Louisiana abortion bill draws veto

The Associated Press

BATON ROUGE, La. — Gov. Buddy Roemer on Friday vetoed what would have been the nation's toughest state abortion law.

He said the male-dominated Legislature that fashioned it was insensitive to the rights of rape victims.

The decision by Roemer, who describes himself as "pro-life," drew outrage from abortion opponents.

"He's betrayed the pro-life majority that elected him," said Nancy Myers, spokeswoman for the National Right to Life Committee in Washington.

Roemer

The bill had been thrown together in the tumultuous final days of the session, which ended July 9.

Rep. Woody Jenkins, the bill's sponsor, said he would ask the Legislature to return for a special August session to hand the governor an override. If that happened, it would be the first override this century in Louisiana.

During the session, Roemer vetoed an even tougher bill that would have made an exception only to save the life of the mother. An override of that veto failed by only three votes.

In March, Idaho Gov. Cecil Andrus vetoed a similar bill, which would have banned abortion except when the mother's life was threatened, in most cases of rape, or in cases of incest when the victim was under 18 years old.

The bill vetoed Friday was passed in both legislative chambers with more than the two-thirds majorities necessary for an override. Because the session is over, however, lawmakers would have to call themselves back for a special session by mail. The bill would have prohibited abortions except to save the life of the mother and in cases of aggravated rape and incest reported to police and a physician no more than a week after they occurred.

Had the bill become law, doctors who perform abortions could be sentenced to 10 years in prison and $100,000 fines. The bill was designed to challenge the U.S. Supreme Court's 1973 Roe vs. Wade decision that legalized abortion.

"I consider myself pro-life... abortion on demand and as a substitute for birth control must be, in the name of the unborn, sharply

JOHN DEVINE/By The Times-News

John Devine, part-owner of the Southern Idaho Youth Center, blames former administrator Bill Amoureux for problems at the facility.

Events at Jerome youth detention facility bring rash of charges, denials

By Anita Dennis
Times-News writer

JEROME — A part-owner of the Southern Idaho Youth Center describes the operation as a "torpedoed ship" as the result of his former administrator and other staff members trying to discredit the facility.

Some staff members persuaded children to make false allegations against him and encouraged them to riot, John Devine said. Devine speculated that former administrator Bill Amoureux orchestrated the events so that Jerome County would buy the center and allow him to run it.

"Mr. Amoureux was in charge of my facility in the last three months and it's never been worse off in its history," Devine said. In that time, there were escapes, violence and trips to the hospital, he said.

"I thought he was a capable guy and would do a job for me," Devine said. "He was a capable guy, but he had some other plans."

In an interview with The Times-News' editorial board Thursday, Devine also accused state Department of Health and Welfare officials of harboring a bias against his organization.

Escapes and other incidents at the juvenile center have drawn attention to the facility in recent weeks, and a committee of Magic Valley leaders is exploring options for juvenile detention.

Devine said a key incident occurred June 15, when he and his wife struggled with two combative female detainees. False allegations about that incident, and others prompted a pending state Bureau of Investigation inquiry, he said.

Devine said he welcomes the investigation. He said he has statements signed by youths retracting earlier allegations.

"I'm saying there's some set-ups," he said. Amoureux, however, in an interview Friday, denied trying to discredit Devine.

Film directors trying to X out X rating

The Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD — Dozens of the nation's top filmmakers, convinced the film rating system makes no sense, are asking the Motion Picture Association of America to overhaul its cinematic score sheet.

"It doesn't work," said Barry Levinson, the Oscar-winning director of "Rain Man" and other hits. "It's a poor system to begin with."

Levinson is among 31 prestigious filmmakers who signed a petition that was delivered Tuesday to the M.P.A.A. Other signers included Francis Ford Coppola, Paul Mazursky, Spike Lee and Sydney Pollack.

The outcry — prompted by X ratings given to several critically acclaimed films — has grown so intense that the president of the M.P.A.A. says he'll listen to the directors' criticisms.

But Jack Valenti's attentive ear is unlikely to end the debate since he says he has no intention of changing the rules.

A New York state judge, while upholding the X rating of "Tie Me Up! Tie Me Down!" on July 19, criticized the rating system. Judge Charles Ramos said it borders on censorship and if not reformed may face legal challenges.

Many directors and producers say the X rating amounts to a kiss of death at the box office because it is synonymous with hard-core, graphic, sexual films. It should not be used to label mature-themed films of higher artistic ambition, they say.

An A rating, these filmmakers suggest, should be created for non-pornographic adult films.

"The X rating has come to represent pornography," said Harvey Weinstein, the co-chairman of Miramax Films, whose releases include "Tie Me Up! Tie Me Down!"

Barr admits national anthem rendition a mistake

The Associated Press

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. — Comedian Roseanne Barr admitted Friday that it was a mistake for her to screech the national anthem before baseball fans, but she refused to apologize and denied being rude.

The star of the top-rated ABC-TV comedy "Roseanne" said she nearly left the field in mid-song Wednesday as San Diego baseball fans at Jack Murphy Stadium bombarded her with boos.

"I'm sorry I didn't sing so good. What else do I have to say?" she said. "I figured everybody knew I wasn't the world's greatest singer."

Barr said she realized how horrible the reaction was within three or four notes of beginning "The Star-Spangled Banner" be-

Roseanne won't sing for Bush

The Associated Press

KENNEBUNKPORT, Maine

— President Bush said Friday that comedian Roseanne Barr's screeching rendition of the national anthem was "disgraceful."

"That's the way I feel about it and I think a lot of San Diego fans said the same thing."

Then everybody started booing me and I went into this panic thing," she told a aucus news conference at the Beverly Hilton Hotel which included the police ejection of a photographer. "It took all the guts I've got in my life to finish singing." More than 2,000 phone calls about her unmelodious performance had come into the Padres switchboard by midday Friday, and President Bush joined the chorus of boos.

Barr said she had the best of intentions. Although she refused to apologize, she used the word "sorry" several times.

"I'm not going to apologize for doing it," she said. "Because I feel like it was the wrong choice for all of us to make. But not anybody anticipated that it would be this negative."

She capped her solo by grabbing her crotch and spitting — actions she described as a parody of a baseball player, not a response to the boos.

Senate passes farm bill

Knight-Ridder News Service

WASHINGTON — The Senate approved a new five-year farm program Friday that features $54 billion in farm subsidies and includes an increased emphasis on environmental protection and food safety.

The bill, passed 70-21, leaves virtually unchanged the farm subsidy programs put in place by the 1985 farm bill, which were intended to make agriculture more responsive to worldwide markets.

"We have a progressive bill, one that will take us into the next century," said Agriculture Committee Chairman Patrick Leahy, D-Vt.

The 1985 farm bill started "a trend toward greater exports, higher income from markets, less government interference, and this trend continues," said Richard Lugar, R-Ind., Ranking Republican on the agriculture committee.

Agriculture Secretary Clayton Yeutter had warned earlier that President Bush might veto the Senate farm bill if its cost did not come down.

But on Friday Christina McCown, USDA spokeswoman, said only that the president and the Agriculture Secretary would "take a close look at the bill."

Even as they debated the measure into the seventh day, senators acknowledged that they expected dollars spent on crop subsidies and the bill's overall spending level would be sharply cut after the White House and Congress agreed on a deficit-cutting budget.

"We will have to make further adjustments in all these programs," said Senate Republican Leader Robert Dole, R-Kan. "We could be looking at saving up to $18 billion to $19 billion."

Democrats concede that cuts are necessary, but hope to keep them below $6 billion.

Prairie state senators failed in several attempts to modestly increase subsidies, signaling the Senate's unwillingness to increase spending in the face of the budget deficit.

Sen. Tom Daschle, D-S.D., who voted against the bill, wanted to cut benefits to the richest farmers and increase subsidies to smaller producers. He said the bill didn't do enough to keep small farmers on the land.

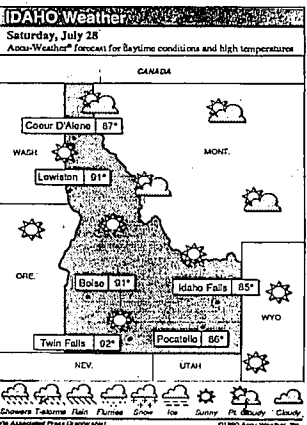

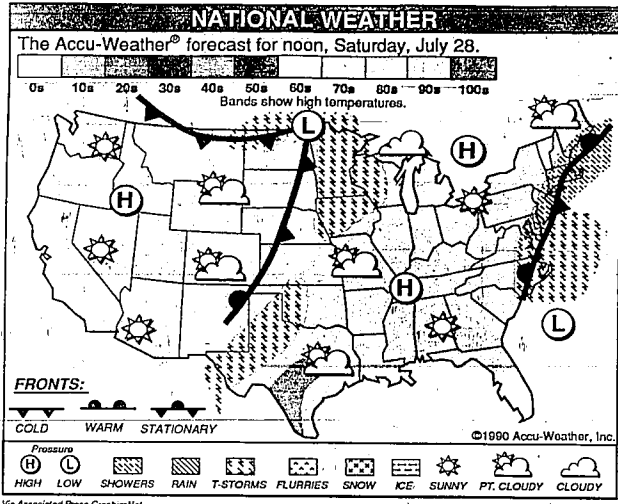

"It means that many farmers just struggling to maintain their existence will not be able to do so," he said.

On the other hand, efforts to cut subsidies to farmers of sugar, peanuts and eliminate payments to the United States' richest farmers also failed.

