Standoff closes federal agencies

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The White House sent out government-shutdown orders Friday, saying President Bush would not sign emergency legislation passed by Congress to continue normal federal operations in the delayed budget standoff.

"The hour of reckoning is at hand," President Bush said in a statement read by White House spokesman Martin Fitzwater confirming late Friday that the president would refuse to sign the legislation restoring the government's power to spend money and would let the shutdown continue.

The president simply feels we ought to quit fooling around," Fitzwater said.

Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell criticized Bush for his decision.

I believe it's inflicting needless pain and anguish on thousands of American families and I do not believe it is creating the kind of atmosphere that enhances the chances for an agreement," said Mitchell,

TWIN FALLS — With the rejection of a $500-billion federal-budget compromise early Friday morning, local attention shifted from who would pay more in taxes to what federal offices may be empty Tuesday.

Nobody knows yet. President Bush sent out government-shutdown orders

Friday, saying he would not sign emergency legislation to keep the government running for another week.

Local federal government officials remained uncertain Friday afternoon as to how budget uncertainty would affect them, and most were under orders to show up for work Tuesday after the three-day Columbus Day holiday.

budget solution in hand before that."

I don't know what the answer is right now," said Rep. Silvio Conte, R-Mass. "But I do know one thing. Chaos is not the answer."

Congress planned a Saturday session and possible sessions throughout the three-day Columbus Day weekend because of the fiscal standoff.

The specter of a prolonged government shutdown, leaving no funds to operate, arose after the House early Friday resoundingly defeated a budget agreement worked out by Bush and congressional leaders.

Lawmakers began trying to put together new packages; they received talk of perhaps cutting the capital gains tax rate and raising income tax rates for the rich.

House Speaker Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., said he believed that as a result, lawmakers should try to write a budget themselves, perhaps with reduced Medicare

Police arrest 2 protesters as NASA counts down to Discovery launch

By GENE CANAMERAL, The AP

A judge gave the thumbs-up Friday and NASA counted down toward a launch of the space shuttle Discovery carrying the nuclear-powered Ulysses spacecraft. Two demonstrators opposed to Discovery's radioactive cargo were arrested.

Discovery was scheduled to blast off at 7:35 a.m. Saturday, three hours after launch the two men were supposed to release Ulysses from the cargo hold.

The satellites will then rocket itself out of Earth orbit for a round-about voyage that eventually will take it around the sun to study its five-year-old polar regions.

NASA officials said Friday the countdown was going well. Fueling of the shuttle, which includes a critical test of its liquid hydrogen plumbing, was scheduled to begin about 11:15 p.m. EDT.

5 die in senior apartment fire

DANBURY, Conn. (AP) — Elderly residents said Friday they watched in horror as panicked neighbors jumped from windows to escape a fire in a four-story senior apartment house.

Five people were killed and dozens injured.

"I got out, but some was too scared. They just jumped," said Alison McCants, 61, her hands still shaking hours after the blaze was extinguished. McCants, who lived on the third floor, said she planned to remain in the partly charred building, resting on a cot in the basement. "I don't have nowhere else to go."

The fire broke out Thursday night at the Majestic Manor in Darien's midtown. Boston Edison, neighborhood, it was extinguished early Friday. Fire Chief Harold Watkins said the 76-year-old building lacked fire escapes and sprinklers.

About 65 tenants over age 50 pay about $190 a month to live in the building, owned by Harold Stelik of Dearborn Heights. Stelik did not return calls Friday.

Deputy Fire Chief Andrew Dempsey said two people died. Dozens of others were treated for smoke inhalation, said police Sgt. George Anthony.

Police and fire officials said they were uncertain of the cause of the fire. Apartment manager Geraldine Larkin said she believed the fire started from cigarette butts in a garbage can in a staircase, although fire officials also were checking the possibility of arson.

Police questioned a 50-year-old resident but released him. Anthony Larkin said she was surprised whether this man was involved.

