Buhl woman dies in blaze | Firm sues

No evidence of foul play

By Kent McCleary

BUHL – A Buhl woman died in a smoly house fire Thursday night.
Jackie K. Jensen, 53, died in the fire in her home at 309 Fuirland Ave., Twin Falls County Coroner Gene Turley said.
The fire was reported at about 6.25 p.m. Neighbors said an off-daty Buhl police officer was driving by the house, saw smoke and stopped at a neighbor's to call for help.

Buhl Police Chief Terry Tipton said firefighters suspected the fire may have started in the front of the house, but that the investigation was not complete. Tipton said there was no evidence of Tipton said there was no evidence of arson or foul play.

Neighbors said they saw smoke coming from the house and ran to it to fry to rescue Jensen, but said the house was already too hot to enter.
"There was so much smoke in the house you couldn't see in the window," said Pamela Hayes, daughter of a neighbor.

Jensen had graduated from Buhl High School and had been a hairdresser for years, running her business out of her house, neighbors said. Jensen was a victim of multiple sclero-sis and wheelchair-bound, neighbor Jay Burton said. Even so, Burton said, Jensen was always cheery and friendly, and always had candy for a visitor. "It is just devastating to me," Burton said.

"It is just devastants to me, said.
Neighbors helped Jensen and kept an eye out for her. The Buhl Kiwanis Club built a ramp to Jensen's front door, Burton said.
An autopsy is scheduled for this morning to determine the precise cause of death, Turley said.

PLAYTIME

Five-year-old Lonnia Scruggs of Gooding puts his heart, and his tongue, into a game of table soccer while playing against his mother, Terrie Scruggs. The youngster did his best to keep his 11 little men on the field kicking the ball in the right direction during the game at Bowladrome in Twin Falls. Terrie Scruggs said the game started after Lonnie became a little restless waiting for his sister, Tara, to finish playing in a bowling tournament.

Governor OKs disaster relief for 2 counties

Cassia, Camas to benefit

By Karen Tólkkinen Times-News writer

BOISE — Gov. Phil Batt Thursday declared Cassia and Camas counties disaster areas, in anticipation of spring flooding from mountain snowpack. His declaration clears the way for the counties to get state and federal aid to prevent the floods by diverting water-away from aiready-full Goose Creek Reservoir, preparing injection wells, installing an air vent on Goose Creek Dam, clearing trees and digging trenches, The declaration, good for 30 days, was accompanied by a request to the U.S.

Rain extends from Louisiana to Maine; New England basks

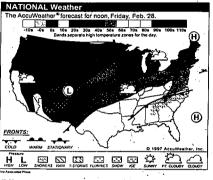

A band of showers and thunderstorms stretched from Louisiana to Maine on Thursday, while a winter storm was bringing rain and snow to the Southwest. Warm, moist air pushing into New England, sent temperatures in the region and in the mid-Atlantic to record highs. A 70-degree reading at New York's Kennedy Airport set a record for the month of February, surpassing the 68 degrees recorded on Feb. 4, 1991.

Bus overturns; driver killed, 9 injured

NEW YORK — A school minibus overturned on a wet, slippery road Thursday and landed on top of an oncoming car, killing the bus driver and injuring nine adults and teens.

The roof of the car was flattened, and the left side of the bus was crushed in the morning rush-hour accident. The bus was taking six boys to the Marsha Stern Talmudical Academy, a boys high school, and the car was carrying four people.

Injuries included broken bones and head, chest and neck wounds.

Nine people were taken to hospitals, including a 17-year-old boy listdi in serious condition.

The accident happened on the Harlem River Drive in northern Manhattun when the northbound bus lost control, flipped over the center divider and landed atop the car, police officer John Gaminarino said. The bus ten fell back on the northbound side, be said. The driver died at the scene.

Police said the area was extremely foggy and streets were wet and slippery. The accident caused serious traffic de-ups.

KAL settles with 2 families over '83 crash

NEWARK, N.J. — Korean Air Lines agreed to pay $4.3 million to the families of two New Jersey residents killed in the 1983 downing of a jet by the former Soviet Union.

The husband and daughter of Kathy Speir will receive $3 million, and the wife and stepdaughter of James Beirn will get $1.3 million, attorney Gerald Baker said Wednesday.

The two passengers were among 269 pagpie killed when KAL Flight 007 strayed into Soviet air space and was shot down on Sept. 1, 1983.

1, 1983. The settlements came last week just before the cases were to go to trial. The payments reflect lost earnings for Speir, a 40-year-old fashion executive, and Beirn, a 51-year-old geologist. "It think the amount of the settlement is fair," said Baker, who represented the families. "The problem is that it took these families 14 years to obtain some measure of justice."

KAL has settled 75 of the more than 100 U.S. lawsuits related to the crash, KAL attorney Andrew Harakas said.

