When I was growing up in the Mag-ic Valley in the 1940s and early 1950s, L had a lot of respect for your-newspaper. Even in recent years, it of-ten has been more interesting and in-formative than some of the other major newspapers in the state. -

However, it is difficult to mainfair that respect when I see irresponsible headlines such as "Hardy ignores Box". Canyon Agreement, "which appeared in your April I issue.

Earl Hardy has beloored his agree-ment with the state of Idaho for the preservation of the upper portion of Box Canyon for 69 years, despite the aggressive efforts of Mr. Burks and others to undermine the very founda-tion of the aggreement.

That aggreement, which was ap-proved by the State Land Board and signed by the governor after several hearings by the Land Board, expressly provides that it does not become fully-effective until Mr. Hardy has received the permist; licenses and other author-rizations required for a hydroelectric facility below the falls in the middle canyon and a diversion facility below the existing Clear Springs Dam for the rout production plant in Blam for the route of the production of the pr

Earl Hardy has not constructed any trout production facilities in Box

Canyon and he does not intend to do so as long as there is a ray of hope that the goals of his agreement with the state of Idaho can be accomplished.

What he has done is try to keep a water permit in force until the State and as a backup in case it can't be. He has been Edit Hardy's preference.

Mr. Burks and others want what.

Mr. Hardy has to offer, namely, the preservation of the bulk of the middle canyon and all of the upper canyon; but they want to deny him his side of the bargain that was struck with the state of Idaho.

Mr. Burks understands the correcpt of private property for his house and his ranch but apparently is unwilling—to recognize that the entire Box. Canyon upstream from the Clear Springs diversion and the east side below that diversion are owned by Mr. Hardy.

With all the time he claims to have spent on the Snake River in the Thousand Springs area, Mr. Burks tells your readers that Box Canyon is the only fresh stream (edding that stretch of the river.

only fresh stream feeding that stretch of the river.

How could he possibly miss Banbury Springs, which is upstream less than one mile, and Blucheart Springs, which is downstream less than one mile — not to mention the major springs near Ritter's Island?

To the extent allowed by pending litigation, Mr. Hardy certainly well-comes an accurate exchange of information with the residents of Magic valley and the stute of Idaho-who are—interested in this issue; but Bob Burks has proven himself to be a very unreliable source.

able source. I might mention that much of this information was famished to your reporter but somehow escaped his recent article on Hardy's application for the discharge permit. Accurate information is the basis for informed decisions. Your readers are entitled to more accurate and observed the source of the property of the property

On the first day of the week, at dawn, the women came to the tomb bringing the spices they had prepared. They found the stone rolled back from the tomb; but when they entered the tomb, they did not find the body of the Lord-lesus.

While they were still at a loss over what to think of this, two men in dazzling garments stood beside them. Terrified, the women bowed to the ground. The men said to them: "Why do you scarch for the Living One among the dead? He is not here; the hasbeen risised up. We should not be amazed that the first witnesses to the resurrection were women because it is entirely consistent with the manner of Jesus, throughout his public ministry. It is also consistent with the way in which women responded to Jesus during his life, his passion and his death. Jesus 'identification with and compassion for the oppressed and the poor is most acutely demonstrated in his relationships with women. He constantly defied the law, custom and prudence by treating women with respect and affirming their dignity. He was truly radical in this regard.

And why not? They had followed Jesus faith-fully along with the Apostles. They provided ma-terial support for Jesus and the Apostles (Luke 8:1-3). During his hour of greatest need, his pas-sion and death, the women did not flee in fear as -did most of the Apostles-And after his burial, while the Apostles tembled with fear and confu-sion behind locked doors, it was these same women who sought to continue their ministry to Jesus even in death.

their infirmities, forgave their sins; raised their loved ones from the dead and defended them against their accusers. He praised them for their devotion and generosity and welcomed their ministry. He visited their homes, played with their-children and went with them in their sorrow. The church's celebration of Easter should be a reminder to all Christians of the inherent dignity God has given to all his creatures. And we should be especially appreciative of the special role women have been granted as-witnesses to Chrisf's victory over sin and death.

Tolzin-dismissal-unwarranted

Tolzin-dismissal-unwarranted
The action by members of the Twin Falls School Board in dismissing Acting Superintendent Keith-Tolzin is unwarranted and unbelievable and shows an utter disregard for the wishes of a majority of the school patrons and community leaders.

