GARNERING THE FOOD

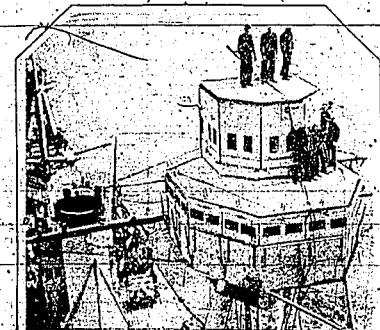

One bill that Congress should approve is the bill of fare that Mrs. John N. Garner, wife of the Speaker of the House, prepares for her son's birthday. Her son is a representative in the House. She is shown here with a representative who is holding a pie.

CHILDREN AID NEEDY MUSICIANS

Children with names famous in the world of music were coming to the aid of needy musicians when this picture was taken in New York. They are shown with Ernest Schelling, conductor of young people's concerts, who has organized the "Children's Crusade." The children, left to right, are: Sibyl Skowolski, daughter of Olga Samaroff and Leopold Skowolski; Elizabeth Izen, daughter of the pianist, Yulando Meyer, and her husband, Herman Izen; Arthur Hotchner, son of Josef Hoffmann; Edith Swimb; and Fritz and Betty Steinway, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Steinway.

BIRD'S-EYE OF CROW'S NEST

If somebody rocked the boat, sailors perched high atop Uncle Sam's war dog, the cruiser U.S. S. Salt Lake City, would set an unexpected striking view of the ship was taken as it passed beneath Brooklyn Bridge on its way to the Pacific coast from the Brooklyn navy yard.

BIG BILL JOINS THE FOLD

MINERS HONOR SLAIN ORGANIZER

Bitterly silent by the casket containing the body of 19-year-old Harry Shinn, organizer for the National Miners' Union, who was slain in the Kentucky coal fields, miners are shown above as they honored Twenty-five miners, with bands on their arms, cap led a procession of 150 marchers in tribute to Shinn's memory, while authorities investigated whether the miners had been slain in self-defense.

JAPAN'S "FIGHTING FACE"

PARK AVENUE GETS STEAMED UP

What's this? "Old Faithful" moved to New York! No, a main line steam pipe burst on fashionable Park Avenue, and the result was the never pictured here. Steam and water gushed to geyser-like levels, traffic was tied up, and for awhile it appeared to trash motorcars that had been passing by. The pipe was repaired, but the damage was done.

JAP GUNNERS HUNT HIDDEN MARKSMEN

Japanese gunners, just with their machine guns, the quiet support Japanese marines are shown above as they roamed the streets of Chapei for lurking Chinese sharpshooters who preyed on the advancing Japanese columns. "Shoot them down," was the order to the Japanese men, their thirst for control of Shanghai had suddenly death sentences were meted out to the Chinese. One machine gunner last Friday 200 places in foreground while explosions down the street goes on in action.

EDITORS BATTLE FOR FREE PRESS

On the right, their right of criticism on the constitutional freedom of the press, Howard C. Anderson, above, and James A. Mathews, below, respectively editor and publisher of the Aberdeen, S. D., American News are facing contempt of court sentences of 30 days in jail and $200 each in fines. When they sold Circuit Judge Howard, who's sentence of a longer, was too long, the Judge ordered them to jail. Sentences are suspended pending appeal.

WHAT'S HIS LIMIT?

It has been about a century since a United States citizen, in victory in the Olympic 1000 meters run. But prospects are brighter now. Gene Venzola, about 20 years old, a New Englander, has shown us what real male running is like. Venzola, twice record holder for the miles, has now added for the miles his most recent effort—a mile in 4:10 flat, setting the second fastest time in history. He is shown above, ready to start. Needless to say, he should be America's chief hope to outrun invaders in the Olympic 1000 miles summer atlas August 1.

GETTING A KICK OUT OF LIFE

DAWES' ASSISTANT AT WHITE HOUSE

Polluting his appointment as assistant to Charles G. Dawes, head of the $240,000,000 Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Senator H. J. Allen, former U. S. Senator from Kansas, here is shown leaving the White House, where he conferred with President Hoover.

VACATED BEFORE BOMBARDMENT

The famed "million-dollar" flats of 2000 Amsterdam Avenue, which housed the showplace of Maurice Levy, the Frenchman who gets a great kick out of life. She steps high, wide and commanding, Europe, and her beautiful legs have won prizes in 27 cities in eight countries. She is shown above exhibiting half of the championship combination.

