ROY STOVER WINS ASHTON RACE AND SETS NEW RECORD

McCall Musher Victorious in American Derby; Gording Victory Second; Mrs. Thula Ocean Finishes Far Behind

ASHTON, Idaho, Feb. 23. (UP)—This little frontier community birthplace of American dog racing did homage to a new winner today.

It is Roy Stover, veteran dog racer of McCall, Idaho, who leads the 56-mile American dog derby into victory now, at the same time, establishing a new course record.

Sels Record

Sels, a 5-year-old, 129-22, which, race officials said, set a new world's record for 25 miles. He finished in 11:30.10, quickly forcing the front. Once he secured the lead he clung to it victoriously throughout the race.

Warren Cordingly, Ashton, Idaho, came in second, time 12:04.10. Gording, Casco, Idaho, 12:28.30 and Charlie Knutson, The Springs, Idaho, 13:01.10.

These four first crossed the finish line within five minutes. The other nine finishers were scattered and managed to hold onto second position throughout the race.

McCall, Idaho, only won once, until gradually fell behind as the race progressed. The best of six place.

Honor and Pajoss

Strange little incidents, some with little dog-fighting interest, were a part of the race.

One, a 10-year-old, 129-22, Gray, sprained his ankle 200 yards from the finish line as he was striving to fight his way around the track. The grumpy masher refused to give up his team dragged him to the remaining distance where he collapsed in the arms of spectators.

Charles Martin, 42, of Ashton, Park, Idaho, finished fifth. The old man aroused the crowd's admiration by his grit. He ran with his legs aching, the entire race, and ended up weary but smiling.

Frank Kimball, Casco, lost his chance for victory through a rather funny incident. Kimball, who was leading, was overtaken by an exceedingly fast woman, crossed the course, dragged in front of the race, and finished with the dog that they became disorganized and by the time Kimball could get back into the race, several yards had passed him. He was unable to regain the lead.

Gov. Murray Gets Mad When Barber Slashes His Chin

GOV. MURRAY, CITY MANAGER (UP)—With one stroke of it, his chin, capitol barber was shaving the face of Idaho's Governor.

Suddenly Murray distinguished himself from the hatter chair, flung off the apron and rushed from the shop.

Only when did Barber Higgs called that he had slashed the governor's chin and left the barber had taken offense.

A move to have Higgs dismissed as capitol barber, was forestalled temporarily by a resolution introduced in the House by Senator Woody.

It is an act that the legislature prevent the beard of public officials from falling, the capitol barber, away from Higgs and transfer it to the barber of the state.

HOUSE FROWNS ON MOTION TO TABLE DIVORCE MEASURE

Vote on Move by Mrs. Maude Cocho Indicates Eventual Passage of Bill, Senate Resolution No. 5 Adopted

HOUSE, Feb. 23. (UP)—Former death of the "divorce" bill was threatened for a short time in the House of Representatives, Tuesday night.

Maude Cocho, a divorcee, moved that the bill be laid upon the table. J. H. Anderson, Republican, a quiet talker, said he would vote for the bill.

The last but not least amendment to the bill was adopted by a vote of 15 yeas, 55 nays and two absences on the motion to lay it on the table.

The bill had passed the Senate on Monday afternoon.

It is the intention of the House that the divorce bill will pass the House on Wednesday.

Validity of Dry Law Is Upheld Today by Vote of the Jurists

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23. (UP)—The Supreme court unanimously upheld the validity of the prohibition amendment today.

The court in a decision of a government appeal from the famous decision of Federal Judge William Clark of New Jersey, upheld in all respects the ratifications of the 18th amendment by legislatures of the states.

Justice Owen J. Roberts announced the reversal of Clark's decision by a 5-4 vote of eight members of the highest court in the land.

Chief Justice Hughes did not sit in this case.

In Congress, the court ruled, has sole discretion as to whether the constitutional amendment is to be ratified by state conventions or legislatures.

The point at issue was the contention that ratification of the 18th amendment by state legislatures instead of by conventions, as provided for in the original convention was improper.

Justice Roberts read the decision as if from a book, and his address of the crowded court.

Judge Clark of New Jersey, who had argued the case, was charged with four main points, that because it affected individual rights the 18th amendment should have been ratified by state conventions instead of legislatures.

Justice Hughes, in his dissenting opinion, declared that the 18th amendment was intended to confirm the understanding of the people at the time the constitution was adopted.

Justice Brandeis, in his dissenting opinion, declared that the 18th amendment was intended to confirm the understanding of the people at the time the constitution was adopted.

THURSDAY 8 P.M. at HIGH SCHOOL AUDITORIUM

THE CHALLENGE Against Freedom and Good Citizenship Has Been Accepted!

Mass production is a problem in mechanics, of benefit to all.

Mass distribution is a method of enslaving humanity by greedy men of wealth. They dazzle your eyes with a bait of low prices on certain articles, but their system tends to stifle the very community which they pretend to serve.

The average well-conducted INDEPENDENT STORE gives just as good values, all things considered, as does the chain store.

