Defeat of the Daschle proposal puts the "partial-birth" legislation on track for approval when the Senate resumes consideration of it on Tuesday. Clinton vetoed a similar bill last year and has vowed to veto this one because it does not include an exception to pro-tect women's health. The House passed an identical mea-sure two months ago by more than the two-third majority required to override a veto.

While abortion-rights forces described the Daschle proposal as a retreat from rights of women that were guaranteed by the Supreme Court in it 1973 Rev. Wade decision, the proposal came under even stronger attack from anti-abortion groups, which described it as a "sham" designed to preserve the status quo.

Top GOP lawmaker says he would fire Idaho official

Bolse — The No. 2 Republican in the Idaho House blasted state Health and Welfare Director Linds Caballero on Thursdey, for refusing to cooperate with lewmakers.

Bruce Newcomb of Burley, the GOP Hoor leader and co-chairman of the Legislative Oversight Committee, went so far as to say he would fire Caballero, who lost her job as deputy director during the Andrus administration when she disagreed with the former Democratic governor on Medicaid folicy.

Twish I could be the governor for one day," Newcomb said. "I'd do just what Andrus did."

Gov. Phil Bart, who selected Caballero over Newcomb's brother, Russell, to run the starts' biggest department, was skeptical of Newcomb's claim but indicated he would look into it.

"In fact, everything we've done in health and welfare has been stonewalled, and frankly I'm tired of it," he said. "And that's been standard procedure from this department since I've been here."

Caballero spokesman Dave Ensunss said in retrospect a written acknowledgement to Reynolds that her letter had been received should have been sent.
But, Ensunss said, "the letter didn't indicate that a specific response was necessary within a specific time period back to the committee. We looked at it as a letter that was valid and something we needed to explore." Batt said he has inverted all his department heads to fully cooperate with 'lawmakers and dispated Newcomb's claim that ignoring legislative requests was standard procedure.

ACROSS THE NATION

Storms batter Texas; upper Midwest shivers in snow, chill

Heavy rain that moved through the Dallas-Fort Worth area early Thursday, bringing hall and flash floods, upered off later in the day as the storm softened and moved east.

Rainfall was estimated at up to 3 inches per hour at the height of the storm, which also socked the Amarillo, Texas, area with hall as large as 1 14 inch.

The storm dissipated as showers increased across, the middle Mississpip River Valley into the Midwest through the morning. By midday, only light rain was reported.

A low pressure system was continuing to move toward the Northeast, bringing light rain and even overnight snow showers to Michigan. Houghton Lake in the state's northern point collected nearly § 1.2 inches of snow overnight, breaking a record for the date of 2.3 inches set in 1579.

The cold air behind the system caused a few record lows in the upper Midwest as well. Webster City Lowa, got down to 29 compared to the 1926 record of 30; Dubque, Lowa, was 32, down from 33 in 1973. Much of the central and northern Plains, as well as areas from the Rocky mountains to the Pacific coast, had dry and warm weather, with temperatures rising quickly into the 69s and 70s in the Plains, and to the upper 90s in some desert locations.

By midday, the highest readings in the lower 48 states were in the Low 90s at Blythe and Needles, Calli, and at Gills Bend, Ariz, Morning lows in the 20s were common across North and South Dakou.

Their Radio Highnesses set back anti-drug efforts

Want to join the Drug Free Workplace Com-munity Project? Call: ☐ Jill Chestrut, 737-2906

The people who fight the good fight against drugs must sometimes feel as though their struggle is all uphill.

An example: On Monday, local officials and business people met to promote drug-free workplaces. Mean-while, disc jockeys for a Ketchimbased radio station were giving their net; listeners an earful of how funny and high their box on the air, listeners an earful of how funny and her hawing over their exploit. The autient of the structure of the structure isteners an earful of how funny and hip it is to be stoned on the job.

We almost hesistate to comment, for feaf of feeding the hype over the banana-bread caper. Though KSKI-FM is portraying litself a "victim," this kind of publicity is the mother's milk of broadcasting. Schlock radio, from Howard Stern on down to the drive-time silliness of local morning shows, is the new wasteland of American pop culture. On the edge outrageousness is the key to ratings; maybe being stoned on the air will be the next innovation.