—Tolzin-has been assistant superintendent for three years and acting superintendent for more thain a year.

He had the respect and the backing of scores and scores of residents who know what they are talking about.

Even the board chairman admitted twice as many residents had unged the retention of 'Tolzin and elevation to superintendent as had unged this dismissal.

I asked 21 business and professional people to name the members of the school board. Not one know them all.

—So I gave up the questioning and decided the best thing that could be done would be to replace all the present school board members are soon as an opportunity comes up. Replace them with people known in the community.

As I heard and read about the cheers that

Gov. Andrus vetoed HB625 allowing women to continue to kill their unborn children at their slightest whim. I couldn't help but think that these people — who see no value in all huthan life — must be the same type of people who almost 2,000 years ago yelled, "Crucify

Develop educational resources

Develop educational resources
With the coming of a new superintendent, we the purious and grandparents, ought to surive to help the educational system by insisting that our children know the importance of acquiring knowledge and its rewards. Let ustry-to impress, on them what some wise menstated back in 1857.
The Massachusetts superintendent of schools staided the important purpose of our schools remained the inculcation of ethic valuses "regularity, punctuality, constancy and industry" by "moral and religious instruction daily given." These values, along with cognitive skills and knowledge also served the needs of a growing capitalistic economy.
Schools were "the grand agent for the development augmentation of national resources," wrote Horace Mann in 1848, "more powerful in the production and gainful employment of the total wealth of a country than all the other things mentipned in the books of the political economists."

Textile magnate Abbott Lawrence advised a Virginla friend who wanted this state to emulate New England's industrial progress that "you cannot expect to develop your resources without a general system of popular educa-tion; it is the lever to all permanent improve-

"Intelligent laborers," added another Yankee businessman in 1853, "can add much '

These principals made America great. If we don't get more serious about employing them now, America will not remain greal,

Animal killer the real loser

RECRUIT, a co-worker and friend (who we will call Deon) had to deal with a devastating experience. Gretchen, a reddish long-haired dachshand, was missing from her home and found dead in a hot tub (with a closed lid) 25 miles from her home. Gretchen-was-134-years old and never went beyond a block area when she was out.

When sne was out.

Doon feels certain someone took Gretchen intentionally as an act of vengeance. Gretchen couldn't have traveled that distance without being noticed or picked up.

How can people be so cruel and evil to take. A precious, innocent animal and throw her into a hot tub. Animals have so much love and trust in man; and so often, they are victimized. A person would really have to be unfocused to commit such a cruel act.

There is an irony to this story. If; in fact, someone did intentionally kill; this beloved pet, they are the lossers. Yes, Deon and her husband were devastared; but through this ordeal, they have discovered thow many people really do care. There has been an outpouring of concern and support for them.

It's a safer power source

Thank you for the pravilege of continuing my dialogue with Mr. Graf and thank you, Mr. Graf, for your reference to the 1990-World Almanac pages 540 through 544, which provided some very interesting facts which bolstered my arguments for nuclear power. The reference cited 14 motable 1 unclear accidents in which four people were killed and, in which four people were killed and, mych 39 people 'probably ided of cancer.' It did not mention that 32 died at Chemobyl, although it was one of the 14 accidents.

There was a total of 36 deaths, and 39 'probables.' During the same period of time 3,45 people died from rived fress profits on sought to mention, and 45,681 died from floods, Compared to these losses, the losses from nuclear power and research are small indeed and hence supports my statement that nuclear power is the SAFEST way of producing electricity.

My prior jetters stipulated nuclear:

My prior letters stipulated nuclear power in the U.S. has not produced deaths among the public and did not even produce the four deaths that did not even produce the same period-of time, and is a firm indication that nuclear power is SAFER than gas, oil, coal or hydro power. Insistence on the continuou use of these older and more dangerous modes of power production will continue to cause more deaths and greater property damage, and environmental deterioration.

Mr. Graf called Paul Harvey, and ... me "ilars" for stating that 20 percent -U.S. electricity is produced by nuclear power. We are correct. If we are to save ourselves from economic destruction, we must get of our running and revert government back to the people. How do we accomplish this, you ask? By charging. Congress, you the federal Racketter Influenced and Corrupt Organizations (RICO) Act; with knowingly violating the Declaration of Independence: a principle. "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberry and the putsuit of happiness." Petition the Legislature to file the charge — that 's their job.

