White House swings in favor of ozone fund

The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — The Bush administration said Friday it has accepted the opposition to the creation of a $100 million international fund to help developing nations end their use of chemicals that erode the ozone layer shielding the Earth from withering ultraviolet rays.

The policy reversal follows a storm of criticism and personal appeals to the White House ranging from British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher to American corporate chiefs, and extricates the United States from almost certain diplomatic isolation at a London conference next week on an accelerated timetable to curb use of the dangerous chemicals — chlorofluorocarbons (CFCs), eventually eliminating them.

It also marks a personal concession by White House Chief of Staff John H. Sununu. Sununu led the fight against the United Nations proposed fund, which was supported by Environmental Protection Agency Administrator William K. Reilly. The policy shift announcement was made in a White House statement released under Sununu's name.

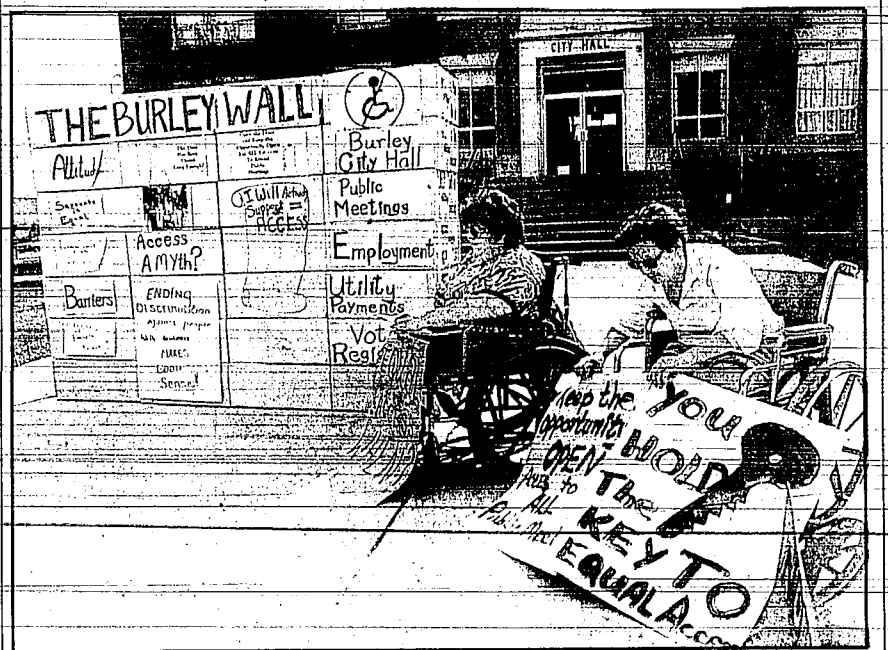

The U.S. position had raised fears by corporate giants who produce or use CFCs, that Washington's resistance could have subjected American companies to trade barriers by nations participating in the fund. Chaimen of companies such as E.I. du Pont, DuPont & Co. and Motorola, Inc. had personally appealed to the White House for a change in policy, according to administration sources.

First proposed at an international meeting last month in Geneva, the fund is considered essential to enlist the support of such modernizing giants as China and India for a 1987 treaty calling for reductions of the versatile CFCs. The gases are used for refrigeration, cleaning of computer parts and production of polystyrene items.

The United States, whose contribution was to have been assessed at $25 million, was the only nation to oppose the fund. Publicly, U.S. officials had said that existing programs of the World Bank were adequate to assist developing nations phase out use of CFCs.

But privately, Sununu and Office of Management and Budget Director Richard G. Darman had argued that the expenditures could set a dangerous precedent for far more costly future requests to help the Third World reduce its reliance on traditional energy sources, such as coal, which cause global warming.

'Burley Wall' at City Hall stands tall

By BRAD BOWLIN Times-News writer

BURLEY — The wind threatened to topple the "Burley Wall" Friday, but the cardboard box edifice held as half a dozen wheelchair-using protesters demanded access to City Hall.

Using 28 boxes donated by Boise Cascade, the demonstrators built a 7-foot-high wall on the sidewalk in front of the city offices, marking the one-year anniversary of the Idaho Citizens Network's push for handicapped accessibility to the building.

One year ago, the city rebuilt the steps into City Hall and the ICN, a handicapped-rights group, demanded that a wheelchair ramp be included. The city refused, sparking a storm of protest among the handicapped and legal action from both sides.

"Open the door and keep the opportunity open for all citizens to attend public meetings," demanded Paul Howard, ICN staff member.

But no city officials were on hand for the event, which lasted about an hour.

"I wasn't even aware this was happening," said Mayor Frank Bauman, who was not at City Hall when the demonstration began at 11 a.m.

Bauman said the city is looking at building a new City Hall, but other access options such as building an elevator are still being considered.

The city and the ICN are currently locked in a legal battle over accessibility. Last fall, the city filed suit against the organization to prevent members from blocking entrances to the building.

Officials have said they hope the suit will offer some legal answers to the city's responsibility to handicapped citizens.

The ICN responded with a countersuit against the city and the council members, alleging numerous civil rights and accessibility violations.

The deadline for the city to respond to a legal request for documents was Thursday, but ICN attorneys had not received any response from the city, Howard said.

Last year, the City Council began holding meetings at Burley Junior High School, which is wheelchair-accessible. The council moved

Plant safety given push

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The chairmen of two congressional committees urged Energy Secretary James D. Watkins on Friday to take new steps to improve safety practices at the Savannah River nuclear arms plant before allowing it to resume operation.

Watkins should insist that operators of Savannah River's nuclear reactors, which make tritium gas for nuclear warheads, meet the safety standards set by the nuclear industry, said Sen. John Glenn, D-

Ohio, and Rep. Mike Synar, D-Oklahoma.

"It is critical ... to change the disturbing mindset of complacency that has been embedded at the Savannah River plant for many years," Glenn said. "The Energy Department still has a long way to go."

The legislators were responding to a report by the General Accounting Office, the "investigative" arm of Congress, that said the Savannah River operation had not yet made sufficient improvements in safety practices and attitudes.

11 dead, scores missing in Ohio floods

The Associated Press

SHADYSIDE, Ohio — Torrential thunderstorms sent a flash flood surging through a valley into this Ohio River town, killing at least 11 people, leaving 51 missing and scores of others homeless Friday, authorities said.

Raging floodwaters late Thursday swept homes off foundations and washed away cars. About 200 people were reported evacuated in central Ohio.

"The valleys are choked with debris," Gov. Richard Celeste told reporters after flying over the hilly Appalachian region in eastern Ohio. "A wall of water wiped a path through the area."

The governor declared a state of emergency, and dispatched about 50 National Guardsmen to the area. The Federal Emergency Management Agency declared Belmont County, which includes Shadyside, and Jefferson and Franklin counties disaster areas, making federal aid available to residents. Seventeen counties now have been declared disaster areas because of flooding or mudslides since May 24.

Ten bodies were taken to the Bunknrecht Funeral Home in Shadyside, said Bob Bell, funeral director. One body was taken to Bellair City Hospital, he said. Chuck Vogt, Belmont County coroner's investigator, also said there were 11 confirmed dead.

Earlier, Fire Chief Mark Bodin had said 14 adults and two children were dead. The names of the victims have not been released.

County Sheriff Tom McCort, who said he was running the recovery effort, said 51 people in Shadyside and Meade Township, where the two creeks run south of the village, were missing as of 8:45 p.m.

The list was compiled through telephone inquiries with townspeople and relatives and interviews with people evacuated from the area.

About 200 people came and went from a Shadyside disaster center during the day, seeking news of missing friends and relatives.

Vogt said two bodies were found in the Ohio River and one was found in a field next to the river after water receded. He said the rest were found in the game with a neighbor when the storm hit Thursday night. The house started to fill with water.

SHADYSIDE, Ohio — A 9-year-old girl said she was swept down a creek into the Ohio River during a flash flood and stayed alive for seven hours by hanging on to logs and "just drifted" until she reached shore Friday morning.

Amber said her 12-year-old friend, Kerrie Trigg, wanted to get in the bathtub.

Gang sweep snares 170

The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — An 11-state sweep targeting street gangs that export drug dealing from California ghettos to other states netted more than 170 arrests, authorities said Friday.

The action dubbed operation Street Sweep began Thursday, with hundreds of federal agents and local law officers moving in on members of the Crips and Bloods, violent gangs spawned in poor Southern California neighborhoods.

By midday Friday, 166 arrests had been made, officials said.

"What began as a Los Angeles problem has now spread to a national one," said Stephen E. Higgins, director of the Federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms. "Arrests were made in California, Louisiana, Arizona, New Mexico, Missouri, Oklahoma, Oregon, Washington, Texas and two other states that weren't identified because warrants were still being served."

Authorities at a news conference to announce the sweep displayed a sample of confiscated weapons, but did not detail the quantity of weapons or drugs seized.

A national investigation by the bureau revealed the rival Crips and Bloods were heavily involved in crack cocaine distribution and firearms trafficking nationwide, Higgins said.

Gang members are involved in murders, drive-by shootings, narcotics trafficking, assaults, credit card fraud, and money laundering," he said, adding the operation was "intended to send a message to violent street gangs."

More arrests were expected through the weekend, ATF spokesman Jack Killorjian said from Washington, D.C.

Utah fusion researcher denounces journal's report as inaccurate hype

SALT LAKE CITY—A science journal's report that cold fusion experiments at a Texas university may have been manipulated to get positive results is no more than inaccurate hype, says the director of Utah's fusion research center.

Fritz Will of the National Cold Fusion Institute on Friday responded to questions raised by the article in Science, a journal published by the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The report said that despite widespread rumors that fusion experiments in the Texas A&M University laboratories, Bockris may have been manipulated, no formal investigation had been ordered.

Specifically, the article cited rumors that the experiments might have been "spiked" with tritium, considered a signature of a nuclear process, to validate the results.

"I think we all still in this room adhere to the principle that people are innocent until proven guilty," Will said at a news conference.

He said 24 other laboratories in the United States, Japan, the Soviet Union, India and Italy also had found evidence of tritium in their experiments.

"Everybody that looks at the available evidence will say, 'Is it possible that these 24 laboratories have all spiked their (experiments)? I would think it would be absurd to infer that,' he said.