Everyone knows the story by now:

An anonymous listener brought banana bread to the popular morning DIs. Secretly laced with marijuana, the bread sent them to Cloud 8 1/2, where they had a zany time sharing their impairment with their audience. Ha, hal —what fun!

The local police take the incident seriously, even if no one else does. A man alleged to be the banana bread bandit has been arrested.

community. And

maybe not. What do Blaine County parents think about the example it sets?

Coincidentally, example setting was the subject of Monday's meeting in Twin Falls. The "Drug Free Workplace Community Project," backed by leaders in government, education, health care and business, will honor employeers that have drug-free workplacesand encourage others to join them.

Already, more than 600 local employers have drug-free workplace programs. These employers know that sober, unimpaired workers are essential to safety, productivity and quality.

The program starts in July, but employers don't have to wait till then to implement drug-free policies. We encourage all local employers (KSKI included) to join the effort.

The Federal Communications Commission is not a social services agency, but you'd never know it from Chairman Reed Hundt. Even if computers and the Net were free, they wouldn't transform schools in the way that cyber zealors believe. Computers won't teach children to read, write or think. My 7-year-old son has better computer skills than reading skills, but his reading skills ware more critical for his future. The same is also true for low-in-come students. It will rightly be said that many don't learn computer skills at home. But the main problem for these children is basic literacy, not computer literacy. With the former, they'll ultimately get the latter,

The educational benefits may be phantom, but the higher overall phone rates needed to pay for them aren't. The school subsidy will be financed by a tax of about 1 percent on the revenues of all phone faries, which will recover the tax in thair prices. There's another tax to all phone farins, which will recover the tax in the prices. There's another tax to all phone service for poor familles. The abdition of the poor may be justified. The rural subsidy isn't.

To do all this in the name of "deregulation" is odd. In fairness, the FCC is not a free agent. Congress ordered it, in the Telecommunications Act, to act on these issues. That's the politic Congress and the Telecommunications are all practice. The continuities of the property o

BURLEY - A trucking company that shipped frozen products from local Simplot and Ore-lifa plants is closing its Burley hub this month, as the slide in the potato market continues to cut an economic swath through southern Idaho. The Northwest Agricultural Cooperative Association, or NACA, based in Ontario, Ore, has told its six Burley employees that this will be their last month on the job. "With everything that's going on in that area and business so slowed down, we just couldn't keep it open anymore," said Executive Vice President Jerry Ready, "It's scheduled to shut down on the last day of this month."

Ready said the company employs about 260 people, and the more than 35-year-old Burley office was its only satelite hub.

The local manager, Wayne Pufahl, said he knew the business was having trouble dealing with the cutback in processing and competing with bigger runcking comganies. "We kind of saw the months anyhow," he said. "And since NAFTA (the North American Free Trade Agreement), things have really started to slow down." Pufahl, who started with NACA as a driver 22 years ago, said the company offered to move him to Oregon, but the expense and trouble proved too great. He added that at least one of the drivers has been able to find a new job.

Although the closing of a four-truck hub is not as openly devastating as a 350-person layoff, the effects on the community, and what they mean, can be telling nonetheless, according to Larry Roberts, chairman of the Mini-Cassia Economic Development Commission. "Six or seven jobs is still six or seven jobs," he said "They're hard to find." jobs, "he said "They're hard to find." in the said market, and until the community will continue to suffer. "With this one-dimensional area, the potato industry affects so many other aspects of our economy." Roberts said. "There's a rippling effect through all of Mini-Cassia."

