Development goal attainal

TWIN FALLS – And the survey says ... retain existing businesses and prepare workers better.

Those were the priorities of 69 local business people surveyed as part of a proposed effort to raise 515 million for an economic-development plan.

Most also said they were willing to put their money where there answer was.

Businesses were asked whether they would support a $1.75 million plan with five-year goals to create 1,000 new jobs; attract new industry; retain and expand existing businesses; enhance the area's image; and prepare the work force better.

The news was mostly good, said Terry
Cusack, NCDS senior vice president.
Some 89 percent said they would invest with contributions ranging from $5,000 to $150,000.

"In my career of doing this, this is the highest number I've seen," he said.
But the consultants recommended clipping the goal to $1.5 million, which they think can be raised. The exact amount will be set after the plan is further defined.
Ninety-one percent of those surveyed ranked bisiness retention as most important. That strategy would include regular visits and surveys of area employers.

Director of Jazz Studies Jim Mair sent Montreux organizers a tape of his students. That's all it took.

The students are as good or hetter than the musicians coming from the "big" schools, Mair said. And while it's not unheard of for small schools to make the trip to Switzerland, it is a testament to the talent on the CSI campus. Mair poinded the CSI staff three years ago after a successful career in the jazz scene. ## Judge sets inexperienced British au pair free

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.— In the end, the judge saw Louise Woodward as inexperienced, immature and finstrated with demands of caring for a fussy 8-month-old. But like many trial-watchers and even some jurors, he didn't see the teen-age au pair as a murderer. With that reasoning in mind, Judge Hiller B. Zobel reduced her second-degree murder conviction to involuntary mandaughter for the killing of Matthew Eappen.

manslaughter for the killing of Matthew Eappen.
Then came the bigger suprise. She was free to go, sentenced to time served, 279 days since her arrest.
"It is, in my judgment, time to bring the judicial part of this extraordinary matter to a compassionate conclusion," Zabel said.

Unlike two weeks earlier, when she waited "Why did they do that to me?", after she was convicted of murder, Ms. Woodward gave no hint of emotion, not even that hard-to-read smile that crossed ber lips from time to time on the witness creat.

her lips from time to time on the ware-stand.

The second-degree murder conviction would have meant an automatic life sen-tence with no hope of parole for at least 15 years. The jedge granted her a new life Monday, and she left the courthouse with her parents in a vehicle with inted windows. Outside the court, people cheered, homs blared and cameras clicked.

"In selecting the sentence here I do not denigrate Matthew Eappen's death nor his family sprief," Zobel said.

The baby's parents, Sunil and Deborah Eappen, were out of state, but in suburban Chicago, the child's grandmother said the decision upholds the essence of the jury's finding.

"It still proves that she's guilty," Achamma Eappen said from her houe in Hinsdale, Ili. "All than we wanted was for us to know what has really happened, and this still shows than she's guilty."

The child's grandmher, a celiarrician ston namedia was "harged and disappointmed" and that Ms. Woodward's sentence was "trailly inadequate."

"Prosecutors immediately said they would appeal the reduction of the conviction to involuntary manslaughter, and Zohel ordered Ms. Woodward to stay in Massachusetts until a court decides she can leave.

Whether veterans of more recent wars will organize and participate in Veterans Day activities in the same way that their World War II counterparts have done remains to be seen. Age is not the only factor.

With Vietnam, many veterans returned feeling shame or disguast—not the warm embrace of a proud nation. And while the Persian Gulf War restored some of the lost particities, that dissipated rapidly, said Chris Scheer, a spokesman for Veterans Affairs.

Congress denies burial benefits to convicted vets

TO CONVICTED VETS

WASHINGTON (AP)

Veterans sentenced to death of life in prison for capital crimes could not be buried or memorialized in federal cemeteries under a bill the Senate passed Monday and sent to the White House.

The measure was Congress' response to the Conviction of Timutuly McVerigh the Conviction of Timutuly McVerigh who was sentenced to death for bombing and Oklahoma City federal building in 1995, killing 168 people.

Lawmakers argued that, with the conviction, McVerigh lost the right to be buried alongside the nation's military heroes.

The Senate agreed to changes by the House to limit the denial of benefits to burial or memorial ration in federally funded veterans convicted of capital crimes in state courts.

Current law denies burial benefits to viterans convicted of espionage, treason, sedition and during burial.