"He had burned a cigarette earlier. I was so angry ... and ... You set him and they took him to court," Larkin said. "I might have jumped the man."

Damage occurred on all four floors of the west wing and the third floor of the east wing, Larkin said. Some residents moved to vacant apartments that escaped damage. Others packed up to stay with friends.

Chairman works for smaller cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Agriculture Committee said Friday he was working to get a budget agreement with smaller cuts in agriculture than the plan rejected by the Senate.

"We've been saying all along that we don't want to charge a heavy price if impact we have on the budget," said Rep. Robert Kildee, D-Mich.

Agriculture represents less than 1 percent of the total budget, but was asked to cut back $13 billion over five years to achieve 2.6 percent of the savings in a budget deal proposal. The House rejected the plan 234-179 early Friday.

De La Garza said his committee economists were working on ways to reduce "unnecessary" spending, but he was not specific.

Another member of the committee, Rep. George Brown Jr., D-Calif., said he expected the House would reduce the agriculture cut by about $2 billion, making it a $10 billion total reduction over five years.

Despite the size of the cuts in the original package, de la Garza and 16 members of the agriculture committee voted in favor of it. The remaining 25 of the 45-member committee opposed the proposal.

Agriculture Secretary Clayton Yeutter beat back the House for rejecting the $500 billion deficit-reduction package.

"Parochial interests overwhelmed the national interest," Yeutter said of the House vote.

About 300 sign up to evacuate Kuwait

WASHINGTON — About 300 Americans and foreign family members have signed up for an evacuation flight due to leave Kuwait next Wednesday, the State Department said Friday.

The passengers will arrive at Raleigh-Durham airport in North Carolina on Sunday after an overnight stay in London, deputy spokesman Richard Boucher said. The flight will go from Baghdad to Kuwait and then back to Baghdad before flying on to London.

Boucher declined to say how many of the 300 are Americans. That would be the first U.S. government-sponsored charter to evacuate Americans and their family members since Sept. 22.

Controversial exhibit closes in Boston

BOSTON — A traveling exhibit of Robert Mapplethorpe's photographs closed Friday, leaving in its wake an obscenity trial in Ohio, protests and a conservative attack on the National Endowment for the Arts.

But some say the famous photographs would have been politically naive to support their work.

"It has brought a lot of artists out of their studios to organize and demonstrate their own moral and political strength for the first time since the end of the Vietnam War," said David Greene, director of the Institute of Contemporary Art in Boston where the photos were exhibited.

Some inmates head for new sentencing

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — Many of the inmates on Death Row are headed back to new sentencing hearings in the state's already sluggish court system because of a U.S. Supreme Court ruling.

"It's not going to shut the system down. But anything with a death penalty attached to it takes more time and effort than those cases without the death penalty," said Phil Lepham, an assistant to state Attorney General Dave Froehlke.

The U.S. Supreme Court agreed Monday with the Oregon Supreme Court that three death sentences should be overturned.

The result is that many of the 23 men sentenced to death before the 1989 decision may qualify for new sentencing hearings.

Thompson said the students may be willing to compromise on their demand that 11 mayoral appointees to the 15-member board resign.

Arrests top 40 as hundreds riot over Japanese police corruption

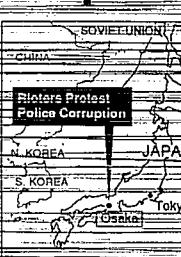

OSAKA, Japan (AP) - More than 1,000 people angered by police corruption took to the streets Friday night, burning barricades and putting riot troopers with firehoses and sticks in a crime-tainted neighborhood.

At least 10 people, including six police, have been injured in the violence that began Tuesday in the Nishinari district of Osaka, Japan's No. 2 city, more than 10 people have been arrested.

The scope of the violence is extremely unusual for Japan, where public issues rarely inflame passions to such a degree.

The rundown neighborhood is known for its streetwalkers, smokers and shabby hotels. Locals say there long have been bad feelings between the area's poor residents and police.

