Groundwater pollution requires Anyone who drinks the water in southern Idaho, and that's most of us, has a stake in keeping it clean. Roughly 96 percent of our drinking water-come from underground-so the emphasis should be on groundwater protection. That's why a story in last week's rapare caught our attention. It chronic cled how a spring, which has provided drinking water to a Bliss-area family for more than 70 years, has become roso fouled with bacteria and nitrates that it is unfit to drink. The story also detailed how state agencies have little or no authority to prevent groundwater contamination. Homm. Groundwater pollution is a big concept to grasp, let alone curebut it's much too big to sweep under the carpet. "It's time we started paying attention to it a little closer," said Donna West, manager of the state Division of Environmental Quality's groundwater protection program. At first blush, West may sound a little carpet. "It's time we started protection frogram. At first blush, West may sound a little carpet. "It's time the nature of the problem. The specter of increased groundwater pollution wasn't created overnight, and rany effective counterwall take time as well. Thinking about the problem is one thing, but doing something to correct it is a far tougher nat to reack. Take nitrate pollution, for example. # Clinton's twin triumphs in the end

hen historians write of Bill Clinton's presidency, they may stop with the personal scandal that led personal scandal that led if they go beyon the bit impeachment. But they will focus on two years 1933 and 1999 – and two topics, taxes and trade. The best claim that can be made for Clinton as a significant, positive force for the nation lies in his willingness to fight the Republicans on taxes and his own party, the Democrats, on trade. On both issues, he has defied the odds and, to a long the state of the best of the state of the st of his own party in the House and Senate.

Those two measures contributed significantly to the near-record run of prosperity this country has enjoyed this decade. And they made it possible for the world to cope with repeated economic challenges—in Asia, in Russia, in Mexico and clasewhere—that otherwise might have set off an international financial crists.

of its fastest-growing economies, into the open system of international commerce regulated by the World Trade Organization (WTO).
Because of these victories, Clinton can legitimately speak to the WTO's zender of barrier-lowering rade negotiations, as of barrier-lowering rade negotiations, as consonic well-being not only of his open consonic well-being land that successive has been elected. Finding ways to include labor protections and environmental standards in the code of international commerce will test the ingenuity of America's negotiators.

Trouble with préscription drugs
How much is too much?
A fine array of prescription drugs is now available, but not to everyone.
Drugs to treat severe and serious infections, high blood pressure, depression, allerjeis, arthrits and other disorders did not exist a few years ago. Concer, diabages and influenze have not been conquered, but improved treatments are on the market. Poten, onco-day medicution comes in a tiny tablet.
Prescription drugs have become the preferred form of treatment in many cases.
Eighty percent of all retired persons mkes at least one prescription drug-every day.

What is the problem? The high cost of prescription medicine has put needed medicine out of easy reach of many seniors and also the general public, espe-cially those with chronic allments such at asthma. To some, the choice is food or medicine. In six years, 1993 through 1998, the average price per prescription rose W Dercent to $37.38 from $26.51.

"It's an accounts-receivable system," Sechusen said, "It adds to the costs."

But insurers contend that direct payment to doctors with direct payment to doctors with out contracts with insurance com-panies lets the physicians escape and the contract of the contract than the insurance provides.

Sechusen sud the legislation is not a direct response to Regence/Blue Shield's now reimbursement system for family dectors and specialists, reduce the reimbursements for specialists by at least 10 percent while increasing payments to family doctors by up a 10 percent while increasing payments to family doctors by up a 10 percent. It took effect sept. 1.

Blue Cross spokeswoman Tracy Henderson said the bill would give doctors the direct payment required to write off any excess charges beyond that. The result; she said, is that health care providers "can bill the insurer direct for amounts up to the insuter's maximum and then seek the remaining balance directly from the patient." The charges written off by most doctors and all hospitalis will nost the state of the patients. Henderson said.

tamales, they were huge, which was okay with me since I mostly loved the mass part, anyway. But the next time, my tamales turned out great – if I do say so myself. This year, I plan to teach my daughters how to make their so in they will have their own memories to pass on to their own families.

I have read that tamales go back to Astec times and were used in wedding ecremonies. In the days of Christianity, some, say the wrapping of the oia around the mass and meat symbolites the wrapping of the haby Jesue-In-awaddling God has provided from the curth.

God has provided from the curth.

Those stories only add to the richness of tamales.

To me, however, tamales are synonymous, with Christmas. They will always taste of home and family.

Be forewarned. Tamales take all day to make, but are well worth it. And because this is a family recipe, you may have to experiment. Good luck.

Dow follows tech stocks down

NEW YORK (AP) – Technology stocks, which have outrun the broader marker for weeks, top-pled it Tuesday. The Dow Jones industrials gave up a 97-point gain to finish with a loss as investors shed stocks including AT&T and Intel.

AT&T and Intel.
The Dow Jones industrial average, fell 70.11 to close at 10,877.81.
Broader stock indicators also closed sharply lower. The Nasdagcomposite index fell 85.21 to 3,336.16, its worst point loss since Sept. 23, when it fell 108.33. The Standard & Poor's 500 fell 18.76 to 1,389.07.

For most of the day, blue-chips attracted buyers even as investors sold technology stocks to lock in profits from their sunning run in the past few weeks. Financial stocks like American Express, up 3.5 at 151 5716 ds of 545 p.m., led the Dow higher.

Confidence surges in November

considence surged in November, rising for the first time in five maths.

The first time in five maths. The first time in five maths. The first time of consumers' willingness to spend rose to 135.6 in November from a revised 130.5 in October.

The increase was greater, than analysts had expected and left the index only about 4 points below its peak of 139 in June, which was the highest reading in Chasumer and the first time first time first time first time for two chirds of the nation's overall economic activity. The sharp rise in November bodes well for the nation's retailsers at the start of the holiday shopping season. "A booming economy and a strong job market have consumers in a confident,

Exxon, Mobil complete merger after government approves deal

WASHINGTON (AP) - Acting within hours after government, approval, Exxon and Mobil formally sealed their SRI billion merger Tuesday, creating the wolld's largest privately owned oil comeany.

wolld's largest privately owned coll company. The Federal Trade Commission approved Exton's acquisition of Mobil after requiring that the Mobil after requiring that the 12,400 service stations, a refinery and other assets to ensure continued competition. The new company, which will reunite two of the biggest entities left. by, the 1911 government, breakup of John D. Rockefeller's Standard. Oil empire, will be based in Irving Texas. Company officials immediately registered the new Exon. Mobil was registered and New Jerzey where Exxon was registered, Jornally creating the new oil giant, said a company spokeman. "We have completed the merg-er," said Exon. Mobil spokesman Robert Lanyan.
