"Spike-only is attractive because we can still offer an open-hunt opportunity to shoot an elk every year," Palmer said.

"We've got it very comfortable down here," Palmer said. This year, roughly 14,000 hunters applied for the 2,500 elb permits issued in the Magic Valley region "and the balance are what we're passing off to other parts of the state."

That could change, Smith said, adding: "We can absorb a few more."

adding: "We can absorb a tew more."

Even if more permits aren't granted in the Magic Valley region, the odds of drawing one could diminish if displaced hunters begin to apply here.

Maintaining adequate numbers-of mature bulls benefits the general elk population because they typically breed before the end of September, while younger bulls often breed up to one month later. The upshot is that cows bred by mature bulls tend too which gives them and their offspring more time to fatten up for the following winter.

Getting voters to understand such a complex issue requires a lot of education, she said.

"We had neither the time or the money," she said.

The outcome showed voters are confident in Batt's ability to make decisions for the people of Idaho on difficult issues, said Amy Rleiner.

Kleiner – who worked for a pollitical activist group, Get the Waste Out, opposing the initiative – is back in her job as Bart's press secretary. She had left that job about sk weeks ago to work for Get the Waste Out and is back on the public payroll.

People had time to study the issue, and became rusigned that he agreement offers some protection, whereas the initiative left the future a little more uncertain, Kleiner said.
"I don't think there was much confusion at the end," she said.

Kimberly, said he thought voters listened carefully and agreed that the best way to get waste out of Idaho and to keep waste from coming to Idaho was to support the governor's agreement. That doesn't mean people are not concerned about cleanup, he said. People still want strong oversight and extive enforcement of the agreement, he said. But Arkoob said people didn't have enough information before Tuesday's election. They might have voted to vaid the agreement if they had hown about its plan to build a plant to treat radioactive and hazardous wastes, she said.

Lockheed Martin, which carmed S21.7 million in profits from operating INEL last year, is well aware of its responsibilities to Batt and the people of Idaho, spokesman Nick Nichols said.

The company is serious aboutmeeting the requirements of the agreement, he said - not just because its required legally, but also because its require thing to do.

"We're going to go about it in a responsible way," Nichols said.

The governor's agreement allows 1,133 shipments of highly radioactive spent reactor fuel into the state for storage at INEL over the next four decades. The agreement also blocks any waste from commercial power plants, Bart says.

In return, the Energy Department-agreed-to-e-courtenforced timetable for getting much of the waste stored at INEL treet and road ready for removal no a permanent disposal site elsewhere by 2035. Officials say the chances of opening such as tie for spent rule are less than 50-50.

The initiative may have failed at the polls, but the issue is far from dead. It helped raise awareness of nuclear waste with a lot of people. And it's been a long time since there has been an in-depth discussion of operations at the INEL, Douglas said.

"This is a genie they're not going to be able to put back in a lifetime to say 'I told you so.'"

WASHINGTON (AP) — Their ranks thinned by the voters, the fierce House Republican freshmen of 1994 say there will be changes in the new Congress but no surrendering their conservative agenda of less government.

"Voters liked the direction we were headed, but what we heard was, go more incrementally," Rep. Mark Souder, R.Ind., said Thursday after being easily reelected to a second term.

From Maine to California, 12 of the 70 House GOP freshmen seeking re-election were defeated Tuesday with a 13th — Rep. Jim Bunn, Rore. — trailing in an undecided contest. Several officers survived the political near-death experiences of extremely close races, including Rep. Jon Fox, R.Pa., who says he now calls himself "Landslide" after unofficial returns gave him a 10-vote victory out of 240,000 cast.

Though a lawmaker's first re-election contest is historically the toughest, the freshmen's attrition rate more than tripled the 5 percent rate at which all House incumbents lost on Tuesday.

CIA worker pleads guilty to child porn

WASHINGTON — A former Cla employee pleaded guity Thursday to federal child pornography and conflict of interest charges, the Justice Department said.

David C. Miller, 54, of suburban McLean, Va., admitted that he downloaded promographic images — some with children under 18—onto a government computer he had taken home when he was on detail to the National Reconnaissance Organization.

Miller also admirted in U.S. District Court in Alexandria, Va., that he had arranged for a bunkrupt friend to be hired by a government contractor under contracts he supervised. At the time, the friend owed Miller and his wife $18,500 and had no other means to repay the money.

Reno calls for review of guest screening

WASHINGTON — The government needs to re-examine the way it checks the backgrounds of people invited to the White House. Attorney General Janet Rono said Thursday. In the weeks before Tuesday's elections, Republicans attacked the Climon administration for letting a convicted felon — Democratic Party contributor Jorge Cabrera — attend a White House function in 1995. Although the Republicans had contended that Cabrera was a convicted drug dealer, he was not found guilty on drug charges until this year.

A lot of work brings quality manufacturer to the valley

The selection of Twin Falls by an Illi-

The selection of Twin Falls by an Illinois-based plastics company appears to be undiluted good news. Like any good marriage, friendship or business deal, the match between Clear Shield National Inc. and the Magic Valley should be good for both sides.

What's in it for the community? Jobs, of course, As many as 150 people will earn good wages and benefits at Clear Shield.

But what counts most isn't the number of jobs, but the kind.

Some people disapprove of growth in our community; and they ask why local leaders spend time and money recruiting new industries. The fact is, though, our population keeps growing with or without recruitment.

So it's essential to our growing economy stay healthy. Our retail sector is growing rapidly, but a community does not live by service jobs alone. We need to broaden our traditional agricultural base with stable, well-plaid jobs in environmentally clean industries.

Clear Shield, which molds plastic into eating utensils and drinking straws, is exactly that kind of industry. Its multimillion-dollar payroll will support several dozen families, whose buying power will benefit everyone who sells goods and services locally. What's in it for Clear Shield? All the things that make Twin Falls attractive to the rest of us. Our community is obviously a good place to live and work. More to the point, Idaho has some key features that make it attractive to manufacturers.

