Adult newspaper seized from racks in raids

Adult newspaper Seized from racks in raids PHIOENIN — Law enforcement officers in black ski masks seized hundreds of copies of an adult newspaper in raids stemming from a new law that restricts the sale of sexually explicit publications from public racks.

The publisher of the Beat said seizing copies of his newspaper from sidewalk wending machines was a violation of his constitutional freedom of expression, a position hacked by at least one First Amendment expert.

The raids Wednesday at 15 sites in Phoenix and the surrounding suburbs stem from a law that took effect July 21 making it a felony to sell or display sexually oriented material that is harmful to minors except via access-card or token-activated machines or in businesses that cater to adults.

Poll: Public skeptical of tobacco deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans are highly suspicious of the proposed tobacco dead, saying it won't even achieve a prime objective of lowering teen-age smoking unless cigarette prices rise much more than expected, according to an Associated Press poll.

More than half of those surveyed say the dead is not worth giving up the key concession that cigarette makers demand — banning class-action lawsuits. And two-thirds expect tobacco companies to sell as many cigarettes as ever. Seventy percent say the price of a pack of cigarettes would have to rise by more than $1 — much more than expected under the deal — to have much effect on teen smokers.

Gates is a winner, but not a true innovator ill Gates isn't God - not yet. Every so often, the media anoint some business figure with mythical powers. Gates tas. Jules Feiffer caught the mood in a recent cartoon entitled "Bill Gates Visits the Grand Canyon." Gates is peering into the canyon, and the canyon thinks: "He makes me feel so insignificant." But the canyon will still be there when Gates is long gone. The obsession with Gates says more about our faddishness than it does about his place in history.

when Gates is long gone. Inc ousessessivith Gates says more about our faddishness than it does about his place in history.

Gates is his own best promoter. It's hard to escape him, whether he's chatting with Tom Brokaw, or letting Time editor Walter Isaacson glimpse his personal life ("In Search of the Real Bill Gates," Jan. 13). Aside from sheer vanity or a desire to philosophize, Gates' openness probably reflects self-interest. Given Microsoft's power, he knows that it will constantly be servitained for antitrust violations. He seeks to project a folksy image – in a geekish way – to counter criticism that he's terrorizing the computer industry.

To say (as Newsweek does) that his impact has been "unprecedented" is silly. Astonishing though the PC may be, its social significance still falls short of that of many past technologies: the railmad (which created a national market); the automobile (which transform of history of the computer of the computer of the computer and many deady infections).

Even if the PC were now in a league with these, Microsoft has made none of its critical technical advances. These started with the invention of the transistor in the late 1940s and then of the integrated circuit in 1957. In 1971, Intel developed the microprocessor, the PC's 'brains." Apple popularized the personal computer as something for everyone.

Gates has been a brilliant opportunist. He benefited from one of the biggest business blunders of modern times. IBM's oversight in not buying the operating system (MS-DOS) for its personal computer in 1981. Instead, it left Microsoft the exclusive rights to this software. As IBM cloning much roomed, Gates had a license to prim money. And Microsoft didn't even write the original DOS program, which was purchased for $75,000 from anecter small start-up firm.

Bill Gates has "achieved an unprecedented, and still growing, impact on the civilized world.

-Newsweek Aug. 18, 1997

None of this dims Gates' business skills, It was not precretained that Microsoft account, while other companies (IBM, Digital Equipment, Apple) sums blooppoly of the property of the property

But Gates' business triumphs do not yet qualify him as an immorator in the mold of, say, Edison or Ford. Consider the comparison with Ford Both were early enthusiasts for a new technology. Ford tinkered in a woodshed to build his first car in 1896; Gates wrote software as a teen sager. Ford didn't personally invent any critical technical improvement to the car; as noted, the story is similar for Gates and the computer. What separate Cates and the computer. Between 1508 and 1523, Ford's comput went from 10.202 to 1.5 million cars. His approach was widely copied. De cummest, the PC emplosion has been driven by the growing power of chips to make computers more versatile and size of mission with the computers more versatile and size of mission with the computers more versatile and size of mission with the computers more versatile and size of mission with the computer of the versatile and size of mission with the computer of the versatile and the limited strikenes. Momcilo Krajisnik, Karadzic's closest aide and the Serb member of the tripartite Bosnian presidency, issued a veiled warning to the NATO force.