"Dogs of gangsters" come out, knelt down before us and apologized," a man screamed through a loudspeaker to police. "Don't you know how much hardship our daily laborers are going through? Why don't you try working at a construction site one day and you will probably realize how much we are abused by this society."

About 2,500 police carrying large metal shields were in position along main roads in Nishinari and in front of the district police station Friday night. Four vehicles equipped with water cannons guarded the station's main entrance.

Police used the water cannons repeatedly to disperse the more than 1,000 people confronting them. The crowd, which included day laborers from the district and young people from outside, scattered each time but then regrouped.

Large piles of burned vehicles and bicycles formed barricades and blocked traffic. Protesters threw fire bombs and rocks.

We are now starting to arrest the main figures, especially the ones who organized it," police said.

Police officials, speaking on condition of anonymity, said approval had been given to the riot police to use "minimal" force.

The situation is escalating," said a shopkeeper, who like most other merchants in the neighborhood closed and shattered his store in hopes of preventing a repeat of looting that occurred the previous night.

Rioting did not spread beyond the neighborhood, but it caused traffic tie-ups in parts of Osaka as police blocked off several major streets, and some rail service was disrupted.

The violence was touched off Tuesday by the arrest of a local policeman on suspicion of having taken $17,000 in bribes from two gangsters.

After hearing the news, mutual haters who longstanding grudges against police began massing around the police station. Authorities and residents said youth hooligans and leftists came from outside the district later joined the disturbance.

Renegade colonel surrenders to military after leading revolt renegade colonel who led a revolt on the Philippines' second-largest island surrendered after trying to sneak out of the military garrison he seized two days earlier, the military chief said Saturday.

Col. Alexander Noble surrendered unconditionally at 3 a.m. to Sen.

Aquino. Bimetal, Chief of Staff Gen. Renato de Villa said.

Government troops were rounding up Noble's followers "group by group," de Villa said. Noble and a companion were seized as they tried to slip out of Camp Evangelista in Cagayan de Oro, 500 miles south of here, he said. The base is located on Mindanao island.

De Villa said the situation in Cagayan de Oro had returned to normal. And he said Noble's followers in Butuan, 70 miles east of Cagayan de Oro, had surrendered. The report could not be immediately confirmed.

If the report is confirmed, it would be the seventh military rebellion during the 4th Infantry Division, before dawn Saturday but changed their minds and gave themselves up to Pimentel.

Pimentel, a former mayor of Cagayan de Oro, fled to the city on Friday to offer himself as a negotiator to end the crisis.

It was unclear how many of Nu-

ble's troops were already in custody.

De Villa said in a radio interview that "the rebels surrendered to priests, the church or any civilian they trust."

"I am warning Noble's other forces do not fight back because the situation is over," de Villa said. "Nothing will happen if they fight back."

He was apparently referring to mutineers in Iligan and elsewhere who declared their allegiance to Noble.

De Villa said he had also been contacted by the division commander, Brig. Gen. Miguel Sol. Sol disappeared soon after the takeover and was "temporarily relieved."

The 4th Infantry Division, based in Butuan, had withdrawn from the military camp at Butuan and tightened their noose around rebels held up at Camp de Oro.

Witnesses said about 200 mutineers abandoned a battalion-level quartier near Butuan 500 miles south of Manila after two government F-16s bombed and strafed the garrison. One rebel was wounded, witnesses said.

Manila radio station DZXL, reporting from Butuan, said the planes made more than 10 passes over the garrison and set several buildings on fire.

It was unclear how many of Nu-

ble's troops were already in custody.

Germany removes WW II allies' rights

BONN, Germany (AP) - Germany's Parliament on Friday formally ending 43 years of special rights by the World War II Allies.

Parliament also ratified plans for nationwide elections Dec. 1 by ap-makers, east parliamentarians, voting alongside colleagues from the West.