The bill provides subsidies and price supports to farmers of wheat, corn, rice, cotton, wool and an array of less well-known crops. The Senate omitted money

Heavy thunderstorms to pelt soggy Iowa

The Associated Press
 Slow-moving storms dumped rain on central and northeast Iowa.
 Showers and thunderstorms fell elsewhere in the Midwest, as well as sections of the East and the West.
 The Iowa River left its banks at Marshalltown, the Cedar River threatened Waterloo and Cedar Rapids, and the Nishnabotna River in southwest Iowa was still high as it tried to carry away rain that fell Thursday.
 High water in creeks and streams continued to drain into the Cedar, Iowa and Skunk rivers, and produced significant flooding.
 Heavy, rainfall Thursday night caused flooding of many streets and underpasses in Des Moines.
 Iowa rainfall between midnight and 11 a.m. EDT included more than 3.66 inches in Mason City; 1.43 inches in Waterloo and 1.28 inches in Des Moines.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms fell from northwest and south-central Texas to southeast Louisiana, northwest Oklahoma, southeast and northwest Kansas, Nebraska and South Dakota, eastern Colorado and parts of Montana, as well as New England.
 Showers and thunderstorms also extended over parts of Florida, the South Carolina coast, Virginia, Delaware and Maryland.
 Ely, Nev., cooled to 40 degrees Friday morning, breaking the low-temperature record for the date of 41 degrees.
 Greenville-Spartanburg, S.C., tied its 65-degree low-temperature mark.
 The low temperature for the Lower 48 states was 36 degrees in Jackson, Wyo.
 Temperatures around the nation at 3 p.m. EDT ranged from 60 degrees in Oak Harbor-Whidbey Island, Wash., to 104 in Palm Springs, Calif.

Driver charged in deadly crash blames truck's failed brakes

GASSAWAY, W.Va. (AP) — A truck driver whose rig careened into two cars at a construction site, killing eight people, blamed failed brakes for the fiery crash, authorities said Friday.
 The driver, Manuel Cruzado Jr., 25, of Buffalo, N.Y., was charged with six counts of negligent homicide. No further charges were planned until all the victims were identified.

Cruzado, who suffered minor burns, told investigators his brakes failed.

center's relations with Department of Health and Welfare officials and local sheriffs, but that Devine thwarted his efforts.

Devine said he entered the room and saw his wife and one girl wrestling on the floor while the second girl kicked Rose Devine in the head. Devine said he put an armlock on the second girl, twisting her arm behind her back until she was calm. He then did the same with the other girl, he said.

Amoureux told a different version of the story.
 He said the girls came back from court agitated, and one girl refused to let Rose Devine strip-search her.

Amoureux said he told the Devines to get off the girl. Then, as Amoureux held the girl by her arm, she swore at Rose Devine, he said. John Devine yelled back, then twisted John Devine's arm behind her back, Amoureux said.

Amoureux said he followed them to the bathroom, where Rose Devine began to strip Larry Gold. Rose Devine grabbed the girl by her hair and started to drag her to the bathroom, and the girl began pulling Rose Devine's hair, Amoureux said.

Amoureux, who was fired-June 21, attributed the problems at the 25-bed center this spring to its highest population ever — hovering around 19 full beds a day from March through June — coupled with several incorrigible detainees.

Amoureux said he is willing to sell the center to counties, but that Health and Welfare, which licensed it, has had a long-standing opposition to his private operation.

FCC head rejects cable TV monopolies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Municipal officials too often slam the door on companies that could provide head-to-head competition for cable TV operators, a federal regulator said Friday.

Federal Communications Commission Chairman Alfred Sikes rejected the notion that, like utility monopolies, communities are best served by exclusive cable TV franchises.

Competition, he said, will drive down both costs and prices.

But he said a new FCC study of the cable TV marketplace shows that cable operators face head-to-head competition in only a handful of communities.

The result, Sikes told a news conference, is high prices and poor service.

"Head-to-head competition places an exceptionally high premium on cutting costs and putting the customer first," Sikes said. "Competitive markets and competitive markets alone will in the final analysis force prices toward true costs."

Rather than regulate cable prices, which Congress is preparing to do after lifting most local rate regulation in 1984, Sikes said laws are needed to ease the way for multiple-cable franchises and more competition from technologies such as satellite broadcasters and microwave cable systems.

On Thursday, Sikes and his fellow commissioners voted 5-0 to forward a report to Congress urging legislation that "limits municipal authority to erect barriers or sustain entry barriers and which prohibits an unreasonable refusal to grant a second (cable) franchise."

Most cable systems in the country are de facto monopolies.

Local franchising authorities generally prefer to deal with one cable company, while cable operators say it is too risky financially to put two cables into neighborhoods.

Sikes said side-by-side cable systems could be economically feasible.

He said about 87 percent of the nation's TV viewers could subscribe to cable, but only about 60 percent do.

That, Sikes said, shows there are "many new profit centers potentially available to multichannel video providers. Millions of people in America are waiting for 'the right' package of service at the right price."

Barry fails to testify in own defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — The defense rested in Marion Barry's drug and perjury trial Friday without calling the mayor to tell jurors his side.

His lawyer indicated concern about letting prosecutors question Barry on the stand.

"I have advised Mr. Barry that no matter how we restrict his testimony, he would still be subject to cross-examination," R. Kenneth Mundy, one of Barry's attorneys, told the judge.

Mundy said he had told Barry he could have expected to face "all the questions" prosecutors wanted to ask about the numerous allegations of drug use.

"This is a matter we have considered extensively... and it is his informed decision that he will not take the stand," the lawyer said.

Prosecutors said they expected to complete a rebuttal case by Monday, and U.S. District Court Judge Thomas Penfield Jackson said closing arguments would be next Tuesday or Wednesday.

Losing Hubble bid offered independent mirror check

WASHINGTON (AP) — An unsuccessful Eastman Kodak bid to make the Hubble Space Telescope mirrors called for a second company to double check the grinding and polishing, a provision not offered by low bidder Perkin-Elmer, the firm that produced the flawed Hubble mirror.

The Kodak bid submitted to NASA for manufacture of the Hubble's mirrors called for Kodak to make one primary mirror within its plant and for Itek Optical Systems to make an identical primary mirror at another plant.

In its proposal, Kodak said that the two mirrors and the different testing systems of the two companies could be used to verify the prescription. One of the two primary mirrors would then be used in the Hubble Space Telescope.

NASA officials, however, awarded the contract to Perkin-Elmer. The Danbury, Conn. firm did its own mirror grinding and polishing and used its own personnel and equipment to check the mirror prescriptions.

Perkin-Elmer's winning bid was $64.28 million. Kodak's proposal was for $99.79 million. Through overruns, the Perkin-Elmer contract climbed to an eventual total of $451 million.

The Hubble Space Telescope, which was launched in April, has been found to have a focusing flaw in either the primary or secondary mirror. This error, NASA officials have said, means $1.5 billion telescope is now able to capture images that are only about half as clear as those planned.

Dick Wollensak, a vice president of Itek, which is now a subsidiary of Litton Industries, said that the losing Kodak-Itek bid called for a so-called "end-to-end" test that would have detected any flaw in the mirrors before the telescope was launched.

"We weren't going to build those things and then not test them after they were assembled," he said in a telephone interview. "Between Kodak and Itek, there were facilities to test the assembled optical system without a major modification."

NASA officials have said that the Perkin-Elmer optical assembly was not tested after it was put together because it would have required a test facility that may have cost more than $100 million. As a result, the telescope was launched into space without ever being optically tested as an assembled unit.

House, Senate back economic sanctions against Iraq

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House and Senate voted Friday to impose economic sanctions on Iraq, and government sources said the Bush administration is considering its own, milder moves against the Baghdad government.

The Senate, which took the strongest action, voted 80 to 16 to cut off $1.2 billion in U.S. loan guarantees that Iraq now uses to buy American wheat, rice, lumber, cattle and commercial goods such as tires and machinery.

Acting on an amendment by Sen. Alfonse D'Amato, R-N.Y., senators also moved to bar sales to Iraq of weapons, sensitive technology and items which can be used for military purposes. The amendment was made part of the 1990 farm bill.

The move, and a watered-down sanctions package approved by the House, were signs of growing congressional concern about Iraq's human rights abuses, intimidation of its neighbors, harboring of terrorists and developing chemical and nuclear weapons programs.

"There comes a time when we have to stand up and be counted," said Sen. Nancy Kassebaum, R-Kan., who conceded that the sanctions could hurt Kansas wheat farmers.

But she said human rights considerations, including reports of government torture of children, outweigh economic.

"I can't believe any farmer in this nation would want to send his products to a country that has used chemical weapons," she said.

Administration says no to Cuban refugees

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bush administration on Friday sharply rejected Fidel Castro's sarcastic call for U.S. ships to come and pick up Cubans unhappy with his rule.

Officials expressed worry about a possible wave of refugees if Cubans take Castro seriously.

The State Department also said it had officially protested to Cuba for its accusing the United States of inciting dozens of Cubans to seek asylum in foreign embassies in Havana in recent days. Castro spoke of a Cuban dissident who had said the United States started encouraging the asylum seekers last March.

Bomb blast misses W. German official

BONN, West Germany (AP) — A roadside bomb activated by a light beam blasted the luxury sedan of a top government terrorism fighter Friday, but the official escaped serious injury.

A leftist terrorist group claimed responsibility. The attack on Hans Neusel, No. 2 at the Interior Ministry, marked a comeback by the Red Army Faction after last month's roundup in East Germany of eight suspected members of the terrorist gang.

The bomb smashed on the right side of Neusel's BMW, blew out windows, ripped apart upholstery, and sprung open its trunk and hood. It also blew a crater in the road and twisted an iron guardrail.

Neusel, 62, walked away from the blast near an automatic exit in Bonn with just a few cuts on his right hand and arm. He then pushed the car off the highway to keep it from blocking traffic.

Hans Neusel
Only slightly injured

His injuries could have been far worse had he been a passenger rather than driving, officials said.

West German television said Neusel's chauffeur was on vacation, and he was alone in the car.

The Red Army Faction claimed responsibility in a note left near the scene. Also discovered at the site was a sophisticated light-beam device similar to one used in the gang's killing in November of Deutsche Bank chief Alfred Herrhausen, whose car was blown up near Frankfurt.

The terrorist gang has been responsible for a series of killings and bomb attacks in West Germany in the last two decades.

About three hours after the morning attack, Neusel strode into a news conference and said he was happy to be alive. Speaking in a calm voice, Neusel described the impact of the bomb blast, saying, "Naturally the sensation of shock was there."

Neusel also said the note claiming responsibility indicated a connection between the Red Army Faction and a Spanish terror group called GRAPO.

The letter carried the Red Army Faction symbol, a red star superimposed by a machine gun. The letter said the attack was carried out by the "Jose Manuel Sevillano commando."