He told a rally in Bijeljina that NATO's commanders must open communications with the Karadizi leadership in Pale, east of Sarajew. "Otherwise, I'm afraid, the situation will be very hard to control," he said.

Bull Police Department city code enforcement officer Randy Williams, 33, was driving north in the city pickup on Clear Lakes Road Wednesday alternoon when he was hit by a car driving across Clear Lakes Road, an Idaho State Police report said. Williams was near the intersection of Broadway Avenue North, and the other car pulled out from Larry's Quick Mart and across traffic, the report said.

The car left the scene. Officers later locared the driver, Ruben Cervanites Ramirez, 16, of Bahl, the report said.

Williams was taken to Magic Valley Regional Medical Center for treatment of neck and back injuries, the report said.

4 charged with starting fires near Mountain Home

BOISE - Three juveniles and 18-year-old Kalvin Bean of Mountain Home have been charged in Elmore County with starting 19 fires last month near Bruneau and C.J. Strike Reservoir.

Elmore County sherifi's detective Catherine McCoy said Thursday that each suspect faces eight counts of third-degree arson. If they're convicted, each count carries up to 10 years in jail and a $50,000 fine. The fires burned about $500 acres of private and federal land and threatened a home before being brought under control by Bureau of Land Management firefighters.

New traffic light in service on Pole Line TWN FALLS - A new traffic light is in service at the intersection of Bridgestew Boulevard and Pole Line Road, but drivers should note it's a little different from every other traffic light in town.
The new light will make life easier for drivers wanting to turn left across a relentlest procession of oncoming traffic, said City Engineer Gary Young, Simply put, left-turners who run out of time waiting for oncoming traffic will get a "protected" left-turn arrow to make their getaway.
Without the protected feature, left-turn drivers in heavy traffic often are forced to do the deed after the light has turned red
- thus jeopardizing public safety and forcing other drivers to wait.
The new light will allow left-turn drivers to clear out of the intersection in an orderly fashion, Young said.

Dairy dispute hearing postponed

Dairy dispute nearing postponed GOODING - Owners of the Shoshone-based 4 Brothers Dairy and Bonnie Arkoosh were to air their dispute before Department of Water Resources agents Tuesday. But the hearing has been delayed at the request of the dairy's owners, and now is set for 9 a.m. Oct. 22 at Gooding City Hall, said Water Resources officer Glon Boaton.

The 4 Brothers Dairy owners this year applied to move some of their Gooding County water rights to their land just north of Shoshone in hopes of using the water rights for a new 2,000-cow dairy. Arkoosh filed a protest against the proposed exchange, claiming it would have an adverse effect on other area water users.

Three Dog Night revisits old hits at Labor Day concert

Mith 18 consecutive Top 20 hits, 11 of which were Top 10s and three No. 1's, the Los Angeles-based septer dominated rock-radio play lists in the early 1970s, setting the stage of other long-lived singles-oriented supergoups, such as Chicago.

TDN's formula was a bankable brew of soul-flavored pop rock, written by songwriters outside of the band.

Best known for its 1971 hit "Joy to the World," the group is still one of the best-selling acts in rock history, with seven million-selling singles and 12 gold LPs.

Named after an Australian slang expression for a very cold night, the band's sound was unique when it was organized in the '60s – three lead singers doing harmony, with four musicians in the background.

Ketchum rolls out the West at annual festival

KETCHUM – This is not a weekend for Sun Valley's chic reputation as a star-studded world class ski mountain to shine; it's a weekend to step back in time, drop designer labels and remember the days when mining – not moguls – put the Wood' River Valley on the map.
Welcome to the 39th Annual Wagon Days, Ketchum's Labor Day elebration, which officially kicked off Thorsday.

