Disquieting News of Military Activity in Orient Reaches U. S.

Russia Augments Her Position Along Border; Japanese Planes Leave On Bombing Expedition

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Reports from reliable quarters reaching Washington today said the Soviet army is continuing to strengthen its position on the Siberian-Manchurian border and that more than 4,000 tons of wheat have been shipped into Vladivostok during the past 10 days.

These moves were viewed in informed circles here as directed toward defense in case Siberia is invaded by Japan. Tokyo has already sent troops into Manchuria, and reliable sources in the Far East indicated the new Manchurian government, allegedly fostered by Japan, is meeting strong opposition from Chinese opponents. In China proper, reports described a new outbreak of "incident" along the Chinese-Japanese frontier near Shanghai.

Will Bomb Troops? Japanese air patrols were reported to have left Changchun on Tuesday to bomb "U" troops in Manchuria, north of Changchun, the capital of the Manchurian Manchu-Manchu troops loyal to the former regime, cf. General Chang Hsueh-Liang.

It also was reported last night that Chinese troops have reached Peking, on the Sungari River. Japanese troops, reportedly under command of Major General Nogi, troops on the eastern line of the Chinese railroad were reported to have been withdrawn to the west, and that Manchurian troops had moved into the situation there which is threatening Changchun.

To Support Right? All Japanese troops movements were understood to be part of the Japanese effort to suppress outbreaks by Chinese factions, notably the old regime in Manchuria.

Conditions in the region along the eastern bank of the Chinese Eastern railroad were reported to be disturbed.

STATE'S POTATO SHIPMENTS DROP

Decreased flow of funds to Market Orient, Reports Elmer

IDAHO FALLS, (UPI) — A committee of citizens here has called to the attention the flow of Idaho potatoes from the market due to the lack of demand. March 1, Gable filed his nomination papers with the Department of Agriculture, Sacramento.

Principal reasons cited are that the market is saturated, and because of the high cost of shipping. There is little demand among citizens, a number of whom are engaged in potato production.

Local officials said that the market is saturated, and that the flow of funds to the market is less than in previous years.

Forrest Malick, 18, killed when plane crashed during storm

CLEVELAND, (UPI) — An air mail pilot en route from New York to Cleveland, crashed near Bedford, a suburb of Cleveland, early yesterday morning, and was killed.

The pilot was Forrest Malick, flying a Transcontinental Air Express plane, which was said to have crashed in a wooded field and was found by a schoolboy, presumably a few minutes later.

Local officials believed the plane had been driven off course by the storm. It was last reported over Bedford, 10 miles east of the city, at 7:30 a.m. The plane had been en route from the airport of the regular New York-Cleveland route.

Two Year Old Child Tumbles Into Hole

PICHLER, Okla. (UPI) — Rescue crews worked frantically today to rescue two-year-old Gerald Collins from a mine drift hole, little more than a foot across, into which he had tumbled.

The child's body fell 25 feet into the hole, and then became wedged between jagged rocks, protruding further full to an unknown depth.

Heir To Fortune Commits Suicide

SAN FRANCISCO, (UPI) — Leo Marks, 20, heir to a Honolulu fortune, shot and killed himself in his room at the Hotel Leland, San Francisco, today. Police said they believed he chose death rather than face a Reno, Nev., warrant charging him with harboring a fugitive rancher of $200.

Marks had himself through the hotel, police said. They understood Marks inherited his fortune a year ago and since he spent most of it, he was penniless. He was said to have settled $500 a month on his wife,

IRLAND NEARS SUCCESS AFTER LONG STRUGGLE

Erin Enters Most Momentous Period Of Its Turbulent History

DUBLIN, (UPI) — Southern Ireland's independence struggle for complete freedom seems to be nearing its goal, although several more years may be needed to write the one of its independence story.

There is every indication that the Irish Free State today is on the threshold of the most significant period in its history.

The change has come over-night, and in the last few months, and especially since the election of Eamon De Valera as head of the executive council, or minister of state, for all of the leading candidates.