A conservative, pro-business political environment.

Take stand against abortion

Abortion is wrong. If people are so worried about animals' right to live, what about humans? The president should make a law against it. Babies aren't just some 'thing' inside a woman. They are living human beings! Babies deserve the right to live.

Women deciding to have abortions should have an ultrasound to see what they are killing. It is estimated that some 25 percent of all human pregnancies terminate spontaneously in abortion, with three out of four abortions occurring turing the first three months of pregnancy. We need to take a stand against abortion.

Agents played games while military searched

SEOUL, South Korea — While 60,000 South Korean soldiers hunted for North Korean spies who slipped ashore from a submarine, two of the infiltrators were playing video games at a ski marine, two of the infiltrators were playing viaco games at a paresort.

The pair went on to take pictures of key military installations, and killed three civilians and a army private while reaming the countryside for weeks.

The disclosures, emerging from diaries and rolls of film found on the two spies when they were caught and killed this week, provided a new dose of humiliation Thursday for South Korea's military.

Authorities have been accused of bungling the bloody hunt for Soyles from the sub, which ran aground off South Korea on Sept. 18. Twenty-four have been killed or found dead, one was captured and one remains at large.

HIV infection spreading in Russia

MOSCOW — Russia is facing an AIDS epidemic, with the number of people testing positive for the HIV virus more than quadrupling this year, a Russian health official said Thursday.

About 800 new cases have been registered so far this year, compared to 190 in all of 1905, Lrina Savchenko, an epidemiologist at the Russian Center against AIDS, told the Interfax news agency.

She said as many as 560 of the new cases were intravenous drug users who likely became infected by sharing needles.

According to official statistics, 1,925 people in Russia, including 282 children, have been registered as having AIDS since-1987-and-163-of-them-had-died-by-early-November-Actual-figures are believed to be considerably higher.

GOODING - An elderly man with dementia, now at Gooding Rehab and Living Center; has outlived all of his friends, family and loved ones. He has no one who can oversee his care, said Social Service Director Tambra Hellwinkel.

He needed clothing recently, so the center had a yard sale with all proceeds going to a clothing fund for the man, Hellwinkel said. The center's employees have a lot of love and genuine concern for the man and other residents, slie said.

cern for the man and other residents, site suid.

The man has no Social Security and no future means of support, she said. His ranch was sold to pay his debts.

He needed a flu shor recently, and there was no one to give the OK, according to Hellwinkel. That rincident made her realize that Gooding Living and Rehab Center needed a volunteer Board of Guardians, she said.

"We have a couple of other residents who have nobady to make decisions for themselves," she said. "Saidly enough; they are unable to do so for themselves, so I am trying to form a volunteer Board of Guardians."

And she is lookine for villing belong.

And she is looking for willing helpers.
State law says that a resident has the right to have someone other than a care center oversee his or her treatment, said Hellwinkel.

"This could be anybody, somebody who cares," she said. "This person could be a spouse, an adult child, a parent, a relative or anyone nominated by the person to assist them in decision making."

A. According to Hellwinkel, anybody who wants to give of their time can assist patients with important decisions, regarding resident care, medication changes, physical and medical changes and, ultimately, plans for treatment and quality of care.

Hellwinkel has a problem in forming a volunteer Board of Gundians – few people like to volunteer their time for free, and at least five volunteers are needed, she said. There is no money available to provide a stipend or even help with guardians' trayel expenses, she said.

According to Janice Stone, ombudsman at the Office on Aging, a volunteer guardian can be appointed only when there is no one else to do the job, and the guardian has a responsibility to art in the residents' best interest.

This means there should be no risky or reacculative financial investments.

Proposed changes being considered include reducing the number of tavern licenses; creating a new license designed for restaurants that want to serve beer; limiting the number of restaurants and private clubs that serve liquor based on population statistics rather than on the number of beer licenses in use; creating a new license for microbreweries, or possible Sunday beer sales. Opponents contend that liberalizing Logan's alcohol laws would be a danger to the community.

But Jerome County Deputy Prosecuting Attorney J.B., Lothspeich on Wednesday advised the fair board against applying for a beer license.

There would be a conflict of interest in owning a license because the county can grant a license because the county can grant a finense, he said. There would be great liability if arminor was drinking, or 11 an intoxicated—person had an accident, and having a beer license would put the county in a very bad position, he said.

Les Bois has pulled out of the "simulcatt" business ar the fairgrounds. Three years ago Les Bois, the horse-racing track in Boise, energed into a contract with the Jerome County Fair Board. Les Bois leased space in the lean-to addition of the fairgrounds' merchant building, installed video monitors and started a simulcast pari-mutuel wagering business.

video monitors and started a simulcast parimutuel wagering business.

The simulcast is a closed-circuit television broadcast of horse races around the country. People bet on the races, then watch those races on video monitors at the Jerome fairgrounds.

Les Bois had hired Diane Pratt to manage the Jerome Racing Association. In April Les Bois pulled out, leaving Pratt in charge, without notifying the fair board. As of April 15, Pratt took over paying the bills. Pratt said she can run the racing association until the end of the year. Then she will decide what she wants to do.

The fair board asked Pratt to get a letter from Les Bois officially terminating the arrangement with the Jerome fair. The letter is to include what equipment and improvements belong to the fair. The board needs the document before entering into a contract with Fratt.

Interagency Grizzly Bear Study Team.

Last year, they spotted only 16 sows with cubs. That was the lowest number since 1989 and may have resulted partly from poor weather and scarce food. Flying conditions were poor in 1985, making it difficult to spot bears. This year, flying conditions were better and it was a good year for most production, meaning bears could be counted because they spent more time in open areas eating those moths. While good cub production is good news for the bears, a single year doesn't mean much, Knight was cleaned to the search of the search of

Man shot, killed by off-duty officer

BOISE (AP) — An investigation was being conducted Thursday after a man was shot and killed by an off-dury Boise police detective.

