Senate Votes to Drop Exemption On Income Taxes

Levy to Raise Estimated $303,000,000 Approved, 43 to 23; Amusement Tax Boost Fails

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The senate voted 43 to 23 today to raise an estimated $303,000,000 by broadening the income tax committee's revenue bill by refusing to increase house-approved taxes on amusements.

Keeping up yesterday's swiftly-paced consideration of the record making bill, the senate voted promptly on a half-dozen amendments, including the controversial proposal to reduce present personal income tax exemptions from $2,000 to $1,500 for married persons and from $800 to $500 for single individuals.

Whether the lowered exemptions, estimated to bring 4,911,000 additional taxpayers under the income tax, will be finally accepted will depend largely on action of the house committee, which will be appointed to study differences between the senate and house revenue measures.

This committee also will pass on a amended proposal to create a special senate-house committee to study the possibility of reforming the present income tax. This idea was endorsed today by the senate.

After approving the lower exemptions, the senate rejected on a vote of 43 to 23 a committee tax schedule, approximately 15 per cent on tickets to theaters and other places of entertainment.

The senate vote retained the highest rate of 35 per cent on tickets costing 10 cents and more and in whitening away an estimated 10 per cent of revenues from the total of the record-breaking tax measure down to $47,000,000. That is, the total of the house bill, estimated total of the chamber approval of the finance committee's action in wiping out a special 10 per cent rate on amusement taxes.

U. S. Tanker Arrives at Vladivostok

Washington Pushes Plans to Speed Delivery of War Supplies to Russia Despite Japan's Protests

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—With safe arrival of an American tanker at Vladivostok with the first of promised war supplies, the U. S. government was pushed today to expedite other shipments of materials, needed by the embattled Soviet army.

Secretary of State Hull declined any comment on the fact that the vessel—carrying 35,000 barrels of clothing and footwear—distinction without incurring despite Japanese displeasure over dispatch of war supplies to the Soviet Pacific port.

Informed quarters indicated, however, that any further supplies would be restricted by the same force. Japan protests.

Soon after the tanker sailed from San Francisco, a Japanese spokesman said the Tokyo government had made representations to the United States and Soviet Russia against the shipments.

Another state department official said that one country had been notified of the situation in creating a crisis in Russian affairs by forcibly stopping the American ship.

At the capitol a brief senate debate on aid to Russia was touched off when Senator Clark (D-Ind.) asserted he had imposed an "alliance with the leaf-landed."

Senator Hiram (D-N. C.) in reply to the question whether the U. S. should help Russia, said:

Prime Ministers of Britain, Canada See Chaos As Alternative for Greater Assistance in War

LONDON, Sept. 4.—United States support of Great Britain against Germany in every field was urged pointedly by Prime Minister Churchill of Britain and Mackenzie King of Canada today in companion speeches picturing world chaos as the alternative.

"Britain without aid far greater than any yet in sight cannot win the war for freedom," the British premier declared.

Churchill, following King as speaker and fair to which the world is contrasted, can be achieved without full cooperation in every field of activity, both inside and outside the range of the conqueror's power.

Navy Announces First 'Shooting Exchange' in North Atlantic; Torpedoes Miss

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—A submarine and a United States destroyer engaged in an actual shooting exchange in the north Atlantic today—marking the first hostile action against an American warship since the war began.

The submarine fired a burst of torpedoes at the destroyer Greener, carrying mail to Iceland. The Greener, unit, counter-attacked with depth bombs.

The initial report of exchange, the first "shooting incident" of the navy's far flung activities in the Atlantic, did not say whether or not the nationality of the submarine had been determined.

Results of the destroyer's counter-attack with depth bombs. It was announced, were unknown.

Although the destroyer was said to be proceeding to Iceland with mail, the approximate location of the attack was not made known.

The navy's announcement was limited to the following: "The navy department announced this morning that submarine to Iceland with mail, reported this morning that enemy marine attacked her by firing torpedoes which missed their mark. The Greer immediately counter-attacked with depth charges."

The Greer, built in 1918, has 400 tons of depth charges with these of the 50 World War destroyed to Great Britain last year for naval base sites in British possessions in the western Atlantic.

For this reason, there was some speculation in unofficial quarters that the Greer might have been attacked by a submarine.

Gooding Group Proposes Plan to Eliminate Loss of Water by Leakage

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—John C. Pure, reclamation bureau chief, has taken under consideration recommendations that 20 million of dollars be spent for a concrete canal to be constructed to prevent loss of water through leakage.

