The Robins club is but a few percent from the top, while they are two games behind the St. Louis Cardinals, holders of fourth position.

AVIATION AND PROSPERITY

AUTOMOBILE production, some economic experts contend, rules the prosperity of our country. Over-production of cars with a near-saturation point in the market, has had considerable to do with present depression.

But a new industry, an infant now, but destined to become a giant within the next decade, probably will rule the business cycle of our country in the near future. That industry is aviation.

We can trace the beginning of the present depression back through 1930. The previous year set an all-time record in auto production, with an output of 5,700,000 motor vehicles. In 1930 this figure was cut by more than two million!

Steel mills, in the peak of production in 1929, suddenly found their orders cut off. Rubber factories, glass manufacturers, upholsterers, lumber mills, railroads and other industries, depending to some extent on the automobile business for their orders, were in the same situation. No wonder the country suffered.

There'll come a day, aviation leaders say, when these industries will look to airplane manufacturers for huge orders. Then they contend, the country will have two mighty factors in regulating the demand for raw materials, and steady the rocking boat of prosperity.

THOSE FEMININE STYLES

PROFESSOR HARRY ALLEN OVERSTREET of the College of the City of New York says that women will do a complete reversal to Victorian manners, swooning and the costumes of the sedate '70s within the next 10 years.

Professor Overstreet foresees that the tendency toward Victorianism as a result of the newest modes, "right today," he says, "will find women wearing long skirts, corsets and taking on what they believe will be winning again." Ten years is the period he sets for this transformation to take place.

"But professor! Since when has a feminine style abide remained 'in' for so long as 10 years? Since when have long skirts and high waists proved anything except that within six months hem will be high and belts low? Since when has any gown influenced any woman's manners and customs except to make her year, for a never different one?"

"Dear, dear professor — why didn't you speak to your secretary?"

LAUGHING THE DEPRESSION AWAY

THE 10-day Jubilee week party which Chicago threw publicly for "better times" recently, had a more stimulating effect on the city's business than all the cheery prophecies of our Polyania economists. It helped confirm what many contend, that most of the difficulties of the present slump are largely mental.

Chicago's celebration, in which an estimated quarter of a million persons revelled in parades, carnivals, street dancing and confetti-throwing, to the sentiments of "good times ahead" and "returning prosperity" was a tremendous triumph for psychology.

MERCHANTS, reporting increased sales, said that not for many years has business been so brisk.

Maybe this is more jubilee a la Chicago. A running celebration can have a tonic effect on business; can be electric enough to awaken people from the drowsy of despond. All credit to Chicago for tackling the depression "bull" by the horns!

BACKYARD GARDENS

THE backyard or vacant lot truck garden is going to be an important method of relieving the wants of the unemployed this summer, Fred C. Croxton, vice chairman of the president's Emergency Committee for Employment, points out that there has been a huge increase in vegetable gardens in the United States this summer, and says that many part-time or laid-off workers will use them to provide themselves with food.

A number of business concerns which own idle land, such as railroad and mining companies, have encouraged workers whom they had to lay off to raise vegetables on tracts of company land. In many cities relief committees and civic organizations have taken up the work. And, of course, the jobless man who has a backyard of his own is turning truck-gardener without any prompting.

ARGUMENT BY RADIO

IT IS interesting to note that Germany and Russia are conducting a sort of verbal war by radio these days.

It began when Soviet broadcasting stations started sending out revolutionary speeches in the German language for the consumption, obviously, of potential communistic converts on the German side of the border.

Now, the Germans have retaliated by broadcasting in Russian lectures criticizing conditions in Soviet Russia.

This particular squabble will probably be ironed out in short order. But the germs of an international argument are there: Modern science, by facilitating international communication, may have provided one more source of possible

Most of a morning was required to accustom expert witnesses regarding the accuracy of Kestler's instrument, which he claims detects falsehoods by galvanic reaction. Dr. John Keeler, psychologist of Northwestern University and inventor of the instrument, testified that the instrument had been tested on 10,000 cases in other nine states and that "there is no question that it is reliable." Dr. Keeler, who had seen the instrument used, in "15 or 20 courts" also showed "a reasonable degree of accuracy." On cross examination he admitted that the instrument "still is in the experimental stage" and that its "chief value lies in the psychological effect on the subject."

Senator J. Boomboom McWhorter Is Plainly Worried About This Legalized Grape Juice That Makes Wine, "Peaceful Picketing" of Speakeasies and Protests for Drunks

By RODNEY BUTCHER (from "Washington—Prohibition, is it a law, is it an issue," says Senator J. Boomboom McWhorter, "but this is a very hard life just the same. We are trying very well for us to say to people that we are not going to let them go to a protest campaign and will they please divert their energies to a more practical problem which they do not know anything about."

"But then they read the news papers and they see that we are trying to get them to stop their heads. It is always hard for the politicians. The section of the press is not too good either."

EDUCATOR URGES THAT GRADUATES ATTEND COLLEGE

Pocatello School Head Tells Seniors Necessity For More Knowledge

160 RECEIVE DIPLOMAS

Five Scholarships Presented By Superintendent

Urging seniors to get an education, the head of Pocatello schools told them Saturday morning that a college education is the best preparation for a career.

John C. Dickey, superintendent of schools, addressed the 158 members of the Twin Falls high school senior class at the school auditorium.

He said: "The time has come for us to start our 'Year of Education' at the new school gymnasium-auditorium."

Education is a paragon feature in humanizing the social environment, he said, and that education wiped out the practices of burning witches, punishing heretic persons, and torturing slaves.

He urged the students to "work for education," at commencement exercises held in the new school gymnasium-auditorium.

Principles of education in America have been slow but steady, Dean Dyer told the graduates. In 1874, the educational averages were not good, but in 1910, when he graduated, it had progressed to the eighth grade, and is now in the tenth. In 1930, it is now in the eighth grade, and is now in the tenth.

Dean Dyer urged the graduates to attend college if possible, and if not possible, to live in the dormitory of the college, or attend night school.

CHIQUITA, May 23 (UPI)—A "lost field" has been discovered within the city limits of Chicago and the first load of coal fuel was taken today from a "grave" never before suspected of containing anything more valuable than dirt.

The history of the "coal field" goes back to 1906, when the docks of the Pennsylvania and Reading Coal companies were built.

After the docks collapsed and burned away, there remained an area of land, which was used for months, then died out, leaving what appeared to be a small grassy island in the middle of a lake.

In recent years the ashes became covered with dirt. Grass grew over the area. Buildings were erected there by two boys, who were playing "pirates" down into the fort.

STRETCH YOUR DOLLAR

ADVERTISING helps you stretch your dollar. You do not need to shop around all day to find what you want at the price you can afford to pay. The advertisements in the newspapers tell you where you can buy it at the lowest price. Advertisements save you time, save money, save physical effort. They make buying easy and sure.

Advertising enables the woman in the home to compare values without moving from her easy chair. She can shop comfortably in her own living room. When she has decided what and where to buy, it takes but little time and effort to complete the purchases.

Women appreciate the advantages of advertising.

They trust it. They believe in the goods advertised.

and buy them.

Keep within your budget by purchasing merchandise you see advertised in your newspaper.

her dock also several feet down, her anchor cast. The news spread.

"A sailor named William C. Tracy was killed instantly yesterday when he fell from a truck driven into a ditch while trying to get away from the accident.

Even the women and children took part. There were several right there, including the wife of the man who had been killed.