Some eastern newcomers seemed moved by the occasion, which came two days after East Germany and West Germany became one.

ing 512 representatives from the west, crowded into the Bundestag, a hundred-year-old stone hall housed part of Bonn's water system.

"We warmly welcome you to the waterworks," parliamentary president

Rita Stresmann joked in her new lawnmower.

On Thursday, the first all-German parliament met for its symbolic session in Berlin, capital of the new nation. Bonn is Germany's seat of Parliament.

The new 603-member Parliament's approval formally ends special rights conferred on the United States, the Soviet Union, France and Britain after the Allies defeated Nazi Germany in World War II.

Under the rights, the Allied powers controlled trustee powers over

Berlin and could veto any laws in the city. They also prohibited the West German Berlin Lithuanian from flying to Berlin because its planes would land in the Soviet-occupied part of Berlin.

The treaty was already signed in September, Sept. 12, by West and East Germany and the four Allies.

A broad majority of government and opposition lawmakers approved the new election law by a simple show of hands. The legislation replaces an election treaty that was rejected by the Soviet Union Sept. 29. The court said the old treaty gave unfair treatment to small parties.

The overruled treaty would have required a party to win 5 percent of the vote across Germany to earn a seat in the Bundestag.

The new law in effect sets up two separate election areas in Germany.

Lawmakers in former East Germany will have to receive 5 percent on their own lists, rather than polling that amount across the united country.

NEW YORK — Stock prices fell Friday, but the market managed to minimize the damage from an early sell-off that followed the rejection of a government budget plan.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials dropped 4.39 to 2,510.10, ending, reducing its gain for the week to 58.16 points.

Separately, the Labor Department issued monthly statistics showing an increase in the unemployment rate and a drop in nonfarm payroll em-

Savings bonds reach record

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sales of U.S. savings bonds totaled a three-year high of $7.77 billion in the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, the Treasury Department said Friday.

Boosting the total were sales of $544 million in September, a 3 percent advance over the amount sold in September 1979.

At the same time, redemptions in fiscal 1980 totaled $7.54 billion, a 1 percent drop from fiscal 1979.

The value of savings bonds held by Americans rose 7 percent during the year, finishing at an all-time record $123.9 billion.

Mackay overpowers Raft River

By Ron Goss
Times-News writer

MAIDA — The Mackay Miners used a balanced offensive show to put an early end to Raft River's hopes for the Magic Valley Conference football lead Friday.

The Miners started fast in the first quarter, but the Associated Press exploded for 20 third quarter points to end the game.

In posting a 34-0 shutout, Mackay's shutout of the Trojans accounted for the Miners' 19th and 20th second half points.

Brad Lambrian's 1-yard plunge four minutes before halftime capped a six-play 64-yard drive that began when Brad Fesler intercepted a Guy Heaton pass to get the Miners on board. James Duke ran in the conversion for an 8-0 lead.

The real damage started shortly after intermission. Lambrian, who finished with 135 yards passing took Mackay out to 14-0 with a 5-yard pass to Jace McNelly on the third play of the half. That same combination clicked in reverse to end the contest with 9:30 remaining. Lambrian lugged McNelly's pass 42 yards.

Before the period ended Lambrian accounted for three more passes for another score. Fittingly Lambrian's conversion pass to McNelly accounted for the Miners' 19th and 20th second half points.

Jerome's passing the difference in 21-0 shutout over Wood River

HAILEY — The air game proved the difference here Friday night when the Jerome Tigers kicked off the Wood River Wolverines 21-0.

The Tigers connected on a 52-yard pass early in the second quarter to take the lead. Later they turned two pass interceptions into second half touchdowns to nail down their South Central Idaho Conference victory.

The game opened during a strong windstorm that made it appear scoring would be low and put some special emphasis on Wood River's early field goal attempt from inside the Jerome 10-yard line. But senior Dave Yining blocked that and the Wolverines didn't have a serious a scoring threat again.

The score remained tied until the second quarter when Brett Waller hooked up with Rick Bishop for a 52-yard scoring home and Jerome White had the first of three extra points.