The showpiece of the celebration is the Big Hitch Parade, the biggest

The Big Hitch Parade in the West.
The Big Hitch is an original string of impressive, tall wagons pulled by a team of Percheron lusres.

Today, the strong-backed horses live in Picabo and are driven by Moj Broadie and his Outriders. The wagms, owned by Horace C. Lewis, were used in the 1880s for hauling ore form dozens of mines high in the mountains. Filled with tons of ore, they would barrel down such treacherous roadways as Trail Creek Road, the tail end of a journey which sometimes went as long as 150 miles.

The huge wagons completed a grueling road trip up over Trail Creek to Challis, Clayton and Bonana. They would eventually hook up with the Union Pacific rail lines. If it weren't for the mighty ore wagons, the conmaction would never have been Ketchum didn't have a use more allegate. The wagons carried both wealth and gossip from the outside world into Ketchum and its neighboring mining towns. Today's hiking maps show points of interest, many of which were boom towns surrounding the area's mines.

Grand marshal embodies Old West

Times-News correspondent

Times-Mew correspondent
KETCHUM - He was born a Twin Falls boy, but nobody embodies the spirit of mining days and an era gone by better than Rupert House, this year's grand marshal of the Big Hitch parade.
The 81-year old House is best known in recent history as the toughtalking county commissioner, who served 16 years on a mostly Democratic board as the lone Ropublican.
But House and Bonnie, his wife of 63 years, raised five children and are best known for their ties to the minist world. House bristles when he hears talk that the valley's history began 1936, when Union Pacific Railroad baron Averell Harriman created Sun Valley.

"I came up here the same year Sun Valley started building," he said, "I watched the whole thing, Mining was good to me. I enjoyed every minute of it. It aggravates me to see historians say history started here with skiing. That's not true. It came with mining," Houses still owns the lion's share of the now defunct Triumph Mine out looking over his local hills, he can still be found at public meetings, and aerobics classes at the senior center.
This weekend you will find him as the man of honor for the biggest event in the valley.

the man of honor for the biggost event in the valley. House was 20 years old when he moved to the Wood River Valley in 1936, He dug lead, silver and zinc out of 5 mines during his 30-year career. He claims the only successful carpooling to ever happen here was when trucks full of miners went up and down the highway looking for a good day's ware.

When he got into politics, he was the man who parked his comboy by assumed politically incorrect quotes under a his eral table, tangling it up over issues like the hilbidia ordinance. He not only voted no on the controversial ordinance, but refused to sign it.

"I built my house on a hill so I could see both ways down the road." House still maintains.

The spunky notogenarian didn't retire because of ace, but said the bad lost its "int" factor.

House epitomizes the spurit of Wagon Days and the elebharition of the mining heritage. At Triumph's peak, he employed 150 to 300 employees, and cut many a hefty paycheck for locals during the decades the mine operated.

operated.
Rupert House has stuck to his gun-defending the ways of the Old West.

All in all, it's a frightening list.
The underlying problems are with the way we grow, process, store and transport meat. Though have found ways to lurk about. Some are able to cling even to stainless steel and to resist a light scrubbing.

America's favorite food, hamburger, is particularly susceptible to infection.

Still, it's probably not necessary to become, as Fox has, a vegetarian. In an appendix, Fox outlines what people need to do to eat safely it's not too tard:

Cook meats to 160 degrees Fahrenheit (no pink left in beef, clear juices from chicken);

Use separate cutting boards for meat and vegetables;

wash vegetables;
Clean up the kitchen;

Be careful whats.

Be careful what you order at restaurants.
 The appendix's rather elementary safety advice undercuts the scary tone of the rest of "Spoiled." And the government has taken recent steps to reduce the danger. For instance, the FDA recently banned feeding sheep or cow remains to sheep and cows, to reduce the chances of mad cow disease spreading.

around family values. Lazarus, 34, rails against Gloria Steinem: "She never labored in childbirm, been married to a police licatenant ... had a hysterectomy at 30, And she's not an Orthodox Jewi!" What 34-year-old, unless she were cryoepenically frozen in 1972 and thawed in 1997, would get in such a snit over the sexagenarian Steinem? What's kind of cute is the fact that Decker's an Irish cop who converted to Judaism when he married Lazarus. If only they weren't both such unpleasant characters.