CONGRESSMEN RECEIVE PETITIONS

Tens of petitions asking revision of the Volstead Act, gathered from citizens all over the country, were presented to Congressmen C. E. Schmitz, club secretary of a modification organization, shown as they received the petitions. Left to right, Congressmen Ralph A. Hore of Washington, Wilbur A. White of Ohio, and Patric J. Bohan of Pennsylvania.

The appointment of Carl T. Stassen as United States Commissioner in San Jose, California, was made yesterday. He is directly across the street from the revolutionary barricades the government ordered Charles C. Eberhard, lawyer and attorney at law, to organize the agitation during the

ALFALFA-BILL

THE doings of "Alfalfa Bill" Murray are being watched with interest by a curious American public, not unwilling to be amused.

Despite all the qualities this man has, his place in the present scheme of things seems destined to be one of diversification.

Seattle refused to take Vic Meyers seriously in his campaign for mayor; W.H. Rogers continues to be a ray of happiness on the political scene; and Alfalfa Bill is doing his country a service in centering attention on problems which might otherwise be overlooked.

But his presidential candidacy can not be taken very seriously. America doesn't want a character in the White House. It needs more than that; it needs the best equipped and most profound statesman in the land.

THE COST OF TRAFFIC DELAYS

THE economic loss caused by delays in motor traffic in congested cities is strikingly exhibited in estimates recently drawn up by Dr. Miller McClintock of Harvard University.

Dr. McClintock has figured that it costs—everything included—about $4.20 an hour to operate an automobile. In city traffic, he says, fully 75 per cent of one's driving time is entirely wasted; what with stopping for red signal lights, parking, getting into sluggish-traffic lanes and the like.

Figure out how many motorists drive through American cities daily—the number, by the way, has been estimated at more than a score of millions—apply Dr. McClintock's figures, and you can easily see just how costly our small-like traffic stream is.

MAKING AIR LINES SAFE

THE Commerce Department, it is announced, is about to adopt a new regulation for commercial air transport companies which would require each pilot flying a passenger-carrying plane to possess a certificate of competency, to obtain which he would have to measure up to extremely stiff standards.

He would, for instance, have to have at least 120 hours solo flying time, 600 hours cross-country flying, 75 hours night flying, and in addition would have to pass a test in blind flying.

This provision, naturally, would eliminate the employing of pilots who were not of the very highest type, and would do a good deal to make the air lines safer. Nor is there anything unreasonable about it. A steamship captain must possess a certificate of competency which is based on very stiff requirements. Should not an airplane pilot meet the same sort of rule?

PLenty OF WORK?

THE difference between depression and prosperity means tragedy to many millions of people—and yet, amazingly enough, the actual gap between the two states is exceedingly narrow.

A writer in the current Magazine of Wall Street quotes figures compiled by the American Federation of Labor which show that there is in the United States today enough work to employ every worker in the nation—for 35 hours a week.

That is to say, if a seven-hour day and a five-day week were suddenly installed in every industry, unemployment would literally vanish. There is, it seems, plenty of work in America for everybody—if only it were divided up equitably.

The normal working week in most industries is 48 hours, scaling down to 44 in many cases. Between that and the 35-hour week there is no great gulf. And yet that small gulf is enough to throw something like a quarter of all our wage-earners out of work and put long columns of red figures in the ledger of innumerable businesses.

Before the depression came we had had several years of high prosperity. During those years something might have been done to pave the way for hard times. Working hours might have been readjusted, for instance, to spread work out over a larger number of workers. The high profits that were being made could have enabled industries to do this without greatly diminishing the individual worker's income.

But, as the writer in the above-mentioned magazine points out: "Too small a proportion of the earnings of 1919-1929 went into consumption. Too large a proportion went to swell the unspendable incomes of a minority of machine owners. Too much was ploughed back into additional capital investments to swell producing facilities which had already run beyond the consuming abilities of the mass population."

Now, however, we must look ahead to future opportunities, not back to ones that were missed. What are we going to do to narrow the gap? The man who presents a sane and logical program will do his country a tremendous service.

One thing that always stops a car from skidding is a lamp post.

A man out in Arizona looks like Lincoln. Now if we could just find one who thinks like Lincoln.

JUST BIRTH OF HUMAN INTEREST PROM PHOTOFEST

Smith Wildman Brockhart, secretary from Iowa, was driving to work on Washington's birthday in his home town, thinking deep thoughts about the father of his country.

While thus engrossed the Senator almost inadvertently cut down a tree which had been growing in his front yard with his mother east.

The Senator reported his deed to the police. He could not tell a lie.