Jerome added some cushion on Jason Wilson's four-yard run in the third quarter. The last part of that drive coming on a 42-yard pass to Bishop.

After that Jerome picked up three touchdowns to protect the lead. Dan Sexton getting two of them. But it was a Matt Williams kickoff that set up the final touchdown.

Jerome 0 7 7 7-21
Wood River 0 0 0 0-0
Jerome 2 extra points (White 2)
Wilson 1 run (White 1)
White 2 extra points (White 2)

Mountain Home 34, Buhl 14

MTAIN HOME — Mountain Home staggered Buhl with three big plays and topped the Indians 34-14 in a South Central Idaho Conference battle.

The Tigers' home run hitting started on the first play of the game when John Manson went 72 yards on a quarterback option to Chad Hartshorne drilled the first of four conversions.

Buhl rallied back into a tie on a short touchdown run and conversion by Andy Yost. Mountain Home mulled that with an 11-yard keeper by Chavez.

Mountain Home's defense started making the plays. Bob Green made the first of four interceptions early in the second quarter but one that hurt came minutes later after Buhl had driven to the Mountain Home 27. At that point, Gene Watson picked off a pass and the Tigers were able to springboard to a 37-yard touchdown throw from Charles Chavez to Manson.

The crushing blow came in the third quarter as once again Buhl saw a deep penetration run out of downs inside the Mountain Home 20-yard line. On fourth down, the Indians tried a fake field goal but got a fumble. Mountain Home's Bud Covey snuffed up the miscue and stepped 15 yards. Chavez wrapped up the Mountain Home's scoring with a 13-yard run in the closing minutes.

The score remained tied until the second quarter when Brett Waller hooked up with Rick Bishop for a 52-yard scoring home and Jerome White had the first of three extra points.

Wood River 0 0 0 0-0
Jerome 2 extra points (White 2)
Wilson 1 run (White 1)
White 2 extra points (White 2)

Present Red Sox bear little resemblance to 1988 AL East champs

BOSTON (AP) — Forget the past. The Boston Red Sox are not the same team that Oakland swept in the 1988 American League playoffs.

"We have 16 players that we've acquired in the last two years," said

General Manager Lou Gorman, adding Friday that the Sox are prepared for Saturday's opening game against the Yankees.

"I've been here seven years and this is the third time we've been to the playoffs. This is the greatest."

"This is a major accomplishment just being where we are now. Nobody thought we had a chance to win our (Class) division. It's almost like a miracle. But we must be doing something right, too."

In losing to the Athletics in 1988, Boston used 20 players, ten longer on its 25-player roster and one second baseman, Marty Barrett, has lost his starting job.

The five newcomers acquired since the end of the 1989 season made little impact. They are relief ace Jeff Reardon, catcher Tony Pena, reliever Larry Andersen and outfielders Tom Brunansky and Mike Marshall.

However, Gorman and manager Joe Morgan don't overlook a few others completing their first full season with the club, including pitcher Greg Harris, reliever Jeff Lacy, picked up after being released by Philadelphia, and Dana Keecker, a 23-year-old rookie right-hander.

The ambitious thing about all this is that we won without giving up our future," Gorman said. "We looked for a starting pitcher for months, but other clubs wanted an arm and a leg in return."

We weren't sure he was ready when he pitched last Saturday against Toronto," Licer said. And Joe (Morgan) was ready for him, each time he threw his first warmup toss into the other bullpen.

Henderson plans on topping last year's AL championship MVP performance

BOSTON (AP)

He's badminton. Rickie Henderson, who suffered last year's American League play-off into a horror show for the Toronto Blue Jays, plans to put some fight into the Boston Red Sox this year.

"Last year was a star, but I'm going out with the attitude and the thought that I will have a better one (series)," the Oakland A's out-fielder said Friday.