According to the federal prosecutor's office, Sevillano was a convicted member of GRAPO who died in May after a six-month hunger strike. The Interior Ministry said Neusel had no security detail, and his automobile was not equipped with any protective equipment such as armor plating or bulletproof glass.

Friday's bombing was the first Red Army Faction attack since eight long-sought fugitives — reputed to be top members of the group — were captured in East Germany in recent weeks. The eight reputed members of the group captured in East Germany had been living there under assumed names.

2 found alive under rubble in Philippines

BAGUIO, Philippines (AP) — Miners who heard cries of "Help us!" rescued two people Friday from the rubble of a luxury hotel that collapsed 11 days ago in an earthquake that killed more than 1,600 people.

The man and woman were in surprisingly good condition, doctors said. The man said a beam missed his head by inches. He was found lying near the bodies of four people.

Rescuers and spectators cheered as Luisa Mallorca, a cleaning woman, was pulled from the wreckage of the Hyatt Hotel at about 9:50 p.m. Amel Calabia, a security guard, was recovered about an hour later. As dawn broke Saturday, miners combed the hotel for other possible survivors. They pulled two male bodies from amid the debris.

At least 18 people who were in the Hyatt during the July 16 quake are still unaccounted for, Calabia said. He, Ms. Mallorca and a male employee were on the third floor of the hotel when the quake, measuring 7.7 on the Richter scale, struck. All three dived under tables, "and then the ceiling fell in," he said.

Soviets threaten force to quell unrest

MOSCOW — Military force will be used to restore peace in Armenia and other republics if armed groups disobey a new government order to surrender their weapons, Soviet Interior Minister Vadim A. Bakatin warned Friday.

President Mikhail S. Gorbachev issued a decree Wednesday giving illegally armed militants 15 days to turn in their weapons or risk having them confiscated by local police, officials of the republics or Interior Ministry troops. "If any guerrillas do not comply with the decree, we have been entrusted to use force," Bakatin said. "We hope that reason will prevail."

France frees 5 convicted terrorists

PARIS — France on Friday freed a Lebanese Moslem terrorist and four accomplices convicted in the killings of two people in an Iranian-ordered assassination attempt. Iran had long sought their release.

The five, jailed for the past 10 years, were immediately put on an Iran Air flight for Tehran, the Justice Ministry said. French President Francois Mitterrand ordered the release of Amis Naccache and four accomplices.

Soviets threaten force to quell unrest

LAGOS, Nigeria — Forty-two men convicted in a bloody coup attempt were executed by firing squad Friday night immediately after appeals of their death sentences were rejected, Nigeria radio said.

Many prominent Nigerians and international organizations, including Amnesty International, had urged President Gen. Ibrahim Babangida to spare the lives of the men.

They were charged with attacking Dodon Barracks, the military headquarters and residence of Babangida, on April 22 in an attempt to overthrow him. Babangida barely escaped with his life, and his house was badly damaged.

E. German government alive after compromise

EAST BERLIN (AP) — East Germany's government averted collapse Friday after its second-biggest faction agreed to remain in the coalition that will dissolve the country in December.

The Social Democrats had threatened to resign from the coalition government of Prime Minister Lothar de Maiziere unless a dispute over unified German elections was resolved.

They agreed to remain in the government after de Maiziere appeared to back away from a demand that East Germany remain a separate country until after unified German elections are held on Dec. 2. Under that plan, the German states would hold separate elections for the same Parliament and then formally unify.

The Social Democrats had demanded that East Germany dissolve itself Dec. 1 and merge with West Germany as a single, all-German election could be held the following day.

The seemingly trivial dispute over whether East Germany should dissolve Dec. 1 or Dec. 2 — and whether the two Germanys should vote as one country or two — could help determine which political factions get seats in Parliament.

De Maiziere and other Christian Democratic leaders had said earlier that single elections could be held after unification takes place. The Social Democrats on Friday trumpeted their success on the issue.

But de Maiziere appeared to qualify that again in an interview to be published Saturday in the West German newspaper Die Welt.

De Maiziere said unification could be formally voted on by East Germany's 400-member Parliament before elections, but actually take place afterward.

In the interview, released in advance of publication, de Maiziere also said single German elections are "not possible."

His comments were yet another twist in the political wrangling that has consumed parties in both German states for the past week and a half.

Jerome's Thomason new Miss Northside

JEROME — Jenni Thomason of Jerome won the Miss Northside Magic Valley title here Friday night, taking the talent, swimsuit, evening gown and interview competitions in the process.

Thomason

The 20-year-old Thomason, the daughter of J.B. and Nancy Thomason, will represent the Northside in the Miss Idaho Pageant next year.

First runner-up was Bobbi Shimer, 25, of Shoshone. Eighteen-year-old Jacqueline Holtzen of Jerome was the second runner-up.

Former Glens Ferry bank executives get prison terms

BOISE — Two former executives of a Glens Ferry bank have been sentenced to prison terms after being convicted on federal charges of illegally obtaining bank funds.

Harry W. Knox, 38, of King Hill, was sentenced to one year in prison, three years of supervised release and 100 hours of community service, according to a new release from the U.S. attorney's office. Knox, convicted of 18 counts of misapplication of bank funds, also was ordered to pay $80,014 in restitution to Idaho State Bank.

Knox was formerly chairman and corporate secretary of the Glens Ferry-based bank.

Ann K. Neaville, 35, of Kuna, was sentenced to 21 months in prison, three years of supervised release and 100 hours of community service. Neaville, former vice chairman and corporate vice president, was convicted on 25 counts of misapplying bank funds and two counts of falsifying bank records.

Visiting Federal Judge Alicemarie H. Stotler of California, who sentenced Neaville and Knox to order Neaville to pay $95,174 to Idaho State Bank.

The once-troubled bank is currently under new ownership after Sun Valley resident Win Lautner bought 99 percent of its stock in November.

Jones says new phone line should ease consumer gripes

BOISE — A newly installed telephone line will ease consumer complaints, Idaho Attorney General Jim Jones says.

The office's Consumer Protection Unit recently installed a toll-free telephone line for consumer complaints — part of an expanded operation courtesy of increased funding from the Legislature.

The unit will be open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The toll-free number is 800-432-3545.

Twin Falls Council to get initial '91 budget presentation

TWIN FALLS — City Manager Tom Courtney will make the initial fiscal year 1991 budget presentation to the City Council at a work session Monday.

The presentation will be the first step in shaping a budget, Courtney said. The council will break into groups to analyze sections of the budget in the following weeks, he said.

The city's budget has been strained from growth and inflation the past few years, while the city has had few options for expanding revenues, Courtney said.

A new budget must be passed by Oct. 1.

Twin Falls police records room to have limited hours

TWIN FALLS — The records room at the Twin Falls police department will have limited hours during part of August as staff has computer training.

Between August 6 and 23, people who need records assistance can call or visit the office from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Attorney arrested on DUI, speeding charges Wednesday

JACKPOT — A Twin Falls attorney who sits on the Twin Falls Planning and Zoning Commission was arrested on charges of speeding and driving under the influence of alcohol Wednesday night.

John C. Hohlnhorst, 37, was transported to the Elko County Detention Facility, where he spent an hour before posting a $978 bail bond, said Sgt. Melinda Borden of the Elko County Sheriff's Office.

Hohlnhorst was pulled over by a Nevada Highway Patrol officer on U.S. Highway 93 two miles south of Jackpot at about 9:30 p.m. He had been driving 77 mph in a 55-mph zone, according to Elko County Sheriff's Sgt. Jim Black.

Amalgamated makes last offer; union cites progress

By Phil Sabn
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — Amalgamated Sugar made its final offer Friday on a new contract for 2,300 workers at four plants in Idaho and Oregon and one local union president said progress was made on the last day of negotiation.

"After today, we made some headway," said Jim Lee of Twin Falls. "I think the company made an offer they think some people can accept."

Lee is Local 283 president of the American Federation of Grain Millers. Leaders from three other local unions where Amalgamated has plants took part in the negotiations as well. The plants are in Twin Falls, Burley, Nampa and Nyssa, Ore.

Lee did not give specifics of the company's latest offer. He said union members should have the chance to discuss the offer before it reaches the news media.

Amalgamated's offer was substantially unchanged from the one on Thursday, said the company's chief negotiator, Tom Martin. He declined to give specifics about the proposal.

"We think it's a fair package," Martin said. "We're optimistic ... but it's no secret that the biggest concern is health-care costs."

Amalgamated had offered a 2 percent raise each of the first two years followed by a 3.5 percent raise the third and final year of the contract. The company also wants workers to pay $87 a month toward their health insurance premium.

Union members had said the $57-a-month insurance premium would negate the 2 percent raise. The highest-paid worker at the Twin Falls plant would make $46 a month from the raise, according to union figures. But after the $87 was taken out, the worker would be $11 behind, the union said.

Most workers would lose between $15 and $25 a month from the contract, said

Ken Wiesmore of Local Union 283. Martin said health care costs for Amalgamated have risen 29 percent the past year. The company cannot absorb that cost alone, he said.

The union's contract expires next Wednesday. Lee said the 219 union workers at the Twin Falls plant probably will vote on the company's offer that day. He did not say when the other three local unions would vote, but said he expected the results would be known by Wednesday or Thursday.

Martin and Lee said the talks Friday were friendly.

Experts seek ways to save Idaho salmon

By N. S. Nokkentved
Times-News writer

BOISE — Idaho salmon may have met their match. Their prehistoric ancestors survived the apocalyptic geological upheavals that shaped Idaho, but the salmon may not survive humankind.

Hydroelectric dams on the Snake and Columbia rivers, water removed for irrigation and increasingly polluted water have decimated the once abundant northwest salmon runs.

The Snake River system reportedly once produced half the chinook salmon and steelhead trout of the Columbia River system, which produced the largest runs of these fish in the world.

A single sockeye salmon passed through the Ice Harbor Dam on the Snake River in central Washington Wednesday, the Associated Press reported Friday. It could be the only one of the season, a biologist says. "As near as we know, that's it. There was two that made it last year, so the run has been cut in half," said Steve Morris, a biologist for the National Marine Fisheries Service in Portland, Ore.