Fusion is the merger of hydrogen atoms into helium with the release of substantial energy. It powers the sun and thermonuclear weapons, and is believed by most scientists to require hydrogen atoms to be compressed and heated to millions of degrees.

"Cold fusion, in which the reaction would take place and liberate energy as heat at ordinary temperatures, would be a stunning scientific breakthrough.

Bockris reported the tritium within weeks after University of Utah chemist Dr. Stanley Pons and his colleague Martin Fleischmann announced on March 23, 1989, that they had achieved fusion in a laboratory jar.

Their experiments and most others involved a palladium rod wrapped with platinum wire and immersed in deuterium oxide, or heavy water, and charged with electricity. Pons and Fleischmann said more energy was produced, in the form of excess heat, than was put in to the device.

Earlier this month, Texas A&M researcher Kevin Wolf, who works in a different laboratory than Bockris, reported that the palladium he used in his experiments may already have contained traces of tritium.

Will said that in the wake of that report, he had ordered all the palladium at the institute analyzed for evidence of tritium.

"I have ordered an intensive program to analyze as received palladium from three manufacturers, and that which has undergone electrolysis in light or heavy water," he said.

The analysts will run control tests, and none will know the source of the palladium or whether it has been used in the fusion devices.

In addition, Bockris has sent eight palladium rods for analysis at the Utah center, Will said.

Moreover, he said, the institute always has maintained strict controls on the tritium samples used to calibrate the sophisticated instruments that detect its presence.

creaks, which flow into the river.

Some of the bodies were taken to a funeral home that set up a temporary morgue in Shadyside, about 10 miles south of Wheeling, W.Va.

Officials from Ohio, West Virginia and the U.S. Coast Guard were searching the Ohio River for survivors and bodies, and Badia said National Guardsmen were to continue searching the creeks throughout the night.

At least five houses along Wegec Creek were washed away, and two cars were floating in one of the basements. Anything that was still standing was covered with at least 6 feet of debris such as trees, appliances and furniture.

The National Weather Service issued no flood warning before the disaster, although it did issue a flood watch, said Al Wheeler, deputy meteorologist in the bureau's Cleveland office.

Weather service offices in Cleveland, Akron, Columbus and Pittsburgh showed the storm had diminished over eastern Ohio when it had actually intensified, Wheeler said.

Thursday night's thunderstorms caused flash flooding across a wide area of central and eastern Ohio, northern West Virginia and western Pennsylvania. The floods closed roads, damaged homes and forced hundreds of people to evacuate.

There also was flooding in Jefferson County, north of Belmont, in Licking County in central Ohio, and in northwestern West Virginia and western Pennsylvania.

"It's pretty good news, especially in the northern end of the county," said Clarence Weston, a dispatcher with the Marshall County Sheriff's Department in Moundsville, W.Va. "We had 3.5 inches of rain in a two-hour period last night."

Most of the problems in West Virginia were confined to road closures and basement flooding.

Texas Land Commissioner Gary Mauro watches oil spill-eating bacteria being sprayed near Mega Borg

Microbes get chance to gobble spilled oil

GALVESTON, Texas (AP)—Crews on Friday began spraying oil-eating microbes on the slick surrounding the burning supertanker Mega Borg in the first open-sea release of the bacteria to clean up a spill.

The Coast Guard boosted its estimate of the amount of oil released into the Gulf of Mexico to 4.3 million gallons, making it the nation's fifth largest spill.

The Coast Guard said the first tar balls from the leaking Norwegian supertanker could wash ashore late Friday on Holfar Peninsula, across the bay from Galveston Island. But county officials said they had no unusual reports of oil on shore.

"We don't anticipate the oil will come before Sunday. We're prepared," said Galveston City Manager Doug Matthews.

Crews on four fireboats also continued spraying water on the 886-foot ship, which exploded and caught fire late last Friday, 57 miles off Galveston. Gray smoke spewed from the rear section of the vessel.

More than two dozen smaller boats used skimming devices to suck up or corral the rusty brown oil trailing from the tanker. Salvagers said they had skimmed 76,389 gallons of oil.

The Coast Guard said most of the light-colored crude evaporated or burned in less than 14,000 gallons remained in the water.

The Coast Guard would not elaborate on how it reached the 4.3 million gallon estimate for the spill. The spill earlier had been estimated at 3 million gallons.

The worst oil spill in U.S. history was last year when the Exxon Valdez ran aground, spilling nearly 11 million gallons of heavy crude on the Prince William Sound in Alaska.

In the experimental use of the microbes, officials working on a Coast Guard boat mixed the bacteria with sea water and sprayed it on a section of the 30-mile-long slick.

About 100 pounds of microbes were sprayed over an acre in a procedure that lasted about 30 minutes Friday afternoon. Officials will check the area Saturday to see if the experiment was successful.

The process, known as bioremediation, has never been tried on an oil spill in open seas, although lab experiments have been successful, said Texas Land Commissioner Gary Mauro.

Bioremediation has been used for years to clean up hazardous waste sites, treat sewage and wastewater, extract oil from tight geologic formations and clean some rocks on shore after the Exxon Valdez accident, Mauro said.

"At Valdez, cleanup sites, workers have been applying nitrogen and phosphorus fertilizer that promotes growth in the sand of the naturally occurring bacteria.

The bacteria eats the oil and reduces it to a fatty substance that fish can eat. When the oil runs out, the microbes die.

On shore, Galveston officials kept an eye on the advancing slick.

"We have not had any indication of any oil coming ashore," said Hallissy, executive director of the Galveston County Beach Park Board, said Friday. "We're keeping our fingers crossed."

Democrats urge Bush to sign leave bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats pressed President Bush on Friday to sign a bill guaranteeing workers emergency family leave, quoting 1988 candidate George Bush to support their arguments against his threatened veto.

The Republican sponsor of the bill also urged Bush to sign it, saying a veto on such a "bedrock family issue" could backfire for the GOP.

The family leave bill went to the White House after the Senate approved it Thursday evening on a voice vote.

Bush did not respond to a question about it during a photo session Friday. But press secretary Marilyn Fitzwater said "Yes" when asked if Bush would veto the bill.

White House officials have said Bush does support "flexible family leave policies" by all employers but believes they should not be mandated by government.

The bill's main Republican sponsor, Rep. Marge Roukema, R-N.J., urged Bush not to act until she and other backers could meet with him. She said a veto would leave the Republican Party open to charges it is insensitive to working families.

"The point that has to be considered here is, do we want to be perceived as the party that fights for a reduction in the capital gains tax while we turn our backs on the teaching, hard-working American families who are in medical crisis," she said.

The bill passed comfortably in the House last month, although the margin fell 46 votes short of the two-thirds majority that would be needed to override a veto.

Senate passage came without a recorded vote. Sponsor Christopher Dodd, D-Conn., said he was "within two or three votes" of a two-thirds majority.

Bush has vetoed 12 bills so far and hasn't been overridden on any.

Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., left, and Sen. Christopher Dodd, D-Conn., urge support Friday on Capitol Hill.

The new legislation would require business and government employers to provide workers with up to 12 weeks of unpaid medical leave or with leave, so they could care for a newly born or adopted child or an ill child, parent or spouse.

Employers would have to continue health coverage and then restore a returning employee to his or her previous job or an equivalent position.

Seemingly confident the bill has broad public support, Democrats taunted Bush with his own campaign rhetoric.

At a news conference Friday,

Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell read from a campaign speech Bush made to a Republican women's group in Illinois in fall 1988, while Bush was running for president.

He quoted Bush: "We also need to assure that women don't have to worry about getting their jobs back after having a child or caring for a child during a serious illness. This is what I meant when I talked about a gentler nation."

"Those are Mr. Bush's words before he became president," Mitchell said. "Now it's up to the president to live up to his words."

Bush rejects easing rules on politicking

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush on Friday vetoed a bill easing 51-year-old curbs on off-duty political activity by government workers, saying the measure could lead to "political exploitation and abuse."

CASTING THE 12th veto of his presidency two days after the Senate upheld the 11th, Bush said there was no compelling reason to modify the Hatch Act.

"The Hatch Act has upheld the integrity of the civil service by assuring that federal employees are hired and promoted based upon their qualifications and not their political loyalties," he said in a veto message to Congress.

Robert Tobias, president of the National Treasury Employees Union, representing federal employees in 16 agencies and departments, called the veto "wrongheaded" and urged the Senate to override it.

Although the measure passed both chambers by more than the two-thirds majorities needed to sustain a veto, Republican leaders have said they expect to be able to switch enough votes in the Senate to sustain the veto.

Bush has yet to have a veto overridden. Just Wednesday, the Senate by a two-vote margin upheld his veto of a $2 billion Amtrak authorization bill.

The Hatch Act revision would affect 3 million federal employees and postal workers, who are now prohibited from participating in any form of political activity beyond voting.

8 die in Detroit victory celebration

DETROIT (AP) — Ramping throughs celebrating the Detroit Pistons' second NBA title in as many years turned nasty early Friday.

Eight people were killed and hundreds were hurt by gunfire, stabbings and fighting, police said.

Looting and raucous behavior led to dozens of arrests after fans jammed city and suburban streets to mark Detroit's last-second 92-90 victory over the Portland Trail Blazers.

"It's been a madhouse down here," said Detroit police officer John Leavens.

Four people were killed and one person was injured when a car plowed into pedestrians on the city's east side at 1:15 a.m. Friday. Police arrested a 41-year-old man and confiscated his car 10 hours later.

Two other pedestrians were killed by cars in separate celebration-related accidents. A 19-year-old was killed when someone shot into a crowd packed into a parking lot, and a 21-year-old reveler was killed when he fell from an apartment roof.

Not long after Detroit's victory, which gave the Pistons a 4-1 edge in the National Basketball Association championship, fans rushed from their homes to dance in the streets and on car roofs. They waved flags and shirts, dribbling and tossing basketballs in their glees.

But the merriment quickly turned ugly.

Robert Egan, a Mount Carmel Hospital nurse, said fights even broke out in the hospital's emergency room early Friday.

"We were running around like crazy. We registered something like 20 gunshot wounds between midnight and 4 a.m.," Egan said.

"It was ridiculous. In my three years here, I've never seen anything like this."

