Reveal Obstacles

IDAHO FALLS, Apr. 3 (UPI)—Declaring that Idaho needs a greater market for its produce and that if the state is to continue in the market, the Idaho Potato Dealers association has decided to petition here to file a freight rate complaint with the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Idaho Public Utilities commission. R. D. McLean, chairman of the Idaho members of the Idaho Potato Utilities commission, transportation finance committee, said the complaints to be filed, which were to be introduced, were introduced.

The eastern market must be opened up to Idaho potatoes by "more reasonable" freight rates, he said. The association is the largest in the nation at present.

H. S. Prickett, Salt Lake City, has been employed by the dealers to push the fight for lower rates.

"The eastern market must be opened up to Idaho potatoes by more reasonable" freight rates, he said. The association is the largest in the nation at present.

H. E. Young, president of the association, declared in laying his case before the commissioners, "We are asking that the federal commission take into account the fact that the eastern market must be opened up to Idaho potatoes by more reasonable" freight rates.

Members of the investigation committee are Parley H. Miller, Fred F. Hall, W. F. McFadden, E. S. Harper, and Carl Gilb, Poston; James Penobrace, Bremerton; and J. C. Penobrace, P. L. Hanks and J. C. Young, Idaho Falls.

CAPONE BEATS CHICAGO CASE

CHICAGO, Apr. 3 (UPI)—Vast quantities of evidence seized in the Al Capone case were dismissed today when the state's attorney's office concluded inability to prove the man who was accused of being the chief chieftain was a "fugitive from disreputable resort."

Several policemen accepted the claim that they had held Capone into Judge Frank M. Padron's courtroom before the session opened and waited while the chief chieftain was a "fugitive from disreputable resort."

The prosecutor said he had found it impossible to discover any policeman who would testify that he had held Capone in his custody, and the chief chieftain was a "fugitive from disreputable resort."

WASHINGTON, Apr. 3 (UPI)—While Secretary of Labor Frank Murphy was calling on employers to observe their pledge, made late in 1930, not to reduce wages or benefits, three industrial associations reported that actually there had been wage cuts in the month ended Feb. 15 affecting nearly 40,000 workers, or an average of 10.3 per cent of their pay.

OFFICIALS CHARGE BANKERS WITH CUT

WASHINGTON, Apr. 3 (UPI)—The officers of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and American Federation of Labor joined today in charging that bankers are feathering their nests by reducing wages of the nation's working men.

It is becoming increasingly apparent that the banks are hell-bent for putting the wage scales back at where they were when the Great Depression began.

In deciding the unusual case, the bankers' committee ruled in favor of the youth's father, Adolphine E. Roome, Sr., who sought the treatment. "I tried to get the bankers to give him another chance," he said.

The boy, more than six feet tall, and his mother, Mrs. Helen Roome, spruced from the physician-father, now a government employee, told the court hearings last week.

Mr. Roome, 50, said he had been offered a job with the bank but had not wanted to take the treatment.

"They offered me a job with them," he said. "I turned it down. I was offered a job with the bank but didn't want to take the treatment."

The boy declared that he took a "detour" a few months ago and that "now he is back to work," he said.

The mother said her chief objection was based on the fact that Adolphine did not want to take the treatment.

The boy declared that he took a "detour" a few months ago and that "now he is back to work," he said.

Adolphine E. Roome, Jr., 14-year-old son of the head of class in school, said he had been offered a job with the bank.

Under a divorce decree in 1926, Adolphine was awarded to his mother, Dorothy, and she has since married, given birth to four sons and died.

AFRICA AND CIVILIZATION

A REPRESENTATIVE of the Union of South Africa has arrived in this country to spread the word that Africa is no longer a wild continent but that it is quite as "civilized" as modern Europe or the United States. He quotes figures on production of iron and steel and boasts that symphony orchestras are taking the place of the beating drums of savage natives.

