A COUNTY POOR FARM

THE economic stringency of the past winter has tended to emphasize the serious problem confronting Twin Falls county in the matter of the indigent poor.

It is unlikely that there will be a recurrence of the situation next year, but nevertheless, there is a rather fixed percentage of dependent poor, and try as they might, the boards of county commissioners find solution of the problem an increasingly difficult one.

Through a sense of false pride, this county has persisted through the years in avoiding the establishment of a county poor farm, despite the fact that last year, for instance, the expense bill for the care of indigent poor was between seventeen and eighteen thousand dollars and in addition there was an expense of nearly five thousand dollars for the care of paupers who occupied quarters in the basement of the nurses' home at the county hospital.

The emergency created this winter by conditions beyond control will hardly make the 1931 expense any less than in preceding years.

At present there are 28 individuals quartered in the pauper ward maintained by the county and it is indicated that this is a waiting list in addition. Of the 28, all but four are men.

Now the statutes provide for a tax levy for county poor farms, the maximum amount that can be levied being twenty-five cents for each $100 of assessed valuation. It would be economical for the county to purchase, say a forty- or an eighty-acre farm, erect a suitable structure thereon, with perhaps a small colony of two-room cabins and let the inmates who could assist with the work on the place.

The quarters in the nurses' home could then be released for use as indigent wards in connection with the county hospital, an expansion that is sorely needed.

There is an alternative to the county poor farm idea, in the Old Age Pension law, which can be adopted or rejected by individual counties as they see fit. However, that law does not contemplate the maintenance of indigent poor, only a contribution to their upkeep. With it, counties will still be confronted with the necessity of maintaining their homeless, aged and feeble poor, a thing Twin Falls county always has done and always will have to do.

Since this is true, taxpayers can only insist that this be done in the most economical manner. The officials should be urged to give this problem their careful consideration in the hope that some plan will be evolved that will be more efficient and economical than that of the past.

POLITICAL REALIGNMENT

THE pending conference of progressives in Washington may turn out to be one of the most important political developments of the decade. Certainly it is one of the most interesting.

It is interesting, not as an exposition of the power of the progressive group in Congress, nor as the formulation of a platform by these groups, but because it may help materially to bring about the long-awaited realignment of the major political parties.

The major parties have become very similar during the past decade or so. Unless the prohibition issue provides a sharp line of demarcation between them during the next presidential campaign, they will presumably offer programs that do not differ very greatly, and the American voter will have simply, a choice between two candidates and not between two widely divergent schools of thought.

This is hardly healthful. It does not lead to any clear-cut decisions on public questions. It does not provide earnest debates on the important issues of the day. It tends, in fact, to reduce all campaigns sharply to a struggle for power by two rival groups.

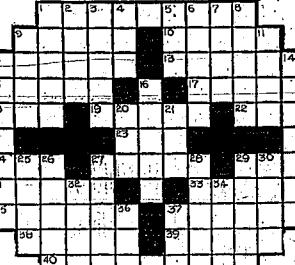

How far the progressive conference go in bringing such a realignment nearer is, of course, an open question. The important thing about it is that it is a bi-partisan conference. If its members can agree on a definite program for the next session of Congress, regardless of whether such a program be good, bad or indifferent—the consequences should be salutary.

The absurdity of the present bi-party lineup is apparent at a glance. Senator Norris of Nebraska and Senator Moses of New Hampshire are both Republicans and are as far apart as the poles on almost every public issue. Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin is a Republican; so is Speaker Nicholas Longworth of the House of Representatives. President Hoover is a Republican—and so is Senator Borah of Idaho.

It is the same on the other side. John J. Raskob is a Democrat and so is Senator Robinson of Arkansas. Senator Wagner of New York and Senator Harrison of Mississippi are both Democrats. The dry Carter Glass of Virginia and the wet Robert Bulkley of Ohio belong to the same party.

The party label, thus, means little. If a bi-partisan movement—whether progressive or conservative—can draw like-minded men into separate groups we shall be a great deal better off.

For Prairie Dogs

MONTGOMERY, Colo., Mar. 11 (UPI)—This is a story about 17,000,000 prairie dogs, all whom are to be exterminated.

Montgomery, who is in charge of the Bureau of Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture, has started a campaign against the prairie dogs. Together with County Agent Oscar D. Stanton, these government officials have organized the Colorado State Game Commission to put up a camping menu for the dogs, consisting mainly of rolled oats.

Montgomery said the campaign that he has started will be used in the war on the dogs and it is hoped that a persistent campaign that they can be markedly reduced in numbers.

At Pocatello — Mr. John Linn, in car collision

Bruises about the legs were sustained by W. E. Shaw here Tuesday evening when he was driving a truck. A skid, into which Shaw was a passenger, collided with a black huckling from the rear. The skid was on the Fourth Street street. The injuries were sustained when Shaw attempted to turn his truck around and careered the truck and the passenger auto, according to report filed at the police station.

Board Authorizes Faculty Re-election

At a regular meeting of the members of the Twin Falls faculty of education in the school Tuesday evening, re-election of teachers was authorized, and it was decided to increase the scale of teachers' salaries which calls for an increase each year up to $150. This is the third consecutive increase in the first two years.