Cheney promotes talks for peace in Mideast

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. supplied weapons won't ensure Israeli security without successful negotiations with Palestinians and Arab states, Defense Secretary Dick Cheney said Friday.

Cheney, speaking before the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith in New York City, attempted to ease the recently strained U.S.-Israeli dialogue by stressing America's commitment to peace in the Mideast as well as its "solid and unalterable" ties to Israel.

His remarks were monitored at the Pentagon.

The secretary also made a point of congratulating the new government of Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir, saying the administration looks "forward" to working with him to secure a comprehensive peace between Israel and the Palestinians and between Israel and all of its Arab neighbors.

Cheney made no direct mention of the sharp remarks that have been exchanged in recent days between Secretary of State James Baker III and Shamir over Israel's commitment to the peace process.

But he did note that all is not well at present.

"The important thing in a good relationship is to remember that disagreements are not all there is," he said.

Cheney said that while both nations have "had our differences of opinion" about how best to pursue the peace process, "there is not an ally in the world with whom we have not had an occasional disagreement."

Small intestine transplant went well, surgeons say

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Surgeons at a Pittsburgh hospital said they have performed the nation's first successful transplant of a small intestine.

The patient, a man shot in the abdomen in October, was kept alive on intravenous feedings until undergoing the transplant at Presbyterian-University Hospital, said Dr. John Fung, assistant professor of surgery at the University of Pittsburgh.

"He is eating but I can't venture to say what will happen in the long term," Fung said. "He's still in the hospital because he is still recovering and we are doing more testing."

Transplant pioneer Dr. Thomas Starzl and Fung mentioned the surgery Wednesday in a meeting with the University of Pittsburgh's board of trustees. The physicians declined to be interviewed following the meeting, and hospital officials refused to disclose any other details.

Fung said the operation was done about two months ago on the patient, who was not identified.

Hospital spokeswoman Lisa Rossi said Thursday it was premature to discuss the surgery. She said small intestine transplants previously were attempted at the hospital only as part of three multiple-organ transplants.

English teachers sent to East Bloc to foster peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sending the Peace Corps to Eastern Europe for the first time, President Bush told 121 volunteer English teachers Friday they have the opportunity to "bring the world a bit closer, one friendship at a time."

"Today we launch a new people-to-people effort through which the people of America, Poland and Hungary can work together in the exhilarating process of building new democratic societies," Bush told the volunteers gathered for the send-off in a light drizzle that beaded umbrellas in the White House Rose Garden.

The volunteers were selected from the thousands of Americans who answered Bush's call earlier this year for the Peace Corps to help Poland and Hungary meet the challenge of moving away from four decades of communist rule.

They will leave for their two-year assignments this weekend.

Retail prices up only slightly after big jump earlier in the year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail prices rose a modest 0.2 percent in May, easing the strain on consumers' budgets for the second straight month after a painful spurt in prices early in the year, the government said Friday.

In other economic news, the Commerce Department said the U.S. trade deficit shrank to $6.94 billion in April, the second lowest level in the last six years.

And, the Federal Reserve said industrial production rebounded an unexpectedly strong 0.6 percent last month after holding steady in April.

The April and May moderation in the Labor Department's Consumer Price Index curbed inflation for the first five months of the year to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 5.8 percent.

That's up significantly from the 4.6 percent rate for all of last year, but down sharply from the worrisome 8.5 percent rate in the first quarter.

"Inflation remains low and under control," said White House spokesman Martin Fitzwater. The better news on inflation was expected by most economists, who freeze around Christmas. After that, a warm spell stimulated early sales of more expensive spring clothing lines, sending apparel costs higher.

"What you need to keep in mind here is that the moderation in May is mainly an unwinding of the price spikes you got earlier in the year," said economist Bruce Steinberg of Merrill Lynch. "Although we should be happy to get these kinds of numbers, they are probably understating inflation just as the numbers at the beginning of the year were overstating it."

Food prices rose only 0.1 percent last month after falling 0.2 percent a month earlier. Energy costs dropped 0.7 percent, the fourth monthly decline following a large increase in January.

Prices excluding the volatile food and energy sectors, often taken as a sign of a weak domestic economy, which translates into lower demand for imports and lower prices for goods in general.

The industrial production report, although a sign of strength, was considered somewhat of a fluke. Much of it was attributed to a buildup in inventories by the Big selection of goods and services costing $100 in the 1982-84 base period would have cost $129.20 last month, up from $123.80 a year ago.

The recent mild inflation meant that Americans' average weekly earnings, after adjusting for inflation, increased 0.3 percent in May. Still, for the last 12 months, earnings fell 0.1 percent. Average weekly earnings in May, before adjusting for inflation, were $344.31, up from $330.86 a year earlier.

Both the 17 percent improvement in the trade gap and the moderation of inflation were taken by analysts as signs of a weak domestic economy, which translates into lower demand for imports and lower prices for goods in general.

Three automakers worried about a strike in September.

Opinion was mixed over whether economic weakness will prompt the Federal Reserve to nudge short-term interest rates lower. Bond prices plunged after the reports, a sign that traders believed the economy was not weak enough nor inflation calm enough to trigger an easier monetary policy.

But Steinberg, noting the long lag between a change in policy and a corresponding reaction in the economy, said, "It seems to me the Fed, if it doesn't want to see the economy weaken further, will have to ease sometime in the near future, probably in July."

The department offered these other details of May consumer prices:

Famous armored division falls under Army budget ax

FORT HOOD, Texas (AP) — The 2nd Armored Division helped win the Battle of the Bulge, but now it has lost the battle of the budget.

The Army has decided to deactivate the unit, ending its colorful history as the armored division with the longest active service record. Formed in July 1940, it saw European service in World War II. Now the division is being dismantled 50 years later in anticipation of European peace.

"This division has the most glorious history of any combat unit in the U.S. Army," Lt. Charles McManis at Fort Hood said Thursday.

Its first commander, Gen. George S. Patton Jr., dubbed the division "hell on wheels," promising it would terrify enemies. Its troops adopted the nickname as their motto. Today, its soldiers still proudly wear "hell on wheels" on their division patch.

Patton had urged armored units as early as World War I. It took until just before the outbreak of World War II, though, for military technology to advance enough to demand tank support units.

For demanding the armored units, Patton was officially repudiated. But his persistence paid-off. The 2nd Armored landed on Omaha Beach, pushed through France, and was the first allied unit to enter Belgium.

After moving a record 100 miles in a single night, the 2nd Armored helped win the Battle of the Bulge in the winter of 1944 and was the first American unit to enter Berlin on July 4, 1945.

The division had previously been badly defeated in 1943 when 25 of its tanks fought with the British in the Battle of Beja in Tunisia, according to Capt. Jim Bolling. Only one tank survived that battle, and troops nicknamed it the Gallant.

Parts of the 2nd Armored also participated in the Korean and Vietnam wars. One of its most famous soldiers was Elvis Presley, who was honored in the 2nd Armored war museum at Fort Hood.

Under pressure to cur spending in anticipation of a cutback in European troop strength and more warning of superpower relations, the Army announced Wednesday that it is deactivating the division.

That means 2,537 military jobs will be cut by Sept. 30 at Fort Hood. Another 8,615 in the division will be cut by the end of fiscal year 1991.

The division's goal — supporting U.S. troops in Europe — is less important because "as the Warsaw Pact disintegrates, the threat is lessened," said Army spokesman Maj. Joe Padilla.

During peacetime, Army divisions are periodically deactivated.

The 2nd Armored came to central Texas in 1946 when Fort Hood was named Camp Hood.

Angry at the prospective loss of military personnel, central Texas residents near Fort Hood filed a lawsuit in state court to try to stop the action.

Barry's trial to continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marion Barry's lawyer on Friday scoffed at any possibility of a last-minute plea agreement that would stop the mayor's cocaine and perjury trial.

"All next week the trial will proceed," predicted defense attorney R. Kenneth Mundy. "Bet on it, believe it and don't question it."

A panel of 12 jurors and six alternates are to be seated Monday and opening statements are scheduled for Tuesday.

As two weeks of questioning prospective jurors drew to a close, Mundy discouraged the idea that a plea bargain with prosecutors might be worked out anytime soon.

Talks that might lead to such an agreement have been pushed by Barry supporters.

"There is nothing going on, there is nothing planned to go on, there is nothing being considered, there is nothing being talked about," Mundy told reporters during a midday break outside the U.S. Courthouse.

"Nobody is sitting by the phone waiting for a call," he said.

Paraguay asks Bush for trade help

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paraguayan President Andres Rodriguez asked President Bush for trade benefits Friday. Bush sought increased Paraguayan efforts on anti-drug operations, officials said.

The two met briefly in the Oval Office during a stopover by Rodriguez en route to Taiwan and South Korea.

"President Bush told President Rodriguez that we would like to cooperate more intensively with Paraguay to prevent drug traffickers from establishing a foothold in that country," said Bush's press secretary Martin Fitzwater.

U.S. officials have expressed concern that Paraguay is becoming an increasingly active transshipment point for drugs produced in other South American countries. Dozens of private airstrips have been reported in remote sections of Paraguay used by drug trafficking planes.

While Rodriguez is seen as making some efforts against illegal drugs, his cooperation so far has not been effective, said one official who spoke only on condition of anonymity.

Rodriguez asked Bush to restore the system of Generalized Special Preferences trade benefits. Fitzwater said in a statement.

The GSP is designed to allow third-world nations to ship their products to the United States duty free or with low tariffs.

Under U.S. regulations, countries that violate basic labor rights can be denied the GSP privileges. Paraguay is among the nations to be sanctioned in recent years.

Owner of yard-long lizard called to court

CASSELBERRY, Fla. (AP) — The owner of a 3½-foot, rat-gulping lizard named Gizzard was ordered to appear in court because his pet got loose.

The Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission cited Gary Locker for "maintaining wildlife in a manner that allows escape."

Gizzard, which cost Locker $300, fled from his cage last week and has not been found.

If convicted, Locker could be jailed 60 days and fined $500, said state wildlife officer John Moran.

Allowing the reptile to escape is a type of biological pollution to Florida's environment, Moran said.

Exotic animals in the wild compete with native animals for food and sometimes carry diseases that could harm the native population.