The proposal was presented by Mayor A. F. James of Gooding, attorney for American Falls reservoir district. Senator Thomas (D-Idaho) and Senator Clark (D-Idaho).

James said the Denver office of the reclamation bureau was expected to make an investigation immediately.

Whether the lowered exemptions, estimated to bring 4,911,000 additional taxpayers under the income tax, will be finally accepted will depend largely on action of the house committee.

MEMORIAL MARKS PIONEERS' MEET

Former District Judge at Rupert Addresses Al-bion Conclave

ALBION, Sept. 4.—Impressive candle lighting services honored 34 departing members of the Seventy Niners' association here Wednesday as pioneer families and descendants convened for the observance on the Albion Normal school campus.

High Idaho officials present for the meeting, including Governor Frank Steiwer, Supreme Court Justice Alfred Dudge and Congressman Henry DeHaven, were introduced by Hyrum Lewis of Declo, veteran president of the southern Idaho pioneer group. Eligible members of the association are settlers and families who came to Idaho prior to 1883.

An impressive patriotic program under direction of Maye Anita Johnson, public school music supervisor at Albion Normal, portrayed the Goddess of Liberty, Liberty Bell, Abraham Lincoln and pioneer scenes.

Candle lighting for each departed pioneer was lighted by Stella Powell, Zelma Powell, Donna Bennett, Bernice Clark and Thelma Lee Mahoney. Pioneers who died during the year and whose memory was honored were: Chasity Monday, Fannie Emery, Thomas N. Fairchild, Joseph Hyrum Garard, Dewey Cranney, Hannah Jones Woodall, Elizabeth Hunter, Peter Gray, William Mahoney Powell, Corinne Sonen McBride, Frank Runney, William Trotter, Mary Sears and Mary Yates, Anna Amy Blacklock, Gella Hutchesson Parke, Elmin Rose Paulson, Anna Hutchesson Keaman, William Reed Lloyd, Thurman Martin, James Eliza Huskillo, John J. Millard, Margaret Payne Mahy, Josephine Cullen Marzindale, John D. Smith, Lorenzo Wilson, Mary Lucette Birt, James Edmund, Almon Barker, Benjamin Homer, Myrtle Nye, Joseph P. Payne, Thelma Pierson and John H. Condit.

Besides Mr. Lewis, selected for his eighteenth year as president of the group were: Mrs. Lulu Sears, secretary; Rachel Lewis, assistant secretary; J. B. Cathura, treasurer, and Mrs. John E. Hayes, secretary.

Calling on new generations to hark back to the ideals of their fathers in their concepts of government, Hestia A. Baker of Rupert, former district judge, made a stirring address to the Seventy-niners. Making the principal address of the day-long program, Judge Baker outlined the early-day settlers as an independent, courageous and resourceful people.

ITALIANS JUGGLE SOARING PRICES

Failing Supplies Bring Realities of Way Home to Duco's Realm

By RICHARD G. MANSOKE
By thousands to 60 Feature Service HOME, Sept. 4.—The hard realities of war are finally coming home to the Italians, who until now have been perhaps the luckiest people in Europe.

The Italians, entering the war nine months after their allies, the Germans, were able to eat more and better for a longer time. Their country grew enough wheat, they needed less meat on account of the mild climate, they had vegetables, fruits and wine.

Then came rationing of spaghetti, pasta and meat. Vegetables and fruit became scarce, partly, it seems, because growers and dealers withheld their goods when they considered the fixed prices too low. Prices for everything skyrocketed.

It was hard to make many incomes stretch to cover the necessities of life. The government tried to block higher wages, which would mean still higher prices, and eventually denational of the currency to make it go farther toward meeting the high prices.

Working Day Increased.
But prices went up anyway, and employers were willing to pay no extra month's wages in advance. The working day in factories has been extended from eight hours to ten, and many holidays have been eliminated.

Only the well-to-do ever owned cars in Italy. Even they may ride no longer, for gasoline has been doled out by the gallon to a few persons, such as doctors, who need au-

GERMAN DRIVE ON LENINGRAD LAGS

Stubborn Defense Delays Onslaught 'According to Plan'

By EDWARD E. BOMAR
Interpreting the War News
Leningrad's grim defense gives cause for new Nazi consternation that the stubborn Russians can't be counted on.

A confident prediction that the second Soviet city would fall within ten days was made privately last week by a Nazi military authority. By this calculation, the end was due this weekend, but there is little in the current claims from either side to indicate that a collapse is imminent or even inevitable.