Boise Police Lt. Jim Tibbs said 20-year-old Ryan Matthew Hennessey was killed late Wednesday night after driving recklessly and fleeing from a detective who had been workering security at the Neil Diamond concert. Tibbs refused to identify the detective. It was the third shooting, by a Boise police officer this year. Is this the way she has always behaved?

If the answer is no, she may be due for an evaluation by her physician to determine if she is still capable of handling her financial affairs. If a medical examination confirms that her memory lapses are severe, the family lawyer should be consulted to ensure that she cannot be taken advantage of financially.

Funkmeister George Clinton to perform at The Mint Wednesday night

HALLEY — Before hip-hop there was disco, and before disco there was funk.

And before funk, there was, George Clinton. Famous for his floppy hat, mile-high platform shees and spooship descending to the stage at his concerts. Chron was the Captain Outrageous of the 708 — as defaulty counter cultural is any hippic you ever met.

Best evidence is that Clinton, who'll perform Wednesday night with the Pfunk All'Stars at The Mint, hata't mellowed much.

All 56, he's produced Red Hot Chill Peppers albums and mid-

Headless Heads end years of silence with 'No Talking'

Jerry Harrison has figured out the hardest part about reuniting with Chris Frantz and Tina Weymouth as the Heads discussing the absence of David Byrne. "It's driving me cravy," says Harrison, 46, rubbing his head and pacing the patie of Frantz and Weymouth's Westport, Conn.; honte.

Yet, there it is.

Conn., horie.
Yet, there it is.
Byrne was the nervous, memorable front man for the group, from its beginnings in 1975 to its ignoble end in 1991.
Since the Talking Heads' last alhum, 1988' "Maked," Byrne and the others have indulged in solo efforts — Frantz and Weymouth in the Tom Tom Club and a series of production chores, Harrison in Casual Gods and his own series of album production, Byrne in a series of solo albums and art projects.
But the other three always felt the Talking Heads would get back together at some point, at least "in the first few years of our Harrison signs of the Talking Heads would get with the signs of the transfer of the Weymouth, 45. "We knew it wasn't going to happen when David refused to come to meetings with us. He'd send his lawyer instead."

So when the three started jamming informally two years ago, they were struck with how much of the old band's sound they quite naturally generated, even apart from the lyricist and lead singer. "It really sounded like the Talking Heads," Harrison says, 'yet it had a 'Ne quality, too, it's not like a started to the started of t ety of different, mostly famous lyricists and singers. The results will be issued Tuesday on MCA Records, "No Talking Just Head," the first in what might be several projects for the newly constituted Heads.

—The Heads, who also got into some legal wrangling with Byrne (now settled) is more than a New Wave Creedence Clearwater Revisited, a nostalgia outfit touring without singer John Fogerty. It's more akin to Wire, the British punk group that changed its name to Wir after one member dropped out.

punk group that changed its name to Wir after one member dropped out.

"Chris, Tina and I had played in Talking Heads for a long time," Harrison says. "We had each done solo projects, so it wasn't like starting over."

Yet, he says, "he had to find a middle ground that reflected where we came from but also about something new."

The list of new vocalists filled the bill. On the album are Johnette Napolitaino, formerly of Concrete Biontle, Debbie Harry, Richard Hell; Andy Partridge of NNS; Maria McKeo; Shaun Ryder of Black Grape, Gordon Guno of Violent Femmes; Ed Koválczyk of Live; and a spokenword artist, Malin Ameteg.

DeLores Tucker, chairwoman of the National Political Congress of Black Women, and former federal drug czar William Bennett, a co-director of Empower America. Tucker, Bennett and other rap critics, including Republican presidential candidate Bob Dole, have decried the music's explicit sexual and violent lyrics, (Neither Tucker, no Bennett was available.

Tucker nor Bennett was available for comment on the MCA move.) Shakur's most recent album,

"All Eyez on Mc," was released in February and distributed by. PolyGram in a deal that was nego-inted-before Interscope-became-albied with McA. Shakur's earlier albums, all of which have returned to the bestseller list-since his death Sept. 13, are now distributed by EMI Music.

Unlike Time Warner, all the other major record distributors are foreign-owned, leaving them less vulnerable to political pressures in this country, (McA is owned by the Canada-based Seagrams Co). All five of McA's competitors are releasing and/or distributing rap or rock music that has been branded as offensive by Tucker and Bennett.

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C. - Hale Irwin, aiming for a money title along with the Senior Tour Championship, used on-target irons and steady play for the first-round lead Thursday with a S-under-par 67. Irwin, the Tour's rookie of the year last season and its money leader heading into the final tournament, had a one-stroke lead, over Vincente Fernandez and Blob Charles, who dropped from first with a bogey at No. 18.

Mike Hill, the Tour Championship winner in 1990 and 1991, was at 3-under 69, along with Jay Sigel. Defonding champion Jim Colbert, Lee Trevino, John Bland and Larry Gilbert were next with 70s.

Irwin steadily moved from tee to green, Irwin steadily moved from tee to green, putting his approach shots inside a 10-foot circle all day.

"I don't want to sit here and say it was boring," said Irwin, who has won $1,572,894 this season, "But it was a very solid round. Not a lot of spectacular holes-in-one, knocking it in for eagles or that kind of stuff. It was just the kind of round I wanted to play."

The gambling charges? hit Boston College, a Jesuit school with a solid candemic reputation, as the football team prepared to play to host arch-rival Notre Dame, ranked 17th, on Saturday.