Romanian miners dig up the University Square to prepare for grass planting in wake of demonstrations there

Iliescu's inauguration delayed, Romanian miners sent home

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — President-elect Ion Iliescu on Friday ordered home the club-wielding coal miners he had summoned to help put down anti-government riots.

Continuing violence forced the postponement of his inauguration. — Iliescu's government also moved to distance itself from the miners' rampage, during which demonstrators, journalists and passers-by were beaten and opposition parties' offices raided.

Premier Petre Roman told a news conference that the miners had only been asked to peacefully occupy University Square, and that the government deplored all subsequent violence.

In Washington, a Bush administration official said non-humanitarian aid to Romania will be withheld to protest the violence.

State Department spokesman Richard Boucher said aid programs being considered would be held up until the democratic process has been restored. He said $80 million in food aid and $1 million in medical aid would not be affected.

Wednesday's police crackdown on a 53-day protest in the central square set off the worst violence since the December 1989 democracy restoration that toppled Communist dictator Nicolae Ceausescu.

The demonstrators say the new freely elected government, led by Iliescu and his National Salvation Front, is dominated by former Communists whom they accuse of continuing Ceausescu's repressive policies.

After the breakup of the demonstration at the square, angry protesters re-grouped and attacked government buildings. Government forces fired on them, killing at least five people and injuring more than 350.

The miners poured into town on Thursday at Iliescu's call for help in quelling what he called a "fascist" revolt.

The state news agency Romsprea said Iliescu met with the miners' leaders Friday and ordered them to leave the capital.

The report said miners began boarding buses for Bucharest's northern railway station. From there, they were to return on special trains to their homes in the Jiu valley mining region of western Romania.

However, an hour after the announcement, miners were still roaming central Bucharest.

Iliescu was to have been sworn in Friday at a meeting of both houses of Parliament. But a woman answering the phone at his office, who refused to give her name, said the session was put off until Monday. She would not elaborate.

Opposition leader Ion Ratiu, whose home was ransacked by the maurauding miners, said the violence was a "death-of-democracy."

"It's the rule of the mob, no respect-for-human rights. The forces of law and order stand by instead of maintaining law and order," said Ratiu, who returned to Romania following the December revolution.

He said he would stay in Romania despite the attack.

Mirela Rozovanu, a journalist with the Romania Libera newspaper, said the miners beat a co-worker and destroyed the editorial offices of the newspaper Thursday. The paper, which had been the main voice of opposition against Iliescu and the government, did not appear Friday.

Romsprea quoted an unidentified spokesman for the miners as saying nobody had invited them to come to Bucharest. But it was clear they were being given at least logistical support, with municipal buses and army trucks transporting them by the hundreds to key points in the city.

About 10 miners besieged the residence of Iliescu critic Dumitru Mazilu for several hours before dispersing, according to Mazilu and a neighbor. Mazilu, the former vice president of the post-revolutionary government, stepped down following charges that he collaborated with the Securitate, the secret police force that killed hundreds during the revolution.

Iran, U.S. settle huge oil claim

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — Iran removed one of the biggest obstacles to renewed trade with the United States on Friday by agreeing to pay a U.S. oil company $600 million for facilities seized during the 1979 Islamic revolution.

Two claims totaling $600 million were awarded to the American oil giant Amoco, said an official with the United States Claims Tribunal. It was the biggest settlement in the arbitration body's nine-year history.

The Tehran government has hinted recently that the resolution of financial disputes with the United States might contribute to the release of the six American hostages held by pro-Iranian Shiite extremists in Lebanon.

Last month, settlement of a much smaller claims package was announced shortly after the release of American hostages Robert Pollih and Frank Reed.

American and Iranian officials at the tribunal have vigorously denied conducting any direct talks on the hostage issue.

They said the tribunal deals only with arbitration of financial disputes. The Amoco settlement was among more than $1.8 billion in oil company claims stemming from Iran's Islamic revolution led by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini.

U.S.-Iranian ties were severed over the holding of hostages at the United States Embassy in Tehran for 444 days by Iranian militants.

At issue in Friday's settlement were two claims filed by Amoco subsidiaries against the National Iranian Oil Company, according to the official, who spoke on condition of anonymity in line with tribunal policy.

55 feared dead in building fall

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — A private school building collapsed Friday in the eastern oil city of Port Harcourt, killing at least 23 students and injuring 60, witnesses and hospital workers said.

More than 300 policemen were digging through the collapsed structure for 15 other students feared trapped in the rubble, a police spokesman said.

The accident occurred as about 200 students gathered for a debate in a room on the third floor of the building, which was still under construction, said one survivor, 19-year-old Elizabeth Ikedim.

She said many of the students were trapped on a staircase when they tried to flee as the walls began collapsing.

The police spokesman said the owner of the building had been arrested. A police source said the building owner did not have a permit for the construction.

China to execute 6

BEIJING (AP) — Six people have been sentenced to death and 70 to jail terms for stealing power lines in central China and causing repeated power losses, an official newspaper reported.

In the past four months, courts in Shensi province have handled 31 such cases involving 76 people, Legal Daily said Thursday. It said the cases involved 25,895 feet of power lines worth about $2,390.

The thefts caused repeated power failures and hindered the irrigation of about 1,230 acres of crops.

Heat exchange blast injures 9

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Nine people were injured in a blast that ripped through a heating station and damaged nearby houses in a town northeast of the capital, the state news agency reported Friday.

The explosion, which occurred early in the morning in Mlada Boleslav, 34 miles from Prague, destroyed the station and sent bricks smashing through house windows up to 60 feet away, the CTK agency said.

The cause of the blast was not immediately clear. The news agency did not identify the injured or say where they were at the time of the explosion. The Skoda car factory, located about one mile away, stopped production after the blast, CTK said. Experts recommended the factory stop production for security reasons.

Mudslide claims 21

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka (AP) — Tons of mud and rocks loosened by weeklong rains tumbled down a hill Friday, crushing to death at least 21 people in a central town, police said.

The mudslide and rockfall hit Talawakelle, 55 miles east of Colombo, about 4 a.m., when most of the residents were sleeping, police in the town said by telephone.

The police said rescuers had found 11 bodies and that most of the dead were tea plantation workers.

Simpson leads U.S. Open after 2 rounds

The Associated Press

MEDINAH, Ill. — Another day, another round of record-breaking scoring in the U.S. Open. Tim Simpson will take the blame — and the lead.

"I guess when I go out and shoot 66 everybody says, 'Hey, it can be done,' and they rise to the occasion," a mystified Simpson said Friday after taking sole control of the second-round lead in the Open.

To get to the top at the halfway point of the tournament, Simpson had to birdie two of his last three holes and overcome the most prolific scoring spree in Open history. His early 6-under-par provoked a record-ramp of 39 sub-par scores in the first round on Thursday, the most ever posted in 18 holes-of-Open competition.

Rain-softened greens took the teeth out of it on Thursday, however, and the second round was played in an almost total absence of wind. The greens remained soft and yielding and only the hint of a breeze stirred the leaves on the huge oaks and elms that framed the clubhouse's path.

any complete, 72-hole U.S. Open championship. With a handful of players still out in the second round, the total had reached 21 — 17 more than for all four rounds at the Country Club in Brookline, Mass., in 1988. "I just don't understand it," Simpson said. "This is a great golf course. It wears you out. It's like fighting Mike Tyson. You get over and you say, 'Thank goodness that's over.'"

McRoberts' timely birdie wins her Magic Valley Amateur title

By LARRY HOVEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Rosemary McRoberts used a birdie on the 16th hole to provide a two-stroke swing and rode it into her third Times-News Magic Valley Women's Amateur golf championship Friday.

McRoberts' four on the long fairway that necks into a tiny green that slopes three directions, let her break away from a tie with Sharon Faylor, who hooked her tee shot on the hole, ran into some tree trouble and settled for the bogey.

McRoberts closed the day with a bogey six on No. 18 but Faylor had to settle for a par to finish one stroke behind.

All of that was unknown to the competitors as they and Virginia Undheim and Sergene Sorenson battled through the second nine of Friday's round.

"That way you don't get nervous," smiled McRoberts in explaining why she tries to keep scores out of her head. "You know what the golf course is going to shoot every day so you just try to play it."

Actually, it was pretty tight throughout the second nine although they didn't have to worry about it.

McRoberts maintained the one-stroke lead she opened up Thursday over Faylor while Undheim dropped five strokes back with a 41 and Sorenson closed to within two with an opening 39.

McRoberts grabbed a two-stroke lead on No. 10 but Faylor immediately erased that with a par on No. 11 while McRoberts was carding a double bogey.

The women traded the lead on 13 and 14 to remain even and then halved No. 15 to bring up the fateful 16th.

"I tried to drive the green," Faylor said ruefully at the big cut she took off the tee. "But I hooked my drive to the other side of the side of the tree line and then tried to hit my second shot over the trees. It caught the top of one and dropped down, leaving me about 165 yards from the green."

"My third shot dipped off the left edge of the green and I chipped and putted twice from there," she added.

Meanwhile, McRoberts was just off the green in two but her local knowledge took a little surprise — a pleasant one — on the chip shot.

"The pin was in a very unusual place," she said. "I tried to hit it straight at the pin but it came off the club face to the right. Then the ball surprised me when it hit the green because it just kept breaking left toward the hole."

Undheim, a 14-time winner of this event, rallied back to within two by shooting a 36 on the back nine but that wasn't enough to let her over-come a rare four-putt on the sixth green.

Sorenson moved back up to a 41 on the closing nine.

In other action, Louise Smith of Gooding took net at 125, two up on Wendell's Kathy Berglund, Charlotte Brunelli outlasted Jo Irwin 134-135 to win the all-net first flight and Elva Felton won the second flight with a 129 against 131 for Ruth Sorenson whose net 59 Friday was the best round of the meet.

Final results:

NCAA panel advises cutback in athletic spending

The Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS — A subcommittee to the NCAA's Special Committee on Cost Reduction recommends eliminating athletic dormitories over a five-year period, but on the other proposals, made by the full committee in April.

"I'm excited about the amount of consensus among the presidents, commissioners and athletic directors on the reform agenda," said Greg O'Brien, chancellor of the University of New Orleans.

"If the costs keep getting bigger for our major sports, we're going to lose the ability to field the non-revenue sports and that puts college athletics out of balance."