The federal government continues to excreise extention and fraud — for nowhere in the US Constitution is there a requirement of any kind that 'income taxes are to finance the day-to-day operations. Don't be conned by the 16th Amendment — it's as phony as a Federal Reserve Note!

How can the people be taxed for already bestowed upon unalienable rights?

Face facts, if Congress and even George Bush truly understood the Constitution's taxing provisions, there wouldn't be any collecting of income taxes. It's that simple.

Colombia's Barco appeals to users

LONDON (AP) — Colombian President Virgilio Barco told an international drug conference Monday that drug barons are not invincihle, and he appealed to cocaine users to give up the habit that has created havec mits conntry.

I should like to make an earnest plea to-drug consumers to-realizethat their addiction is fostering violence, crime and corruption throughout, the world, Barco said at the start of a three-day drug summit.

Dr. Louis Sullivan, the U.S. Secretary of health; said an international commitment to end the drug griss would not only send drug kingpins a message to users that "their days are numbered," but also would send "a message to users that they bear responsibility in perpetuating the drugproblem.

problem."
"We must communicate to users that help is available to them but that they must seek it," he said.

Up to 10 million cocaine users in the United States spend approximately $20 billion to $25 billion per year on cocaine — roughly equivalent to the gross-national products of Colombia, Peru or Bolivia, according to a report produced by the Panos Institute. Court rejects bid to prosecute Rushdie

LONDON (AP) — The High Court on Monday rejected a bid by a Moslem group to prosecute author Salman Rushdic and publishers Viking Penguin for blasphemy in connection-with Rushdic's novel "The Stantic Verses."

A panel of three judges upheld a lower court decision not lo issue summonses against Rushdie and his publishers. It said Chief Metropolitan Magistrate-Sit-David-Hopkin ruled correctly last year that Britain's blasphemy laws apply only to the Christian religion. Many Moslemis believe Rushdie's novel blasphemes Islam. The writer has been in hiding since Feb. 14, 1989, when Iran's late spiritual-leader, the Ayatollah Rushdiah Khomein; called oit Moslems to execute him and those closely connected with the book's publication.

And although a three-month-old policy of sending indigent bills to a collection agency has netted the county only about $60, Commission Chairman Marvin Hampleman said Monday the practice is having the desired effect.

"The effect is through the grapevine,"

State law directs counties to provide last-resort aid for people who can't pay medical bills, rent and power bills. The recipient of those services is required to sign a contract agreeing that he will try.

When only 59 percent of those billed for indigent loans turned in payments in March, the county turned to a collection—agency. Although the agency keeps about half what it recovers, 'getting something 'is' better than getting nothing,' said Jusanis Bryan, the county's welfare director.

No biterness was evident in the sames, where fans seemed to Lake a better-late than-never attitude.

"People forgive them," said one Boston fan, William Cullen of Cherry Valley, Mass, "We're' Americans, You love a thing, you're going to go."

Toni Giamatti, widow of the late baseball Commissioner A: Bartlett Giamatti, threw out the ceremonial first pitch at Fennway, where the Red Sox faced the Detroit Tigers.

A few minutes later, Giamatti's successor as commissioner, Fay Vincent, threw out the ball at New York's Shea Stadium before the Mets took on the Pittsburgh Pittes. Mets pitcher Dwight Gooden followed with the first real pitch of the game—like Clemons, but threw a strike.

There was no game in Cincinnati, marking just the third time fire 1876 the Red shave opened on the road. Because of the revised schedules; the Reds play tonight in Houston, where the Astrodome is celebrating its 25th anniversary.

Newspaper Kite Instructions

INSTRUCTIONS:
Gather all of the needed materials: Make a pattern for the kite from the Illustration. Cut out the kite. To strengthen the edges-of-the-kite, reinforce-them-with a-binding of-tape.
Cut six 3"x1.5" bridling points from paper or plastic remnants. (This is where the dowels or string will be attached.)

remnants. (This is where the dowels or string will be attached.)
If you want to decorate the kite, do so now. Turn your kite face down. Place four pleces of 2' tape at the four corners, where the dowels will be secured. Place the dowels over the tape, secure with four of the bridling attachments and securely tape the strips of paper in place, making certain that the tips of the dowels also are taped in place. The remaining two bridling points will hold the string. Cut two 18' lengths. For extra strength, sew the string through the bridling pieces with a darning needle, then tape in place. Attach as shown in the illustration. In order to balance the kite, you need to locate the center of the bridle. To do this, hold the two strings, letting the kite dangle. The them at the point where the kite is level; using along knot. Attach the main kite string at this point, also.