"The runs in the Snake River have been dwindling for a number of years." The sockeye was spotted on the fish ladder at the dam in Franklin County, said Sally Hicks, a spokeswoman for the Washington Department of Fisheries.

Despite efforts to support these and other species with hatchery fish, the runs have been drastically reduced in recent years. The mortality rate of young fish on their migration to the ocean lies between 95 and 98 percent, said Ed Chaney of the Northwest Resource Information Center Inc.

"It's not surprising that we have such low runs," he said. The center is one of a group of organizations that have petitioned the National Marine Fisheries Service to review the salmon for possible endangered species status.

About 100 water experts — politicians, water lawyers and agency officials — gathered in a meeting room at St. Luke's Medical Center in Boise to discuss the health of those salmon runs and how to bring them back.

In March the Shoshone-Bannock Indians filed a petition to list lower Columbia coho, Idaho sockeye and spring, summer and fall chinook as endangered species. A coalition of environmentalists did the same in May.

Oregon and Washington interests see more dam projects from Idaho power producers and irrigators as the solution to the dwindling salmon. But Idaho interests see the years of operating dams on the Snake and Columbia rivers primarily for power production as the culprit.

Gov. Cecil Andrus chats with Idaho Sugarbeet Growers Association President Myron Huettig and American Sugar Beet Growers Association President Patrick Mahar.

Beet growers celebrate price win

By Mark Kind
Times-News writer

SUN VALLEY — While celebrating a victory Friday, sugar producers criticized this week's unsuccessful attempt in the Senate to enlist sugar producers in the U.S. government's war on drugs.

"They should use bullets instead of sugar," said Patrick Mahar, President of the American Sugarbeet Growers, during an interview at the group's annual convention.

About 250 growers from across the nation relaxed a little bit here Friday after battling most of the week to save their price-support program in Congress, where debate on the 1990 Farm Bill was under way. Some congressmen in the House and Senate had sought to reduce the sugar program's floor price by 2 percent, allowing more sugar from improv-erished Third World nations into the country. That would also allow South American farmers now growing coca for cocaine to grow sugar instead, Sen. Bill Bradley, D-N.J., had argued.

Both houses defeated the price-cut amendments. "There's still a lot of misunderstanding about sugar," he said. Although the sugar program is not funded with tax dollars, he said the rest of the Farm Bill may prompt a Bush veto if it exceeds budget constraints, and Congress rarely overrides farm bill vetoes, he said.

Idaho Gov. Cecil Andrus had a similar warning in his welcoming address. Agriculture Secretary Clayton Yetter and Trade Representative Carla Hills are pushing for nearly worldwide elimination of government spending on agriculture at international negotiations on the General Agreement on Trade and Tariff.

"The sugar program should not be sacrificed on the altar of a questionable U.S. foreign trade program," Andrus said.

Congress will vote on the treaty produced by the GATT talks at year's end. Once the Farm Bill is passed and signed, the sugar beet growers will turn their attention to GATT, said Luther Markwart, vice president of the association.

"What you do is you watch Carla and you watch Clayton," he said. "If the trade treaty is not fair, you communicate with your congressmen."

Surprise phone call catches Andrus off guard

SUN VALLEY — Idaho's Democratic governor was exercising his ceremonial role Friday, stepping to the podium to welcome the American Sugarbeet Growers Association to Sun Valley, when the telephone rang — unexpectedly.

He looked confused for split second, before picking up the receiver from its perch on the podium.

"Cecil Andrus," he said, to chuckles and gutturs from his audience. After several seconds of confused conversation, Andrus informed the caller that he had the wrong number.

Finally, Andrus determined that the caller was the phone's installer, checking to make certain that the special amplified unit was working.

The phone worked perfectly later.

Andrus laughed off the interruption.

After Andrus' departure, when Sen. Steve Symms, R-Idaho, called to talk about the 1990 Farm Bill.

"I have to confess, that does kind of startle you when you're ready to address 200 or 300 people and the phone rings."

Bellevue city officials, library board at odds over hiring

By Susan Bailey
Times-News correspondent

BELLEVUE — The City Council is still deadlocked with the Library Board over the decision to replace part-time librarian Mary Griffin with full-time city employee Peggy Olsen.

At the council's meeting Thursday night, Library Board members pressed the six-man council and Bellevue Mayor Wayne Douthit to officially recognize them as the appointed Library Board.

According to Douthit, the council believes such recognition should be withheld. At issue is which entity has the right to hire and fire library employees.

The council recently hired Peggy Olsen to replace part-time librarian Mary Griffin, but the Library Board refuses to recognize Olsen, Douthit said.

Library Board member Teresa Bergin said the city "has never gone ahead and told this gal she has the duties of the librarian."

Library Board Chairwoman June Ballard has been keeping the doors open in her spare time, according to Bergin.

The board is pressing for reinstatement of Griffin, or for a qualified librarian.

"We had no complaints with Mary Griffin," Bergin said. "We would like her to come back as librarian. If that could not be done, we would like to have a qualified person with library skills or at least someone open to instruction in those lines." Bergin said the Library Board feels Griffin is a good librarian and said the general public feels the same way.

But at the root of the controversy is the question of who has the authority to hire and fire library employees.

"According to Idaho Code, it's up to the Library Board to hire or fire and we had no problem with Mary," Bergin said.

"The Library Board feels they have the authority to hire or fire," said Douthit. "They are looking out for Mary, but the job is outgrowing her."

Douthit said that the council is questioning the status of the board.

"Those members are supposed to be appointed by the council for five-year terms," he said. "It hasn't been done that way since 1979."

When vacancies on the board arose, Bergin said, the Library Board canvassed names of patrons interested in joining, and appointed its own members.

According to Douthit, the board threatened that federal and state grants to the library would be jeopardized if the status of the board was called into question.

"I don't feel that the city owes anyone a job," Douthit said. "The Library Board has been sitting there

EPA says Banbury Springs water not safe for drinking

By TERRELL WILLIAMS
Times-News correspondent

BUHL — The Environmental Protection Agency is charging that the Banbury Springs Pipe Co. is not delivering safe drinking water to households as required by law.

Spring water used by the company does not meet state standards because of bacteria content, the EPA says.

But the water users say the water for irrigation, bathing and other washing, not for drinking.

While the EPA says water delivered to households must be safe for drinking, the water users say they plan to disconnect their houses from the Banbury pipeline and instead use well water.

The Banbury pipeline crosses the Snake River north of Buhl and is used by about 25 residences, mostly for irrigation of about 400 acres, said area resident Catherine Green. The water used to be fine for drinking, she said, but for several years it has been contaminated by dairy runoff from above the spring source.

"We're trying to do everything we can to clean that up," Green said, predicting that the dairy owners will cooperate.

The pipeline company has been told by the EPA that the water must be purified or all households must be disconnected or else the company will be fined $25,000 per day, according to Leland Foster, a Banbury company water.

Church news

JEROME Elder Daniel F. Wilcox, 67, son of Francis and Margaret Wilcox of Jerome, has been called to serve a two-year mission for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints in the Argentina-Salta Mission. He will speak in Sacramento Meeting at 11:30 a.m. Sunday at the Jerome Third Ward Chapel, 925 E. Ave. B. Wilcox graduated from Jerome High School in 1989 and attended Ricks College in Rexburg for one year, where he toured with the Ricks College A Cappella Choir.

Wilcox

HOLLISTER - The annual Meeting in the Pines of the Hollister Presbyterian Church will be held Sunday at Bear Gulch Campground in the South Hills. Activities will include games and crafts at 10:30 a.m., a potluck dinner at 12:30 p.m. and a worship service at 2 p.m. and a Rev. Bob Van Nest as speaker and songs by the Sunday school classes. Camping is available for those who wish to spend Saturday night. Visitors are welcome. For more information, call Bob or Rhea Laming at 655-4257.

Locust. This service will be in prayer and support of the Celebration for Jesus Crusade. All denominations are invited to attend. The Celebration for Jesus Crusade will be held Aug. 5-12 at the Twin Falls High School Bruin Stadium.

HAGERMAN - The Hagerman Christian Center on State Street will have Soviet refugees, Greg and Diana Burlo, as guest speakers at the 11 a.m. worship service Sunday. The Burlos will tell about their experiences in leaving the Soviet Union as religious refugees, how they came to Hagerman and what they think of the United States. They correspond regularly with family members still in the Ukraine and will also tell what is currently taking place there.

TWIN FALLS - Tyler Street Baptist Church is presenting a film series entitled "Live, Laugh, Love." This week's film, "The Sexual Puzzle" will be shown at 6 p.m. Sunday at the church, 288 Tyler Street. The film, Josh McDowell and psychologist Dick Bay discuss the confusion and hurt that often come when one's body begins to mature. They explore the options young people face and show how sexual intimacy gets its best start in caring values, responsible actions and healthy self-acceptance.

TWIN FALLS - Women of the Magic Valley and surrounding areas are invited to attend a noon luncheon Aug. 10 at the Weston Plaza Hotel, 1350 Blue Lakes Blvd. N. The luncheon is part of the weeklong Celebration for Jesus Crusade.

Kelley Cash, Miss America 1987, will be the featured speaker. Advance tickets are $5.50 per person and are available through local church representatives or by calling Esther Simpson at 733-2209 or the Crusade office at 733-8653.

Cash will share her testimony that centers around her faith in Jesus and that she says is the one stable factor in her life. She will also provide the special music for the luncheon. Following the luncheon is Miss America 1987, Cash returned to Memphis State University as a communications major. She is the grandniece of country singer, Johnny Cash.

TWIN FALLS - Local members will be among the 9,500 delegates from Central California, Idaho and Utah who are expected to attend the four-day "Pure Language" District Convention of Jehovah's Witnesses in the Spanish language Thursday, Aug. 2, at the Convention Center in Fresno, Calif.

Grant Allinger said the convention program will highlight international unity in a time of serious divisions caused by language, nationality, race, creed, education and social status. "For world peace to be achieved, it is essential for people to speak a common language. I am not talking about literal language or dialect but rather seeing things in the same way, sharing a common faith and a common hope," he said. The convention is one of 29 that are scheduled for this week in the United States. A total of 142 conventions are set nationally during June and July.