State administrator accuses EPA of waffling on water quality program

BOISE (AP) — A judge's order to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to take over Idaho's water quality program is "symptomatic of a federal agency's switching rules in mid-stream," a state official charges. "It is small wonder that citizens." It is small wonder that citizens." It is small wonder that citizens." It is small wonder that citizens the federal governmen." In Quality Administrator Wally Cory said Thursday. He added the state will ultimately retain authority over its water program. On Monday, U.S. District Judge William Dwyer ruled the EPA had allowed Idaho too long to comply with the federal Clean Water Act. He gave the EPA 60 days to promulgate certain water quality guidelines for 106,000 thousand miles of the state's waterways. Dwyer said the EPA must do to designate water uses and set temperature standards, and to complete the state of the EPA hald the latest decision as a way to provide clean water for swimming, as well as protect habitat for salmon and bull tout. Cory believes the EPA will ask the state to redraft parts of the water quality guidelines. He added those standards have en in place for about 15 years, were subject to review every three years and were approved by the

Tax shift bill heading to full House

BOISE (AP) — Legislation shift-ing $140 million from Idaho prop-erty taxes to sales taxes is headed toward the full House for consid-

The House Revenue and Taxation Committee on Thursday voted to put the legislation up for amendment to declare that the change would not go into effect until approved by the voters.

If a bill sponsored by Rep. Frank Bruneel, R-Lewiston, becomes law, Idaho's sales tax rate would go up 25 percent to 625 percent. In return, property owners would see the end of local property faxes collected for school maintenance and operations.

Under the proposed amendments, the question would be put before voters in a referendum in the 1998 general election. The new law wouldn't go into effect until 1999.

Make lottery winners pay fair share of taxes

A person who works for a living in Idaho pays state income tax. A person who wins the lottery and retires on Easy Street doesn't. Ending that distinction makes and returns the conference.

Easy Street doesn't. Ending that dis-tinction makes perfect sense.

The House Revenue and Taxation Committee is considering a proposal this week from Rep. Mark Stubbs, R-Twin Falls, to tax lottery winnings.
He figures the state could gain SI million a year in sorely needed revenue.

million a year in sorely needed revenue."
Opponents quibble with that estimate, but Stubbs' basic point is correct. If John Q. Paycheck pays his fair share to keep the Statehouse stocked with red tape, why shouldn't Joe Jackpot do the same?
The main argument against Stubbs' proposal is that taxing players' winnings would cut into ticket sales. Lottery Director Dennis Jackson suggests the reduction in lottery sales might wipe out the added tax revenue.

Maybe – but not likely. If you're a Lotto player chasing a multi-million-dollar jackpot, will an 8 percent income tax scare you away? Rep. Frank Bruneel, R.Lewiston, debunked that notion when he remarked, "That magnitude of financial planning is lacking when the decision is made whether to buy a ticket."

Our guess is, few if any ticket buyers will give the tax a second thought.

One legitimate concern has to do with people who already have won jackpots and are collecting artnual payments. It's an open question whether the income tax – which wasn't in place when they bought their winning tickets – should now be applied to those people.

That question uside, taxing winnings seems fair and appropriate. The Legislature can always go back and repeal the tax if Jackson's fears turn out to be right.

Abortion is still murder

Abortion is still murder When does human life begin?

Opinions vary.
For political reasons, one might choose any point in life from conception (no one seems to believe that biological life begins before conception) until the age of 18 when one reaches legal responsibility for oneself.

gal responsibility for oneself.
The scientific reaching based upon genetics and biological growth places the beginning of human life at conception. The Catholic Church teaches that human life begins at conception. Most moral religious groups would also teach that human life begins at conception. Some, for political reasons, might wish-tod owniplay the significance of the first nine months of human life. Some may wish to deny human life even begins until a later time in human life, such as when the child begins to breathe, becomes 21 years of age or is loved by his parents.

The greatest amount of child abus in the United States is taking place i the slaughterhouses operated by the abortionists.

abortionists.

A battered, breathing child in the emergency room is in a much safer place for human life than is the innocent, growing baby at the butcher's shop where the baby may be shredded, torn apart, beheaded or scalded tod, apart, beheaded or scalded todeath. The baby at the emergency room enjoys the protection of law. The baby at the abortionist's had his civil rights removed in 1973 by the Supreme Court.

rights removed in 1973 by the Supreme Court.

That decision against the legal traditions of the United States will be overturned at some point in the future. And when it is, the abortionists will be seen for what they are, murderers for hire. For political reasons, our country sanctions child abuse against the smallest and most innocent of human life.

Who are the people who support human life between the people who support human life between the people who support human life between the people with a profound craving for mercy and justice, work to stop the sloughter of innocent, human life Some of the abortionists are for human life begins. IEA backs qualified candidates

How refreshing to see you admit that une Fox has "flights of ideological"

Anne Fox has "flights of ideological fancy."