No doubt this is all true. Men who have visited the "dark continent" in the interest of science during the past 10 years have repeatedly urged the establishment of sanctuaries to preserve species of animal life that are fast disappearing. Africa is becoming civilized.

All this is thoroughly disheartening to one who likes to believe that somewhere in far-off places real adventure still exists. And what of future generations of small boys? Already most youngsters have discovered that cowboys can be found only in rodeos or wild west troupes; that Indian reservations are groups of farm houses with here and there a filling station or soft drink stand. As for pirates—they disappeared a hundred years ago.

Now there is to be no Africa, no impenetrable jungles made blood-curdling by the roar of lions, the thunder of herds of elephants and blazing campfires waiting for cannibals to toast their victims. Of course, there is still the circus, but the lure of the "Big Top" was never the same as that of the jungles. "Africa modern?" Africa civilized? Yes, it is all most disheartening.

HOW TO LIVE CHEAPLY

WITH the annual income tax struggle still fresh in memory to point to the flattened condition of the family pocketbook, two items in the day's news should win ready attention. One in the announcement that two Boston college girls have found it possible to live comfortably on $6.25 a week. They have undertaken to find out by actual experience what is the minimum cost of living. Their existence, the experiment is sponsored by the Women's Educational and Industrial Union of Boston and the girls, students at Simmons College, will receive scholastic credit for their effort. They spend the weekly $6.25 as follows: $8 for rent; $2.15 for food; 41 cents for gas and light; 20 cents for laundry, and 49 cents for incidentals.

The girls believe their findings will be useful to the Massachusetts legislature in connection with the operation of the recently enacted old age pension law. The other news item is the report that Elmer E. Wilson, Baltimorean, has been able to keep his 10 children well fed by spending between $8 and $9 a week for groceries. Wilson wants to know what all this talk about "hard times" is about. The Wilson children's ages range from 16 months to 15 years. Doctors report they are all robust and apparently flourishing in their present diet.

Harrassed heads of households may be skeptical about these figures. Prices in particular localities may have had something to do with each case. Certainly neither all of them makes provision for luxuries. Nevertheless, here is evidence that, given proper conditions, it is actually possible to make that old tyrant, the Family Budget, budge.

THE HIGH COST OF THINKING

BRAIN workers ought not to take too much to heart, the disconsolate news Dr. George W. Crile, renowned surgeon, gave the Southeastern Surgical Congress at Atlanta the other day.

Discussing on the results of some of his researches, the noted scientist declared that the thinkers, the leaders of modern civilization, are more susceptible to sickness and disease than are other classes. "Their high mental activity," he asserts, "may and often does wear out the entire physical mechanism."

A glance about us, however, should reassure rather than discourage the brain workers. Regardless of all that has been said about the killing pace of our nervous existence, we find among the most prominent "leaders of modern civilization" men who have lived beyond the Biblical span and who are still hearty and active. We have only to consider Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, John D. Rockefeller, Sr., George F. Baker, all beyond 90, and youngsters like Ethel Root, 85, Thomas Edison, 83, and Cyrus Curtis, 80.

The ability of the mentally active to withstand sickness depends largely, we think, upon his mode of living rather than the intensity of his concentration. To live rightly as a youth is the safest assurance against bodily ills. Thereafter the important thing is to balance discreetly play-and-work-relaxation—and concentration.

And how the great fear on the part of the Republic is whether or not the new game department is going to be as "political" as has been the case under

MAN GONE TO US RECENTLY at 401, 15,000 pound crop of alfalfa seed testing 99.50 per cent pure. This was his last crop. His seed had all of the good and impurity, and he rejected mostly hollow seeds, and he still had some good seed left. He would like to sell it for nearly a thousand dollars less than it would cost to buy new impure seed and now he would like to sell it for 1000 dollars less than it would cost to buy new impure seed around here. He has a "Penny Wise and Dime Wise" motto. Call him and you can see him. He is a young fellow, around 20 years old,
with a good education.