U.S. orders inspection of Aussie beef

WASHINGTON — Citing safety concerns, the United States has refused to allow Australia to sell beef in this country unless each carcass is checked by government-paid inspectors. Earlier this year, Australia petitioned the U.S. government to allow imported beef that is examined by inspectors who are paid by the meatpacking industry, with periodic oversight by govern-ment officials.

Culture democratization comes slowly to America

"Now art should never try to be popular. The public should try to make uself artistic."

- Oscar Wilde

National Endowment for the

The National Endowment for the Arts has done a little soal-searching and concludent that art in the United State's two poollits. You think?

Don't ordinary folks out there pay $1,500 a ticker for the right to listen to Berlioz and to nibble brie? Isn't there a Robert Mapphethorpe photo collage hanging in every recroom in America?

Surely every truck driver and school teacher in this green and pleasant land is just waiting for Godot.

No, and that's one reason why so many arts groups are listing like an Isam Noguehi sculpture. Far from using the six-decade federal commitment to the arts to invite real people insighte tent, the arts establishment has chosen to traffic in snobbery. It's an old story in the United States, a nation officially without social strata that has, from the beginning, been hectored with almost missionary zeal by a class of self-appointed arbiters of enlightenment.

Such a mind-set was always at odds

class of self-appointed arbiters of enlightenment.
Such a mind-set was always at odds with the imperatives of American democracy. In a country where there was no obstacle that couldn't be overcome by hard work and talent, it made no sense for culture to be the exclusive franchise of self-selected tastemakers.
That's because the notion of universal and free education meant that knowledge couldn't be rationed. A farm buy could, and sometimes did, become a more successful architect than a third-peneration Harvard man.
Still, the democratization of culture

Stephen Hartgon Clark Walworth...

was a long time coming to America, and its arrival coincided with the first large-scale government involvement in the arts - the Depression-era Works Project Administration, which includ-ed programs to support artists and ed programs to support artists and writers.

By the 1930s, Andrew Carnegie's money had put a library in every town in the country, and David Sarnoff's Radio Corporation of America had made Arturo Toscannini a household word.

But television convented and diluted that process, and government support of the arts proved to be a mixed bless-

g. While NEA dollars are a boon to lo-

While NEA dollars are a boon to local arts, they too often go to organizations that are, in the words of the NEA report, racially segregated, class based and isolated from the "communities they claim to serve, but don't."

Support for the arts will remain limited and at the mercy of politics as long as the supporters are perceived as "older, wealthier, better educated and whiter than a typical cross-section of the American public," the report said.

We think a better course would be for the arts to test the magic of the marketplace. In south-central Idaho alone, a dozen amateur theater troupes and at least as many musical groups thrive on that basis.

It seems to use that artists who are forced to justify their product to an audience are far better equipped to survive than hol-thusse creatures wondering where they next NEA check is coming from.

That's not to say that the government should get out of supporting the arts tomorrow. But as long its its involved, there will be little incentive for arts groups to broaden their appeal.

In other words, teach them while they're young that any kind of sexual activity is not morally wrong and that raily intelligence of the sexual sex is not morally wrong and that raily intelligence of the sexual sex is other kind of sex.
The president mentioned Thomas Jefferson and Martin Luther King, Ir. According to Clinton, because Jefferson owned slaves, his contention that "all men are created equal and are endowed by their Creator with certain inalicanable rights" was not followed by him or many of his contemporaries. So Clinton suggested that the fact we do follow that contention to day is an example of our evolution, which should continue in the case of homosexuals. #### A big thank you to all veterans

A big thank you to all veterans

On Nov. 4. I had the opportunity of—going to the pells along with many of my classmass and voting for the first time. It was a great experience to be able to vote my choice for the men who would serve in our city government.
This was not only a privilege but a great responsibility. It gave me the opportunity to think about these great men and women who have served before them.

As I reflected on the past, my mind went back to our forefathers of this country and what they did for us and what they stood for. I thought about those who gave their lives a my age for the freedoms I'm enjoying today.
I teel that I would personally like to thank all the veterans of past wars who had the courage and integrity to stand up and right for all the freedoms that we as young people enjoy each day.
What a green price they paid that on generation might enjoy the best life of any country in the raile.

