FARM STRIKERS WOUNDED IN IOWA BATTLE

PRESIDENT PLANS G. O. P. DRIVE AT SECRET SESSION

Republican Party Strategists Determined to Wage Big Offensive in East - BELIEVE ROOSEVELT POWERFUL IN WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Republican campaign strategists who met with President Hoover at a secret session here today are determined to wage their biggest offensive in the industrial belt.

President Hoover is expected to announce the "right to carry" law, which is making a personal appeal for support in New York.

In addition the new York party organization is expected to announce the "right to carry" law, which is making a personal appeal for support in New York.

The secret conference held today was attended by William H. Channing, N. Y., who directed the successful Hoover campaign in New York four years ago.

Mrs. Gann to Campaign - Among those at the secret meeting were Mrs. Gann, national committee chairman, former Senator Allen of Kansas, Secretary of Agriculture, and Senator Hoover, N. Y., director of the national campaign.

Secretary Mills and Mrs. Gann will campaign in States where the immediate objective was to win the support of the voters.

Search for Bodies of Two Twin Falls Men Resumed Along River

HAHRMAN, (Special) - Search for the bodies of Charles D. Jenkins, 70, and Zim E. Lynch, 65, both of Twin Falls, who were drowned late Tuesday afternoon in the lower reaches of the Snake river, resumed today.

Search for the bodies of the two men, who were drowned in the lower reaches of the Snake river, resumed today.

When they returned to the site, the men had disappeared. The boat drifted several hundred yards downstream.

The river is particularly swift-running at the point of search, and because of the shifting, dragging equipment is of little use in searching for information from the wreckage.

Officers were held today by a group of boys who were waiting for the re-appearance of the bodies.

Ernie Schaaf 7-to-5 Favorite In Chicago Bout With Max Baer

Championship Fight Likely Reward for Victor

RECORDS GOOD.

By GEORGE KILMERY United Press Staff Correspondent CHICAGO, (UP)—Ernie Schaaf, heavy champion, and Max Baer, challenger, will meet in a 15-round bout at the Chicago stadium and the winner most surely will be a full-fledged contender for Jack Sharkey's title.

"Although neither had picked up one of the best recent heavyweight bouts of the year, it seems doubtful in financial nature, the attendance will likely reach 20,000."

Schaaf recently in hitting San Francisco's Billie Schacht, who has lost just two decisions in nearly two years, rates a 7-5 favorite. The odds were even in the betting market, but Schacht, who has lost just two decisions in nearly two years, rates a 7-5 favorite. ## PRO-GOLFERS OF NATION COMPETE

Ohio, Dutra Wins Medalist Honors in Qualifying Rounds of Tourney

By PAUL MANN, (UP)—Minn. to meet in a professional golf tournament, the National Professional Golf Association, a tournament at Koller course, Duluth, Minn., will have a field of 32 each day.

Ohio Dutra, Santa Monica, Cal., won medalist honors in yesterday's qualifying rounds with a 76-hole score of 152. He was on a hot streak during his morning round when he stroked a birdie on the 11th hole and then picked up three more strokes on par for a 69. During the later round, Dutra's consistency was outstanding. He made his resolution two puts on 11 consecutive greens. His birdie came about from saving strokes on the fairways.

Walter Hagen, five times winner of the professional golf championship, qualified comfortably with 151. He was on a hot streak during his morning round when he stroked a birdie on the 11th hole and then picked up three more strokes on par for a 69. During the later round, Dutra's consistency was outstanding. He made his resolution two puts on 11 consecutive greens. His birdie came about from saving strokes on the fairways.

Thomas Creasy, young pro from Albany, N. Y., and defending champion, was tied to Dutra with the qualifying rounds as he entered match play automatically. Hagen, however, did play and will finish the tournament with a 151. He was on a hot streak during his morning round when he stroked a birdie on the 11th hole and then picked up three more strokes on par for a 69.

The Seale pounded out an excellent record in the first round of the tournament. He was on a hot streak during his morning round when he stroked a birdie on the 11th hole and then picked up three more strokes on par for a 69.

THE LOTTERY EXPL.
 One of the most amazing stories of the year came out of Washington recently when Solicitor Horace T. Donnelly of the Postoffice Department stated that the department has kept nearly one billion dollars from leaving the United States in the last two years by confiscating fake foreign lottery tickets in the mails.

Of course, the Postoffice Department hasn't been perfect. In a sum of such letters have gotten through and millions of dollars have been sent away, chiefly for the benefit of some fake promoter, stuck away in some remote country.

Not since the days when the Louisiana lottery operated in full swing has the craze-for-gambling via the lottery been greater, Donnelly says, And the least understandable part of it is that most purchasers of lottery tickets haven't the slightest idea whether the lottery in which they invest is a genuine gambling scheme or a fraud.

Too often, on investigation, the latter proves to be the case. The slick promoter merely sits back, pockets the money as it rolls in, and laughs up his sleeve at the saps who enrich him. "Grand prizes" so lavishly pictured in lottery literature, exist only for the promoter.

For the man with a dollar, or two dollars, to throw away, the lottery ticket offers just about the lowest possible chance or return. His money would be better spent if he used it to light a cigar. That, at least, would save him the cost of postage.

A 1932 HERO
 Add to the list of unsung heroes the name of Motorman William Lang, a gray-haired veteran of the gleaming rails who for the past 33 years has been employed by an electric interurban line operating between Cleveland and Toledo.