My letter to you three years ago during the campaign said just that. It would have been polite, however, to at least get her gender correct in your editorial when you wrote, "Soine of them endorsed Fox three years ago, as we did when he ran. "The said of the endorsed for three years ago, as we did when he ran. "The word of the lade to Fox's seat would carry the banner of the Idaho Education Association. The IEA evaluates all candidates and—endorses those who will best represent educational interests, regardless of political pairy. Your intense dislike of the IEA must have clouded your memory. A simple call to the IEA reveals that it previously endorsed Republican Jerry Evans, former state superintendent of schools, and Republicans Denton Darrington and Dean Cameron more re-schools, and Republicans Denton Darrington and Dean Cameron more recently.

You go on to write about former University of Idaho faculty member, Jack Kaufman, who may make the run for Fox's seat.
Do we really want yet another superabout of the idealistic iwary towers of university life long enough to get a dose of reality in an elementary or secondary-level classroom?
Four years of "flights of ideological fancy" aren't enough?

Language outside dance worrisome

I just want to express my concern for all the children who attended the Valentine dance at Robert Stuart, Junior High School.

I was only a parent standing outside, and only to chear the most foul language I have ever heard from some boys and girls. Some of these children were not allowed to go inside to the dance because of wearing gang colors, didn't have their student identification not having permission to attend the well-planned dance that the faculty of Robert Stuart was having for the students of that school.

I am sure some of these parents would have been ashamed of the way their children were acting. I saw some of the girls who were very angry because they could not go to the dance, and they were in the yard area claiming to be witches and cursing at one another and the boys they were with talk-to to and get wasted, as they put it, A 4-foot tall boy having more filth comeout of his mouth than one can imagine. Senate gives break to big waste producers to big waste producers

BOISE — The state Senate, trying to breath new financial life into Idaho's towardous waste managethent account, has approved giving big waste producers a break or doing business with Idaho's only commercial dump.

The 21-14 vote on Thursday came the day after senators voted 15-19 against the bill. The measure would reduce the state fee on hexardous waste dumped in Idaho from $30 a ton to $10 a ton for those who dump more than 25,000 tankesday, asked for reconsideration on Thursday, He then helped convince others to change their votes. Canyon View buy looks good on paper

TWIN FALLS - On paper, the county's acquisition of the Caryon View Hospital looks healthy so far.

January revenue from the psychiatric hospital amounted to about three times more than the expenses. But it will take a few more mouth for a clearer economic picture to take shape, say Ken Fry, Magic Valley Regional Medical Center's financial efficier.

The county, hospital took over opera-tions at the private hospital Jan. 1. Revenue totaled $397,062 from the 28-bed Canyon View Hospital at 228 Shown Ave. But that amount is what the county expects to get from billing and may not be what is actually collected, Fry said Thursday morning at a meeting of the Magic Valley Regional board's finance committee.

Committee.

Expenses, including salaries and physician fees, amounted to $104,373 for the same period.

On average, about 13 parients were treated per day at Canyou View, and sayed an average of about five and one-half days.

Capital expenditures amounted to $116,621. The hospital had budgeted $175,000 for that line item and could reach it yet with the purchase of a $50,000 fire-blarm system.

The expense column also could change better with the bring of a psychiatric hospital sunger, Fry said.

On the revenue side, Medicaid started paying for eligible patients because of Caryon View's new affiliation with the country-owned hospital. Previously, Canyon View was not designated to receive the payments from the public agency.

In June last year the county purchased the Caryon View building. In November, the board of Magic Valley Regional voted to buy the operation from Sterling. Healthcare Corporation of Bellevue, Wash, saying it was a needed service.

BURLEY - A committee that reports to the U.S. Commission on Gril Rights will study race relations in Mini-Cassia schools, based on a handful of complaints from area residents.

The Idaho Advisory Committee is planning the study, the panel works with the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights. The advisory committee voted last month to conduct a study on racial tresions in the Magic Valley.

The study will focus on race relations in Minidoka and Cassia county schools, said Committee Chairperson Gladys M. Esquibel of Burley.

The committee will hold a local public hearing, probably within the next six months, and gather facts in the school system, Esquibel said.

Mini-Cassia residents have passed on complaints and concerns about race relations to the Idaho Hispanic Alfairs Commission and the Northwest Coalition Against Malicious Harassment in Seattle.

Coalition director Bill Wassmuth said racial tension complaints in southeentral Idaho have been brought before the coalition's Idaho Network Against Bigotry, which responds to hate crimes.

Since becoming director of the Idaho

Hignanic Affairs Commission in Job; Daniel Raminer said he has received 15 complaints about treatment of Hignanic undersit in the Mindelac County School Iberia.

Mindelac County School Iberia in the Mindelac County School Iberia in the High School Raminer said the High School Raminer said. The issue uppeared settled in a Feb. 20 city meeting in which a dispute on competitive bidding for trenching was resolved to the satisfaction of residents – who incompetitive bidding for trenching was resolved to the competitive bidding for trenching to the city officials. Lancaster was to resume trenching, but now, Hegstrom said, the work will wait until the city gets a bid from another trenching service.

