced through Parliament last fall.

Dissident says indictment persecution

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Kim Dae-jung, South Korea's best-known dissident, said Friday his indictment under the national security laws was an act of persecution intended to discredit his opposition political party.

Radical students shouting slogans against the government and the United States battled riot police with rocks and firebombs in the worst campus violence for several months. The protests were not inspired by the action against Kim, but were directed at the laws under which he was charged.

Kim leads the Party for Peace and Democracy, the largest opposition group in South Korea. He said the charges were "fabricated" and declared to followers: "I have nothing to fear. I will squarely face trial."

Prosecutors charged in the indictments, presented earlier Friday, that Kim and two legislators from his party failed to report National Assemblyman Suh Kyung-wan's secret trip to Communist North Korea last year. The three opposition figures were not jailed pending trial.

National security laws forbid unauthorized travel to North Korea, which South Korea has defined as an enemy country since the peninsula was divided in 1945.

Israeli gold seller
found inside well

JERUSALEM (AP) — Security agents found an Israeli gold merchant inside a well Friday after he had been seized by masked Palestinians in the occupied West Bank.

Shaul Mishaniya, 47, was found unharmed one day after his abduction. Officials said an Arab suspect captured Thursday led secret service agents to a well in the tiny village of Abush near Tukarem.

Army officials said the well was about 20 to 23 feet deep but Mishaniya's head was above water.

In the Gaza Strip, the army ordered the demolition of four houses of Palestinians accused of killing alleged collaborators with Israel or playing a role in the uprising, the army said.

Engineering firm defends its practice

TWIN FALLS - A Pocatello engineering firm defended itself Thursday evening against accusations that it violated ethical standards in trying to win a Bellevue city contract for a new sewer system.

Engineers from Forsgren Associates told the five-member Idaho Board of Professional Engineers and Land Surveyors that their company did not violate rules barring engineering firms from taking contracts on a contingency basis, said Gordon Thatcher, Forsgren's Rexburg attorney.

Forsgren suggested the City Council wait to begin work on the sewer system until after voters approved a bond issue. The investigative hearing, originally scheduled to continue into Friday, ended Thursday evening in Twin Falls.

The state's engineering licensing board will decide whether the complaint against the firm has any merit during its Sept. 25 meeting in Boise, said board member Wendell Higgins.

Double rollover accident sends couple to hospital

JEROME - A Ogden, Utah, couple were listed in serious condition Friday at Magic Valley Regional Medical Center following an accident on Interstate 84.

Forrest D. Snyder, 29, driving a rental van and pulling a Chevy Blazer, left the interstate and rolled both vehicles about 5 p.m. on Thursday, according to state police.

Man lands on barbed wire fence after I-84 rollover

JEROME - A Friday accident injured a Portland, Ore., man on Interstate 84. Gary Dean Jenks was traveling west when his 1988 Honda left the interstate about 9 a.m., said Jerome County Undersheriff Mito. Jenks and his passenger were ejected and landed on a barbed-wire fence. Jenks was transported to St. Benedict's Family Medical Center, Alonzo said.

Teen Parent Program will begin school year on time

TWIN FALLS - The Teen Parent Program probably won't start the school year in permanent quarters, but it will start, said Twin Falls Acting Superintendent Keith Tolzin.

"It will be set up somewhere even if it takes the board room," Tolzin said. "We're looking for at least a small place to get the girls going on their studies."

The district, which is the fiscal agent for the alternative school, contemplated leasing the old Mountain Bell building at 308 Shoshone St.

But the building has asbestos, Tolzin said.

He said a meeting will be held to decide what will be done. And he said suggestions are welcome if anyone knows of any empty space the district could use to house the program, which helps teen parents or pregnant teens finish high school and find jobs.

State denies license to Jerome detention center

By KIRK MITCHELL
 Times-News writer

JEROME - The state has denied a license request by the Jerome juvenile detention center, after the facility failed to meet standards for restraint, suicide prevention and fire safety, a health and safety official says.

"We gave them until Aug. 15 to meet the rules and regulations for licensing and they have not done that," said David Davis, regional director of the Health and Welfare Department.

