

WAR OFFICE ASKS GENERAL'S STORY

Learn Asked to Tell His Side of Punishment Meted to Battalion

WASHINGTON, July 10 (AP)—The punishment of Lieutenant General Ben Lear meted out to a battalion because some of its members whooped at air raiders brought a war department request for a report from the general today and new details in congress for an investigation.

Lear, who made the battalion do a long march near Memphis, part of it foot, was asked to make a "statement of fact on his side of the case." Major General Robert C. Richardson, chief of the war department public relations division, said this was in accordance with policy not to prejudice a case and because the matter did not merit a formal court-martial inquiry.

Richardson added at a press conference that discipline was "a function of command" and that "what should be done depends on circumstances and one can decide only when he is right there."

Representative Kilday (D-Tex.), who announced that he had wired Lear for an explanation and received a "stereotyped reply," told reporters that "there will be no mitigation of mass punishment by any commander."

BRITON PROMISES TO BLAST BERN

(Continued from Page One) decried Bern's speech to workers. "I don't care how much you earn as long as you give me the goods."

Stewart, stood squarely back of yesterday's charges by Alexis Dupert, Arnold Bishop of the fleet air arm, who escaped from Crete in a helicopter and in his maiden command speech yesterday, "charged that there was a grave shortage of guns and tanks."

During eight months with the army of mobile units, middle eastern camps every day "cried for weapons of all and every kind."

He explained that some United States planes had to be altered before they were used so as to reduce their speed. He also said the accumulation of some inoperative U. S. planes in Britain had taken over planes ordered for France which likewise required changes.

Now, he went on, "we are getting more and more moderate weight carrying bombers and also big bombers from the U. S. A. by air."

However, said United States airmen arriving in Britain were amazed to find that Britain had three modern much bigger than anything that ever has been seen in America.

He also claimed that Britain's fighter planes now could rise to 37,000 feet and soon would go over 40,000.

MOSCOW REPORTS LULL IN BATTLE

Berlin said this relative lull was a good reason for mystifying the enemy. Nazi spokesmen recalled that occasional high command reports in the west had been followed eventually by smashing victories and insisted that what had been regarded as the greatest Russian defense—the Soviet vastness—was in fact helpful to the invaders.

In another and older war—that in Syria and Lebanon between the British and Free French on one side and the Vichy French on the other—fighting still went on, despite the request of Vichy on Wednesday for armistice terms.

The Vichy government, accusing the British of ignoring this request, said there was continued "violence and devastation" and vowed to continue resistance to the last.

It was a strange and immediate reply to the original French offer of armistice, which had been accepted by the Vichy government.

NAZIS FOLLOW RAILROAD ROUTE

Peat Bogs Occupy Fifth of White Russia's Area

WASHINGTON, July 10 — The central German drive into White Russia from northeast Poland is following the most direct railroad route to Moscow, points out a bulletin from the National Geographic Society. Naal forces have claimed the capture of Minsk, capital of the White Russian Soviet Socialist Republic.

"Minsk is some 450 miles southwest of Moscow," the bulletin says. "Where White Russia's east-west railroads cross the north-south lines linking Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, and Leningrad, there are the other important rail junction towns of Vitebsk, Orsha, Mogilev, and Gomel. These are all in the eastern half of the region."

Named for White Costumes

"White Russia is thought to have been so named because of the former traditional costume of its people, which consisted of white smocks, bast fiber aprons with white leggings, and white homespun coats. White Russia has its own language."

"Peat bogs occupy a fifth of White Russia's area," the bulletin says. "Peat bogs are a rich source of peat, which is used as a fuel. There are peat-bog electric power plants, and peat is the basis of fertilizer and chemical raw material industries. Factories in the republic also produce glass, cement, clothing, and some machinery."

"Peat rolling firms are located in the White Russia slopes mostly south and east to plains and marshes with clumps of oaks and groves of hornbeam trees with oaks in their branches. The upper Drvina river flows southward through the territory and is joined by the Pripiet, draining the whole of marshes in the eastern part of diambened Poland and southern White Russia. Drainage works on a large scale have greatly extended the area of tillable land."

"Fida Yield Industrial Crops

"Fida and forests of the region provide industrial raw materials. Flax and hemp are used in linen and rope manufacture. Potatoes yield starch. The forests provide wood for pulp, and for wood-working, cellulose, and paper-making industries. Hye and oak are the principal grain crops. Stock raising, especially pig breeding, occupies many of the farmers and is the basis of bristle and leather manufacture."

"Throughout history, White Russia repeatedly changed hands among the Lithuanians, Poles and Russians. It enjoyed a so-called Golden Age in the 16th century."