Maybe you read the story of what he did, and maybe you didn't—for such items have a habit of getting buried in the mass of daily news about revolutions in some far-off country, endurance flyers, channel swimmers and things like that. Therefore, we'll refresh your memory as to what Motorman Lang did:

The fast Cleveland-Toledo limited, which Motorman Lang was piloting, rounded a curve at 55 miles an hour near Lorain, Ohio. In the middle of the track with the onrushing electric car bearing down on it, Lang saw a small child, Lela Smith, 7 year old, had toddled away from her nearby home and chosen the track as a nice place to play with her doll.

Instinctly, Lang slapped on his air brakes, gave said-to-be-grinding-wheels-threw-the-motor-into reverse. But, as he realized it, even that wasn't enough to stop the heavy interurban car in time.

Lang left the cab of his speeding car and climbed out on foot. Clinging with one hand, he reached down with the other. Two baby arms raised above a terrified child's face, reached up to him. He grasped the child and snatched her into his arms, held her there safely until the big interurban car finally came to a stop a hundred feet further on. Lela was unconscious from the shock of the impact but, thank God, she was still alive.

The world will forget, as the world has a habit of doing, the name of William Lang. . . but for little Lela Smith, if she lives to be 100, no story-book hero can ever take the place of William Lang, who risked his life to save her.

Natives in Africa have taken up American baseball. That makes us even, at last.—We took up African golf years and years ago.

SOCIETY
Marjorie Woods
Weds On Coast

The following is part of a newspaper account of the wedding of Miss Marjorie Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Woods, Long Beach, formerly of Twin Falls, and John J. Wilkins, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wilkins, Palms, California, which was celebrated at the Episcopal church building on Wednesday evening, August 21, at 7 o'clock.

Rev. F. A. Marley officiated at the ceremony which was characterized by beauty and simplicity. Tall bunches of long-stemmed white dahlias, using an exquisite background for the flowers. Pink roses graced the altar and burning incense in candelabra furnished the only light.

Proceeding after the ceremony, a group of musical numbers was given by Mrs. Wilkins, a graduate of the University of California, a friend of the bride.

Miss Evelyn Aldrich, maid of honor, wore a white dress and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses. Miss Alice Krick, Miss Betty Ross and Miss Jean Trickett, bridesmaids, wore gowns of tulle and carried pink roses. Miss Krick's gown being garnished with Miss Aldrich's blue and white tulle. Miss Betty Ross's gown was white with a blue sash and carried a white and blue bouquet.

After a short wedding trip to California, the bride and groom will be in the St. S. Pennsylvania to Athens, Ga., via the Panama Canal. The bride's going outfit consists of a ensemble of navy crepe trimmings with white fur, with accessories to match, and a corsage of orchids.

Miss Marie Johnson, Pifer, was a guest of Miss Fern Evelyn Aldrich last week end.

GOODING BECKONS COLLEGE STUDENTS

GOODING, Specials Monday, September 5, is the last day for registration before organization of classes and college work. Those who have already enrolled, students taking the summer and winter terms are invited to register before that date in order to facilitate matters for out-of-town students who will not arrive before the opening of the University on September 5.

Although Miss Hibelletta Gerson, will pursue graduate work at Mississippi and Miss Nara Dean, will work for her Master's degree at the University of Kansas, the faculty lists of new changes. Professor Lyle L. Chrysler, resumes his work as we know him, and the head of the department of history. He will return with the curriculum from a summer's study at the University of Southern California and from attendance at the South Islands.

Miss Dick Cook will direct the school in English during Miss Gerson's absence. Professor V. Humphrey will be in his office, assisting students to advise and to enroll students and will have charge of Mathematics as in previous years. The Science department will be headed again by Miss Elizabeth Knox while Miss Hibelletta Gerson teaches Modern Languages.

The department of Education, led by the charge of Professor Harold B. Roberts, will announce several additional courses to summer classes. Virginia City Roberts, Dean of Women, after a year's leave of absence, offers two girls courses in Home Economics.

Professor H. A. Hiles will serve as advisor to students in the department of Education. For Science, Eugene Vance and Theory, while Florence Nara, Science director, will be in charge of Physical Education. INTERNATIONAL THEME PREVAILS IN NEWER MENU

Kitchen Ohataqua Will Give Instruction in Dignified Foods

For many years there was little or no variety in typical American menus. In this day and age, however, the recipe for the whole world is available; and it is the opinion of the popular "Kitchen Ohataqua" restaurant in Twin Falls, which specializes in this type of cuisine, that it is time to make the most of it.

"International" arrangements and menu planning has enabled the modern housewife to draw from her food store, the vastness of the world. French dressings, Swiss cheese and other foods from the four corners of the world.

These items have been made available to housewives most profitably through the information on how to use the foods has been disseminated to them.

All Miss Ohataqua's cooking school, however, romantic subjects from all over the world will be a part and will be discussed thoroughly enough, some of the most attractive, delicious, and the world famous foods are prepared from the most expensive ingredients. It is so full of knowledge of preparation which has been carried out if successful.

Miss Heath will arrive here shortly before the opening of the Kitchen Ohataqua and will inspect food markets carefully in order to gather material for a series of marketable hints which will be given to her cooking school.

Quick Starting, Crystal Clear, Longer Mileage, Better Performing, but CHEAPER. GASOLINE. GOOD gasoline has usually been high priced, in comparison to the price levels of farm products and other goods which this country produces. In an effort to keep the price of gasoline in line with our own products, we have fought larger companies for the right of selling good gasoline at a price which we believe to be fair. Now you can have a gasoline with the qualities which are listed above... and it doesn't cost you too much! It costs less than other brands of the same quality. Drive on our big front door pumps and get a tankful of this gasoline. Set your speedometer and see if it doesn't live up to our guarantee. We know you'll be back for more. REMEMBER: We brought the price of good gasoline down and we'll keep it down to 23c per gallon. Lind Automobile Co.