Davis said Friday that the state has been working with the facility, called the American National Detention Center, since it applied for a license last November. The denial was issued this week, he said.

"We'll go on trying to do the service we've been doing," said John Devine, part owner of the facility. "It's in my lawyers hands now."

Davis said the facility's policy did not meet state requirements for suicide prevention, handcuff use and seclusion. He said the facility also could not pass a fire inspection and did not meet staff and administration requirements.

"Some of it involves providing a safe and humane environment for the kids they have," he said.

The detention center has 15 days to appeal the action or it can reapply for a license, Davis said.

"We will not shut them down," he said.

He said, however, that county officials should realize that it will be a liability risk to place children in the facility.

"We have not placed children out there for several months because it has not been licensed," he said.

"People should wonder what they are going to do with juveniles around here now," Devine said.

Twin Falls County has a contract with the detention center to pay for 7.5 children a day at the center.

25-rail cars jump track in switching accident

The Times-News

BLISS - Twenty-five empty rail cars derailed Friday morning on Union Pacific Railroad Co.'s northside branch line between Tuttle and Bliss.

The accident happened while some cars were being switched, said Willie Jensen, the railroad's agent in Twin Falls.

No rail traffic will be affected because the line where the cars derailed is used only for storing damaged and unused cars.

"It's quite a sight," Jensen said. "We don't know how bad the damage is to the derailed cars." The cars are piled on top of one another, listing every which way.

Getting the cars back on track or removed is not going to be easy, Jensen said, because the track there rides on a high steep embankment.

Bellevue code has first test

By ROBERT DOYLE
 Times-News correspondent

BELLEVEUE - The City Council here denied a request to relocate a trailer home, in the first test of the city's recently adopted building code.

Edward Harmon asked the council Thursday to allow him to move his trailer home to a lot he had rented within the city's boundaries. One of the ordinances the city recently passed in attempts to tighten control over land use requires that any trailer relocated in Bellevue must meet federal standards established for trailers.

The standards were adopted in 1978 and Harmon's trailer was built in 1972 and consequently did not conform to Bellevue's newly established criteria.

Architects: Hansen should replace school

By LYNDIA BOODY
 Times-News correspondent

HANSEN - After a cursory inspection, two Boise architects recommended the school district here re-evaluate plans to invest up to $300,000 in major remodeling of senior high school.

Daryl Leatham and Dick Krohn of Leatham & Krohn Architects praised school officials this week for their maintenance on the 70-year-old building. The architects did note several building safety code violations and some failures of the structure itself but said they presented no immediate danger to students.

"In my opinion, most of these code violations really aren't a threat to the safety of your students," Daryl Leatham said. The violations include the number of exits along halls in case of fire, the steepness of the stairs and the existence of a 7-inch step at outside doors.

Leatham also noted areas of cracked concrete and cracked or missing mortar between bricks. He said that the missing mortar is a sign that water has been leaking for sometime. Before any remodeling work could begin, he suggested determining the origin of the leaks.

"My recommendation is that you don't do a major remodel on this structure," Leatham said. A remodel job of $500,000 would leave the district with the same building and the same structural problems. Such a major job would also cause the Department of Labor and Industrial Services to require the school to come up to code completely. On small remodeling jobs, they rarely require that all code violations be met, Leatham said. "If I was a taxpayer, I wouldn't want my tax money to go into a remodel," Leatham said.

An estimate for construction of a new building is between $50 and $55 a square foot, Krohn said. At those rates, a building equal in size to the current school would cost about $1 million.

If the board is interested in remodeling, Leatham suggested hiring a structural engineer - at $10,000-$20,000 - to test for soundness. Leatham also suggested the board seriously consider whether it wants to have a three-story building for a school for many years in the future.

Leatham estimates the cost of tearing down the current building to be about $20,000 extra.

John Gibson, ad hoc building committee member, asked the board for permission to contact another architectural firm. Permission was granted to have another firm offer their opinion on the remodeling of the existing facility.

In other business, the board tentatively approved the resignation of Phyllis Bunn, special education teacher, pending the ability of the school to find a suitable

Nursing home residents accept Button

By KIRK MITCHELL
 Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS - Trotting from wheelchair to wheelchair, Button's tail wagging seemed to show she accepted her new role as nursing home companion.