Insurance provides no support for woman's breast reduction

DEAR ABBY: I was upset when I read the letter from "Sally B." about bra straps. However, when I read the comments from other readers, I was furious!

I am a 50-year-old woman who wears a 34DD bra. Last year, I consulted a surgeon about hereast reduction, but was told he wouldn't be able to take off enough for my insurance to pay for it.

He told me he would have to take off 50 ounces in order for them to pay for it – and he could only remove 4 ounces without making me look bottom-heavy. They go by the average womans height, which is 5 feet, 4 inches. I am only 5 feet tall, so until I can grow more chest, I'm out of luck. During the hot summer months, wearing a bra is uncomfortable to say the least, I envy women whordon't have to. The bras made to wear with tank tops have elastic straps.

They don't work. Someone my size looks like a conv. Someo

Another approach might be to ask your insurance agent to as you in obtaining authorization.

Youth orchestra auditions set

TWIN FALLS - Monday is the deadline for auditions for the newly-formed Magic Valley Youth Orchestra. Auditions will be held Sept. 8 at the College of Southern Idaho Fine Arts Auditorium.
Applications and times for auditions may be obtained by calling Diane Vaughan at 738-8211.

The Youth Orchestra, under the direction of Carson Wong, is sponsored by the CSI Music Department. Rehearsals will begin Sept. 13.

Anyone playing violia, viola, cello or bass is encouraged to audition. Since the size of the orcher a will depend on the number of applicants and the balance of the instruments, it is important that viola, cello and bass players apply.
If anyone is interested in serving on the board of the Magic Valley Youth Orchestra, or for more information, call Diane at 735-8211.

Haneke continued: "It's so important to give the spectator a sense of what violence truly is. It's the opposite of violence-asspectacle, of violence-for-effect." Eyes have been averted, too, at early screenings of "Nil by Mouth," the directorial debut of English actor Gary Oldman. "A semi-autobiographical look at the wiry performer's tough south London background, the film couldn't be further from the fanciful — and expensive — summer blockbusters ("The Fifth Element," "Air Force One") where Oldman earns his keep.

One") where Oldman earns his keep.
The scarred heart of "Nil by Mouth" is the raging father Raymond (played by Ray Winstone), who in one menorably shocking scene beats wife Valerie (Kathy Burke, winner of the best actress prize at Cannes) until she is literally black and blue.

"I just wanted to be really true to that world," said Oldman, distinguishing his treat-ment of violence from "movie violence that isn't about any-violence that isn't about anything."

As filmed, the abuse emphasizes Raymond's brute power without further degrading Valerie.

"It wanted you to see the physical strength of the man, not the body of the woman on the floor."
Oldman said, adding that after the incident what he loved was that "he's seen behind glass, that big stomach hanging over those boxer shorts."

What isn't shown, of course, can be as frightening as what is—a blood-spattered television in "Fenny Games," or the grimy, rain-soaked streets that carry their own unspoken threat in "Nil by Mouth."

But, said Wenders, "now the rule of thumb seems to be show it all; the more you show, the better you sell."

On stage, Reeves tries his best to deflect all the attention. He dresses plainly (a T-shirt and jeans without, thankfully, the trendy hole in the knee) and doesn't say anything into the microphone. He doesn't even show the joy that he says he gets from playing music.
Offstage, he's equally reserved. When a photographer tries to place him in the center of the trio, he demurs and nudges Domrose into the center spot. Hey, I'm just the bass player," he says. "Bret's the singer." The attitude carries over to the interview, where it's a struggle to get Reeves to talk at length about even the most routine musical questions. He wants to avoid being the star. "How do you guys feel about that?" Reeves will say when he feels he's doing too much of the talking.

"I'm just making it up as I'm going along," he says at one point, when asked how he balances his music and movies.

Reeves put the band on hold for seven months last year to film Devil's Advocate," a drama, also starring Al Pacino, that is due this fall. Hell take another, hopefully shorter, break early next year for his next film, a science-fiction work titled "Matrix."