That's asking a lot from the player who stole eight bases, homered twice, doubled, tripled, had 5 RBIs and hit .400 against Toronto in the 1989 AL playoffs. Henderson seemed to be involved in every critical play and was unanimous selection as the series' MVP.

Henderson is the Oakland player feared most by Boston manager Joe Morgan.

"He can do about anything he wants," Morgan said. "We've just got to keep him off the bases."

The postseason agreed with Henderson.

"I like this time," he said. "You can just skip the whole season and say, 'We're going to just play the playoffs and the World Series. I think I would enjoy it, have a vacation in the summertime."

It's exciting. All eyes are on you in the postseason. When I was home watching the playoffs, it gave me a chance to see all the players I'd never seen."

Playing under the spotlight has become a common occurrence for Henderson, who broke Ty Cobb's American League record for career stolen bases this year and is only two steals shy of Lou Brock's all-time record.

"It's great for their job and I'm hoping for it to be that way."

This guy doesn't play one game, even in spring training, when the other team isn't trying to get him out, and if he gets on base, stop him," Oakland manager Tony La Russa said. "He goes through this all the time. He plays under the microscope, so he's tested."

Henderson thrives in pressure situations.

"You saw it last year," La Russa said. "He's alone that during the regular season, and there's a tendency to take that for granted. There are a lot of pressure games in April, May, June and July when these guys not just Rickey, come through to win games and it's just another day in the office." Today's postponement, so remember, is important. Rickey has come through under pressure all season."

Henderson is running off his best season, having previously won the AL batting title to Kansas City's George Brett with a career-high .325 average while squelching a record-best 20 home runs.

Henderson brushed aside suggestions that he might have a big series in order for Oakland to win.

"I don't look upon it like I've got to go out and get the fire going," he said. "I think the whole team has to look up to one another and get the fire going.... We don't depend on one guy."

It's right, goes to their job and I have a one-game and we win the game, I'll be happy."

Still, another series like the one against Toronto would be with Henderson.

"They say the second time around is better," Henderson said. "I'm hoping for it to be that way."

Daniel's hole-in-one caps sizzling 63

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — said Sheehan. "When I saw her climbing up my back, I knew I had to 'keep going' and make a lot of birdies out there."

Daniel's 63, her career best, in the tour, matched the course record and LPGA season best.

Sheehan, seeking to overtake Daniel on top of the LPGA winnings list this year, turned in a 63, 332-yard Killeen Country Club.

A four-time PGA Tour winner but still mostly blank this year, Jones shot a 64, Thursday on the under-63 for a two-round total of 132. Daniel, who held a one-point lead in Player of the Year competition going into the tournament, is at 134.

"Both was my fuel to the fire," sheehan said. "I'm not going to try and get right back in it today. I didn't anticipate that."

Nancy Lopez, Missie McGeorge and Joan Johnson were tied in third place at 137, five back of Sheehan.

McGeorge, in spite of her first-round 70, shot a 68 while Lopez, a non-exempt player who just got into the tournament Monday, shot a 69.

Ayako Okamoto withdrew, recorded a 70.

Lopez, who won her first tournament two weeks ago at 67—Friday while playing with Sheehan.

"I can't remember having a streak like that," said Daniel. "To hole-in-one can happen."

Jones clashed six shots from the rough, but she had a 63.

From side-to-side, she had a chunky-free spirit out of Southern California, but she had a few colorless, half-and-occasional prize money.

Waldorf, whose four best wins this year came in the first three tournaments, had a 63.

I did a few things right on that hole and still made a bogey," he said.

It's not a hole-in-one, though, he said.

"I love it," Waldorf, 28, said of his position, but pointed out that he won't be chasing Jones or anyone else into the final two rounds.

Injury-plagued BYU sees bvc as heaven-sent

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The usually ranked Brigham Young Cougars, with Hammer-hopped Tex Detmer's passing hand in a cast and injuries plaguing other key positions, sees its weekend's bye as heaven-sent.