The committee on cost reduction had recommended ways for Division I programs to save money in three areas — recruiting, competitive policies and financial aid.

The general recommendations were:

• Recruiting: Reduce the number of coaches who can recruit off-campus, reduce the amount of contact between schools and recruits; and reduce the number of printed recruiting materials that can be sent to recruits.

• Competitive policies: To reduce the size of coaching staffs, reduce the number of preseason practices, limit the duration of road trips and prohibit athletic training tables.

• Financial aid: To reduce the maximum number of scholarships in each sport.

The cost-reduction committee's recommendations also were reviewed by a group of commissioners and by the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics at their convention last week.

The ADs were split on whether to reduce scholarships in football and basketball.

Iron Mike returns to ring tonight

The Associated Press

LAS VEGAS — Mike Tyson admits to having been devastated by his title loss to James "Buster" Douglas, but claims there will be no after-effects.

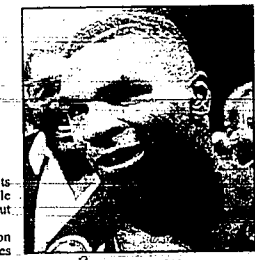

Henry Tillman, who will fight Tyson Saturday night, has his doubts. So does George Foreman, who would be an interested spectator.

"I'm in a great frame of mind," Tyson said. "I'm sure his confidence was affected," Tillman said. "The question is how long his recovery time will be."

The odds-makers don't believe Tillman will be able to answer the question of how Tyson was affected by his 10th-round knockout by Douglas Feb. 11 in Tokyo. Douglas was a 30-1 favorite. Of course, Tyson was even a bigger underdog.

Foreman, who is a strong favorite to beat Adilson Rodrigues on the card at Caesars Palace and who wants to fight Tyson, feels it's too soon for Tyson to be trying to answer questions about his ability and career.

"If I were managing Tyson, I'd let him take off two years — 18 months minimum, let him get hungry again," said Foreman, who says he would be stripped away.

The bouts will be televised by HBO, starting at 8 p.m. MDT.

Foreman was an intimidating, brooding heavyweight champion, then was upset by Muhammad Ali in 1974.

"It was a shock at first, but that only lasted for about two days," Tyson said of his loss. "After that I was back to normal."

Much of the Pistons' future depends upon Daly's plans

The Associated Press

PORTLAND, Ore. — The Detroit Pistons' chances of becoming the second team in NBA history to win three straight titles may depend on where Chuck Daly decides to use his voice next year — in the Pistons' locker room or over the airwaves.

"I kind of like coaching," said Daly high on the list of candidates to join NBC. "It takes over network coverage of the NBA next season."

"I've gotten reasonably good at it. I'm just going to take my time and see what happens. I want to enjoy this. Not many coaches get a chance to savor back-to-back championships."

The Pistons wrapped up the title with a 92-90 win in Portland Thursday night, completing a three-game road sweep to win their second straight.

But it remains more concerned about the present than the future.

Isiah Thomas, the most valuable player in the Finals, said the team doesn't discuss his place in NBA history.

"We never talked about it all season, but for the past four or five years, we felt like we were one of the best teams in the history of basketball," Thomas said. "We wanted to repeat as champions, but not so much to prove it to anybody else; we wanted to do it for ourselves."

Only once before has a team won three straight titles — the Boston Celtics, who won 11 titles in 13 years, including a run of eight straight from 1959-66.

Two years ago, the Los Angeles Lakers became the first team in two decades to repeat and last year the Pistons prevented the Lakers from making it three straight.

Daly said the Pistons accomplished the repeat title because the players are defensively sound and the team is deep.

"They operate offensively extremely well, and they are unselfish," he said. "All those things make them a great team."

The fact that three of their four victories in the series were close is immaterial, Thomas said.

"I don't want this to sound immodest, but we were the better basketball team."

The Pistons became the first team in NBA finals history to win five consecutive games on the road over two seasons. They beat the Trail Blazers three times this year and completed a sweep of the Lakers in 1989 by winning two at the Forum.

Only the Minneapolis Lakers in 1953-54 have won as many as four consecutive road games in the finals.

Pistons center Bill Laimbeer, who grabbed 17 rebounds in Game 5, said the team believed it didn't get respect last year when it swept the Lakers, who had Magic Johnson and Byron Scott on the sidelines waving banners in injuries.

"We carried a little bit of a grudge this year," Laimbeer said.

Cubs drop 2 games to Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Chicago Cubs lost a doubleheader for the second time in three days as Philadelphia's Bruce Ruffin pitched a three-hitter in the nightcap for a 7-0 victory Friday after rookie Jim Vatcher won the opener 6-5 with a run-scoring bases-loaded single in the 10th inning.

The Cubs, who have lost five straight games, dropped a doubleheader to the New York Mets, 15-10 and 9-6, on Wednesday at Wrigley Field.

Ruffin's only other shutout was in 1987, his first full year with the Phillies.

The Phillies wrapped up the second game with a five-run sixth-inning as 10 batters went to the plate against Mike Bielecki (3-6). Bielecki allowed seven runs and 10 hits in seven innings.

After Lenny Dykstra was walked to load the bases, Bielecki ruined the strategy by walking Rod Rumberg to force home the first run.

One out later, Charlie Hayes sent home two runs. John Kruk drew an intentional walk to load the bases again and Carmelo Martinez singled home two more.

Expos 7 Cardinals 4

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Montreal rallied for six runs before making an out in the ninth inning as Dave Martinez hit a three-run triple and Nelson Santovenia added a two-run pinch homer to power the Expos past the slumping St. Louis Cardinals Friday night.

It was the Cardinals' fifth straight loss and eighth defeat in their last nine games. To make matters worse, St. Louis has blown ninth-inning leads in the last three games.

Joe Magrane (3-9) entered the National League

ninth with a 3-1 lead when he gave up consecutive singles to Andres Galarraga and Tim Lincecum. Mike Fitzgerald followed with an RBI double and Junior Noboa was intentionally walked to load the bases. Martinez then put the Expos ahead 4-3 with his triple and chased Magrane. Scott Terry relieved and Santovenia homered to left.

Todd Zeile hit a three-run homer in the second off Oil Can Boyd and added an RBI single in the ninth.

Boyd retired nine in a row after the homer and finished allowing four hits in seven innings.

Mets 7 Pirates 5

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Darryl Strawberry continued his home run assault on Pittsburgh pitching with a three-run shot Friday night and Dave Magadan drew 4-for-4 with two doubles, leading the streaking New York Mets to a 7-5 victory over the Pirates.

The Mets have scored 50 runs in winning four straight games and have won seven of eight and nine of 11, including four of five against the National League East leader, the Pirates.

Bob Ojeda (3-3), who is 12-4 lifetime against the Pirates, allowed four runs and nine hits over 6 1-3 innings for the victory, the Mets' sixth in a row in Pittsburgh dating to last season. John Franco took over for Alejandro Pena in the eighth and pitched 1 2-3 innings for his 10th save.

New York didn't take long to solve Walt Terrell (2-6), who has surrendered 13 runs in nine innings in two starts against the Mets. Magadan and Gregg Jefferies singled with one out ahead of Strawberry's long homer to right, his 13th of the season and his fifth in his last four games against Pittsburgh.

Strawberry has homered at least once in the Mets' last four games against Pittsburgh and is hitting .433 with eight homers and 18 RBIs in his last 16 games.

Reds 3 Astros 3

CINCINNATI (AP) — Paul O'Neill broke out of a slump by going 4-for-4 with three runs batted in to help Jack Armstrong gain his ninth victory as the Cincinnati Reds beat Houston 6-3 Friday night, ending the Astros' six-game winning streak.

Armstrong (9-3) became the third National League pitcher to win nine this season. He helped himself with a two-run, bases-loaded single in the third, his first major-league RBIs on only the second hit of the year.

Armstrong had his league-leading earned run average inch up to 1.99 as he struggled with his control early, giving up eight hits in the first four innings.

Burt Hooton's hitting and Armstrong's own single compensated.

Armstrong gave up three runs and nine hits and struck out seven in 7 2-3 innings for his first win since May 25.

Randy Myers finished for his 12th save, allowing no hits.

O'Neill, making just his second start in five games, singled home a run in the first inning as Cincinnati went up 2-0 and doubled home two more in a four-run third off Jim Clancy (2-6).

O'Neill came into the game with 10 hits in his last 48 at-bats.

Johnson shares lead in Atlantic City

SOMERS POINT, N.J. (AP) — Chris Johnson birdied three of the five par-3 holes en route to a 3-under-par 67 Friday and shared the second-round lead of the Atlantic City Classic with Sherri Steinhilber.

Johnson, looking for her first victory since 1987, and Steinhilber, a non-winner in four-plus years on the LPGA Tour, were a contrast in styles.

Johnson, 32, was steady, not making a bogey in reaching the halfway point at 4-under-par 136. Steinhilber, 27, had six birdies, including five straight early in a round of 2-under-par 68, but also had four bogeys.

Dale Eggeling, who reached six under midway through the round, faltered down the stretch with a double bogey and two bogeys and finished tied with Lenore Rittenhouse, two shots behind the leaders.

Eggeling had a second-round 1-over-par 71 and Rittenhouse a 68.

ing of their own.

The Czechoslovaks, another of the surprising teams in the first round of the tournament, advanced with a 1-0 victory over Austria, and West Germany continued its powerful display with a 5-1 victory over the United Arab Emirates on Friday. The day before, Cameroon and Italy moved on.

The Italians struggled to beat the United States 1-0 Thursday night. The next day, it was the Americans who spoke positively about the result.

"I don't think you can get any higher than this," forward Peter Vermes said.

"I think we came out of there as winners," added Coach Bob Gansler. "Winners don't always get the W's."

No, the Czechoslovaks, in the World Cup for the first time in 40 years, isn't likely to get a W out of this tournament. But they have gotten respect.

"I think that for an up-and-coming team like us, you can call it a perfect night," Vermes said. "I think that we played well."

Late pitcher's case will stay closed

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Despite the pleas of his family and friends, the late Phil Douglas, a pitcher banned from baseball in 1922, won't be returned to major-league baseball's good graces in the near future.

Baseball Commissioner Fay Vincent has decided against reopening the case against Douglas, who was thrown out of baseball in 1922, an attorney for the family said Friday.