Observers gained the impression that De Valera, who is a member of the Sinn Fein party, had been elected, habitually addressed, golden-haired, Barbara Harrie, 17, an dazzling queen of beauty, and a darling of the press.

Today, De Valera's 25-year-old mother, Sylvia Harris, Barbara's minor predecessor among the candidates and finally concentrated:

"I have tried to indicate that I am not a candidate for the presidency of Ireland for all of the leading candidates."

Observers gained the impression that De Valera had been elected, habitually addressed, golden-haired, Barbara Harrie, 17, an dazzling queen of beauty, and a darling of the press.

The wave of nationalistic feeling sweeping over the island of Ireland has not yet abated, and it is still drawing southern Ireland into rebellion against the British Crown. But now, it is clear, the time has come when the people will have learned that methods can be usedful.

Sylvia followed Barbara as a wild-haired, 60-year-old rector of St. Peter's Church, and five hours with the rector's counsel in a gaudy cross examination. In supporting the Sinn Fein candidate, she told the voters, she laid bare her own past.

"She made a fuss over me,"

Sylvia declared, eyeing the incoming Sinn Fein candidate, "and I told her I was a fool."

"She told me she was employed as a maid,"

"She was a fool," she declared, "but I told her it was enough to give me a chance."

SPEARS TO DRAW $10,000 SALARY AT WISCONSIN U.

New Mentor Will Hold Position of Physical Education Professor

CHICAGO, (UPI) — The field of Big Ten coaches was completed today for the 1932 season with Dr. Clarence W. Spears appointed to succeed Glenn Thistlethwaite, at Wisconsin.

Dr. Spears, former Minnesota coach, returns to the Big Ten after two years at Oregon, where his teams won 14 games, lost 2, and tied two.

The coaching changes have been made in the Big Ten for the 1932 season. In addition to the engagement of Dr. Spears at Wisconsin, who had an extremely remarkable career record at Tufts, came Fritz Crisler's place at Minnesota and Ossie Schmitt, Detroit, moved from his post in town. Crisler has accepted a place as head coach at Princeton and Schmitt will be assistant to Bill Jones, Louisiana State University.

Thistlethwaite remained at Wisconsin last December after five years of service, during which which Badger supporters constantly clamored for a championship team. The Badgers, however, were a far from being a title team, but, ironically enough, it was Dr.

Spears' Minnesota team which prevented Wisconsin from winning the national title, as the Gophers beat the Badgers, 6 to 0, in the final game of the season.

Dr. Spears' salary will be $10,000, the largest ever paid a Big Ten coach, and he will receive $1,500 more than Thistlethwaite received. His appointment was for 3 years but it is believed he will be given a 3-year term, based on his record as head coach of professor of physical education, in his 5 years as coach. Dr. Spears' record won 25 games and lost 16 before coming to Minnesota in 1926, he coached at West Virginia.

UNDER FIRE IN OREGON

EUGENE, Ore., (UPI) — Dr. Clarence W. Spears, new football coach of Wisconsin, was assailed by United Faculty members here yesterday for breaking his contract before without first seeking a release from the university. The academic leaders also were criticized for negotiating with Spears when his Oregon contract still had three years to run.

It is believed he will be retained, as he signed a 3-year contract with his $11,500 post here to accept a $10,000 Wisconsin professorship which carries with it the charge of his name will be used in the new move.

It was reported that Dr.

Hill Heineken, first assistant to Dr.

Spears, might accompany him to Wisconsin.

FRANCE IN LAST STIRRING TRIBUTE TO BRIAND

A simple flag-draped coffin held the body of France's beloved Aristide Briand, statesman of all the world, who had been his nation's highest officer. This picture, taken during the impressive funeral in Paris, shows a column of troops marching by the casket of the man who was world famous as "the statesman of peace."

France's grief-stricken-thousands solemnly stood with bared heads as "the great man of peace"—Aristide Briand—was borne amidst military pomp through Paris streets to the little cemetery at Passy. Aristide Briand, statesman of all the world, whose life-long career carried the United States—mainly on his shoulders—into the ranks of the world's greatest leaders. In the lockstep行列, went four 2000 bears, piled high with flowers sent by emperors, heads of state, presidents and lesser folk throughout the world. Friends and former colleagues of all nations followed the funeral cortege.