To fly the kite, place it face down on the ground and step back about 15 yards. Now you can run like crazy, but all you really need to do is jerk the line gently and the kite should rise. At this point, you may want to step linto a slow sidle. The rest is a breeze. Enjoy.

Stutz turned out some pretty fast cars for its time

Most people think of the Bearent, a two-passenger speedster, when they hear the ame of Stutz; but Stutz turned out a complete line of fast cars. Harry C. Stutz started a company in Indianapolis in 1911 to make transmissions and racing cars.
The name of his company was changed to the Stutz Motor Company in 1913.

The famous Bearcat came along in 1914

It was elegantly simple, with bucket seats for two, a fourcylinder Wisconsin engine, a three-speed transmission attached to the differential and a very visible gas tank behind the seats.

The engine in this one had the intake valves on one side and the exhaust valves on the other side. The four-cylinder engine put out 60 horsepower, and a larger six was available.

But I want a convertible

By JOHN R. WHITE

The weather has changed, the snow is gone-and-it-s sunny, halmy and springlike, Perfect weather for a convertible. But I insisted on the Miata in the snow. This weather makes me fairly crave a convertible -

Miata, Mustang, Corvette, anything with a ragtop. But what have I got? Tintops. Sedans. Coupes, Good thing I don't own a chain saw,

There is the new Dodge Monaco, of course, a front-drive sedan-just added to the Chryslerdivision's 1990 lineup. It is a 4door sedan, nice for the rainy weather, hardly the heart's desire on a balmy spring afternoon, But, it is here and it is the writer's duty to drive. It's not that I don't want to drive this sedan, you understand: it's just that I'd prefer it without a roof right now.

The Monaco is an old name in the Dodge lineup, but the memory of some of the dealers seems jangled a bit, at least if you listen to the radio advertising blather the Monaco, declares one dealer given to hyperbole, is a "classic" returned or revived ... or whatever.

Classic, my foot. The Monaco was a large rear-drive car, a very good car, even a handsome car. It was powered by one of Chrysler's big V-8s and came on the scene in 1965. The Monaco marque last appeared on a Dodge in 1978. It was never a classic, never had that

Q. My 1975 Dodge Dart sixcylinder starts instantly on cold, damp days and runs like a new car. But on warm days, it's hard to start, and it runs with half the power. The car has been tuned and the carburetor rebuilt, but that didn't help. Any ideas?

A. Try changing the ballast resistor on the firewall. When warm or hot, some older resistors decrease input voltage to the ignition before it fails and the vehicle stops

Q. While cleaning my garage, I found a case of Quaker State 10W-30 motor oil that had been sitting there for li years, according to the receipt. Can I still use this oil in my 1985 Thunderbird? Has this oil lost its viscosity after 11 years? The cans are in good shape with no rust or leaks.

A. The oil is as good today as it was the day it was canned. I would use it only in winter. Check your owners manual because many engines require 20W-40 in hot Florida summers CUTTING Using the pattern, cut four bullet-shape ruffles, two for each sleeve.

SEWING The ruffles will be single thickness and are stacked one atop the other. Since the ruffles are stacked, they'll appear fuller if the upper layer is a bit smaller than the under layer. Topstitching the two layers together will create a casing through which clastic will bepulled. The time-consuming step will be finishing the ruffle edges, and here there are several options.

The fastest finishing option is a serger-sewn rolled hem. Before choosing this option, however, test fabric. A rolled hem may actually perforate a soft fabric and before your eyes, you'll observe a beautifully sewn rolled hem "tear finish is used, remember to trim the upper ruffle a bit more than he under ruffle

Another option is to use a, straight stitch and parrow hem foot, standard with most machine. Your dog may be high risk

By DEBORAH LAWSON Knight-Ridder News Service

The American Kennel Club has received reports of people having difficulty obtaining or keeping homeowners comprehensive liability insurance because of the breeds of dogs they own. An AKC bulletin states: "We have had complaints from dog owners who have had their insurance canceled or not renewed simply because their agent considers their breed of dog a high-risk

American Staffordshire terriers and the keeshonden.

