The History of Twin Falls City and County

AS GLEANED FROM FILES OF THE TIMES

15 YEARS AGO

The Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank of Twin Falls held its annual meeting at the business hotel Tuesday night. The new location of the bank was the subject of much interest and a surplus of $2500. The bank indicates its future as it is a financial institution for local farmers and merchants in the prosperous Kimberly town and country.

The Burley, Rupert, Blain and Twin Falls high schools held a track meet at Burley this week. Twin Falls was represented by Mr. Frank, Norman, Harry, Eric, Strong, Glasgow, Woffington and Johnson.

It is felt by the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce that the city is interested in the success of the business organization and the building of the future with a view to working together, something could probably be accomplished.

Shoemakers in this city say that they are swamped with orders for making old shoes since the high cost of footwear has struck the community. A prominent citizen said that he had tried to get action on a mending job and found the repair men had no orders for a week ahead. So he invested in a repair outfit and did the work himself. He does not want any competitors, so his identity is not revealed.

more, sick of the war and attracted by the open country, had deserted and had become pioneer settlers. How many old American families, one wonders, could trace their ancestry back to some disgruntled hireling of the Landgrave of Hesse-Cassel who went A. W. O. L. and forgot to return?

Now we are about to find out in considerable detail just what the Hessians felt about everything; and it ought to make mighty absorbing reading. As the quaint old tombstone in the Boston cemetery says, the Hessians came 8000 miles and died "to keep the past upon its throne." They failed; and so far they have been mute actors in the drama. History will be richer when their private thoughts are finally spread upon the record.

OVER SHOSHONE FALLS
The Kinsey, former of Shoshone Falls, was drowned Sunday evening (April 20) about dark. His body was probably swept over Shoshone falls. There was but one witness to the affair, one Shillman, and he tells many tales that evidence can be placed in some of them.

It appears that Kinsey took a tow boat to take Sullivan across the river where he was employed as the power engineer. Mr. Sullivan, shortly after he and Kinsey left the hotel, was driving west, and stated that Kinsey had attempted to throw him out of the boat, but had fallen into the water and was drowned. Later he said the boat had capsized and that Kinsey was unable to reach shore.

L. S. Courtney of Oliver Creek has rented 100 acres of J. H. Day's ranch north of the townsite and will start a dairy. He will begin with 10 cows.

The experimental farm will plant sweet corn of what to demonstrate whether or not they can be grown. They will also plant corn and watermelon, and if possible, the experiments will be continued until the variety which gives most satisfactory results will be given a fair trial.

JACKET DRESS FOR SCHOOLGIRL
MATTERN NO. 721

This is a school dress that's not just another school dress. It has a janny jacket that transforms it into a complete street costume. And because two jackets are better than one, make up one jacket of the dress fabric, and another of the contrasting material. There's a detachable necktie with a white pluge top and jacket, and another necktie of the dress fabric fabric, for example. Reverse the color combination for the coat collar, of course.

For daytime and "out-of-door" wear, wool crepe is pretty and practical. For dressmaking, use crepe, or wool crepe.

Designated in sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 16 requires 4 1/2 yards of 36-inch material or 3 1/2 yards of 39-inch material. For contrasting for trimmings 5/8 yard of high quality, color or 20-inch material for all sizes.

A TIME TO THINK

NO one, of course, is not interested in the reduction of taxes right down to the last dollar.

In fact the desire for this accomplishment has become a mania, with some of the best brains of the country coming to the aid of the over-burdened taxpayer in devising ways and means to economize. On the other hand, there is danger of the selfish interests getting their work under the guise of tax reduction.

For example, it is proposed that the biggest amendment be done away with to save the cost of enforcement; beer is being urged as a means of revenue. Similarly in state, county and city we witness wifely efforts to reduce taxes under one excuse or another many times with ulterior motives in mind instead of the taxpayers' pocketbook.

There is yet another angle which must be kept in mind. We must be on the look-out for the sincere advocate of tax reduction, who would save cents, and at the same time be losing dollars. We like the phrase included in the resolutions of the recently-organized Taxpayers league at Murtaugh, wherein this significant statement was made in the list of purposes of the organization: "To support and encourage public officials in all PROPER efforts to reduce public expenditures; and urge the reductions of our tax burdens in every PRACTICAL and FEASIBLE way."

Regardless of the desire of all of us for lessened taxes, the thing for every taxpayer to keep constantly in mind, is not to let mischievous influences raise the bogey of high taxes to distract from more serious economic ills. Sometimes it appears that this attempt is deliberate and is pure political propaganda, designed to focus attention on this one subject alone to the exclusion of low farm prices, depreciated land values, closed factories, sagging industry, national monopoly, gross mismanagement in the national budget, lack of law enforcement, and a threatened break-down in our economic structure.

God knows taxes should be reduced. But just contemplate for a moment what small benefit would result to the average farmer, for instance, if through the combined influence of all taxation units it were possible to lop one-fourth or one-third off his present property tax bill! Suppose he is now paying taxes of $600 annually, and through radical economy in all departments of government, $100 or even $200 were taken from his taxes. It would be a great and appreciated saving, 'tis true and would be welcome but no such small sum as that separates the average farmer from prosperity and penury; given a fraction of a cent price increase in his potatoes, his beans, his wheat, and he will more than make that amount up.

The point here stressed is to caution against the decision that tax reduction is going to solve the situation; and to urge that no one place too much dependence for his economic salvation on hopes of tax reduction; if taxes were cut square in too, as we all would welcome, yet a saving of $250 (to the present $500 taxpayer) is not going to be noticeable enough to change the place of the thousands of dollars lost through stagnant markets in this tariff-ridden country or to replace the prosperity which our industrial farm people is entitled to in this great nation which now finds itself in the grip of the international bankers and master politicians but not for long it is hoped.

Reduce our taxes, yes; but let's not be satisfied to stop there. Let's bring about a restoration of conditions which will make it unnecessary for formerly independent and prosperous ranchers to deprive themselves and their families of necessities and a few little luxuries in order to pay taxes with 10-cent eggs, 40-cent wheat, unmentionable spud prices and six-bit beans.

Let's not permit our efforts to save $100 in taxes dissipate our energies so we will not be able to think clearly over the major causes which have brought us to the point of being unable to pay any taxes at all!

AN INTERESTING DISCOVERY
SOMETIME during the next few years some uncommonly interesting new histories of the Revolutionary War ought to be written.

The William L. Clements Library of the University of Michigan has just acquired a vast bundle of letters, diaries and other documents written by Hessian officers who served with the British troops in America during the Revolution. For a century and a half these papers rested in a trunk in a German castle, and no historian ever saw them. Now they are to be made available for presentation to the public.

The Hessians have always been the villains of the Revolutionary story. But even the most imaginative student must have wondered about them occasionally. What did these hired soldiers think of the epoch-making struggle in which they had been paid to take part? What sort of a time did they have in America? How did they get along with their red-coated comrades in arms, and what were their opinions of the ragged Continentals?

So far we have been able to do nothing but guess. There has been an indication of two, of course. It is known, for instance, that of 30,000 Hessians soldiers brought to America during the war, only 17,000 returned to Germany after peace had been signed. Many of course, had been killed in action, but many