As the desperate struggle approaches a crucial stage, the defenders choose no movement of determination to duplicate Madrid's recent exploit.

"According to Plan"
Thus far, nevertheless, the onslaught on the hardest anchor of the Russian main defense line appears to be having "according to plan," even if slightly accelerating.

The principal battle area approaches have been battered down; the Finns have closed in steadily from the north; and the Germans have broken through fortifications to the west and south of the city until the allied forces are but 40 miles or so apart.

In the conventional military view, all that remains is for the Germans to complete the encirclement by hammering their way around to the east, isolating the city completely and bringing it under mowed artillery fire and bomb attacks from every direction.

Defense prospects thus would be completely dismal had not such calculations been upset so often, particularly since the start of the Russian invasion.

How to start the city is doomed, how severe a blow to Russian chances would its fall represent? The immediate effect on Russia appears to be outweighed by future advantages promised the Nazis.

With Leningrad would go the Soviet Baltic sea fleet, but this naval force already has been crippled and its power limited by air attack from which there can be no flight in the narrow northern waters.

Last, too, would be the Butlov arsenal. However, it is but one of more than 100 such Soviet plants of varying size.

To the invaders, however, the historic capital of the czars is a prize of obviously vast military importance. The immediate effect on Russia appears to be outweighed by future advantages promised the Nazis.

Without assuming that the city is doomed, how severe a blow to Russian chances would its fall represent? The immediate effect on Russia appears to be outweighed by future advantages promised the Nazis.

British Air Minister Reports Gains in Battle of Atlantic

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Britain was today proudly reporting the battle of the Atlantic "is not going too badly" for them and that Germany's "entirely negligible" gains in the British blockade of the continent.

"The coastal command," said Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair, "is transforming the battle of the Atlantic from a German attack on British shipping into a British attack on German shipping and victory in this battle will be the turning point toward victory in the war."

Speaking before a national defense luncheon meeting, the minister pointed out that the night over sea supply lines probably would require "immense concentrations of attention and effort" for some time.

July sinking of British ships were declared to have been the lowest for any month for more than a year.

"During the last ten weeks," Sir Archibald said, "the average weekly rate of merchant shipping from Britain has exceeded 80,000 tons."

Coastal command planes were said to have attacked 100 U-boats in the past year and shot down more than 30 German aircraft in protecting convoys.

"In July we damaged or destroyed 92 U-boats in the North Sea, Atlantic and Mediterranean amounting to 450,000 tons and 52 ships in addition of unknown tonnage."

The minister announced without elaboration that a British torpedo plane hit the 10,000-ton Nazi pocket

'Big Sister-Little Sister' Party Set by Girls' League

Of immediate interest at the meeting of sponsors of the Girls' League of Twin Falls school Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Rose Murray North, dean of girls and general league sponsor, was formation of plans for a "Big Sister-Little Sister" party, to be held at the school gymnasium Wednesday, Sept. 10, in honor of all sophomore girls and all high school girls new to the school system. At this time, these girls will be welcomed by their "big sisters" of the senior class.

Besides discussing plans for next week's "big sister-little sister" party, the league officials, including the new president, Miss Margaret Deweller, and last year's president, Miss Adda Mae Bracken, discussed plans for the entire year's program.

Special emphasis is to be given to individual guidance under this year's set-up. Mrs. North explained last night with an orientation program to be carried out for the sophomore girls, personality development to be featured by the junior girls, and occupations to be studied by the seniors.

Small group activities, such as Jeopardy, Charades, Music and Pop lock services, will supplement the general activities, such as Red Cross work, community and school service projects, Hallowe'en party, Thanksgiving assembly, program for the Twentieth Century club, Christmas and Valentine day hikes.

According to plans made Wednesday evening, the "big sister-little sister" party will be held during the noon hour with junior girls to assist the senior girls in the "little sisters."

The rally will be held in the city park and all girls and boys are invited to bring their lunch and come prepared for a good mixer. "Little sisters" will be asked to bring their hair in pig tails and their names placed in their blossoms so the "big sisters" will be able to locate them.