Water project assistant Kathy Uker, with Region IV Development Association in Twin Falls, said the city has the right to use a trencher instead of blasting, an option discussed at the Feb. 20 meeting.

Also Wednesday, Uker directing, an option discussed at the Peb. 20 meeting. Also Wednesday, Uker direct-ed the council to appoint a five-toe-light-member committee rep-resenting four disabilities – mobility, vision, hearing and learning – to help the city meet requirements of the Americans with Disabilities Act. The federal act requires that city-owned facil-ties such as building and parks accommodate people with dis-abilities.

Uker said committee members eed not be disabled themselves.

Johnny moved to Nashville 12 years ago to pursue his dream of recording and performing country western music.

Through the years, his band has opened for top stars, including Garth Brooks and Alan Jackson. His own song, "Tusson," from his 1996 album, "Last of a Dying Breed," was the number one country song in Europe for several weeks. "It's a whole different game over there (in Europe)," Johnny U said, noting that he is still getting fan mail from Ireland. "The good thing about it is, they'll play a song just for what it is, it doesn't have to be Garth Brooks or Alan Jackson and the second have to be Garth Brooks or Alan Jackson and the second have to be Garth Brooks or Alan Jackson and the second have to be Garth Brooks or Alan Jackson and the second have to be Garth Brooks or Alan Jackson and the second have to be Garth Brooks or Alan Jackson and the second have the second have to be Garth Brooks or Alan Jackson and the second have the second have the second have the second have to be Garth Brooks or Alan Jackson and the second have the sec

See You at the Movies!

Hey, hey, the Monkees are back

NEW YORK (AP) — Back in the 1960s, there was this rock 'n' roll group that seemed to appear out of nowhere. One night, the four musicians were an unknown act on television; the next morning, they were famous.

In the space of just a couple of years, they had a dozen Top 40 hits. Their first four albums all reached No. 1. They made their own movies. They toured constantly. And when they walked on stage at concert halls around the country, girls screamed and swoomed.

the country, girls screamed and swooned.

Beatlemania, you say? No, Monkeemania. At this point, the cynics among you will mutter: "Oh, yeah, right, the Monkees. They weren't really a band. They just played one on TV."

Which will bring no argument from Monkees' drummer Mickey Dolenz. "I suppose the only equal to us," says Dolenz, laughing, "would be if the guys on E.R.", after. the show went off the air, went out and became real doctors."

·But could it be that the friendly, self-effacing Dolenz is on to something here? For the Monkees did something nearly Monkees did something nearly add to that.

It is 1968, they went out and became a real band.

Oh, it took some time — three decades as a matter of fact. In between, there were partial reunions featuring Dolenz, Peter Tork and Davy Jones. There was even a warmly received gathering of all four in Los Angeles 10 years ago. But it wasn't until lasy year that Michael Nesmith, long year that Michael Nesmith, long warm that Michael Nesmith, long had been been did not be not been did not be not be not made to the long. "He got a new and fresh and different outlook on it," Dolenz says now. "It's real tough. You just can't deny it that you've become this — dare I say it legend."

the surprising "Justus," a guitarlashing, drun-pounding, powerchord-blasting rocker of an album that was embraced by critics as the best thing the Monkees had ever done.

With an in-your-face title that was Nesmith's retort to those who asked who had created such a work, "Justus" shows the oncesugar-coated Monkees with an edge. Indeed, as they pound those instruments they once were derided for not really playing, they sing about disillusionment, dishonesty, greed and broken dreams. And they do it in

Still, he recalls the first wave of Monkeemania with delight, noting how "everyone in town" wanted one of the four coveted roles when Hollywood decided to make a TV show about a band like the Beades.

Nesmith, a singer-songwriter who had moved to Los Angeles from Texas, became the guitar player in the funny hat. And Jones, a theatrical actor from England, was the lead singer, though in-real life, Dolenz notes, all four were lead singers. And, in concert, Jones could play the bass when Tork switched to another instrument.

Such professional songwriters as Neil Diamond, Carole King and Gerry Goffin wrote the group's hits, while others played the instruments at recording sessions until the four rebelled.

By "Headquarters," the third of their 10 albums, the Monkees had more or less taken control of their music. But the image of a band not good enough to play its own instruments haunted them for years.

First-time filmmaker John Herzfeld's dark, L.A.-based serio-comedy is patently calculated, starting with the second-tier cast, which includes Danny Aiello (as which includes Danny Aiello (as a hit man with a conscience), Teri

Hatcher (an Olympic skier whose husband is murdered). James Spader (a psychotic murderer) and Eric Stoltz (a cop who's dying to be assigned to homicide). Essentially, every character's actions are interconnected in a droll, California-cultural comedy of errors. But this dominofalling sequence is Herzfeld's only punch line, and we "get it" only too soon. "2 Days" has its comedic moments, however, par-ticularly as Aiello tries to keep some particularly difficult char-acters hostage, including suicidal filmmaker Paul Mazursky. Contains profinity, violence and sexual scenes.

