Republicans-can't-wait for Clinton to self-destruct

If Republicans are hoping that the spiraling cycle of scandal in the Clinton White House will elect bob Dole in November, they may be in for a long four years.

And so may the rest of us. So we have the second of th

Clinton has responded with a fog of subterfuge and Republican-sounding me-ton-ism, while the best the engressional Democrats could manage was a wish list of yet more expensive programs.

This ought to be the election in which Republicans build a majority that will last for a generation. But that's simply not going to happen unless they make some fundamental changes in strategy:

The GOP must follow Dole's advice and take seriously every point of view in the party on this bitterfy divisive subject.

I encourage everyone to read the Supreme Court's opinion in the Colorado case. It is only six pages long, unambiguously written and is a forthright statement of the basic principles of fatientse embodied in our Constitution. Unless the ICA initiative passes, your local public library can probably help you get a copy of the opinion.

In addition to misrepresenting the Supreme Court's opinion, Johannsen mis-leads the public about the Idaho initiative. Sic writes that "the word 'official' precedes each mention of government, tax-payer-funded policy and public school" in the initiative. Has she read the initiative lately? Her

I normally do not write letters to newspapers because it is about as effective as I guarantee every other state proposed to be "dumped" on will fight in court forever on this issue.

So why is Idaho rolling over and playing dead on an issue so vital to the future health of this state?

I have always thought of my fellow Idahoans as being tough, independent thinkers. Instead, we seem to have turned into complete marshmallows.

If we can get the nuclear waste issue on the ballot, at least Cov. Batt must exist the ballot, at least Cov. Batt must exist to good for our state.

tions, inviting reporters, to come to mancher news conference on Tuesday.

Instead, Zyuganov outlined a vague proposal that if elected he would first call for the signing of a "part of national accord" among states. Then, he said, he would create a council made up of many political, economic, religious and othnic forces that would create a coulition government. One-third of the coalition government. One-third for the "current government" and one-third from others.

Zyuganov's proposal was the lact signal from the Communist that they are, worried about their inability to expand their con-stituency, which is essential if they are to defeat Yellsen. Zyuganov won 24.2 million votes in the first million pared to 26.6 million for Yeltsin. To win, he must cape for the 23.7 million voters the cast their 23.7 million voters who cast their ballots for neither of them. Yeltsin made a bold pitel for these centrists last week by appointing the third-place finish-er, retired Lt. Gen: Alexander Lebed, to a top Kremlin security post and by firing some hawkish lieutenants.

THE ACES ON BRIDGE Bobby Wolff

"On the neck of the young man sparkles no gem so gracious as enterprise."

- Hafiz

"How did they make four spades on board seven?" asked an incredulous teammate. "Did you get off to a silly heart lead instead of a club?"

get off in a silly heart lead instead of a club?"
"No, nothing silly," was the calm reply. "I made the normal club lead, but he found the winning line anyway. Call it enterprise if you wish, but he did find the winning line anyway. Call it enterprise if you wish, but he did find the control of the control

Michael Johnson won his 53rd straight final at 400 meters, an unbeaten streak that straight final in the 200.

The U.S. trials set the stage for Johnson to attempt his unprecedented double. His summer at the Atlanta Games. He seeks to become the first man to win the 200 and 400 in an Olympics, a feat he accomplished at the world championships last year.

The United States is capable of sweeping the men's 200 this summer, with world championship bronze medalist Jeff Williams (20.03 seconds on Sunday) and 1992 Olympic gold medalist Mike Marsh (20.04) joining Johnson on the learn.
