Red Army Leader Proclaims Enemy Forces at Gates Leningrad in 'Terrible Danger'

Red army soldiers, the first of three lines of defense of Leningrad, were reported today to be putting up a particularly heavy fight for their city, whose 3,000,000 citizens have dug in for a last-ditch defense.

While the battle raged yesterday and last night, Soviet Marshal Kliment Voroshilov, commander of the Leningrad area, proclaimed: 'The enemy is nearing Leningrad.' But the enemy means the German army, the Soviet information bureau indicated the Germans have not moved forward.

That was the tenor of the Soviet communique yesterday afternoon which said the Russians simply noted that 'our troops fought fierce battles along the entire front.'

Finns Lose Avianche On the north, the Finns reported that the vicious 71st troops smashing down the Karelian Isthmus and annihilated an avianche of 100 against the army units encircled in the town of Vuuri, 75 miles west of Helsinki.

Other Finnish troops were reported within 60 miles of Russian's most important city, the former St. Petersburg, bounded on the marshy Siantorfi, Tex.

TOWNS COMPLETE FOR ARMY SITES

Senator Clark Asks Stimson to Establish Camp at Sandpoint

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—There is tremendous competition among the various states for army cantonments, such as proposed at Sandpoint, Idaho, and Newport, Spokane, Wash.

The Henry's lake winter training cantonment already is being surveyed and plans are being drawn up for use if the army decides that the site in Alaska is not suitable.

The cost of the main point cantonment was estimated at $2,000,000. It is just easy to acquire a cantonment, Clark wrote.

Clark, interrupting his campaign to keep America out of the European war, found that out this week when he presented to Secretary of War Stimson reasons for establishment of a cantonment at Sandpoint.

Letters Reveal 'Insult' Slant On Naval Life

An interesting insight into life in Uncle Sam's naval training camps is provided in letters written home by James Amos, U. S. Navy air station at Jacksonville, Fla.

This Magic Valley youth recently arrived at the Florida station for special training, and here are some excerpts from letters received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Amos, rural route 2, Gooding.

Covers Ground "I sure have covered a lot of territory in the last few weeks, and I don't care if I never ride another train only long enough to get back to the home town. We came through Mexico, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Florida, and back home."

"This old Mississippi was quite a sight, we cruised on a four and a half-mile bridge, over the Mississippi and Peacock, Fla., and the way down here I rode from Tucson, Texas, with four other cadets, which was quite a sight, and now I'm back in the States."

"I'm liking it better here each day. We received our yellow fever shot Saturday, and if there's any disease that will be here, I don't think I'll like to know what it is."

"I'm living with one of the other boys in the other side of the town. Everybody's so friendly and they treat sailors like regular civilians. Every time I turned around some elderly lady wanted to invite me to dinner."

PAUL Couple Return—Mr. and Mrs. C. Evans returned Thursday from San Diego, where they were away the week before by the serious illness of their daughter, Mrs. Vernon Lyman.

DWORSHAK HITS SUGAR IMPORTS

Idahoan Sees Serious Mistake in Plan to Increase Cuban Purchases

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP)—Rep. Dworshak (D-Idaho) thinks that it would be a serious mistake to permit greater imports of Cuban sugar in direct competition with our own farmers, in view of the fact that we produce only about 20 per cent of the sugar which we consume in our country.

Dworshak, who is in Idaho, expressed his views in a letter to the committee for reciprocity information, which will begin hearings next week on a supplemental trade agreement with Cuba which would reduce the tariff on Cuban sugar.

The production of sugar here is of vital importance in the crop rotation program of our farmers. Dworshak said.

"There has been a normal development in this industry and farmers are interested in the crop rotation. The Snake river valley in Idaho are desirous of producing such large crops as possible in the crop rotation program of our farmers."

He formerly was an executive with the reconstruction finance corporation here, and now is representing various drainage and irrigation districts with headquarters at Boise.

Keenan was defeated in the Democratic primary in 1940. With him will go Mrs. Keenan and their two young children, Rosemary and Jimmy. Robert Keenan, another son, has been with his father in Idaho several months. The other children, all employed, will remain in Washington.

CASSIA PLANS IMPROVED FAIR

Rodeo Grounds, Buildings for Exhibits, Undergo Renovations

BURLEY, Aug. 23.—Improvements at the Cassia county fair grounds have been completed and will provide better accommodations for the second crowds expected to attend the fair and stampede this year, Sept. 2-5.

Major improvements include moving the bucking chute directly in the center of the grandstand, and alterations which will speed up the rodeo already known as the fastest moving one in the west.

The grand fair along the front of the grandstand has been replaced with wire netting in order to give stampede fans a view of action near the stands.