IF JULY 28 IS YOUR BIRTHDAY: Current cycle highlights travel, greater degree of influence, more confidence, participation in creative endeavor. Results could prove spectacular. Refuse to be limited. Focus on love, style, ability to reach wider audience. Leo, Aquarius persons play important roles in your life. Relationship is tested -- you stay or go and much depends on mental attitude of "other person." August will be memorable, productive, profitable, challenging. Check the 19th.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Break-through comes with dramatic suddenness. What had been holding you back releases its grip. Focus on legal rights, cooperative efforts, public image, marital-sta. Leo figures prominently.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Recently you were concerned about "slow pace." Tonight you realize delays, careful study worked to your advantage. You'll feel better, work better, will seek rapprochement with close relative.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Diversity, look beyond the immediate, accept social invitation. Emphasis on style, creativity, sex appeal. Long distance call serves as reminder of obligation agreed to three weeks ago.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Read between lines, study small print. Show that you can be a fierce battler when necessary. Scorpio could play outstanding role.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): You could display skill at sleight-of-hand during social affair. Sharp dialogue impresses one who did not know that side of you. Emphasis on freedom, creativity, genius via written word. Virgo involved.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): No matter how far you might roam you will return home. Family member communicates excellent news concerned with finances. Missing key is located. You'll know where you stand, what to do about it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Cycle high, terms will be defined, contracts will be renegotiated in your favor. Focus on public image, definition of terms, access to privileged information. Pisces, Virgo persons play roles.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Make this your power play day. Look behind scenes. What had been obscured receives benefit of greater light. Spiritual revelation is distinct possibility. Fervent wish could be fulfilled.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): More people become aware of your presence and extend hands of welcome. Focus on fulfillment, speculation, discovery, sex appeal. Your influence could range far and wide. Means don't be limited.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Stress independence, protect reputation, promotions denied could now be granted. Fresh start proves favorable. Special note: Avoid heavy lifting. You'll receive offer which is challenging.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Follow through on past "Impressions." Another Aquarian will wardrobe, special introductions. Sense of direction and pride restored. You learn through process of sharing, teaching.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Display ability to encompass broad spectrum of knowledge. Emphasis on freedom, popularity, awareness of body image. You'll learn more about money, who has it, how to obtain it. Sagittarius involved.

"THANKS FOR LISTENING TO ME. IT'S GOOD TO HAVE FRIENDS IN HIGH PLACES."

"Daddy, Mommy wants to talk to you whenever you wake up."

L.M. Boyd What's what?

Aged in the air
Q. In the 1960s when I tried to get a job with the United Airlines stewardesses -- they're all called flight attendants now -- their average age was 22. What's the average today?
A. Age 37, research reveals.

Only about one out of 100 people will see humor in the line: "They don't make elephant birds like they used to."

Q. Who coined the travel slogan "See America First"?
A. One Charles Fletcher Lummis, a writer/photographer described by his peers as "eccentric." Another term he coined, they say, is "Southwest."

A superconic Concorder on schedule travels 400,000 times faster than a snail in a hurry.

OLDER, YOUNGER
A. People under age 75 tend to give their ages as a little younger. People over age 75 tend to give their ages as a little older.

Statistics drawn from Social Security records prove that. It's known about a third of the people who claim to be over 100 aren't.

"Work," said Mark Twain, "is whatever a body is obliged to do." He said, "Play is whatever a body is not obliged to do."

EMPEROR
Q. Have any rulers in the Western Hemisphere called themselves "Emperor"?
A. Two. Maximilian of Mexico and Dom Pedro II of Brazil.

Recently heard a father tell his son: "I didn't start to enjoy life until I learned to get up and go to bed on the same day."

Q. If I start letting my beard grow on Jan. 1, 1991, when will it be a foot long?
A. Jan. 1, 1993, about. Figure a half inch a month.

There's such a thing as too correct. You could say "coffee pits" instead of coffee beans. That's too correct.

Carey named Archbishop of Canterbury
LONDON (AP) — George Carey, the-Bishop of Bath and Wells and a supporter of the ordination of women, was named the 103rd Archbishop of Canterbury on Wednesday.
Carey was a surprise choice to succeed Robert Runcie as spiritual leader of the state Church of England and 10 million Anglicans worldwide, including 2.5 million Episcopalians in the United States.
Runcie, who must retire by his 70th birthday on Oct. 2, 1991, has said he will retire at the end of January.
As archbishop, Carey will be appointed to the Privy Council, which advises the queen, and

Pope wants N. Ireland terrorism to end
MIDDLETON, Northern Ireland (AP) — The first man killed in 21 years of sectarian violence was buried Friday following a message from Pope John Paul II condemning "the grievous injustice and futility of terrorism."
Political leaders of Ireland and Northern Ireland joined a family and friends who packed a small country church along the Irish border for the requiem Mass for Sister Catherine Dunne, 37. She was killed Tuesday by an Irish Republican Army bomb.
The mothers included representatives of the Royal Ulster Constabulary, which lost three men in the same attack: William Hanson, 37, Joshua Cyril Willis, 35, and David Sterritt, 34.
The IRA has said the killing of the nun was unintentional. Her car had been near the policemen's car when the bomb exploded.
A prayer was said for social worker Cathy McCann, 25, who was in the car with Sister Catherine and is recovering from injuries suffered in the explosion.
Dean Francis McLarnon, a Roman Catholic diocesan administrator in Armagh, read a message from the Vatican saying that the pope was "deeply shocked and saddened" by the deaths.
John Paul "implores God's peace on Northern Ireland, and appeals to the men and women who espouse violence to recognize the grievous injustice and futility of terrorism," the message said.

Lottery garners state $17 million during first year

BOISE (AP) — The first year of Idaho's lottery produced state revenue of $17.2 million, which will be divided between school districts and a construction fund.

The Idaho Lottery Commission on Friday presented Gov. Cecil Andrus with a poster-sized check for $17,225,000, profits from the $66 million in first-year lottery sales.

"These dollars are destined to make a lasting impact on public facilities in Idaho," said Andrus. "The return on the lottery has been outstanding."

"We promised Idahoans a first-class operation that would financially benefit public facilities and schools. The Lottery Commission has delivered on that promise," the governor said.

For this year only, the state's 115 school districts will divide $8.6 million, and the same amount goes into the Permanent Building Fund.

Public Works Director Anne Barker said the extra revenue will allow the state to spend closer to the recommended amount on preventive maintenance on state buildings, something that often has been short-changed in the past.

"It's spent already," she said. The state law authorizing the lottery directed that half the profits would go into the School Construction Fund. It is designed to give big grants to a relatively small number of districts which could demonstrate need.

But state Rep. Jim Stoicheff, D-Sandpoint, convinced the Legislature to change the law for this year only, so all districts could share in the lottery windfall.

Unless current law is changed, next year's lottery profits are scheduled to go into the School Construction Fund.

Andrus said when a vote of the people authorized the lottery, "we said it would be properly run and it would be successful. We can say to you after one year that it has been very, very successful."

The original projection was that the first year's lottery games would sell $25 million in tickets, a figure that was more than doubled.

Lottery Director Wally Hedrick, pressed to make an estimate for the second year, came up with $55 million.

Boise schools get the most

BOISE (AP) — Idaho's school districts will divide $8.6 million from the first year of lottery revenue.

The Boise School District will get the largest amount, about $770,000. The small Three Creek district will get $520.

Other approximate figures: Meridian, $550,000; Pocatello, $532,000; Blackfoot, $197,000; Idaho Falls, $392,000; Bonnevill, $306,000; Nampa, $312,000; Caldwell, $170,000; Cassia County, $204,000 and Fremont County, $125,000.

Jerome, $110,000; Coeur d'Alene, $230,000; Post Falls, $122,000; Moscow, $100,000; Madison, $177,000; Minidoka, $202,000; Lewiston, $153,000; Twin Falls, $254,000.

He said all but two states with lotteries have experienced a decline in the second year, but Idaho hopes to avoid it.

"We're going to continue to offer a new instant scratch game to play every six weeks to keep it fun to play," said Hedrick.

"And we're really looking forward to the start of the Fantastic Five — an all-Idaho lotto game starting this fall."

"This is a heck of a lot more money than anyone thought we would be able to give back to the people of Idaho," said Lottery Post Commission Chairman James Bruce.

Hedrick said instant scratch tickets generated most of the revenue, $58,569,149 worth of tickets.

The Idaho Super Lotto game, which started in February, produced another $7.4 million in sales.

A county-by-county breakdown of sales showed Ada County led the state with $13.1 million.

Second was Bannock County, with $5.9 million in sales and $2.5 million in instant prizes.

Camas County sold only $52,227 in instant scratch tickets, but $21,040 was paid out in prizes.

Don't overlook barley market here, commissioner cautions

POCATELLO (AP) — The newest member of the Idaho Barley Commission says the Idaho industry worries a lot about transporting barley to distant markets, but they might look closer to home.

There is a prime market in the dairy and feedlot industries of southern and southwestern Idaho, says Craig Corbett, Grace. "We're just not able to service that area," he said.

"We need to improve our marketing of our products in California and everywhere, but we're kind of losing sight of those (Idaho) markets and they're right here," he said.

"We could re-establish those markets and redo the transportation end of it, it would all fall into line," Corbett said.

Eastern Idaho barley is transported by rail and truck, and both methods are vital, he said, but problems with railroad car shortages need to be resolved.

Southeastern Idaho growers shipping into California markets by rail face a switching fee of $450 when carloads of barley move from the Union Pacific Railroad system to Southern Pacific, a prime California carrier.

"That switch costs $450 plus the freight and it just makes southeastern Idaho less competitive," Corbett said. "That has got to be addressed."

The Idaho Barley Commission was formed two years ago and is funded by an assessment collected at the point of first sale. The commission is working to open new markets, particularly overseas.

Corbett said Mexico could offer possibilities because it's fairly close. "We're exploring every avenue in exports that becomes available," Corbett said. "You kind of have to make your own markets...you're never going to turn down a market."

Corbett raises 3,000 acres of barley north of Soda Springs. The district he represents on the commission includes growers in 14 eastern counties.