Geoff Bodine

By Monte Outton ASCAR This Week

The distinguished Winston Cup career of Geoff Bodine has run like a roller-coaster in recent years.

After buying the team once owned by the late Alan Kulwicki, Bodine won races at Pocono, Michigan and North Wilkesboro in 1994, Bodine spent that year using Hoosier tires before that company pulled out of the sport at the end of the season. In 1995, Bodine went win less and sank into deep persess and sank into deep per-sonal depression, primarily because of a highly public divorce. In 1996 he bounced back with a victory at Watkins Glen, but financial problems ruined his effort during the first half of the current sea-son. Finally Rodine solut the son. Finally Bodine sold the majority interest in his team to businessmen Jim Mattei and John Porter. Bodine hopes the influx of new capi-tal will once again put his No. 7 Ford at the front of the READERS ASK THE QUESTIONS Dear NASCAR This Week, If the crew sees that its car is going to win and comes across the wall before the car crosses the finish line, is there a penalty?

Kyle Frazier Charleston, III.

Dear NASCAR Race Fan, The number of men allowed over the pit wall applies only to a pit stop. It would be unlikely for any kind of penalty to be assessed unless NASCAR officials viewed the situation as being dangerous.

Dear NASCAR This Week

I have been a dichard fan of Rusty Wallace for about five years now. This year, however, I have been very disappointed. I'm not always let down by Wallace, but by Robin Pemberton and the Penske team, too. There have been numerous engine failures this year to add to his DNFs. Why is this happening? I was also wondering if there has been any more talk about a driver joining Rusty and Peniberton.

S. Miller

Dear NASCAR Race Fan, Penske Team South is probably as concerned as you about their troubles, and you can bet the team is working to correct them. Wallace announced earlier that the team would continue to field only one car in 1998:

Economy maintains robust pace

WASHINGTON — The U.S. economy grew much faster in the second quarter than widely thought, erasing perceptions of a sharp slowdown this past spring, and causing analysts to now predict a slowdown in the second half of the year.

The Commerce Department said Thursday that the grass domestic product, the sum of all goods and services produced in the Ulnited States, rose to a seasonally adjusted arnual rate of 3.6 percent during April-June, based on stronger exports and the largest rise in inventories in 13 years. The revision — the biggest in nearly four years — was significantly stronger than the 2.2 percent pace — which was previously restreed downward from 5.6 percent.

While many economy watchers dismissed the report as old news, others saw the numbers as erasting the perception thus far of inflation/free growth this year. Wall Street reacted almost immediately, with scoks pluning by more than 100 points in early trading.

Among the worries are that the big build-up in second quarter inventories—the largest since 1584—could depress third-quarter growth, analysis said.

Mortage rates continue upward trend

WASHINGTON (AP) — Average interest rates on 30-year, fixed-rate mortgages rose to 7.58 percent this week, the third increase since the end of July, when the average hit at 17 12-month low.

The average increase from 7.46 percent a weak day, Rates have moved up and down this year, depending on the degree of nervousness in financial markets about inflation.

Fifteen-year mortgages, a popular option for those refinancing, averaged 7.12 percent this week, up from 6.99 percent a week earlier.

Contlaued from EL 38,000 students enrolled in more than 1,900 career-related education programs in 14 states.
Most of them are two-year or less training programs designed to teach specific job skills.
His research starts by asking job-training students the most basic of questions:
Are you learning what you expected to learn in this program?
How long does it take a full-time student to complete the program?
How modern is the equipment in your program's work area?
How much money do you expect or the program?
How much will it cost you to complete this program?
Are you working in a full- or part-time job while in this program?
Hot calls it a "customer saits faction" approach to describing and judging job-training programs.
By asking these questions, which prospective students most commonly ask, and by gathering answers from people who have been through the programs, he believes hell have information fat will expeditiously direct from the programs of the programs, the believes hell have information.
Hoys taid it's sometimes been challenging to get training programs to agree to have their students take the 113-question survey.
"A lot want to know what's in it for them," he said.