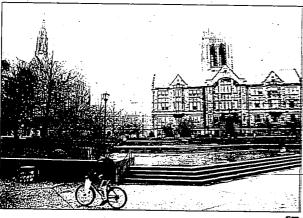

"People are imad," said Megan. Keddy, a sophomore from Hanover, Mass. "This is the biggest game of the season. All over the country, that's what they'll be talking about."

At BC, even those who don't follow sports said the football program affects the university's image and ability to recruit students. Boston College is the only NCAA Division 1-A football school in New England.

"When Doug Flutie was here, it was the defining thing for BC. Academics is never an interest. They then the compared to aports," and they compared to aports, and they compared to a compa

Scary thought: Steelers' pass rush vs. Bengals' line

Bengals up in a single-wing tor-mation.

If he doesn't figure out how to slow down the Pittsburgh Steelers' pass rush Sunday, the result won't be funny. When they played Oct. 13 in Pittsburgh, the Steelers had 10 sacks and Jeff Blake was twisted around like a corkscrew.

Now he has a new contract and leads the NFL in field goal accuracy. He has never missed an extra point kick in 85 attempts and is on track to set a franchise record for accuracy.

"It's been a rough road for me. It was hard trying to get some-body to pay attention to me and say, Hey Cary it's your job,' and let me go at it," Blanchard said.
"The Colts gave me the opportunity to show what I could do, and I'm trying to do the best I can with it."

nity to show what I could do, and I'm trying to do the best I can with it."

Blanchard joined the Colts after plenty of rejection notices. A three-time All-Big Eight selection at Oklahoma State, Blanchard signed his first NFL contract as a free agent with Dallas in 1991. He has also been on the rosters of Minnesota, New Orleans and the New York Jets."

He made his first NFL kick with the Jets in 1992 when he played in only 11 games. He topped the Jets in Scoring with 65 points and 82 points the following the 1994 secan began.

He signed with the Colts on Oct. 3 last year following cross-country auditions that took him to eight cities.

Blanchard has made 21-of-23 attempts this year. His misses were from 42 and 46 yards and both struck the upright. In two seasons, he has made 40-of-47 kicks. The 851 mark is the highest in franchise history for a kicker with more than 30 attempts.—Blanchard is quick to credit his—success to holder Chris Gardocki and long snapper Bradford Banta.
"I feel good I have great confidence that Chris and Banta will do their job, so I just have to concentrate on mine," said Blanchard, whose 913 mark in field goals this year is the highest in field goals this year is the highest of the property of the prop field goals this year is the highest among those with more than 15-attempts.

Still, there's some disappointment over his team's current, skid. Indianapolis (5-4) has lost three straight and four of its last tive games, a streak it hopes to end at Miami (4-5) on Sunday.

"I can kick seven field goals in a game, but if we don't win I'd go home feeling disappointed," Blanchard said, "I'd like to see, the team get more touchdowns so I wouldn't have to kick as much." Confidence is the key to a kicker's success, Blanchard says.

He's kicked three winning field goals for the Colts, including a 43-yarder at Dallas with 51 seconds left in September.

And he welcomes having opponents call a timeout in at attempt to rattle him before a crucial kick.

"Ir helps me out. If they call a timeout, it gives a kicker more time to think about what he's doing, calm himself down," Blanchard said. "It becomes like what you do in practice, you're able to go at your own speed when the play begins."

Texaco suspends officers over charges

NEW YORK — Texaco Chairman Peter Bijur Thursday said he is suspending two executives following allegations that they con-spired to desrong evidence in a racial discrimi-nation suit filed by company employees in 1994.

Bijur also is considering taking steps to cut the benefits of two retired employees alleged to have been involved in the incident.
"We denounce this behavior in the strongest possible terms," Bijur said at a news conference Thursday.
"This attitude represents a profound contempt for the law and Texaco's values and policies."

Based on what he heard in the tapes, he said he decided to suspend Peter Meade, Texaco's assistant general manager for fuel and marine marketing, and J. David Keough, chief financial officer of Heddington Insurance Ltd., a Texaco subsidiary.

At the time of the incident Meade was director of cash management in Texaco's inance department. Keough had been working as Texaco's assistant treasurer.

Meade and Keough are being suspended with pay pending the outcome of the company's investigation as Texaco policy dictates.

Byjur said Texaco will implement a five-step program "to erace a workplace free of prejudice" and to loster greater career opportunities for women and minorities.

"This is a time of reflection," he said.

Health Systems Inc. income rises

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) — A surge in managed health care enrollment helped Health Systems International Inc. post a 42 percent jump in net income during the third quarter.
HISI serves health plan members in California, Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, New Jersey, New Mexico, Pennsylvania, Oregon and Washington. It also owns Preferred Health Network Inc., a preferred provider organization providing 4.6 million individuals access to managed health care in 38 states.
Pueblo-based HSI on Thursday reported $25.3 million in net income, or 52 cents per share, during the quarter ended Sept. 30, compared with earnings of 524.3 million, or 50 cents per share, during the same period last year.

The company said enrollment increased 7.2 percent compared with the third quarter of 1995, to 1.95 million participants in nine-states. HSI reported revenues of $802.8 million, a 14.2 percent increase from the third quarter of 1995, when revenues totaled 570.2 million. Net income for the first nine months of this year totaled 575.8 million, a 14.5 percent increase from the $563.1 million reported during the first three quarters of last year.

Byplane restoration takes flight

AUBURN, Wash. (AP).— After siftingfor salvage in the scrap heap of the New Russia, Journ't Rharltonov has landed in Auburn with hopes of making old Aeroflot biplanes appealing again to aviation buffs.
Armed with a cell phone, broken English and a little markering savvy, the pilotturned-entrepreneur-believes he's secureda niche for the 12-passenger planes in the global markerplace.

"We brought in our own risk. We didn't have any buyers," said Kharitonov, whose Twin Star company purchased 10 planes from Aeroflot, the Russian national airline.
But the chances of selling the Antonov AN-2 are much better in America than the remote regions of Northeast Russia, where lack of aviation gas and high local costs here the planes all but obsolet.