The Independent Merchant, the Free Man, helped build your schools, churches and communities. He is entitled to the benefits which accrue from them.

No man can work long hours a day at very low wages and be a credit and a benefit to his community.

The men belonging to our organization invite you to join them if you are in favor of building good citizenship and maintaining your community on a high plane.

425,000 salesmen were eliminated in three years by mergers, chains and combinations. This alone has caused a loss of ONE BILLION DOLLARS in spending power to your nation last year.

We feel it our duty and shall do all in our power to drive from public office all those who would lower our standards and impede our individual progress.

Many small business men have passed out of existence.

Two of Idaho's congressional delegation of four—Senator Borah, an anti-Representative French, voted against the veterans' loan bill. The pressure brought to bear to obtain passage of that measure was great and Idaho is to be congratulated for having two men with the courage to vote their convictions.

MORROW on the MORROW

FRIENDS of Senator Morrow, sometimes ask his opinion regarding stock market conditions, and with respect to the current "boomlet" on the New York Exchange, the former Morgan-partner recently said:

"The only reason which inclines me to believe the things is permanent is that none of the people in New York think so."

And the senator added to that smiling dig at the inside knowledge of big brokers and bankers, an anecdote of the stump.

During his campaign for the senate a questioner interrupted Morrow to inquire when the depression would end.

"I told him," says Morrow of the incident, "I did not know when it would end but that I did know it would be over two months before any one knew it."

And he thereby gave utterance to what will likely be true.

A WORLD PROBLEM

THE European wheat conference, which convened in Paris Monday, struck an obstacle early in its negotiations when the question of purchase of American, Canadian and other high quality wheat was raised.

Several countries which offered to finance marketing of the European surplus, refused to purchase Danubian wheat, arguing that they need grain of higher quality to improve their own supplies of wheat.

The object of the conference is to arrange collaboration to make Europe self-sustaining in wheat production. The conference fixed the total of surplus wheat in Europe, estimated at 1,000,000 tons, but kept their figure secret to prevent speculation and price fluctuation.

This wheat situation is a mess, but it certainly cannot be said that no effort is being made to solve the problem, world-wide if ever one was.

LOST IN THE SHUFFLE

THE greatest defect of the short session of Congress is the fact that many meritorious bills fall of passage simply because the shortage of time prevents them from getting a hearing.

A case in point is the bill now pending to repeal the war-time espionage act. This act—an emergency war measure—is still a law, although inoperative except for a section which gives the Postoffice Department the power to exclude from the mails any matter it considers seditious. Senator Walsh of Montana has introduced a repealer, which the Senate has passed, but the extreme congestion of the House calendar makes it probable that the repealer will simply die of neglect.

It would be a good thing for the country to get this law off its statute books. It is a pity that the legislative jam which is an inevitable accompaniment of the out-moded short session is apt to prevent its passage.

LOUIS WOLHEIM

IT IS the queer fate of the actor to be remembered, not so much for himself as for certain characterizations that he has given which have found a warm place in the heart of the public.

So it is that Louis Wolheim will probably be remembered by most of us, not as Louis Wolheim but as Katezinsky, the uncouth, German infantrian of "All Quiet on the Western Front," and as Captain Flagg, the officer of marines in the stage production of "What Price Glory?"

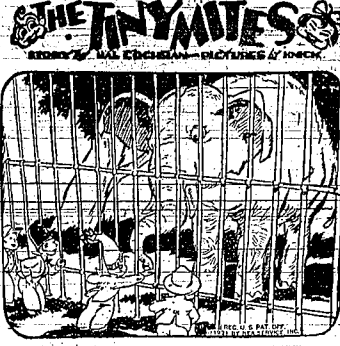

Those two characterizations got from Wolheim what might be called perfect performances; perfect, in that it is hard to see how they could possibly have been improved on. As long as there are living people who saw either one of those two fine shows, Louis Wolheim will not be forgotten. But it will not be Wolheim himself that we remember. It will be, rather, the Katezinsky and the Captain Flagg that he created for us.

WILL THEY RETURN?

IT IS gratifying to learn that our marines are to be withdrawn from Nicaragua. The government shouldered a thankless job when it sent them down there, and probably no one will be more relieved to have them return than official Washington.

Nevertheless, there may be in the land a few skeptics who will believe in the marines' return only when they see it.

If you will let your memory wander back a few years, you may recall that the marines were to have returned as soon as the 1928 election had been held. The election was held—and a good job the marines did in that connection, incidentally—but the marines stayed. Now we are told that they will be pulled back after the 1932 election. Well—we can but hope for the best.

The street car covered lots of ground and snail-d at natives they around. In fact, it traveled all through the city very slow.

When the car came to a stop, Wolf-Fox said, "I hate to bump off to the ground. I'd like to make this cause of my own."

"Not now," called the Travel Man. "Some other day, perhaps."

"I place to eat a bit of lunch. An opera sale is near. Let's try it while we're staying here," the Travel Man went on. "I have favored this fine lunch."

"I told him," says Morrow of the incident, "I did not know when it would end but that I did know it would be over two months before any one knew it."