It's been 10 of him now, Coach LaVell Edwards, who's seen his battered Cougars from a 32-16 upset by Oregon last week and prepare for resumption of Western Athletic Conference play Oct. 13 against Colorado State.

Prior to the department in Eugene, BYU was 0-2 to its best start since undefeated 1988 national championship season. The Oregon loss and injuries turned Saturday's open date from an annoyance to a blessing.

"Usually when you're playing well, which we did most of September, you like to keep going," Edwards said. "But I think it probably came at a good time. We are kind of beat up a little bit."

Prior to the Oregon game, BYU's coaching staff kept secret the junior quarterback's injury, a painful joint sprain sustained Sept. 9 against Washington State. In an effort to rest the hand, Detmer didn't practice the week before.

It showed. Detmer threw five interceptions — two of them in the touch end zone. The number of fumbled passes matched the total interceptions he'd had in the Cougar first four games combined, including a victory over defending national-champ Miami.

"Maybe I was a little tentative on some throws and didn't get the rotation — but it's hard to say that had any real effect on it at all," Detmer said. "I think missing a week of practice hurt more than anything."

Edwards also was reluctant to blame Detmer's injury for the loss.

"It's possible it caused a couple of those balls to hang up there. But I think the fact that he hadn't thrown the week before had more to do with it," the coach said.

Team doctors are doing everything possible to heal Detmer's hand. Twice a day, he is subjected to electrostimulation, ultrasound, hydrotherapy, hot-cold treatments and massage. Detmer's also squeezing a sponge ball to strengthen his grip.

Detmer is better, but still sore. Detmer said after throwing a few short passes in the BYU training room Thursday, "it just needs a little more rest," he said.

Detmer plans to resume throwing in practice on Monday, and players hope his self-quarantine timing and accuracy will be back. But Detmer's hand isn't his only worry.

Right tackle Mike Johnson, who has a knee receiver and blocker, underwent arthroscopic knee surgery on Monday. Guards Michael Carter, Leavins and Taylor for the season with a neck injury, team officials said Friday.

White junior Scott Grier has been benched from what would have been a 32nd year to replace Leavins. Smith is expected to be back in the lineup when CSU visits Provo next weekend.

Also returning will be junior defensive back Tony Cutchfield, who was X-rayed following the Oregon game.

"He's back and healthy to the ribs," Edwards said. "He'll be fine. He'll be back next week."

The Cougars also will mark the return of defensive coordinator Dick Felt, sidelined following open-heart surgery Aug. 29. He resumed working with the Cougar secondary this week.

Meanwhile, Detmer is taking his injury in stride. When he's not undergoing therapy, the avid hunter has headed for the Utah mountains in search of elk. The cast stays on his elbows, but his trigger finger was intentionally left free.

Missing practice is bad enough, he says, but missing the hunting season?

"That would be 10 times as bad," Detmer laughed. "A bad day of hunting is better than a good day of school."

Florida out to prove they're SEC's best team

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The wins it on the field and keep it in our Southeastern Conference champs' hearts in the heat of our lives. It's out of reach for unbeaten Florida, but the Oldest Program, No. 1 in the regular season, is determined to prove they're the under former coach Galen Hall's best team. They've lost the lead this year's team out of the league's best conference, though, and for the conference title, and our own, it's comeback time. The Gators (4-0, 2-0 in the SEC), Richard Fair said, "Even if we can't re-evaluate their goals after an win the SEC on paper, we can still successful attempt to negotiate a swap of sanctions, and Saturday night's game against Louisiana State change its mind." It's the team's first under reassessed priorities. Spurrier said their players are missing much about their played objectives. With seven games remaining, we've just got to try to have a best year we can," coach Steve Florida State, No. 3 Auburn and No. 5 LSU. "We've got plenty to play for. Nobody's upset. . . . Results capable of beating or losing heavily, we knew it was just a game — any opponent on the schedule.

17 report to beginning of Jazz training camp

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Seventeen players, ranging from millionaire veterans to rookies hoping for a break, reported Friday for the beginning of the Utah Jazz Training Camp.