Court upholds verdict against medical malpractice claim

BOISE (AP) — Potential jurors in medical malpractice cases who have a doctor-patient relationship with the defendant should not automatically be excluded, the Idaho Supreme Court on Thursday, unanimously ruled against an appeal filed after a jury found for Jurice Thomson in a Gem County medical malpractice claim. The decision was written by Chief Justice Linda Copple Trout, Jackie Morris, mother of Jessie Anna Morris, filed the suit after the child suffered oxygen depri-ration immediately before or after birth in 1988, developing serious physical problems. After a jury ruled for Thomson, the mother appealed District Judge Sergio Guderrer's refusal to automatically exclude as a juror any person who was a patient of the doctor. The Supreme Court said a 1989 circuit court decision rejected such an argument. Automatically excluding jurors should be done only in exceptional situations where circumstances, such as a juror's financial interest in the riral outcome, shows a clear like-lihood of rejudice, the court said. It's possible that a doctor-patient relationship could create a risk of prebate, the court said, but that's something that a lawyer should determine The decision whether to exclude current addividual basis, the court said.

Justice Gerald Schroeder agreed with the majority but cautioned that the ruling should not.

be used too broadly.

"The doctor-patient relationship creates a serious risk of prejudec, and the determination of dremain on the jury panel should be approached with extreme Laution." He said.

If an attorney questions a patient too closely about his or her relationship with a doctor, there's a risk of sworn testimonials on behalf of the doctor that could influence other members of the panel, he said.

Transportation Board member Mike Mitchell said the high cost of the forecasting proposal was not a factor is his decision to close the road. "It's safety," he. said.

"All we have to do is have one accident and I'll feel responsible."

But board member Monte McClure, whose southwestern Idaho district includes the stretch to be closed, said the road probably could have been kept open a month or two more each winter had the board continued current policy. Officials now gate the road when avalanches threaten and roopen it when they determine it is saide.

"I kind of wanted to go along with what the people wanted because it didn't cost any more to do that," said McClure, who voted in the minority.

Stanley Mayor Bunny Danner said she appreciates the board's concern for safety. Closing the highway, however, will be a devastating blow to tourism in 70-resident town.

WORLD IN BRIEF-

Hong Kong softens civil rights stance

HONG KONG — Chin's plans to roll back Hong Kong's civil liberties prompted an outery in a colony used to Western ways.

On Thurssia, Hong Kong's future leaders softened their stance, but it remained unclear whether the territory will be as free after the handover as it is now.

Acting on results of a three-week public consultation, the future government said it would ease planned restrictions on the right to demonstrate and to form links with foreign organizations. It also sought to explain what it meant by "national security" as a reason for restricting civil liberties, indicating that it applied chiefly to advocacy of independence for Taiwan and Tibet — causes China abhors but which have no mass following in Hong Kong.

Bill proposes Scottish, Welsh legislatures

LONDON — Keeping an election promise, Britain's new Labor government introduced a bill Thursday in Parliament to hold referendiums on setting up separate legislature for Soudand and Wales. The bill would allow 5 million Scots and 2.5 million Welsh to vote his fall on whether they awant heir own assemblies — which the defeated Conservative Party says will lead to independence and shatter the United Kingdom.

Some Labor supporters also oppose the plan, but Prime Minister Tony Blair's huge majority in the House of Commons will ensure its passage.

Also opposed is the Scottish National Party, which gets about one-fifth of the vote in Scotland and wants the option of full indepen-dence put on the referendum.

Indonesia campaign traffic accidents claim 6

JAKARTA, Indonesia — Election-related traffic accidents in the Indonesian capital have killed six more people, mostly campaigners who fell off trucks or were hit by cars during parades, police said Thursday.

Thursday.

More than 55 people have died in campaign-related road accidents so far, despite a government ban on parades, rallies and other forms of street campaigning aimed at preventing violence between supporters of rival paries.

The government has also outlawed posters supporting pro-demo-racy leader Megawah Sukamoputri, who was barred from contesting the May 29 election after she demanded the government institute democratic reforms.

Algeria election attack leaves 30 dead

ALGIERS, Algeria — Men armed with knives, hatchets and pick-axes massacred 30 villagers — more than half of them children — in a pre-dawn attack Thursday aimed at sabotaging Algeria's legislative a pre-dawn attack I hursayay ulineu at successing and a succession clections.

The attack in the village of Chebli, 15 miles south of the capital, came hours before the official opening of campaigning for the June Svote.