"Little new to the system," who will share honors at the party with the sophomores, who are new only to high school customs and organization, include:

- New Students
Seniors: Jean Helms, Idaho Falls; Vivian Ward, Jane Moe, Flora Barton, Sandpoint, Laurel, Dalton, Kimberly, Charleston, Dulhi, Glenora Bains, Dulhi, and Delva Ross, Sugar-Salt Lake City.
Juniors: Juanita Conroy, Lohanna Conroy, Mary Ann Conroy, Lois Hollinger, Rupert; Mary Anderson, Kimberly; Arlene Tindick, Wilson, Noh; Shirley Boyer, Boise; Betty Gardner, Dodge City; Mary F. Wood, Marjorie Cole, Vaux, Astoria; Arlene Erickson, Lakeland, Idaho; Arlene Erickson, LaVerne, Idaho; Vera Ross, Sugar-Salt Lake City; Lorraine Taylor, Astoria, Idaho.
Sophomores: Dolores Brown, Maxine, Kimberly; Betty Fusselman, Albion, Nev.; Virginia Padcock, Arco; Marjorie, Madras, Ore.; Betty, Madras, Ore.; Isabel Stimpfinger, Elkland, Mo.; Evelyn Clark, Parma, Madison; Mary Fawcett, Madras, Ore.; Shirley Kanner, Julesburg, Colo.; Shirley Farnham, Puller, Idaho; Emma Holmes, Wenatchee, Wash., Ore.

Officers at the meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. North, besides Miss Deweller and Miss Bracken, were Miss Helen Miller, senior unit sponsor; Miss Josephine Throckmorton, junior unit sponsor; Miss Georgia Deak, sophomore unit; Miss Madeline Carvin, girls' athletic instructor; Miss Bernice Bickel, girls' league treasurer.

Mothers, Girls Set Joint Event

There have been mother-daughter teas, banquets and other parties in the past, but members of the Woman's club yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. P. Oehlert, are planning a new mother-daughter event to be held at the school gymnasium October 4 at a place to be announced later.

Plans from the sale will be added to the girls' treasury. Mrs. N. C. Johnson, girls' guardian, Mrs. Janice Pughano and Mrs. M. P. Oehlert are members of the committee in general charge of arrangements. Further plans for the event were made at the meeting of the Women's club yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. P. Oehlert. The afternoon program was in charge of Miss Throckmorton, who gave an autobiography of Clara Barton, and Miss Muriel Pughano, who told the history, purpose and program of Camp Fire.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bolting furnished the rabbits' foot, which was given by Mrs. Pughano. Mrs. Oehlert was assisted in serving refreshments by Miss Helen Fay Peterson, the daughter of her mother, Mrs. Maple Gibson.

Consolidation of Presbyterian Groups Discussed by Women

To consolidate—or not to consolidate—was the question up for discussion at the initial fall meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of the Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon at the church parlors. Sixty-five members were present for the interesting program, at which Mrs. John E. Hayes was guest speaker, and to hear the pros and cons on the proposed consolidation with the Women's Missionary society of the church.

Committees were named by Mrs. Guy H. Shearer, president, to investigate the possibilities of outlining a program of activities that would be satisfactory to both groups involved. Deinite action was postponed until the committees are able to give their reports.

Program Numbers
Mrs. O. T. Kosova was in charge of the program, introducing Mrs. Hayes, who discussed things that were of importance to her. Included in her talk was a brief description of her trip to the east to attend the National Presbyterian association gathering. She is a national P.T.A. official, and pointed out the need for a program which is playing an important part in national politics.

Miss Patricia Smith played "Thou Art Sweet Repose," Schubert, and "The World is in a Hum," by the organ, and later accompanied Miss John McBride when she played "Gloria" by Chopin as a violin solo.

Miss Margaret Potter, accompanist, played "Love Life" and "Hold Me." Devotional "Looked" by Mrs. D. J. Young, who took as her topic, "The world is in a hum," but the Holy Land is living and reigning. For her prayer, she read a hymn written by a Grover Reddick, dean of science at the University of Idaho.

Group singing was enjoyed with "Group Singing" by Mrs. M. P. Oehlert, who led her husband and family to make her home in Sacramento, Calif., was honored at a gala farewell dinner given by Mrs. M. P. Oehlert at her home at her departure by Mrs. M. P. Oehlert.

'True Democracy' Discussed by Women at Missionary Meeting

Starting off the current year's activities with a bang, members of the Women's Missionary society of Christian church participated in a general discussion of an ever-important question when they met yesterday at the home of Mrs. John B. Kimes. "Liberty and Justice for All" was the topic for general discussion, under the leadership of Mrs. R. L. Graves, and was designed to aid the women to see that liberty and justice cannot stop at race or class lines in a true democracy.

During the program Mrs. Graves reviewed two stories from the book, "Author of Liberty," the first one "The Back Block." This story brought out the fact that negroes do not have the same privileges and opportunities as do white people.