What a green the standard of the free

Railroad does act responsibly

I am writing in response to Glenda

My husband is employed by Eastern

The tracks from Minidokn to Buhl

The small-business owner is already taxed so heavily that there is barely anything left at the end of the month. Add significantly increased power cost to our bottom line and most of us in lablo will be forced to close our doers. Do our congressmen realize this? If you are a small-business owner, please consider contacting your congressmen and voicing your opinion against increasing our power rates approximately 25 to 36 percent and to vote against the Schaefer Bill HR 655. At this time, I also express my concern for what I feel is a cancerous print-media lack of leadership in the Twin Falls community. I refer to The Times News' editorial this week pinpointing a secret, illegal, undemocratic, un-American 911 board meeting and to The Times News' riversponsible, cowardly refusal to do anything about such a disartafy secret and unconstitutional mode of operation.
Elaine Steele's victory should be considered a wake-up victory to arouse an apathetic citizenry and slowenly (working, acting, writing, etc., in a negligent, slipshod manner) local free press.

Great age of trees in Washington forest surprises university professor

DEMING, Wash. (AP) — In a forest, James Agee prides himself on rarely being surprised.

The University of Washington forestry professor can, within minutes; read a landscape for fire history, wind damage, soil type and age:

When Agee hiked the steeply pitched slope near the headwaters of Canyon Lake Creek, he quickly sized up the tall stands of mountain hemlock and Alaska yellow cedar as 300 to 500 years ald.

Nice old-growth forest, he thought. Not an extraordinary one.

Alaska yellow cedar as 300 to 500 years old.

Nice old-growth forest, he thought. Not an extraortimary one.

But when Agee took samples back to his office for analysis, he got a joht. "When I sanded them down and counted the rings, I thought, 'Oh, my God, these are very old trees," 'ags Agee.

Many were more than 800 years old. Only a handful of forest stands in the state are known to be older than the Canyon Lake stand, Agee says, and all of them are in national parks rather than on private land.

So the Trust for Public Land (TPL), a nonprofit pushed fires and storms right over the stand.

The rest of the watershed, which drains into the Nooksack River, was heavily logged. The Canyon Laka parcet was first owned by the Department of Natural Resources, then swapped to Bellinghambaed Trillium Corp., which last year sold most of its Whattom County holdings to Crown Pacific. "That basin was hip retry hard" by timber companies, said-Russ-Paul, timberlands, manager, for

The yellow cedar fetches premium prices in Japan, where it is prized as an ornamental wood.

The Whatcom County Land Trust first eyed the old-growth stand a few years ago, when the state Department of Natural Resources was about to trade it to Trillium. In 1939, Trillium and the land trust hired Agee to survey the site.

L'AWYET CONTIFMED AS WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has confirmed Albuquerque, N.M., lawyer Kevin Gover to run the Bureau ol Indian Affairs. Gover, 42, is a member of the Pawnee tribe. An anti-gambling group had opposed his nomination as assistant interior secretary for Indian affairs because of his work for Indian casinos in New Mexico.

But Gover vas widely supported by tribal leaders, and the Senate approxed his nomination Sunday. "The BIA is possibly one of the least efficient government agen-cies and is in desperate need of guidance and leadership," said Sen. Pete Domenici, RNM. "We are putting our trust in Kevin Gover to step into this leadership vacuum."

Last week, lamilton dismissed two of the CVC's claims and said she had "severe misgivings" about the compilared allegation, but allowed the tide to submit allegation, but allowed the tide to submit briefs on the case, which she received Friday and reviewed before dismissing the case. She had ruled against the city even before the trial began, saying the CVC could not use subsequent moves after the Rams relocated to St. Lams in 1995 as evidence against the NFL.

The CVC had been seeking to recover money it claimed it overpaid for the Rams, alleging the NFL discouraged other teams from competing with the chy. The cost included $20 million of a $29 million relocation fee assessed by the etty: The Coof dichaded S20 million of a S20 million robacidino fee assessed by the league. The trial lasted for five weeks, with testimony from various team owners and NFL commissioner Paul Togliabue. NFL attorney Frank Rothman said the CVCs case was short on facts and long on intangibles. "The other side was very good on emotions and not very good at the law," Rothman said.

Alan Toglian, lead counsel for the CVC, said his side proced everything Hamilton had asked for "I think she's decad wrong," Toglian said.

