The noise scofflaws — most of whom got in trouble for playing their sterees too loud — gather once a month, on a weekend night, to listen to court-selected songs. The offenders are mostly young, so there is a heavy dose of lounge music, including Wayne Nawton and Dean Martin, plus some Navajo flute music, bagpipes and John Denver song. During the most recent ses-sion, the group of seven heard one of the judge's own juzz compositions, "I'm Sleeping in My Car."

Seventeen-year-old David Mascarenns was apparently scared straight. "I'm not scared jam no more," he said. "I took my stereo out already. I don't want to be hassled no more."

WSU regents vote to replace 2,000 seats

PULIMAN, Wash. — The last remaining seats from Washington State University's 1336-wintage football stadium will be replaced this year, the board of regents decided.

The seats are in the end zone of Martin Stadium. They had not been replaced in the stadium's numerous upgrades. The wooden seats have deteriorated and are a safety concern, the regents said.

Now concrete bleachers with metal seats will be constructed, at an estimated cost of $826,000. The work should be done in time for this football season, WSU officials said in a news release.

Richard Berthelsen, general counsel for the NFLPA, said at least three coaches have been contacted —one in the Midwest, one in the Mountain Time Zone and one in the Pacific region.

Detmer picks up playbook from Browns

CLEVELAND — Ty Denner spent the past couple weeks bowhunting in Utah without bagging anything.

Now it's time to bag a playbook.

The Cleveland Browns' new quarterback arrived in town Friday, signed his contract and picked up a playbook to take on his next hunting trip — with Jacksonville quarterback Mark Brunell.

"He'll be the starter, and as training camp unfolds, competition will bring out the best in everybody," Coach Chris Palmer said.

Holyfield predicts third-round knockout

BURRANK, Calif. — Don't ask Evander Holyfield to be a weatherman because he hates predictions.

Instead, the WBA and IBF heavieight champ would rather just say that he's going to knock out Lennox Lewis in the third round of their tile fight on March 13 at Madison Square Garden in New York. "It's not a prediction. Predictions are for weathermen." Holyfield sald Friday. "I'm telling you I'm going to knock him out."

Baseball denies Expos deadline extension

NEW YORK — Baseball will not give the Montreal Expos an extension of the deadline for obtaining stadium financing and completing a new ownership group, a baseball official said Friday. But the official, speaking on the condition he not be identified, also said commissioner Bud Selig will not take any immediate action after today's dead line passes. Selig, according to the official, will wait to see what happens, possibly taking several months for baseball to formulate its position.

Deal close between U.S. and Cuban teams

MAMI — The United States and Cuba have nearly sealed a deal for a March 28 game between the Baltimore Orioles and Cuba's andonal baseball team, gingerly sidestepping the issue of money generated by the historic match-up in Havana. The original idea of a two game series in Havana and Baltimore has been scaled down to one game with wooden bats, said John Kavalich, president of the U.S.-Cuba Trade and Economic Council Inc., which monitors business on the island and is a consultant in the haseball necolarions.

Profanity in sermons doesn't pull him in

The last two times I have worshiped, I have been subjected to profanity.

I was not upper by these two incidents-but there, right in the middle of the sermon, I heard utterances I considered crude. They're the kind of words said in locker rooms, all-mide executive retreats and some newsrooms where the reporters are not held to a high standard.

I cut the two churches a little slack, because they were designed to appeal to twenty-somethings and to proposed to twenty-somethings and to proposed to twenty-somethings and to proposed they considered if the preacher thought using a bit of profamity would draw more people. So, I let the first one slide by. But then I went to the other church, and there it was again: In the tail end of the sermon, the preacher got crude.

This must have shocked me, because I was a darked to the control of the co

That's why it is such a wonderful thing to go to church and not hear them. But in those two worship services, preachers the property of the propert had been reading the book through the weekend.

It did not surprise me that none of these great sermons contained any crude remarks. Each one was elegant, decorated with the finest language, and filled with wisdom that could surprise and delight the most cynical person.

You wouldn't dare slip a profane phrase into one of those sermons, because it would seem like a rotten egg amid a bouquet of roses. Some things amid a bouquet of roses. Some things amid a bouquet of roses. Some things amid a bought of the sermons and the sermons are supported by music in a symphony of most process of these sermons.

Duke Ellington. And no swearing in sermons.

In one of these sermons, a partial sentence seemed to sum up why swearing is such a vile occupation. Oppish person.) So that's the kind of person to whom swearing in church appeals. Preachers who swear through the sermon will attract those people.

Perhaps I am being too tough on young preachers who are trying to reach out to a portion of our population that largely has been ignored by the traditional Christian church. Preachers might get the false impression this young and fairly the false impression they young and fairly suddence can be won with crudicts.

Tri-Danielson, "Omega," Label: Tooth and Nall: Tri-Danielson is one of the oddes groups in Christian music. The six member band has an unusual mix of acoustic folksy rock that blends xylophone, hand-clap-ping and vocals whiny enough to make your mom shudder. Lead singer Daniel Smith, 26, is head oddball. He performs from inside a nine-foot papier-mache tree. The rest of the group (four are his siblings) are dressed up as doctors and nurses as a "visual reminder of the healing taking place." But the group's peculiarity makes it irresistible – if it doesn't turn you off immediataly. The lyrics are funny. immediately. The lyrics are funny, the melodies are catchy.

Springsteen plans reunion tour kickoff

The long awaited reunion tour of Bruce Springsteen and the E Street Band will lick off April 9 in Barcelona, Spain, it was announced Thursday.

U.S. shows will begin around mid-July and continue through September, though no specific dates have been announced Tr has been unofficially reported that much of the U.S. leg will be multiple dates at arems in major markets.

This reportedly could include as long as two weeks at

This reportedly could include as long as two weeks at Continental-Airlines-Arena, where other reports have had Springsteen planning a Dec. 31 performance.

"I'm looking forward to playing with the E Street Band," Springsteen said in a statement.

Springsteen said in a statement. "It's going to be a great time for all our fans and for us."
The European tour goes from Barcelona to central Europe and then England before returning to France and Spain. Back-to-back shows are scheduled only once, In London for May 18-19.

THE ACES ON BRIDGE®

not succeed a pray of the will have no parking spot for his losing diamond.

The heart grand slam would have been easy had trumps split above been casy had trumps split above been casy had trumps split above been casy had been to be the way to play the sim.

He won his diamond king and cashed dummy's jack and ace of trumps to get the bad news. Since he could not afford to draw trumps, he crifled dummy's club record in the could not afford to draw trumps, he crifled dummy's club record with the could not afford to draw trumps, he crifled the many so the decrease his trump to the dummy and drew West's last trump while discarding his small diamond. All he needed now was a 3-2 spade break, and when spades behaved.

Drama is action, sir, action, and he claimed his 13 winners to confounded philosophy.