Anne Berndsen, 21, Chicago, saw her mother and brother window shopping with a third.

"It's father," she gasped and picking up a milk bottle ran to her aid. She burst off the two men and ran to the door, shouting that her mother had just arrived.

MAY STRENGTHEN PACIFIC COAST'S NAVAL DEFENSES

American Attitude Toward Policy Likely To Cause
Change

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — The United States, probably, will not insist on the signing of a peace policy in the Orient, indirectly induced Japan of violating treaties and hinted that this country may have to strengthen its naval defenses.

This was done in a letter sent to Chairman Borah of the Senate foreign affairs committee by Secretary of State Simon.

Simon declared: "If the powers of China and Korea remain, had been observed faithfully, the present trouble in the Orient would have been avoided."

He said that Japan, originally to be included in the same bracket as the United States' promise to restrict its naval forces and decrease its military strength, has since set up, in its share of the bracket, he said the re-enumeration in the United States naval power in the Pacific might be necessary.

The letter was received as a document of greatest importance.

"This would appear to be the most positive action yet taken by the American government," said Simon, adding that the letter was submitted. His comment was typical of the guarded utterances made by congressional leaders.

The Chinese legation was particularly mentioned in referring to the United States' contention that China must be allowed to work out its own destiny and to govern itself.

The Japanese emphasis would not concern but high Japanese circles attached great importance to the contents of the letter referring to American naval policy.

Shoshone Folks Dine and Dance

SHOSHONE (Special) — The Rotary club of Shoshone celebrated Washington's birthday with dinner and dancing at the Miners Inn. About 1,000 attended. Wives of the Rotarians were guests, as were a number of out-of-town and members. Superintendents of schools, business men, clergymen and a number of the members responded to the invitation. Tracy Coler of Shoshone was the master speaker. The program also included a musical quartet by the high school brass quartet; a solo by Kenneth McGuire; a reading by Marlette Chester and a short talk by Mrs. C. E. Johnson. Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Gandy, Jr., and Mrs. S. T. Hart.

A Washington delegation half was given at the K. P. hall Monday evening by the American Legion. Invited guests from Twin Falls furnished the music. A large crowd attended.

Morristown, New Jersey.—So did Walter Miller, near Toledo.
"I remained for Wesley Smith in order to get my money," he said, "and in two minutes as payment as any that ever I'd seen a man." Four of the Judders had finished in the race, and Smith's companion, who had been running, was flying in the mail in the north of Sunbury on October afternoon in 1929 when the car, which was moving forward, lost a chain, careened into the creek at his feet.

"At once the marvelous resource of the boy's mind came to Smith's aid. He thought of saving what he could—or, rather, he instinctively acted, to save it. Shielding his face with his hands, he lay down in the creek, letting the water wash over him, and then made a vertical dive for the bottom, so deep that he diminished the blaze. The cornfield raced up to meet him. At last he found a root that was just long enough to put the plane too a snarl and flatten out for sheltering but safe landing.

The flames still raged, however, while the wheel still turned. The ship wasn't burning yet—the fire was just in there with a vengeance. The two men worked frantically, saving the mail bag first, then throwing dirt under the engine's coat.

Eventually they put out the fire. As a result, the boy was discovered, why? That Judders caught fire. The foreign enclaved blundered instead of gasoline. However, it was another. There was important mail in the engine, with rather connections on the fuel lines. Right fuel lines eventually snapped under the strain of the heat, spilling the gasoline fuel. That was the story. This trivial detail took the lives of seven American mailmen.

"Pilot Wesley Smith, now eleven years older, has graduated to more important duties, but he still has a soft life," said his wife, Franka Yager, Dean Smith, Henry Beaumont, Paul Collins, Fred Kelly, Harry Johnson, Clark Vining, and Wesley.

The artist then relates with genuine interest how the "modified" tools seven days proved to be "regular" pieces of the air mail. Five capture fire. In mid-air, seven pieces of them.

"Solomon Judder"—that was the name with the Judders planned. The mail would fall to arrive.

Our famous I.-D. Super-Wear suits are made by Grief. Sinclair featured this line for years in Twin Falls.

On my way to New York, I stopped in Baltimore to see this concern. At their factory I told the executive who waited on me that I wanted a lot of suits for the most outstanding clothing special ever held in Twin Falls. This is what they did for us. He gave me to understand that Grief did not consider this sale as a business transaction. We got these suits as a present in return for our years of regular business with their house.

I personally recommend them to you as the opportunity of the year to obtain a fine, thoroughly hand tailored garment at a new low price.