The People for Pets Humane Society gave the Beagle to West Magic Care Center after about 25 residents voted Thursday at its meeting at the center to give the dog a 30-day trial run.

"Let's give it a chance," said resident Larry Fife.

Button was owned for four years by an elderly woman who brought the dog to the city's animal pound before going to a retirement home.

At the meeting, several residents coaxed the dog to come to them.

"Hey, Buttons come on. Hey, Button where are you," said Florence Moore, as the dog weaved around wheelchairs out of sight.

"Was me," said Anna Fisher, and the dog licked her face.

Nursing home staff members are hoping the dog will brighten some lives, said Lavone Jones, care center activities' director.

She said one resident afflicted with Alzheimer's disease who rarely speaks lit up when he saw the dog and said, "Puppy, puppy."

Petting animals can reduce blood pressure, said Laurie Simonds, humane society president.

She said not all the residents will like Button, but the dog will sense that and not bother them.

Velma Clark said she grew up on a farm and lived with animals all her life. Being without animals has been one of her biggest regrets while living at the nursing home,

Buttons was accepted by care center residents for a 30-day trial run she said. "I had a pet pig and a pet chicken," she said. "I had a pet pig and a pet chicken," she said. "I had a pet pig and a pet chicken," she said.

Teachers vote 'no confidence' in schools chief

By BRAD BOWLIN
 Times-News writer

JEROME - Teachers here delivered an overwhelming vote of "no confidence" to Superintendent Richard Kugler Friday.

Of Jerome's 127 certified staff members, 116 approved the resolution, according to Jerome Education Association President Judy Enos. Four voted against the measure and seven abstained.

Kugler has come under increasing fire from Jerome teachers during this year's rocky contract negotiations.

"The issues separating us in negotiations go far beyond money," Enos said in a prepared statement. "The basic issue is the disparaging attitude toward teachers by Mr. Kugler and the professional negotiators."

Kugler dismissed the vote as "standard procedure" for the union.

"I'm disappointed in them," Kugler said, although he said he did not take the vote as a personal attack.

The union has called for Kugler and the rest of the School Board to negotiate directly with teacher representatives rather than through hired negotiators Jerry Gates and Randy Bohannon, both based in Washington.

Teachers see the hiring of Gates and Bohannon as just another way Mr. Kugler has devised to keep teachers from direct access to the Jerome board," Enos said.

Kugler, entering his fifth year as superintendent, said his credibility in the community won't be damaged by Friday's

THE ACES ON BRIDGE BOBBY WOIFF

Dear Mr. Woiff: Dummy had a hidden card, which wasn't noticed until late in the play. What is the penalty for a dummy revoke?

ANSWER: The ace is not a revoke made by dummy (14-64). Obviously all players are held responsible for monitoring the correctness of dummy.

Dear Mr. Woiff: I've heard several rules regarding covering of honors. Don't cover, cover the second one, etc. Can you provide a simple general rule?

ANSWER: It's difficult to generalize in this area, usually the specific circumstances determine the action. In most cases, it's best to cover an honor when there's a reasonable chance to promote a trick for you.

Dear Mr. Woiff: Partner bid hearts and the opponents played in a no-trump game. I held the 9-9 of hearts. Which card is the correct play?

ANSWER: The deuce (low from ...)

Valvano to step down as athletic director RALEIGH (AP) — Jim Valvano affirmed Friday night he will step down as athletic director at North Carolina State, but he vowed to remain the head basketball coach in an effort to help solve some admitted academic problems. "If I was part of the problem, one of the reasons I'm here today is because I was very much to be part of the solution," Valvano said in a news conference after learning University of North Carolina President C.D. Spangler had recommended he leave the athletic director's post by Dec. 31. Valvano's comments came moments after the N.C. State Board of Trustees accepted a report from the UNC Board of Governors recommending 14 ways to strengthen academic performance among athletes at all 15 UNC schools with athletic programs. Sheehan leads LPGA World tournament at half-way point BUFORD, Ga. (AP) — Patty Sheehan birdied three of the last four holes to complete a 6-under-par 66 and take the lead halfway through the LPGA World Championship of Women's golf Friday. Sheehan, winner of 20 events in 10 pro seasons, had a 36-hole score of 136; eight shots under par on the hilly, 6,107-yard Pineleis Resort course along the shores of Lake Lanier. Sheehan held a one-shot lead over Betty King, a five-time winner this year and the season's leading money winner. King shot a 71 for 137.