Drought, new wells polarize water users

ARCO (AP) — Years of drought have reduced flows in the Big Lost River and dried up scores of wells in the drainage, pitting surface irrigators against groundwater users in an escalating war for control of the precious resource.

"We think we are terribly over-allocated on groundwater," said Lawrence Babcock of the Big Lost Water Users Association.

Decreases in river flows have convinced surface water irrigators their old water rights are being usurped by newer irrigation wells, said Glen Saxton of the state Water Allocation Bureau. At the same time 160 domestic wells have gone dry between Arco and Moore.

Saxton said it was still unclear what is happening in the drainage. A $50,000 state-funanced study is just starting. But he said the newer wells could reduce groundwater levels and flows into the river and its tributaries.

"You have the potential for conflict in any drainage in Idaho," Saxton said.

State Water Resources officials believe there is plenty of water in the underground aquifer to go around. They see the only question as one of whether more of the resource should be tapped by wells.

But Babcock contended applications for new water rights have over-allocated the available water three to four times, and while the water rights adjudication throughout southern Idaho has delayed action on many of those requests, Babcock claimed that "in most of those applications, those people went ahead and drilled wells without the permit."

State law allows anyone who believes his existing right would be affected by a new application to protest, and Saxton said protests are being filed as a natural course in the Big Lost drainage.

State Water Resources Director Keith Higgingson said there is no doubt that increased pumping of groundwater has affected the area's water supply, but he maintained that the real problem has been continuing drought.

Hydrogeologist Steve Baker said there is still enough water in the drainage to serve all users, but traditional irrigators may have to become more reliant on groundwater wells.

EPA asks smelter owners for reclamation plan

KELLOGG (AP) — Current and former owners of the Bunker Hill Smelter have been asked to develop plans to revegetate and stabilize eroding hillsides around the complex, officials said Friday.

The levels of metals contamination at the site may pose a threat to human health, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency said in asking six past or present owners to submit a joint revegetation proposal within 10 days.

The work will require soil stabilization and tree planting to prevent further erosion and migration of metals contamination, the EPA said in its letters.

"Some of the parties have been talking about it for about a year now," EPA counsel Allan Bakalian said Friday from Seattle. "This is giving them an opportunity for doing it."

The companies are expected to submit their proposal early next week, he said.

A large barren slope "and other locations that have not been identified" will be included in the proposal, he said.

The EPA sent letters to the smelter's current owner, Bunker Limited-Partnership, and five former owners — Gulf Resources & Chemical Corp., Minerals Corp. of Idaho, Bunker Hill Mining Co. Inc., Hecla Mining Co. and Stammer Chemical Co. — all potentially liable for cleanup costs, Bakalian said.

The 21-square-mile Superfund site, one of the nation's largest, is heavily contaminated by heavy metals spewed from the smelter and other operations in northern Idaho's Silver Valley.

After the companies submit their proposals, they and the EPA have about two months to negotiate the details of how the stabilization work will proceed, Bakalian said.

If they are unable to reach an agreement, the EPA could proceed with a suit and action of its own and bill them later, he said.

"I wouldn't want to rule that out. This is certainly an area that needs to be cleaned up," Bakalian said, noting that the companies have been cooperative.

The letter seeking a revegetation proposal is unlike two previous "unilateral orders" the EPA has issued to force cleanup at the Kellogg site, Bakalian said.

Eight of 14 companies named in a May order agreed in June to participate in the $3.2 million residential yard cleanup this summer.

Contaminated soil from yards in area communities is being removed and replaced with untainted soil and sod.

Coalition to study how to stop erosion of Bonneville Salt Flats

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The Bureau of Land Management, racing groups, local governments and the representatives of the potash industry have formed an advisory board to help preserve western Utah's Bonneville Salt Flats.

The BLM is conducting a study aimed at determining why the Salt Flats, best known as a testing and racing ground, are losing some 1.2 million tons of salt a year.

Deane Zeller, manager of the BLM's Salt Lake district, envisions the Bonneville Salt Flat Conservation Coalition as a catalyst for merging expertise and political action.

"A consensus-building forum is necessary to solve the complex social and economic issues involved," he said. "We need to develop a plan for preserving both the Salt Flats and local economic activities."

Zeller said publicity generated by the Save the Salt Committee and other racing organizations has focused national attention on the problem, and the coalition is intended to foster cooperation among those affected by the problem.

The coalition members include the National Hot Rod Association, the Utah Salt Flats Racing Association, the Special Equipment Market Association and Reilly Industries of Wendover, Utah.

Power County crash claims man's life

AMERICAN FALLS — An American Falls man has died of injuries suffered in a Power County traffic accident.
Dead is Jesus Guerrero Nieto, 47. Officers said he died about 9 p.m. Thursday at an Idaho Falls hospital of injuries suffered several hours earlier. Investigating officers said Nieto was westbound on a county road when he apparently turned his three-wheel vehicle into the path of Maria Escorza, 30, American Falls, eastbound on the road. Her vehicle left the road, shearing off a power pole. She was treated at Harms Memorial Hospital.

Nature group buys Hells Canyon land

BOISE — The Nature Conservancy has purchased a 38-acre subdivision parcel in Hells Canyon to protect critical wildlife habitat adjacent to its 7,640-acre Garden Creek Preserve.
The $120,000 in river frontage is about 25 miles upstream from Lewiston and about six miles downriver from the Salmon River confluence. Mark Elsbree, assistant director of the Idaho arm, said the non-profit conservation group bought the property in a subdivision along the nation's deepest river gorge.

60 take part in state pony express ride

BOISE — Sixty riders are saddled up and off on a pony express ride between Boise and McCall to celebrate the Idaho Centennial.
The first rider was slated to leave Boise at 6 a.m., Friday, and hand his mail to a succession of horsemen and mule riders over 125 miles. The mail is expected to reach the resort town of McCall to the north at 11 a.m. Saturday.
"The pony express has appealed to everyone," said John Stephenson, a ride organizer. "This way, people can go back and experience a little bit of history."

Ex-state senator returned to tax board

BOISE — Norma Dobler, former state senator from Moscow, has been reappointed to the Idaho Board of Tax Appeals. Her new term runs until July of 1993.
Mrs. Dobler served in the Idaho House for four years and spent 10 years in the Idaho Senate.
Gov. Cecil Andrus also announced appointment of James L. Mörphey, Pocatello, to the Idaho Real Estate Commission, and Sandra Beebe, Blackfoot, was named to the Certified Shorthand Reporters Board. James Gordon, Pocatello, was reappointed to the Board of Psychologist Examiners.

Brewer pleads innocent to murder rap

LEWISTON — Richard Brewer has pleaded innocent to the first-degree murder of a Lewiston man, and the defense attorney says he questions the conduct of Oregon police in his client's arrest.
Brewer, 17, pleaded innocent Thursday in 2nd District Court in Lewiston. The San Bernardino, Calif., teen-ager also is charged with grand theft, first-degree burglary and conspiracy to commit murder.

ISU unsure if Army contract will continue

POCATELLO (AP) — Idaho State University is getting $1.6 million to serve as host for a U.S. Army training session, but school officials say there's some doubt whether the Army will return for the final year of a three-year contract.
The U.S. Army Reserve Command and General Staff College is nearing the end of its last 1990 summer session at the Pocatello school. Sessions were held at the University of Nevada for nearly 20 years, but the decay of facilities there, and a high Nevada bid, led to ISU winning the contract.
"They accepted our bid without ever having seen our facilities," said Teresa Irish, director of housing for ISU. "We think they're pleased with us, and they say they're happy here. But it just comes down to a matter of dollars."
A spokesperson from 6th Army

Headquarters, San Francisco, said ISU will need to offer a low bid.
"That's because it really is just a matter of dollars. No matter how good the services are, the Army will look strictly at the dollars involved," said Leslie Tucker. "Especially now, with all of the cuts in the defense budget, that's never been more important."
Representatives of the Army agree the ISU and Pocatello experience are more conducive to healthy living and a studious atmosphere than Reno. While no hard data exists, Lt. Col. Kent Cameron said students spend more time cracking the books than cracking the lids off beer bottles.
"We only have our students here for two weeks at a time, and they have a lot to learn and a lot of studying to do in that time," said Cameron, an Army Reservist.

Surgery puts Gubicza out for Royals' season

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Righthander Mark Gubicza will undergo arthroscopic surgery on a partially torn rotator cuff in his pitching shoulder next week and will miss the rest of the season, the Kansas City Royals said Friday.

Gubicza, a 20-game winner in 1988 and a 1989 All-Star, has struggled with a sore shoulder since last September and winds up 1990 with a 4-7 mark and a 4.50 ERA.

Irwin, Pooley fire hot rounds to tie for lead in Buick Open

GRAND BLANC, Mich. — Hale Irwin played flawlessly while Don Pooley fought off disaster at every turn Friday.

But when the second round of the Buick Open was over, Irwin, who last month became the oldest player to win a U.S. Open, and Pooley were tied for the lead at 132, 12-under par and two strokes ahead of everybody else.

Twins trade Candelaria to Blue Jays for Liriano

MINNEAPOLIS — The Minnesota Twins on Friday traded left-hander John Candelaria to the Toronto Blue Jays for second baseman Nelson Liriano and a minor league outfielder Pedro Munoz.

Cowboys win 2 in 'B' Legion tourney

By Brad Bowlin
Times-News writer

SHOSHONE — The Twin Falls Cowboys literally walked away with a pair of easy victories Friday at the Southern Region "B" American Legion baseball tournament.

Twin Falls will face Idaho Falls at 11 a.m. today, with the winner taking on Pocatello for the tournament championship at 2 p.m. All three teams will go to the state tournament in Boise; the top two teams qualify for state and Twin Falls has an automatic berth because it hosted last year's tournament.

Their own timely hitting and solid pitching — coupled with dozens of walks issued by opposing pitchers — made the day an easy one for Twin Falls.

After losing to Jerome twice during the regular season, fifth-seeded Twin Falls beat the fourth-seeded Rebels for the second time in the tournament, 11-0.

