The other district high school basketball teams for the first day's play of the Fifth district class A tournament here. Thursday evening, as well as on two previous nights, frogs among a field of eight quints.

And only one step behind in excitement-was the fifth game between Buhl and Oakley, the same team that defeated the Indians in the beginning of the tournament, from the beginning of the second half when they had no single point lead against them, to come from behind and win by 24-21.

Thursday's Results:

Our results yesterday Thursday, were very much according to the day, with the exception of the time when a mild upset occurred in the Buhl-Oakley game. Thursday evening, the Indians' pre-tournament conference leader, and Buhl, after their excellent performance in the first four games, could be counted on to turn in a win. But both Buhl and Oakley fought hard for their victories and probably would not be the first up.

Buhl earned their right to play the Buhl-Oakley quilt when they came through their afternoon tilt with the Indians, and Buhl won by 24-21 to give them a one score, 24-21. Score at half-time was 15-8 for the Indians and they experienced no trouble. In fact, they won the first half, and substitutions were frequent in an effort to keep the Buhl men fresh for their evening tilt.

Evening's Opener

In the Oakley-Buhl game the Indians were the better team, but never were the scores more than four points apart. The first quarter saw the two quints only two points apart by a 2-7 score in favor of Oakley. The Indians' second half in favor of Buhl and the third half finished with a 20-21 score for Oakley, and the game ended at 33-34 for Buhl.

Third Shuts Out

In the Buhl-Oakley tilt, Buhl led like a team in a period, with the Indians' second half, until Buhl, center, came through and with a minute and a half to go, Buhl streaked down the court on a long dribble and scored his 20th goal, a 20-18 point lead.

OLAP-TRAP

IDAHO'S able governor is being given too much credit in some quarters. His antagonists flatter him in giving him entire responsibility for the legislation enacted at the last session of the state legislature. In the passage of the new income tax law, the statewide primary law, the Old Age pension act and the kilowatt-tax measure, urged by him, was there not lurking in the background somewhere, a Republican House of Representatives and a Republican Senate, which had to pass the measures before the Governor could sign them?

We would like to see the hands of all those who will even be phased by the state income tax law. The present Republican prosperity has relieved the great majority from any concern over income taxes either state or national. That is why the federal treasury department is getting frantic over the matter. As to the kilowatt tax, the idea, perhaps, is only an off-spring of the present-Mills-Mellon-Hoover proposals to tax gasoline, automobiles, cigarettes, checks, theatre tickets and what not, to help a precarious budget of the national administration.

As to the primary law, its actual estimated cost in this county is not expensive as is complained, but it could be cheapened materially perhaps by doing away with elections altogether or by letting an "invisible siren" do the choosing of the machine candidates. Facts are the primary election here will be very inexpensive, about $1400, instead of a reported $6500, which is the budgeted expense of BOTH the primary and general elections! This state is suffering more right now from the damnable looting of the School Endowment funds under the high-handed rule of the previous administrations than from the costs of any progressive legislation such as Old Age pensions, or kilowatt tax, which, if it repeated, were enacted by a Republican legislature.

While the Republican press of the country appeals with crocodile tears to the people to avoid maligning the chief executive of the United States, sniffs over the land persist in taking poorly-aimed shots at the chief executives of the several states in an apparent attempt to throw up political smoke screens, and to further harass them in their efforts to pull their Commonwealths out of the panic into which Hoover has led the nation?

But, as has been stated herein previously, an election impends and the season-for heckling of contentious officials is at hand. If the diatribes are sometimes a little exaggerated and inconsistent, you may put it down as just so much political clap-trap, as illogical, baseless, and unwarranted as the instances cited here.

THE JAPANESE ARMY

THE Japanese army in China seems to be very much like any other army, offhand. Its organization is about the same, its arms are the same, and it follows the same kind of strategy and tactics that European and American armies use.

But once in a while a little news dispatch will reveal the Japanese soldier as a creature of a different species; a hold-over, as it were, from a warlike age which seems to survive nowhere else on earth.

A few days ago dispatches from Shanghai said that the Japanese commander there found himself without sufficient troops to make his offensive succeed. Any European or American general in that position would have cabled: at once for more men, and would have kept on calling until he got action.

But the Japanese commander never let out a peep. Why? Because the old code of the Samurai forbade him to. His emperor had given him this assignment, and he would be unworthy if, having begun it, he appealed for help.

A day or so after that bit of news came a cable to the New York Times telling how three Japanese infantrymen had sacrificed themselves to destroy a barbed-wire barrier that was holding up their battalion.

They strapped about their chests and waists huge quantities of high explosives, and then ran forward boldly and entangled themselves in the barbed wire.