Negroes' Status
In some states the negro is not allowed to vote and in many places he is not free to purchase property or to rent homes except in designated areas. Mrs. Graves pointed out, adding that the story also deals with education, emphasizing that the negro does not have equal rights with the white in the industries that are open to him he is treated equally. His salary is lower than that of a white person, even when abilities are equal.

Discussion by the group, following the story, pointed out that it was the group's belief that if we are to be truly democratic, we must extend to the very people who have the same privileges we give the white people.

Discrimination Effects
"Funny Face" the second story from "Author of Liberty" was a vivid illustration of what happens in the minds and hearts of those who are discriminated against, and how they easily become a menace to the very people who have the same privileges we give the white people.

During the business meeting Mrs. Mark C. Cronberger gave a World Call report and reviewed several recent articles of interest. Twenty-five women were present and Mrs. Graves divided led in the afternoon session. Refreshments were served at the home of Mrs. C. O. Graves.

First Casualty

THE first American casualty in Ireland was announced with the death of Lt. George E. McCreary in a plane crash landing.

Mr. Herman was born near Fremont, Neb., June 20, 1861. He lived in Fremont until he came to Twin Falls with his family in 1910.

He was married to Mary Virginia McDonald at Fremont, Neb., Nov. 26, 1890. Two daughters, Mabel and Zella, were born to them. Mabel died in Nebraska and Zella passed away shortly after the family moved to Twin Falls.

Mr. Herman was traveling auditor for the Nye-Spitzer Elevator company while at Fremont. Shortly after coming to Twin Falls he became affiliated with the Miller-Perzine Lumber company, and remained in that business until about 1934.

He served no grand jury duty, but was a juror in the trial of the late John E. Staker, 120 Ninth avenue east. Only slight damage was done, according to Fire Chief L. E. Zwickel.

The garage in which the fire started was only about two feet from another garage in which a quantity of oil is usually kept, according to neighbors.

Oil Industry To Use Tank Cars

Producers Call on Railroads to Facilities to Meet Shortage Threat

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The oil industry agreed tonight to use every available railroad tank car to haul petroleum to the east.

An official said the industry was in effect, calling on the American railroads to make good on a statement that tank cars could "cure" the threatened oil shortage on the Atlantic seaboard within two weeks.

John K. Davis, acting defense petroleum coordinator, announced that 11 principal east coast oil companies, after an all-day meeting here, agreed to make good on a promise to utilize in petroleum transportation all available railroad tank cars "for the emergency of alleviating the east coast shortage."

Railroad officials told a senate committee earlier this week that 200,000 tank cars were available and could haul about 200,000 barrels of oil a day from producing fields to eastern population centers.

The daily supply estimated by government officials at 15,000 barrels.

Three-Way Family Brawl Brings Fine

Paul Orfano and his two sons, Lee and Phil, were each fined $10 and $25, respectively, for being intoxicated on the public highways following a family brawl on a county road south of Twin Falls.

The Orfano family was arrested Wednesday evening after report of a fight was telephoned from the Robert Ray ranch. The father used a chair to hit one of the sons, according to investigating officers.

All three were considerably mangled and bruised when they were brought in by V. K. Barron, state highway patrolman, Sheriff Warren W. Lowery and Kimberly Constable S. Stevens.

The men were returning from the south hills with a load of firewood, officers said. They stopped the truck, threw out the wood, kicked the light and then climbed back into the truck.

Plans to organize apprentice schools for the building trades were outlined last night at a meeting of business men, educators and men employed in the building trades in the high school building.

S. V. Lind of the federal committee on apprenticeship, United States department of labor, addressed the group and told of the acute shortage in the building trades throughout the United States.

Mr. Lind said Twin Falls really has a surplus but will remain so only if the trades in Twin Falls, other schools will be needed out later, he indicated.

Plans are being made to organize apprentice schools for all skilled trades, including masonry, carpentry, bricklaying, electrical and others connected with the building trade in Twin Falls. Each of the trades will set up their own school and determine the organization and regulations for itself, but will receive aid from the department of labor officials.

A joint committee of employers and employees in each of the trades will be set up to work out the details of the plans for the organizations of the trades.

"We have about 30,000 apprentices now throughout the United States," Mr. Lind said last night, "while there is a demand for about one-half million skilled workers in the building trades."

Especially hard hit by the shortage of skilled workers are housing authority projects, he said. The apprenticeship schools will be in so many connected with the training school for machinists which recently received federal approval. The machinist training school is being sponsored by the MEA and the Twin Falls school district.

Gerald Wallace, vice-president of the Twin Falls high school and in charge of vocational education in the high school, presided at last night's meeting.