Popkin said the CVC will appeal the ruling. "The law strongly favors in, the facts strongly favor us," he said. "We were cheated by the NFL and we were abused by them."

Clemens wins another Cy Young The Associated Press

The Associated Press

NEW YORK - Roger Clemens really felt the pressure.
Not from teammates.
Not from Boston general manager Dan Duquette.
Nope, the pressure was from Clemens' kids. He needed a Cy Young Award for each of them.
"I got one for Koby and Kory, I got one for Kasy, and I needed one for Kody," he said after winning Cy Young No. 4 Monday. It kind of takes the preduction of the Kasy, and I needed one for Kody, "he said after winning Cy Young No. 4 Monday. It kind of takes the preductions, who in his first eason with Tormto became the first pitcher to lead in the AL in wins, ERA and strikeouts since Detroit's Hal Newhouser in 1945, became the first AL pitcher to win four Cy Youngs. He got 25 of 28 first-place votes and three seconds for 144 points in-balloting by the Baseball Writers' Association of America.
Clemens went 21-7 with a 2.05 ERA and a career-high 292 strikeouts in 264 innings, topping 11 wins for the first time since 1992 and reaching 20 for the fourth time. His ERA was the lowest among AL starters who won the Cy Young since Ron Guidity's 1,74 in 1978.
He didn't gloat that the Red Sox made a bad decision in allowing him to leave, saying again that Duquette was the cause of his departure but not the Sampras, making his ninth straight appearance, is seeking his fourth title. Chang, second in 1995, returns for the sixth time, while Bruguera and Kafelinkov are bight back the third time.

The race for the eight berths was so close that the list two spots were decided only Sunday. Kafelinkov qualified when he won the Krentlin Cup in Moscow, and Bruguera advanced when Marcela Rios lost the final in Santiago, Chile.

The only Grand Slam winner not to qualify was the French Open champion Gastavo Kuerten.

New TV deal doubles NBA money

NEW YORK (AP) - The NBA and its television partners have agreed on a contract worth at least $2.4 billion over four years, more than double the current deal deal.

The contract breaks down to at least $1.6 billion for NBC and $800 million for Turner Sports, two ministry sources told. The Associated Press, speaking on continuous amountains and the speaking on the speaking of th approved by the NBA's Board of Gowernors. Neither NBC nor Turner would comment on the deal. Under the current four-year contract, which expires at the end of this season, NBC paid $750 mil-lion and Turner paid $350 million. That deal also included a revenu-sharing provision that will net the MBA additional revenue.

The NBA is now firmly established as the No. 2 television sport, realing only the NFL, which earns SL-1 billion of the SL onship was broadcast on op-delay.

"There is a much broader public acceptance of the NBA now than there was 15 or 20 years ago," said Neal Pilson, who ran CBS Sports when the network had the rights to the NBA. "The NBA has estab-lished sponsors who support the league on television. It has achieved the prestige and respect it did not have a decade ago.

The NBA was hoking for a size able rights increase to keep up with the exponential growth in player startes. That fueled speculation the league might add their partners on either the cable of the size and cable rights," Filson said. "That is what is driving the desire by distributors to retain exclusivity in regards to broadcast and cable rights," Filson said. "That is what is driving the desire by distributors to retain exclusivity in regards to broadcast."

NEW YORK (AP) - Martina Hingis still bristles at the notion that her ascent to No. 1 is tied to Steff Graf's absence. —"I don't-awant to hear from everyloody that you are only No. 1 because she is not playing," she said Monday. "I won three Grand Slams. You camoot heave anything against that."

Hingis won the Australian Open, Wimbledon and the U.S. Open, Only a title match loss to Iza Majoli at the French Open kept the 17-year-old Swiss star from a Grand Slam sweep.

"If he could put his pads on and play, he d be right out there play-ing with us," said receiver Eric Guilford. "Any time you see a coach get into it like that, it's great."

After spending a week talking about his inability to find the right buttons to push, the motiva-tional speech that would fire up the team, Ditka spent Sunday tearing up and down the sidelines and into his players, coaches and anyone else who got near him. "I didn't, get on (strength, coach Jiack Del Rio," Ditka admitted Monday, "That's about the only ones! missed." Ditka yelled at his No. 2 draft pick Rob Kelly after Kelly hew coverages that allowed Raiders tight end Rickey Dudley to catch passes of 26 and 52 yards. He yanked quarterback Heath Shuler in the third quarter when the thought Shuler was ignoring him. Ditka sent in backup Doug on his helmet when he troted on the field. Barging juvenile fish around the dams and warm temperatures in the reservoirs are the most likely causes for the problem, Ray said.