Crenshaw retains lead 2 rounds at PGA tourney AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Ben Crenshaw retained the lead Friday despite an exasperating struggle while Curtis Strange withdrew because of an injury in the second round of the World Series of Golf. Crenshaw, who made a double bogey seven from behind a concession stand on the second hole, had to work hard to salvage a 2-over-par 72 and a two-stroke advantage at 136 halfway through this event.

National champion Irish hit by tough luck

Senior quarterback Tony Rice, shown in last season's Fiesta Bowl against West Virginia, will lead national champion Notre Dame again this year

By JIM LITKE The Associated Press

SOUTH BEND, Ind. — It's a good thing Coach Lou Holtz hasn't fallen into the habit of counting the reasons Notre Dame will repeat as national champions — because he just lost a half-dozen. Six members of a Fighting Irish squad picked by more than a few prognosticators to become the first team to turn the trick since Alabama a decade ago, won't be turning up at all this season. One got homesick, two got banished for disciplinary reasons, two more were felled by season-ending injuries, and the sixth — by grades. The departures decimated what figured to have been two of Notre Dame's greatest strengths — its defensive line and linebacking corps. But they also gave Holtz a chance to do two of the things he does best — fret about his chances and lecture his charges about adversity. "People who want to find out why we won the national championship last year only had to look at these kids in the 24-hour period that started with us going to the White House last January," Holtz recalled in a recent interview. "Here we are, shaking hands and joking with the president, surrounded by the trappings of power, and then just a few hours later, we learned that Bobby Satterfield had died and we had to say all the things he had said." Satterfield, a senior backup cornerback, died of congenital heart disease. "It was a very, very, very sad meeting, which is the way life often is. You're so excited at one moment, and depressed the next. Now, there's no way to convey the feeling, the depth of it, the love, actually, that passed through that room," Holtz said. "If these guys feel about one another the way last year's team did, all we need to do it again is luck. If not, all the luck in the world may not make a difference." So far, the luck of the Irish this year has been bad. On Aug. 9, as the team began two-a-day workouts, Holtz announced that the university's Office of Student Affairs, which operates independently of the athletic department, had suspended All-American linebacker Michael Stonobreaker for his senior year and refused to allow running back Tony Brooks to re-enter school for disciplinary reasons. The dismissals stemmed from separate traffic accidents last February in which Stonobreaker was charged with driving under the influence and Brooks with leaving the scene of an accident after a "hit-and-run" accident. There were no injuries. Making matters worse, left tackle George Williams is academically ineligible and full-back Brandon Banks will miss the upcoming season because his knee failed to respond adequately after surgery. The Fighting Irish also lost defensive ends Arnold Ale and John Foley. Ale, listed as a possible starter, dropped out of school because he was homesick and headed back to California to attend UCLA. Foley had no such options. He will miss the entire season because his right arm and shoulder were severed from a severe damage sustained in the 1988 Cotton Bowl. Before the recent events, Notre Dame had 16 starters returning from last year's 12th season — capped by the Fiesta Bowl victory over unbeaten and then-No. 3 West Virginia — and most of the questions Holtz faced about repeating centered on a tough schedule.