"I was surprised," lawyer Joseph I. McCullough Jr. said in a telephone interview from his office in Collingswood, N.J. "I thought — and I still think it would be very, very simple for them to give us the most simple of hearings."

Douglas, who grew up in southeast Tennessee, was banned by Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis for writing a letter to Leslie Mann, a former teammate who played for the St. Louis Cardinals, suggesting he would leave the New York Giants in return for money. The letter was turned over to Cardinals' officials who forwarded it to Landis.

Hendrickson leads senior tourney

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Dick Hendrickson's eagle gave him a 7-under 65 and the first-round lead in the $400,000 MONY Senior-Golf Classic for the second straight year.

He sank a three-foot putt for an eagle on the par-5 eighth hole, leaving him one shot ahead of Mike Hill, who was tied for the lead, but bogeyed the final hole after landing in a bunker on his approach shot.

Joining Hill at 66 were defending champion Jim Dent, Walter Zimbrisk and Larry Mohry.

Bobby Nichols was two strokes behind at 67, despite consecutive bogeys on the 11th and 12th holes. Bill Collins was also at 5-under.

Lou Graham, Jack Klefer and Ch' Ch' Rodriguez were at 68.

Hendrickson, who has never won a Senior Tour event, led for 52 of 54 holes last year at the Lafayette Country Club, but was overtaken by Dent.

The leader was first off the 6,540-yard, par-72 course, but trailed Hill by a stroke before eagling the eighth hole. Hendrickson left his second shot just short of the cup with a 2-iron.

Hill, who had five birdies in a six-hole stretch, led after 12 holes: Starting on the back nine, Hill was 1-under after four holes, but came back with birdies on No. 16 and No. 17, both par 5s.

Tigers clip Angels' wings, 2-1

DETROIT (AP) — Scott Lusader drew a two-out, bases-loaded walk from California reliever Bryan Harington to force home the winning run in the 10th inning as the Detroit Tigers beat the Angels 2-1 Friday night.

Mark Langston held the Tigers to a run and four hits while striking out 11 in eight innings and Mark Eichhorn pitched the ninth for the Angels.

Harvey (2-2) took over in the 10th and walked Cecil Fielder to start the inning. After Jim Lindeman popped out attempting to sacrifice, Harvey walked pinch-hitter Dave Bergman and Lloyd Moseby, 3-0, who hitker struck out but Lusader fouled out two 3-2 pitches and then took a low pitch for ball four.

Jerry Don Gleaton (1-1), the Tigers' fourth pitcher, got the last out in the California 10th and was the winner. Starter Dan Petry held California to two hits in 7 1-3 innings, including Lance Parrish's second-homer, his 11th. It came on his 34th birthday and was the first homer off Petry in 51 innings dating back to April 29.

Three Detroit relievers held the Angels hitless. The Tigers have won their straight at home for the first time this season.

American League

opened the eighth with singles and Barry Jones (7-1) relieved.

Bob Wiesler (10-2) won his seventh straight game despite yielding all the Chicago runs and seven hits in seven innings. Dennis Eckersley got the final out for his 21st save.

The A's, who have led the AL West since the first week of the season, are two games ahead of the White Sox and have two more games in Chicago this weekend.

Blue Jays 5 Yankees 4

NEW YORK (AP) — Kelly Gruber, pinch-hitting for the first time this season, put Toronto ahead with a bases-loaded triple in the eighth inning and scored the decisive run on Pat Borders' single as the Toronto Blue Jays beat the New York Yankees 5-4 Friday night.

Gruber (1-3) gave up two hits and a run in the last 13 road games.

Gruber, given a day off to rest, rescued Toronto with a two-out triple for a 4-3 lead. He pinch hit once last season and homered.

Royals 5 Twins 1

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Danny Tartabull hit a three-run homer and Kevin Appier scattered five hits in eight innings as the Kansas City Royals beat Minnesota 5-1 Friday night, the Twins' eighth straight loss.

Appier (2-3) struck out five and did not walk a batter. He did not allow a run until the first inning. Kent Hrbek ruined his shutout bid with a home run in the seventh. Mark Davis pitched the ninth.

The Royals scored all their runs off Tim Drummond (0-2), a rookie who has never won a major-league game.

With Kansas City ahead 2-0, Tartabull lined his fifth home run of the season over the 410-foot sign in left-center with two out in the fifth. He has three home runs and six RBIs in his last eight games.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Tom Candiotti scattered seven hits in 8 1-3 innings and Jerry Browne and Candy Maldonado hit RBI doubles in the first inning as the Cleveland Indians treated the largest major-league crowd of the season — 63,546 — to a 5-3 victory over the Milwaukee Brewers on Friday night.

In Candiotti's previous outing he also pitched 8 1-3 innings and beat Boston 4-0.

Doug Jones relieved Candiotti (7-3) after Greg Brock's one-out double in the ninth and retired the last two batters for his 21st save in 23 opportunities.

Red Sox 4 Orioles 3

BALTIMORE (AP) — Wes Gardner upped his record to 5-0 against Baltimore with his first victory since last Aug. 1 and Danny Heep, who began the game hitting .178, put Boston ahead with a two-run double in the second inning as the Red Sox beat the Orioles 4-3 Friday night.

Gardner (3-3) gave up two Baltimore runs and six hits in 5 2-3 innings and a road start for the first time since April 29, 1989. He entered the game with a 7.79 ERA and lowered it to 6.65.

Dennis Lamp yielded one hit in 2

White Sox 4 Athletics 5

CHICAGO (AP) — The two-time American League champion Oakland Athletics, five outs away from dropping out of first place, got two-run hits from Dave Henderson and Terry Steinbach in an eighth-inning rally and slowed down the surging Chicago White Sox 5-4 Friday night.

The White Sox, who could have surged past the A's by five percentage points with a victory, led 4-1 behind Greg Hibbard's solid pitching. But Mike Gallego and Walt Weiss

Cowboys get best of Judge, Utah team

The Times News

TWIN FALLS — The Twin Falls Cowboys, who trailed Skyline of Salt Lake City 2-0 in their half of the third inning in Friday's late game of the Prudential Cowboy Classic Baseball Tournament, had a much easier time against Judge, Utah earlier in the week.

Riley Boyd went all the way for the Cowboys, but trailed twice in the first two innings before the Twin Falls bats came alive. Torrey Bollinger, Matt Rasmussen, Shane Ouesnell and Bobby Jenco each had third-inning singles and Boyd added another as the locals gained a 4-2 lead.

After falling behind 5-4 in the fourth the Cowboys combined four hits, the most telling of those Jon Kosen's two-run double, with three runs and four fielding errors ended the game on the 10-run rule.

The tournament committee tried to crowd the Friday-Saturday schedule following rainouts of all action Thursday but the time schedule was too severe. Action on both diamonds fell well behind with the advertised

8 p.m. games starting after 9 p.m. With the shape still to be decided, Hillcrest and Bonanza along with Twin Falls and Skyline were running undefeated, although Twin Falls and Skyline were playing.

Grand Junction, Brighton and Judge were 0-1 and Forman was 0-2.

Saturday's schedule begins at 10 a.m. with Skyline and Grand Junction meeting at Frontier while Hillcrest and Alta play at Harmon.

At 1 p.m., Twin Falls meets Grand Junction at Frontier and Judge and Brighton play at Harmon.

At 3 p.m. games have Alta and Bonanza at Frontier and Skyline and Brighton at Harmon and it winds up at 7 p.m. with Twin Falls meeting Gorman at Frontier while Hillcrest faces Judge at Harmon.

The top four teams in the yard of the first two days will advance into Sunday's single elimination, championship-round beginning at 9 a.m. at the two diamonds.

The championship game is scheduled for noon at Frontier with the consolation final at the same hour at Harmon.

What's what

Gumbot verdicts — Jurist sympathize greatly with victims of gunshot wounds, that's clear. One study shows 14 percent of the gunshot plaintiffs win million-dollar verdicts while 22 percent win verdicts of $100,000 to $299,999. Winning the verdict and collecting the money are two different things, please note.

Figure that baby will need to be diapered 8,000 times, at least.

You know how croissants and English muffins differ in shape?

There's a bigger difference: The croissant contains 12 times as much fat and 50 percent more calories? Testers say that.

You know what Norway's Lapps used to live in? Tepees.

DEADWOOD DICK — Q. Who was "Deadwood Dick"? A. A legendary black cowboy. Real name, Nat Love. He worked Old West cattle drives, a contemporary of Bat

Masteron, Billy the Kid, Jesse James and Buffalo Bill. In 1876, he won a riding, roping and shooting contest in Deadwood, S.D., whence the nickname. Claim was Love knew every ranch brand in the West. He quit cowboying to be a railroad porter in 1890.

It's also true that men who marry younger women, particularly much younger women, live longer. Statistically.

Q. Has anybody ever had a foot caught in the clamping shell of a giant clam?
A. Research indicates there's no record of any such thing, ever.

DRUMHEADS — General John Zisa of Bohemia led a rebellion against Emperor Sigismund of Germany, neither winning nor losing in the first five years. Zisa got sick, and stipulated in his Last Will that his skin be made into drumheads. To roll on. At the from his troops, "his heart stopped." The skin deed was done. The drums inspired his men to fight on, fiercely. Through defeat after defeat. Year after year. To die, die, die. They lost.

Q. Where'd we get the expression "caught flat-footed"?
A. From boxing. Sports writers popularized it.

Claim is the old Roman road engineers sometimes used egg whites to stabilize dirt road bases.

Schwarzeneggers chair church Oktoberfest

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Arnold Schwarzenegger, his wife Maria Shriver and their daughter will be their church's "honorary chair family" for a benefit this fall.

The star of such action thriller films as "Total Recall," "Terminator" and "Conan the Barbarian" will help promote the Oktoberfest at St. Monica's Catholic Church, Monsignor Lloyd Torgerson said Thursday.

"We are very grateful to the Schwarzenegger family—who are parishioners to our parish, to participate in our event as the honorary chair family," said Torgerson.

Other celebrities who said they would attend include Meredith Baxter-Birney, Lou Ferrigno, Paul Michael Glaser and Cindy Williams.

The 10th annual Oktoberfest, beginning Oct. 5, is a three-day fund-raiser to benefit St. Monica's parish, parish schools and local outreach programs for the homeless.