"Napoleon, in his retreat from Moscow, nearly lost the remnants of his army east of Minsk while crossing broken ice on the Berezina river."

"White Russia was the scene of World war battles, and the Germans occupied it in 1941. The region was given to the Poles in 1919,

Mr. Bates of Oakley sang "Lay My Head Beneath a Rose," Mrs. Bellation sang "Perfect Day," and Bishop Bellation gave the closing prayer.

Burial was in the Albion cemetery with grave dedication by Owen Lewis of Declo. Mr. Bates sang "Little Mother of the Hills."

but by a treaty of 1921 the new White Russian Soviet Socialist Republic was established as a part of Russia.

"White Russia's area, originally about equal to that of New York state, was increased 75 per cent in 1922 by the acquisition of White Russian provinces of Poland. By this territorial expansion four million persons were added to the republic's own 3,500,000."

Other Points of View

LET'S PLAN FOR PEACE. Now that the United States seems on the verge of war and there is talk of the clashing of arms and the booming of guns in Europe, now that many of our citizens are asking what will happen when the war enters the bloody center, it is strange to note that nobody seems to be looking ahead and wondering what will happen after the war is over.

GOING UP. The housewife on a budget doesn't have to be told the cost of food has gone up. She can discourse upon the subject vehemently and at length.

APPEASING JAPAN. Why should U. S. citizens bother to skim on gasoline when 1,000,000 barrels of U. S. petroleum products still are being sold to Japan? It's a fair question.

U. S. LEGATION IN ICELAND SIGHTED

Roosevelt Expected to Ask Appropriation for Diplomatic Mission

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Informed quarters predict today that President Roosevelt would seek indirect congressional action for the establishment of a legation in Iceland by asking an appropriation to open a legation in Reykjavik, the Icelandic capital.

Mr. Roosevelt could, without going to congress, establish a legation there as an appointee minister-attaché, who also would act as consul general. This has been done in the case of Iran.

It was understood, however, that the chief executive intended to seek congress to make such provision for a $10,000 yearly salary for a minister to Iceland and for meeting other costs.

The establishment of diplomatic relations was promoted by President Roosevelt in the exchange of communications with Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of England, which preceded dispatch of an American protective force to the island.

Once diplomatic relations are established and occupation of the island by United States forces is no longer a matter of fact, the island newspaper press will be permitted to report on Iceland. Stephen E. Duggan, president of the American Protective League, said today that Mr. Roosevelt had decided to send a military mission away from the island for the time being because the American activity now is a purely military program.

In informed quarters, it was believed that the president would appoint a trained career diplomat to the post at Reykjavik.

Aluminum Drive - Eyes Monop

WASHINGTON, July 10.—The world's most famous mine of aluminum, the gigantic tip of the Washington monument, may be melted and made into a bomb or fighting plane.

It is estimated that today P. H. LaGuardia, civilian defense chief, was discussing with Interior Secretary Harold I. Ickes, the possibility of taking down the piece to get the metal aluminum scrap.

LaGuardia will head.

Probably no other piece of metal has been viewed by so many people as this tip of the monument, especially since it has placed there almost 60 years ago.

Nine inches high, it was reported to be the largest aluminum object in the world in 1880, when it was made. Now, however, it is small in comparison with other things of this metal.

Mormons Expect Pageant Throngs

PALM BEACH, N. Y., July 10.—The annual pageant of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints will be presented tomorrow and Saturday evenings, and church leaders predict attendance of a home or more.

The pageant, "America's Witness for Christ," is staged each year on 1400 Governor, where the Mormon hierarchy convenes.

On which the book of Mormon was inscribed. Floodlights illuminate the temple which is carried by a huge statue of the Angel Moroni, a messenger of the Mormon religion.

In connection with the pageant the eastern states mission is conducting its annual conference, with more than 200 Mormon missionaries attending.

RAFT CHARGES IRELAND BASE

on sending drafted men outside the western hemisphere to Ireland and that the United States should not furnish draftsmen and national guardsmen in service beyond one year.

The executive committee of the senate military committee, who said he acted last Tuesday night, the members of the committee. The bill also would permit the president to induce as many draftees as he deems necessary during the national emergency, whereas under present law only 500,000 can be conscripted annually.

Another measure offered by Reynolds would authorize the president to hold enlisted men and officers in service beyond their designated term, if they could be ordered to remain on duty until six months after the president proclaimed the end of the emergency.

Wilkie's Appeal

Taft linked his information on northern Ireland with Wendell L. Wilkie's appeal yesterday for the establishment of American bases only there but in Scotland as well.