It is the first parliamentary election in five years, since the army aborted a ballot to keep the fundamentalist Islamic Salvation Front rom winning. The Front is excluded from the new elections. No one immediately claimed responsibility for Thursday's mastarce, but security forces called the killers a "band of criminals," language used to designate Muslim insurgents trying to topple the military backed autoremment.

Princess Diana joins anti-land mine effort

CINICES DIGITIS AUTH-IGIO MINE effort
LONDON — Princess Diana will bring her campaign to bian land mines to the United States next month.
The British Red Cross announced Thursday that she will attend an American Red Cross gala on June 17 that hopes to raise $500,000 for land mine victims around the world.
The Red Cross said the money will be used for prosthetic devices for land mine victims, surgical training, and assistance in hospitals and rehabilitation programs. The international Red Cross is campaigning for a worldwide ban on land mines.

Shevardnadze to discuss possible papal visit

SHEWATURIAUZE TO dISCUSS DOSSIDIE PAPAI VISIT.

ROME — Georgian President Eduard Shewardnadze said he will discuss a possible papal visit to his former Soviet republic when he meets Friday with Fope John Paul II.

Shewardnadze was to meet the pope privately at the Vatican on the last day of his three-day visit to Italy, as well as with the Vatican contents of state, Cardinal Angelo Sodano.

John Faul has expressed a strong desire to visit the former Soviet Union, but tensions in the Utraine and Russia between Orthodox and Roman Catholics have made any trip there so on unlikely. Most Georgians are Georgian Orthodox. There is a small Muslim minority with their own regional government.

New computer gaming store attracts young hackers

TWIN FALLS — Once video-game reades arrived, could computer-gaming tores be far behind?

Not very.

Hackers, a local interactive computer gaming store — the industry frows of the word "arcade" — opened in Centennial Square on April 12, to a young mostly male audience.

It's the fourth computer-game emporium in southern Idaho — there are two in Boise and one in Pocatello — and part of a national wave of networked computer emming.

DEAR ABBY: I am 11 years old I'm in the sixth grade and I'm adopted. I don't have a mother, but I have two dads. My dad adopted me just after I unned 1 year old because my mother took drugs and didn't take care of me. My dad met his lover when I was 4; and we have lived together since I was 6. The reason I am writing is for all the people who say bad things about my dad and me. It's usually not the kids at school, it's their parents and some of my teachers.

Some people say that living with my dad is going to make me gay, but his parents raised him to be straight and he isn't. My daid was born gay and he can't change who he is. He says you stiller and who he is. He says you street. He has been so the read one to like boys (or girds). He says when I am older, I will feel loves John, just like my godmother: loves her husband and just like my uncle loves his wife.

Will grade requirements destroy college athletics?

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) – A bill in the Texas legislature has been additionable by University of Texas and the state's public sollegers at the state's public sollegers at the reduced to an afterthought if the measure passes. The bill would require college athletes to match the grade-point average of their fellow students to get state-funded athletic scholarships. "It would be a disaster if it would be a disaster if it passed," basketball coach Tom Penders on Wednesday told the Senate Education Committed, which took no action on the bill. "You might as well blow up the too ball field and the baskerball contains and make parking lus out. Also opposing the measure were former football coach Jody Conradt and athletic director DeLoss Dodds. The bill would result in Texas being dropped from the Big 12 conference, Dodds said.

Consumer prices edge up 0.1% in April

But fears about inflation continue

WASHINGTON — Consumer prices inched up 0.1 percent in April, but continuing uncertainty about inflation sustained worries the Federal Reserve might raise interest rates again next might ruise interest tauts again non-week.

"Inflation's not dead," said David Wyss, chief, economist—with DRIMcGraw-Hill in Lexington, Mass. Declining food and energy costs tem-pered higher retail prices for other products and services including cloth-ing, tobacco, medical care and airline tickets, holding price increases so far this year to an annual rate of 1.5 per-cent.

this year to an annual rate of 1.5 per-cent.

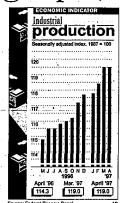

But when volatile prices for food and energy are excluded — as analysts often do to gauge broader economic trends — prices were up 0.3 percent last month, the largest increase since September. That left the fore rate of inflation rising at an annual rate of 2.7 the year.