Hey, I'm going to change all this," said Walter Helmerich, a Caterpillar board member from 1952 to 1952. "In a company as big as Caterpillar lost Sold million in 1991, during Fites' first full year in control, and $218 million in 1991, during Fites' first full year in control, and $218 million in 1992. But that alone does not account for the turnaround. Under Fites, the company has gotten leaner and meaner — with more emphasis on the latter, former union leader Solomon says. Caterpillar has a long history of testy relations with the union, but they had become more amicable during the modernization. Then the two sides tried to negocopting in September 1991.

Today — after two major strikes, dozens of brief walkouts and endless negotiating sessions — Caterpillar and the union still have not agreed on a new contract.

Insiders say Fites became the driving force behind the company's decision to oppose the union's practice of "pattern bargaining" — a process in which the UAW wanted all companies in an industry to adopt essentially the same contract.

in an industry to adopt essentially the same contract.
Caterpillar refused. A strike followed, and it ended five months later when the company threatened to hire permanent replacements.
That was a momentous decision," Helimerich, the former board member, said. "Year after year, whenever the contract came due, we just knuckled under and paid the union whatever they demanded."

"That was such an extremely dangerous move that he had to get the directors on board. We talked about it for a year, maybe a year and a hall."
The union walked again in June 1994. This time Caterpillar was prepared. It hired temporary and pay an army of white-collar workers onto the factory floors. Caterpillar kept operating—and smashed its profit records. After 17 months, the union abandoned its strike.
Fites has pushed for a contract that would give Caterpillar the flexibility to thrive in times of boom and bust, including lower starting pay for some workers, less overtime and greater use of temporary workers, who receive fewer benefits.
The feud has led to bitter feelings, with under his profit received the strike of the strike.

But Solomon said Fites had effectively bulldozed the years of cooperation between the union and the company.

"What trust was built up was all shattered," Solomon said Fites had ever will."

Techs dive, sending Dow plummeting

NEW YORK — The stock market ended another session of tumultuous trade lower Thursday, ignoring a surge in bond prices as a revenue warning from one technology company sparked a broad sell-off. The Dow Jones industrial average sank 92.90 to finish at 7694.43, swinging in a 152-point range.

Stocks traded lower for most of the day, and the market manged to stage a brief rally with two hours left to trade, bringing the Dow up by more than 24 points. But that rally fizzled and stocks tumbled a new following a skid in the futures market.

New York Stock Exchange imposed computerized trading restrictions an unprecedented four times to the downside when the Dow fell by 50 points on separate occasions.

even as consumers are being bombarded by the latest beef safety scare.

The nation's second-biggest hamburger chain announced today it's adding the Big King sandwich to its regular menu across the country in direct competition with the Big Mac from dustry leader McDonald's.

Burger King said the new sandwichs will go on sale over the Labor Day weekend and will be priced for at least two weeks at 90 cents.

Burger King, the plant's biggest customer, pulled all of the hamburger mest supplied by the Arkansas-based company from its stores and said it would no longer buy beef from Hudson. That move left about one quarter of Burger King preating for a day or two last week. There is no indication any tainted meat wound up in Burger King products.

The new Big King sandwiches contain two beef patties, cheese and a special sauce as the Big Mac does.

But the Big King will have 75 percent more beef — 5.6 omness vs. 32 ounces — and won't have the extra slice of bread that separates the patties in the Big Mac.

"We are going after their flagship sandwich with something better, that is broiled and not fried and that people can have your way," franchisce Thomas Willcox said Wednesday in advance of the company's announcement.

Feds find many problems with Union Pacific

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Dangerous train maneuvers, 90-hour work weeks and missing freight information are undermining safety on the nation's largest railroad the Federal Rail Administration chief said Wednesday.

Wednesday.

Jolene M. Molitoris' grim assessment came midway through her agency's 10-day, sys-temsude actey retiwe of Union Pacific Railroad, which was prompted by a recent series of train wrecks that killed seven people.