"If the the planes are the plane superior of the planes brought if there," Kharitonov said. His company will put wings, propellers and other parts back on the planes.

"If buyers aren't yet flocking to Auburn, he's at least found fans among the flying enthusiasts at municipal airport.

"It think it's a superior design. The things have been around forever. It's one of the most rugged planes ever built," said Gene Riggs, an Alaska Airlines pilot who also flies his own plane out of Crest Airpark.

Manufactured in Poland in the 1970s and 1980s, the Russian-designed plane looks as though it belongs in a World War II movie.
After recently purchasing the planes,
Kharitonov loaded them onto a ship, docked at the Port of Tacoma, and asked for tie-down space at Auburn Airport.

"This is kind of a first forus," said John Anderson, airport manager. "They just comacted us and said they just needed a place to throw some wings on."

about $35,000 per plane. The closest equivalent costs $300,000 in $400,000 new, Riggs said. Ads in some trade publications and word of mouth have generated enough interest to make the ex-80 rivel pilots true believers in American-style capitalism.

But the planes probably won't end up in American hands.

But the pames passess.
American hands.
The Federal Aviation Administration hasn't certified the planes for commercial use, but does not restrict pilots from using them for their own private use.

"I've seen them at air shows. I think they're something of a novelty item," said they're something of a novelty item," said Tim Pile an The popkens. A finished plane sits at the south end of the Auburn Airport, still displaying the markings of Vladivostok Air. The planes are prized for crop dusting, aerial photography, skydiving or other uses that require a slow stalling speed. At 22 knots, about 25 mph, the planes can almost hover, flying half as fast as most other general aviation planes. "More than likely they'll leave the country," said Bill Blackwood, a mechanic at Auburn Flight Service. "I think it's kind of neat. I've never seen anything like it before." Neither has the Port of Tacoma, where officials were surprised to see the planestitting in storage near the docks. Motorcycles with sidecars have been the only other Russian products imported into Tacoma, noted Mick Shultz, a spokesman for the port, which handled $165 million in Russian trade last year.

Consumers spend less

WASHINGTON — Consumer credit fell 2.7 percent in September, the first decline in more than three years that further illustrated the near-stall in-per-sonal consumption during the third sonal consumption during the time quarter.

The Federal Reserve said Thursday that consumer debt decreased by $2.6 billion, to $1.17 irillion. The decline surprised many analysts, who had expected a $6 billion increase.

It was the first drop since consumer credit slipped 0.3 percent, or $200 million, in May 1993. Credit had increased 5.2 percent in August. The government had reported earlier that consumer spending had slowed to a 0.4 percent annual growth rate from July through September from a 3.5 percent pace dur-ing the first half of the year.

Dow breaks 6,200 mark

NEW YORK — Wall Street's week-long celebration of Election Day contin-ued Thursday as interest rates fell to an eight-month low in the bond market, boosting the Dow Jones industrial aver-age above 6,200 for the first time. The Dow industrials rose 28,233 to 6,206.04, erasing an early 28-point drop to reach record heights for a second straight day. Broader measures also rebounded from some early weakness, with the Standard & Poor's 500 list and the Now-York-Stock Exchange composite index closing at record highs for the third straight session.

Stocks started the day lower as an early drop in bond prices provided an excuse to secure some profits on this week's exploits in the stock market. But with confidence levels high, few investors wanted to chance missing out on the next rally, and the initial weakness served as a buying opportunity for those caught on the sidelines with cash.

Margarine firm takes hit

WASHINGTON — The maker of Promise margarine has agreed to drop advertising that implies it can help pre-wentheart disease.

The Federal Trade Commission said the "Get Heart Smart" campaign, which showed heart-shaped pats of Promise on food items, implied without adequate evidence that Promise products reduced the risk of heart disease.

T-bill rates decline a bit

WASHINGTON — Interest rates on 52-week Treasury bills fell in Thursday's auction to the lowest level since April. The average discount rate was 5.20 percent, down from 5.34 percent at the last auction on 0ct. 10. It was the lowest since 5.17 percent on April 2.

U.S. productivity rises.

U.S. productivity rises

WASHINGTON — The productivity of the American workplace barely improved last summer, the government said Thursday in a report that contained hints of mounting inflation pressures. The Labor Department reported that nonfarm productivity — output per number of hours — inched up just 0.2 percent at a seasonally adjusted annual rate from July through September.

The growth, short of the 0.5 percent increase during the April June quarter, was the slowest since productivity actually fell 1.1 percent in the final three months of 1995.

The narrow Senate and House. Republican majorities will require cooperation with congressional Democrats, most likely with moderate and conservative Democrats like Breaux — raising the prospect that many of the party's liberal leaders will be isolated in the new Congress.

Uneasy relations between Clinton and congressional Democrats make the course of party affairs over the next few months uncertain. Some Democrats believe Clinton could have done more to help congressional candidates, and many believe reports of questionable Democratic National Committee fund-raising by Clinton's team hurt the party at the close of the election cycle.

'I think there might be some anger toward Clinton among House and Senate Democrats,' said Emory University political-scientist Merie Black.

There isn't much time to dwell on Tuesday's results.

In addition to planning an agonda for the new Congress, Democrats are determined to get an early start on the 1998 elections, when there are 34 Senate under three dozen gate and gate an

"The best bet is that Republicans will have at least a narrow majority for a few years," said Black.