Be that as it may, the Eagles will suit up today for their first home games, a pre-season double-header against Ricks.

The bottom line for Waller's club, this year is priching. If the hurlers comeratound, the Eagles could contend for their first Scenic West title since 1993. "If our pitching steps up, we can swing it and we can play defense," said Walker, entering his 23rd season at the Eagle helm.

"Twe was really, really happy with the hitting. I thought we'd be a lot further behind," Walker said. "We've been working with them on knowing what they're supposed to do before they go up to the plate."

The Eagles bring a team batting average of 291, with 10 homers and a 495 slugging percentage.

Pitching has been a different story, with a team earned run average of 7.32. Three are plenty of new faces in the Eagle lineup, as we'll as a new attitude, Walker said. "This is the most mature team I've had in years," Walker said. "The bench is always there with us. They stay focused, which is unusual for us."

SALT LAKE CITY - Kurl Malone scored 32 points, including eight straight in the final 2:42, to help the Utah Jaze beat the Toronto Raptors 118-114 on Thursday night.

Malone finished with a triple-double, the second of his career, with 13 rebounds and 10 assists, but the Jazz saw a 15-point fourth quarter lead nearly disappear, with the Raptors coming within 107-106 with 3:05-left.

That's when Malone took control, hitting two free throws, the first of his eight consecutive points. Marcus Camby answered with a jump shot from the baseline to keep the Raptors within one point, 109-108.

up lighting the 34-year-old Camacho won't make or break him. He next best thing that can be aid for the fight is that Camacho is almost as far past his salad days as Sugar Ray. That makes a dangerous fight much less likely than if Leonard's comeback opponent had been Pernell Whitaker, once a possibility. So far, so good. And no doubt Sugar Ray enjoyed boxing more than anything else. Assuming they were as killed in the sweet science as Leonard was, at least through his prime, who wouldn't?

Nothing in sport is so elemental, nor so immediate as a prize fight. There is very little waiting for the result. Feedback arrives in the blink of an eye, adrenaline runs non-stop from start to finish and somebody hands you a factock as soon as the fight is over. Then if you're still vertical—a big need to be a soon as the fight is over. Then if you're still vertical—a big night and for the rest of the week, people get up out of their chairs and applaud.

But long after age has shurtled most people to the far edge of caution, so strong is the pull of that kind of celebrity that fighters pursue it without regard for caution, so strong is the pull of that kind of celebrity that fighters pursue it without regard for consequences.

Leonard loved boxing—the commitment, the training, the devotion to being the best. He no longer wants that. What he hungers for now is simply the adulation. Leonard said than extremion that boxing brings."

Either way, history suggests this won't end well. Great fighters like James Jeffries and Joe Louis, and even the greatest, Muhammad Ali, were not immune to the sound of their own name chanted in the thousands of decibels. Aged and overweight, or simply over the hill, each came out of retirement and regretted.

Jeffries was pressed into service during the worldwide hunt-

As if the weather was not enough of an obstacle, the 100 or so runners began their 26.2-mile marathon with a mile of ankle deep mud and then gained 80 feet in elevation on the 1.5-mile long Collins Glacier. Along the course, they encountered a boul-

There were 12 countries represented in the marathon. They were Australia, Canada, England, France, Germany, Ireland, Japan, Mexico, New Zealand, Saudi Arabia, South Africa and numerous states of the United States. Ritz was the only participant from Idaho.

Hoch, Stewart grab early Nissan lead

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Payne Stewart shot an opening Gunderpar 65 to share the Nissan Open lead, then talked about his round.

Co-leader Scott Hoch wouldn't be interviewed about his 65, since he intends to boycott newspaper and magazine reporters this year.

And Tiger Woods, who shot a 70 on a day when his caddy was waging a running battle with photographers, also declined to be interviewed.

the 13th, bogeyed No. 14, then birdied No. 17.

Along the way, caddy Mike Cowan yelled and waved photographers out from behind his putting line or one hole. Then, after a photographer in the group ringing the 18th green snapped off a couple of frames as Woods was about to putt, Cowan yelled at the photographers again. Woods backed off the 5-foot try for par when he heard the camera, then came back and made the putt.

The 21-year-old Woods, who has won three of the 11 PGA events he's played since turning pro last fall, didn't say anything to the photographers.

As he and Woods went to the score's tent, Cowan berated one photographer, whom he mistakenly thought was the guilty parry on the 18th green. Woods told a tournament official that he thought it was unnecessary for him to'be interviewed since he was not among the leaders, and also indicated that he was unhappy with the photographers.

Sorenstam aims to follow in sister's footsteps

GOLD COAST, Australia (AP)

- Charlotta Sorenstam gazed at a list of previous winners of the Alpine Australian Ladies Masters. "It is a Sorenstam's turn again," she said.

