DAWES TO REFUSE POLITICAL OFFERS

Statement Issued as Noted Financier Relinquishes
R. F. C. Presidency

WASHINGTON, (UPI)—Charles G. Dawes told today he would not accept the Republican nomination for vice presidency if it were offered him.

His statement was made as he relinquished the presidency of the Reconstruction Finance Corp.

He said his "more explicit explanation of his position will be necessary after his previous statement." That statement was issued yesterday by the vice presidential candidates.

The statement was issued during the hours of debate.

The vote was 200 to 176.

An Acting Speaker Rainey announced the victory for bonus veterans, the crowded galleries and the press that morning would seem to call for a more explicit statement of my attitude.

"I have been considered for this nomination a high honor, and I appreciate the platters of support. I have given the question considerable thought."

"I would not accept the nomination if made."

Soldily Herbert Hoover.

From his close friends of Dawes, the United Press learned Dawes had been asked to nominate Mr. Hoover. One of them was a cabinet member who said Dawes would accept the nomination for vice-president if the nomination was impossible to consider seriously.

"Dawes has always been known for his frankness," one man said. "He might have won the Republican nomination for president on two previous occasions except for the plotters of Frank O. Lowden, former Governor of Illinois. Every time I have been refused, I have gone back on my pledge."

"Dawes was a general—he would have the general's support. There isn't a possibility Dawes would go back on his word."

Wets and Drys Sound Their Cries

Leaders of damp, dry, wet and compromise groups rallied in Chicago to do battle for their views. Left above, Francis Clay Harley of Astoria, Ore., chairman of the National Liberal Alliance, points out flaws in the 18th amendment. He seeks to link it in Republcan platform. In the center, Mrs. William Willke, national committee woman and delegate from Illinois, tells Mrs. Mary McFarlane, of the Anti-Saloon League, once famed as a dry, is a delegate-at-large from California. At right, Mr. Scott McFarlane, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, declares in no uncertain terms that if the Republcan platform is vetoed out of the convention.

Washington Team Loses Seven Contests in Eight Starts Against Browns

NEW YORK (UPI) — Walter Johnson's Washington Senators were snowed under again yesterday by the Browns. In 3 to 3. On May 18, just after Bill Killeffer's partisans had inflicted four defeats upon the Senators, the Big Train moaned: "St. Louis is our thumb. We can beat the top-notch clubs, but we are pretty in the hands of the lousy Browns. Something must be done; they are spoiling our pennant chances."

Yesterday's defeat, which allowed Connie Mack's Athletics to make into second place, almost brought home to the Senators marked seven losses for Washington in eight starts this season.

Jimmy Fox blazed out his 21st home run, and the Browns rained on Philadelphia Athletics, trounced Detroit, 10 to 6.

Danish Marquayen won his first game for the New York Yankees in the Yankee's 5 to 3 victory over the Indians, 7 to 6. Bill Dickey and Averill hit homers.

Boston's Red Sox won their 11th game in 13 starts by beating Chicago's White Sox, 6 to 4, in 12 innings.

In the National League, Cincinnati and the Philadelphia Phillies both won their first games. The Reds took the first, 6 to 5, and the Bees won the nightcap, 6 to 2.

New York's doubleheader, won 10 to 9, was squared out, as was St. Louis' twin bill at Brooklyn, and Chicago at Boston.

AUTO DEATHS DROP
One bit of good news is the fact that the automobile death toll is decreasing.

Figures compiled by the Travelers Insurance Co. show that there were 8,500 automobile traffic fatalities during the first four months of this year—a decrease of eight per cent from the corresponding period in 1931.

There are, of course, two things to keep one from rejoicing too heartily over this. In the first place, this decrease is probably due chiefly to the fact that because of hard times there are fewer drivers on the roads now than formerly. It is not likely that we have shown any appreciable gain in our ability to drive carefully.

Secondly, there is the sad fact that the deaths still average around 70 a day. Our traffic toll is still a national disgrace, in spite of the decrease.

A GREAT NEW INDUSTRY

Highly placed authority is more impressed with the expansion possibilities of air cooling or conditioning than with anything else that has been brought forward thus far. Trains, commercial and residential buildings offer almost limitless sales possibilities, if some flexible credit system were made available. It is quite possible that concerted banking action may meet this problem before long.

The way will not be all smooth. The great investors in mortgages such as the insurance companies and savings banks may oppose. They see the threat of depreciation in property for lease without the new installation if others are available providing it. There may be a financial battle royal over the question of making summer cooling as much a matter of course as is winter heating.

