

CARDS RALLY TO DEFEAT PIRATES BY 9 TO 8 COUNT

Small Crowd Sees Champions Again Triumph Over the Team.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The champion Cardinals have started after the National pennant again.

Four runs behind in the ninth at St. Louis yesterday, they threw the throttle wide open and overhauled the lead to win, 9-8 victory over the Pirates, whom they had hampered the day before.

Some 1600 lonely fans in the park saw the pennant-hunting night game was over before the Red Birds started their parade in the last half of the ninth on a home run by Collins, Martin, Gilbert, Adams and Waddins, all driven by Frank Frisch's pinch-hitting in five runs. Lloyd Waner's doubles helped the Pirates, however.

At Cincinnati, the Reds one-run box popped up for the first time since the start of the season to the Cubs, making it 1-1 with Chicago in the two games. Pat Malone and Owen Correll went the route respectively for the Cards and Reds.

Philadelphia at New York and Boston at Brooklyn were frozen out.

In the American League, Walter Johnson's Senators yanked a four-game out of the furnace in the ninth to win their second straight victory with two on featured the last minute attack on Jack Russell, Marberry, Brown, and Fisher yielded blue hits to Boston.

Although out-clipped 12 to 9, the rejuvenated Calzone White Sox beat St. Louis 7 to 3, for their third victory in a row, while the Browns, Alphonse Thomas allowed the Browns a dozen safeties.

The Cleveland boys cooperated in the effort, but lost to Detroit 6 to 5. The winning run came when Richard Porter singled, then advanced on Urban Hodapp's sacrifice fly, and scored on the third hit of the inning. There were five errors. Wes Ferrell went the route for Cleveland, and St. Louis yielded the blisters in the ninth to Detroit.

Weather postponed New York at Philadelphia.

NEW YORK'S HIPS — Hulite Munro, 17, was hamered in the ninth, with Brooklyn, to win a "lost" game for the Senators.

Dr. George McAllister eliminated the Atlanta, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3 in the first important match of the 1932 competition. Ellsworth Vines, Los Angeles, then moved during the play yesterday, to catch up with the field. He arrived two days after the first round matches had been completed.

In a fourth-round match, Vines ousted John Hillard, Philadelphia, 6-2, 6-4. He previously had eliminated Dave Morgan, Asheville, N. C., 6-1, 6-2, and Bill Campbell, 6-2, 6-2, and won the first round.

Berkeley Bell, New York, defeated Wilmer Hines, Columbia, S. C., 6-4, 9-7; Wilmer Allison, 6-1, 6-2, and George Carpenter, Newark, N. J., defeated John Higgins, Red Bank, N. J., 6-1, 6-4.

OIL Gone...

He Drove from Banner to Sheridan
on the GERM PROCESSED "Hidden Quart"

The driver for the Sheridan Motor Bus Company was ready to leave Banner, Wyoming, for Sheridan with his big Red Bus loaded with passengers.

Then he made a discovery. The oil line had been accidentally broken, allowing the Conoco Germ Processed Oil to drain out and the crankcase was empty. With all Banner closed for Thanksgiving, he could not get oil and had to drive the 16 miles to Sheridan without oil. At Sheridan, inspection showed that the "Hidden Quart" of Conoco Germ Processed Oil had saved the motor from damage!

If Conoco Germ Processed Oil can protect a heavy bus with the crankcase empty, it will certainly give you sure, safe lubrication in everyday driving. It is the only oil that actually penetrates and combines with metal surfaces. That's why a "Hidden Quart" stays in your motor and never drains away. It cuts down wear in the starting period, when other oils drain away and leave parts unprotected. It gives your motor longer life, with fewer repair bills.

Have this extra protection. Change to Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil at the sign of the Conoco Red Triangle.

We also encourage "dry crankcase" engines, particularly in cold weather. But until letters from motorists, now in our files tell us of their experiences with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, we cannot say for sure.

BUTLER'S PRAYERS.

MAJOR Smedley D. Butler, Republican senatorial nomination candidate, who resorts to profanity frequently, always begins his campaign speeches with a prayer.

"I do swear," he told a men's Bible class at Bromall, "but the queer thing of it is I always pray before I get up to speak."

"I ask the Lord to please help me do and say the right thing. It has been a big help. If the Lord doesn't want me to do this, I won't succeed."

A VITAL PROBLEM

EFFORTS of the American Federation of Labor to gain Congressional regulation of the soft coal industry point to a problem that ought to be engaging the attention of the country's best brains.

President William Green of the federation says that coal miners are "not living—just existing." And Henry Warren, counsel for the United Mine Workers, declares of the coal industry:

"That its capital structure is being destroyed and its labor wage shamefully deflated; that communities depending on it are being pauperized; that it is the scene of violent labor disputes, the victim of unprecedented cut-throat competition . . . and that in the final effort to survive, it is wasting beyond future recovery 40 per cent of the coal it mines."