Livestock and crop exhibit buildings have been renovated and redecorated to accommodate the unprecedented quality of exhibits. Manager Charles E. Pease and every effort has been made to make the 1941 fair and stampede the greatest and best of all previous fairs and stampedes.

Of special interest is a hangman's noose and scaffold erected at the principal intersection in Burley.

BOND PAYMENTS HIKE STATE TAX

Prospects Fade for Reduction of Idaho's Ad Valorem Levy

BOISE, Aug. 23 (AP)—Two weeks of meetings headed an end today for the Idaho board of equalization, with Monday scheduled as the date for announcing the state ad valorem levy and the state's assessed valuation.

A levy slightly lower than last year's 8.2 mills was expected, due to a valuation expected to be a smaller amount of money as authorized by the general property tax—$2,150,000 instead of $2,400,000 in 1940.

A levy to provide bond service may more than bridge that difference, it appeared today, State Treasurer Myrtle P. Ething has indicated.

Louisville Convention Declares Complete Approval of War Program

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 23 (AP)—Louisville, Ky., Aug. 23 (AP)—The Louisville convention of the Young Democrats of America by acclamation today declared the organization "solidly behind the full strength of its manpower behind the president of the United States" in the national emergency.

The youthful Democratic secretary of state in his acceptance speech said the first consideration of the organization was the national welfare.

"Wherever it takes us—from Dakar to the Orient; whatever the situation, we will stand up and fight for our country as we have done in the past."

At the convention, at the final session of his biennial three-day session, the Young Democrats of America elected President Roosevelt and Wendell Willkie as their candidates for the coming year.

The convention also approved the "full and complete aid" to England, China and other nations which are fighting the Axis powers.

With noisy demonstration the approval of Japan's occupation of Manchuria and China was also approved.

The convention further adopted a resolution declaring that "our primary leaders should be authorized to use our armed forces to occupy and defend strategic areas and bases which leaders deem essential to the security of our country."

DWORSHAK ASKS FOR TOLERANCE

Idaho Congressman Addresses Editors at Sun Valley Meeting

SUN VALLEY, Idaho, Aug. 23 (AP)—Rep. Henry Dworshak (R-Idaho), today pleaded for more tolerance and greater understanding of the nation's problems at this time.

The congressman, who is in Idaho for the summer meeting of the Idaho Editorial Association, Dworshak, publisher of the Berley Bulletin, recalled the prevalence of intolerance during the first World War.

"The morale of the American people, so essential in times like these, is largely dependent upon people's conclusions on fact and not prejudice."

"We want," he said, "a constructive minority viewpoint, so we can avoid trade imbalances and build up an adequate national defense."

A lively discussion followed presentation of a paper on "Creating Local News," by Jerome Taylor of Montpelier.

Dr. C. W. Chenoweth, professor of philosophy at University of Idaho, addressed tonight's banquet in the Sun at Challinor Inn.

MR. ICEKES LAYS DOWN THE LAW... The entire northwest should be public power without exception.

Under the bill the interior department would be empowered to acquire and operate private utility systems in the area, and the secretary said the acquisition would be made "in an orderly procedure, just as fast as we can absorb them."

In this connection it is an interesting fact that maps are now available, showing the entire United States divided into a number of such supposed "authorities," which means only that Icekes and his department eventually hope to control all the water and power resources of the country.

It takes but little imagination to realize what might happen to irrigated areas such as the Snake River valley, if the control of all our water resources. There is no doubt what would happen to the private power companies, for the secretary admits he wants to absorb them as fast as possible.

But if they disagree with the dictatorial policy of the Interior, it is high time we join in a national protest and put such individuals in their place.

There are hundreds of miles out through the hot-bed of all this Icekes agitation, and the need of further appropriations for the project.

There are a few fine cities in this area, but they are few and far between. The only one that can probably be supplied more cheaply from local sources than by costly electricity from Bonneville.

Of course, in Eugene we can hardly be surprised by the obvious plan to purchase for several years we have had a Bonneville district office here for which there is no conceivable explanation or excuse except politics.

What does Mr. Icekes mean when he describes what "we are going to do" as fast as possible? Does he represent himself as speaking for the American people with their full approval, or is he referring to himself as a dictator who seeks to be motivated only by an insatiable lust for personal power?

expected. Give Icekes control of all the water and power in the United States and anything can happen. So many resources are related to the water that Mr. Icekes' "take-it-all-in-and-I'll-take-a-mile" policy could broaden out into federal control of virtually everything.

And with Mr. Icekes in charge of it all, wouldn't that be sweet?

MONEY IN CIRCULATION

All countries, including the United States, are swelling the volume of money in circulation. If there is anything in the quantitative theory of money, it is that the more money circulating, the higher the price level.

Other Points of View

HANDS OFF, MILKERS! Secretary of Interior Lester Ickes is bent on extending to the Pacific Northwest his alienistic theories of government control over industry.