Eighty inspectors are riding the rails, talking to work crews and honering over dispatchers, she said. They found serious dispatcher errors, including one imprompts decision to run a train against the flow of rail traffe.

Molitoris met with Union

Pacific President Jerry Davis for almost three hours Wednesday to discuss changes. "He gave us his full commitment to develop an action plan, with a timeline to address all of our concerns," she said. They plan to meet again within the week.

"Union Pacific's commitment to preventing accidents and injuries to our people has rever been stronger," Davis said.

"This team re-enforces that commitment and also sends the clear message that we will do whatever it takes for as long as it takes until we are running the safest railroad in the United States."

Many of the safety problems are due to fatigue, Molitoris said.

"And that schedule isn't just for a week or so, it's constant. That is something the railroad is going to have to evaluate — just how many people do they need tor un the railroad safely."

3,500 people by the end of the year to help ase the heavy work chedules.

Supervisors were so overloaded with administrative duties that they were not performing required routine safety checks on trains, Molitoris said. She said the problem was a direct result of Union Pacific's 55.4 billion merger last year with Southern Pacific Rail Corp.

Top officials of the railroad were not hearing about the problems because "there's that feeling of 'Don't take bad news to the boss," she said.

"I was the victim of his con game," confessed a bitter South.
"How could I lell he was trying to hook a fish."
"You couldn't," replied North.
"You had a foolproof way to make the game."

You had a foolproot way to make the game."

West led his heart king and shifted when East played the deuce and South his 10. Which suit should he lead next? A trump shift would appeal to most; how-ever, this West was a cagey one. He brazenly led his diamond oueen.

een. Taking the bait, South took dummy's ace and drew trumps. Then he cashed his diamond king and led his 10, expecting to end-play West, Had West held the adplay West, Had West held the ad-vertised diamond jack, he would have had no safe erit. A heart would establish dummy's queen, a diamond would yield a ruff and sluff, and a club would offer a free finesse.

sluff, and a club would ofter a tree finesse.

Big surprise, East won his diamond jack to shift to his club nine, and South could no longer make the game. He lost two clubs, a diamond and a heart for one down. After West led the diamond queen, should South have finessed against East's jack? No. that would be too risky. Instead, he refuses West's diamond queen and wins the next diamond queen and wins the next diamond in dummy. After ruffing a low heart and drawing trumps, he cashes his diamond king and crosses to a trump in dummy to led the heart queen. Instead of ruffing, he discards his club eight and West is truly endplayed. truly endplayed.

Monday.

Lunden's last "GMA" program is sure to be emotional for her, but she's done considerable planning for the next phase of her cireer.

"We kind of saw the train coming down the track," she says, citing ABC News' takeover of "Good Morning America" from the network's entertainment division. "The show was being changed incredibly, and when that happens to something you've known for so many years, there's not as much of an attachment. You finally realize that you need to look

ALL MY CHILDREN

Skye hid the note about Maddie's paternity and later recalled Edmund wishing the baby were his. Janet and Trevor grew closer. Allie realized Joe suffered a severe reaction to his medication. Iim was upset about Brooke's background check on him for a Tempo story, and warned Laura to keep quiet. Tad realized Liza loves Adam when she wouldn't let him claim paternity of her baby. Julia told Mateo she's uneasy about the plane crash, Next Week: Edmund confronts Dimitri.

ANOTHER WORLD

Unaware Vicky had seen them making love, Shane told Lila that the last night was closure. Toni recalled the rapist said, "Act like a lady," prompting Josie to suspect Rayburn as the culprit. Amanda put perfume and a lipstick smear on Carl's handkerchief, "Prepared" by Alexander to reject anything negative Rachel may say about him. Felicia threw clippings of his affairs in her face and stalked off. Next Week: Matt decides to come

ASTHEWORLD TURNS

At the monastery, Damian advised Lily to fight for Holden. He later wondered if she'd been sent to him as a test. After reproaching his adoptive parents for making him feel unworthy. David vowed to do big things with his new power. Lily broke with Holden, saying they can no longer trust each other. Molly called someone for help after Sam and Lucinda chastised her for betraying Lily. Next Week: Holden and Damian have a confrontation