First lady helps Mrs. MacArthur cut ribbon

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Jean MacArthur, the 91-year-old widow of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, had her long-time pal Barbara Bush at her side Friday when she cut a ribbon to open a new research center of the MacArthur Memorial.

Mrs. MacArthur said it was her first speech. "I left all that to General," she said.

"When I was with my husband during World War II, I visited many

"She stood by the general through Corregidor, Australia and Japan," Mrs. Bush said of her friend. "This quiet, gentle woman is loved by all who know her."

"MacArthur commanded American troops in the Pacific during World War II and oversaw the occupation of Japan at the end of the war. He also was commander of United Nations forces in Korea before being relieved in 1951 by President Truman.

ELIZABETH TAYLOR

Weak after long hospital stay, visitors a year. MacArthur's body is entombed there.

Liz Taylor goes home at last, glad to do so

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor was home recuperating Friday, "very weak" but in good condition after a two-month fight with pneumonia, her spokeswoman said.

"She's doing fine," Taylor spokeswoman Chen Sam said Friday.

The violet-eyed actress, with hair coiffed and makeup on, waved and smiled to reporters Thursday night as she was driven from the hospital toward her Beverly Hills home.

"She's very weak from having been in the hospital for a very long time but thank heaven she's home," Ms. Sam said.

Miss Taylor, 58, will stay home for a couple of months, Ms. Sam said.

The New York publicist quoted Miss Taylor as saying, "I am finally glad to be going home. My sole concern at this time is focused on my getting well and carrying on with my life."

The screen beauty has won two Oscars. She starred in "Butterfield 8," "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" and more than 50 other films.

Travis hit brings back fond memories, too

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Country music star Randy Travis says his current single record, "He Walked on Water," brings back memories of his own grandfather.

The song is about a boy's relationship with his great-grandfather and was written by Allen Shamblin.

"I had a grandfather that I can relate to, to very much so," Travis said.

"I used to ride with him on the tractor and go with him in his car everywhere he went, ride on the horse if he was plowing with the horse."

He says once he ran over his grandfather's hat with his bicycle.

"He caught me by the arm, jerked me off that bicycle and popped me one real good," Travis said. "I ran and got a few feet from him."

Talk of art theft surprises town

WHITEWRIGHT, Texas (AP) — Word that a local hardware and farm tool vendor may have pulled off one of the century's biggest art thefts while a soldier in Germany during World War II was the talk of this town of 17,760 Thursday.

There were more reporters than residents on the town's main drag, about 60 miles north of Dallas.

"Not much happens here," said Carolyn Flaughter. "You see cameramen walking up and down the street. You just don't see that every day."

According to a New York Times report Thursday, Joe T. Meador transported the priceless pieces to Texas from Queudenburg, an ancient castle town in what is now East Germany.

The Army investigated the theft but dropped the matter in 1949 when Queudenburg became part of East Germany.

Bank officials declined to comment on the reports, Harrell Stowers, bank executive vice president, said he could not confirm whether the treasures are or ever have been in the vault.

Meador died in 1980. His brother, Jack, and his sister-in-law, Jean, declined to comment Thursday.

The Times based its report on interviews with art experts, lawyers and neighbors of Meador. The treasures include a small silver reliquary, inlaid with enamels and precious stones, with side panels of carved ivory; a liturgical ivory comb; a manuscript dated 1513; several rock crystal flasks and gold and silver crucifixes. Some of the

JOE T. MEADOR

May have stolen German art treasures were gifts from kings and emperors who ruled German states in the 9th and 10th centuries.

Meador was an officer with the 87th Armored Field Artillery, the unit that occupied Queudenburg and guarded the mine shaft where the treasures reportedly were kept. They disappeared a few days after American troops took over the area in 1945, the Times said.

Three years after Meador died, his brother-in-law, Don H. Cook, of Mesquite, Texas, sought to have two medieval manuscripts evaluated. John Carroll Collins, a Dallas estate appraiser, told the newspaper.

A former employee of Meador's speaking on condition of anonymity, said Meador reportedly showed his employees richly bound gold and silver manuscripts.

"Joe was a quiet man. I think Joe, in my way of thinking, was a very, very intelligent man... he seemed to mind his own business," Mayor Clarence Tillett said.

Tillett said he'd visited Meador in the house he shared with his mother but didn't recall any unusual work of art. "I wouldn't have surprised me for anything to come out of Germany," Tillett said.

Judge won't dismiss Utah lawsuit against publishers

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A federal judge has refused to dismiss a $1 million lawsuit, but agreed to consider a defense motion for summary judgment in J. Gary Sheets' lawsuit against the publishers of a book about Utah's 1985 murder-forgery case.

Sheets, whose wife was one of confessed pipe-bomber and master forger Mark Hofmann's victims, claimed in the suit that author Robert Emerson and publisher Schuster wrongly obtained his wife's diary and included excerpts in "A Gathering of Saints." Kathy Sheets was killed on Oct. 15, 1985, the same day as Sheets' former business associate, Steve Christensen, an avid document collector who had done business with Hofmann.

Hofmann later confessed to planting both bombs in an attempt to escape detection as a trafficker in forged early Mormon documents and other American artifacts.

At a hearing in April, U.S. District Judge Bruce Jenkins deferred ruling on the motions, instead granting attorneys an extension so they could interview Lindsey in hopes of determining how he obtained the excerpts from the diary.

On Friday, Simon & Schuster attorney David Isom told Jenkins that during a recent deposition in Carmel, Calif., Lindsey said he didn't remember where he got the material.

"He's quite certain he never saw a copy of the diary itself," he said. "What he saw was someone's notes on the diary."

Lincebaugh, insisted that Lindsey must remember where he got "something as exotic as a murdered woman's diary."

Lincebaugh asked Jenkins to continue the hearing again so he could interview investigators involved in the case to see if they could remember who had given Lindsey the diary.

"Even victims of crime are entitled to some sanctity, and those excerpts go to the personal relationships between Sheets and his wife," he said.

Marine who deserted is discharged

WASHINGTON (AP) — An American who deserted half his life in Cambodia after deserting to avoid Vietnam was discharged from the Marine Corps Friday, 21 years after he left.

Ron Jacko, 42, was given physical and dental exams, $61.50 and "other than honorable" discharge before being released outside the gates of the Marine base at Quantico, Va., said Lt. Col. Robert McLean.

Jacko had surrendered at the base south of Washington on Wednesday, after telling his story to reporters and his hometown congresswoman, Rep. Mary Rose O'Kear, D-Ohio.

After determining there were no other outstanding charges, the base commander, Lt. Gen. W.R. Etnyre, granted the discharge request and Jacko was sent on his way in "a matter of hours," said spokesman McLean.

"We want to move as expeditiously as we can in these cases," he said.

Regulations required the Marines to provide the examinations, plus money equal to three-fourths of a one-way bus ticket to the town from which he entered the service — in this case, Cleveland.

"It's quite frankly no concern of ours where he goes," McLean said. Jacko's attorney said he and his client gave Jacko a ride to National Airport outside Washington.

"He knew who he was, too. Ron was sort of bowled over," said Tom Ensign of the New York-based Citizen Soldier, which arranged Jacko's return and pre-surrender publicity.

Jacko said in an interview Tuesday he had spent the past two decades in Toronto, where he managed health food stores. He said he decided to turn himself in because he wanted to be near his mother, who is in poor health in Cleveland.

Ensign said Jacko was on his way to New York and then Toronto, where his wife was waiting. He didn't know when they planned to go to Cleveland.

Jacko said he was eager to see how his hometown had changed but hadn't decided whether he would settle down in northeastern Ohio or nearby Pennsylvania.

He said he opposed the Vietnam war from the outset, but decided to enlist in hopes of pulling an assignment that didn't directly involve Vietnam.

Wendell city officials hit snag in search for new City Hall

By TERRELL WILLIAMS
Times-News correspondent

WENDELL — The city would like to trade some of its property as part of the deal to purchase a local drug store, though the store owners may not be agreeable.

If purchased, Wendell Drug Store would be used as a new city hall, library and police station.

Keith Wert and Bill Cooper, two of the building's eight owners, told the City Council Thursday that they would like to renew a lease on a piece of city land about the size of a lot.

Wert and Cooper are employees of Ambrose Distributing Company, which leases the city property at the southwest corner of Wendell. The company has steel silos on the property.

Mayor George Benson said it would be in the best interest of the city to trade the property and take in the best interest of Ambrose to lease the land in trade instead of trying to buy it in an open auction, as required by law if the city sells the land.

But Wert said he is not interested in a three-way-trade among the city, Ambrose and the drug store owners, called Eight Incorporated. If the city refuses to renew the lease, he said, the buildings can be removed.

"We can take everything off and we will," he said.

City Clerk June Holm said records show the 1969 lease agreement called for $25 per year. But according to city records, the fee has never been paid.

The council members decided to have the city attorney look at the lease contract and advise the city on how to proceed.

And they voted to have the drug store building appraised.

Police Chief Kevin Blankmeyer reported that another officer is needed in Wendell. Criminal activity is on the rise, he said.

The city hired a third officer about seven years ago, but the number of calls has continued to increase on a regular basis. He estimated that in 1984, there were about 200 cases per year and now there are 350 to 400 cases annually.

So far this year, the police department's workload has increased 22 percent over the first six months of last year, Blankmeyer said.

Since January, he reported, the Wendell Police Department has handled 172 cases. Of those, 64 were misdemeanors and 71 were misdemeanors. Other cases involved non-criminal matters, including traffic accidents and disturbance calls, he said.

With officers spending more time on investigations and in court, there is less time for patrolling the city, Blankmeyer said.

Blankmeyer, who first requested a fourth officer about one year ago, estimated it will cost about $16,000 a year to hire another officer.

No decision was made by the council.

Mayor-Benson said he and the council have scheduled meetings to work on the new city budget during the next two months. Blankmeyer said he will attend to help prepare the police department budget.

In an effort to convince residents with habitually delinquent water bill payments to pay on time, the council voted to increase the city's water turn-off fee to $20 from $5. Those who do not pay on time or the city will have their water turned off and they will have to pay the bill plus the $20 fee before the water is turned on again.