The Chinese instantly shot them, the bullets boomerang off the explosives, and the wire entanglements were blown to bits—as, of course, were the three Japanese infantrymen.

These soldiers, by the way, had volunteered for that

It is hard to imagine either of these incidents happening in a present-day European or American army. We on this side of the Pacific simply don't think that way any longer. The attitude that makes such quixotic bits of old-time chivalry possible stems from the middle ages. We have gone beyond it.

But Japan is still half medieval. The old warrior caste there still looks on life as it did ten centuries ago. The present war, indeed, may prove its last fight, but while it lasts a code that the rest of us lost long ago is still operating.

Waffles for Winter

HERE'S something unique about waffles. Whether ever it appears on the table, those gathered about it rub their hands, and metaphorically speak remarks about being sure to preheat the iron to the walls and stick to its circumference, and stick to its circumference of the oven, and try out one of these brand new waffle recipes, and the family's far from saddle-blown will quickly change to a paroxysm of praise.

This Is Made With Bran

Beat three egg yolks well and add one and one-half cups bran cereal. Sift together one and one-half cups flour with three-fourths teaspoon salt, three teaspoons baking powder and two teaspoons sugar. Add one-half cup melted butter, and fold in three stiffly-beaten egg whites. Bake on waffle-iron as usual, and serve with a few cubes of crumbled Hawaiian pineapple, four tablespoons butter and four tablespoons honey to both sides. Serve with a dash of starch mixed with one tablespoon sugar, and cool for a few minutes, or till slightly thickened. Serve warm, and garnish with a few cherries.

And This With Whole Wheat

Beat three egg yolks well, and then sift together and add one and one-half cups whole wheat flour, three-fourths cup bran cereal, one-half cup melted butter, and fold in three stiffly-beaten egg whites, and lake as usual. This makes seven waffles.

Kimberly Concern

Four young men were taken into custody Thursday in connection with the robbery of Wilson Bros. store at Kimberly the night before. The three, they are Jess Taylor, 19, and Harry Hare, and Leuben Schluft, 18.

Taylor, was arrested in Pocatello on authority of Sheriff E. W. Price, District Attorney, who received a call late Tuesday afternoon, and was expected to arrive in Twin Falls Friday with Taylor, together with a quantity of money, jewels, watches and jewelry, identified as having come from the Wilson store.

The other three were taken into custody at Peavay late Thursday night by Sheriff Price and Lt. Alvin Clegg, police chief, who with some complices were gathered in a scale-house at Peavay, a village located between Filer and Idaho Falls.

The two being held in custody at Peavay late Thursday night had been arrested, it is reported, but one of the匪徒 had been arrested and put in a牢房 in the afternoon.

The robbery of the Kimberly store was effected during the night through a skylight. Through use of a rope one of the robbers was pulled by two boys who had been invited to the store to attend a dance and later withdrawn in a similar manner.

A quantity of gloves, ties and handkerchiefs, identified as having come from the Wilson store, has been recovered.

A meeting of the two law enforcement agencies was arranged with the kidnappers to discuss the matter.

"We will not try to injure in any way those connected with the return of the child," the appeal said.

To support this solemn pledge, Cummins said he would go to the kidnappers with a written statement to "do everything within my power to grant any protection necessary to insure the return of this baby."

He was called today to determine if the kidnapper will remain in Mercey county, as examined for the county line runs through the Linbergh home.

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., (UPI) — Prosecutors and a 50-man posse here pronounced that kidnapper of Harry Chittler, A. Lindbergh, today if only they will release the child to its grieving parents the kidnapper will withdraw all out of the proceeds, the redcket of the trial, G. D. Thompson, received.

Official pronouncements that the law will act to penalize them came from the court yesterday.

Prosecutor E. E. Marshall, a short time after the parents, Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh, sent out a brokenhearted appeal to the authorities to intervene in the abductions, said terms of the abductions entitled —

The money sequestered in Newark, ready to pay a ransom, was offered to the kidnappers but they refused to take it.

Marshall said, "We didn't want it in bills."

The money was offered to the kidnappers to give back the child.

Col. Lindbergh, in his letter to the kidnappers, said:

"Colonel Lindbergh and I want to make a personal contact with the kidnappers after our son is returned to us."

The money was offered to the kidnappers to give back the child.

The Linberghs want only a word from the kidnappers that they will return the boy to his parents.

They also want to know if the kidnappers are willing to arrange this in any way suitable to the kidnappers and they pledge their word that they will not get beyond what they can afford to pay.

"Our professional would have asked for a million in cash when we planned to kidnap John D. Rockerfeller, Sr., we believed he would be worth $500,000. We gave him plenty of time to get the gold."

The kidnappers are to be paid in installments.