THE SEABURY EVIDENCE

Mr. Seabury's communication to Governor Roosevelt about Mayor Walker seems to leave a very thorny and troublesome issue squarely on the doorstep of the executive mansion at Albany.

To us who, living outside of New York City, have no direct concern in the matter, it seems quite clear that the determined New York lawyer has made out a case which will take some answering. That is, there is solid meat in the charges, and they can't be tossed aside with the simple retort of "politics."

A reply will be made in due time, of course, and until then we do not need to try to rejudge the case. Meanwhile, one can only repeat—Governor Roosevelt has been handed a very tough and unpleasant problem.

MIXING TARIFF WITH THE TAX BILL

What started out to be a budget-saving tax bill seems to have become, by some process of congressional magic, a tariff bill; and it is worth remembering that one may be a devout high-tariff advocate and still deplore this surprising change.

For the tariff, like the poor, is always with us, but the tax bill is something different.

It is an emergency measure. The federal government has found that its expenditures are exceeding its income by many, many millions of dollars, and its biggest job right now is to make things balance somehow. New sources of income must be found. Until this job is done, nothing that Congress can do amounts to very much.

These tariff sections are not advanced as revenue measures. The most that is said for them is that they may add $6,000,000 to Uncle Sam's income, and there is nothing like agreement that they will bring in even that much.

Why, then, in the name of sanity, force them into the tax bill and further complicate an already complicated problem?

If we needed them, they should have been in a separate bill, entirely disconnected with the tax bill.

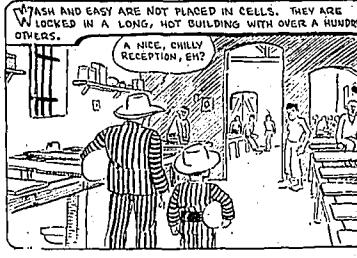

Congress has been on trial in the last few months. The country has been watching anxiously to see if that body has enough intelligence and patriotism to enable it to function properly in a great national emergency. Its action in jamming tariff increases into a taxation measure is almost enough to make one think that it has not.

At last we've found out why cadets at West Point and Annapolis feel so superior to ordinary college students. They get a job along with their diplomas.

With wool selling on a basis of 7 cents a pound, doesn't it seem reasonable that the protective tariff of 34 cents a pound on wool should be jacked up a bit? Hailey Times.

WIFTS

The smartest living politician in the Republican party recently observed to friends: "The party has never yet won by being the party of the weak."

He was looking particularly at New York State, Republican gubernatorial candidate, and the candidates there have been defeated. The same experience has been encountered by the party in Massachusetts and some other eastern states.

There were contributing causes. Dawes told an intimate friend recently: "I am saying nothing."

shortly after a five-day trial. He waived his right to a four-day trial before he could be sentenced, his counsel desiring to gain faster action on an appeal.

Means was returned to the district court, where Justice Proctor sentenced Means to 10 years imprisonment on the larceny conviction as it related to the $10,000 ransom fund given him by the bank.

He was turned over to the state prison, where he was held for 15 years.

Before pronouncing sentence, Justice Proctor commented on evidence brought out in the trial. He said that the "slaver" and "robber" were guilty.

CHAPTER XVII

CHERRY'S laugh was not as convincing as it should have been. She could feel the hot color in her cheeks. She said, "How do you do, Mr. Pearson. I've heard Dan speak of you." Lowered head covered her confusion.

"I'm glad to know you, Pearson," said, "Great boy, Dan. But, of course you know that. He's to be highly congratulated."

Pearson excused himself and disappeared. Dixie and Cherry together told Dan about the apartment they had just come across, about terms and arrangements that could be made with the present tenants.

"Well, if you like it so much, honey, why didn't you take it?"

Cherry insisted Dixie should see the place first. The discussion ended with another telephone call to Mrs. Clark. That evening Cherry and Dan climbed the long flight of stairs together and knocked at the Clark's door. When they departed half an hour later a deposit on the first $100 rent had been paid and it was agreed that the rent would move in Monday morning.

For the next three days Cherry was unusually busy. She set forth to furnish the apartment by buying a huge amount of wallpaper, a smaller volume which she found on the same counter in the book store entitled, "Home Economics," and a book on "How to Make a Home Economically," and a book on "Decorating."

Dixie's chores relieved the tension. When Cherry looked at Pearson again she wondered what could have made her lungs more than anything unusual about him, although he was an extremely pleasant-looking young man.

Why hadn't Dan told her Pearson was handsome? It was natural to feel a little disappointed when she was so much less attractive than he.