City Superintendent Claude Strickland said there are about 30 water turn-offs every month, a job that takes time away from other city work.

The rate increase will be advertised and then passed in the form of a resolution by the council before it goes into effect.

A D-B engineer Scott Bybee said Wendell has an excellent chance to get matching funds from the state for a new library. Part of the purchase price of a building for a new City Hall, police station and library could be counted as matching funds, he said.

Last year, Bybee said, the state Library Board had about $250,000 in funds available for grants and all three applications the board received were funded. Applications made in the spring can receive money by the end of the year, he noted.

Deputy Prosecuting Attorney Greg Swanson contends that Stafford, 37, was paid $427 for treating Whiteney's leg and for other services when in fact no surgery was performed.

Local attorney Greg Fuller, representing Stafford, made no closing argument to the judge on Friday, except to ask that charges be dismissed for lack of probable cause. But Swanson disagreed, and ruled there was reasonable ground to believe Stafford committed the crime he is charged with.

He'll be tried in District Court. "I'm certain after today that we will win," Stafford said Friday evening. "I've been certain from the start. We can't afford today that we will win without a problem. I just can't tell you what we have, but we will win."

Thieten on Friday testified that he took Whiteney to Stafford on March 22 after he accidentally ran over her in his driveway with a boat trailer.

Stafford treated Whiteney for shock, took an X-ray and kept the pooch overnight, Thieten testified.

The next morning, Thieten said, Stafford told him that Whiteney had a fracture at the top of her right femur, the upper leg bone, and that he could repair it by using glue, set with a clamp, and stitching up the incision.

Thieten OK'd the procedure, and on March 24 picked up the dog at Stafford's office, he said. A few days later, he returned to Stafford's office, and Stafford showed him two X-rays of the fracture, he said.

Thieten, a registered nurse, testified that he wondered why the bone was so large, but that he didn't voice his concern. He wrote Stafford a check for $427, $291 of which paid for the surgery.

On March 30, Thieten took Whiteney to her regular veterinarian because the dog had not been eating. Drs. Warren Becker and William Strobel took their own X-rays and concurred that Whiteney had not had a bone fracture. They reviewed Stafford's X-rays of the fractured dog's leg and determined them to be pictures of a much larger, male dog. Thieten testified.

Strobel performed surgery on Whiteney in the presence of Becker, two other veterinarians, a sheriff's deputy, and Thieten, who videotaped the procedure. There was no evidence of recent surgery, only a surface wound stapled closed, Thieten said.

A pathologist who examined tissue samples found no evidence of bone glue or of a fracture, charging papers say.

Stafford, who has practiced veterinary medicine in Twin Falls for 12 years, is under investigation by the Idaho Board of Veterinary Medicine to see whether he violated the Idaho Veterinary Practice Act.

The investigation will remain open until criminal proceedings are resolved; Dr. Thomas W. Moe, chairman of the board, said.

Whether disciplinary action will be taken "all depends on whether he's found guilty," Moe said.

"Everybody is innocent until proven guilty," he said.

Idaho Falls considers Channel One but commercials the hitch

IDAHO FALLS (AP) — Thousands of Idaho students will be tuning into an educational television program, this fall that some educators say is the wave of the future.

But school officials remain leery of a commercial break in the transmission.

Nineteen of the 115 school districts in Idaho have signed up for the Whittle Educational Network and the company expects more to join in the coming weeks.

Twin Falls school officials will vote on the program Tuesday.

The network features two non-commercial education channels, but it also includes a corporate-sponsored, 12-minute daily newscast, called "Channel One," designed for junior and senior high students.

The Bonneville School Board took the Whittle Educational Network proposal under advisement Wednesday after several board trustees held reservations. It will vote on the idea next Thursday.

"I'd like to know what it is going to cost us," said board member Fenton Tyler.

Lynn Olsen, Bonneville's assistant principal, said programming via satellite is the wave of the future and can reduce educational costs.

"This is the third time in the past six weeks that I have been contacted seeking their first master contract. Negotiations began a year ago and have reached an impasse."

"It looks so much to me like he's being punished for his part in negotiations," patron Mindy Wolfe said.

"The thing that scares me is that (the network) actually seems to be there to pull it off and go on this way for a long time because people are afraid to stand up and say something," Ms. Walsh said.

But board Chairman Steve Christensen, who had voted to retain Walsh, said he was not fired.

Tom Pyle of Jacklin Seed Co., a Post Falls company contracting locally for lawn seed, and Jerome County Commissioner Veronica Lierman expressed concern that the study would affect the state's grass-seed field burning.

But air pollution problems seem to be more evident in the late summer and fall, which also is the time that much field burning occurs.

Yellowstone has first fire of year

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (AP) — It wasn't a towering inferno, but Yellowstone National Park's first fire of the year somewhat tested the park's firefighting teams.

A six-person hand crew from the Mammoth Fire Cache quickly descended on the smoldering cottonwood tree near the Rescue Creek Trailhead just north of Mammoth Hot Springs late Thursday afternoon and doused the embers with a hand pump.

Spotted by a Park County, Mont., sheriff's deputy, the lightning-sparked fire was reported about 4:30 p.m. Within an hour the firefighters had controlled the fire.

Even though the heavy rains accompanying the thunderstorm probably would have doused the flames without the firefighters' help, orders issued during the 1988 wild fires that blackened almost half of the 2.2-million-acre park's landscape require Yellowstone's firemen to respond to each and every fire, no matter how small.

While work is continuing on the park's updated fire-management policy, until that document is completed the "full suppression" order remains in force, said Steve Frye, the park's North District ranger.

"We have seven heliport crew members that are hired strictly for fire suppression," Frye explained today.

Materials charged as obscene

GARDEN CITY (AP) — The owners of a Garden City adult bookstore have been arrested on obscenity charges in a case that may signal a new desire by Ada County authorities to challenge the legality of hard-core pornography.

Lamar and Jean Easter of Boise, owners of Over 19 Inc., surrendered to sheriff's deputies Thursday on two misdemeanor counts of selling obscene materials.

Also arrested on the same charges was store employee Clair Clifford Freese, 55, of Boise. All three were booked into Ada County Jail and later released on $300 bond pending a June 27 arraignment.

If convicted, each faces up to a year in jail and $600 in fines.

"We believe a jury will find the material obscene," said Ada County Prosecutor Greg Bower.

Bower, who said Over 19 had been under investigation for several months, said his office is less hesitant to file obscenity charges than in the past.

The prosecutor pointed to a "growing base of evidence" that he contends links hard-core pornography to sex crimes, ranging from rape to child molestation.

Bower said he also believes appellate courts across the country are increasingly willing to allow obscenity convictions to stand.

Nyssa newspaper folds; owners cite lack of advertising

NYSSA, Ore. (AP) — Publication of the Nyssa Gate City Journal has been suspended, according to general manager Jim Allison.

Owners Ted and Kay Grossman, now living in Washington's Puget Sound area, have tried to sell the paper for about five years, Allison said.

He said two different parties leased the paper during the period but left. Allison said he and his wife continued to run the paper while Grossman's looked for another buyer.

"There is no likelihood of any buyer because of the lack of revenue," Allison said.

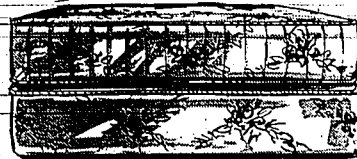

He said the paper, with a monthly circulation of 1,500, lost money for several years because of a lack of advertising support. He said readers continued to back the paper after it changed from a weekly to a monthly.

Allison said the Grossmans felt they could no longer afford to keep publishing the Nyssa paper.

Soda Springs won't use slag as street material

SODA SPRINGS (AP) — The Soda Springs City Council has voted to ban at least temporarily the use of slag from phosphate processing for street maintenance until more information on radiation effects has been gathered.

This week's move by the council, at the urging of Mayor Kirk Hansen, follows similar action taken by the city of Pocatello following a report from the Environmental Protection Agency that the phosphate byproduct contains radiation levels possibly enough to increase the risk of cancer in the area.

"I don't think the final verdict is in," Hansen said, but "We need to cooperate with them and our industry."

radiation issue from the government.

"We don't think it is a problem," Monsanto's Kent Lott said. "But the politics of it says you don't use it. We'll cooperate with EPA with their efforts to get further data."

But Lott said the company was upset because "EPA used inflammatory terms to get people stirred up. We think that's wrong."

"We're trying to get our side of the story out," he said. "We have internal radiation experts and have consulted with outside experts. We are open to suggestions to get further input from the public."

Lott also maintained that Caribou County is among the 6 percent of all the counties in the nation with the lowest rate of cancer.

The EPA report, which is to be supplemented with additional research information, has prompted the Monsanto Co., a major phosphate processor in southeastern Idaho, to suspend sales of the slag material for road work pending a more definitive position on the

But the EPA report suggested that over a 70-year period the slag, used in streets and some building foundations, could be responsible for 14 cancer deaths for every 10,000 people in the Soda Springs area and four cancer deaths for every 10,000 people in Pocatello.

THE ACES ON BRIDGE

BOBBY WOLFF

"Knowledge is the true organ of sight, not the eyes."
- Panchatantra.

What's the best way to play today's trump suit? Careful! Don't answer without considering the overall prospects. The correct play in certain conditions may be a bad play at other times.

South won the diamond lead in dummy and immediately tackled trump. He cashed dummy's spade ace and continued with a low one. East's discard bringing bad news. There was no escape. In addition to two trump losers, South had to lose a trick in each minor for one down.

Wouldn't almost everyone play the trumps in the same way? More than we'd like to admit, but there is a better way to play the hand. The first order of business for South is to determine whether he must bring in the trump suit without a loser.

To find out, he crosses to his heart nine and leads a club toward dummy's king. After "discovering" only one club loser, he doesn't have to pick up the entire trump suit (a possible Q-x-x with East). He can afford a safety play against Q-10-x-x in either hand.

The safety play works against any 4-1 break if South cashes his trump king and leads a low trump to dummy's nine. If this loses, the trump ace will bring in the last trump. In today's case, the nine holds and South loses only three tricks. Had East held Q-10-x-x, dummy's ace would go up when West discarded, and a low trump back toward the jack would complete the job.

ANSWER: Two diamonds. A sign-off. Should play more safely in a suit than at no-trump.