Jerome starter Ben Skaug started off well, facing only four hitters in the first inning and picking up a strikeout. The wheels fell off in the second, however, when Skaug walked the first three Cowboys.

He struck out Twin Falls' second baseman Cory Moore and then walked three more hitters. A pop-up, a two-run single, a hit batsman and a ground out later, it was 5-0 Cowboys.

The next inning was more of the same, with the Cowboys racking up five more

Mets trade Marshall to Boston

The Associated Press

NEW YORK — The Mets will trade disgruntled first baseman Mike Marshall to the Boston Red Sox for three minor leaguers effective Saturday.

New York announced Friday night.

Marshall will be removed from the 15-day disabled list Saturday and sent to the Red Sox for pitcher Greg Hansell, outfielder Ender Perero and a minor league player to be named later.

Marshall, obtained in an off-season deal along with pitcher Alejandro Pena which sent Juan Samuel to Los Angeles, began the season as the Mets starting first baseman. He got off to a slow start, lost his job to Dave Magadan and has not been able to get back into the lineup.

Before going on the disabled list with a stomach problem, Marshall had a heated disagreement with Mets manager Bud Harrelson over a lack of playing time.

Marshall, 30, is batting .239 with six homers and 27 RBIs in 53 games. In nine seasons with the Dodgers, Marshall hit 271 with 137 homers and 484 RBIs. He was on the disabled list on five occasions.

Soviet cagers lose at Goodwill Games

The Associated Press

SEATTLE — U.S. basketball moved to center stage again Friday. That's where the Soviets tried to take their slapstick act, too, but they only got halfway there.

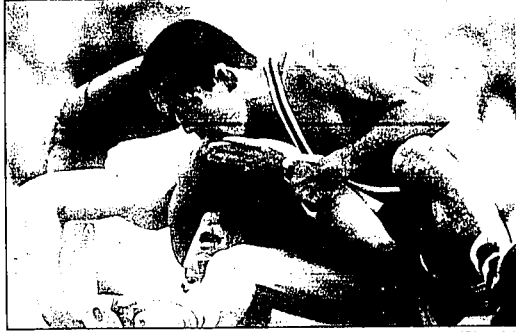

The Soviet men's basketball team lost 84-78 to Yugoslavia, just one day after their baseball team lost 17-0 — exit stage left — to the Americans in a game stopped after 6½ innings by the 10-run rule. It was a real nine-man hook.

After the basketball loss, disaster loomed for the Soviets when their women gymnasts fell behind the United States halfway through the team competition. It looked like a huge upset in the making, but the heavily favored Soviets rallied in the final two events to win narrowly as the United States took the silver medal.

"We knew the Americans would be very good, and their showing will produce an even bigger crowd tomorrow night," Soviet coach Alexander Alexandrov said.

In Friday night's other semifinal basketball game, the United States, beaten earlier in the tournament by the Soviets, met Brazil and its potent forward, Oscar Schmidt, perhaps the best scorer in the international game.

The winners meet Sunday night for the gold medal.

Japan's Toshio Asakura, right takes control over the U.S.A.'s Joe Melchioro of Iowa City, Iowa, on his way to a 4-1 first-round victory Friday.

Friday's action also included the beginning of hockey and wrestling.

Gymnastics
 The U.S. team, which has never won a team gold medal in a major international meet, took advantage of a rare mistake by Soviet world champion Svetlana Bogina.

Unsung Ertl takes 2-shot lead in golf tourney

The Associated Press

BETHESDA, Md. — Sue Ertl shot a 4-under-par 67 and took advantage of a quadruple bogey by Rosie Jones to grab a two-stroke lead Friday after two rounds of the LPGA Championship.

Jones led by five strokes until her 7 on the 195-yard, par-3, 16th hole. That helped give the lead to Ertl, who had six birdies and two bogeys for a 5-under 137 total.

For the 32-year-old Ertl, it was the first time she led after a round since the du-Marier Ltd. Classic four years ago.

"Everyone has their moments, and this happens to be mine," she said.

Jones was at 139 and Cindy Figg-Currier and Cathy Johnston were tied for third at 140. Maria Figueroa-Dotti shot a 69 for a 141.

They were the only players under par after two trips over the unforgiving 6,246-yard Bethesda Country Club course. The cut, at a lofty 8-over 150, left 77 players to vie for a share of the record $1 million purse.

First-round leader Chris Johnson, beginning the day at 4-under, had a double bogey on No. 6 and bogeys on Nos. 7 and 9 en route to a 77 and a 144.

Pat Bradley shot a 71 for a 144; Betsy King a 73 for a 145; Patty Sheehan a 71 for a 146; and defending champion Nancy Lopez rebounded from her opening 78 with a 70 that included an eagle.

Jones cruised along with five birdies, until she encountered the 16th. Teeing off with a four-wood, she put her shot into the right bunker.

NFL teams clash today

Some holdouts sign, others still away from camp

The Associated Press

If it's July, it must be time to scrimmage.

New England and Washington will get to it Saturday, as will Dallas and Houston. It'll be the first time these teams have hit anybody other than themselves.

The Patriots and Redskins match up at Carlisle, Pa., and the Texas rivals square off at San Antonio.

"We've told the players that it's a test," Patriots coach Rod Rust said, "but we've also reminded them that it's July. The first thing we want them to aspire to is to let it loose."

The controlled format won't ever be confused with real football. New England and Washington will run seven-on-seven passing drills, then five full-squad offensive possessions per team consisting of 10 plays per possession.

Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson hopes to gain some game-style knowledge of his team, 1-15 last season. "The main thing we want to do is evaluate players, what they're going to do in game-like situations," Johnson said. "We're going to have some kicking situations full speed and we're going to have about 150 plays for the total offense and defense."

New England brings its entire roster to Carlisle, while Washington will play only rookies, free agents and select veterans. The remainder of the Redskins veterans are not scheduled to report until Sunday, while New England's have been at Bryant College since July 17.

Stieb beats Rangers 1-0 to keep Jays in first in AL East

TORONTO (AP) — Dave Stieb held Texas to five hits in seven innings and Glennallen Hill homered in the third as the Toronto Blue Jays beat the Rangers 1-0 Friday night.

Stieb (13-3) struck out one and walked four, including Gene Petrilli three times. Duane Ward pitched the eighth and Tom Seaver pitched the ninth for his 21st save in 23 opportunities.

The victory kept the Blue Jays one again ahead of Boston in the American League East.

Hill's one-out homer was his ninth of the season and second in the last three games. Lester Charlie Hest (7-7) gave up seven hits in pitching his fourth complete game.

After breezing through the first four innings, Stieb was in trouble in the fifth. Petrilli drew a leadoff walk and was forced by Steve Buechele. Gary Pettis and Jeff Housley singled, but right fielder Mark Whitten threw Buechele out at the plate. Stieb walked Julio Franco to load the bases but Rafael Palmeiro lined to second to end the inning.

Red Sox 1, Tigers 0

DETROIT (AP) — Boston's Tom Bolton held Detroit to four hits in 7 2-3 innings for his first career road victory after seven losses and the Red Sox scored an unearned run off Jack Morris to beat the Tigers 1-0 Friday night.

Morris (8-13) yielded just four hits but was victimized when Mike Greenwell opened the Boston fourth with a single, stole second and continued to third on catcher Mike Heath's throwing error. After Ellis Burks struck out, Carlos Quintana hit a sacrifice fly. The unearned run was the 19th off Morris, most in the American League.

The Tigers put runners on first and second with one out, but Bolton struck out Gary Ward on a 3-2 pitch and Cecil Fielder was out trying to steal second.

Twins 9, Athletics 4

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Brian Harper extended his hitting streak to 16 games with a two-run double that highlighted a six-run fifth inning and carried the Minnesota Twins to a 9-4 victory over the Oakland Athletics on Friday night.

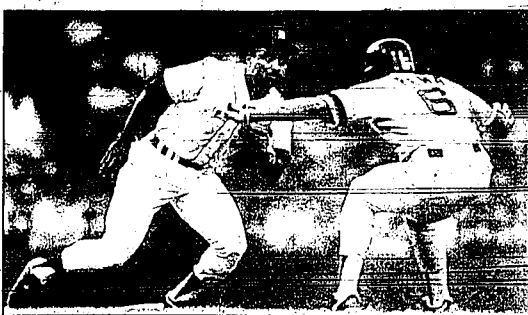

Harper's double, the Twins' third of the inning against loser Mike Moore (9-9), followed an intentional walk to Kent Hrbek and gave the Twins a 5-1 lead. Greg Gagne capped the inning with a two-run single that made it 8-1.

The Twins led 2-1 entering the fifth and scored their first run of the inning on doubles by Randy Bush and Gary Gagnei around a walk to Kirby Puckett.

After Harper's double, Shane Mack walked and Hrbek scored on an error by first baseman Mark McGwire preceding Gagne's two-run single.

White Sox 7, Brewers 4

CHICAGO (AP) — Carlton Fisk hit his 345th career homer in Chicago's three-run first inning and Dan Pasqua also homered as the Chicago White Sox beat the Milwaukee Brewers 7-4 Friday night.

The victory lifted the White Sox within 24 games of first-place Oakland in the American League West.

Jack McDowell (6-5) won for the first time in five starts, yielding three runs and seven hits in 6 1-3 innings.

Orioles 9, Royals 2

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Rookie

Ben McDonald, coming off a four-hit shutout in his first major-league start, scattered six hits in 6 2-3 innings as the Baltimore Orioles beat the Kansas City Royals 9-2 Friday night.

McDonald (2-0) gave up both Kansas City runs while striking out seven and walking four. His ERA rose from 0.48 to 1.07.

Phil Bradley, Brady Anderson and Bill Ripken were a combined 9-for-12 with six runs scored and five RBIs for Baltimore, which got five runs and nine in three innings against former Orioles Storm Davis (4-7).

Yankees 4, Indians 1

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jeff Robinson pitched his third strong game since leaving the bullpen less than two weeks ago, scattering eight hits in seven innings at the New York Yankees' beat the Cleveland Indians 4-1 to complete a doubleheader sweep.

Robinson (3-6) has yielded five runs in 21 innings as a starter and is 2-1 with a 2.14 ERA after giving 1-5 with a 4.54 ERA in 32 reliever appearances.