A discussion on the question of hiring married teachers brought out the stand of the faculty, N. A. Annand, director of the federal bureau of entomology station here, told members of the faculty who are married, but no definite action was taken in the matter. The motion was made by members of the board in defense of the married teachers that they married status should be accepted in consideration of the welfare of the school children, and that teachers should be hired on a basis of ability, whether married or single.

Plans were made by the board for committee work to be done during May 22 for approximately 165 students who will graduate from Twin Falls High School.

Potato Growers Hear Data On 1931 Crop

Local potato growers who wish to profit by raising potatoes this year will have to achieve yields three times greater than those obtained in the past year, according to C. E. Driskill, Idaho secretary of the Pacific Northwest potato committee, told growers at the Potato Club meeting at the Hotel Boise Monday afternoon and evening, and at Kimberly and Pfer Tuesday, in the course of three days of meetings for the 1931 crop.

On the potato yield that year, an average price of 50 cents per bushel was compared to last year's crop of $30.00 per bushel. There is a probability of a good marketable potato acreage this year, showing a probable gain of six percent. It was recommended that business conditions will be improved by next fall, but stated it is possible the increase will be less than six percent, and, therefore, the improvement might have toward breaking higher potato prices.

District Schedule of Debates Opens

Interest in high school activities of the South Central Idaho district will be greatest from April 1 to June 1, according to the titanium platform, as orators of six schools competed in the opening debate on the subject, "Resolved, that the Church Store is detrimental to the best interests of the United States." At both the Burley affirmative team defeated the Burley affirmative, while the eight affirmative won over the negative. The Burley team, The Kimberly affirmative won from the Oakley affirmative at Kimberly, and the Kimberly affirmative beat the Oakley affirmative in the Oakley negative at Oakley.

The Jerome negative squad triumphed and the Jerome affirmative took the decision from the eight negative. Jerome affirmative won from the Oakley affirmative.

The Twin Falls affirmative and the Twin Falls negative team will be pitted Friday night, when the Brutus orators will meet again from Dublin.

Mercantile Store In New Building

Removal of the stock of the Stevens Van Engelen company's store to the new building on Main Avenue east was completed Tuesday night, and the store was opened for business at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Finishing touches inside the interior of the buildings are practically completed, and the remaining work remains to be done. Removal of the stock from the former location was a former task, and changing the door to that with the exception of Wednesday morning, the store has remained open for business.

The Stevens Van Engelen store was founded in Twin Falls two years ago and now is one of the largest mercantile firms in the city.

Wimodausi Observes Founders' Club Day

Wearing outfits reflecting the fashions of 21 years ago, six of the eight charter members of the Wimodausi Club greeted the members Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. C. Beauchamp, the occasion being the twenty-first anniversary of the club. Hoyt, the large-brained, bearded man who painted pictures until he turned 16, without plumes, switched the wind storms which were prevalent in pioneer Twin Falls, was a master of amusing conjecture among the guests.

The responsiveness of the high winds left skaters muted and their top-gear, blouses, long and lacy laid away in little trunks, simulated pioneer reminiscences of the days of the full, sweeping skirts, was an art involving greater skill than the skating and snowshoeing which the men and women did, depending upon the condition of the weather, one of the women expressing to members of the club who came to Twin Falls at a far date.

Mrs. Beauchamp and Mrs. M. E. Johnson, president of the Wimodausi, were the hosts.

Mrs. Walker and Mrs. W. C. Johnson, two of the charter members of the club, received the visitors. The Johnsons were dressed in tables decorated with bowls of white, sweet peas and gypsophila. At each end of the table were two bouquets, a naturalistic green topaz.

The first meeting of the club was held 21 years ago at the residence of Mrs. Johnson on Second Avenue north, where it was organized as a friendly circle, and the membership was limited to 20. Eight were charter members.

At the meeting, the club received the name of "Wimodausi," meaning "the people." The name was chosen by the members.

Mr. Beauchamp gave a clever talk on the club. Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Young played a piano duet. An original poem dedicated to the charter club was read by Mrs. McFarland.

The anniversary celebration was significantly one of the most joyous events in the history of the Wimodausi club one of the first social organizations of pioneer Twin Falls women.

Mr. and Mrs. John McFarland, Mr. and Mrs. W. Wayne Conkle, son, daughter of Mrs. Beauchamp, were guests.

ESSEX

The Finest Performing Six Hudson Ever Built

Competes with the Lowest in price
Challenges the Finest in Quality

Essex challenges the performance of any six, regardless of price! It introduced fine-car style and Super-Smoothness to the lowest price field. It is strongly built to assure lasting satisfaction and utmost dependability. It matches the economy of cars most noted for low operating cost. It gives you Rare Riding Comfort for the first time in a car of its amazing low price.

All seats are wide and deep—with lots of room for comfort while riding. Head-room and leg-room are greater; doors are wider; bodies are insulated against weather and noise. All controls are easy to reach and operate. Your nearest Hudson-Essex dealer is ready to give you a demonstration. Go to see; challenging performance and Rare Riding Comfort yourself!