Here is a matter that deserves Congressional attention at once.

WHERE THE HAZZARDS LIE

THE accident to Captain Hawks emphasizes one of the most peculiar aspects of modern aviation—the fact that the moments of greatest danger usually come, not when a plane is high in the air, but when it is just leaving or just reaching the solid earth.

Too much can happen in a fraction of a second, at such times. When things go wrong while the plane is in flight, the pilot has time to take action to meet the emergency; all else failing, he can take to his parachute. But when an emergency develops during the takeoff or the landing there is nothing to do but cut the switch and breathe a prayer—if he has time.

The next great advance in aviation safety will probably come in some way of making the beginning and the ending of a flight less hazardous.

THE MORAL SIDE

WHEN Dr. William Oxley Thompson, president emeritus of Ohio State University, told an audience of college men the other day that the real issues facing the country today are not economic but moral, a good many of his hearers probably treated themselves to a skeptical "Oh, yeah?"

Industry is stagnant, agriculture is on the rocks, millions of men are out of work and there are breadlines in every city. And the main issues are not economic? It is easy to be skeptical about that statement.

And yet, when you stop to think about it, there is a whole lot of truth in it. We are reaping just now, that which we sowed during the decade following the Armistice; and we did the sowing with both eyes fixed on the main chance, with economic issues uppermost in our minds; with all moral issues utterly forgotten—and look what it brought us!

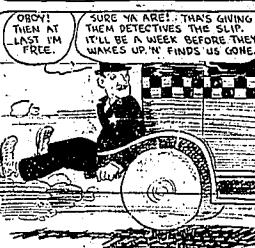

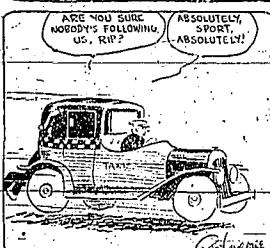

In a material way, civilization took a long step forward during those years. Men learned how to produce more things than ever before. They learned how to sell things more quickly and more widely. They learned how to let machines do the hard work that human muscles used to have to do, they learned how to move, from place to place faster than ever before, they learned how to increase profits beyond anything dreamed of before.

But no one took the time to wonder just what the spiritual implications of all this might be. Production, sales, profits—these became ends-in-themselves. We never asked ourselves where our absorption in economic issues was leading us.

Now we are paying for it all. We are discovering the schemes which boost sales and profits can be horribly wrong if they do not make allowances for the intangible human values. If we are told, now, that it is time for us to give our attention chiefly to moral issues, we ought not to be surprised.

It is probably that the country will never again be as completely absorbed in material things as it was during the past 10 years. That attitude, inevitably, leads to a blind tumble into a ditch.

Regardless of whether government advances to farmers is good economics, the crop loans which this year have been made available have proved a godsend for the present at least. There seems to be no hesitancy on the part of the government to make these advances with adequate security, and similarly there has been little hesitancy on the part of ranchers to avail themselves of the preferred-financial assistance. After all, if a person has to borrow money, his position as a debtor is the same, whether he owes the government or an individual or a bank.

The History of Twin Falls City and County

AS GLEANED FROM FILES OF THE TIMES

APRIL 16, 1917

At a mass meeting attended by more than 200 citizens at Catherill hall Wednesday evening, the Twin Falls World is progressing toward completion. Mayor E. F. Hencken; councilman E. O. Olstrand, A. L. Swin, C. B. Chanel, W. H. Ellidge, Harry Maxwell, city clerk, At. W. Wickford, "Chum" Wickford, contractor, and others, attended as the party discontinued.

The Elks installed their new officers last week. G. J. Hahn, third degree grand master of the preexisting. Officers were Herman Deles, exalted ruler; Carl Hoan, royal arch; Leo Fernandes, senior knight; C. J. Dailey, secretary; Harry Maxwell, treasurer; C. D. Marks, and C. C. Staggs, trustees; V. H. Ormsby, delegate to the supreme lodges in Boston in July.

High school baseball began with a win this week. The lineup of the various teams included Senator Frank McCrory, Honorable George S. Foster, Edward M. Marquis, Oscar and Claude Shadie, Juniors, Streng, Davis, Lavender, Fox, Thomas, Johnson, More, Klemmer, Thompson, Trumbo, Glavin, Watson, Cole, Sharpe, Schwartz, Stuart, Moonaw, French, Yorkine, Strane, Manning, Paulsen, Quillen, Krebs, Gandy, Yocum, Wilharm.

Twin Falls county—a comparatively new county in a very young state—had in 1917 only 150,000 people and over three hundred volunteers for the service of our country.