BOLD AND BEAUTIFUL

Grant showed Sally the stolen Forrester designs, and was hired as Spectra's head designer. A panicked Amber called Sheila when Margaret began choking. Sheila calmed the baby and then nursed her. Ridge told Brooke he's committed to Taylor. Meanwhile, Taylor tried to phone him with news of her pregnancy. but a storm cut all power. Next Week: Sally plans to stop Stephanie and Eric's wedding with Lauren's steamy tape.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES

Eric found Sami about to change Will's blood type in the computer so Austin won't learn he's not the father. Eric told Roman he thinks Sami's hiding (Dorian's) past. Later, Blair something. Tack warned Jennifer what Peter could do if he were still alive. Bo learned Billie was now a drug addict. Stefano made Lexie believe he could provide a cure for Roman once he's out of iail. Later, Abe was stunned to find Lexie and John had betraved him. Next Week: Stefano has another surprise for John.

GENERAL HOSPITAL

Katherine and Scott did some catching up. Stefan got surprising news. Elizabeth told Sarah she heard Lucky say the Cassadines caused Steve Hardy's death. A. I. told a guilt-wracked Carly he's going into rehab and may not return. Later, A.J. pondered a neighbor's recollection. Sonny told Brenda they must leave without good-byes after the wedding. Brenda asked Edward to give her away. Jason took over Sonny's empire. In Texas, Felicia got a "Dear Jane" letter from Tom, Maxie found an idol at an Indian grave. The Tin Man stalked Brenda, Next Week: A shot is fired as Sonny struggles with the Tin Man.

GUIDING LIGHT

Abigail was overcome by her attacker. Rick assumed the worst when he found Jesse standing over her unconscious body. Annie unraveled as she talked to her doctor about Reva. Cassie was increasingly upset about her "deal" to destroy Josh and Reva. Frank believed in Jesse's innocence. While Matt was sure their bad times were over, Vanessa was less certain about the future. Harley and Phillip tried to define their "friendship. Next Week: Annie's "new tune" hits a sour note with Alan

ONELIFETOLIVE

Mel visited his father's grave and got some good advice from his dad. Kenneally told Todd he had new evidence implicating Patrick in the Lord Whiting murder. Todd learned Marty was pregnant. As Viki left for Europe, Clint extended a "special invitation. A furious Dorian found Mel asking Cassie about her suggested Mel contact Cassie's biological father. Next Week: Max confesses. Cassie decides to visit her father.

PORT CHARLES

Dr. Bennett Devlin, Julie's father, was upset at her living conditions. Take was uneasy when Lucy tried to help him. Danielle later rushed to give Jake news from Rex about his parents. Rex persuaded Danielle Jake will be in danger if she ignores his orders. The sexual tension between Joe and Karen intensified when they learned they'll be working more closely together. Next Week: Scott is getting closer to making a discovery about Rex.

SUNSET BEACH

Olivia (who hadn't yet told Gregory she's pregnant) was stunned when he suggested she pretend to be pregnant and then pretend to have a miscarriage so they can then raise Caitlin's baby when it's born. After Tim persuaded an uneasy Meg to spend the night in his motel room while he sleeps on the couch, Annie maneuvered Ben into believing Meg slept with Tim. Bette offered to pay Eddie if he tells her who Cole's mystery woman is before telling Gregory. Next Week: Ben makes an important discovery about the cave.

YOUNG AND RESTLESS

Paul was upset with Danny's constant calls to Chris about Phyllis, who had gone off somewhere with little Daniel. Cole warned Nick Grace was still up to something. Nikki apologized to Joshua for Victor being so much a part of her life, and commented it couldn't happen with him since his ex wife is dead. After finding Joshua and Nikki by going through Pam's computer, Veronica predicted she'll soon move in with them. Meanwhile, Victor assured Nikki he was just joking when he asked if she would divorce Joshua if he asked her. Furious that Nina lied about their night together, Ryan said their marriage was over. Olivia told Dru she and Malcolm may have a child. Next Week: Ashley and Cole become closer.