The occupation of Ireland would require the purchase of 100,000 British troops for service elsewhere, and a 500,000-man American base in Ireland would require the purchase of 100,000 British troops for service elsewhere, and a 500,000-man American base in Ireland would require the purchase of 100,000 British troops for service elsewhere.

A base in Ireland would be much more costly than a base in Scotland. Every argument that has been used for the occupation of Ireland would apply to Scotland, the latter discussed in uniform of the Soviet militia.

The Day in Washington

(By The Associated Press)

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) told the senate that American occupation of Ireland was "exactly equivalent to aggressive war" and added that he had information the United States was building a navy base in northern Ireland—which led Democratic Leader Barkley to say he had no knowledge of such a development.

The house approved legislation providing for mandatory deferment from military training of men who were 28 years of age or older on July 1.

President Roosevelt asked congress for $4,770,658 more for the navy.

The house rejected legislation to give the president authority to order paroled prisoners returned to military work in factories and to restrict workers involved in strikes to return to their jobs.

Women Fighters

MOSCOW, July 10.—The official Russian press reported last night that the German air force was equipped with a new type of aircraft, the latter discussed in uniform of the Soviet militia.

It said four women so disgraced and carry on their own feminist clinics and pads in bags in preparation for quick changes and fighting at opportune times were among a group of paranoiacs destroyed in one sector, unidentified.

The German press has carried stories of the Bundists using women as combatants but has not told of any feminine Spies paranoiacs.

HOUSE REJECTS STRIKE CONTROL

square of three men each, he asserted, had been calling on members and warning that they would not vote for the bill.

"No such disciplinary episode has happened in the American congress since the investigation took place over the death sentence in the utility bill," he added.

Rep. Dieren (R-Ill.) opposed the labor provisions as unnecessary.

"Any emergency legislation which would occupy I-60 with troops of the United States does not need any authority to occupy I-60 with troops of the United States," he said. "It's done it once and can do it again."

Before the final vote on the deferred section of the double-barrelled bill, the house returned to approve the discharge of men 20 or older who already have been inducted into the army for training.

Two minor suggestions were accepted without debate. One would defer the discharge of men 20 or older of deferred registrants and the reason for their deferment. The other would defer the discharge of men 20 or older of deferred registrants and the reason for their deferment.

CHINA ENVOY QUITS BERLIN

BERLIN, July 10.—Chen Chieh, ambassador of the Chinese Chungking government, left Berlin today with his staff. As a result of the breaking off of diplomatic relations between Chungking and Berlin he is en route home via Switzerland and the United States.

Soldier Accused In Auto Accident

JEROME, July 10.—Henry Goliob, soldier on furlough, and his brother, John Goliob, both of Goodhue, escaped without when the car in which they were riding got out of control, skidded an eight-foot roller, hurled 46 feet through the air and smashed a utility pole (damaged telephone service for several hours).

The accident occurred on the highway between Jerome and east of Goodhue. The car, a pickup, was damaged approximately $100.

Henry Goliob was arrested on a charge of operating a motor vehicle without a license, and ordered to appear before justice of the Peace Gilbert Brinton of Goodhue.

Investigating officers were Staff Officer Milton W. Kohl and Capt. King of Goodhue.

Idaho-Town Urges Need of Physician

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Residents of Bonner Ferry, Idaho, were given hope today by Representative White (D-Ida.) that they may not have to do without the services of one of their two physicians.

They telegraphed White that Dr. P. W. Duroc, one of two doctors administering to some 10,000 persons in an area extending into Canada and Montana, had been ordered to active army duty effective today.

White urged the surgeon general's office to order Duroc's call until another physician could be found to replace him. He was told the sixth corps area would be advised of the situation with the suggestion his request be followed.

Double Ring Rites at Los Angeles Church Unite Miss White and Dr. L. G. Recordon

Details of the marriage of Miss Florence Rose White of Los Angeles and Dr. L. G. Recordon, of the same city, at a double ring ceremony Saturday, June 28, at the Church of the Precious Blood in Los Angeles were learned this week upon the return of the bride's mother, Mrs. Ella M. White, from California, where she has spent the past month visiting friends and relatives.

Vows were exchanged at three o'clock last afternoon at a ceremony performed by the clergyman of that church.

Myrtle L. Howland illuminated the altar, which was banked with pink rosemary, daisies and shades of yellow and large dahlias in pastel shades.

Fall bouquets of similar flowers marked the new ends of the church aisle.

MRS. LAWRENCE GUY RECORDON of Los Angeles, who was Miss Florence Rose White, daughter of Mrs. Ella M. White of Twin Falls, a former bride of the bridegroom, was married to Dr. L. G. Recordon, of Los Angeles, at the home at Canoga Park after August 1.