By 1998, Black also believes House Speaker Newr Gingrich will "be a more subdued figure" — and as such less of an asset for Democratic candidates. "If they can't run against Gingrich, and Clinton and the Republicans get things done, I don't know what the Democratic candidates." Bob Coble, the Democratic mayor of Columbia, S.C., said having a Republican Congress would help Clinton redefine the Democratic officient task in Congress because of liberal permocratic strength in the party leadership. "I think if we had a Democratic strength in the party leadership, "I think if we had a Democratic president, House and Senate, we would have lost in '98 and never gotten anything back," Coble said, "For President Clinton, trying to develop a centrist policy line is much easier to do when the Republicans are in Congress."

Other Democrats, however, argue that Clinton's embrace of more conservative themes have helped him personally but ultimately could strip his party of a clear identity. "You cannot call yourself a Democrat, run as a Republican and expect to be elected," said Alabama's Davis.
Ar The same time, however, Davis, who lost a Senate primary this year, said Democratic candigates "must be beholden to teachers and trial lawyers and abor unions" to win nominations. "We need to be more mainstream but also have an agenda distinct from Republicans. I think we have an identity crisis but a lot of Democrats are in denial about it."

THE ACES ON BRIDGE

in the race that He may well runs by himself. — Benjamin Franklin

"If you wish to improve your game, play against the toughest competition available." That was the philosophy of the founder of The Aces Team, Ira G. Corn Jr. He backed list theories with eash and fulfilled his dreams of urgandly the most successful bridge team of the "los and "80s. As to day's ham de amoustrates, his advice applies to all levels of play. Against lesser experienced defenders, the play is easy for South. He wins his spade queen and leads a low diamond to dummy's queen. East will likely win his ace to return a spade, but no defense will succeed. Whether South finesses against West's diamond ick diseas! I mutter; he will win at

What happens against stiffer competition? When South leads a diamon'to diamon's queen. Eastdiacks. What should South donow. If he guesse wrong, he will lead a club to his king and lead a second diamond to dummy's king.
'This kill dummy's diamond suit sand the game goes down.

"The best play against all upponents is to lead the first diamond to dummy's min. If it loses to the jack, outh is still safe. He can

World War I documentary might test viewers' mettle

At the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of November 1918, a 7year-old boy walking home from school to eat his lunch heard the steam whistle blow in his Missouri town: The Great War, somewhere "over there," was over.

Every decade since has failed to bring the full horror of World War I much closer to American shores. Though U.S. "doughboys" in the millions fought during the war's final months, they were spared the years of trench warfare, malnutrition, political assassination and death suffered from Scotland to Asia Minor, The conflict left millions crippled, orphaned, sick, hungry, homeless and grief-stricken in its

0: I read that they were making a sequel to the "Home Alone" movies. Why isn't Macaulay Culkin in it? Is he really too old? _FM

A: According to Twentieth Century Fox, the 46year-old is definitely too old, although original director Chris Columbus did have an idea of how to deal with his young star's teenage appearance: He would now be a troubled teen in reform school.

Although that scenario could mirror Culkin's real life - particularly in the ugly custody battle over the seven Culkin children being fought by his parents in New York court, and reports of Macaulay and his oldest siblings running wild and unsupervised the studio didn't want that plot line either.

So both Columbus and Mac are out. First-time director Raja Gosnell, the editor on the first two movies, is in, and there's a nationwide search under way for a new young star.

O: I think Uma Thurman is so beautiful. Where did she get her name? - D.C.

A: Since her mother is Swedish-born, one might assume that's it. But in fact, her father, a professor of Asian religion, named her after a Hindu goddess. And not surprisingly, that's the way many men regard the 26-year-old beauty.

After a brief marriage to Gary Oldman and a long, at least in acting circles, relationship with Timothy Hutton, she was a prime player, as you may know, in the recent Mick Jaccer-Jerry Hall marital blowup having been witnessed smoothing with Jagger in Los Angeles' Viper Room. 0: Johnny Depp always plays such oddball roles. Why? -S.C.

A: The sensitive, intellicent, mercurial actor just isn't particularly interested in mainstream roles. His next one, though, isn't too far out. In the upcoming "Donnie Brasco," Depp, 33, plays an FBI agent who successfully infiltrated New York's Bonanno crime family in the 1970s: his entree was provided by family member Lefty Ruggiero, played by Al Pacino. To prepare, the actors Depp's next project also has a mob connection of sorts. He's directing and starring in a film called "The Brave," and as a favor. Marion Brando puts in a cameo appearance. Depp's co-star in "Don Juan DeMarco" was, as you may remember, the film world's most famous mobster as "The Godfather."

Q: I love "Absolutely Fabulous," the British comedy on Comedy Central, but they show the same episodes over and over. Will there be new ones?-D.B.

A: Series creator Jennifer Saunders, who plays the self-indulgent fashion publicist Edina, was adamant that the show end on a high note, so it was her decision to pull the plug after just a few sea-sons. That's why you're seeing the same episodes: that's all they shot But Edina and Patsy, her boozy fashion editor friend played by Joanna Lumley. will in fact he back on a 90minute special to air later this year.

Also, if you watch 'Roseanne," the two made a guest appearance a few weeks ago for the Halloween episode; that connection was a production deal between Saunders and Roseanne.

Roseanne bought the rights to "Ab Fab" to make an American version, but that project is on hold.

O: Bruce Springsteen always seems like such a down-to-earth guy. Is he really like that? - B.C. A: As much as he can be, eiven the superstar lifestyle he's been leading the last couple of decades. But there is some evidence that The Boss, 47, hasn't forgotten his roots. As we go to press, he was scheduled to give a benefit per formance in the gym of his old junior high school, St. Rose of Lima in Freehold. N.J. Some tickets priced at · $125 were on sale for high bidders, but there were also 1.000 $10 tickets on sale for the locals.

O: I've been a fan of Matt Dillon's since be was a teen actor. How old is he now, and what will he be in next?=1.11.