Criticism bothering Erickson

By STEVEN WINE The Associated Press

MIAMI — For new Miami coach Dennis Erickson, the second-guessing-started months before the first game. When word went out last spring that Erickson was changing the Hurricanes' offense, the response from fans and the media was swift: Why fix what's not broken? In five seasons under Coach Jimmy Johnson, the Hurricanes' pro-style attack averaged 34 points per game and sent three quarterbacks to the NFL. Dismay in Miami over Johnson's sudden departure for the Dallas Cowboys only intensified when his replacement said he had brought his playbook with him from Washington State. The subject was raised repeatedly by reporters, and Erickson became testy: He now admits the criticism bothered him. "It was a complete overreaction," Erickson said. "People that understand the game of football understand that there aren't that many changes in the offense. I can't blame people. We've had great success here, and a great quarterback tradition. But none of that, hopefully, is going to change. One thing that will change is the way the Hurricanes look before the snap. Erickson's offense spreads the field with a quarterback formation, four wideouts and a lot of motion. The quarterback drops are short and the passes quick. "Believe-me, it's not the run-and-shoot," Erickson said. "Everybody seems to think it is, but it's not." Whatever the offense is called, it has been successful for Erickson. Washington State averaged 495 yards per game last season, third-best in the nation and 42 yards more than Miami. The Cougars' Timm Rosenbach led the NCAA in passing. • See MIAMI on Page D3

Southwest marks 75th year as SMU returns from 'death'

By DENNE H. FREEMAN The Associated Press

DALLAS — The Southwest Conference celebrates its diamond anniversary this fall with Southern Methodist returning from the NCAA death penalty and the Arkansas Razorbacks hoping to return to the Cotton Bowl. Three new coaches take over in the league's 75th year: Forrest Gregg, with the monumental task of rebuilding SMU's football misfortunes; R.C. Slueman following Jackie Sherrill at Texas A&M, and Fred Goldsmith, the former defensive coordinator at Arkansas who replaces Jerry Borndt at Rice and inherits a program that went 0-11 last year. "SMU, which was placed on probation after being found guilty of nurturing an alumni slush fund, opens the season Sept. 2 after a two-year absence from football. SMU goes against Rice, which has lost 18 consecutive games, so neither school won a game last season. Arkansas went 10-2 last year, undefeated in the conference, with losses by two points to Miami, Fla. and to UCLA 17-3 in the Cotton Bowl. Ken Hatfield's Razorbacks lose eight defensive starters but could have an explosive offense led by quarterback Quinn Grovey and outstanding newcomer E.D. Jackson, a redshirt running back. "Our defense kept us in every game last year, including the two we lost," Hatfield said. "We lost some outstanding seniors." • See SOUTHWEST on Page D3

Big 8 hoping for non-Okie champion

By DOUG TUCKER The Associated Press

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — If this year's Big Eight football championship sprouts in Oklahoma soil, a calamitous financial crisis could engulf the entire, scandal-scattered conference. A $4-million Orange Bowl paycheck, the richest in history, might vanish. Each Big Eight member already figures to be out roughly $500,000 this year as a result of two probations in football and one in basketball. If the worst-case scenario in this unusual season takes shape, layoffs and severe belt-tightening would almost certainly follow at every school. "We'll have a decent team," Michigan State coach George Perles said. "I'm optimistic, I'm always optimistic. We expect to be involved in the conference race. I really believe Michigan State, Illinois, Iowa and Indiana have a legitimate chance and I hate not talking about Ohio State." Bob Kula will replace Tony Mandarich at offensive tackle for the Spartans and linebacker Percy Snow leads a strong defensive unit. Tailback Blake Ezor is back after gaining 1,485 yards last year. Illinois was the surprise team of 1988 with a fourth-place finish in the Big Ten under new coach John Mackovic. Quarterback Jeff George returns along with running back Howard Griffith and talented receivers Mike Bellamy and Steven Williams. On defense, the Illini will be led by nose tackle Mo Gardner, tackle Mel Agee, linebacker Darrick Brockle and safety Marlon Primos. "We overcame great obstacles last year," Mackovic says. "This year we have a better idea of what to expect. But the demands will be greater and the expectations will be higher. Not many darkhorses win championships." Speaking of darkhorses, Iowa shouldn't be overlooked. "We were three points away from the championship and Rose Bowl," said Fry, referring to Iowa's ties with Michigan, Michigan State and Ohio State.

