Death Comes Quietly To Mrs. Sarah Garner In Little Texas Town

Mother of Nominee Passes Shortly After Noon

DETROIT, Tex. (UP)—Mrs. Sarah Jane Garner, 51 years old, mother of John S. Garner, Democratic candidate for president, died here today at 12:25 A. M. after an illness of three days.

The aged woman, feeble and frail, was taken to a local hospital here before the end came. She died peacefully.

Her only child was at the bedside. Speaker Garner, her first-born, sat beside the four-poster bed and held her hand.

There, surrounded by her two daughters and sons, except John, and her most cherished things of other days, she passed a civil death of peace and affection.

Inner Defense of Cubs Expected to Outshine Yankees' in Big Series

Lou Gehrig's Hitting Hard to Overcome However

By GEORGE SHESBY
CHICAGO, (U.P.)—The New York Yankees have a fairly good chance of capturing the title in their first season in the city, but haven't a better on their entire team to compare with him. There are other stars hard to overlook, but capturing the title will depend on the pitching staff of the two prospective clubs, either offensively or defensively, the Cubs' success will depend entirely on the Yankees' combination.

Averages show the Cubs are better both at bat and in the field, and many New York servers think the Cubs' success will prove it in the forthcoming world series.

But with a slinger like Gehrig around one might have thought the Yankees can make a lot of fancy hitting plays.

The Yankees infield is older. Jimmy Foss, doubled by G. L. Al Simmons (triple) in four attempts, accounting for one tally. Bill Terry singled in four tries, accounting for one run. Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig were idle.