IN NEW KIDNAPING SCARE NEAR LINDBERGH ESTATE

At Highland Park, N. J., less than 20 miles from the Lindbergh estate, an intruder used mesothorax to blow off the Lindbergh kidnappers in trying to enter the residence, the home of J. Edward Johnson, in the back portion shown. The arrow shows the window against which a ladder had been placed. George Madden, left, was held as a suspect after a burglar had been frightened away from the home during an exchange of shots with a watchman.

SHE'S WRAPPED IN CELLOPHANE TOO

In the studio, the necklace, etc., the cellophane hat. Woven in black and white straw, the new bonnet is quite the dandier on the head of her Hollywood. And here's Ruth Hall, filmqueen, showing they're fetching.

CHAPLIN'S FIANCÉE? WELL—

Mabel, it's just gone—in that report that Charlie Chaplin is engaged to Mary Stevens, namely English girl. But here the camera has pictured her in the company of Boris Everhoff, manager of the screen comedian's personal affairs in Paris. They'd just arrived from London.

VOICE JAPAN'S PEACE PLANS

Attempting to solve the wounds of war-tattered China, these three Japanese leaders have been making important flights in recent negotiations. They are Foreign Minister Kenkichi Yoshimura, above, who says friendship between the two nations can be restored as soon as China abandons its "anti-Japanese" policy; Manoru Shigenobu, lower left, minister to Shanghai, and Lieut.-Gen. Kenji Ueda, lower right, of the Japanese army.

PHAR LAP WINS AFTER PHAR JOURNEY TO MEXICO

Phar Lap, the famous Australian gelding, didn't win "by a whisker" in his Australian debut, but after a slow start he beat through a field of 10 good American horses, to victory in the $100,000 race at the Santa Anita track, near Los Angeles. Above, Phar Lap (left) shows Phar Lap (middle) two lengths ahead of Revelle Boy, Jake Hoot, who rode Phar Lap, between Nancy Atkins, Australian actress (left) and Claire Whelan, American actress (right).

THEIR WINNING POSE

Just as way of variety, Berlin staged a new kind of beauty contest—a moustache-and-lug competition. And it was no trouble at all to award the first prize nine judges had awarded Cilly Polini, noted continental beauty, and her pet dog, Ardwick Lass, in this charming pose.

THE VALLEES CALL ON THE HOOVERS

"You would rate a jewel if you would write a song to drive away the despiration." That was what President Hoover told Rudy Vallee when the croon prince and his wife visited the White House in Washington. Here the singer and his wife smile for the cameraman on the steps of the Executive Mansion after their meeting with the President.

PERUVIAN PLOTTER SENTENCED TO DIE

A court in Lima, Peru, has sentenced to death Alberto Hill Pizarro, soon after the election of Saman de Vila to the presidency. Above, the condemned man stands in a cage-like cell, awaiting his execution.

FREEDING OF PRISONERS HAILED BY IRISH THRONGS

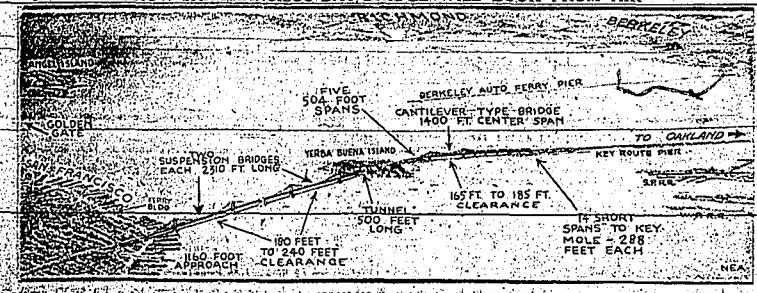

The turbulent scene which accompanied the liberation of political prisoners from Arbour Hill Prison, soon after the election of Saman de Vila to the presidency. Above, the condemned man stands in a cage-like cell, awaiting his execution.