The Oregon Department of Fish and Widhlife noted in an Oct. 21 letter to the National Marine Fisheries, Service that Oregon's Develoutes River is overrun by steelhead which "stray" during their upstream migration.

Many of those fish are collected as juveniles at state and federal dams on the Columbia and Snake River dams and barged dams on the Columbia their stream around the reservoirs.

Fish and Wildlife attributes the straying to the loss of the steelhead's homing instinct, caused by being captured and barged.

Prices high as art collection is auctioned

NEW YORK (AP) — High-priced paintings by Pablo Picasso dominated Monday's auction of Victor and Sally Ganz's visionary modern art collection at Christie's, highlighted by the 548.4 million paid for artis's 'Dream's. Bidding on Picasso's erotic 1932 portrait of his mistress Marie-Therese Walter in an arm-chair topped the $30 million the painting had been expected to bring.

chair topped the $30 million the painting had been expected to bring.

The $7 items auctioned Monday brought a total of $2005. million, which Christie's said was a record for a single-owner auction. Picasosa accounted for more than $164 million of that total and made up eight of the 10 pricest works sold.

"It was a remarkable evening." said Christie's chairman Christopher Burge, who served as auctioneer for the sale. "What a tribute it was to Victor and Sally Ganz, to their extraordinary targement."

Picassos drew the sale's higgest prices, with "Version O" of the artist's "Women of Algiers" series selling for $31.9 million. Three other paintings from the series sold for a total of about $25.5 million, while the cubist "A Woman in an Armchair" brought $24.7 million.

The Johns panel "Corpse and Mirror" (tetched $8.4 million, and Stella's "Turkish Mambo" pain-ing went for $3.9 million.

A Robert Rauschenberg pain-ting, "Rigger," did not sell because bidding did not reach the minimum price.

Bidding was combered in per-son and by tell-hone and the identified of mer hoyers was not released. Burgs said "Corpse and "Gropse and Mirror" was sold to Mitchell-lmes & Nash, a New York art dealer.

tor to get a result that pleases no me, least of all Junior. What went wrong here? According to educators, part of the problem is that Mon and Dad need to stay observers, removed from the equation. As one teacher puts it: Homework is supposed to be the student's job. Homework is supposed to be a review of things you've done in class, and many teachers don't even grade homework, just check to see that it's done. So, helping with homework can mask things that the child may need to have reviewed.

The problem comes, teachers

The problem comes, teachers say, when parents get too enthusiastic and try to pive their kids an edge by expanding on what the child is learning.

dany times, it just confuses the child.

Katherine Grete, principal at the elementary level at Rocky Bayou Christian School in Florida, Rayon Christian School in Florida, advises parents to remember this: "Homework is the responsibili-yof the child and teacher,"
"The teacher's job is to give instruction," Grete adds. "Parents should give encouragemen." Part of the learning experience tied to homework, she said, is that Parents should hold students to that responsibility. Parents should hold students to that responsibility. "Parents shouldn't keep reminding children to do their homework," Grete adds. One of the most important ways to encourage good study habits, sho said, is by parents making sure the child has a quies study place. Fran Sheridan of Sylvan Leaning Center, a national supplemental learning program, says the center's study skills improvement is based heavily on "Homework without Tears," a book by Dr. Lee Canter.

Canter suggests giving a child a good place to study; a desk, a well-lighted area, with plenty of took.
"Think about sitting at your desk at work. If you don't have the things you need, you don't get much done. You keep jumping up and down to pet the things you need," Sheridan said.
Part of the problem many kids have is they are trying to study laying on their bed, or in front of the television.

In other words, Kaczynski may have committed the crimes, but his sense of reality was so abnormal, so delusional, that he cannot be held responsible.

Kaczynski's lawyers, too want the jurors to enter his primitive cabin, trucked more or less in its entirety to Sacrement from Montana, and to experience what his world was like: the tiny

"I think it's pretty clear that the defense is going to introduce the issue of mental disturbance one way or another," said Paul Mattuzzi, a ferrosic psychologist in Sacramento who has testified in other mental-defect cases. "The evidence of mental defent may be important in the guilt phase. But it may be even more valuable in the punishment phase (if he is found guilty), when the government is going to portray him as the embodiment of evil and the defense will want to argue that he's not evil, he's sick."