A: He's 32, and if you've have a fan from the beginning, that would be 17 years. In a story told many times, he was discovered at 14 by a casting agent while cutting school in suburban New York. A role in the teen drama "Over the Edge" (1979) was the re-

Over the years, Dillon seemed to be just on the cusp of major stardom, only to fall victim to a string of bombs, But in recent years, he's been accorded great respect, for disparate performances such as the charming iunkie in "Drugstore Cow boy" (1989) and the permanently uncommitted single in "Singles" (1992).

This year he seems to be on a roll, with his portrayal of a Brian Wilsonesque character in the current "Grace of My Heart," and a con man in Kevin Spacey's uncoming "Albino Alligator."

Next year, though, you'll see him as a blond in "In and Out," in which he bost who falls for him Q: I just saw the movie "The Spitfire Grill" and was really impressed by Allson Elliott, Has she been in anything else? -

A: The 26-year-old actress had her most visible role in last year's "The Un-derneath," an edgy mystery co-starring Peter Gallagher that didn't get a very big audience. Her next will undoubtedly get more attention, the film version of Henry James' "The Wings of the Dove."

model. She started at 14 in Tokyo, where her family was living. Her father is a computer executive. O: I admired Biorn Borg as a tennis player in the '70s and '80s. What has he been doing lately? - G.B. A. The Swedish tennis great, 40, does turn up from time to time on the seniors tennis circuit, playing against former rivals such as Jimmy Connors. But in recent years, he's been as much concerned with personal turmoil as tennis. Several weeks ago, creditors owed $1.5 million from one of his failed busi ness ventures made a legal move to have him declared bankrupt.__

On the purely personal front, his second marriage to Italian singer Loredana Berte ended in divorce several years ago, around the time of his admission of a cocaine problem.

Q: I enjoyed the recent CBS movie "Mary and Tim," starring Candice Bergen, but the story seemed strangely familiar. Had it been a TV movie hefore? - A.H.

A: No, but you're close. The story of an older widow who falls for her younger, somewhat slowwitted gardener was originally an Australian movie called "Tim." Released in 1979, ir was an early showcase vehicle for a young actor-named Mel-Gibson (with Piper Laurie as the widow). Gibson, of course, is starring in much bieger movies these days, currently the just released "Ran-

Chris gave Jake the restraining order, Later - unaware Take had the new keys - Chris and Paul reluctantly left Benita alone in the apartment. Danny and Phyllis rushed Daniel to the hospital where Olivia said he had a fever of unknown origin. Nikki and Ashley each met Kurt. Doris was upset that Sharon admitted to Nikki she had purposely forgotten to take the pill because she'd been stressed. Neil told Dru he didn't mind her taking the New York job. Next Week: Well-kept secrets could spring some leaks.

Carrie's tickled pink to play Skye Chandler

Carrie Genrel, the Vancouver-born actor who brought the character of the off tempest-tossed Skyler Chindler back to "All My Children" after an absence of several years, lumphed as we went through the litting of Chindler's Fine Valley limbages.

"They gave me some

idea that Skye had a list tory with many of the people in Fine Valley," Genuel said, "and I soon realized that she was a rather busy lady in the past, and it wouldn't sarprise me that she'll be a rather busy lady again."

For the record Sinder Chandler Codalty Kinder seems destined to be linked to Erica Kane (Sosan Lucci) through the men in both their lives. First, of course, is Skye's daddy, Adam Chandler (David Canary), whom Erica married twice. Then there was Tom Codahy (Richard Shoberg), Erica's third busherd Skye was Tom's third wife. Stree also had romances with Travis Montgomery (Lorkin Malloy), who also trekked twice to the altar with Erica, and with the late Jeremy Harrier (Jean LeClerc), one of Erica's firmer lovers.

More recently, Skye
and Erica shared their respective kanna through Skye's husband, Dr.
Jonathan Kinder (Michael Sabatino), who was the moleculear money-mad medico who threatmed both watershives. (As this is being written, Stye and Jinste Robin Manusco — another of Kinder's wirins, plan to dig up Kinder's body before Harold, daytime's pay with personality, finds any more telltale "trophies" to tree Came says "As an actor, there's always a possibility that you'll be offered a soap. So I would try to keep up with as home with)

Carrie Genzel
Skyler on 'AMC'

many as I could so I would have some idea of who the characters were, and what they did Then, if I were called to read for a part, at least I'd know something about the show and something about the characters and how they interact with each other."

When Carrie Genzel

(whose credits include Davs of Our Lives, "The Bold and the Beau-tiful." "Married... with Children. "Picket Femora," and "The Fresh Prince of Bel Air") made her "AMC" debut in May of this year, Tom/Skye was a woman whom Kinder kept in a perpetually drugged state. Asked if she did any research to get the lock and the movements just right, Carrie said, Not really. I spoke with my acting teacher and we agreed that what I should do was play it not so much that she was drugged, but that she was trying to overcome what was happening to her. Just trying to get to the chair for example, which was actually close by, but for her, was so far away, was always a struggle. And when you focus on that, the condition will come out. This way, you're not telling the audience, Look at me, Pm drugged You're saying, Look at me, I'm trying to get to this chair, but it's so bard'."

TNN's 'Soulmates' includes Jeff Foxworthy's wife, Gregg

Knight-Ridder News Service

Country music fans who love to dish about their favorite artists will positively salivate at the sight and sound of a new installment of "Soulmates," an occa-sional inside-the-"real"lives-of series on The Nashville Network. It airs at 8 p.m. and 2 a.m.

TNN.

Wednesday on

Host Terri Merryman will uncover the truth about which half of a popular duo got drunk and almost missed his own wedding. Viewers also will discover the surprising catalyst in the reunion of George Jones and Tammy Wynette and which highly amusing Southern gent tied the knot in Manhattan's Central Park. Guests this time around are Barbara Brooks, wife of Kix Brooks, the dark. haired, moustachioed half of Brooks and Dunn; Nancy Jones, the small-town Southern gal who tamed wild and wooly George Jones; and Gregg Foxworthy, a New Orleanian who confides that what you see is what you get from her husband, the king of redneck comedy, Jeff Foxworthy.