The Secretary has a naive and optimistic notion to predict that if there is one corner on the globe where the Socialistic falderl of this overrated little town of the New Deal will receive an ice-water reception, it is the Pacific Northwest.

The chief is Ickes all over. He proposes to achieve his grandiose plot for the dissolution and displacement of the ferry service in our own country by a conference to set up the Columbia Valley Power Authority. Under it, an Ickes-named administrator would have complete control, subject, of course, to Mr. Ickes' whims.

Streams of the Columbia basin including Idaho's Snake River are to be placed under the dominion of Interior. Water could be appropriated for use only with the administrator's consent.

In the opinion of certain officials, defense money may be spent in a way that will create a scandal, when exposed, although the expense may not come for years.

Mr. Salberry, the patrolman said, had started to pass the truck when he saw another truck approaching in the opposite lane.

He turned back but smashed the right side of his car against the angled truck.

Mrs. Salberry's skull and jaw were fractured, her collar bone broken and she suffered other injuries from which she died at 4:35 p. m. today.

FINNS ADVANCE ON PORT OF VILPURI

Helsinki Government Directs 'Avalanche Offensive' Against Russians

HELSINKI, Aug. 23 (AP)—The Finns reported today that the port of Vilpuri was now encircled by victorious Finnish troops...

The Finns reported today that the port of Vilpuri was now encircled by victorious Finnish troops marching southward across the Karelian Isthmus.

The Finns said they drove southward from the opposite side of the isthmus, 60 miles northeast of Vilpuri on the shore of Lake Ladoga.

The Finns said they drove southward from the opposite side of the isthmus along the Vuoksi river, reaching Kivimäki, east of Vilpuri, and less than 10 miles north of Leninka.

Delayed reports of the capture of Kivimäki, which fell Thursday, disclosed that Stalin's "scorched earth" policy was being carried out in the district in this third largest Karelian city.

It was described in Finnish dispatches today as "a hopeless offensive" in which only a few hundred Finns, left standing along with one of two factory buildings and a high school. Similar damage was reported at Pusa.

shores of the Gulf of Finland by Peter the Great in 1710.

On the west, a third threat to the city arose in German forces striking from the rail gateway of Krasnoyarsk, 100 miles to the west.

Inside Leningrad itself, every available citizen joined feverishly in erecting fortifications at the city's approaches, throwing up street barricades and converting homes and factories into strongholds.

Defenses along the three great canals intersecting the metropolitan were expected to exact a bitter toll, the Germans actually warned.

Sealed Windows Fighting elsewhere on the 1,000-mile front, ranging from the Karelian Isthmus to the White House, the Finns declared they had recaptured nine German-held villages in the last two days in the Leningrad region.

The German tank six miles, according to the Finnish report, was unimpeded from its Soviet army tanking part in the actual fighting.

While the Finns reported they were pressing a successful counter-offensive on the Smolensk sector against their troops, the Germans announced they had captured 60 miles beyond Gornj, annihilating the bulk of the Red army units that advance units were directed toward the key rail junction of Bryansk, about halfway between Moscow and Kiev.

This would represent a formidable general advance in the Gornj area with the partial destruction of 25 Red army divisions, about 275,000 troops and the capture of 80,000 Russian prisoners.

Fighting at Odessa Southern military detachments from the southern (Ukraine) front told of bloody hand-to-hand fighting outside the Black sea port of Odessa, with neither side making quarter.

These reports said German and Italian mechanized columns were meeting bitter resistance by "fanatical" Russian defenders, but that efforts to save the seaport city were hopeless.

Red fleet mines and sailors, it was said, had been called from ships in the harbor to make a street-by-street defense alongside factory workers, shopkeepers, chauffeurs and others of the civilian population.

Roosevelt Host To Duke of Kent

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 23 (AP)—President Roosevelt and a member of Britain's ruling family met here tonight, and the very fact of their meeting served to cement more firmly the bonds of Anglo-American friendship.

Following so closely the dramatic conference at sea between the chief executive and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill, the visit of the Duke of Kent—a Roosevelt honoree—could not but take on a measure of significance.

The duke flew to New York today from Canada, where he has been supervising the pilot training program, and then motored to Hyde Park, escorted by a detail of state police.

His Highness will arrive in Washington with the president by special train Monday, by to Norfolk, Va., to inspect defense installations and return to the capital to dine and spend the night at the White House.

He will fly to Baltimore Tuesday to go through the Martin plane plant, come back to Washington in the late afternoon, go on a sightseeing tour, and attend a cocktail party at the National Press club. Before taking a train for Canada Tuesday, he will be accompanied by the British embassy, the members of empire diplomatic staffs in Washington.

