THE PLATFORM

In the light of Tuesday's election it is interesting to remember what the American people voted for when they elected the Roosevelt-Garner ticket and made the house and senate overwhelmingly Democratic.

Here are the highlights of the platform on which the Democrats were swept into control of the government commencing next March:

"An immediate and drastic reduction of governmental expenditures to accomplish a saving of not less than 25 per cent in the cost of federal government."

"Maintenance of the national credit by a federal budget annually balanced."

"A sound currency to be preserved at all hazards."

"A competitive tariff for revenue, with a full finding commission free from executive interference, reciprocal tariff agreements."

"Restoration of agriculture, . . . better financing of farm mortgages . . ."

"Conservation, development, and use of the nation's water power in the public interest."

"Regulation to the full extent of federal power of (A) holding companies which sell securities in interstate commerce; (B) rates of utility companies operating across state lines; (C) exchanges in securities and commodities."

"Full measure of justice and generosity for all war veterans who have suffered disability or disease caused by or resulting from actual service in time of war and for their dependents."

"A firm foreign policy, including peace with all the world and the settlement of international disputes by arbitration; no interference in the internal affairs of other nations."

"Repeat of the eighteenth amendment . . . enactment of such measures by the several states as will actually promote temperance; effectively prevent the return of the saloon and bring the liquor traffic into the open under complete supervision and control by the states."

"Immediate modification of the Volstead act to legalize the manufacture and sale of beer and other beverages . . ."

"Oppose cancellation of the debts owing to the United States by foreign nations."

REORGANIZING THE RAILROADS

It is evident that the Reconstruction Finance corporation has no intention of carrying fixed railroad charges indefinitely. Appointment of a receiver for the Frisco road indicates that the government's lending agency is not going to hesitate to demand extensive reorganization of the roads' financial structures whenever that appears necessary.

It had been hoped, in recent weeks, that increases in railroad traffic would make extensive reorganizations of that kind unnecessary; and it is probably quite true that even a slight continuance of recent industrial gains would take most railroads out of the red.

Nevertheless, there are cases in which it is quite evident that a sizable slice of a railroad's business is gone forever, and in such cases, where the financial structure is such that operations can only be conducted at a loss, some sort of reorganization seems inevitable.

Clinton P. Anderson, president, Rotary International, says: "Each succeeding annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross seems to be of particular importance in view of our national needs. This year will prove no exception. The need for the ministerial hand of the Red Cross was never greater. It is my suggestion that the Rotary clubs in the United States give all possible co-operation to this valued social service agency."

In the light of the actual results of the election, the predictions of some of the campaign managers for a dark night seem only too true. However, two reliable forecasters have been consistently accurate and unbiased: There are the National Whirligig, an Evening Times editorial feature, and the Literary Digest, whose nation-wide poll has practically been confirmed by the people at the ballot boxes.

Franc Hoch, Hays, Kan., merchant, runs a mountaineer store on the first floor of his shop, a laundry on the second, and a fox farm on the roof. It is not revealed what he does with his cellar.

The day after election should have been Armistice day this year. Everyone was only too glad to lower their arms and feast from a battle that had not gotten out of hand.

Dr. and Mrs. Elijah Hull Longbrake entertained Friday evening at the Methodist parsonage in honor of the coat of The Wel Pardon and their friends, guests numbering about thirty. The column singing entertained the group, and doughnuts and cider were served.

The east will travel in Hudson to the city, where they will present the play at the Methodist Episcopal church at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of the Alliance for the Abolition of the Slave Trade Association. All high churchmen are invited to attend. The play is from Upton Sinclair's novel with the same name, was presented in New York at Shirley.