Fresno State looks to lead in Big West

Oklahoma's three-year football probation and the four-year sentence handed O-State last winter will keep both off television and out of bowls. If anybody else, such as Colorado or pre-season favorite Nebraska, wins the championship, the automatic Orange Bowl berth that goes with it, will be much, much simpler for conference athletic directors. The Orange Bowl payout, nearly doubled by its new corporate sponsorship, would be one giant step toward restoring economic peace of mind. Intact Michigan squad shoots for Big 10 title again

By JOE MOOSHIL The Associated Press

Michigan coach Bo Schembechler might change his mind about the national football championship if his Wolverines happen to win it this year. Told the Big Ten Conference hasn't won the national title since Ohio State did it in 1956, he said, "What national championship? There is no national championship in football — it's mythical. If there are any Big Ten teams that shoot for a national championship, they're damn fools," Schembechler said. In the Big Ten you play to win the Big Ten championship and go to the Rose Bowl. If you win the Rose Bowl, then you've had a great season." Schembechler's Wolverines did exactly that last year. They won the Big Ten, beat Southern Cal 22-14 in Pasadena and finished fourth in the final Associated Press poll. Two close losses cost the Wolverines a chance for the national championship. They lost to No. 1 Notre Dame 19-17 and to No. 2 Miami 31-30 in their first two games and went undefeated the rest of the way. "And that wasn't even supposed to be their year," said Iowa coach Hayden Fry. "This was supposed to be their year. But at the end of last season, they were the best team in the country." That team is back, practically intact. With the quarterback tandem of Michael Taylor and Demetrius Brown and the tailback duo of Tony Boles and Tracy Williams, the Wolverines are loaded at two crucial offensive positions. "The key will be the offensive line," Schembechler said. "Defensively we should be improved. The linebackers are as strong as we've ever had. Our only loss was (tackle) Mark Messner. Everybody else is back." The Wolverines will be tested quickly. They open against Notre Dame's defending national champions at Ann Arbor and the following week they play at UCLA, a team that finished No. 6 last year. After playing Maryland, the Wolverines move into conference competition and take on every team except Northwestern. Who can challenge Michigan? Try Michigan State, Illinois or Iowa. All three are capable of fielding strong teams and Michigan plays all three on the road.

Cubs gain breathing room

Chicago's Jerome Walton slides in safely underneath Atlanta's Andres Thomas

CHICAGO (AP) — There's nothing like timing and Rick Wrona and Paul Assenmacher were in the right place at the right time.

Wrona, his golf game interrupted earlier in day in Des Moines, singled in the 12th inning Friday and scored on a single by Ryne Sandberg to give the Chicago Cubs a 4-3 victory over the Atlanta Braves, snapping a six-game losing streak.

The victory gave the Cubs a two-game lead over runnerup New York in the National League East. The Mets were playing a late game against San Diego on the West Coast Friday night.

Assenmacher, acquired from the Braves Thursday, pitched 2 1/3 innings of shutout ball and Mitch Williams, 3-2, pitched one inning for the victory.

Wrona hit a great drive on the ninth hole," said Wrona, "and when the club pro drove up in a cart and told me to put my clubs in the cart that I was wanted in Chicago."

"I said 'wait,' hit a 7-iron on the green and told my partner to pick up the ball," said Wrona, who then made some excellent comments to arrive in Wrigley Field shortly after the game had started.

Wrona was called up because catcher Damon Berryhill was placed on the disabled list with a shoulder problem.

Wrona went into the game in the 10th inning after Joe Girardi was lifted for a pinch batter.

Pittsburgh 12, Cincinnati 3

(AP) — The Cincinnati Reds, playing their first game since Pete Rose was banned from baseball for life, lost to the Pittsburgh Pirates 12-3 Friday night as Gary Redus hit for the cycle.

St. Louis 7, Houston 4

(AP) — Jose DeLeon got his career-high 14th victory and the St. Louis Cardinals roughed up Mike Scott and Houston 7-4 Friday night, the Astros' fourth straight loss.

Houston fell 4 1/2 games behind San Francisco in the National League West. The Giants were playing a late game Friday night on the West Coast against Montreal.

Oakley ranked No. 1 CSI signs 6-8 1/2 center

By The Associated Press

Last year's state Class A-4 runnerup Oakley has been ranked No. 1 in its division by Idaho's sportswriters and broadcasters in the Associated Press preseason high school football poll.