Analysts eads the retail price report-isn't worrisome unless it's the begin-ning of a trend, especially considering good news Wednesdey that prices paid to producers of goods plunged 0.6 per-cent in April, their deepest decline in nearly four years.

But separate news Thursday or unemployment benefits suggests that the nation's jobless rate is holding at a 23-year-low of 4.9 percent, causing

April, with declines in fruit and vegetables, cereal and bakery products and dairy products offsetting increases in meat, poultry, fish and eggs. The 9.1 percent drop in fresh vegetable prices, including a 13.8 percent decline for tomatoes, was the largest since June 1993.

In April, clothing costs shot up 0.9 percent, the worst since February 1993. Tobacco costs rose 2.4 percent, the largest increase in nearly seven years. Airline fares increased 1.2 percent, on top of a 4.5 percent jump in March, reflecting the continuing readjustment after the reimposition of the 10 percent federal airline cicket tax.

THE ACES ON BRIDGE®

"Only the wearer knows where the shoe pinches." - English moverh

"How can I tell when to draw trumps as opposed to establishing sloe-auit winners?" asks a reader. In this touchy area, a general rule can be useful. The rule is: "Ween the trump suit is solid, establish the side suit first. When the side suit is solid, and trumps the side suit is solid, and must after the second diamond, what next?

If he draws trumps, he is left with only one trump and must score two club winners to reach 10 tricks. When he plays the ace and another club, the suit breaks nicely, but it does him no good and South's last trump is chearts, but when he leads a the round of clubs, West wins and cashes a diamond forthe setting trick.

If South follows the general rule, he makes his game easily. He ruifs the second diamond as before and plays the ace and another club. The defense wins and punches South with another diamond. South doggedly leads a third club to West's king, but what can West do? If he leads a diamond, South can ruff in either hand, draw trumps, and claim. And if West leads anything else. mond, South ean Full in either hand, draw trumps, and claim. And if West leads anything else,

And if West leads anything else, the play is even easier.

In today's layout, South's 10th winner can come only from the club suit. A 3-2 club break will do it, but only if the second club winner is developed before South loses control of the hand. HORSES. Double L. Equation of the Control of the Co

Homer's ancient hero undertakes 'The Odyssey

Greek mythology comes to life on network TV this week, thanks to talents who definitely know how to make an epic.

Robert Halmi Sr. was the executive producer of last year's Emmy-honored version of "Gulliver's Travels," while Francis Ford Coppola is the Oscarwinning filmmaker behind the "Godfather" screen saga. On Sunday and Monday, their skills are combined in "The Odyssey," NBC's new miniseries version of the classic Homer poem that follows the exploits of Ithacan leader Odysseus (played by Armand Assante) on his joureverything Odysseus has - including Penelope -("Presumed Innocent") portrays Penelope, the wife who waits loyally for his return, though that ultimately takes two decades ... but it's quite a colorful and challenging period of time for him.

Among the many figures he meets along the way: Athena, the Goddess of Wisdom (Isabella Rossellini): the seductive sea nymph Calypso (ac-tress-singer Vanessa Williams); the equally tempting enchantress Circe (Bernadette Peters); and the greedy Eury-machus (Eric Roberts), who makes a play for while he's away. Adapted for television by Nicholas Meyer, directed by Andrei Konchalovsky ("Runaway Train") and filmed in Turkey, Malta and England...the lavish production also features Oscar recipient Irene Papas ("Zorba the Greek"), Geraldine Chaplin, Christopher Lee,

Jeroen Krabbe and

Michael I. Pollard. "It was not only a short list, this was it," Halmi says of choosing "The Odyssey" as his miniseries follow-up after his ratings triumph with "Gulliver's Travels" last season. "We were really waiting on 'Gulliver' to get a green light from from NBC, and obviously, when they saw how that performed, The Odyssey' was on (that net-work's) list." In Halmi's view, the success of "Gulliver" indicated that "People want something of value that is not only literate and educational, but is also entertaining at the same time. There has to be a kind of television rebirth, where the networks could use their time the best way in four or six or eight hours. You can tell stories (there) that the bigscreen competition can't in two hours."