The position of the AKC, United Kennel Club and other responsible dog clubs is that any breed or mixed breed of dog can be vicious. The groups support well-enforced laws to penalize owners of all vicious animals without regard to the breed of the animals.

Anyone who has had a problem getting or keeping insurance because of the type of dog owned should inform the Office of Public Affairs, AKC, 51 Madison Ave., New York, N.Y. 10010.

CHICAGO - Consider the fancy-leaved caladiums as a commendable alternative to the overworked begonias and impatiens for scintillating color in the garden's shady snots this Summer

Noted for their flamboyant foliage, which lends a tropical flare to the landscape, caladiums offer-brilliant-splashes-of-leaf color in a wide array of varieties. Their flowers, however, are insignificant.

Leaves may be a riot of pink, red, white and green splotches with veins and midribs tinted with deep red. Some may be primarily, cream, white or ruby red with veins and outer edges tinted green. Others boast equally stunning patterns and color combinations, such as these

Because they thrive under less light than other plants, they could be another solution for color in shady areas where other plants fail. Mass plantings will brighten areas beneath trees, perhaps as a collar around the base of the trunks, while individual plants can add interest to shrub borders and foundation plantings where there is minimum sunlight. Or they can be showcased in shaded window boxes-and-patio-containers-and enjoyed in pots indoors.

And for homemakers with a passion for flower arrangements, the freshly cut, heart-shaped leaves make ideal foils for cut blooms from the garden or florist The leaves retain their color and freshness longer than most cut

The Romance Game

Just about anything can happen when you're far away from home

Neil Bradley, as he was currently known, took a table on the terrace of the Pacific Jewel, one of Honolulu's most luxurious hotels. When his vodka and tonic arrived he drank it slowly, meanwhile surveying the colorful scene with shrewd, dark eyes. He was an actor, of sorts. His stage was the expensive resorts of the world, to which rich, middle aged women, many of them widows, flocked like pigeons.

He smiled at the double. their foolish dreams of finding romance. It was nothing serious most of them wanted; just some male companionship - a compliment, a touch of the hand, a man to dine and dance with.

And that's where he came in He pushed them around the dance eyes across candiclit tables. When

Is it a Big Pouch or a Quarter-Poucher?

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) -The kangaroo may-soon becomecommon cuisine in the country's most populous state now that New South Wales plans to make it legal to dine on Australia's national symbol.

"Quite-clearly-this-is-a-food product which is very much going to waste and there does seem to be a certain demand for it among restaurateurs and among people who like game meat," said Ian Armstrong, the state's agriculture minister.

The New South Wales Parliament is considering a bill to legalize kangaroo consumption and Armstrong predicted it would pass during the current legislative session. The state of South Australia and the Northern Territory already allow kangaroo culsine.

"Animal welfare groups oppose New South Wales' plans and promised to picket restaurants or butchers selling kangaroo meat. "The kangaroo is our national emblem and ... it should not be exploited for monetary value, said Christine Townsend of the group Animal Liberation. "We really think people would be disgusted by eating kangaroo."

farmers.

Armstrong said butchers who specialize in game meats had expressed interest in the product: He said there also would be a -market for exports to Europe.

He said his department was considering legalizing the Ostrich-like emu bird.

But he assured reporters that

She said it had not been proven koala bears and wombats would that kangaroos-were a pest to never become legal menu entree

Armstrong dismissed fears by conservationists that kangaroo meati is unsafe, saying butchered portions would be inspected.

She found poetry there

: CHICAGO (AP) - She has a steady job and a place to live, but Shelley Woods says she would feel at ease when she stands up with homeless writers and poets read her verse about her life on the streets

"A lot of people don't like t tell about the dark side of their lives, but I hope this will help people who are down and out. the 37-year-old poet, who is also office manager for the Chicago Coalition for the Homeless, said. In 1972, Ms. Woods lived out of a car for a year with her two young children, her sister and her sister's two children.

About 20 homeless writers and poets were scheduled to read elections-of-their writings on homelessness recently at the library's Cultural-Center in a bookstores want to sell it, she program sponsored by 19 charities, literary groups and bookstores