Sorenstam's sister Annika won the tournament in 1995 but is absent this week — vacationing in Bermuda.

Her younger sister, a rookie on the LPGA Tour, upheld the family honor on Thursday, shooting a Geunderpur 65 to share the first-round lead with Canadian Gail Graham. Annika Sorenstam, 26, is a eight-time winner on the LPGA Tour and a two-time U.S. Women's Open champion. Now her 23-year-old sister aims to fol-low in her footsteps.

"I usually say if she can do it, I can do it," Charletta said. "I try to think that way."

Annika Sorenstam won last week's Hawaiian Ladies Open but is leaving it to her sister to fly the family flag in Australia.

"I just try to play my own game and not think about her success while I'm playing," Charlotta said.

said.
Playing in only her fourth LPGA Tour event, Sorenstam said her short game was the key to her success Thursday.
"Today was the first day I've putted really good for a couple of weeks," she said. "I hit 16 greens today, so that helped me, too." Graham, who has won once in eight years on the LPGA Tour, had seven birdies and a bogey.

Orders for long-lasting items jump

3.6 percent in percent in three months and the largest, since September.

Each of the major categories shared in the gain, including a double-digit increase in electronic and other electrical equipment such as circuit boards and communications gear.

The Commerce Department said today orders totaled a seasonally adjusted $174.8 billion, up from $168.8 billion in December.

The initial response to the figures was muted on Wall Street. Yields on 30-year Treasury bonds, a barometer for long-term borrowing costs, were barely changed this morning from late Wednesday's level of 6.78 percent. Many analysts had expected a much smaller 1.4 percent advance in durable

But he cautioned the central bank could not rule out higher interest rates to keep the economy from overheating and driving prices higher.

While most analysts do not expect any credit tightening at the next meeting of Fed policy-makers on March 25, many expect a modest increase later in the year.

A second report today also suggested the economy continues to grow.

A second report today also suggested the economy continues to grow. Although the Labor Department said first-dime claims for jobless benefits rose by 11,000 last week, analysts contend that new applications in the lower 300,000 range indicate continued labor market strength.

Applications for unemployment insurance totaled a seasonally adjusted 316,000. Analysts had expected a 4,000 increase.

316,000. Analysts had expected a 4,000 increase. In the durable goods report, transportation orders rose 1.2 percent in January, erasing a 0.9 percent loss a month earlier. Lacreases in motor vehicles and airplanes more than offset decreases in shipbuilding, tanks and railroad equipment. Excluding transportation, orders were up 4.4 percent, the first increase in four months.

Big Mac price cut could spur competition to trim cost too

The Associated Press

CHICAGO — The prospect of price cuts at McDonald's put Wall Street in the mood to sell, not buy.

McDonald's stock fell $1.12 1/2 cents by midafternoon Thursday to $4.375 a share after plunging $2.37 1/2 or about 5 percent Wednesday. Analysts cited concerns about the effect of a price war on profits.

McDonald's Corp. plans to lower prices for some of its large sandwiches, including the Big Mac, to just $5 cents with the purchase of a drink and fries, franchisees revealed Wednesday.

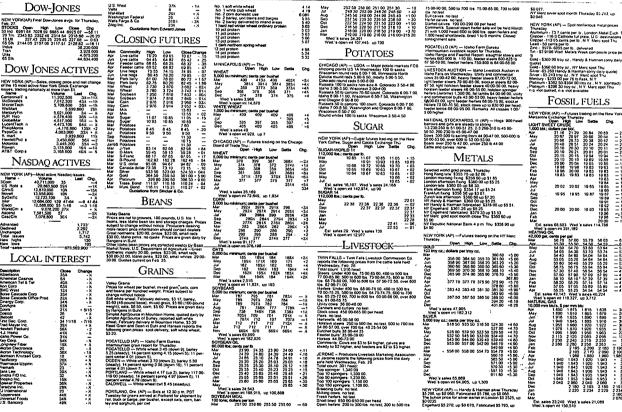

The move takes aim at competitors such as Wendy's International and Big Mac, to little have been aggressive with promotions and pricing.

don't plan to slade prices, but they may be forced to do so to stay competitive, said analyst Allan Hickok at Piper Joffray in Minneapolis.

"II 55 cents ends up being the price point that sticks, then I can guarantee you the other fass-feeders will have an item at 55 cents," Hickok said. "Otherwise, they will see a lot of their customers in competitors' parking lots." McDonald's probably will be taking a loss on Big Macs. The cost of the ingredients alone — two all-beef patties, special sauce, lettuce, cheese, pickles, onions on a sessume seed bun — is about 40 cents. But McDonald's hopes to make it up by drawing in more customers and requiring the purchase of a drink and facility. The Big Mac, introduced in 1972, normally sells for about $2.