He doesn't shortsheet the bed or anything," Gregg reported in a phone chat several weeks ago, "but he does have a tremendous sense of humor."

As she tells Merryman during her"Soulmates" segment, "The first time I saw him was in a comedy club. I didn't know it at the time, but it was his first time on stage, and he won that night, but I knew right away, 'I like this guy."

Gregg knew something else, too: what it felt like to be in the spotlight. She had an acting career when she and Foxworthy met - doing commercials and a continuing role on TNT's soap, "The Catlins" - and the de-"The sire to pursue it made HER the hold-out on getting married. But, she said, after watching Foxworthy work and understanding his passion for comedy, she knew they were meant for each other; exit Gregg's acting career. But I didn't exactly have producers knocking down the door," she said by phone, "so 'giving it all up' (to wasn't an agonizing decision."

She confessed that she may have given her husband some of the worst advice of his career. "I thought he'd have to lose his accent to have any kind of success," she said. "Boy, was I wróng. We realized very quickly that (the accent) was what set him anart.

"He kind of feels its his job to represent the New South and do something about that Southern stigma.

"He is totally grounded," said Gregg. Fame not only hasn't gone to his head, he's actually looking forward to moving back to Georgia when the roller coaster ride is over.

"Going back represents what we've worked so hard for. Gregg tells Merryman. "It's a no-lose situation.

"And it's been fun all the way, from rolling change to go to the movies to the success we're having now. It's all been an adven-

Chameleon Duvall portrays Nazi

fugitive Eichmann

LOS ANGELES (AP) In addition to the movie roles that have won him critical acriaand a best actor Oscar. Robert Duvall has a body of work in television that could earn birm

the title of history teacher to the masses. In miniseries and movies for television Duvall has played the World War II titans Gen. Dwight D. Fisenhower and Soviet dictator Tosef Smiin

Now, be's adding another war tigure to his bbrary of roles — one of history's ogres, Adolf Fichmam.

In "The Man Who Captured Eichmann first airing at 8 p.m. EST Sunday on TNT, Duval gives a chilling performance as a tender facilily man who loved his own young son but had no problem putting other children on trains headed for the cremzoriums of Austhritz

An SS colonel who escaped to Argentina, Eichmann was the architect of the "Final Solo-" the shipment of tion. lews to the death causes of the Holocaust.

In 1960, Eichmann was kidnapped in Argentina by Israeli and a and spirited to Israel, where he was tried for crimes against humanity and executed two years later.

The story of Eichmann's capture holds a solemn timeliness in a year in which Erich Priebke, an SS officer who participated in a massacre of Italian civil ians, was largely absolved of criminal responsibility by an Italian COURT

Like Priebke, Eichmann was taken in chains from Arrestina Unlike Priebke, Eich mann was hanned for his contribution to the ughest deeds of our time.

"He kept his work totally on an administra-tive level," Duvall said. "He justified that be was just a member of the state, following the order of the state, so that it became abstract."

Factoriants never considered his work evil. Devail said. He claimed instead to be a machine-Ece instrument of poli-

Devall, perhaps bestknown for his work in "The Godfather. "Apocalypse Now" and his Oscar turn in Tender Mercies," said he always is looking for a character "that he can bring something to." He had wanted to play the German industrialist who saved Jews in the version Schmiler's List," a role that earned Linn Neeson an Academy Award or instice. History and movies march on, and Duvall came across the book "Fichmann in My Hands," an account of Exchann's capture by Peter Malkin, one of the Mossad agents who grabbed the SS man off the street in a Buenos Aires show Duvall, who also served as executive prodates of the movie, decided to make Eichmann's story with his com company for TNT.

Krown as a meticulos researcher, Duvall someht out older residents of the German community in Buenos Aires to study mannerisms and speech pat-

Director William A. Gezham said Duvall acreally met with a man who worked for the Nazi fractive and asked what be looked like. Co-prodates Rob Carliner said the Argentine man told the actor, "Begging your pardon, sir, he looked She you

True enough, Even without heavy makeup. Devall achieves one of his eerie, chameleon-Ece transformations; he completely resembles the murderous burea crat who personified the banking of evil. Filmed on location in Grant, Collins, wife). In reality, she is an abused wife. Meenwhile, Simon (David Gallagher) has a crush or a girl at school: WB.

"Metrose Place" — Fans get a double dose of the steamy soap, which has made a nice comeback this season. In the first, Aman da's marriage suffers when she tries to stay in control at D&D, meaning Peter spends more time with Taylor (Lisa Rinna). Afterward, Taylor reveals her secret to Peter, and Kimberly receives surprising news from her doctor. Fox.

Buenos Aires, the emotional core of the film is macy. a series of encounters between Eichmann and Malkin, the Mossad captor, played with quiet intensity by actor Arliss

Howard The script was written by Lionel Chetwynd, whose credits are heavy with film history pro-iects like "The Hanoi Hilton" and TNT's Kissinger and Nixon

Over the holidays last vear, Duvall visited with Malkin. He said the former Israeli agent found himself reluctantly drawn into a dialogue with Eichmann while the fugitive was hidden in a Mossad safe house.

"Malkin said it was like sitting on an air-plane, together on a long ride," Duvall recounted.

"It was that kind of inti-

In one of history's ironies, Malkin found Eichmann to be a more amiable personality agents he worked with. But it was that very amiability that enabled Eichmann to first win the confidence of his victims, then send them to their deaths.

For Duvall, the opportunity to make the film becomes a way to reach a bigger audience with a story that is part real-life spy thriller and part compelling contemporary history.

You reach millions on television," he said. "In a strange way, you can reach more people than you can in a fea-ture film."

Look good. Feel good.