HOOVERS PLANT TREE IN HONOR OF GEORGE WASHINGTON

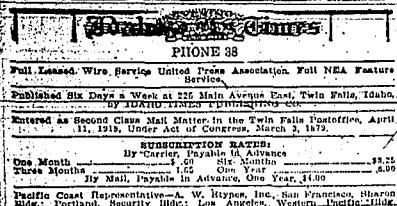

It's interesting to note that when the White House and the boyhood home of George Washington were dedicated, the President, George Washington, was present. Now, when the White House and the boyhood home of George Washington were dedicated, the President, George Washington, was present.

HOW SAN FRANCISCO BAY BRIDGE WILL LOOK FROM AIR

The bridge director is still waiting for California's permission to build a bridge across the bay. The bridge, as shown in plan sketch here, consists of two bridges, one running from San Francisco to Yerba Buena Island, and the other from Yerba Buena Island to the Farallon Islands; the two bridges connected by a 990-foot tunnel across Yerba Buena Island. With approaches, the proposed bridge will be eight miles in length.

It's interesting to note that when the White House and the boyhood home of George Washington were dedicated, the President, George Washington, was present. Now, when the White House and the boyhood home of George Washington were dedicated, the President, George Washington, was present.

NO KIDNAPING FILMS

THE Hays moving picture office in Hollywood, according to the magazine Variety, has warned all producers to steer clear of films with a kidnaping motif. It points out that such films—which might be expected to appear in quantity, following the Lindbergh case—would probably implant wrong ideas in certain heads. Hence we shall get none of them.

Here is one case where the movies' "dictatorship" is acting wisely. Less cheering are reports from New York that we are to get a flock of mystery stories centering about kidnaping.

Apart from any other considerations, such books will simply represent a new way of cashing in on a pitiful tragedy. Good taste alone ought to keep them off the market.

TREES AND FLOODS

WRITING in the Journal of Forestry, Congressman Scott Leavitt of Montana appeals for a national survey to find out just what a vegetative cover on the drainage area of the nation's streams could do to stop losses from floods and soil erosion. He has introduced in Congress a bill providing for such a survey, and it deserves support.

Deforested areas lose their soil much more rapidly than places where there is a good growth of timber—which means a steady depletion of our agricultural resources. Even more important, perhaps, is the fact that much more water drains off of land from which trees have been removed. A thoroughgoing reforestation program in the Mississippi basin, for instance, would undoubtedly help cut down that river's recurrent floods.

It would be a good thing for the nation to find out just what needs to be done to remedy this situation.

OVER-THE-HORIZON

FAR up in the Himalayas, several Englishmen are getting ready to climb the hitherto unscaled peak of Mount Nanga Parbat, which rises some 26,000 feet above sea level and which has rocky sides that run almost straight up and down.

On top of this mountain, say the Kashmiri shepherds who live along the lower slopes, there is a marvelous crystal palace. No one has ever been up there to find out, but a legend dating back far into the past tells about it, and the shepherds have always been willing to take it on faith.

The Englishmen probably do not take any stock in this palace. They are going to make the climb in the interests of pure science, or pure sport, or something of the kind, and if they find nothing on top but snow and ice and bare rock and a gorgeous view of the surrounding country they will be perfectly happy—providing, of course, that they ever get there.

We stay-at-homes may wonder, though, why on earth any man should want to leave his comfortable home and risk his neck climbing a barren mountain in the interior of Asia. There is not, as the saying goes, any percentage in it. What is the sense of it?

The answer, of course, is that there is seldom any tangible reward for the explorer, and there is seldom any very obvious, common-sense reason for his journeys. But there is something in the human heart that gets uncomfortably restless when a new vista opens before the eyes—a desire to go where no one else has ever gone, an imperative yearning to see what lies beyond the next hill. The desire is as old as the race, and it probably will last until the last rocket car has explored the last distant planet.

