COUNTY BUDGET FIGURES REVEAL CUT OF $22,000

Amount Set Aside For Current Expense Fund About $193,000

SALARIES AND OTHER EXPENSES LOWERED

Total Budget, Outside of Fair Apportionment, Is $306,288

Twin Falls board of county commissioners, Saturday, filed with Harry C. Parsons, county clerk, recorder and budget officer, the county estimate for 1932 budget, amounting to approximately $163,000 in current expense funds, in addition to the $143,000 for the hospital and indigent fund. Total fair share hearing on the budget has been set for the county for 1932. The total of the county budget for 1932, which includes everything but the appropriation for the county fair, to be written in at the time of public hearing on the budget February 10, is $306,288. In 1930, the last previous year for which records are completed, expenditures by all departments of the county except the county fair total slightly over $220,000, indicating a reduction of $86,288, or $22,000 in the budget for 1932.

Reductions Made

Reductions were made by the commissioners in nearly every department, largely through more effective lower salaries and reduced expenses.

A comparison of the estimated budget for 1932 and the actual expenditures for 1930, of all county departments except the county fair, is as follows:

Dept.	1930	1932 Est.
Auditor	$14,747	$14,625

HOUSE APPROVES BILL PROVIDING FUND FOR RELIEF

Half Billion Voted for Use of Reconstruction Finance Corporation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23 (UP)—The House with record speed today approved a bill providing for the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation bill was before the House less than a minute. It must be passed by the Senate before it can become law. Mr. Hoover signed the bill increasing the capital of federal land banks by $175,000,000.

While the drive to reduce government salaries appears to have been checked, the House took action to prevent any increases in wages. A section of the agriculture department appropriation bill which it approved also provides for the filling of vacant positions except "essential" posts.

PIRATE INFILTRATED WEAR; CLUB HAS MANY PITCHERS

Gibson's Big Problem Is To Construct Inner Defense for 1932

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (AP)—Although he will have considerable championship caliber to work with, Gibson is in his first season as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates and has many problems to solve in the 1932 National League race.

Gibson will be well fortified in pitching and outfielding groups. He has secured the services of Steve Sweeney and young Charley Wood as capable hurlers. Gibson may not secure assistance for them from the following three pitchers: William Harris, secured from Ward, LeRoy Chatham, and Robert Johnson, past their best years, also may help out.

Harris' most famous pair of fingers, the "knives," will form the nucleus for the Pirate outfield. His year last year will not come the best outfielder in the circuit.

The Future of the Poultry Industry

By Harry L. Epperson

It is not always safe to predict the future of industries. Now, however, the poultry industry may be predicted to have a bright future.

In earlier days, our forefathers depended on "wheat" for food. It was the only food they had.

Every year, the poultry industry has increased its production. It is now one of the most important industries in the world.

Idaho's Editors Swap Viewpoints

POCAHONTO, Jan. 23 (UP)—Newspaper editors, attending the annual convention of the Idaho Editorial association convention wrapped up their session today and returned to their respective offices.

They heard talks for example, on the relation between the legislature and newspapers, enforcement of publication laws and the front page of the weekly newspaper.

In addition there was an anticipated round-table discussion during which there was sharp "hot air" on the day-by-day problems that beset the average publisher and editor. Committee reports occupied their share of the second and last day of the convention.

At their banquet last night, the Idaho editors listened to H. C. Hays' conception of an ideal newspaper—Hays is former president of the Utah Editorial association. The Utah editor stressed independence and loyalty to an advance of "broad human interest" as characteristics which must guide the local publication.

John L. Brady, Blackfoot editor, on the other hand, held that the only independent newspaper is the one that is not for sale. He contended that the editor's mission is to "help, not hurt, the public."

QUESTION OF LENIENCY

WHAT should be done to a prisoner who saves the life of the officer who arrested him?

This unusual question has arisen in the province of Quebec, where five lumbermen were arrested by two detectives for trying to hang a boss they didn't like. The detectives marched their prisoners off to jail, and led them across a frozen river. Halfway over the river the ice broke and the two detectives went into the water.

Instead of leaving them there, the prisoners pulled them out—and then meekly accompanied them the rest of the way to jail.

Whether or not this will induce the court to be lenient with them is not yet apparent. The ordinary man will probably think that it ought to, at any rate.

THE HAWAIIAN PROBLEM

IT IS becoming evident that the unfortunate situation in Hawaii is by no means as clear-cut an affair as the early dispatches indicated.

Beyond question, Admiral Pratt is at least partly right in assailing the actions of many of the tourists who visit Honolulu. In addition, it is well to remember that the city contains many races, living close together and often entertaining widely divergent standards and desires.

Besides that, there is the sad but undeniable fact that shore folk and sailors do not always get along well together. American seaports which fleet visits regularly have frequently had mix-ups in which blue-jacket and townsman have disagreed bitterly.

Add all these things together, and one can see that the Hawaiian difficulty is a complex affair, the outcome of many different factors. By bearing that fact in mind we may avoid giving the people of Hawaii a greater share of the blame than they actually deserve.

SPENDING STATE MONEY

EVERYBODY understands, by this time, the urgent necessity of wiping out the deficit in the federal treasury.

Unfortunately, the publicity this deficit has received has made governmental economy seem to be almost exclusively a federal affair. The part that it should play in state governments has been overlooked.

It is odd that this should be so, for over-spending at the state capital will hit the average citizen much more quickly, and painfully, than will over-spending at Washington.

A business man, for instance, may pay Uncle Sam $200 a year in income taxes, and he will kick like a steer if this rises to $30. But his state will collect an equal sum from him annually in gasoline taxes alone, and he will hardly know, offhand, whether the gasoline tax has gone up or down lately.

Similarly, if he owns his home, his state, city and county government will collect from $200 to $500 a year from him. Carefree spending at the state capital can add $10 or $20 a year to that sum very easily. Yet he will pay little or no attention to what his legislature does, while he will groan piteously if Congress boosts his income tax.

All of this emphasizes the value of a survey made recently by the Alexander Hamilton Institute, showing how state indebtedness has increased in the last few years.

In 1915, for instance, the total indebtedness of all the state governments was approximately half a billion dollars. At the end of 1930 it was just under two and a half billion. In 1931 the states' debts amounted to $5.41 per capita; today they stand at $20.04.

Governmental economy, in other words, is something that state as well as national legislators need to think about. These figures show that ordinarily they fail to do so. If retrenchment is imperative, it need not be at Washington; on the same is no less true at the ordinary state capital.

Gleanings

Manan A. Miller, Mexican, walked 14 miles to answer a traffic citation, prepared to go to jail because he had no money with which to pay a fine.

Miller has been back home in Los Angeles, Calif. with the best wishes for the court for a job and an ever-lasting fine suspension. When he explained to the court he had been without work, had sold his car to feed his family and lacking carfare had walked 14 miles to answer the charge, the judge was sympathetic and levied a fine for his return trip.

Howling with pain, the rubber, Lee, who was wearing one, fell down on his back.

A little black sand pours from the hopper, a simple turn of the crank and out comes yellow gold. Here is the secret of the gold mined from the Republic of America, was explaining his little machine to the judge in San Francisco.

"It sure works," he told Judge George S. Steiner, who has been there for the sand machine, with his eyes fixed on the gold, which comes out of the little, they hinted broadly that the secret formula might well earn them gold, and they objected strongly that Fitzgerald never did get down to his gold mining.

Judge Steiner continued the case a day and will give Fitzgerald an other chance. Meanwhile, Albert Kroll of Oakland, Calif., who is a former member of the United States Senate, has been elected to the office of governor of California.