Wayne Tolson, who had five hits in 36 at-bats this season, had his first three-hit game since Oct. 2, 1988, including a double and his second RBI of the season.

Yankees 3, Indians 0

CLEVELAND (AP) — Andy Hawkins, who lost a no-hitter earlier in the season, pitched a three-hitter for his first victory since May 6 as the New York Yankees beat the Cleveland Indians 3-0 in the first game of Friday's two-night doubleheader.

Hawkins (2-8) struck out five and walked none, ending a hand-luck string that included a 4-0 loss in his no-hitter against the Chicago White Sox on July 1. He had gone 13 straight appearances, including 12 starts, without a victory.

He allowed singles by Jerry Browne in the first inning and Dion James in the fourth, but Browne was erased on a double play. Hawkins retired 14 in a row until Ken Phelps singled the ninth. It was the Yankees' third shutout of the season.

Mets smash Cardinals to take over sole possession of first place

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Viola won his National League-leading 14th game and the New York Mets scored early and often Friday night, crushing the St. Louis Cardinals 10-1 and lifting the Mets into sole possession of first place in the National League East.

Steve Gavigan got three hits and drove in four runs in the first three innings as the Mets took a 10-1 lead. Cardinals center fielder Milt Thompson contributed, misjudging Daryl Gibson's fly ball into a two-run triple that capped a five-run first and misplaying Magadan's line drive into a bases-loaded triple in the third.

National League

New York won for the seventh time in 10 games. The Mets have won seven of eight against St. Louis this year.

The Mets, the highest-scoring team in the majors, got 13 of their 14 hits in 3-1-3 innings. By then, every starter had either scored a run or driven one in except Darryl Strawberry, who finished 0-for-5. Tom O'Malley added three hits and scored twice.

Viola (14-5) is second in the major leagues in victories to Bob Welch's 16. He allowed three hits, struck out four and walked one. Kevin Brown made his major league debut and got the final three outs, finishing the three-hitter.

Viola worked on three days' rest for the first time this season. He pitched in place of Dwight Gooden, who was given two extra days to rest his sore shoulder.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dennis Cook pitched five shutout relief innings and Charlie Hayes homered and drove in two runs as the Philadelphia Phillies beat Pittsburgh 5-3 Friday night, knocking the struggling Pirates out of first place in the National League East.

New York's 10-1 rout of St. Louis gave the Mets a one-game deficit since they trailed by a season-high two games on April 18. Pittsburgh has lost four of its last five games overall and three of its last four at home.

Cubs 2, Expos 0

MONTREAL (AP) — Pinch-hitter Gary Varsho's run-scoring single broke a scoreless tie with two outs in the 10th inning and Greg Maddux allowed two hits in nine innings as the Chicago Cubs beat the Montreal

Expos 2-0 Friday night. Maddux (7-5) won his third straight start after going winless in his previous 13, and helped the Cubs snap a three-game losing streak. Bill Long pitched the 10th for his third save.

Shawon Dunston drew a one-out walk from reliever Bill Sampen (8-3) to begin the game-winning rally. Dunston stole second and one out later, scored on Varsho's single to left field. Dave Clark singled before Ryne Sandberg broke an 0-for-17 slump with a single to score Varsho.

Continued from B1 skaya, who fell from the uneven par-6 hole to a total of 59,186-59-167 with two events left.

Basketball
Dino Radja had 31 points in Yugoslavia's upset of the Soviets in basketball. The Soviets led 63-61 with 9:11 left, but Yugoslavia ran off six straight points, including four by Radja, to take the lead for good.

Valeri Tikhonenko led the Soviet Union with 21 points.

Schmidt and Marcel Sousa still are mainstays of the Brazilian team that beat a David Robinson-led U.S. team at the 1987 Pan American Games.

"This is my 18th year on the national team and Oscar's 17th," Sousa said. "The U.S. basketball team is too young to play at this level, but to U.S. players this is just a stop on the way to the NBA. For us, this is the big game."

The U.S. team is comprised mostly of freshman and sophomores, including team leaders Billy Owens and Kenny Anderson.

Ice Hockey
The hockey tournament began Friday as Sweden beat Czechoslovakia 5-4.

Neither the Soviets nor the Americans open until Saturday. The U.S. team plays Switzerland, and the Soviets open against West Germany.

The Soviets still are tuning over what they consider the best of one of their star players, Sergei Fedorov, by the Detroit Red Wings of the NHL. Fedorov left the Soviet team

Sunday and flew to Detroit. "The future is not so good," Soviet coach Igor Dmitriy said. "We have no protection against the dishonest activity of the NHL."

The Soviet team includes 15 players who have been drafted by the NHL at one time or another.

Wrestling
U.S. wrestlers opened their games with 20.5-13.5 victory over Bulgaria. Among the U.S. winners were 1988 Olympic gold medalist John Smith, who beat Vladimir Yankov 9-0 in the 62-kilogram division, and Jim Schert, who celebrated his 29th birthday with a 7-0 victory over Draguyva Rusev in the 90-kilo class.

The favored Soviets won nine of 10 weight classes in crushing Mongolia 25-6. Pocatello has outscored opponents 26-3 in two run-rall shortened games during the tournament. "It's going to take a real good pitching performance to beat them," said Idaho Falls Coach Jim Rick. After watching his team surrender 11 hits.

Cowboys

Continued from B1 runs on only one hit. Skaug issued a walk to begin the inning and was pulled in favor of Matt Clark, who walked the next five batters.

With a 10-run lead, Twin Falls' Troy Scofield shut down the Indians, scattering five hits for the shutout.

"We were shaky all year long, but now we're peaking at the right time," said Twin Falls Coach Shay Wallace after the win.

The Cowboys eliminated Shoshone, 12-1, in the first game of the day, as Indian pitcher Rob Appel failed to make it through the first inning.

Appel gave up two singles and three walks before handing off to Chad Olson, but in Tall Falls was out trying 3-0 and never looked back.

After adding a two runs in the second and two more in the third, the Cowboys sent 11 batters to the plate in the fourth inning to put the game away. Three Shoshone pitchers combined to walk six consecutive Cowboys in the fourth. Twin Falls' Todd Summerfield and Chad Heider surrendered only two hits and an unearned run.

The automatic berth to state hasn't affected the team's intensity level at the regional tournament, Wallace said.

"We came here ready to play baseball," Wallace said. "We've got a lot more to prove."

The Cowboys haven't beaten Idaho Falls or Pocatello all year, but Wallace said the team is ready to turn that around today.

"We're capable of beating anyone right now," he said.

In the second game of the day, the top-seeded Pocatello rolled over second seed Idaho Falls, 12-2 in six innings.

Pocatello has outscored opponents 26-3 in two run-rall shortened games during the tournament.

"It's going to take a real good pitching performance to beat them," said Idaho Falls Coach Jim Rick. After watching his team surrender 11 hits.

"We're always hit the baseball really well," Rick said. "They just flat beat us."

If Pocatello loses in the 2 p.m., a final game will be played at 6 p.m.

Packing

Continued from B1 little things leads to big things and they did take advantage of everything tonight.

"Dennis showed some character," said Sage Coach Cory Bridges of his string pitcher. "But he had me a little worried. What did he give up — 16 walks in the last two innings?"

"We just had excellent clutch performances from so many," he continued. "That was Martindale's first hit of the year and he made a couple of good catches. Dennis had that big double. Brian Ormond had a critical hit, so did Cofer and Condie. Everyone contributed."

Pocatello's win over Idaho Falls was virtually a duplicate of the Rebels' opening win over Minto on Thursday.

For 64 innings, Pocatello struggled to hold a 2-1 lead as Rebel right-hander Clark Wolfenbarger and Russel Mike Scott worked in a tight scoring duel.

Then, just as Thursday night, the Rebels blew it open in the seventh with four runs.

To that point, the difference came in fifth when Bo Barnus ripped a line drive homer down the line against Clark Avery. Griggs singled and took third when Spencer Davie followed with a hit. They then worked a double steal for the go-ahead tally.

Idaho Falls' lone run came in the top of the seventh when Brandon Speirs drilled a 380-foot homer to left center.

But in the seventh, consecutive singles by Conan Andrews, Barnus and Griggs amounted to one run and Stan Hales' hit accounted for another. Wolfenbarger then applied the coup de grace with his second double of the game down the left-field line.

Webb's eight-day holdout reversed a trend of lengthy contract talks with first-rounders. Last year, running back Sammie Smith held out 53 days and missed Miami's opener, and fellow first-round pick Louis Oliver was out of camp 21 days. In 1987, defensive lineman John Bosca took 41 days to report.

Terms of Webb's deal were not disclosed.

Buffalo signed its first-round draft choice, defensive back Jarliff Williams of Fresno State, but three starters, running back Thurman Thomas, Pro Bowl linebacker Shane Conlan and offensive lineman Will Wolford, continued to hold out.

THE ACES ON BRIDGE® BOBBY WOLFF

"And the best and the worst of this is that neither is most to blame. If you have forgotten my kisses, I have forgotten your name." — Algernon Swinburne

"We would have beaten the game quickly if you had led a diamond to start with," scolded East. "You had a second chance when you were in with the trump king."

Study the play to see if you can pin anything on East. Dummy's heart ace won, and a trump finesse lost to West's king. West persisted with another heart to South's king. South entered dummy with a trump and ruffed dummy's last heart high. One more high trump drew West's last trump. South then cashed three high clubs, discarding a diamond. When a diamond was led from dummy, East grabbed his king, and the game was no longer beatable. Does West get all the blame?

It is true that an early diamond lead by West would have defeated the game. But West surely had no compelling reason to choose a diamond rather than a heart. On the other hand, when South led a low diamond, East had solid information about the hand. South was known to have started with five trumps and only two cards in hearts and clubs. Therefore, he still had three diamonds left in his hand (one was discarded).

When a low diamond is led from dummy, East must duck. If West has a doubleton queen, the suit is unblocked; if West has a doubleton jack, South is still the favorite to misguess.

ANSWER: One no-trump. One shouldn't go out of his way to respond one no-trump with a singleton in partner's suit. In this case, it's a choice of the lesser evil.