ONE ENTRY FOR SCHOOL TRUSTEE

E. F. Stettler, Candidate for Re-election, Alone in Race; Two Vacancies

Two members of Twin Falls school board are to be elected at an annual election Tuesday, Sept. 2, but only one candidate was in the running last evening, 40 hours before the expiration of the time limit for filing nominations.

Bloomfield was filed last evening, but E. F. Stettler, clerk of the board, who is a candidate for election for a third term.

John Soden, the board member whose term expires this year, stated positively last evening that he will not be a candidate for a second term.

Monday is the last day for filing nominations of candidates whose names will appear on the ballot.

still since the strike was called. Some 15,000 workmen have been idle as a result of the labor dispute.

Before the navy's announcement, John Crow, president of the striking CIO industrial union of machine and shipbuilding workers, had pledged cooperation of the union members.

Other speakers listed for the afternoon include Joseph E. Davies, former U. S. ambassador to Russia; Director General Curtis P. Hartley; deputy director of selective training, and Mayor Fiorelli H. LaGuardia of New York, director of civilian defense.

Pratt, extending the offer of full cooperation with the government, said:

"In turn, of course, we expect that arrangements will immediately be made whereby not only will the manufacturer's board decision be vindicated, but all rights and procedures of collective bargaining will be preserved for our union and its members at Kearney."

Also Speaking At the Jersey City headquarters of local 16, Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, which called the strike, five officers and three trustees sent a telegram to President Roosevelt pleading the union's "wholescale" support in bringing about a resumption of work in this area.

Peter Flynn, vice president of local 16, announced that a mass meeting of the union's 16,000 members had been called for 8 p. m. (EST) tomorrow at Grandview auditorium, Jersey City.

An authoritative union source, who declined use of his name, expressed belief that the government's taking over the plant would amount to nothing more than "a paper transaction."

He pointed out that the union has suggested repeatedly that the government step in, and consequently will offer no opposition.

The source said the government seizure of the plant probably would mean no more than replacing the company's armed guards with an equal number of soldiers or sailors.

Walter C. Hemminger, vice president of the company and general manager of the Kearney plant, said at his Montclair, N. J., home that "we have had no inkling of how the government intends to operate or process the plant."

"But we have said before we will cooperate with the government in the process of taking over," Hemminger stated. He declined to comment further "until the company is in possession of all the facts."

Veterans Gather For Encampment

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23 (AP)—The veterans of an expected 15,000 members of the Overseas Veterans War began arriving in this historic city tonight for the organization's 40th annual encampment.

United States Senator Allen W. Barkley, Democratic leader of the Senate, will open the convention with a message touching on war-time affairs.

He will speak in P. m. MTA as encampment, dedicatory ceremonies in Independence Square immediately after the convention.

Other speakers listed for the afternoon include Joseph E. Davies, former U. S. ambassador to Russia; Director General Curtis P. Hartley; deputy director of selective training, and Mayor Fiorelli H. LaGuardia of New York, director of civilian defense.

LABOR PROTESTS SALES TAX BILL

and-breaking revenue measure Monday. He added that the committee hoped to complete its draft of the house-approved bill by next week and send it on for consideration of the full senate.

One of the main issues before the committee, he said, would be the question of a sales tax. The committee received a variety of new tax suggestions at its final hearing, including one from Dr. Francis E. Townsend, the old-age pension advocate, for a 3 per cent sales tax on all income of individuals.

Other speakers listed for the afternoon include Joseph E. Davies, former U. S. ambassador to Russia; Director General Curtis P. Hartley; deputy director of selective training, and Mayor Fiorelli H. LaGuardia of New York, director of civilian defense.

Pratt, extending the offer of full cooperation with the government, said:

"In turn, of course, we expect that arrangements will immediately be made whereby not only will the manufacturer's board decision be vindicated, but all rights and procedures of collective bargaining will be preserved for our union and its members at Kearney."

Also Speaking At the Jersey City headquarters of local 16, Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, which called the strike, five officers and three trustees sent a telegram to President Roosevelt pleading the union's "wholescale" support in bringing about a resumption of work in this area.

Peter Flynn, vice president of local 16, announced that a mass meeting of the union's 16,000 members had been called for 8 p. m. (EST) tomorrow at Grandview auditorium, Jersey City.

An authoritative union source, who declined use of his name, expressed belief that the government's taking over the plant would amount to nothing more than "a paper transaction."

He pointed out that the union has suggested repeatedly that the government step in, and consequently will offer no opposition.

The source said the government seizure of the plant probably would mean no more than replacing the company's armed guards with an equal number of soldiers or sailors.

Walter C. Hemminger, vice president of the company and general manager of the Kearney plant, said at his Montclair, N. J., home that "we have had no inkling of how the government intends to operate or process the plant."

"But we have said before we will cooperate with the government in the process of taking over," Hemminger stated. He declined to comment further "until the company is in possession of all the facts."