The Hornets, who lost the state championship to Wilder last fall, are ranked first of the 70 teams in the preseason survey.

Jorome is in a three-way tie for second in the A-2 rankings, while Riohild and Camas County are ranked fourth and fifth, respectively, in the state eight-man ratings.

Defending state champions Centennial of Meridian, Idaho Falls and Lakeland of Rathdrum were selected to re-prise their 1988 titles.

"TWIN FALLS — We've established our inside game," said College of Southern Idaho men's basketball coach Fred Trenkle Friday when he announced the signing of 6-foot, 8 1/2-inch freshman Nate Jackson.

Jackson, who originally signed a Division I letter-of-intent with Portland University, brings the CSI edge roster to 10.

Jackson was a member of the Horshuba High School team of San Jose, Calif., that posted a 56-67 record the last two years. He was all-conference as a junior and senior.

"I have watched him play and he may be the best offensive rebounder I've seen," said Trenkle. "He's very effective around the basket and is very much like former CSI all-American Erick Newman for having a nose for the ball on the offensive board."

Trenkle said Jackson also could be a big factor as an inside intimidator.

"He blocked a lot of shots the night I watched him and I suspect that was what attracted him to our team," said Trenkle.

Jackson held a 37-point-per-game average in the Portland summer league. As a high schooler he averaged 21 points and 16 rebounds.

He is the eighth freshman to sign this year with CSI, which for the first time in a long while will have no Division I transfers.

The newcomers include guards Sean Colter, Dave Anderson, Jim Messick and Littlefield Ellenwood and inside players Dan Poulton, Carlo DaSilva Jr., and Eric Kelly.

Returners are Kyle Wilson, Corey Warner, Anthony Williams, Jose-Jube and Eron Levy-Mayer.

Trenkle said the team should all be assembled on the campus by Monday evening.

Toronto 3, Milwaukee 1

"They're not hard to get pumped up for. It's a matter of getting up on the beat," Gubicza said Friday night after leading Kansas City past the first-place Athletics 3-1. "When you face Oakland, it takes you up another level."

Gubicza, 12-10, has pitched 34 consecutive scoreless innings against Oakland. He is 9-4 against the A's in his career.

The middle of Oakland's order — Jose Canseco, Dave Parker and Mark McGwire — was 0-for-11 against Gubicza. He allowed four hits in seven innings, struck out five and walked one.

"Those guys are capable of hitting the ball out of anywhere," Gubicza said. "It was a matter of us catching a few breaks. You have to if you're going to shut those guys down."

Toronto won the Milwaukee Brewers 3-1 before 49,457 fans, a Blue Jays record.

Toronto won its fourth straight game and sent Milwaukee to its fourth consecutive loss.

Redskins keep Dolphins winless

WASHINGTON (AP) — Willard Reeves scored two touchdowns and Mark Rypien completed 13 of 16 passes in the decisive first half as the Washington Redskins kept the Miami Dolphins winless in the preseason with a 35-21 victory Friday night.

Rypien, coming off a 3-for-14 performance against Minnesota, directed three long scoring drives to help Washington take a 21-7 halftime lead.

A 13-yard touchdown pass from Cliff Stoudt to Deval Glover and J.B. Brown's six-yard run with a blocked punt enabled the Dolphins to cut the gap to 28-21 with 4:48 left in the game. But the Redskins wrapped things up when Joe Howard returned the ensuing kickoff off 94 yards for a touchdown.

Miami, which used quarterback Dan Marino only in the first half, is 0-3. Marino completed 11 of 20 passes for 126 yards and one touchdown.

The Redskins, 3-1, marched 75 yards for a touchdown on their first overleft tackle.

The Dolphins cut the deficit to 14-7 when Marino threw a six-yard touchdown pass to Bruce Hardy with 2:43 left in the half. On a fourth-and-one play, Marino failed a handoff before flipping a pass over the middle to Hardy.

Washington retained by moving 65 yards in seven plays, a drive highlighted by Morris' 18-yard run and a 17-yard Rypien-to-Ricky Sanders pass. Rypien concluded the drive with an eight-yard scoring capped by Reeve's two-yard run