1. Wow, it works!

2. One word: Value. Flexibility. Immediacy. Economy. Performance. Price. (OK, OK . . . a bunch of words.)

3. Putting posters on all those utility poles just takes too much time.

4. Did we mention it works?

5. You're not afraid to admit you like making money.

The Top Ten Reasons To Choose The Times-News Classified:

6. Come on, we dare ya: Just try to get better results anywhere else.

7. It's faster than a speeding bullet. (Haven't we heard that somewhere before?)

8. Three words: Results. Results. Results.

9. It sells stuff. Even wierd stuff.

10. You're just plain smart. Period.

THE ACES ON BRIDGE

Who cries for another's pain . nasn't enough of his own." — Joel Oppenheime

"Three finesses were offside." lamented on unhappy South, "It's a good thing the trumps were solid," he continued. "Otherwise I would have lost another trick in that suit."

that suit:

that suit:

Feeling secure about his game feeling secure as well as the secure as suit could run, and the game went down one trick.

"The odds against losing three 50-50 finesess are 7:1." offered a sympathetic North.

"True" added West. "But unless you think I was likely to underlead an ace, the odds are considerably less."

"Losers argue odds; winners make games," added n friendly kibitzer. Can you spot where. South went wrong?

At trick one. South should play a low club from dummy, foreing East to win the trick. South still loses two club from dummy, foreing East to win the trick, but he keeps two club from dummy. In the keeps the club ace, he cannot gain by at-acking spade shift, After East canes the club ace, he cannot gain by at-acking spades, and South has time to draw trumps and establish dummy's diamonds. A spade goes on one of the diamonds, and the defenders get only three tricks.

to TV in new comedy

After putting a fresh spin on late-night TV. he's returning with a prime-time comedy show ... and he's clearly doing it his way. Arsenio Hall knows what he does and doesn't want as his new series "Arsenio" starts Wednesday on ABC, and even before its debut, an executive producer already has left ("Ellen" alumnus David Rosenthal, with whom fellow producer Hall reportedly had a loud feud on the set). Nevertheless, the concept stays the same: Hall plays an announcer at an Atlanta-based cable network, and his efforts to make career strides parallel his attempts to adjust to marriage. Vivica A. Fox ("Independence Day") co-stars as his attorney wife, whose younger brother (Alimi Ballard) seems to be ever-present; Kevin Dunn and Shawnee appear as friends who serve as the couple's respective, sounding boards. Seen very infrequently since the end of his syndicated talk show three years ago - ex-

Music Awards and the recent NAACP Image Awards  Hall was advised on returning to TV by Jeffrey Katzenberg, the former Disney executive now associated with Steven Spielberg at the DreamWorks studio (which is making "Arsenio"). "People were bringing me ideas constantly," Hall reports, "and some of them were like, 'Ehhh, that's not me.' There was one alien idea that was like 'Third Negro From the Sun,' but that's too high-concept. When something hits. everybody wants to try playing a character in a weekly show is much different from his previous series, in which he basically could be (and was expected to be) himself, Hall reveals that he has consulted "the acting for the last few years, even for the small things. I love the process. I think the only thing I did prior to coming back and doing David Letterman's show was a cameo on (the Fox comedy) 'Liv-ing Single,' which I'm a personal fan of. While I was there, I think the 'bug' got planted because of the camaraderie there; it's like a big family, and I've kind of never had that.

Arsenio Hall returns | McDermott: A lawyer for you in 'The Practice'

and these days apparently everyone does until they need one - there are some upcoming television series that are definitely not for you. Unless you like to swear at the television. ABC launches a new series, "The Practice," on Tuesday, March 4, at 10 p.m.

Bobby Donnell (Dylan McDermott) is a young defense attorney who eschews the wealth and glamour of high-profile practice for an established firm to take on the cases that often offer nothing more than hard work, long hours and struggle. Some cas-

If you hate lawyer's - es pay off financially, others don't. But he gets to fight for the disenfranchised. His associates are an equally young and idealistic bunch. Jimmy (Michael Recluti Badalucco) has never won a case, but wanted to return to law after a stint as a loan officer. Eugene Young (Steve Harris) is a former private investigator. Ellenor Frutt (Camryn Manheim) has a background as a prosecutor, which sometimes puts her at odds with Donnell. Holding the office together is paralegal Rebecca Washington (Lisa Gay Hamilton).

The opening episode finds Bobby defending a teen-age girl on a drug charge. Caught with a large quantity of cocaine, the girl claims it was stashed in her room by her drug-dealing brother, whom she did not turn in to the police because she wants to protect him.

Bobby wins a series of plea bargains for her, but she refuses to accept them, asserting her innocence, which leaves Bobby in the unenviable position of defending a client who, to all appearances, was caught red-handed.

ALL MY CHILDREN

Rocked by the realization that Dimitri fathered Maria's child, Erica lured her up to the cabin where she got Maria to admit she slept with him. Feeling empathy for Earl, Hayley asked Tanner to let him stuy asked Tanner to let him stuy apologize to Laura for accusing her of theft. Tanner lied to Hayley about flying her to see Mateo in Texas and, instead, arranged an "emergency" landing. When they took shelter in a cave, he gave her a tolkhow. NEXT WEEK: Erica and labor. NEXT WEEK: Erica and the baby face dancer.