George White, George Trichon, and John Shimons, with their families sat in the New Mexico pavilion. They arrived Tuesday to set up their new home.

George Drake arrived from Wyoming, N. M., yesterday. He came with the expectation of taking land and establishing a farm to develop it.

Father Verigin, will hold services at the school house Sunday morning at 10 o'clock.

Perrine & Burton received half a car of screen doors this week.

QUITE A CONTRAST

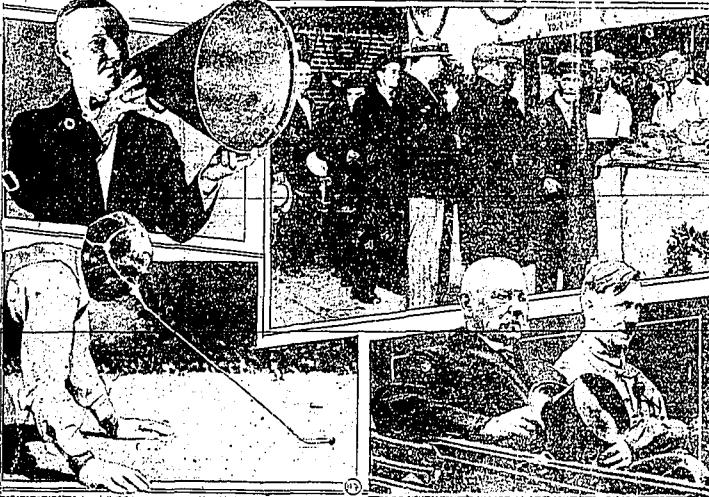

Like this bathing suit? It's a "half-and-half" model, with a waist of strikingly contrasting colors. Indeed it is, incidentally, is Miss Blanche Martin of Chicago. She's a sun-and-sea bather at Miami Beach, Fla.

SHOTGUN FIRE ROUTS ENVOY

When Fred C. Clarke, shown as top manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates and now an attorney in Maryland, Okla., tried to strangle an axeman, which he is receiver Colonel Z.Zack Miller, bankrupt owner of the ranch, rose from a window and drove off, the visitors of Ozark, Mo., upon this picture were taken.

COOLIDGE CROONS; MELLON JOINS BREAD LINE; GANDHI HURDLE—AND THEY SAY CAMERA DOESN'T LIE!

By radio, telephone, airplane and limousine, the Idaho Evening News' carrier pigeon, the Idaho Evening News' picture at upper left, of Cultus Times and NEA Service have succeeded in gathering today's most amazing news in pictorial form. Constituting what would seem to be one of the most remarkable achievements of modern journalism, the above photos of the most famous and momentous events of the day just started out on their lines to push a peanut in Washington, Oklahoma's aerobatic nover or the can stand on his head, was one of the world's richest men) is a veteran political show man? Well, here's pictorial evidence who believes in keeping close to home that times are really tough to the soul. The honest expedient! Two famous leaders in Germany adopted here in calculated to get man affairs are shown below us into the White House by 1932 they rode together through Berlin The next picture, at the top streets to acknowledge the cheer shows a headline. And right at of delinquent throng, President front, receiving a hand-out, is von Hindenburg, left, and Adolf Hitler, left, former Finance Minister, right. "Nazis" of, have patched up. A BIT OF HOLLAND IN U. S.

What looks like a group of Dutch maidens in the tulip flower fields of Holland is a group of girls with children in western Washington, near Seattle. Thousands of acres of daffodils, tulips and other bulb flowers are now in bloom, and the raising of bulbs in that section has become one of its leading farm industries.

HELPING TO CUT FEDERAL EXPENSES

WOULDN'T KING COLE HAVE BEEN DELIGHTED!

CHARLIE CHAPLIN, RIDING HIGH

Maybe he was getting ideas for his next film comedy. Anyway, wouldn't Charlie Chaplin have looked funny if he'd taken his derby hat, walking cane and floppy shoes with him when he got on that camel's back? As it was, he was a serious-minded tourist, out for a visit to the grandiose city of Oizuru, Japan, upon this picture was taken.

The pictures that once distinguished the spring figure of Helen Wills when, as a girl, she set the tennis world on fire, last fall, have fallen before the shearer's shears. Mrs. Helen Wills Moody is shown above in her first pose after having her hair bobbed in what she termed a "modern" fashion.

SMALL-SIZE CROWN FOR 'LITTLE POKER FACE' AS PIGTAILS VANISH

Helen Wills in "pigtail coiffure" is shown in inset at top left at the outset of her tennis career. Inset right shows her after the pigtail had "gone up" in combing both sides of her head. This year, she is out again for the tennis crown who failed to compete for last year. Mrs. Moody will appear for the first time without the tightly coiled hairstyle that has been one of her characteristics. At right she is shown in another pose following the bobbing.