After months of legal wran-eling, however, Kaczynski last week refused to solunit to extensive the treatment of the prosecution's pos-bitorists. Most damaging to Kaczynski's defense are voluminous diaries, handwritten journals, experimental logs and an uncompleted autobiography seized in the reclose's primitive cabin near Lincoln, Mont., when he was arrested on April 3, 1996. #### THE ACES ON BRIDGE®

Bobby Wolff

"Stupidity is without anxiety." — Goethe

"How could I tell what to do in earts?" asked a disillusioned hearts?" asked a disillusioned South, "I never go right in these situations."

Dr. John Fisher of Dallas gra-ciously offered some advice.
Cover the East-West cards and examine the bidding and play.

examine the bidding and play.

Then test yourself under pressure. If you need it, Dr. Fisher's active is at the end of the columnWest leads the club jack, dumy ducks, and West holds the trick. West leads a second club and South rutifs. South crosses to dummy's diamond jack, and a trump finesse loses to West's king. West now shifts to a diabolical low heart and the pressure's on. With the game on the line, should South play dummy's king or the jack?

Often, one can reach the win-should South play dummy's king or the jack?

Often, one can reach the winning decision by the high cards already played by either defender. Sometimes, it doesn't help. In today's example, South knows East started with the AQ of clubs and a heart honor. He also knows West started with the J-10 of clubs, the spade king and a heart honor. Since either defender might have the heart ace, how does South find the deciding clue? Here's Dr. Fisher's suggestion. When the opening leader has raised his partner's sult, if he has the queen, he is a big favorite to lead the suit. If he holds the ace, silkely to choose a neutral lead, fearful the lead of the ace might give away a trick.

lead, fearful the lead of the ace might give away a trick. Applying Dr. Fisher's advice in today's game, South should play dummy's king to win the trick, and the rest of the play becomes easy.

"Almost 60 percent of our staff are former Head Start parents," Suhr said. "People just get addicted to the pro-gram and how it helps the entire com-gram and how it helps the entire com-munity."

Head Start provides services to chil-dren thal live in the community and meet the federal requirements for age and financial eligibility. Most of the parents that have children enrolled in this program have not finished high school, Head Start gives these families a chance to improve their lives and become vital community members. Head Start also provides the services needed to work with children who have special needs.

"Head Start is involved with all aspects of children's lives. These things that we are teaching are just one step in a very important process," Jester said.

Children at the South Central Community Action Agency Head Start program enjoy a "Harvest Meal" with parents that were able to attend recently.

Bryan Nice, and Dylan Hubbard.

Harvest dinner brings families together

TWIN FALLS - The November harvest dinner put on by the Magic Valley's Head Start had a different twist on a common event. Head Start doesn't celebrate traditional holidays, because not all children that attend celebrate holidays, such as Thanksgiving or Christmas. Instead, Head Start supports non-traditional harvest dinners and winter tests. The week of November 3-7, Head Start put on its November harvest dinner.

Head Start Programs Director Twila Hanchey said that one of the best things about the harvest dinner is family involvement.

"We don't celebrate holidays," Hanchey said. "It's (the harvest dinner) a great time for children to invite their families."
And invite they did. "One child invited 16 people," Hanchey said. "There were 51 extra people for dinner that night."
Head Start is a program for low income families with children. Ten percent of the children with disabilities. The other 90 percent are children who have a low-income status.

other 90 percent are children who have a low-income status. Funding for Head Start comes from both the community and government. Eighty percent of the funding comes from the government and 20 percent comes from the community. Head Start strives to incorporate family into the programs for the chil-dren, and the staff tries to be a family. "We're a family team that works here." Hanchey said, "We're a team, without the other people we wouldn't work. We try to do everything so a fam-ily program. Head Start is based on the family. Whatever the parent wants to do, we are the advocate to help them." Roger Ford, whose Ayean old daugh-ter is enrolled in Head Start, recog-nizes the effort.

mizes the efforts.
"They always involve the family with decisions," Ford said. "With any activity they have something for the families all the time."

And of the harvest dinner Ford Said, We enjoyed the association with our whole family, getting to go and cot, and play with our kids."