As drills began at Westminster College, Jazz Coach Jerry Sloan was keeping an especially sharp eye on Jeff Malone, acquired from the Washington Bullets in an off-season trade.

"Malone is 'All Star' power forward," Karl Malone may have a gap in the Jazz lineup — that of a developing smaller, quicker line-up, aided considerably by acquisition of the 6-foot-4 Jeff Malone. Sloan wants to look at an unit including a three-guard attack — possibly made up of Stockton, Edwards and Malone at guards, with Thurl Bailey and Karl Malone inside. Included in the group of guards in camp is 6-6 Andy Tyoson of Twin Falls and Brigham Young University.

In the back of my mind I have an idea of how they'll fit in with each other over an 82-game period. We'll try to get the right people to work on the floor. That's the expectations I have," the coach said.

Some observers say that with Jeff Malone joining Stockton in the front court, the Jazz will finally have an offense that can match a perennially tough defense.

But Sloan, though optimistic, keeps his commentary non-committal. "You don't want to over-rate your team, but you have to look at it from an objective standpoint," he said. "You don't want to put pressure on yourself, but our team played abusively as well as we can play last year."

"You have to forget last year," he said. "But when you look on paper, we have a chance to do great things."

Which brings us to this year. Sloan said, "We have to look at it from an objective standpoint. And help clear up is the role of the second-year players. The second-year players played mostly at small forward last year, though he was that."

originally touted as oil-guard material.

With the acquisition of Jeff Malone and the resigning of Darrell Griffith last spring, Edwards may see more time at forward this season.

The Jazz also will experiment with a developing smaller, quicker line-up, aided considerably by acquisition of the 6-foot-4 Jeff Malone. Sloan

The camp also will give Stockton a chance to show the public the 24-year-old rookie Walter Palmer. Dark-moukie tentatively slated for duty as a small forward, he also could see duty as backup to 7-foot center Mark Eaton.

One question remains unanswered: answer is, how the Jazz will fare by playing a 24-point-per-game season.

Stockton, Edwards and Malone are flying to Japan for two regular-season games against the Phoenix Suns ... for the most part.

Which brings us to this year. Sloan said, "We have to look at it from an objective standpoint. And help clear up is the role of the second-year players. The second-year players played mostly at small forward last year, though he was that."

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Rockets owner Charles Thomas said, covered a lot of ground Friday, the club's No. 1 pick reiterating he's not trying to sell the Rockets' first-round draft pick.

Dave Jameson is asking for too many bonus clauses, and he expects to add a National Hockey League franchise to his sports empire.

In order:

- Thomas issued a statement last month saying he was considering an offer for the Rockets that was in excess of $100 million. He said Friday that deal never materialized.

"A lot of people are interested but when it gets down to buying something that actually is not for sale and is probably overpriced, then you eliminate 99 of people," Thomas said.

If someone offered me $100 million, I'd have to listen, I thought it had happened two months ago but it didn't. I had an indication I would have a firm offer in excess of $100 million. I let's talk. When we talked about the terms of the offer we were incapable of reaching an agreement," Thomas said.

He and former Rockets president Ray Patterson have applied for an NHL expansion franchise for the 1997 season.

"There's been an support here for the Rockets so I don't know why we would negotiate it [hockey]," Thomas said. Asked how it would feel to be the owner of an NBA and NHL franchise, Thomas said, "I hope it would be twice the fun."

Thomas purchased the Rockets in 1982 for $10 million.

Thomas sees a bright future for the NHL in Houston.

He and former Rockets president Ray Patterson have applied for an NHL expansion franchise for the 1997 season.

"There's been an support here for the Rockets so I don't know why we would negotiate it [hockey]," Thomas said. Asked how it would feel to be the owner of an NBA and NHL franchise, Thomas said, "I hope it would be twice the fun."

Having the two sports in town would not be a drain on the sports dollar," Thomas said.