Q: I heard that something upset Brooke Shields at her wedding to Andre Agassi. What was it?—KL. A: The ring. Shields, 31, wanted Agassi, 27, to wear a wedding ring and got him one, but she got one that was a bit too small. In all of the frenzy leading up to the ceremony, he put it in a tissue that got thrown out and wound up in a Dumpster with a load of other trash.

But all's well that ends well. After the newlyweds left on their honeymoon, their families searched through the trash, found it and sent Brooke urged Grant to say he was in person. Next Week: Michelle mistaken about Ridge being the shooter. Next Week: Hunter comes un with a possible blockbuster!

DAYS OF OUR LIVES

When Marlena threatened to tell John everything, Kristen had her locked in the secret room. John later assumed Stefano kidnapped Mar-lena again. Celeste heard an Elvis song while looking at John, Jr. and asked Susan outright if the baby was Kristen's or hers. Franco told his boss the longer Billie was in jail, the more time Bo and Hope would have to re-solve their problems. After Austin denied to Carrie that he'd slept with Sami, Sami told Currie how great it was to wake up with him that morning. Later, Austin fumed at seeing Carrie with Mike — her first secret crush. Ivan went to the wine cellar and wondered if Kristen ever fixed the secret room's door latch. Susan met "Elvis" at Salem Place and after learning Marlena was missing as-sumed the vampires (Ivan and Vi-vian) got her. Next Week: Is Peter

GENERAL HOSPITAL

Luke saved Nikolas from falling down the mountainside, and learned he was there to check on the safety of Laura, Lesley, and Luiu. The Feds grilled Jax. Mean-while, Brenda asked Sonny about the planted drugs. After an unsuccessful effort to get into the con-vent, Lucy and Felicia disguised themselves as nuns to get the infor-mation they needed. Carly tried to keep Tony from finding out she'd been at Justus' office. A.J. made plans to leave the Quartermaine mansion. Next Week: Monica gets closer to the truth about Dorman.

GUIDING LIGHT

Annie feigned distress to see Reva arrested for causing her fall Later, she triumphantly welcomed Josh back to their home, unaware this was part of his plan to reunite with Reva. Against Rick's wishes. Phillip supported Michelle's deci-sion to find the person who recelved her mother, Maureen's, heart. Blake confided in Roger about Annie's threat to undo her fragile marriage to Ross if she (Blake) comes clean about Annie's activities. Meanwhile, Alan laughed off Reva's plea that he tell the truth and prove her innocent. Matt decided to throw caution to the winds and meet Tess (Vanessa) and Bill make an exciting discoverv.

Next Week: Sasha faces danger.

Amelia Marshall: Telling stories

The first time I chatted with Amelia Marshall, she was on "Guiding Tieht" and was also star ring in an off-off Broad-"Minor way play, "Minor Demons," She has since joined "All My Children" as the lovely Belinda, and recently starred in a new production of the play. Amelia says there's no secret potion that can allow an actor to do a full day's work on a soap, and then go off to the theater to play a character who is onstage for most of the erformance without collansing from exhaustion.

"On the contrary," says Amelia, "if you love to act, as I do, you find yourself energized when vou're performing. whether it's on stage for the play or on set for the

The last time we spoke. Amelia said her dream was to play the late Dorothy Dandridge, a beautiful and gifted ac tress and singer who died soon after her acclaimed performance in the film. "Carmen Jones," oppo-site Harry Belafonte...

That's still my dream." Amelia said. And the more I've been learning about Dorothy, the more amazed I am by what she was able to accomplish in her very short life." Would Dorothy have become another Lena Home had she lived long enough to fulfill her potential? 'I'd say there could only be one Lena Horne," Amelia an-swered, "But Dorothy Dandridge would, I'm sure, have created her own legend." Asked about other

"dream" roles, Amelia said, "I did a play a number of roles years Hearts.' It dealt with four couples whose ages. ranged from late-20s to mid-40s who shared stories about their lives. I'd love to have a role in a film like that: No great social statements; just some nice date movies that you can enjoy while you're watching them, and that make you feel good at the end