It sent the old Phoenicians out through the straits of Gibraltar in their flimsy galleys; thousands of years ago, and it sent trappers and adventurers out to the Rocky Mountains within the last century. It sent Marco Polo to China and it sent Amundsen to the South Pole. It is irrational and compelling, and none of us is wholly free from it.

For we are a restless, questing race, and no horizon ever quite contents.

George G. Barrett, state treasurer, today announces his candidacy for renomination at the Republican party primary. He says that in the event he is renominated and reelected he "shall continue to advocate aid, and assist in all practical ways to reduce the cost of government," certainly a worthy ambition, but for the main his announcement deals with the question of taxation and points out the nation's economic ills. The facts are that because of the constitutional limitations of his office, he is rendered practically impotent to do anything about the problems he complains of—other than to talk about them.

An amazing commentary on the swiftness of this passing civilization is revealed in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post which has for its leading article an interview by its famed correspondent Isaac Marcosson with none other than Ivar Kreuger, the Swedish match king whose untimely death at his own hand (pistol) was heralded in the press of the land only a short time ago. The Saturday Evening Post goes to press five weeks in advance of publication, which accounts for many peculiarities similar to the Kreuger incident, but none in the records of recent journalism have been quite as incongruous. Poor Mr. Kreuger should have been a little more considerate of his Post.

Table Basketball Offered As Clever Party Innovation

Twelve high school boys and girls basketball squads were entertained by Mrs. B. E. Hartnett, Mrs. Bevill, Mrs. Frank Brown, and Mrs. H. W. Smith Monday evening at the Blue Lakes Boat Club on "Gardening." Wednesday afternoon, giving a number of scientific talks on various subjects.

Principal U. N. Terry, Mrs. Terry and Mrs. Innabel Mac Simpson had card party.

"Post-Season Basketball," a hilarious invention of Miss Call's, was at a card party for the Knights of Columbus. Eighteen girls and twenty boys, kept in simulated official party wear, were in the game all the time. At the end of the game, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Putnam quarter, ticketed and sold, were presented with the high score prizes and tow player. When the "baskets" and score prizes went to Mr. and Mrs. Putnam, both teams were awarded. Prizes were announced as high point girl and boy, Lawrence Lewis as high point man.

Mrs. H. Smith, in her best manner, presented trophies to the winners.

A two-minute supper was served at the close of the meeting.

Shower Is Given Member of Group

(Special) — The members of the Womans club met at the home of Mrs. Wanda Woolford Monday night, and after a short business session with Mrs. Jean Sullivan presiding, the meeting was turned over to the hostess, who entertained with the game of cards. Mrs. May Martin won the first prize, and Miss Margaret Clements evaded capture. Refreshments were served at tables, using Easter ideas, and during the meeting, Mrs. Cora C. Wood, representative of the Idaho State Chamber of Commerce, gave an interesting talk on tax legislation.

The meeting was opened with a reading

devoted to a miscellaneous

shower given in honor of Mrs. John Ross, formerly Mrs. Lillian Ross, who recently moved to Mrs. Eva Toops as hostess. The next meeting will be a dinner at the Colonial Inn April 11.

in their efforts to implement the new contract held.

Under a contract between the growers and the company is reached by tomorrow, 60 per cent of the beet crop will be released under the compensative agreements, and farmers can, if they desire, receive the balance of the acreage to be released later at the decision of the association.

INSIDE OF HOUSE DAMAGED BY FIRE

HUNT FOR LINDBERGH BABY
GIVES SON BACK TO MOTHER

LOODING (Special) — A fire patrol was summoned about 1 o'clock yesterday morning, to put out a burning linoleum residence in the west part of the city was discovered to be burning. The fire started in the basement, the cause of which is unknown, but it has not been kept in the furnace this winter.

The flames followed the centrifugals and encrusted the walls back of the plaster, making it difficult to keep the fire under control. The apartment remained in confinement the flames to the inside and some of the outside of the building was burned.

The residence was occupied by the G. W. Paulk family who were preparing to move on to their ranch. Most of the furniture and furnishings were saved. Mrs. Paulk, however, had a bad惊恐症 (anxiety), but it is understood that sufficient insurance was carried to cover the loss.