ANOTHER WORLD

At Gabe's funeral, Carl acused Grant of trying to kill Vicky and Bobby, but Cindy's letter could exonerate him. Rachel and Carl experienced an emotional roller coaster after she told him she's presmant, Jake and Chris thwarted and Lard bin to Kirchand. Rackel and him to Sharlene about his upcoming trip, hoping Rachel will find out. NEXT WEEK: Cindy's determination to stick to ber guns was threat-

AS THE WORLD TURNS

Mike realized Diego's voice was coming from the tapes Diego made in Pilar's hospital room. He then told her how he felt about her. John fretted over Margo's PTS attacks. Kim couldn't recall who took he home from the hospital. Holden feared Lily would go to stremes to avenge Damian's death. After admitting he was Diego's blackman the first property of the country o

BOLD AND BEAUTIFUL

Lauren urged Stephanie to ga after her dream of reuniting with Eric. Upset that Ridge hadn't kept their date, Taylor got drunk on champagne and accidentally set her house afire. Thorne arrived in time to pull an unconscious Taylor to safety. In the hospital, a bandaged Taylor told Thorne to return Ridge's ring to him. Lauren and Eric fantasized about each other. Meanwhile, Grant vowed to get control of Forresters. MEXT WEEK: Taylor's bandages come off.

Soap summaries

THECTY

Tracy had Pamela, a retired call girl, take her place in bed next to a surprisingly unresponsive Gino. Both women soon realized he was dead, Alex unwittingly helped Tracy and Zoe hide the body in the freezer, while Carla tried to find her father. Danny almost let slip to Jocelyn about getting Carla pregnant. NEXT WEEK: Carla learns the truth about Gino.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES

As Marlena prepared to tell John about Kristen's deception, he declared his happiness over the birth of "Kristen's" (actually, Susan's) baby. King warned Bo that Hope would also pay the price of any betraval. Jack's prison pal, Travis, was not who he seemed to be. A panicked Kristen learned Lynn didn't give Laura the daily pill that blanked out the memory of her Blake house experience. Later, John and Kristen learned their baby needed heart surgery. Meanwhile, Hope and Billie began competing for Bo's love, unaware they were jeopardizing his life. Lexic told Marlena she saw John and Kristen in bed together. NEXT WEEK: Jack's prison stay could end, but not as he hoped.

Nina told Chris she wished she could feel for Ryan as deeply as Cole feels for Victoria. Later, an upset Ryan found Nina in a bar. Victor told Jill and the Christopher of the Christopher of the Christopher of the Christopher prises into a multi-million dolprises into a multi-million dolar debt. As Sharon continued to bleed, she confided to Grace her fear of losing her baby, and her regret in giving up her first child. Later, josh told a devastated stick they would have to WEEK Grace disuppears.

Anne Meara: Peg of our heart

Anne Meara laughed when it was suggested that whenever her "All My Children" character, Peggy Moody, comes on screen, something momentous is sure to happen in the lives of the Marick Brothers, Dimitri (Michael Nader) and Edmund Grey (John Callahan).

Soap sums Seli Groves

"Most often, the momentous event has to do with putting something on their plates," Anne says. "Like at weddings, engagement parties, funerals."

But every now and then, Peg serves up something more than co-mestibles for the Maricks to chew on. For example, Peg was the first to suspect that Dimitri may have fathered the child carried by Edmund's wife, Maria (Eva LaRue Callahan). And if so, Peg had to tell him of the genetic blood disorder that ran in the family.

"Peg certainly seems to know everything," Anne says. "Maybe she has ESP. But it's more likely that because she's worked for the Maricks for so many years, she knows all their secrets."

Meara says being on the soap has given her a new audience. "Older people who meet me will say they saw my huskand, Jerry Stiller, and me on the Ed Sullivan Show. Or they'll say they remember me from 'Rhoda,' or 'Archie Bunker's Place,' or other shows. But younger people will come

Anne Meara Peggy on 'AMC'

me on 'All My Children.'
But I really don't think I'm all that visible. Most people recognize Jerry from the 'Seinfeld' show more readily than they recognize me."

However, for movie fans, Meara is very much the visible woman. Her credits include "The Boys from Brazil," "Fame," and her son, Ben Stiller's, award-winning film, "Reality Bites."

And speaking of awards, this year's Oscar nominations show Holly-wood's recognition of the growing importance of independent films, and Anne Meara has appeared in some of the best of the "indies," including "An Open Window," and "The Search for One-Eyed Jimmy," with Nicholas Turturro ("NYPD Ries").

"It was a real family production," Anne says. "Besides Nick, there was his brother, John, and cousin, Aida, and his mother. As a matter of fact, if your name had been Turturro, they would probably have put you in it as well."
